

Visitors have chance to see working ranches of New Mexico

For the third successive year the public will be able to visit the working ranches of Lincoln County.

The 1982 Lincoln County Ranch Tour will be held June 12. During the day tour guests will meet ranch owners, cowboys, ranch managers, soil conservation specialists, range management experts, government trappers, brand inspectors and others involved in ranching.

The tour begins at the Corona School in Corona, NM. Registration is from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Buses depart at 9 a.m. for the full day of ranch tours.

The first stop will be the Lovelace Livestock Co. All phases of sheep management—shearing, branding, doctoring—will be witnessed. There will also be spinning and weaving demonstrations. A government trapper will lecture on sheep predators and their control.

Second stop will be the 4-H Arena in Corona for the horse section. It will feature Royce and JoAnne Washburn's quarter horses and Hindi Arabian horses as two separate industries. Visitors will witness the training, feeding, showing and general use of both breeds. The Arabians will be shown in native costume.

During the lunch hour, there will be a program on soil conservations and range management, door prizes, drawings and other activities.

After lunch, the tour bus moves to the George and Nancy Ranney Cattle Ranch where the program will include both cow-calf and feeder steer management. All phases of the cattle industry will be explained. A brand inspector will explain the brands of New Mexico and the purposes for branding livestock.

At the end of the tour there will be an area set up where tour guests can enjoy seeing and petting animals and their young—mares and foals, ewes and lambs, goats and kids, pigs and piglets.

Cost of the tour is $8 for adults and $6 for children under 12. This includes transportation and the noon meal. The Corona FFA, Carrizozo FFA and Corona 4-H clubs will have beverage stands at each stop and coffee and doughnuts during morning registration. A fee will be charged for these refreshments.

Mrs. Linda Ponder, chairman of the event, suggests early reservations because there is a limit to the number of guests that can be accommodated. Her address: Box 545, Capitan, NM 88316. Deadline for reservations is May 28.

Those who plan to arrive the day before the tour can be housed at motels in Carrizozo, Corona or Ruidoso. Motel information is available from Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, Box 567.

CARRIZOZO, NM

THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1982

EST. 1905

Saturday is Clean-Up Day

Carrizozo's annual Clean-Up Day is scheduled for Saturday, May 15, at which time the accumulated trash and debris from a windy March and April will be removed.

Workers in the drive to clean up the town will get a lot more than a neater-looking community.

All participants are invited to meet at the Carrizozo school cafeteria at 8 a.m. on May 15 for coffee, Cokes and doughnuts, and a free lunch will be served by the Carrizozo Woman's Club at noon.

All children participating in the cleanup effort will be given two passes to the swimming pool and a ticket for a double-dip ice cream cone at Roy's Gift Gallery.

There will be drawings for prizes donated by Carrizozo merchants, with the drawings restricted to workers.

Dr. Jim Miller of Carrizozo Schools will put school equipment at the disposal of cleanup crews, and the Town of Carrizozo will help with labor and equipment. The Carrizozo Fire Dept. is expected to turn out in force on the occasion.

A complete list of merchants and individuals who contribute prizes to workers will be published in the News next week. Meantime, Jackie Vigil and Carlyn Ladd are in charge of getting donations for prizes to be given during Clean-Up

Day. They are asking for donations of cash, merchandise or services to be given as rewards for participation in the cleaning effort.

Pat Vigil is chairman of the drive. His committee is made up of Woody Schlegel, Choncho Morales, Bud Payne and Scott Shafer.

Clean-Up Day is sponsored by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce.

Woman's club activity highlighted

Carrizozo Woman's Club officers attended the 70th annual New Mexico Federated Women's Club convention at the Holiday Inn in Alamogordo over the weekend.

Viola Fenter, president, Mary Ellen Payne, president-elect, Hazel English, board director, and Sue Stearns, club board director and Dist. IV club 2nd vice-president, joined more than 225 other women from over the state in attending the convention.

The Carrizozo club was presented with a Certificate of Appreciation for its support of the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation New Mexico Leadership Seminar. The award expresses the concern for the American incentive system, interest in the youth of New Mexico, and investment to motivate tomorrow's leaders today.

Viola Fenter accepted the certificate for the club.

Stephanie Saucedo is the club's nominee to participate in the seminar scheduled for June 11-13 on the campus of the University of New Mexico.

Sue Stearns was recognized as chairman of the Free Enterprise Program, which is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Cities Service Co. and Proctor & Gamble Co.

Fenter's report of Dist. IV club presidents was based on accomplishments of the Carrizozo Woman's Club during the last 18 months while in office. The club sponsored the Zia Senior Center in three locations: Carrizozo in 1977, Corona in 1978 and Capitan in 1981.

Fenter explained the club's role in sponsoring the centers. As sub-grantees, the centers are funded by federal and state grants, in addition to the county share. She explained the system, and reimbursement basis, and working with the Triple AAA (Area Agency on Aging) in Roswell, and with the New Mexico Agency on Aging. She stressed that senior citizens have a voice in a nutritional program and in activities they wish to pursue at each center.

Quarterly training sessions are provided for the staff, which consists of Barbara Ward, in charge of the three centers. There are two client service agents and one Title V Older American on the staff at Carrizozo, a site manager Title V in Capitan, and a site manager in Corona.

The Capitan site is not yet open, but renovation and building repair is underway and it should open in June. Capitan seniors have been working toward this goal for a long time. Capitan Village of Capitan donated the site and septic tank, and state and federal funds have provided for some of the renovation. Capitan seniors are quilting as part of their program to raise funds for the project.

Many services are offered senior citizens—the nutrition program, transportation for shopping, medical reasons, and recreation. The aged have picked chile, gone on picnics together, attended the state fair and senior congresses in Santa Fe. Counseling is available for those in need of it, meals are provided to shut-ins, and help for those home-bound because of illness.

The Corona site is housed by the Village of Corona The Carrizozo center will soon have its own kitchen facilities.

The woman's club sponsors and owns the 8-unit Casa Manana apartment complex, for which it won a national award. It houses senior citizens. The club is working toward an additional Community Improvement Project award with its three sites for senior activities.

Other accomplishments of the local club include: the recent Quilt Show and Tell, working on a quilt to be raffled; a parliamentary procedures workshop for club members and other organizations, an evening with novelist Eva Zumbal of Nogal, the Family Christmas Posada, FHA solar heating program, sponsorship of a $500 scholarship for a graduating senior, sponsorship of the Sun Duchess for Sun Bowl activities at El Paso, sponsoring the fare for patients under the American Cancer Society, supporting the Miss Carrizozo-Miss New Mexico Pageant, luncheon for the town's Clean-Up Day, participation in a Christmas food basket program, and conducting fundraisers for May Day PTSA, Peoples Market, rummage and bake sales, and the White Oaks May Day.

New officers of the New Mexico Federated Women's Clubs were installed at a Saturday night banquet. Sue Ogden of Loving, current state president, was presented with a quilt put together by different clubs from over the state. The Carrizozo block was made by Viola Fenter. It was a reproduction of the club sign that sits outside the Carrizozo Woman's Club building.

Incoming state president is Margaret Biava of Santa Fe.

Little League teams forming

Boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 12 who are interested in the summer Little League program are asked to meet at the baseball field at 10 a.m. Saturday to organize the program and choose teams.

1982 Sun Duchess chosen

Elaina Cantrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Cantrell, has been selected as Carrizozo's Sun Duchess for the 1982 El Paso Sun Bowl festivities.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Barbara Langley, chairman of the Sun Duchess selection committee for the Carrizozo Woman's Club. The Sun Duchess is sponsored by the Carrizozo Woman's Club, assisted by local merchants and other civic clubs.

The 1981 graduate of Carrizozo High School, Miss Cantrell completed her freshman year at Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, TX. A member of AEX Social Club, she participated in the L.C.C. Maester Follies and intramural sports. A business major, she will continue her studies at New Mexico State University in the fall.

The first event Elaina will attend as Sun Duchess will be a Western Party at Indian Cliffs Ranch, Faben, TX, to honor the Duchesses, their families and sponsors. Phillip Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill G. Payne of Carrizozo will be her escort for the June 3 party. Also attending from Carrizozo will be the Cantrell family, Miss Kjersti Boye and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Langley.

Miss Cantrell is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer C. Scott of Alamogordo and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott of La Luz.

An historic figure

Memorial services for Truman A. Spencer Sr.

Memorial services were held Saturday, May 1, at Holy Mount Episcopal Church, Ruidoso. Truman A. Spencer Sr., who died April 27 at St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell at the age of 91.

The Rev. Burdette Stampley of Holy Mount Episcopal Church officiated at the 2 p.m. memorial. Mr. Spencer had been a resident of Ruidoso since 1960.

A retired rancher, Mr. Spencer figured prominently in the early history of New Mexico as a farmer and businessman.

Born in Waxahachie, TX, Oct. 14, 1890, the son of Mr. and Mrs.

A.N. Spencer, he became general manager of the Bar W Ranch at Carrizozo. In 1912 he married the late Frances McDonald, daughter of William C. McDonald, the first elected governor of New Mexico following its Jan. 6, 1912 admission as the 47th state of the union.

For 45 years Mr. Spencer owned the Block Ranch under the title of El Capitan Livestock Co., a ranch that spread over 200 square miles.

He became chairman of the executive board of Albuquerque Production Credit Assn. in 1955, after having served as president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Assn. in 1950. He was on the original executive committee of the Ruidoso Race Track in 1966, was joint owner of the Quatros Amigos Ranch at Three Rivers, NM, and served as chairman of the Taylor Grazing Board in the Three Rivers Dist.

He is survived by two sons, Dr. A.N. Spencer of Alto, NM, and Truman A. Spencer Jr. of Carrizozo, six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Crematory arrangements were handled by Ballard Funeral Home, Roswell.

Shockey enters the sheriff's race

Former New Mexico State Police Lt. Kenneth G. (Ken) Shockey has announced his candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Lincoln County.

His name will appear on the Democratic ticket in the June 1 primary election.

Shockey retired from the NMSP in 1980 after serving 27 years in the department, 11 of which were spent in Lincoln County.

In his capacity as State Police

Sergeant and Lieutenant in Lincoln County, he has had experience in working the other law enforcement agencies of the county; and if elected, would seek to promote this working cooperation, he said.

Shockey said he feels citizens of the county would receive a better return on tax dollars spent for law enforcement with good working relationships among various agencies.

While serving the NMSP,

Shockey attended schools on criminal investigation, firearm training and instruction, courtroom procedures, fingerprinting, a 30-day supervisor school in Dallas, and many FBI schools and seminars.

Shockey now lives in Ruidoso with his wife, the former Eleanor Bonnell of Glencoe, and their two daughters, Bonnie, a freshman at Eastern University at Portales, and Linda Mallett, Ruidoso.

Leona Fugate a candidate for assessor

RUIDOSO — Leona Fugate has announced her candidacy for Lincoln County tax assessor on the Democratic ticket.

"The challenge of the position appeals to me," she says, adding that she believes now is a good time for a "political change."

An eight-year resident of Lincoln County, Mrs. Fugate states, "I love Ruidoso and Lincoln County and welcome an opportunity to serve as tax assessor."

Fugate owned and operated the Cro's Nest Motel in Ruidoso until its recent sale. Fugate's prior business experience includes serving as an office manager and bookkeeper.

NEW OWNERS of the Family Pharmacy are Hal and Mignon Sims. They come from Neosho, Missouri, and spent three years in Alamogordo before coming here. They have two children, Jeanna 10, and Koby 8.

Organization for average, everyday fishermen debuts

At last, an organization has been established for the average, everyday fisherman. Not the trout purist... not the dry fly expert... but the ordinary man, woman and child who simply enjoys the pleasures of freshwater fishing!

Panfish Unlimited originated primarily as a local mutual-interest "club" just one year ago. Already it has expanded to national proportions.

An annual $15 membership ($2 for each additional member of the immediate family) provides a colorful jacket patch, a membership card, discounts on purchases at participating outlets, and a subscription to the organization's monthly magazine, "Panfishing," which will premiere in June.

A portion of each member's dues is devoted to "improving the quality of fishing," which includes efforts to reduce or eliminate air and water pollution, to encourage outdoor safety, and to stimulate fish breeding and stocking programs.

Two of the organization's other primary objectives are to encourage fishing as a form of family recreation and to interest more women and children in the sport.

For a free brochure, write Panfish Unlimited, Suite 117, 15 Spinning Wheel Rd., Hinsdale, IL 60521.

Although the magazine will put its emphasis on panfishing, it also will contain regular monthly columns on bass, walleye, northern and muskie, and trout and salmon fishing. Other monthly columns will single out the choicest fishing areas in each region of the country, and tell reader's how to get there, where to fish and what techniques should produce the best results.

LISTEN IN!

It's Robie's Party-Line! Hot off the Wire:

Here's a flash, Mabel! The Nogal Post Office will be 100 years old on May 9, which is also Mother's Day.

The post office was established Nov. 4, 1880 under the name of Galena, with George Wellford as the first postmaster. On May 9, 1882 the name was changed from Galena to Nogal. Galena means "native lead sulfide" and was taken from mining operations in this vicinity. Nogal means "walnut" which relates to black walnut trees growing in Nogal Canyon.

Here is a list of Nogal postmasters. Some of their relatives live in Nogal now:

- George Wellford, 1880; Ben M. Whitney, 1883; Wilson McVeigh, 1885; Ben F. Brown, 1889; Edwen B. Homan, 1889; Thomas W. Henley, 1893; Robert Henley, 1917; Marie Rhodes, 1919; Homer McDaniel, 1925; Sidney Moore, 1882; Sidney A. Johnson, 1894; Allen Henley, 1887; Cornelius K. Whetted, 1903; Sidney H. Cox, 1912; George B. Short, 1917; L. McDaniel, 1923; Jessie May, 1929; Jack Zumwalt, 1943; Jim Graves, 1930; Josie Sifton (?); Pearl Stearns, 1947 (ret. 1962); and Tom Zumwalt.

A special gift for mother! The plant of the month is a begonia. It is a strong and beautiful plant with a waxy cup-shaped leaf. Its foliage is sometimes bronze red, sometimes green, and often pink. The begonia never stops blooming, and you'll enjoy its small rosette-like clusters of blossoms. You can transplant it in your garden when it's good and warm.

Heard a lot of new ideas on the wire this week:

Fill a thimble with colored, melted candlewax. While wax is still soft, arrange small straw flowers in the thimble. Pour a little melted wax on construction paper, anchor thimble on wax and place a single dried flower beside it. Miniatures are fun to make. Cathy Annita has a regular production plant set up for making miniatures. She does them mostly for charitable functions. She is helping a group of Episcopals make them for the July 4 Bazaar.

Check on the date later. IMAGINE!

The Tel-Med-Inc., a non-profit service offering recorded medical information by phone, is now available to more than half the US population. Tel-Med provides pre-recorded tapes of sound medical information on specific subjects which people may be hesitant to ask doctors about. Topics most often requested concern drug abuse.

This was developed in 1972 by the San Bernardino County (CA) Medical Society. Sounds wonderful. Wish we could get it here.

DID YOU KNOW? You had better watch out for rattlesnakes this time of year?

That Cathy Zumwalt is training to be a nurse in Roswell?

That White Oaks had a spectacular two days of food, dance and play?

That Nancy Guck is opening an office in Capitan, and you may need her?

Secrets off the wire, Mabel! Nogal claims some fame as Johnny Bob Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stearns and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stearns, is valedictorian of the Carrizozo High School graduating class of 1962.

Summer M. Smith of Plainview, TX, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Smith III, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Burkstaller of Nogal, Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Smith II of Louisiana, and great-granddaughter of Mrs. Bob Crisby of Roswell has won first prize in a Southwestern Music Festival contest in Amarillo, TX. The schools chose 500 specially screened voice students and scored them according to personality, stage presence and voice. Summer, 13, sang "On a Clear Day" to win first place among finalists.

Damon C. Burkstaller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Burkstaller and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Urba Crose, has graduated from St. Mary's University, San Antonio, TX, with a degree in geology. He plans to be home a month before leaving on a 6-week field trip.

To the Spencer family of Lincoln County, and in remembrance of Truman Spencer Sr., these words by Lao-tse:

As rivers have their source in some far off fountain;

So the human spirit has its source.

To find this fountain of spry is to learn the secrets of heaven and earth.

May is an exciting month, Mabel, so stay with that phone to your ear. Bye, now

Lincoln County 4-H will attend national meeting

There will be 19 older New Mexico 4-H members and two adult 4-H leaders attending the Citizenship Washington Focus workshop July 24-31 at the National 4-H Center, Washington, DC.

The group will tour historic Gettysburg before the formal workshop opening, according to Glenn Bartelt, Extension program leader at New Mexico State University.

The New Mexico delegation represents six of the state's counties. The largest group, from Otero County, includes Trey Anderson, Daniel Carrell, Kristin Doran, Joana Hall, Barbie Porter, Jet Tucker, Carey Whitehead, Ted Winger and Lucy Wood.

The Lincoln County contingent includes Doretta Burchett, Clay Lightfoot, Mozaum McKibben and Tom Perkins. Barbara King, Matt King and Tami Maldonado are the McKinley County 4-H members who will attend the workshop.

Counties with only one 4-H member attending from that county are Bernalillo, Amy James; Dona Ana, Marta Knapp; and Rio Arriba, Cassie Newby.

Adult leaders accompanying the group are Margo Hall, 4-H leader from Otero County, and Lana Schulte, Extension 4-H agent from Dona Ana County.

New Mexico's 4-H members will be joined at the workshop by 4-H members from Arkansas, Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. The New Mexico delegation will visit the state's senators and representatives July 28, and will be conducted on a VIP White House tour the same day.

The week-long workshop program includes sessions on citizenship, leadership and government. Most afternoons are devoted to tours of historic sites and monuments. Evening activities will include a night at a dinner theater, a concert by the US Navy Band, and a talent show with other state 4-H delegates.

The workshop and tour is financed by the delegates chosen to attend and their families, with some assistance by county 4-H councils. Coordination of the event is handled by the state 4-H staff at NMSU.

Roswell speaker here tonight

Kay Roberts of Roswell will speak at the Woman's Christian Fellowship meeting Thursday, May 9, 7 p.m., at the Citizens Bank Community Room.

Missionary to speak at Angus

Rev. Hughon Friberg, missionary to Africa, will speak at the Angus Church of the Nazarene, Thursday, May 13, 6:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Rosemary Hezmall, president of the local Nazarene World Missionary Society.

Mr. Friberg's most recent assignment was that of editorial coordinator for the Africa Communications Council in the Republic of South Africa. Several years ago, Friberg and Rev. Armond Doll, another missionary of the Church of the Nazarene, among others, were imprisoned in Mozambique. His education includes degrees from Northwest Nazarene College, Nazarene Theological Seminary, and continuing study at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Hughon and his wife Evelyn have three children and currently make their home in Pacific, WA.

They are on furlough and are holding deputation services across the United States and Canada.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the service and to share in a time of fellowship and food provided by the congregation.

Church to pay tribute to mothers

Recognition of mothers will be a part of the May 9, 11 a.m. Sunday worship service at the Angus Church of the Nazarene, according to Kenneth O. Frey, pastor.

Members and friends are invited to attend and to share in a basket dinner to be served by men of the congregation following the service at the Pie Palace, on the Nazarene Campground.

Letters to the Editor

On the poetry front

EDITOR — I thoroughly enjoyed your April 15 OPINION about the justness of contemporary poetry!
A few years ago I started a movement to get back to historic values in poetry writing. It is a slow, hard process, but more and more seem to be joining the colors. I'm hopeful.
The crazy trend has been going on so long now that poetry publishers, poetry professors, and the poets are all bobbing in the same pot. And the first two named are making a living from it, feeding on one another—but with absolutely no public audience. A crazy situation, and often underwritten by taxpayer funds through the National Endowment for the Arts.
We are growing in numbers, and will continue the fight. Thank you for seeing the situation and reporting it in your column, which I will find valuable to quote many times.

LYNN L. FROUT,
Walnut Creek, CA.

'Labels set us apart'

EDITOR — In reference to your OPINION article in the Lincoln County News (April 29), I find myself bothered by the vehemence you seem to feel for the people associated with Ground Zero program.
You state that the workings and politics of this group called "Physicians for Social Responsibility" can be understood just by "noting that the association's president, Dr. Sandra Turner, was the scheduled speaker at the Communist Party West Side Marxist Center in New York, March 19."
I know nothing about this group, or Dr. Turner, but I would need to know much more before I would assume to label the group, or her, as "leftist handwringers" or Communist. Christ spoke to sinners but He was no sinner. Wouldn't our assessment be more accurate if we judged Dr. Turner by the content of her message instead of the politics of the group to whom she spoke?
Perhaps she was appealing to this group to also "beat their nukes into playthings for the poor." Is "blessed are the peacemakers" less a dictum now than in biblical times?
Labels set us apart from each other and alienate us from fellow human beings. Is it not possible to have differing ideas and opinions without a label being attached? Would you label me a "leftist handwringer" if my ideas differ from your ideas?
I, too, am horrified at the idea of a nuclear war, and I have difficulty understanding how anyone (especially parents of children) would not be. The destructive capability of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki can't be compared to that of the bombs and missiles now at the disposal of the superpowers.

MATTIE BRIEGER,
Albuquerque.

Misses the 'heat'

EDITOR — Thank you for the Lincoln County News. We are enclosing our check for a year's subscription.
Ever since we moved from Studio City in the San Fernando 2½ years ago we've been receiving the Sebastopol Times. But we miss your column giving the city council the "heat." Keep up your good work.
Maybe we'll get to your town sometime in the near future as I have a niece in Alamogordo and a friend in Ruidoso. We hope to take a trip in our motor home to that part of the country.

"SCOLDING HASN'T WORKED, 'TRUST ME' HASN'T WORKED, 'COME BACK INTO THE FOLD' HASN'T WORKED... HOW ABOUT THROWING IN SOMETHING ON MOTHERHOOD?"

Editorial Comment

'Yankee, go back!'

● IF ANYONE ever wonders what has made a backward Soviet Empire militarily and technologically strong, the answer is disturbing: We have. Through dozens of programs we have almost exhausted ourselves furnishing Soviet bloc nations with our food, complete industrial plants, tool and die works, highways, factories for making military trucks, tanks and military hardware, and every form of technology the Soviets can use to supplement its own resources—all for the sole purpose of wiping us off the map.
● LET'S GET specific. Would you believe that the United States has been paying $2.3 million a year since about 1976 for the privilege of supplying US technical data to the Communist world?
● IT'S TRUE. On the outskirts of Vienna, Austria, there is a fine building that houses the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA). It has 17 members made up of NATO and Communist bloc nations. Our membership costs $2.3 million a year. Here scientists from member countries allegedly seek solutions to problems that plague mankind. But what really happens is quite another story. (By the way, does it appear significant that the institute is located in a Communist bloc country, and not in a free or neutral one?)
● LAST YEAR, thanks to the Norwegian secret service, the secretary of IIASA, Arkady Belozero, was found to be a double agent who was passing information to the KGB, Soviet espionage agency. He was the highest-ranking Soviet official at the institute. He had to resign. Robert Levien, IIASA director at the time, said of the Belozero affair: "There's no national security threat from the IIASA. In fact, it's the other way around. The national security interests of the world demand that the United States remain a member." He deserves to be publicly flogged for that stupid observation.
● SCIENTISTS are not known for having much political understanding or sense of reality outside their own fields of professional interest. From Galileo to Robert Oppenheimer, Rachel Carson to Albert Einstein, their unfamiliarity with the world as it is, is a matter of record. The unreality syndrome even extends to punier minds, as witness Dr. Benjamin Spock and Dr. Helen Caldwell, both of whom have been wandering in a world of fantasy for years.
● I THINK it disgraceful that the US had to rely upon Norwegian intelligence to ferret a spy from our midst. But the same people who support giving away US technology are the people who have crippled or abolished our own intelligence-gathering agencies, such as the FBI, the CIA, Senate Internal Security Committee and others. Small wonder we don't know what's going on in the world, and have to depend upon Norway and British intelligence for what we do know.

The News received a press release last week announcing the arrival of 10 Albuquerque residents, members of the Venceremos Brigade, May 3, at Gate 12, Albuquerque Airport.
It was an invitation to the press to welcome them back to the Land of Oppression from the Paradise of Cuba, where they worked in the sugar cane fields, citrus orchards and construction projects for their hero, Fidel Castro.
The News appreciates being alerted. We always like to know where our enemies are and what they're up to. But we are not part of that press that fawns over, and gives wide publicity, to the assine, immature antics of the politically deranged who constitute a cross a free society must bear.

This Venceremos Brigade was spawned in 1969 to defy the US government's blockade and travel ban against Communist Cuba. The outfit boasts that since then 4,000 people have traveled to Cuba to demonstrate support for the Cuban dictator.
Why they chose to return to the Land of Oppression is not stated. What should concern Americans now is: How do we get them to go back?

Clean-Up Day is May 15

Saturday, May 15, is Clean-Up Day in Carrizozo.
This special once-a-year effort is an opportunity for residents of the town to turn out and demonstrate their interest in a clean community, and to show the civic pride citizens undoubtedly have.
There aren't many programs that benefit each citizen personally. There aren't many in which every man, woman and child can participate.

There aren't many in which everybody can win. Clean-Up Day is just such a program.
We hope every resident will turn out on May 15 to join with the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, Town of Carrizozo, Carrizozo Fire Dept., Carrizozo Public Schools, the town's civic organizations, civic leaders, business and professional people who are willing to sacrifice a day to put a cleaner and happier face on their favorite town.

Growing wild yams, bananas, plants

Local couple spent 13 years in Puerto Rico

It's a long way from the banana and wild yam farm in Puerto Rico to cow-ranching and selling real estate in Carrizozo, but it appears to be a piece of cake for Patsy and Tony Sanchez and their three young sons.
The Sanchez family left this area in May, 1968 for Puerto Rico, where they spent the following 13 years. Tony had taught Peace Corps volunteers at New Mexico State at Las Cruces, and learned that Johnson & Johnson was looking for a Spanish-speaking manager for an experimental farm in Puerto Rico.

For the next year and a half the Sanchez' cultivated wild yams on the J & J farm. The idea was to grow the yams which provides hormones for use in birth control pills. About that time, synthetic hormones were discovered and J&J abandoned the wild yam project.
Patsy and Tony took over the J & J farm and tried their hands at raising all types of vegetables, but were not successful in making a financial success at it. They even tried growing bananas, but finally got into the nursery business, raising exotic plants which they successfully marketed in the US.
They came back to Carrizozo last August. She's a native of Carrizozo. He's from Belen. While Patsy looked after their home in Carrizozo and the three sons, Brian 13, Adrian 14 and Carlos 15, Tony went to real estate school in Albuquerque. He got his license in January and became associated with Mary Rich Real Estate.

That gave Patsy a chance to enter real estate school. She got her license this month and also joined the Mary Rich Real Estate firm. They also operate a small cattle ranch at Cedarvale, 60 miles northwest of Carrizozo.
"What we missed most in Puerto Rico," Mrs. Sanchez said, "is the efficiency we were accustomed to in the US; phones, for example."
Their three sons are bilingual. "In Puerto Rico, Tony laid down the rule that no Spanish would be spoken in our home," Patsy recalled. "Now that we're in Carrizozo, Tony has laid down the rule that no English will be spoken in our home."

Jesuit Fr. Drinan disobeys the Pope

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING
Webster's Collegiate Dictionary defines the word "Jesuitical" as one likened to a Jesuit; specifically, a casuist; hence a crafty person; an intriguer.
For the many thousands of devout and non-crafty priests who belong to the Society of Jesus and who have been trying to live down this long-time derogation, the current behavior of the Rev. Robert Drinan, S.J., is not at all helpful.
All 28,000 members of this, the Roman Catholic Church's largest male order, take four vows: Poverty, chastity, obedience (to one's ecclesiastical superior), and "I further promise a special obedience to the Sovereign Pontiff, in regard to the missions."
The Rev. Donald Campion, communications secretary for the national Jesuit Conference in Washington, explains this in terms of the fact that the Pope can at any time order any Jesuit to transfer to any mission field in the world.

Recently, His Holiness decided that the US House of Representatives was not an appropriate mission field for Father Drinan, whose fellow Democrats in Massachusetts' 4th District celebrated his election with large signs: "Our Father Who Are In Congress."
Apparently Pope John Paul II expected Drinan to retreat gracefully to the comparative anonymity of the Georgetown University Law School Faculty. This was like expecting the average ex-Congressman to go back to Pocatello, which, as the adage notes, they never do.
Instead Father Drinan obeyed the Holy Father's order to get out of public political office by almost immediately running for election to private political office and being elected president of an extremely political organization called the Americans for Democratic Action.

On Feb. 27, in Rome, Pope John Paul told a special audience of 100 top Jesuit leaders from around the world:
"A priest's service is not that of the physician, the social worker, the politician or the trade unionist. Priests must not take the place of laymen and, even less, neglect the task which is specifically theirs."
Ten days later, His Holiness reinforced this by ratifying and reconfirming the following declaration of the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of the Clergy:
"The presbyters (priests) in fact, both diocesan and religious, in devoting themselves to the edification of the Christian community, are never to put themselves at the service of any ideology or human faction... Prohibited to all members of the clergy are those associations of clerics; even if erected or constituted only civilly, which directly or indirectly, in a manifest or clandestine manner, pursue aims relating to politics, even if presented under the external aspects of wanting to favor humanitarian ideals, peace and social progress. Such associations, or movements, in fact (are) causing division and discord within the people of God."
Have these messages gotten through to Father Drinan? Who knows?
There are at least two of us who are syndicated columnists who have tried in vain to interview Father Drinan on the subject of this Papal statement about "causing divisions and discord within the people of God."
Columnist John Lofton learned that Father Drinan had sent out a fund-raising letter (for the ADA, not for the church or Georgetown University.) This letter charges: "The New Rightists are... against women, Jews, blacks, Hispanics and poor people."
In addition to this blanket smear, the allegedly non-political Father Drinan wrote a denunciation of the "unprecedented" increase in the Reagan defense budget, which is actually a far smaller percentage of the entire national budget than President Kennedy's defense spending.
It may be that Father Drinan is simply ignoring all these expressed concerns of the Pontiff, in the belief that even the Holy Father would not dare to assign a former United States Congressman to open a new Jesuit mission station in North Greenland.
Such an action is admittedly as highly improbable as the election of a Polish Pope was.

● PRESIDENT Reagan deserves our thanks. He has informed Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky that the US is withdrawing from the IIASA for simple, logical reasons: The Soviet scientists haven't contributed any comparable intelligence or technical data of any value to the West. On the other hand, the Soviet bloc has been able, through the institute, to plug into US data banks, including the Lockheed Corp. files, enabling Soviet scientists to obtain easily all references in US publications to specialized areas as remote as sensing by satellites of agricultural crops.
● THE INSTITUTE is another of Lyndon B. Johnson's dumb ideas. In 1966, in a burst of detente (otherwise defined as capitulation to Soviet interests) he called for creation of an East-West institute to work on problems common to industrialized nations. Putting aside the high-sounding name of this think-tank and the lofty rhetoric engendered by the politically naive, the institute turned out to be exactly what it was conceived to be—a vehicle for transmitting Western technological data to Communist bloc nations, and nothing else.
● ON MARCH 23 Cong. Joe Skeen of New Mexico submitted an amendment to the National Science Foundation authorization bill (NSF is the agency through which US taxpayers finance the IIASA) which would shut off US funding for IIASA. President Reagan has already informed the Austrian Chancellor of his decision to end US participation in the IIASA, which has caused bitter comment in liberal circles and, of course, Communist political circles.
● IN SUPPORTING his amendment, Skeen said there has been "no East-West reciprocity in IIASA programs. The Soviets and East Europeans have used IIASA to obtain access to Western scientists, computer techniques, and data bases—beyond what normally would be approved on a bilateral basis—without providing anything comparable in return." He also pointed out that the institute has been used as a spy base for the KGB. We should know by now that any Soviet scientist (who is alive and not digging salt in Siberia) is a Soviet agent. There is no way a Russian citizen can be in good standing at the Kremlin and not be a Soviet agent when called upon to be one. Those who have refused have fled to the West, or are languishing in prison, or are undergoing "treatment."
● REAGAN seems insistent upon stopping the flow of technology to the Soviets. On Dec. 29, 1981 he announced US withdrawal from three other bilateral scientific agreements with the Soviet Union—in energy, space, science and technology—and for the same reasons he now takes the US out of the IIASA. The Soviets just take out what they want and put in nothing, just like always. The West cannot do business with the Soviets, as has been established over and over again. The Soviets don't keep their pledged word, or adhere to a treaty unless it is to their perceived advantage to do so. Yet the nation's scientists and liberal politicians want us to continue the one-way arrangement with the Soviets. Joe Skeen has this word for them:
● "THOSE WHO say that we need to keep funding our participation in IIASA in order to keep a window open on the Soviet Empire are just not looking realistically at the past or at Soviet intentions in the future."
● BY THE time you read this, the funding of the IIASA through the National Science Foundation may be a thing of the past. You should be out there dancing in the streets. Paying millions of our money to enable our sworn enemies to accept our defense technology may sound like a good deal to egg-headed college professors, the Tip O'Neills, idealistic scientists, collectivists and the motley, ragtag collegiate revolutionaries. But it must appear pretty stupid to people who work for a living—who raise cattle and farm the land and man the machines—to preserve this last great bastion of freedom.
● CITIZENS OF Cuba (New Mexico, not the Caribbean island) recently caused the nation to pause in its lamentations over a reduced food stamp program long enough to be agape at an exercise in American democracy. It appears from scattered dispatches from the Cuba front that the meritmongering Cuba

The Smokey Bear Museum had 2,248 visitors in April.

The New Mexico Smokey Bear State Park is planting more trees and working hard on keeping everything going forward. Children are asked to stay out of the pond and the stream for it is destroying the plant life. I know it is hard for children to understand. But please stop and think and study about this. There are water plants planted there and they need to be left alone to grow. Please do help them. Let's keep our park beautiful. Soon flowers will come up. All of that beauty will show up and shine on.

Couple renew vows

Alton and Carol Whittaker of White Oaks renewed their marriage vows Saturday, May 1, 2 p.m., at the United Methodist Church of Carrizozo.

The Rev. David Lynch performed Mrs. Whittaker's baptism prior to the proceeding with renewal of vows. The Whittakers were married May 1, 1961 before a justice of the peace in California.

The attendants included Scott and Rosemary Shafer, best man and maid of honor. Jane Shafer was pianist and the soloist was Phyllis Schlegal. She sang "He Touched Me" at the beginning of the ceremony, and ended with "Amazing Grace." Roy Dow and Woody Schlegal served as ushers and Peggy Orsack presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Whittaker wore a yellow "gummysock" formal with lace up to the neck and pearl buttons in the front. Her hair was done by Maggie Boehks with a light touch of baby's breath. The maid of honor carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

In addition to local friends, guests included Leslie and Lori Whittaker, daughters of Alton Whittaker, and Peggy Knight of Brownfield, TX. The United Methodist Women helped with the ceremony and the reception that followed.
