

A decision by 3 people!

Phoney test flunks all 4 NM Congressional delegates

By TOM & LESTER KINGSOLVING
Who represent the Lincoln County News in Washington
"Black-Hispanic Group Flunks NM Officials" headlined the June 16th edition of the Albuquerque Journal. All four of New Mexico's Congressional delegation were reported to have failed what The Journal's Washington correspondent Paul Wieck described as "a liberal agenda" used to rate them by "Congressional Education Associates", a group which describes itself as a "private lobbying operation". This group, which has an office at 1411 K Street NW in Washington, selected 20 issues which were voted upon in 1981 by the US Senate and the House. It also published a list of all members of Congress and whether or not their votes on these issues were "RIGHT" or "WRONG". This 54-page pamphlet, which is entitled "Congressional Ledger", does not reveal:

— How many people belong to the "Congressional Education Associates". (An inquiry to their Washington office revealed that it was only three people who decided that the New Mexico Congressional delegation voted "WRONG": Gordon Alexander, former legislative aide to Indiana's defeated Democrat Sen. Birch Bayh; David Ruffin, a former aide to California's Democrat Rep. Gus Hawkins, a member of the Congressional Black Caucus, and Gloria Barrajas, a researcher.)
— How the decision was reached to charge New Mexico's Congressmen with voting "WRONG". ("We compared their vote to how black and Hispanic Congressmen voted," explained Barrajas. "Lujan was in the minority among Hispanics.") — Who it was that paid for what was described as an "independently researched, compiled and produced" guide. "We did," explained Barrajas, who listed as clients a number of commercial firms such as "Sonnycraft" in Chicago.

This "Congressional Ledger" also contains one paragraph explanations of each of the 40 issues. Both of New Mexico's House members, Joe Skeen and Manuel Lujan, were listed as voting "WRONG", because they voted against the proposed budget of the Congressional Black Caucus. According to this "Ledger", this budget would have produced a $7 billion surplus; stimulated productivity and employment; increased defense spending over the Carter budget; added funds for human needs; terminated tax loopholes; provided tax relief for low and moderate income Americans; reduced the deficit; and balanced the budget for fiscal year 1982.

America's national government?
At the House Budget Committee office, staffer Art Siddon provided some information about the Black Caucus Budget which was somehow overlooked by this "Congressional Ledger," as well as The Albuquerque Journal:
It would have cut the proposed national defense budget by $24 billion; it would have caused a $97 billion deficit; it would have increased taxes by $65 billion.
Representatives Skeen and Lujan were also reported as voting "WRONG" on "School Desegregation" because they — and 265 other members of the Democratically-controlled House of Representatives — voted against busing of students beyond their neighborhood schools on the basis of their race!

The word "busing", which recurrent polls have indicated is opposed by a large majority of the public, including blacks and (Continued on page 2)

Loss 'in the millions'

Hondo School gutted in fire

Firemen from seven fire departments failed to save the main Hondo School building destroyed by fire Sunday morning.
Hondo School recently underwent a $300,000 renovation. Completely lost were offices, the old high school, classroom, library, cafeteria and gymnasium — all housed at the east end of the school building.
The State Fire Marshal and state crime lab personnel are investigating the possibility of arson. Early witnesses at the scene said there definitely was a break-in before the fire broke out.
No estimate of damage was available immediately, but Supt.

Ernest J. Booky of Hondo Valley Public Schools said it would probably run into the millions. He said there is a $2 million insurance policy on the buildings.
The new high school wing which houses the science, commercial and home economics departments was saved. Some 50 to 60 firemen from fire departments in Hondo, Fort Stanton, Lincoln, Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and US Forest Service could not save the main building, but kept flames from engulfing the new high school building.
Hondo has no community water system, and firemen were forced to haul water from an irrigation well five miles away from the scene of the blaze.

The fire was discovered about 9:45 a.m. Sunday. Hondo fire chief Frank Titsworth said that when his men arrived the building was already in flames, windows shattered by the heat, and the gymnasium roof fell in shortly after the arrival.
In Santa Fe, the State Superintendent of Schools, Leonard DeLayo, halted distribution of a $10 million state school construction program. Because of the Hondo School fire and the possible cost of assistance in rebuilding the school, it may be necessary to re-order outlays already approved by the department.

There are about 180 students, kindergarten through grade 12, at Hondo School. Supt. Booky has asked the state Education Department for portable classrooms to temporarily house students until permanent classrooms can be built. Booky said school would begin as scheduled, the day after Labor Day.
The building gutted by fire was being remodeled at the time. Last August, the district approved a $304,000 bond issue for that purpose, all of which was lost in the fire.

People's Market, Fiesta Aug. 1

The 7th Annual People's Market will be held Sunday, Aug. 1, at Spencer Park in Carrizozo. Exhibitors are being sought for the sale of items ranging from flea market finds to art and craft items. Food booths are also available, as are game booths which would help entertain children. Space reservations are $5 and may be obtained by contacting Mignon Sims, chairman, Box 567, Carrizozo, NM 88301. Applicants should include their names, addresses, phone numbers, and type of items for sale and a check or money order for $5.

Space reservation confirmations will be sent as soon as applications are received. Exhibitors will need to provide their own set-up materials. A limited number of electrical outlets will be available and will be provided only to those requesting them. Since electrical outlets are limited they will be available on a first-come basis. Reservations will be taken until July 23.
The event is co-sponsored by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce and Santa Rita Catholic Community. The market will operate from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. The two agencies have some fundings planned for this year's People's Market. There will be a chili cookoff and a children's petting zoo, both new this year.

The Santa Rita Fiesta started to coincide with the People's Market, will be offering events starting Friday, July 30, and continuing through Sunday, Aug. 1.
Events already planned by Santa Rita are vespers and a procession on Friday night.

Saturday morning will begin with a golf tournament sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Saturday evening there will be a Fiesta mass, the crowning of the queen and a Fiesta dance. At the People's Market on Sunday, mass will be offered at the park at 11 a.m., followed by a performance of the Hondo Dancers.
Santa Rita will sponsor various events at the Marketplace throughout the day.
For further information concerning the Fiesta, contact Fr. David J. Bergs, Carrizozo, 648-2853.

ONLY A few ex-students of Carrizozo Schools showed up for the annual picnic at Spencer Park Sunday. The really big event is held every five years, and hundreds are expected for the "biggie" in 1985. Prize money will go to winners in saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, ladies barrel racing and team roping. A dance follows, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., with music by the K-Key All-American Music Band.
The same rodeo program and dance will be repeated the evening of July 3. On July 4, the celebration will begin with a parade at 11 a.m., followed by the crowning of the Queen of Lincoln County at 1:30 p.m. The rodeo will begin at 2 p.m.

Crime Stopper originator at benefit buffet

Residents of Carrizozo and surrounding area are being invited to a fundraising buffet dinner on July 9 to benefit a Crime Stoppers program being initiated here.
The buffet will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. at New Horizons, the old hospital on E Avenue.
At 7 o'clock, following the buffet, Greg MacAleese, originator of the Albuquerque Crime Stoppers and Crime Stoppers USA, Inc., will speak on ways to organize Crime Stoppers for this area.

No more hepatitis reported

There have been no new cases of hepatitis in Carrizozo following six cases reported a couple of weeks ago, according to Hazel English of the Lincoln County Health Office.

In spite of investigations into the source of the infections, the office has been unable to determine how the victims acquired the disease. Since the incubation period for hepatitis is two to six weeks, it is assumed that the six persons all had the same contact.

All hepatitis patients are recovering satisfactorily, she said.

Hispanics, appears nowhere in this analysis — even though such racial busing is quite clearly the issue.

But Skeen and Lujan are therefore identified in this "Congressional Ledger" as supporters of school segregation — which is simply misleading.

In the Senate, New Mexico's Harrison Schmitt and Pete Domenici are both listed as having voted "WRONG" because they voted against an amendment restricting aid to El Salvador and making such aid contingent upon that nation's passing a human rights test every six months. No such criterion is imposed on black African and Arab dictatorships or one-party governments who receive millions of dollars in US aid.

Domenici is further graded down because he voted to repeal the Clark Amendment, pertaining to Angola. (Schmitt was also graded down because he missed the vote.) This amendment, introduced by former Democrat Sen. Dick Clark of Iowa, prohibited any US aid to Jonas Savimbi, the black guerrilla leader who is fighting for the independence of his country from the government in the capital city of Luanda, which is supported by the Soviet Union as well as by Cuban troops.

But this analysis of why Sen. Domenici is "WRONG" makes no mention of Savimbi. And neither does The Albuquerque Journal.

New Mexico in Washington

Hinkley verdict OK, says Skeen

by Tom & Lester Kinsolving
WASHINGTON — The verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity has created an uproar in our nation's capital, but it has won the expressed approval of New Mexico's 2nd Dist. Cong. Joe Skeen.

US Attorney General William French Smith called a news conference to declare: "There must be an end to the doctrine that allows so many persons to commit acts of violence, to use confusing procedures to their own advantage and then have the door thrown open to the society which they victimized."

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan described the verdict in the trial of this attempted assassin of President Reagan as "beyond belief" and said he is "outraged"; while Senate Judiciary Chairman Strom Thurmond, R-SC, is one of a number of Congressmen who will seek remedial legislation. Even the liberal Washington Post published an editorial headlined, "Is Justice Crazy?"

But New Mexico Congressman Joe Skeen told this newspaper during an interview on the day following the verdict.

"I think the system has worked its will. And I accept that as our system of jurisprudence and justice in the United States. If they say the man's insane, he was tried according to our laws. I see no flaw. The system worked."

When asked about the possibility of a hearing (scheduled for 30 days after the verdict) finding that Hinkley is now sane and ordering his release, Skeen answered:

"I suppose that we'd have to accept it, because that's the way the system dictates."

If that were to happen, would Skeen consider introducing or supporting remedial legislation?

"Nope. I think that the system works well. If they can prove to me that there's been a glaring injustice, certainly. But at this point, no one's done that."

Skeen was then asked for his position on whether Sirhan Sirhan, the convicted killer of Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-NY, should be paroled.

"I had no opinion on the thing. I am not a part and parcel on the proceedings that are required to judge Sirhan Sirhan. And I don't know any legislator around this body who is."

Sen. Harrison Schmitt had a very different reaction:

"The use of the insanity definition has reached intolerable proportions with the acquittal of John Hinckley. The burden of proof should not be on the government to prove sanity when there is obviously no doubt as to the guilt and the premeditation of the defendant. The law must be changed so that the defense must prove insanity. Now is the time to act before the insanity defense makes a mockery of our judicial system."

Sen. Pete Domenici commented: "The jury verdict causes me a great deal of concern, not because of what the jury did but because of the interpretation of the law in the District of Columbia. The verdict obviously concludes that John Hinckley was not responsible for his actions and consequently will be placed in a mental institution — and possibly back in society — unless the federal government can prove he continues to be insane. That bothers me greatly. Society needs to be protected to a greater degree from individuals who have committed such heinous acts. We've been interested and have co-sponsored legislation in the past year which would alter the insanity defense.

"This legislation would do two things: (1) Provide the guidelines for determining whether a defendant was insane; and (2) Make it much more difficult for a person to be set free if he's found to be insane at the time of the crime. The effect would be that there would be a much greater likelihood that a defendant would serve time rather than be released back into society after a temporary stay at a mental institution."

Rep. Manuel Lujan was not available for comment.

MR. and Mrs. Charles Mackey of Ft. Leavenworth, KS, traveled the longest distance to attend the annual Carrizozo Schools Alumni meeting last weekend. With them were their son Charles and daughter Dominique.

Federal money keeps New Mexico economy afloat

By SEN. PETE DOMENICI

For many years, federal jobs and dollars have been the backbone of New Mexico's economy. More of our people are employed by the federal government than by anyone else. And New Mexico leads all other states in the amount of money we receive per capita ($1.72 for every dollar our citizens pay in federal taxes).

But therein lies a serious problem. Too much of our economy in New Mexico is based on the federal government. We rely too heavily on Uncle Sam to keep our economic head afloat.

I believe New Mexico must diversify its economy — and the time to start is immediately.

Otherwise, New Mexico will always face the risk that those federal jobs and funds would someday dry up — for whatever reason. We must be aware of the fact that national policy changes disarmament, a broad reduction of the military or a congressionally mandated change in the kind of military forces we have could lead to a reduction in the number of facilities and a possible phasing-out of military bases across the country.

It would be nearsighted and foolish if we ignored that possibility.

The answer lies in economic diversification.

By having several major industries in a local community, the community remains fairly insulated from the ups and downs of the world marketplace.

This diversification, to a certain extent, has already begun in some communities. Las Cruces and Roswell have both begun attracting a variety of non-federal jobs.

But there are problems that still need to be solved if we hope to extend their lead.

Here are some steps I think must be taken to bring more private industry and funds to the Land of Enchantment:

— Consider changes in the tax laws when the incentives New Mexico offers are not competitive with neighboring states and when New Mexico's laws are punitive in comparison with other states.

— Broaden our financial base in the state, taking the chances to develop new and innovative industries and technologies.

— Improve our transportation system with better highways, rail service and intrastate airlines.

— Increase support for New Mexico's three doctoral universities, particularly in programs which directly impact on the state's economy.

— Continue development of a highly professional, non-partisan and non-political approach to economic development through the state Department of Commerce and Industry.

— Consider innovative labor training programs.

— Encourage the involvement of New Mexico businesses in international trade.

To accomplish these things, we need leadership — not only from government officials, but from business people themselves.

And we need a change in attitudes.

Unfortunately for New Mexico's economic development, there exists in some circles an anti-growth attitude — an "Albuquerque versus the rest of the state attitude". It's a lingering kind of frontier conservatism which hampers New Mexico's future.

Let me make one thing clear. We want very much to keep our national laboratories, our missile range and our air bases. But at the same time, we must be aware that those federal programs may not be around for ever.

New Mexico cannot afford to ignore that possibility, and New Mexico cannot afford to be unprepared if it should occur.

Opinion

The following column is a "re-run." It was first printed July 4, 1980 as part of an editorial package that won this OPINION column the George Washington Honor Medal from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. Nothing has happened in these two years to change the validity of a single conclusion expressed herein. We have continued to inject doses of democracy into the American system, slowed only by some wise moves by the Reagan Administration. I have two classic examples of democracy, or "people in action": (1) The bloody French Revolution that began in 1789 and (2) a posse in the American West. Now I can add a third example of democracy in action — the late primary elections in which the votes of illegal aliens, certified crazies, knotheads and illiterates were counted on an equal footing with literate US citizens qualified to understand the issues.

● I DON'T have any plans to forget the Fourth of July celebrations of my childhood. We began looking forward to July 4 as soon as school "let out" for the summer. Of course, the July 4 events were different then, as what wasn't? This was a day when children dreamed of growing up to become policemen, soldiers, teachers, railroad engineers and even mayors. Youth's greatest respect was reserved for those who engaged in keeping the peace, manning the engines of industry, and those who were personally honored by being elected to public office.

● IN THE early 1920s any town that could attract a state or national legislator to deliver the July 4 address was honored, and such appearance insured a large crowd. There was always the parade, and an important part of it was the group of uniformed veterans of World War I and the Spanish-American War. They marched smartly, receiving the cheers of crowds that lined the street. The volunteer band played (loudly but not always in tune) the national anthem and "Stars and Stripes Forever" and nobody felt embarrassed. Eyes went misty and hats came off as Old Glory went by. The best local orators were recruited to read the Declaration of Independence; every kid was proud to be an American; any slur on the national honor was avenged in a bloody fistfight.

● THE PICNIC was an essential part of any Fourth of July celebration. Long tables were laden with potato salad, watermelons, cakes, pies, fried chicken and lemonade. There were games and races for children and adults, seemingly designed to insure that just about everybody could be a winner at something. It was a time when people spoke of Thomas Jefferson more as a living person.

● Fireworks topped off the day's festivities. Kids, most of them, have been instructed in the proper use of fireworks. Sure, a few lost fingers by holding on too long to those giant firecrackers, but they bore their injury with humor, even with some pride, since the "wound" was incurred in the exuberance of the Fourth of July.

● IT WAS pretty late when we at last got home and tumbled into bed, exhausted but happy, over what we considered a proper celebration of our nation's birthday. Asleep, we were more likely to dream about becoming military heroes in the defense of our country than about acquiring a new catcher's mitt, a cellar full of stick candy, or a little encouragement from the girl down the block.

● WE DIDN'T know that human nature, being what it is, was setting loose the greed and selfishness that might some day undermine the country whose birthdays we observed with so much dedication. We were unaware that writers and statesmen like Thomas Babington Macaulay had written in early 18th Century England that: "I have long been convinced that institutions purely democratic must, sooner or later, destroy liberty or civilization, or both." We wouldn't have believed him anyway. But we went right on converting, unknowingly for the most part, our republic into a democracy. A century after Macaulay, British Prime Minister Disraeli predicted what has happened to England, and that it would later happen to America. He told Parliament: "If you establish a democracy (government by the rabble), you must in due time reap the fruits of a democracy." Over here, Americans forgot that the Founding Fathers did their best to form a Republic, with enough safeguards to keep it from degenerating into a Democracy. We have never been able to differentiate between a Democracy and a Republic run democratically!

● IN 1977 The Washington Post published a sobering article by Peter Jay, economics editor of the London Times. It dealt with the tragic consequences of government's intervention to neutralize the evil effects of a previous government intervention. Mr. Jay concluded: "So we reach the depressing conclusion that the operation of free democracy appears to force government into positions (the commitment to full employment) that prevent them from taking steps (fiscal and monetary restraints) that are necessary to arrest the menace (accelerating inflation) that threatens to undermine the condition (stable prosperity) on which political stability and therefore liberal democracy depend. In other words, democracy has itself by the tail and is eating itself up fast."

● MR. JAY was agreeing with Howard E. Kreshner, professor of economics at Northwest Institute, who formulated what he calls Kreshner's First Law: "When a self-governing people empower their government to take wealth from some and give it to others, the process will not stop until the last bone of the last taxpayer is picked bare." The whiteness of the bones is already beginning to appear. Transfer payments, a polite and disarming governmental term used to describe that money which is taken by force from some of our citizens and given to other citizens, were running at $200 billion a year in 1976 and are now at $600 billion per year. At this rate, the taxpayers' bones will indeed be bare, and the prophecy of democracy will at last have been fulfilled.

● BEN FRANKLIN knew all about this. When asked what the struggling Continental Congress had produced. Old Ben replied: "A Republic, sir, if you can keep it." We didn't keep it. We turned toward a democracy which the Founding Fathers both feared and hated.

● JOHN WINTHROP, first governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony, said of democracy that it is "accounted the meanest and worst of all forms of government." During the American Revolution the word "democracy" was not in use. It does not ap-

You have no 'right' to live

Efforts by residents of Carrizozo to establish a Crime Stoppers unit to combat a rising crime rate are timely and essential.

Law enforcement officers do their best to provide honest citizens with protection from criminals, and Crime Stoppers can help them to do their jobs better, but the best efforts of all can't bring about crime-free society, and for good reason.

While American citizens enjoy a wide range of "rights," they do not enjoy the right to police protection. Surprised? You should be.

Courts across the country have established the principle that government has no obligation to provide protection to any citizen. Two recent court decisions, one in New York and one in Washington, DC, have upheld the principle that police are not legally bound to protect anyone.

If Carrizozo Police, New Mexico State Police, Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept., the FBI and the US Army are not obligated to protect us from criminals, who is?

It is generally recognized by Americans, and by the courts, that certain people have certain rights. Criminals have rights, for example, that honest people don't. Hoods and thugs even have a "right" to be advised of their "rights." Others do not. It is established that there is a right to welfare, free legal advice, free abortions, free public education, food stamps and a gamut of goodies.

What is not established is the most fundamental right of all — the right to be safe in our homes and businesses from thieves, muggers, vandals, rapists and murderers. The President of the United States does not even possess the right to see his would-be assassin sent to jail or permanently removed from the streets.

The rights of criminals and persons accused of crime are specifically enumerated in the US Constitution; the right of honest men to life itself is not addressed at all.

The honest citizen's right to his life and property is under assault from another direction. Communities like Morton Grove, IL, Washington, DC, and now San Francisco are enacting ordinances to prevent their residents from keeping or obtaining firearms with which to protect themselves.

In such times, citizens need to band together in groups like Crime Stoppers for their own protection. Even this procedure is under attack by criminal coddlers and those who believe society, not human cussedness, causes crime.

Crime Stoppers is only a beginning. To place honest citizens' rights above the rights of criminals is a long but necessary row to hoe. Pressure must be exerted upon all branches of government to recognize a person's right to life and the enjoyment of his property.

Letters to the Editor

NM NOT CA

EDITOR — Your Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce Vice-President Scott Shafer may be impressed by Santa Rosa, CA's, attractive C of C building (see your front page, June 17) but he is wrong if he thinks it was built with bed tax or "Lodger's Tax" as you call it.

It was designed and built by private enterprise and became the first office condominium building so financed financed in the County of Sonoma. The money to buy urban renewal land upon which it stands was saved up from 1959 until 1972 when backers, mostly past-presidents and their friends, pledged themselves to finance a 10,000 square foot two-story structure. The Bank of Sonoma provided an 80 percent loan at 8 percent.

One past-president, an attorney, brought in the idea of making it an office condominium and offered to buy 2,500 square feet upstairs. Then the architect chosen by other member architects to draw plans came in for 5,000 sq. ft. As the Chamber only needed 2,500 sq. ft. on the ground floor facing the City Center for its Visitor Information Center and boardroom, this worked out well for everyone.

In 1974 the building opened and won the City Beautification Award that year.

Yes, Lodger's Tax is used for promotion purposes, but before the SR Chamber gets any it must put up a matching fund, dollar for dollar, with no salaries or pensions to be paid out of the lodger's Tax up to now.

This seems like a reasonable private enterprise notion in this great nation of ours, wouldn't you agree?

TOM COX

Executive Director, 1960-1981 (retired),
Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce.

(ED. NOTE — We do agree. But Mr. Shafer was talking about the Chamber of Commerce in Santa Rosa, New Mexico, not Santa Rosa, California.)

'Promote New Mexico positively'

EDITOR — "New Mexico is hot, dry, and ugly." Unfortunately, this is a common opinion among people in other parts of the United States. I believe we need to change this image; if we are going to increase our tourism and economic development. New Mexico is a beautiful state and we have much to offer tourists and business. However, we must first change the opinion people have of us, and perhaps even the image we have of ourselves.

Tourism is extremely important to the economy of New Mexico, and it thrives on a good image. Tourism generates 30,000 to 40,000 jobs for New Mexicans and provides substantial revenue for the state. We need more jobs and these can be provided by increased tourism and new business. My department recently contracted with a private firm to compare New Mexico's business climate with surrounding states. The purpose of this study is to determine what legislation is needed to make New Mexico more competitive for new business. However, legislative changes alone will not bring in business — our image is also a factor. Every year jobs are lost for New Mexicans because business will not locate in a "hot, dry and ugly" place.

I am asking all of our news media to help me promote a good image of New Mexico by saying positive things about New Mexico. For instance, the temperature is not a scorching 110 degrees but, it is a beautiful summer day. The snow is not miserable and cold but, just right for skiing. If we begin to promote New Mexico positively, others will begin to think of us that way. As Secretary of Commerce and Industry, I want my department to do as much as possible to help in the image change. So, in addition to asking your staff to apply a positive philosophy about New Mexico to their work, I would like your suggestions on how my department can help to improve New Mexico's image.

The interest in the Sunbelt States can bring increased prosperity to New Mexico if we improve our image. As a native New Mexican, I want other people to appreciate our state as much as we do — to think of us first for vacations and business.

RUSSELL AUTREY,

Secretary of Commerce and Industry Department, Santa Fe.

(ED. NOTE — Show me the bloody blighter who says it's a scorching 110 degrees and that New Mexico snow is miserable and cold and I'll break his cereal bowl.)

Law enforcement

EDITOR — A friend recently gave me an old copy of "It's the Law." Remember when that was a feature of the American Magazine? I thought you might be amused at this entry. "It is unlawful for a man or woman to go unshaven in Carrizozo, New Mexico."

Is that law enforced?

JEANNE FORD,
Forestville, CA.

(According to Mayor Harold Garcia, that is indeed the law. And it is as rigidly enforced as is the 10:30 nightly curfew for kids under 18; or, to put it more correctly, never.)

The News is read

EDITOR — Please enter my subscription to your paper. I heard you over KTRB, Modesto, with John Katz and really liked your Fourth of July editorial.

JIM PERNETTI,
Ceres, CA.

EDITOR — I continue to enjoy your writing, which I consider excellent. Therefore California's loss is New Mexico's gain — thanks to the Lincoln County News today.

Santa Rosa, CA.

Episcopal gadfly creates havoc

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

KANSAS CITY, MO—Fredrick Andrew Stahl Jr. of Toronto is the only child of a multi-millionaire who was board chairman of Standard and Poor's as well as a director of McGraw-Hill.

But Stahl the younger decided against following his father into the highly remunerative realm of big business publishing. Instead he has devoted almost his entire adult life to the study of medieval church history and canon (church) law.

In the course of this unusual avocation, Stahl attended three theological seminaries. But he has never been ordained.

Until recently, there has been no opportunity for any real application of his rather esoteric life's work. But five years ago, there appeared across the border (in the U.S.) an absolutely thrilling possibility of a real life laboratory where Stahl could begin practical application of his resuscitated Medieval ecclesiastical law system. For a revolution had taken place within the Episcopal Church in the United States.

Some 150 clergy and (still unnumbered) thousands of laity had walked out of that denomination, because its power structure has simultaneously imposed upon them (1) a very badly revised prayer book; (2) an ecclesiastically illegal ordination service of women into the priesthood; and (3) funding of Marxist terrorist groups.

The new denomination was initially called the Anglican Church of North America. But this was soon changed to the Anglican Catholic Church. Within hours of its inception, there began an

I wish one and all a very happy and safe Holiday. Remember the meaning of this day with gratitude. Blessings abounding and eternal. Be glad you are an American.

It is very quiet at this time but this weekend will be a busy hustle and bustle. Great crowds will be here for the Fourth of July celebration.

The Smokey Bear Museum has had 5,380 visitors to date this month. A group of Girl Scouts from Hobbs visited there and at the State Park last Tuesday.

Welcome to another new business in Capitan which opened last weekend. "The Cottonwood", an all-service restaurant. Their desire is to serve quality food and they are training their cooks to their own specialty. They also have the fountain open, and ice cream. They will order any kind you desire if you just tell them. They are located at First and Lincoln. Ruth and Mike Castle are the new owners. They purchased that property a few months ago and have remodeled the home in the rear and their business building as well. It is bright, shining and clean, inviting you to relax and enjoy your food, ice cream or drink at the fountain. Enjoy yourself there.

They named their business "Cottonwood" for the Cottonwood tree that has stood there for years. I wish this lovely couple many years of happiness and success with us. Mike is a contractor.

The Capitan Junior Riding Club held its Play Day Sunday, June 27 at the Arena. Missey Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Jones, was crowned the 1982 Capitan Junior Riding Club Queen.

Julie Graves, Avon district manager "278" of Roswell, held a sales meeting at K-Bob's in Ruidoso, June 22. Those present were Joan Means, Shirley Furness, Margaret Rench, Pattie Malone, Cora Sweerley, Kathy Ames and Joan Holmes.

Jessie and Tracie Herd enjoyed sailing last weekend at Elephant Butte Lake.

The Four Square Church held its Vacation Bible School last week with a good attendance.

Ging Griego celebrated her 11th birthday Saturday by inviting seven of her little girl friends to enjoy swimming with her at the Ruidoso swimming pool. I wish her many more such happy birthdays.

Watch for opening of another art and gift shop very soon.

The District 4-H Contest was held at the Fair Building, June 29. It grieves all of us that the Hondo School burned Sunday. That is sad, and I certainly do feel for that community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Crisp and family of Menard, TX, spent several days visiting her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Booher.

Bessie Jones attended the Jones family reunion at Orchard Park grounds near Bonita Lake over last weekend. There were 65 present, some from Texas and Oklahoma.

Cathy Mitchell of Grants, NM and Dunk and Gene Fuque of Portales were guests last weekend of Bessie Jones.

I wish much happiness for many more birthdays to David Cummins and Ken Reamy, whose birthdays were June 18; April Muse, June 17; and Howard Wright, June 25.

Virginia Muse of Houston, TX, moved to this area June 20 and is employed at the Ruidoso State Bank in Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Berker of Alamogordo announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Terri Kolleen, to John Ty Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Werner of Roswell. The wedding date has been set for July 24, 4 p.m., at the home of the groom's grandmother, Hattie Phillips, in Lincoln, NM. A barbecue reception will follow the ceremony.

Girls vie for Fair Queen Crown

Two local girls are competing for the title of Miss Lincoln County Fair Queen.

The queen contest, held in conjunction with the Smokey Bear Stampede, will be held at the Capitan Fair Building at 2 p.m. Friday, July 2. The personality segment of the contest will be first, with the riding competition following immediately in the arena.

Alice Booky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Booky, currently a junior at Hondo High School, hopes to attend college at New Mexico State University and study animal science. She is actively involved in the Hondo Valley 4-H Club and Hondo FFA. She has served on the Lincoln County 4-H Council for two years and is president of the council. She is also vice-president of the Hondo FFA chapter. She is active in all sports and participates in basketball, volleyball and track. Her hobbies include horses, piano, guitar and banjo.

Fireworks at White Oaks

A bang-up time is planned for White Oaks, July 4.

The public is invited to a free fireworks display. The exhibition will start at dusk and a country dance will follow. Admission is one dollar. Sandwiches and snacks will be available.

the construction of married student and faculty housing and seminary refurbishing.

Harmon and Beverly Schmelzenbach are currently on furlough. Harmon is a third generation missionary of denominational efforts in Africa. His grandfather began the work of the church in Swaziland shortly after the turn of the century. The couple was sent to Africa in 1960. Their assignments have been in various areas of Southern Africa, and in 1976 they organized denominational efforts in Namibia. Their son, Harmon III, who was reared in Africa, and his wife Cindy are in the process of training in preparation for return to Africa as missionaries.

Those persons interested are invited to attend the fellowship and ice cream supper.

Pritt-Porter vows exchanged

Ollie Lorraine Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Means of Nogal, and James Allen Pritt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pritt of Stephen City, VA, were married June 12 at Nogal Presbyterian Church in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Bill Scholes.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white satin gown with lace bodice and sleeves. Sheila Zumwalt was maid of honor, attired in a blue taffeta dress with a sheer blue flowered print bodice.

Amy Means, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Amanda Greer was the flower girl. James Pritt, father of the groom, served as best man. Hankie Means, brother of the bride, and Ronnie Zumwalt were ushers.

Music was provided by organist Anne Ferguson. Eva Zumwalt was soloist, selecting "The Rose" and "The Wedding Song."

A reception at the church followed.

Out-of-town guests included Lucille Porter, grandmother of the bride, Roswell; Dollie See Wade, Corona; Bill and Brenda Mansfield and family of Austin, TX; Jim and Hilda Pritt of Virginia; and aunts and uncles of the bride from the Albuquerque area.

Angus Church to have July 4 fellowship

A special Independence Day Sunday fellowship is scheduled at the Angus Church of the Nazarene, July 4, 6:30 p.m., according to Kenneth Frey, pastor.

Missionaries from several fields and time periods of service will be sharing personal experiences. Following the fellowship service, a 4th of July homemade ice cream supper will be served on the grounds.

The following missionaries will participate in the program: Mrs. Kathy Newlin Hudson worked as a missionary nurse during the years 1961-1976. She served in the Ethel Lucas Memorial Hospital, now the Tintswalo Hospital at Accornhoek, South Africa, Eastern Transvaal.

Jim and Cathy Lane have just returned after six months of volunteer service at the Latin American Seminary located in San Jose, Costa Rica. They coordinated local church and district work-and-witness teams from the United States, each of which brought funds with them to apply toward some capital improvement project and self-support. These projects included pear in the Declaration of Independence. It does not appear in the Constitution of the United States. It does not appear in any of the first state constitutions. Thomas Jefferson feared it. Alexander Hamilton called it "our real disease." We didn't listen. We discovered we could vote things for ourselves out of the public treasury, and thus "transfer payments" were born.

● TODAY $600 billion a year are (in a democratic manner) being forcibly taken from one group of citizens and given to another. The cry is for even more democracy, democracy, democracy, as if this country were never a republic, and as if democracy as a form of government represents man's finest political achievement instead of one of its worst.

● I LOVE my country, but I can do without loving some of its institutions. My heart can beat for America without also fluttering for the Environmental Protection or the Internal Revenue Service. I feel compelled to place my hand over my heart when the flag goes by, but the thought of showing similar respect for the EPA or the IRS gives me an easily located pain. I believe that all men are created equal only to the extent that they are born naked, all the while aware that the greatest inequality of all is "ordering" unequal persons to be equal.

● THE FOURTH of July should always be observed. Even if this country should cease to exist, July 4 should be observed worldwide as the birthday of mankind's most-exalted experiment in human freedom and personal liberty. She's my country, right or wrong. And I'll never apologize for her, as if one mistake or a thousand should condemn civilization's mightiest force for individual freedom and dignity. But I can still complain that democracy is replacing republicanism, and that we stand to lose so much in the process. And I can still be thrilled by the Fourth of July.

● BOB ORBEN is right. The Spirit of '76 is embodied in one drummer, a flag-bearer and a life player. They had only one hit record — but it's still selling!

Irick blasts Hinckley verdict

John Irick, Republican candidate for governor, last week expressed his shock and disbelief at the John W. Hinckley trial verdict of Monday.

He called the "innocent by reason of insanity" decision "shocking".

"It's a travesty on the American system of justice to think that a man can plot the death of our president, stalk him, shoot him, seriously wound him and others and be found innocent and freed in a short time," he said.

Irick said he feels an immediate examination of the laws that allow such a situation to develop is definitely called for.

"The judges, the lawyers and the medical profession of this country should look themselves square in the face and admit that some of their members will do anything for money, even if it destroys our system," he said.

Irick once again made clear his stand in support of capital punishment, contrary to the stand his opponent has taken.

Chile Devotee

Carrizozo's first chile cook-off is Aug. 1. One of the requirements of the contestants is the entry of a gallon of prepared (on the site) chile. I have never attended or participated in a chile cook-off. I look forward to being a spectator at the event.

As almost everyone knows, I have always been a firm believer in motherhood, apple pie and the American flag. I would like to add chile (red or green) to the list.

Basically, the makings of "a bowl of red" consists of meat, dried-red-chile pods, seeded and liquefied in a blender, garlic and salt. My Mexican-Spanish ancestors hand-squeezed the peelings from water soaked red chile. The liquid that remained was added to meat. The peelings were discarded.

I have heard that some would-be chile aficionados use ground beef, beans, tomato sauce and "chile powder to taste". They call this concoction chile-con-carne.

Chopped and coarsely ground beef and pork is usually the meat chosen for real chile making, but creative cooks have also used goat, lamb, deer, or chicken.

It has been said that some chile chefs have used rattlesnake, bear, skunk, racoon or earthworms in their chile recipes.

Sometime ago I asked Post Script readers if any of them had eaten rattlesnake meat. One man told me a delightful story of the time he had eaten rattlesnake stew. His wife would not allow me to repeat the storyteller's name.

Sometime later I talked to rattlesnake expert Bud Payne, who has killed, skinned, cooked and eaten rattlesnake. "Tastes just like chicken."

It is no wonder then that some chefs toss rattlesnake meat into their chile pots. Personally, I prefer friend rabbit in my chile. The last time we had rabbit and red chile at our household, the kids called their dad and I "cannibals."

Horseless Rodeo

Father's Day and a birthday celebration was much more merrier at the Leo Samora home because son Rudy was able to join the family gathered for the occasion. Mrs. Leo Samora (Flora) celebrated a birthday June 20, Father's Day.

The rest of the family members who helped celebrate the double event were Frank and Esther Hein and their sons, Jason and Justin and Leo Samora Jr., all of Alamogordo; and Beatrice May, daughter Dana and son Nicholas, who are temporarily staying in the Samora home.

Rudy, an E-3 stationed at Clark Air Force in the Philippines, is in Carrizozo on a 10-day leave after participating in "Volant Rodeo," a June 13-19 event at Pope Air Force Base, NC.

The Military Airlift Command (MAC) Tactical Airdrop Competition, nicknamed Volant Rodeo, is a competitive field exercise held annually at Pope AFB to determine the "best of the best" of MAC airlifters. It also serves as a readiness training exercise for active duty, Air National Guard, and Air Force Reserve participants.

Volant Rodeo tests the flight and ground skills of MAC airmen. More than 30 aircraft and allied forces competed during Volant Rodeo. Some 800 participants vied for top scores in various categories. Air crews, combat controllers, security police teams, maintenance support teams and aerial delivery teams competed within their respective areas of proficiency.

MAC directs more than 87,000 active duty civilian and military people and more than 1,000 aircraft at more than 300 locations in 23 countries. The training achieved through Volant Rodeo at Pope AFB enables MAC airmen to better prepare themselves for emergencies in case of war.

Ada, OK, visited last week with several Carrizozo acquaintances. Mrs. Smith is the former Ernestine Germany, who once taught school here.

In Duke City

My family and I were in Albuquerque almost four days. We were guests of my sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Tofilo Martinez, and son Isaac.

We visited the public relations department of Albuquerque Public Schools (APS), where our daughter, Annette, is employed. She introduced us to her boss and fellow staff members which include a graphic artist, a photographer and film maker and a writer.

Their department is responsible for publishing tabloids, brochures and other publications for the 113 Albuquerque schools. They also inform the general public about current educational issues, workshops and special events through news releases to newspapers, radio and television.

While in Albuquerque we attended a wedding, a movie and an arts and crafts fair. My husband and I were treated to an authentic Japanese meal. The kids went swimming at Rio Grande county pool where Annette's fiance Arthur De La Cruz is the manager. We toured the zoo and the public library.

Only one or two security guards were present at the museum at first. At the sight of our five kids the staff must have radioed for reinforcements because guards were all over the place during our visit. They were especially interested in the whereabouts of Zachary.

Home, Home

During our mini-vacation this

Vacation Time

Former ZoZo resident Lt. Col. Gilbert Ortiz and sons, Gilbert, 11, and Bryan, 9, have returned home after spending three weeks in Carrizozo. They were guests of Gilbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.M. Ortiz. While here the Abilene, TX, residents took in some fishing and golfing at our local facilities. The two Ortiz families traveled to Albuquerque to visit relatives and went on a sight-seeing trip to Juarez.

Gilbert is stationed at the air base at Abilene. His wife Maxine, remained at home with the couple's daughters, Cindy and Sherri, both students at Lubbock, TX.

Center Doings

Zia Senior Citizens have a busy July schedule, which includes a Sidewalk Rummage Sale on July 6. The all-day affair will feature homemade pies and home canned vegetables and fruits. If any local gardeners have an excess of fresh produce, the center would be glad to accept the donation.

The staff and seniors at the center are busy on a "Windmilling-size quilt. The quilt will be raffled off at the People's Market Place on Aug. 1. See the center for raffle details. Santa Rita Quilters, Roman Ortiz and Arsenia Narvaez, gave the seniors a helping hand in putting the top together. (The Santa Rita Quilters will raffle off a Tulip quilt on Aug. 1).

Weekend Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sherrill of Spur, TX, were weekend visitors in Carrizozo. They were here to visit with Friday and Alma Sherrill. Ralph and Friday are brothers.

Nephews of Friday and Oscar Moore visited with them on Father's Day. The visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lane, a son and a daughter, all of Ruidoso; and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lane and son of Roswell.

Former Resident

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith of past weekend, we attended the movie "E.T." The Martinez family, Annette and Arthur, accompanied us to the movie that featured a globe-eyed creature that stole my relatives hearts. "E.T." was a tear-jerker. Strangers shared boxes of Kleenex and consoled each other during the sad parts of the movie. The evening we attended all four evening showings of the movie were sold out. (I could write a novel about the drama while waiting in lobby.) My family thoughtfully enjoyed "E.T." despite the Atari-like ride on the freeway to get to the theater and the long wait in the lobby.

Because I could not shed a tear during the movie I became a villain in my relatives eyes. I could not get emotional over an M & M eating thing that resembled an overgrown ant. To my relatives and other movie goers, the extraterrestrial being was adorable, and all feared for his safety.

All I could think of was how much "Raid" would be required to bring the thing down. When asked what I thought of the movie, I replied, "Extra Terrible."

My relatives wished that a space tug would gobble me up or drag me far away into the galaxy.

If any readers spot a gigantic Christmas tree ornament on the outskirts of Carrizozo, please let me know. That will be E.T. and his space ship. E.T. is looking for me.

Episcopal . . .

immediate election of bishops, in one instance in a hotel room.

Such hasty selection produced a number of holy wonders, such as the Rt. Rev. Robert Morse of Oakland, CA. His diocese of Christ The King rapidly seceded when the denomination's national convention found itself unable to agree with his contention that "A bishop is answerable only to God!" Bishop Watterson of Palm Beach also left the new denomination, after which a number of his flock left him.

This secession of two of the denomination's six dioceses took place while Super Canonist Stahl was waiting in the wings. His golden opportunity lay in the fact that the remaining prelates were neither well versed in canon law nor possessed of a very high degree of the common sense which is essential in its application.

In very short order, this Canadian canonist managed to saddle the new denomination with 114 pages of church law which looked as if it had been written by the right wing of the Spanish Inquisition.

By striking contrast, the Anglican Catholic Church in Stahl's own country functions coast-to-coast with only one bishop and seven pages of canons. For his fellow Canadians are so well acquainted with Mr. Stahl's canonical compulsion that they successfully resisted him until he turned South to assist the gullible Yankees.

The vast bulk of Stahl's canons are ignored by such leaders as Fraser Barron of Washington, DC, who recalls: "We embraced him (Stahl) only to discover too late that we had embraced a python."

Another layman, Dr. Robert Strippy of the University of South Carolina, writing in "Christian Challenge" magazine, has described these Stahl canons as: "A monumental edifice of hysterical antiquity and absurdity . . . the remorseless toiling of Scribes and Pharisees who join law unto law until one cannot crawl out of (much less into) bed for fear of transgressing some obscure technicality . . . a patchwork of polyester proscriptions synthesized in the name of a false god who forbids rather than forgives . . . Simply the overreaction of a small band of Anglo-Catholic fanatics who, having failed to liberate themselves from the often oppressive control of unsympathetic Episcopal bishops, quite naturally turned into freed fanatics . . . Our lavender-and-old-lace Spikes ("high churchmen") have tried to put all their long-cherished ideals into action at once, resulting in pure chaos."

This great flood of canon law has hardly resulted in very much order. For at the denomination's national convention (provincial synod) here, Bishop William Burns of New Jersey admitted that he used his diocesan chancellor (attorney) to provide him legal guidance as to how to go about suing his brother bishop, Robert Harvey of Texas, for libel.

The delegates from Harvey's Diocese of The Southwest walked out of the convention after deploring what they described as "strife over what we believe to be non-essentials of the faith."

So did the denomination's most distinguished priest, the Rev. Carroll Simcox, Ph.D., former editor of the Episcopal Church's "Living Church" magazine, along with one of the four parishes he serves, St. Barnabas, Atlanta.

That the denomination may survive all this canonical foolishness is a possibility, especially in view of the good sense and sense of humor of such laity as attorney Bruce Shine of Tennessee. For when Super Canonist Stahl (now known as "Air Canada") took the floor, for about the 175th time, to demand that all denominations seeking union or inter-communion with the Anglican Catholic Church be subject to a "rigorous scrutiny of their pedigree," Shine wrote out a resolution:

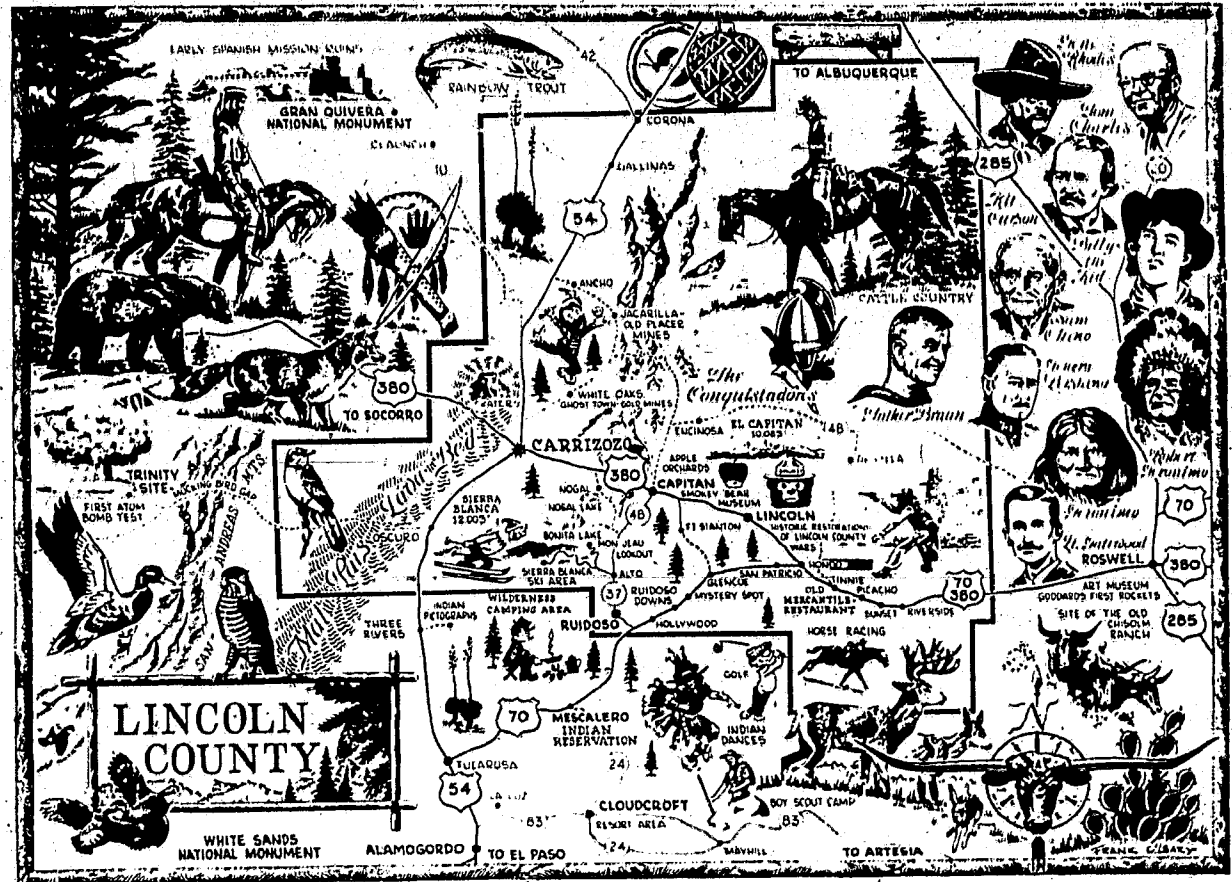

"Whereas the pedigree of Holy Orders is highly significant and a subject for which the general public has a giant and overriding concern; therefore be it resolved that the pedigrees of all bishops of this church be registered immediately with the American Kennel Club."

While some of the delegates were aghast at this ("Are you calling our bishops dogs?"), a number of others laughed — and one responded by saying "Arf! Arf!"
