

Crime Stoppers are organizing

Greg MacAleese, originator of the Albuquerque Crime Stoppers and Crime Stoppers USA Inc., will be in Carrizozo on July 9 to speak to citizens on ways to curb an escalating crime wave.

A fund-raising dinner is being planned, to take place before MacAleese speaks to local citizens.

Details of the meeting will appear in next week's Lincoln County News.

Until the local Crime Stopper organization is completed, persons who have information regarding crime activity may call the statewide Crime Stopper number, toll-free. Dial 1-800-432-6933 to report any crime or to relay information about anyone committing a crime. You will not be asked to give your name, but you will be assigned a number. That number may entitle the informant to a substantial cash reward which can be claimed if the criminal is apprehended.

The person has only to call and give "his number" and tell the Crime Stopper person how, when and where the reward money is to be paid.

FFA sweeps honors at state convention

The Carrizozo Future Farmers of America chapter made a sweep at the New Mexico FFA Convention, June 7-9, in Las Cruces.

Members brought home 12 different awards for activities in which they participated during the past year.

The chapter was first in the state "Building Our American Communities" program, and received two plaques, the Governor's Citation and a check for $100 from Farmers Home Administration. It also earned the chance to compete on the regional level in the program.

The local BOAC project consisted of sandblasting and repainting the town's swimming pool, constructing solar collectors for the recreation center, and for other projects. The chapter also finished first in state competition in the President's Energy Challenge, for which it also received the Governor's Citation.

The chapter's application has been forwarded to the regional level. If it wins at the regional level, members will be traveling to Washington, DC, in late July to receive an award from President Ronald Reagan.

The chapter's Energy Challenge project included constructing 40 solar collectors for the recreation center, installing a windmill, conducting energy workshops, doing energy use surveys, making energy-saving commitments on a personal level, and several others.

Results of the regional competition will be carried in the Lincoln County News.

In other awards, Roxanne Gabel was one of five "ace reporters" in the state. This award is based on the number of articles published the past year. Gary Gallacher placed second in the Greenhand Quiz Contest, a prestigious award based on a 100 question quiz. Roxanne Gabel also took third place for the chapter scrapbook.

John Hemphill and Matt Ferguson received State Farmer Degrees, the highest active degree of membership the state can bestow. They are preceded by other State Farmers such as Steve Harkey, Gary Joe Lovelace, Sammy Roper, Rex Wilson, Lee Vega, Lisa Ferguson and Philip Payne. Payne was the state FFA secretary and presented Mike Gaines with the Leader of Leaders Plaque for his help as advisor to a state officer.

Later, Payne gave his retiring address, "One in a Million."

The chapter also received a 100 percent membership plaque signifying that all Vo-Ag students were FFA members. In addition, this chapter was given the rating of "Superior" for 1981-82.

Dr. James P. Miller Jr. received the Honorary State Farmer Degree, the highest honor the state association can bestow on an individual for contributions to the organization. Walt Wilson was the only other individual from Carrizozo to receive this award.

FFA members attending the convention as delegates were Matt Ferguson, John Hemphill, Roxanne Gabel, Gary Gallacher, Mary Jane Ferguson, Eric Gallacher, Mike Curtiss, Steve Stearns and Melvin Payne.

Others attending from Carrizozo were Philip Payne, state FFA secretary; Bill Payne, Bob and Judy Hemphill, Wally, Anne and Lisa Ferguson, Mona Payne, Dr. Miller and Chapter Advisor Michael Gaines.

"We have had one of our finest years ever as an FFA chapter," Gaines said. "We would like to thank every person who supported our activities and members. We are looking forward to an even greater 1982-83."

The first activity of the new year will be sponsorship of the barbecue at the Smokey Bear Stampede on July 4 in Capitan.

Next FFA meeting will be June 29, 8 a.m., at the Vo-Ag Shop

Lincoln Logs in Lincoln County — why not?

Lincoln Logs Ltd. has finally arrived in New Mexico, and in Lincoln County, at that, where they rightfully should have been from the first.

The first Lincoln Log home in New Mexico is already under construction about five miles north of Ruidoso on the east side of State Rte. 37, at Alto North.

Jim and Mary Harrison are the new distributors, going under the name, "Log Homes of Lincoln County." Jim and family will live on the ground floor, and the second floor will serve as the model log home for display to visitors.

Jim graduated from UNM with a degree in industrial arts. He established a cabinet making business in Albuquerque under the name of Handcrafted Furniture, and last year took the blue ribbon for his entry at the state fair.

Also a member of the FFA, his father, Richard N. Harrison, is a licensed professional engineer in this state and experienced in environmental engineering and development of land. He plans to open an engineering office in Ruidoso.

An open house will be held in the model in the near future, and a slide program will be presented showing the different phases of construction.

Carrizozo High's exes meet here

The Carrizozo High School Alumni Association met June 21 to make plans for the weekend activities. Attending the meeting were Roy Dow, president; Roy Barnum, treasurer; members Sheila Fields, Henry Vega and Viola Fenter; Catherine Cornett was elected secretary.

Activities planned for this weekend are:

Saturday, 1-4 p.m. Registration and visiting at the school conference room in the Administration Building.

Saturday night at 6 p.m. the class of 1952 will meet at the Four Winds Lounge for dinner. This is being handled by their own class members, but they issue an invitation to anyone to join them there for dinner.

No dance is scheduled for this year.

Sunday, 12 noon. The picnic will be held at Spencer Park again this year because of the high fire risks in the mountains. Everyone is asked to prepare a favorite "Potluck" dish, bring picnic utensils and join us for an afternoon of good food and fun in the park. If possible, Marcos Villegas will entertain for a while. The association will provide soft drinks and ice.

DAVID LaFAVE, flat on his back and apparently not enjoying himself, was the first of many local people who gave the United Blood Services a helping hand (arm) as a blood donor. Pictured with David are, from the left, Dorothy Turner, donor resources specialist; Loreta Schmidt, donor supervisor; and Geneva Cammell, donor technician. They are part of a team from Roswell who worked at the Woman's Club building Thursday. A free roll and coffee at a local restaurant was given each donor, courtesy of J.G. Moore Agency.

Skeen to visit at Capitan

On Wednesday, June 30, Congressman and Mrs. Joe Skeen, Alice Eppers and Mary Dale Wood will be at the Capitan School Cafeteria at 7 p.m.

Congressman Skeen will give a short talk and answer questions from the floor.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce extends an open invitation to everyone interested in meeting Congressman Skeen to be there.

RC&D to meet

The South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development group will meet Tuesday, June 29, in Cloudcroft at the Lodge, according to Chairman Clem Weindorf.

Scheduled items on the agenda include the executive committee meeting at 10 a.m., conducted by Wally Ferguson.

NORMAN "Shorty" Green, area supervisor for the Farm Home Administration, presents FFA president John Hemphill with $100 for their participating in the "Building Our American Communities" program in which the chapter placed first in state competition. Mike Gaines, chapter advisor, is at left.

FB to Congress: cut 'entitlements'

The leader of the state's largest agricultural organization has wired President Reagan and the New Mexico Congressional delegation urging positive action on the federal budget.

L.E. Davis, president of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, stated in a telegram that Congressional inaction on the budget has hurt farmers and ranchers nationwide.

He said, "While we welcome the progress that has been made to reduce inflation, taxation, spending and regulatory reform, we will no longer support reductions in federal expenditures

Church appeals for 'spiritual courage'

Christian Scientists from around the United States and from countries overseas heard the church's leaders appeal June 7 for greater attention to spiritual courage in the face of the world's present dangers.

"We face threats of conflict and the brutality of conflict," acknowledged Michael B. Thorne, chairman of The Christian Science board of directors at the denomination's 87th annual meeting in Boston.

"There is a great yearning throughout the world for the elimination of nuclear dangers. The only answer to this yearning," he said, comes from an understanding of God and divine power. It unfailingly guides thought and action toward solutions not yet seen."

Several thousand members of The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston were present for the meeting which included three inspirational sessions as well as reports by church officers on the group's publishing, membership and informational activities. The Church was reported free of debt and details were given of expanding "secondary" use of its newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, through print and radio syndication and, in a television news format test program.

Thorne told members: "Christendom has its work cut out for it in these times. And Christian Scientists must do their part with courage, wisdom, and much love."

Dorothy E. Klein, a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science from Boston, was named Church President for 1982-83. She told members it was time to meet the challenge of materialism through "cherishing spirituality and guarding individual integrity of thought."

for agriculture until the Administration and Congress move to control runaway entitlement program spending."

The Clovis grain farmer also said that his organization will oppose farm program decisions made to meet budgetary restraints while entitlement payments, representing almost 50 percent of the total budget and accordingly responsible for almost 50 percent of projected deficits—remain out of spending review and control.

"Congress must bear central blame for high interest rates caused by the confusion and uncertainty the Congress has created in financial markets by failing to cut spending and produce a balanced fiscal '83 budget," Davis said.

The Farm Bureau leader noted that the New Mexico delegation in Washington has "at all times acted in a responsible manner while seeking a solution to the budget problem."

from a Farm Bureau trade mission to Japan, told President Reagan that the Administration must also move swiftly with trade initiatives making it clear to the Japanese and the European Economic Community that the US is serious in its opposition to their unfair trade practices.

"Time is running out," Davis said, "and Congress is doing nothing to make our economic future brighter. The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, and Farm Bureau organizations nationwide will be working hard this fall for candidates of both political parties who take our economic problems seriously."

County bridges due for replacement

June 24, 1982

The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) has given environmental clearance to six bridge replacement projects proposed by the New Mexico Highway Dept.

The bridges, situated in Eddy, Lincoln and San Miguel counties have been targeted for replacement under the department's Five-Year Construction Program.

At the Lincoln and Eddy county sites, the old bridges will be removed and replaced with either pipe culverts or concrete box culverts. At the San Miguel county site, a new structure will replace the existing bridge.

An environmental assessment was made for each of the proposed project sites, department environmentalist Alfred Apodaca said. It was determined that the work would not adversely affect the environment. Because of these findings, the FHWA approved the projects without requiring additional studies or public hearings.

The structures to be replaced are:

--In Lincoln County, a single-span steel and concrete bridge built in 1934 on US 380 across

Magado Creek about 0.5 miles east of Capitan;

--In Lincoln County, a single-span steel and concrete bridge built in 1936 on US 380 across Rio Bonito about 5.6 miles east of Capitan;

In Lincoln County, a five-span timber bridge built in 1929 on US 380 across an unnamed waterway about three miles west of the entrance to the Valley of Fires State Park;

In Eddy County, a three-span timber and concrete bridge built in 1923 on US 285, now used for northbound traffic across Four Mile Creek about 11.2 miles south of the US 285-82 junction in Artesia;

In Eddy County, a three-span timber and concrete bridge built in 1924 on US 285, now used for northbound traffic across North Seven Rivers about 13.4 miles south of the US 285-82 junction in Artesia, AND

In San Miguel County, a two-span steel, timber and concrete bridge built in 1958 on NM 386 across the Pecos River approximately 0.1 miles north of Tecolotito.

Construction plans will be developed for the projects and they will be let to bid under the Five-Year Construction Program when the necessary state and federal funding are available.

School adds $100 to new crime fund

At an emergency meeting of the Carrizozo Board of Education held June 16, the board authorized $100, to be dispensed through the now-organizing Crime Stoppers, as reward money to be paid for information leading to the conviction of persons breaking into the swimming pool office and robbing it of more than $30 in cash and vandalizing the area.

It also approved three construction bids for renovation of the old high school building, phase two. Kerrs Inc. will apply fluid floors and do work in the girls shower room for $1,617. All-American Enterprises of Albuquerque's bid of $27,296 for re-roofing was accepted, and Ken Wells Construction was awarded a $45,854 bid for work in the boys and girls shower and miscellaneous work on the building.

Wallace Ferguson was appointed to the Vocational Advisory Committee and Don Wall to the Board Policy Committee.

Tommy Guevara was sworn in as a member of the board.

4-H Fair for handicapped at Stanton

On Aug. 31, Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School in cooperation with Lincoln County and State 4-H personnel will be sponsoring a special event. For the first time in the United States handicapped 4-H'ers will have the opportunity to participate in their own 4-H Fair.

This 4-H event will be unique in the fact that the emphasis will be on meeting the special individual needs of the participants including profound and severely disabled students from Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School. The concept of this event will be that all participants will be rewarded for their accomplishments and participations.

Fort Stanton students will be busy this summer in their school areas working towards completion of their 4-H projects. Specialized projects are being created in the areas of wood-working, crafts and ceramics, drawings and paintings, animal husbandry, organic gardening and various homemaking skills.

The day will begin at 9 a.m. at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School with a tour of the facility. The remainder of the morning will be spent on judging and reviewing the exhibits. After lunch there will be the award ceremonies, and sale of livestock and exhibits. Game booths, amusement rides, and moonwalk will be provided on the grounds.

Thanks blood donors.

EDITOR—Thanks so much for the good coverage concerning the United Blood Services Drive held this past Friday in Carrizozo. Some of our community gave blood very willingly. Others had an array of excuses, such as "I have only enough for my own use"; "Sorry, I'm going fishing"; "I'd give, but I've gotta be in Capitan in 15 minutes"; etc. I wonder what these same people would do if very suddenly, they needed several pints of blood in order to save their own lives or the life of a loved one, and the hospital said, "Sorry, no one gave blood this month."

I realize some folks are afraid to give, but giving blood in order to save a life should overcome that fear. The procedure is very simple. A few questions are asked, a blood sample is taken, and then you lie on a cot for approximately 10-15 minutes while blood is extracted. You cannot see the blood as it is being extracted. I didn't feel the needle in my arm because of the expert way in which the blood was drawn. A team of specialists are in charge of the procedure. These people drive all the way from Roswell and spend many hours hoping to get as many pints as possible. This trip they received 37 pints and were hoping for at least 50. They have confidence that Carrizozo will become more generous when they learn more about United Blood Services.

I want to personally thank all those who came without hesitation. Gilbert Archuleta practically begged to give a pint but couldn't because he had given just six weeks before; all the Citizen's State Bank crew gave (with the exception of one chicken); Belco Industries gave, plus a number from the courthouse, and many others. I appreciate all those who tried to give but were unable to because of various reasons. State Police Sergeant Jack Johnson gave, and then brought in two recruits — one a tourist whom he had caught speeding! Now, that's the spirit!

We want to continue these Blood Drives, and hope response will continue to grow and donors will increase. If anyone has any questions please contact me. Remember, it's a most worthwhile cause.

SUE STEARNS, Carrizozo.

New Mexico in Washington

Lujan, Skeen uncertain on Schmitt's bullet ban

By TOM and LESTER KINSOLVING

WASHINGTON—A bill to outlaw the sale or manufacture of armor-piercing bullets, known as "police killers" has been introduced by Rep. Mario Biaggi of the Bronx, N.Y.

Biaggi cited a 1974 case of a federal officer wearing a bulletproof vest who was shot and nearly killed; as well as the two Florida police officers killed by such bullets in 1976. His colleague and fellow Democrat in the House, Fortney Starke, noted that his state of California has a law banning such ammunition, and that no police department in the nation is using such bullets.

But New Mexico's Rep. Manuel Lujan has his doubts about this bill. During an interview, he told The Lincoln County News.

"There's no real way you can ban these things, because someone can take an ordinary bullet and make the front part of it penetrable to almost anything; put more gunpowder in it. They can even be made at home."

The 1st. District Congressman went on to recall, "I've read that the only ones who have ordered these kind of things are police organizations. They're not available in stores. As long as there is a limited distribution of them, then I don't see anything wrong."

By contrast, Sen. Jack Schmitt said he had introduced legislation to control sale of such bullets. 2nd Dist. Congressman Joe Skeen, when asked about this bill replied that he would like to see both the bill as well as this kind of ammunition, and investigate both sides of the question.

When asked about the reported investigations of Starke and Biaggi, Skeen replied: "It hasn't been investigated by me, and I don't vote unless I have investigated. I don't give a damn how much Mr. Biaggi has investigated I want to see his arguments and make my own judgments."

Neither of New Mexico's two senators voted to table a resolution which opposes Castro military expansion in Latin America — even though 41 other senators did so. The resolution, introduced by Sen. Steve Symms R-Idaho, simply reaffirmed a 1962 Senate resolution which was passed with only one dissenting vote and which affirmed that the United States should "prevent by whatever means necessary, including the use of arms, the Marxist-Leninist regime in Cuba from extending by force or threat of force its aggressive or subversive activities to any part of this hemisphere."

Several Republicans, including Majority Leader Howard Baker, voted to table this resolution after Baker received a letter from the State Department: "Because of the troubled situation in the Caribbean today, we do not find the Symms resolution helpful to our overall efforts in that region now."

This letter was signed by Alvin Paul Drischler of the State Department's Congressional Relations Office.

Six days later, after what columnist Jack Anderson reported as a furor within the State Department — and a behind-closed-doors admission of a "screw-up," — Stephen Bosworth, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, where he testified:

"The Symms Resolution reflects the policy of six previous administrations and certainly this one. As we told Sen. Symms, we have always endorsed the thrust of his resolution. We just felt that it should be fully addressed in committee before coming to the Senate floor."

The only problem here is that Symms' foreign policy aide, David Sullivan, says that the Idaho Senator was told no such thing by anybody in the State Department. At Foggy Bottom, Secretary of State Haig's spokesman, Dean Fisher, is claiming there was nothing incompatible between the Drischler letter and the Bosworth testimony.

Editorial Comment

Nailing the lie

On June 18 a House-Senate conference committee approved a federal budget that had been delayed so long because the Administration wanted to cut government spending and the Democrats wanted to spend more, thus increasing the national debt by about $100 billion.

Sen. Pete V. Domenici commented on the committee's work as follows:

"As far as New Mexico is concerned, we restored some money for science, space, basic research and development for our national laboratories; we restored some funding for veterans' pensions, compensation for disabled veterans and there should be enough money for Albuquerque's VA Hospital. We allowed for highways, and waste water construction to continue at present levels; we increased the money over the House's program on education, elementary, secondary, vocational and guaranteed student loans for 1983. We gave cost-of-living index increases to all Social Security recipients, SSI, and disabled veterans . . . all federal employees

(get) a 4 percent cost-of-living increase and federal retirees a 4 percent increase."

Where, then, are the cuts in Social Security we have been hearing so much about? Where is the cold lack of compassion by a President Reagan whom his enemies say "hates the poor"? Where are the widows and orphans being thrown into the streets, and where are all those students who aren't going to get student loans? Where are the veterans who have been crying foul? And what of the teachers' union which campaigns against Reagan for hurting education?

All of them, it appears, are well taken care of by this heartless Administration, even unto federal employees and retirees who get a 4 percent cost-of-living increase which most of the rest of us do not get.

"In the size of the lie is always contained a certain factor of credulity, since the great masses of the people . . . will more easily fall victims to a great lie than to a small one."

Adolph Hitler said that.

Inside Religion

Playing footsie with communism

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

"I can live under communism," said Indiana's Methodist Bishop James Armstrong, the new president of the National Council of Churches.

"Christians can live under communism," added the bishop, in explaining to the Nashville Banner why he does not fear the spread of communism in the Western Hemisphere and why he believes the US should have withdrawn aid to El Salvador.

The Banner's religion editor, Mrs. Frances Meeker, during this interview had been using the shorthand which she developed during the eight years she served as secretary to Methodist Bishop Ray Short. But she has been a secular newspaper reporter long enough to recognize that Armstrong's statements are very noteworthy. So she wrote them out long hand, in order to be certain of accuracy in reporting.

Perhaps she should have used a tape recorder, as well. Yet there are some prelates and other high ranking ecclesiastics who, when their words (or slips) appear in print, claim that the tape itself has been doctored.

When his statement about alleged Christian ability to live under communism (with no mention of how many millions of Christians have been slaughtered by communist governments) reached print, Bishop Armstrong decided to try to malign Mrs. Meeker, preferably to get her fired.

His long letter to her editors had a reference to his wonderment as to why such a fine newspaper as yours could allow such writing. This writing he characterized as "near total distortion of what I said," because Mrs. Meeker allegedly has "a negative agenda" which includes her to engage in "baiting and harrassing" in search of data to "reinforce your transparent prejudices."

Furthermore, wrote the bishop, Mrs. Meeker is neither "open and fair" nor "professional and courteous" like the religion writers of the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune and the Louisville Courier-Journal.

By way of response to this furious anathema, the Nashville Banner's Jack Gunter wrote Bishop Armstrong:

"The management of the Nashville Banner has utmost confidence in Mrs. Frances Meeker. She has been employed at the Banner for 15 years. . . ."

"Apparently you are used to having reporters accept your statements at face value or accept press release handouts without any questions. The problem seems to be that you don't want questions asked or probing done. This is the reason Mrs. Meeker has been at the Banner for so many years. She is willing to ask questions and do the probing to bring the facts to our readers."

ONCE UPON a time a Chief Justice of the US Supreme Court named Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. admonished a petitioner: "This is a court of law, young man, not a court of justice." Last week the US Supreme Court, in an emotional 5-4 decision, reversed that dictum by ruling that children of illegal aliens must be educated at public expense. There is a law that illegal aliens are illegal, which also applies to their children. If illegal aliens were legal, they wouldn't be called illegal aliens, would they? Check my logic: When children of illegal alien parents show up for free public education the children are required to list the names and addresses of their illegal alien parents. So, why cannot immigration officers call at those addresses & arrest the illegal aliens and deport them, along with their children, from whence they illegally came? That would serve two useful purposes. It would get rid of illegal aliens and ease the financial burden on public schools. It would also comply with existing law.

NOW THAT it is legal for an illegal to come to this country to have his children educated at our expense, are they not entitled to all the other goodies being dished out by a compassionate government, such as food stamps, Medicare, Medicaid, legal services, abortions, transportation, hunks of cheese, subsidized housing, family counseling and the ballot?

I CANNOT imagine, given this decision, that any person now residing in another country is stupid enough to stay where he is when he can slip into the US and upgrade his lifestyle while having Uncle Sucker educate his progeny for a brilliant tomorrow.

THE REMARKS of Hector Rodriguez, Catholic Social Services Director, Albuquerque, should be graven in granite. "I just wish," he said, "that our public education system were better in order to better fill the needs of the affected children." Well, Hector, one way to insure better public education is not to educate the offspring of every person on earth who can qualify as an illegal alien. I am more inclined toward the words of Chief Justice Warren Burger who dissented in this decision: "The Constitution does not provide a cure for every social ill, nor does it vest judges with a mandate to try to remedy every social problem." He is echoing Holmes: "This is a court of law, not a court of justice."

CONTRAST Burger's words with those of that old social activist, Justice William Brennan, who spoke for the court majority. He observed that "by denying these children (illegals) a basic education, we deny them the ability to live within the structure of our civic institutions, and foreclose any realistic possibility that they will contribute in even the smallest way to the progress of our nation." Well, illegal aliens are not (1) supposed to live within the framework of our institutions; and (2) a progressive step for this country would be to round up the illegals and ship them home. By the court majority's logic the children of all the parents on earth, including the Soviet Union, are entitled to all the rights and privileges guaranteed to Americans—if only they can sneak in. For the first time in history our high court has ruled that the constitution's "equal protection" clause extends to all persons in all nations if they can just manage to arrive, legally or illegally, in this country.

FIDEL CASTRO pulled a coup when he opened his prisons and sent his scum to the US a couple of years ago to be supported by US taxpayers. If he had waited, the US Supreme Court would have saved him the trouble. Why don't we speed up the process of sinking this country. Just throw open the borders and yell to a panting world: "Come and get it—while it lasts!"

HE THAT eats the king's geese shall be choked with the feathers, but he who gooses the king shall be tickled to death." That sounds like the Felix Martinez murder case. Felix has gone to trial twice in Carrizozo on a capital murder charge. The first one ended in mistrial, the second one resulted in a hung jury, and now (God willing & if the crick don't rise) he will be provided a third trial for murder, right here in Carrizozo City, come September or October. This guy has spent so much time and taxpayer money in Carrizozo I think we ought to make him an Honorary Citizen of the Town. The time and place of Felix's fourth and fifth trial have not been determined, but when that information becomes available the Lincoln County News will alert you so that you may join with other law and order advocates in toasting Mr. Martinez. Mr. Martinez, you may recall, is one of three Camp Sierra Blanca jail inmates accused of deceasing Scott Wayne Thompson, a fellow inmate, in such final fashion that Scott didn't get a second or third chance to survive. It has cost so much to try Mr. Martinez that the staff of District Attorney Steven Sanders had to voluntarily give up two days' pay to cut the budget over-run caused by attempts to get this clown either convicted or freed. If he goes through two more trials without a decision, he stands a good chance of being turned loose, at which time he may run for Congress. If name recognition means anything, he should be a shoe-in in Lincoln County by that time. By the time Mr. Martinez is disposed of, taxpayers will have invested about a quarter of a million dollars in maintaining his good health, safeguarding his multitudinous civil rights, and protecting him from well-intentioned citizens who might desire to save money and dispense justice by taking the bastard out and hanging him. And the chances are 100 to 1 he doesn't even appreciate what we're doing for him.

THE LATEST notable to join our distinguished readership is Raymond Burr of Geyserville, CA. The veteran actor is best remembered for his portrayal of Perry Mason in the Earle Stanley Gardner mystery television series of the same name, and later as the star of "Ironside." He is also a fellow publisher. Owns a little newspaper in Fiji. Burr should shake hands with Billie Clarke of Ruidoso, who came by the office last week to "howdy" and confess to having been a subscriber to the Lincoln County News for 48 years. Charming person. Long-suffering, too.

STEALING Library books has been an American institution for a hundred years, and with good reason. When an informed citizen visits a "public library" he presumes the books therein are equally "public" and free for the taking. So it must have provoked consternation in the camp of book-stealers when the Alamogordo Public Library filed charges against patrons with overdue books. Last week five persons appeared in city court to answer charges of violating a city ordinance that says, in part: "anyone carrying away, misusing, cutting, damaging or defacing any library property shall be subject to punishment. . . ." This is a blow to our intellectual thieves who, were they more base, would be out stealing shotguns from my garage. Reminds me of the late G.K. Chesterton who said: "Thieves respect property; they merely wish the property to become their property that they may more perfectly respect it."

PEOPLE WHO believe that "the givvermint" should regulate business and also keep consumer prices down may be interested to know that it cost General Motors $2.2 billion last year just to comply with federal, state and local government regulations. All this must be added to the price you pay for a new car. Just think, the United States had the most and the best automobiles in the world until government interfered. Now we pay five times the price for poorly-built cars that kill as many people per year as the good ones did.

SMART STUDENT

Marie Lobb, Capitan, New Mexico, is a member of the dean's list for the spring semester at Marymount College, Salinas, KS.

Marie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lobb of Capitan.

The Capitan Cemetery Board will meet at the Smokey Bear Restaurant at 12 noon, July 1.

Those who can't attend the meeting are requested to make written suggestions for improving the cemetery, or they can contact one of the board members—Loretta Meador, Carol Reamy, Georgia Maples, Sharon Horton, Dorothy Smith. One may also write suggestions to the Village of Capitan Cemetery Board.

The board has had one work day and plans another. It is in the process of getting the cemetery surveyed, after which plots will be made available for purchase, probably in July. There will also be some fund-raising projects to purchase a canopy and chairs for use at funeral services. A water tap is being installed at the cemetery for the convenience of those who would like to plant and beautify their family gravesites.

The Women's Club has funds for the purchase and erection of an arched gateway on which the name of the cemetery will appear.

The board would also appreciate information and assistance in identifying some of the old gravesites which have no markers.

Capitan lives dangerously

Monday, June 14, the Capitan Village Council met as usual. There was little about this particular meeting to set it apart from any other. Everything was strictly routine, Willie Hobbs petitioned the city for permission to lease the old Smokey Bear Museum, and there were the usual grumblings about the water system.

Then, from out of the blue Mrs. Loretta Medders stepped forward with her seemingly simple and certainly justifiable complaint.

Mrs. Medders said that because there are so many cars parked in "downtown" Capitan it has become unsafe to drive there. It was her contention that with the cars parked right up to the corner of Main and Lincoln streets there existed what could be a very serious traffic hazard. She was, of course, correct, for with the advent of the summer tourist season one can no longer safely "run" the stop sign at Lincoln and Main.

There seemed to be a rather strong feeling that the city should initiate some kind of parking control, place signs at strategic points along Main Street or at the very least, place a flashing amber traffic cop at the intersection.

Now all of this seems quite reasonable. There is nothing far-fetched or untoward about it until you translate Main Street into State Highway 380 and Lincoln Street into State Highway 48.

Looking at it from this vantage point one sees that the State Highways extend practically to the front door of nearly every business in Capitan, including City Hall.

It is a sobering thought that at any time the State Highway Department could by simply enforcing the already existing law against parking on a state highway, close down virtually every business in the Village of Capitan.

Four new teachers at Capitan

Capitan Schools have announced the employment of four new teachers for the 1982-83 school year.

Laura O. Jones was employed as the new home economics teacher. Mrs. Jones was formerly employed as home economics teacher in Carrizozo.

Jo Gruetzmacher was employed as counselor. Mrs. Gruetzmacher was previously employed as a counselor at Bel Aire High School in El Paso. She has experience in personnel, academic and vocational counseling.

Kendal Lawlis was employed as head boys' basketball coach, assistant football coach and will teach mathematics, science and physical education. Lawlis was previously employed at Estancia and Eunice.

Darrel Ray was employed as assistant boys' basketball coach, head girls' volleyball coach and head girls' track coach. Ray will teach mathematics. He was previously employed in the Tatum School District.

Lisa Schear becomes bride of Mark Anthony Martin

Miss Lisa Chellette Schear and Mark Anthony Martin were united in marriage May 22 at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Capitan.

The Rev. Dan Carter officiated at the double-ring, candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dean Schear of Capitan. The groom is the son of Mrs. T.W. (Elaine) LaMay, also of Capitan.

Churchill Cooke played traditional processional and recessional music in addition to "Annie's Song," "Endless Love" and "Through the Eyes of Love" on the piano. He accompanied singers Jim and Lori English on "The Wedding Song," Jim English on "The Lord's Prayer" and Lori English on "That's the Way." Marie Lobb and Mary Allred sang "Longer," accompanied by Miss Lobb on the guitar.

Two candelabra with white candles decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's full-length wedding gown of French imported chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. Her gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline cut low in back. Tiny covered buttons adorned the back and the wrist length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion flowed from a Juliet cap, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, white roses, peach carnations, peach roses, and baby's breath on a white Bible.

Miss Vivian Griego, maid of honor, Miss Tammy Wilcox and Miss Norma Garcia, bridesmaids, wore floor-length gowns in shades of peach with spaghetti straps and ruffled overlays at the shoulders fashioned by Betsy Eldridge Martin of Capitan. They carried nosegays of peach carnations.

Scotty Towhley served as best man. Groomsmen were Ricky LaMay and Paul Woodard.

Ushers were Dean Schear, brother of the bride, and Kirt Martin, brother of the groom.

Denunciation was similar to the rather volcanic eruption of another extremely liberal prelate, the Rt. Rev. Robert DeWitt, in Chattanooga in 1980.

In addition to publishing pro-Marxist material, DeWitt allowed himself to be caught on film affirming that Karl Marx was a prophet. When this was featured in a film called "Crisis in Leadership" by the Society for the Preservation of The Book of Common Prayer, DeWitt was outraged. When the society acquired local TV time in order to show this film while the Episcopal House of Bishops was meeting in Chattanooga, DeWitt exploded all over the floor. But not long afterward, he decided to retire altogether.

Neither of these two prelates has indicated any desire to try out living under communism, very probably because chaplain's stipends in the Gulag hardly approximate the salaries and pensions of bishops in the USA.

David Schear, brother of the bride, and Jerrod Martin, brother of the groom, served as candlelighters. Flowergirls Elissa Reamy and Kendra Eggleston wore dresses, made by Katherine Evans of Capitan, similar to those of the bridesmaids. Ryan Wooddell served as ringbearer.

The bride's mother chose a floor-length dress of ivory lace & wore a corsage of peach roses. The groom's mother wore a champagne-beige floor-length chignon gown and also wore a corsage of peach roses.

The bride is a 1982 honor graduate of Capitan High School. The groom attended school in Capitan and is employed as an electrician for Capitan Electric.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall with Janice Eldridge, Kayann Wilcox, Gloria Zamora, Marie Lobb and Mary Allred serving. Tom Brooks attended the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Cloudercroft, the couple is at home in Capitan.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Fry, the bride's grandparents; Mrs. Eletha Wright, the bride's great-grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sullins and Lia, Mr. and Mrs. B.M. Camper, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Camper and Kris, Mr. and Mrs. Jim English, all of Roswell; Mrs. Ellen McGill and Margie of Hope; Sandra Capone of Fort Sumner; Denise Baca, Gloria Zamora, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones of Fort Stanton; Mrs. Gwenda McDaniel, Shawna and Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, Rebecca and Glenda of Lincoln; Kayann Wilcox, Tammy Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wendenburg of Alto.

Golda Ward was in Alamogordo last Saturday to collect the 100 gallons of gas she won by participating in a raffle sponsored by the woodmen of the World (WOW) group. The Alamogordo organization turned the proceeds of the project over to the Zia Therapy Center of Alamogordo. Golda is a member of WOW.

Golda was in Muskogee, OK, last month attending the high school graduation of her grandson, James Hess. Golda's daughter Dawna and Golda's friend, Bella Killingbeck, accompanied her on the five-day trip.

Sunday guests at the Ward home were Mr. and Mrs. Darold Shurtz and four children of Artesia. (Darold is Roberta's brother.)

Three-day visitors last week in the Ward home were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morphew of Kingman, AZ.

Roley and Dollie Ward were in Roswell Monday of last week on business. While there they stopped to visit Dollie's sister, Ada Grey, former Carrizozo resident.

Santa Rita Choir, directed by Neva Rae Ventura, provided the wedding mass music. A son-in-law, Don Duquette and a granddaughter, Lizzie Navarro, sang three songs. One of the selections was, "What a difference you have

A dinner reception with a menu of roast beef, corn, a salad and potatoes were served at the wedding party and guests at the parish hall. A friend, Nena Ortiz, was in charge of the servers, which included grandchildren of the honored couple.

Last rites for 'Pallie' Dishman, 90
Zelpha B. (Pallie) Dishman, 90, a resident of Corona since 1926 died Thursday, June 17.

Mrs. Dishman came to Corona as a bride at the age of 17. She had many hobbies, including collecting arrowheads, making jewelry from snakebones, buttons and shells, making flower arrangements using dried birds'arc apples, turtle and coconut shells and buttons, and making dolls.

Funeral services were held Saturday, June 19, 2 p.m. at the Corona Presbyterian Church with the Rev. William E. Scholes and the Rev. A.L. Miller officiating.

Pallbearers were Ernest Lueras, Lee Mulkey, Dick Wiegert, Rand Perkins, Byron Yancey, and Earl Roper. Honorary bearers were long-time friends. Interment was in the Corona Cemetery.

"I think that's the way it should be," said Lujan, who added: "I wouldn't support a propaganda organ for the Unification Church."

When asked about another editor-publisher named McKinney, who was reportedly guaranteed continued control over the New Mexican in Santa Fe, Lujan smiled and replied: "That's true, but it ended up in court. And then the Gannett newspapers had to either reimburse him, or pay him amounts of money. If Whelan is not given complete editorial control he has recourse to the courts."

We then asked Lujan about Moon's legal appeal. Moon contends that it is impossible to find objective jurors to try him in New York -- while at the same time Moon is paying huge amounts to advertise that his newspaper in Washington has hundreds of very objective journalists working for him.

"I would disagree with him there," answered Lujan. "You're certainly going to find a jury in case. How about the Manson murders? Everybody has heard about Hinckley--so I don't buy that argument."

evangelist Sun Myung Moon.

During an interview, Cong. Lujan said he has read the newspaper, once. He also commented that Moon has a right to own and publish a newspaper unless it is actually a propaganda organ, "and then it should be dealt with by the various laws as an organ of propaganda."

Lujan also noted that the newspaper's editor and publisher, James Whelan, formerly of the Sacramento Union and UP1, has said he has a guarantee of complete editorial control.

Rare chance to adopt a horse

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Socorro District Office is planning to roundup 39 head of wild horses from the Bordo Atravesado Herd Management Area, located 15 miles east of Socorro.

The roundup, conducted by "water trapping," is necessary in order to balance cattle and wild horse populations with the forage resources. Water trapping involves closing gates around enclosed watering areas while horses are watering, thus reducing stress on the captured animals.

Adoption of the 39 wild horses is tentatively scheduled for July 24 at the roundup site. Approved adoptors pay $200 for each horse to help defray the cost of the roundup, veterinary services, and care of the horses until they are adopted.

The roundup is part of the BLM's Adopt-a-Horse Program, managed under the Wild Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act of 1971. Under this program the animals remain the property of the US government for one year, after which applicants may file for title.

Anyone interested in adopting a wild horse should contact the Socorro District Office, attention: Murray Norbeck, Public Affairs Specialist, Box 1219, Socorro, NM 87801 or telephone (505) 835-0412.

Services for Mrs. Beltran are today

Funeral services for Mrs. Tomasita Beltran, 88, were held at 10 a.m. today, June 24, in Carrizozo.

Mrs. Beltran died June 21 in Ruidoso Memorial Hospital. Rosary services were recited at 7 p.m. Wednesday at St. Rita's Catholic Church.

The deceased was born Jan. 16, 1894 in Misque, Chihuahua, Mexico.

She is survived by two sons, Jerry Beltran Sr. and Jerry Beltran Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Marcelina Chavez of Carrizozo; 12 grandchildren, 33 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Mrs. Beltran's grandsons: Juan, Tony, Emilio, Lorenzo, Ernest and Orlando Beltran. Honorary pallbearers were also grandsons: David and Alfred Baca; Romie, Johnny, Christy and Clarence Beltran; and Victor Jaramillo Jr.

BEFORE AND AFTER. Lincoln Motel and apartments had extensive fire damage years ago. The 12 lots where the burned out buildings were situated were bought by the county from the Pehm brothers for $80,400. Today (upper photo) the area serves as a parking lot for county courthouse employees. Moises Sambrano, maintenance supervisor, and Ernie Beltran are shown taking care of 30 juniper trees recently put out as part of the landscaped area.

State water policies now apply to federal agencies

US Sen. Pete V. Domenici hailed as "a great victory for the West" an announcement by Attorney General William French Smith that federal agencies will no longer assert claims to water in western states on the basis of the so-called "non-reserved water rights" theory.

"This is a great victory for the West and means that state water law will be observed by all government agencies," Domenici said. "The Reagan administration continues to prove that it is a good neighbor to the West."

In New Mexico, the announcement means government agencies must comply with state law and apply for water rights like everyone else.

The Defense Department and US Forest Service are expected to be affected the most in New Mexico by the policy change. The reason being, they are the ones most likely who will be applying for water rights in the future, since they administer so much land in the state.

The "non-reserved water rights theory" dates to the Carter administration.

A Justice Department opinion which had been in effect since then provided that federal agencies managing lands in the West had the right to use unappropriated water on federal land without regard to state law.

whenever the agency determined water was needed for any authorized function of the agency.

The basis for the controversial theory was the view that state law did not apply to federal agencies unless Congress specifically provided that it should.

considerable consternation in the West, though more so in other states than in New Mexico. Some western state leaders felt the federal government was being allowed to ignore state water allocation procedures. One western state attorney general had called the theory "a nightmare."

The policy had caused con-
