Commissioners adopt road, personnel policies

The Nov. 23 special meeting of Lincoln County commissioners was devoted primarily to personnel and road policy.

Commissioners adopted Ordinance 82-2 which establishes rules for private persons, companies and corporations who wish to perform work on any county road. The new ordinance requires that any private party, company or corporation can do work on a county road if a permit is first secured from Guy Henley, county road superintendent. Title to all improvements remains with the county, and any damage done to any county road must be repaired according to the road superintendent's specifications. The superintendent is empowered to inspect all work being done.

The ordinance was considered important because Henley reports he has had to repair roads after utility companies had cut them up to install lines, and that private property owners had installed culverts improperly, which resulted in flooding on other people's property.

Changes were made in county personnel policy with adoption of Ordinance 82-1. Deleted from the policy was a requirement that most county employees be required to have a high school diploma or GED. Left standing is the policy of evaluating performances of county employees each year by department heads, two weeks prior to an employee's anniversary date.

County Manager Suzanne Cox said that this policy is helpful in determining promotions, pay raises or dismissals of employees.

One change is that specific procedures will be set up in the firing of employees, except in cases of insubordination or illegal activity where dismissal is mandatory. The grievance board will be made up of one elected official one employee and three persons who are not employees of the county. This replaces a board made up of elected officials only.

County employees will be entitled to an accrual of 100 days sick leave, but the policy of permitting employees to take sick leave in order to care for ill family members was rescinded.

New personnel policy permits cost-of-living pay raises, but does not provide for raises on the basis of merit.

Commissioners also awarded bids to two companies for data processing equipment. IBM of Roswell was awarded a $74,159 contract for a System 34 computer. Triadic Enterprises of Deming was awarded the computer software contract on a bid of $44,000. A previous contract for the equipment, awarded to Western Programmers of Albuquerque on a lease-purchase basis, was rescinded when the county manager was notified that the firm was not authorized to do business under state contract.

Nogal rancher 'lowers boom'

Miners, others locked out of wilderness

By LUTYNE STREETER
For roughly 100 years a road has run up Dry Gulch to the historic Helen Ray and American gold mines near Nogal, NM. Long before it was designated Forest

Road 583, long before Fern Sawyer owned the land it crosses, and long before Ron Hesse filed his placer claim that he calls Excaliber, the road was used by cattlemen and miners alike.

Today the road not only leads to the mines and private and leased grazing lands, it and Forest Road 580 also lead to the vast White Mountain Wilderness Area. They are the only entry roads to the wilderness on the northern side.

Several days before Thanksgiving, Fern Sawyer, a Nogal rancher, chained and padlocked gates on both roads. Immediately 583 became embroiled in a controversy between Sawyer, Ron Hesse, a miner, and the US Forest Service.

According to Sawyer, she had her foreman close the gates to the access roads after several men trespassed on her property and vandalized a cabin she owns. "I had a breakin and they tore down the gate with a chain and pulled a wall down with their truck."

Sawyer's foreman, Jerry Sidwell, caught the men and they were arrested. After closing the roads to vehicle traffic, Sawyer said she gave a key to Marlowe Sharp, another local miner who runs a large placer operation in Dry Gulch and is also a co-partner in the Helen Ray. When asked why she didn't give a key to Hesse, who also mines three miles above the gate, Sawyer replied that Hesse "just had a little placer claim," and that he could get the key from Sharp or "just walk."

Sawyer explained that she had been bothered for years by hunters, who "tore up everything." "It's the first time in 23 years I've been able to stop it," she added. The rancher said she had informed Paul Gordon, Ranger for Lincoln National Forest in this area, of her intent to lock the gate.

But as far as Ron Hesse is concerned, all this has little to do with him. He has been mining in Dry Gulch since the winter of 1979, when he leased a claim from Sharp and lived in a pup tent with his cat. About two years ago Hesse was able to file his own placer claim on 20 acres of National Forest close to Road 583. Since placer claim regulations prohibit erecting permanent living quarters on unpatented mining claims, Hesse said he moved a small camper trailer onto the claim. He noted that he had used 583 and the gate without any problems since 1979.

He expressed some surprise when he returned home one evening just before Thanksgiving and found the gate locked and the Forest Service road signs removed.

Means ready to sue over store break-in

Ken Means, through his attorney James R. Askew of Capitan, has filed a complaint with the Town of Carrizozo and County of Lincoln regarding the handling of the recent burglary of Means-Gambles.

The complaint, according to Askew, alleges that if an officer had been on duty the night of the burglary Means would not have lost about $3,000 in merchandise, including guns, and that if the county's radio dispatcher had not been negligent the burglars would have been apprehended with the stolen goods.

The complaint further alleges that Mayor Harold Garcia reported noise of the break-in at Gambles to the dispatcher, and that Officer Guy Brown could have responded to the dispatcher's call had he been on duty as he should have been in early Sunday morning break-in, Johnny Morales was arrested along with a juvenile. A third and unidentified youth remains at large. The rifles were not recovered, and the case against Morales subsequently dismissed.

Askew said the law requires that a complaint be filed against a town or county before a lawsuit will be filed to recover approximately $3,000 in uninsured merchandise taken from the store.

'Stick' em up!

The main office of the Ruidoso State Bank in Ruidoso was robbed Monday by a lone gunman who escaped with an unspecified amount of money.

Police say the robber was wearing a Fu Manchutype mustache, and was a Spanish male of slight stature.

The 2:30 p.m. robbery is being investigated by Ruidoso police and FBI agents.

Judges will be all the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, and they will cast ballots for a first place non-residential winner and the first, second and third place winners in the residential division.

Interested homeowners and business people can obtain a registration form from today's edition of the Lincoln County News, fill it out and return it to one of the following: Little Store, Santa Rita Parish, Citizen State Bank or Ruidoso State Bank. This form is necessary to become eligible for entry in the contest. Entries MUST be turned in by 2 p.m. Dec. 20.

Winners in both divisions will be announced at 2 p.m., Dec. 27, in the Community Room of Citizens State Bank.

The large cake was frosted in white and decorated with white bells and gold wedding bands. It was topped by a tiny cupid, white bells and a fountain in a bed of white net and flowing gold ribbons. The sheet cakes were decorated with bells, gold rings, and had intertwined hearts with the names Jo and Carl.

Mrs. W. M. Pfeiffer served the coffee. Mrs. Lee Mulkey served punch. She had made mints in shapes of white bells, gold roses and green leaves. An assortment of raw vegetables, nuts, dips and chips were served. Mrs. Rand Perkins presided at the guest book and assisted the Hiners in greeting guests.

Burroughs art now on display

For the second year in a row, color ink paintings by Sue M. Burroughs have been put on exhibit in the conference room of Carrizozo Schools. She was asked to come back again and bring her landscape paintings of New Mexico, which have seldom been seen in Carrizozo.

On display are paintings of barns from the northern part of the state where early settlers obtained small grants and planted seeds brought with them in carts from Mexico influenced the buildings for their stock and storage for feed. Trampas, known as "the place of early settlers," show polebarns still in use.

French influence of early settlers in Mora County are still apparent there and Burroughs states the "surface is barely touched" in this area. The Bosque del Apache is a favorite painting place for Burroughs, and she has been there twice since the birds started arriving this fall.

"There is so much about migrating birds to cherish and admire that one never tires of the different stages... first nesting, then resting and eating then the mating season before they migrate back to their nesting grounds," she said.

These stages are captured in her paintings, which vary in size. Some are framed (original frames done by her husband) and some are matted, and are for sale.

The exhibit is open to the public daily from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and again from 1 to 4 p.m. until Dec. 17th.

By MARGARETRENCH

Tuesday, Nov. 30, we received two inches of wet snow. There was much more enroute to Ruidoso on Highway 37. Midway the snow was so heavy, it weighed the tree branches very low for two days. A beautiful sight to see. Certainly great moisture. It has been very cold since.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 2,078 visitors in November. Cathy Robinson and her sister, Ann Price, and two children visited there Monday, Nov. 29. They are now living in Tucson, Arizona. They enjoyed the museum. Both had worked there in the past and thought the town had grown. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, live in Arizona also and both are doing well. We were very happy to see these young ladies. They grew up here in Capitan.

The Capitan varsity girls basketball team went to Weed for their first tournament. They played Jal and lost, played Animas and won, and lost to Weed Saturday. The boys played in the tournament at Clouderoft Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They lost to Cliff Thursday and won the next two games.

The Extension Club will be having their Christmas party Dec. 16. Please come for the Christmas exchange gifts and Christmas party at the Fair Building at 11 a.m.

Robert Rannels went to Portales Monday to attend a meeting of Ducks Unlimited. While there on behalf of Rannels Outfitter Guide Service he will be donating a bear hunt to be raffled.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wright and three sons visited the Horton's for a three-day weekend. The Horton's and Bob's family really enjoyed the Strickland girls' birthday party Friday night.

Shop early at Sharon's Gift Shop. She will be closing Dec. 20 for four months. Will open bigger and better next spring.

Mary and Dennis Stewart are home visiting for a few days. We are always glad to see them. Happy birthday to Mary, Dec. 15. We wish you many more.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Parker became parents of a daughter, Nicole Renee, born enroute to the Ruidoso Hospital, Saturday, Dec. 4. Happy grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker.

Gloria Cummins and Ellen Faye Hammous went to Albuquerque for a few days last Monday.

Marla Renfro underwent back surgery Friday in Roswell. She is doing nicely at this time and hopes to be home soon. We wish you the very best recovery and fast, Maria.

Paulette Crain underwent surgery at the Ruidoso Hospital Wednesday, Dec. 1, and returned home Tuesday, Dec. 7. Doing O.K. We wish you very best and complete recovery, Paulette.

Henry and Caroline Sanchez had a full house on Thanksgiving. Visiting from San Diego, CA, was their daughter and her husband, Bill and Jean Osuna; Mr. and Mrs. Osuna's daughters and spouses, Jeff and Legine Cook, also Tim and Rebecca Trivett of San Diego; James and Roberta Grundy from Houston, TX; sons Paul and Danny Osuna from Silver City; and David Osuna from Chama also spent their holiday with their grandparents. The Sanchez's daughter Patsy Vigil and family from Albuquerque celebrated their Thanksgiving with the families. A very happy family reunion.

Olan and Dorothy Abercrombie and Emma Sallee traveled to Hobbs to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Annabell and Charlie Elam. Mrs. Elam is a sister to Emma and Olan.

On October 23 a dinner was given at the Thomason Hall of Calvary Baptist Church of Hobbs.

The room was decorated with gold and white streamers and the centerpiece on the honored couple's table was gold, orange and yellow flowers, arranged in the basket which was handmade by Annabell. This was flanked by gold tapers in the brass candle holders and was displayed on a white tablecloth.

The ceremony was emceed by Olan Abercrombie, who called on various relatives to share their precious memories in the couple's early life. Many and varied were the stories told, some serious, some comical and some sad, but all heartwarming, loving and deeply respectful.

After dinner the couple were showered with rice and given an old-fashioned chivaree by driving them in a decorated pickup followed by a string of cars with lights flashing and horns blowing.

The following morning the pastor was amazed to see Mr. and Mrs. Elam enter the church, followed by more than 20 visitors who filled up almost an entire section of the pews. Olan sang a song he composed entitled, "An Awesome Dream."

In the afternoon there was a buffet reception at the couple's home. The cake was a four-tiered creation of Teresa Hobbs, granddaughter of the Elams.

From 2 to 4 p.m. there were not only wall-to-wall people in the living room and kitchen, but fence to fence people in the front yard as their numbers increased to more than 100.

If you think family ties have disappeared from the American scene, you can take heart from the example set by this close-knit family.

But there was to be something very special about a couple whose relatives will travel from Florida,

Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, California and distant towns within New Mexico to express their love and appreciation and to be with them on their golden day.

Went deer hunting last week and saw 15 doe on six ranches; should have sighted 200. There are an estimated 3,000 coyotes and 200 mountain lion in the county, all busy poaching. Coyotes kill an average of two fawns a year. Lions kill an average of one deer every 15 days. I saw signs of 20 coyotes and three lions on the hunt.

CHANGES FOR MOUNTAIN BELL'S RESIDENTIAL CUSTOMERS.

New Year's Day, 1983, will be a day of changes for Mountain Bell. And that means changes in the way you'll do business with us.

Some of these changes you'll like. Some will take getting used to. But all are the result of a Federal Communications Commission decision to increase competition in the telecommunications industry. This should result in a greater choice of products and services.

Here's how the changes will affect you.

ORDERING PHONE SERVICE

Beginning January 1, you won't be able to order service or pay your bill at a Bell PhoneCenter. That's because Bell PhoneCenters will no longer be owned and operated by Mountain Bell. They'll be part of American Bell, a new AT&T subsidiary created to compete in the sale of telephone equipment.

Some of the existing Bell PhoneCenters will be converted to Mountain Bell Service Centers which we'll operate to do business with you. So you'll still be able to do business with us in person. Although you'll probably find calling us is a faster, more convenient way to take care of your service needs.

Just call your Service Representative to order new service or make changes in your service. You'll find the number listed on your phone bill or in the Customer Guide section in the front of the White Pages Directory.

GETTING TELEPHONES AND REPAIR SERVICE

In 1983, you'll still be able to get phones from us at our Service Centers. But your choice of certain styles and colors will be limited to our current supply. You can also get phones from other suppliers. When you get telephones from us, you can either pick them up or have them delivered. Delivery will take a few days and there is a charge for this service.

We'll continue to repair or replace equipment purchased or leased from us after January 1. Our repair service numbers are listed in the Customer Guide. Equipment obtained from other suppliers should be returned to them for repair.

PAYING YOUR BILL

The easiest way to pay your bill is to mail it.

Call your Service Representative for questions about your bill or for the nearest location to pay in person. The number is listed on your bill and in the Customer Guide.

USING THE CUSTOMER GUIDE

Most of the information in the Customer Guide section of the White Pages Directory will continue to be helpful when these changes occur. However, some changes may have been made after the Customer Guide went to press. Your Service Representative will always have the latest information and is ready to help you.

As you can see, many of the coming changes will mean more choices for you. But what's best about your service won't change. You can always depend on our continuing commitment to excellence for quality, reliable service in the future.

● YOU MAY have noticed that strange stuff has been hoisted on the roof of the Lincoln County News, Sunday and Monday. We are now probably the first solar-heated newspaper in New Mexico. Those of you who cringe at heating bills each month are invited by to see this system in operation. For as little as $2500 an average residence can have this effective heating unit, and get most of your money back — 25 percent cash rebate from New Mexico, 10 percent investment credit for tax purposes, 15 percent solar credit on income taxes and 40 percent accelerated depreciation on tax returns. The commercial installation at the News cost $4,149.00, including taxes. When we take advantage of rebates and tax credits, we will get back $505.04 more than we paid for the whole deal! That's not considering that the solar unit will cut heating bills from one-third to one-half, which is even more money in the bank. We don't mind showing it off, so drop by if you're interested in solar heating.

● I AM neither a member of the Ku Klux Klan nor a sympathizer. I find everything about the outfit repulsive. What I can't understand is why people and civil rights organizations want a law to prohibit them from having their silly little marches, as happened in Washington, DC, a few days ago. Surely the Klan is no greater threat to freedom, decency, and the American Way of Life than is the Communist Party USA. But have you ever heard of anyone, anywhere, denying their right to peacefully parade? People who want to silence bigots forget that the same laws that protect Klan marches also protects parades and demonstrations by Communists, homosexuals, the American Legion, religious and civil rights groups. If the law doesn't apply to the Klan it doesn't apply to any other group, whether they're protesting anything or not. Freedom of speech and assembly apply equally to all of us. When the American Nazi Party marched in Skokie, Illinois, in 1977 it was a black judge who upheld their constitutional right to do so after having been denied a permit to march. Democracy shines brightest when confronted by something the majority finds objectionable.

● I HAVE waded through a platitudinous report by Henry Kissinger, who pontificates in gutteral statesman-speak in Newsweek magazine in an article titled "How to Deal with Moscow." This egotistical protégé of David Rockefeller, with his out-sized political ambition, had a perfectly lovely opportunity to "deal with Moscow" when he served as the undistinguished US Secretary of State in the Nixon Administration — and he didn't. Now, armed with 20-20 hindsight he admonished President Reagan that he must "bring about a genuine change — expressed in substantial reciprocal arms reduction and restraint in international conduct — (which) requires American leadership founded in firm purpose, clear concept and steadfast strategy . . ." He never gets more specific than that generalized garbage. The reading public, in spite of its faults, deserves better than Henry's meaningless rhetoric. I feel "right" about reading it, however, because it bolsters a conviction of long standing that Henry is a horse's ass. Still, I could have devoted those two hours to reading Poor Boys Cook Book, which is entertaining, readable and informational, and which deals with Moscow as effectively as does Henry the Hind-sight.

● GOV. GRUCE King is such a bright guy I can't believe there's any truth in the story they tell about him. One of his constituents asked the governor what he thought of the Lebanese situation. "The way I see it," King replied thoughtfully, "anything that goes on between two consenting adults is . . ."

THE STATE of California, bankrupt as it is, recently voted to pay $5,000 in back wages to Japanese-Americans who were fired from their state jobs following Pearl Harbor and the US declaration of war on Japan. This month, or early in 1983, the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians is expected to recommend to Congress that it pay every Japanese-American who was relocated from the West Coast Defense Zone in World War II, the sum of $25,000. If Congress goes for this boondoggle, taxpayers will have to pay an estimated $10 billion to the aggrieved Japanese-Americans. One question: How much money will veterans of the war against Japan be given for fighting and dying at the hands of Japanese soldiers during the same time these Japanese-Americans were being "inconvenienced"?

● THE CONTINUING Saga of There's-Nothing-Wrong-With-The-Economy: Recently, we carried a story about unemployment in Lincoln County. The next week we carried a story that dozens of jobs are going unfilled at Ft. Stanton Hospital. Now we have the real capper. The US Immigration and Naturalization Service recently launched Project Jobs by rounding up 5,440 illegal aliens at 560 different work sites around the country and sent them home. It was hoped that their jobs would be taken by unemployed Americans, over which the nation is engaged in handwringing and demands President Reagan "do something." Project Jobs bombed. Unemployed Americans, it was found, are unwilling to take jobs held by illegals because they pay only an average of $4.61 an hour and are beneath an American's dignity. The Wall Street Journal reported Monday that 26 employers, chosen at random, said Americans who took the illegal aliens' jobs left within days because they considered them "dead-end, demeaning and underpaying." The Journal interviewed 19 workers who left these jobs because they "had a backup source of support such as welfare or family." Comments Wayne Cornelius, head of the center for US-Mexican studies, University of California, San Diego: "The attitude (of Americans refusing aliens' jobs) is, this is the dirty work of society and that people born, brought up and educated in the US shouldn't have to do them." Well, la-de-da! Living off relatives or going on welfare isn't "demeaning, dead-end and underpaying!" If we expect to get the essential work done in this country, we obviously have to bring back the illegal aliens and give them back their $4.61 an hour jobs. Meanwhile, let's hear more sob stories about the horrors of unemployed workers, and about how that nasty Mr. Reagan won't supply jobs as bank and corporate presidents for a bunch of clabberheads who would rather have nothing than something. Congress is debating a 5-cent raise in the federal gasoline tax this week to put 300,000 unemployed Americans to work repairing the nation's highways. That work is probably as demeaning for these potential brain surgeons. The work on highways is hard, and tends to soil hands and clothing. Too, it might jeopardize the unemployed's social positions.

● TWO WEEKS ago Soviet leader Yuri Andropov warned the US that we would be making a terrible mistake by pursuing President Reagan's MX missile cluster program in Wyoming. So, on Dec. 7, anniversary of the "Day of Infamy" bombing of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese, Congress acceded to Andropov's desires and voted not to fund the MX missile, thus delighting the Russians who can now continue to increase their lead in nuclear warheads pointed at the US for "peaceful purposes." This bowing to Soviet wishes by Democrats is something you might like to remember if we have another election.

Cities: the outstretched palms

Once upon a time when a city wanted a street, sewer plant, park, school or library the city council put the question to residents. If residents approved, bonds were voted to finance the project. Residents, in turn, were taxed to retire the bonds.

This country reached greatness under such a plan. Then revenue sharing was born. Most forms of American life became centralized in Washington. Cities that toed the political line got handsome grants from the federal government. Those that did not soon wised up. Once they stripped themselves of any responsibility for their own institutions, they prospered beyond belief since their bills were being paid by everybody in the country.

Now comes President Reagan, who wants cities (states, too) to go back to the plan of paying for their own needs, and alarm and indignation broke out across the land.

Last week 4,200 mayors and councilmen met to plead with the president to keep the dole coming, else their cities would deteriorate and be bankrupted. Not one suggested they might resume paying their own bills.

Seattle Mayor Charles Royer said revenue sharing was "mother's milk for cities," implying that the withdrawn breast would cause Seattle to die. Others said taxes would have to be increased locally from 25 to 45 percent without revenue sharing. Perish the thought!

Standing hip-deep in the combined tears of 4,200 supplicants the president wavered and said he would consider full funding of the $4.6 billion program for the next two years, so that cities wouldn't have to pay for the things they want.

Cities and states are like people. Once they tap the treasury they lose incentive to do for themselves.

Oddly, these mayors seldom pass up a chance to make speeches extolling the virtues of free enterprise, private initiative, self-sufficiency, personal and civic responsibility and the American Way in the Horatio Alger tradition.

What the president should have done, we think, is stick to his guns and compel cities to face their own financial problems instead of whining, wheedling and crawling to the federal government, tin cup in hand, for charity.

Bad news for coyotes; 1080 ban may be lifted

BY LESTER KINSOLVING

WASHINGTON — Administrative law judge Spencer Nissen's recommendation that the Environmental Protection Agency lift its 10-year ban on Compound 1080 coyote poison has been welcomed by the office of Rep. Joe Skeen (R., NM), who is himself a sheep rancher.

Judge Nissen's decision came after six months of hearings and means that, if there are no appeals made within 20 days, Compound 1080 (sodium fluoracetate) can be used once more.

"But we expect there will be appeals," said Lucy Schwartz of Pacific Legal Foundation, which represented the New Mexico Woolgrowers and the New Mexico Cattlemen's Association.

Schwartz noted that EPA regulations specify that this decision will be final if nobody appeals within 20 days. Opponents of the use of Compound 1080 included Allen Smith of the Defenders of Wildlife, who commented:

"The judge clearly called out that there are problems with 1080 in the field and that it's an extremely lethal poison with no known antidote."

But Schwartz, whose office distributes such bumper stickers as: EAT LAMB, 50,000 COYOTES CAN'T BE WRONG, retorted: "There are lots of chemicals in the environment with no known antidotes."

Judge Nissen called upon the EPA to allow the use of Compound 1080 in toxic collars. These poison containers, operating something like a money belt, are now being put around the necks of sheep as well as lambs, which are most vulnerable to the marauding coyotes. When the coyote's fangs tear at the lamb's throat, the poison is released and the coyote dies instead of the lamb.

A spokesman for Rep. Skeen's office said that there is no known instance where rams bite the necks of ewes while mating — as stallions bite the necks of mares.

Judge Nissen also recommended that in place of the practice of injecting an entire horse, cow or sheep carcass with poison, that small pieces of meat be injected by certified applicators from the Animal Damage Control division of the Department of the Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service. Such small pieces of meat could be placed in remote areas known to be frequented by coyotes.

The ban on Compound 1080 went into effect under the Nixon Administration in 1972, despite the strong protests from sheepmen and cattlemen all over the West.

At the White House, during one of the first energy crisis meetings, Rhode Island's Sen. John Pastore noted with a grin that the energy shortage has its blessings — on the New England sweater industry, for example.

"What are you going to do," asked Wyoming's Sen. Cliff Hanson, "when the coyotes have eaten all of the sheep?"

That day during the daily White House news briefing, I asked Nixon News Secretary Ron Ziegler: "What is the President's coyote policy?"

THE WHITE HOUSE: The President believes that the coyotes should not eat the sheep. (Loud laughter from the press.)

QUESTION: How does Mr. Nixon believe they should be inhibited from eating the sheep? You've banned 1080; does he believe in denying? Or tracing them down by helicopter? Or what?

THE WHITE HOUSE: The President believes that the coyotes should be persuaded not to eat the sheep. (Loud laughter — and the end of the briefing, as Ziegler fled to his office.)

In the Black Hills of South Dakota, a number of sheepmen organized STAR (RATS, spelled backwards) "in order to come to the defense" of that nationally endangered species, the urban rat — several of which were caught, boxed and mailed to the White House.

Rep. Skeen's office conceded that the coyote is very popular with environmental groups and Easterners, because it is "clever as hell and howls impressively at the moon." But the coyote isn't attractive at all when you see what one of them has done to the newborn lambs of your own flock. Take one look at the throat of a dead lamb that has been torn out by a coyote and realize that if it weren't for coyotes, the sheep population would be 14 million today instead of 12 million.

"We don't know how many coyotes there are. But we noted that last year news reports from California mentioned that a coyote had gotten loose in Los Angeles and made off with a baby."

Letters to the Editor

Sen. Hatfield's naivete

EDITOR—Greetings from the Kook Capital of the World, the state of fantasia, where neo-Nazi flourish, the colleges hire avowed communists (Angela Davis), the people elect Jane Fonda's husband to represent them in the state legislature, presidents travel at their most dire risk, and voters sacrifice national security in favor of hot tubs!

Mr. Jolmer, your "Opinion Column" of Nov. 18 on the nuclear freeze movement and Oregon Senator Mark Hatfield's naive denial of communist involvement in it, should be published in every paper in the free world!

Only the most incredibly ill-informed could believe that the Soviets would not be doing everything in their power to encourage the nuclear freeze drive. The Soviets have everything to gain, since this movement can only serve to weaken Free World will to resist international communism. Further, since the Soviets have a totally state controlled news media, and near-total repression of free speech, no parallel peace drive is allowable in Russia. Those who make the mistake of speaking out face prison, slave labor camps, or mental institutions to undergo "attitude change."

Why do we refuse to believe the communists when they tell us repeatedly of their goal to destroy America in order for communism to take over the world? Why do we refuse to listen to the numerous Soviet defectors who constantly warn us not to trust the Soviets?

Everything America has done militarily in the 20th Century has been in response to aggressor nations. We unilaterally disarmed after World War II, while the Soviets never stopped arming.

In fact, every war we fought could have been prevented if America had not allowed her military to fall into a state of disrepair. We have successfully prevented WWII only by our willingness to remain strong enough to deter Soviet aggression.

The basic question is whether we have the national will to make the sacrifices necessary to continue to deter Soviet aggression and to avoid a nuclear holocaust.

The irony of the peace movement is that a lot of well-meaning people, with behind the scenes Soviet help and encouragement, may weaken this country's will to resist and in so-doing actually cause World War III!

RAY PARNAY, Sebastopol, CA.

More 2 cents worth

EDITOR—I am one of the "non-town residents" to whom last week's Letter to the Editor referred. They were overheard stating at the meeting about non-residents and their two cents worth but lacked the fortitude to speak aloud.

I think that by not bringing it up on the floor of the meeting, for which such was intended, and then writing it in the paper is a pretty cheap shot. It was further cheapened by not publishing their name.

However, this person is right. I have no legal voice in the town matters. But I do feel I damn sure have a moral voice. I shop here, bank here, entertain here and attend church here. Our children work in Carrizozo and my grandchildren attend school here. And I think that is a pretty impressive bunch of reasons—for just two cents.

The crimes you (the writer of the letter to the editor) have listed are most unfortunate—and frustrating, to say the least. However, taking all our misfortunes and frustrations out on Mr. Morales, or any other person, gains nothing. Since the crimes listed happened in night time hours, Mr. Morales was off duty and entitled to be with his family, the same as you and I. One of the crimes listed (occurred) when Mr. Morales was on vacation. Another is outside his territory.

The town of Carrizozo does not belong to Mr. Morales alone. It belongs to all its citizens (including the ones outside the city limits and in the surrounding areas). Law enforcement is everybody's responsibility. It was suggested about five years ago, during another crime wave, that all businessmen and concerned citizens form patrol teams consisting of two men, from the hours of about 10 o'clock at night until 6 a.m. They would bear no arms and use a CB furnished by the city, the CB being the only expense to the city.

But rather than employing this plan, or any other constructive plan against crime, we sit back and seem to enjoy "walling" in our misfortunes and frustrations and gossiping. That allows us to criticize Mr. Morales, or his men, or whoever takes their places.

I definitely know that Mr. Morales (knows about) crimes in this town. But without citizens coming forward as witnesses, or getting involved, no officer can do anything.

I think Mr. Morales, on duty and off duty, getting involved with all our children, has served the town of Carrizozo very, very well.

So after 24 years, he's not getting any older—he's getting better.

WILLIAM M. SMITH Carrizozo.

More on Morales

EDITOR—Being over 21 years of age, having lived in Carrizozo for over 45 years and not having my hat in the ring for any popularity contest I would like to put my two cents in; as a taxpayer, a resident within the city limits, able to vote in all elections. I voice my opinion on the 30 days probation imposed on the police chief for defending his son when he was kicked in the groin, choked by the collar of his shirt and pulled by his hair toward a police car so he could be arrested by our very brave State Police Mr. Stewart "For Criminal Trespass" after a ball game he paid to see.

According to the arresting officer, the mandate came from the head of the school administration who wanted Johnny removed from the varsity locker room and the school campus. Not being a sports fan I am no authority on sports or locker rooms, but I would like to see a law or rule in black and white against people entering the locker room. If there is, it is sure not enforced on television commercials or at this school either to some ranchers and special people whom I and many other people have seen enter into the locker room. The excuse the darling head of the school gave against Johnny was that he was drunk. After working nine hours and traveling home with the elderly gentleman who drives his truck 40 or 45 miles an hour, who also doesn't happen to drink. John barely had time to grab a sandwich, go gas up for next day and go to the dumb ball game.

"Great is truth, but still greater from a practical point of view, is silence about truth. By simply not mentioning certain subjects, by lowering what Mr. Churchill called an "Iron Curtain" between the masses and such facts or arguments as the local political bosses regard as undesirable. If persecution, liquidation and other symptoms of social friction are to be avoided, the positive sides of propaganda must be made as effective as the negative."

Sometime ago a girl had a little trouble getting a G. I. to marry her and her parents had to intervene and pulled a few strings. I wonder how many days probation that poor Senator was placed on? Newcomers to Carrizozo our city attorney and our mayor have not had a chance to judge how they would act under similar circumstances but I am sure they will get their chance. Hopefully, we have not entered a civilization in which contemporary concepts of freedom and morality have become obsolete.

To the lady who thinks Morales should resign, I say she would do the town proud by taking over the job since she also lives in Carrizozo, knows who is committing crimes and is obviously not blind or stupid either. Another option.

The chief's salary could be used to get two or three good hired

Varsity girls win 1, lose 2

The varsity girls basketball team participated in the Weed Tournament the weekend of Dec. 2-4, with Grizzlies tallying one win and two losses.

The Grizzlies lost their first match to Ruidoso, 66-43. "The first and second quarter killed us," said Coach Jerry Koller, "with as tall a team as they had, we needed to come out with our running shoes on, and we didn't. We also had too many turnovers in the first quarter."

Scorers for the game were: Christetta Chavez 18, Pam Bellan 8, Mary Jane Ferguson 6, Bonnie Jo Shepperd 5, and Brenda Baroz, Annette Hill and Anna Lueras 2 each.

The Grizzlies then lost to Weed, 37-47. "Free throws were the difference in this ball game," said Koller, noting that the Grizzlies made only 9 of 23 free throws while Weed made 16 of 25.

"Some girls who usually score didn't," said Koller. Scores were: Christetta Chavez 9, Stacy Stephenson 8, Annette Hill 6, Pam Beltran 6, Liz Beltran 4, Anna Lueras 2, Bonnie Jo Shepperd 1 and Brenda Baroz 1.

Both team and coach were disappointed to have lost to a district opponent, but an optimistic Koller said "It's going to be a different story when we play them at the district tournament."

The Grizzlies won their last game of the tournament defeating Animas, 39-38. Animas had led throughout the ball game in points. With 3:08 left in the game the Grizzlies were behind by 9 points. The Grizzlies slowly shortened the gap and were only 5 points behind with one minute left for the game.

The Grizzlies jumped ahead by one point with seconds left on the board and kept that lead. "We were pretty lucky to win the game," said Koller, "but the girls kept a cool head and their experience in handling the ball helped to win the game."

Scorers were: Christetta Chavez 25, Pam Bellan 4, Annette Hill 4, Stacy Stephenson, Bonnie Jo Shepperd and Mary Jane Ferguson each had 2.

Tigers open season with 2 wins, 1 loss

Capitan Tigers opened the basketball season at the Cloudcroft Invitational tournament and came home with two victories and one loss.

The Tigers dropped the opener to Cliff 61-52, and then took two decisive wins over Hondo and Anthony, Texas, by scores of 71-57 and 73-45.

The Tigers were guilty of numerous turnovers against Cliff, and this spelled defeat. Cliff went on to win the tournament over Weed by two points.

Robert Parker paced Capitan with 32 points in the three games. and was named to the all-tournament team. The only other Tiger to score in double figures was Todd Proctor with 14 against Hondo and 12 against Anthony.

The Tigerettes didn't fare as well at the Weed tournament, dropping the opener to Jal 55-29. The girls came back to edge Animas 37-35, but lost the third game to Weed 51-27. Shelley Eldridge made 10 and 12 points in the last two games to lead scorers.

Capitan hosts Dexter Friday night, and the Tigerettes travel to Floyd for another tournament.

BONNIE Jo Shepperd goes after the jump ball against a defender from Vaughn.

Vaughn falls to Grizzlies

The Carrizozo varsity girls and boys basketball teams played Vaughn Tuesday, Nov. 30, in Carrizozo, with Grizzly teams winning.

The Grizzly boys edged the Eagles with a 47-46 score. "At times the boys played well on defense and offense," said Coach Hal Roueche, "but we're still not in good enough condition to play real good ball and to properly work our new pressure defense."

Timmy Vega led the team with 15 points followed by Kevin Wilmore who added 10 points for the Grizzlies. As a team the Grizzlies shot 21 percent from the free throw line and made 34 percent of their field shots.

The varsity girls defeated the Eagles easily, 53-21. Top scorers for the night were: Christetta Chavez 19, Pammy Beltran 13, Annette Hill 8, and Anna Lueras 8. Coach Jerry Koller said Anna played a good ball game, although she is a substitute.

"I was disappointed with the girls' free throws, as they only hit 3 of 16," Koller said.

The A and B boys team and the girls B team will play Corona Thursday, Dec. 9, in Carrizozo, beginning at 5 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 11, varsity girls and boys will play Magdalena in Carrizozo. Game time is 5 p.m.

Scott Nalda of Corona is a senator for the Associated Students at New Mexico State University. He is the son of John and Nancy Nalda of Corona.

JV boys third at Ruidoso

The Carrizozo JV boys participated in a Round Robin JV tournament in Ruidoso Saturday. It was a one-day tournament in which each team played two games. Other teams which participated were Ruidoso, T or C and Cloudcroft.

The Grizzlies first opponent was the T or C 8th grade team. Carrizozo lost it 30-50. Coach Hal Roueche said T or C had five or more players who were 6' 3" or taller. The height of their players intimidated our smaller players," he said.

Kenneth Crenshaw scored 7 points followed by James Guevara and Stevie Stearns who each had 5 points, as these three led the team in points.

Later that day the Grizzlies defeated the Cloudcroft Bears, 52-26. The win placed the Grizzlies third.

Leading the Grizzlies in points was Joseph Candelaria with 12 points; Carlos Sanchez with 10.

HO-HO-HO
The following hints may help you complete your holiday plans:
(1) Foil wrapped banana-nut bread is ready to serve once opened when given in a wrapped shoebox, tied with a ribbon and topped with paper plates and plastic forks.

(2) Save wax paper rolls to use as containers for Christmas goodies. Wrap each roll with colorful paper, twist one end closed and fill with candy. Twist the other end and tie both with ribbons. Small toys or trinkets can also be enclosed.

(3) Home-made tree decorations are lovely to look at. My sister Rita made cute crochet bells in various colors, each had a tiny bell dangling from within. She gave a styrofoam ball a patchwork look by applying scraps of cloth into the ball with a knife. Crochet "granny squares" she folded to form a stocking which held a miniature candy cane.

(4) Arrange a cookie-swap with a group of friends. Each one bakes 12 dozen cookies, then trade a dozen with each of the other bakers.

(5) A progressive party is great if you live in a small town. Cocktails, salad, main course, dessert and dancing can all be enjoyed at different settings without traveling great distances.

(6) Use the trunk of your car to hide gifts. Many times following midnight Mass I could be found helping Santa unload. Make sure the car keys are never out of your sight.

(7) Take out an ad in this newspaper to wish everyone you know a happy holiday.

ANIMAL WORLD

Attending baby showers can be very educational. The guests participate in various word games. At the last shower I attended I learned a new word, cygnet.

It was part of a game where you list the correct names for certain baby animals. Example: deer (fawn). Almost everybody was doing fine in the word game until we came to swan. One smart young lady wrote: baby swan. A young swan is correctly called a cygnet.

A young goose is not called a gosie, it is a gosling.

QUILT IDEAS

While shower guests separated babies into individual play areas by drawing only three straight lines from edge to edge of the paper, I spent my time visualizing the cute babies in a quilt top. With a bit of lace here, ribbon and yarn there, the baby figures would make a delightful quilt top. While the guests were waving goodbye, to the mother-to-be I was busy studying the designs on the discarded gift wrapping paper. Many quilt top ideas can be designed just by enlarging the gift paper designs.

Rachel Rominger of Carrizozo gave the new baby a beautiful hand-made quilt. The lining and top was yellow gingham. The top featured appliqued animals, which she had cut out from another piece of cloth. The top was one large piece of material (not pieced). She edged the quilt in yellow ribbon binding. Very creative.

SEZ WHO?

"My forefathers didn't come over on the Mayflower, but they met the boat."—Will Rogers, entertainer, 1920. (Rogers was part Cherokee Indian.)

"We conjure you to do now the one grand deed that shall mark the progress of the century—proclaim equal rights to all."—Susan B. Anthony, suffragist, 1868.

"Too bad that all the people who know how to run the country are busy driving taxicabs and cutting hair."—George Burns, entertainer, 1970s.

"Can anybody remember when the times were not hard and money not scarce?"—Ralph Waldo Emerson, poet essayist, 1870s.

"I hear America singing, the varied carols I hear. . . ."—Walt Whitman, 1855.

COOKIE JAR TREAT

Take the chill out of the house by baking cookies. As I type this column the kids are eating the experiment of the week—chocolate snaps (they only look like ginger snaps.)

The kiddos love to dip the cookies into their milk before they take a bite. This cookie recipe is good for aspiring four-year-old bakers. They enjoy making the dough balls and rolling them in granulated sugar.

Chocolate Snaps
1 and 3/4 cups all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/4 cup corn syrup, 2 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened baking chocolate.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Sift flour, baking soda, cinnamon, and salt.

In a large bowl, cream together shortening and sugar. Add egg; beat until creamy. Stir in corn syrup and melted chocolate. Blend in sifted ingredients. Shape mixture into balls using 1 level measuring tablespoon. Roll balls in sugar. Place on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake 12 minutes on top shelf of oven. Let cool 5 minutes on sheet before removing. Makes approximately three dozen cookies.

HOLIDAY TRAVELER

Judi Weaser of Merced, CA, was an overnight guest last Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roley Ward of Carrizozo. Judi, a National Forest Service employee, is the granddaughter of former Carrizozo resident Helen Sterling Steward, also of Merced.

No more need for judges, lawyers or juries like the local Crime Stoppers had the Morales kid tried and convicted on the front page of this weekly newspaper a few weeks ago. We already have a hired gun at our local school who will be boss next year. The current one will move to greener pastures. Might as well get a few more and we will have us a nice "Little Ole Western Town."

EDITOR—This is in response to the letter from "NAME WITHHELD" in the Dec. 2, issue.

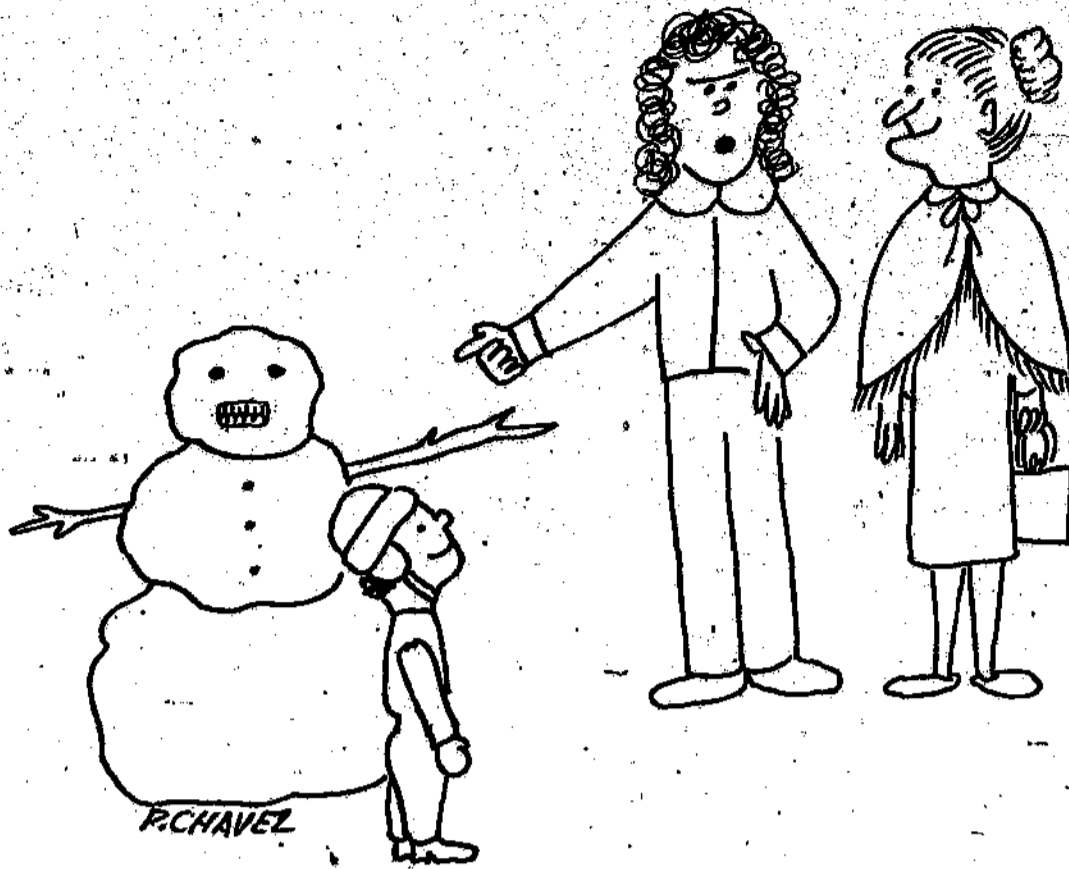

While it is true that the two stores mentioned in that letter are tremendous assets to the community, it should be noted that there are others nice stores and shops here also.

Beulah's Shop has many fine gift items and decorations and Roy's Gift Gallery has a very large selection of fine quality gifts and flowers.

Perhaps "NAME WITHHELD" should have shopped around a little more so that everyone could be mentioned by name.

Bishops' freeze would have denounced JFK

BY REV. LESTER KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON — New Orleans's Catholic Archbishop Philip Hannan may be remembered as having given the very moving eulogy at the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Archbishop Hannan has now charged that President Kennedy would have been denounced, had the Catholic bishops during his presidency issued anything like the proposed pastoral letter endorsing a nuclear freeze. During an interview, Hannan told this column:

"He (Kennedy) issued a threat to the Russians, in order to settle the Cuban missile crisis. He did what this proposed letter implies would be wrong. He made a direct threat."

Q: What about the Archbishop of Seattle and the Bishop of Saginaw, Michigan, who have suggested that surrender would be preferable to any use of nuclear weapons?

ARCHBISHOP HANNAN: That's completely at variance with our theology. For instance, Archbishop Hunhausen (of Seattle) says that Christ commands us simply to allow anything to happen to us rather than use weapons. Christ didn't command that at all. To me, that is poor theology.

The Archbishop went on to note: "The German bishops have not condemned the presence of nuclear weapons in their country. The French bishops sent a representative priest here from (the Paris newspaper) Figaro. And he came up and complimented my position highly and said that this is very necessary to say. The fact that our statement will have a very great influence on the freedom of Western Europe will, in my opinion, change the bishops in their thinking."

Archbishop Hannan was then asked about the considerable influence in the formulation of this proposed letter of a priest at national headquarters named Bryan Hehir. (Father Hehir is described by Catholic lay theologian Michael Novak as one of the most powerful people in the Catholic Church.)

Father Hehir is exceptionally clever. For this proposed freeze letter was given to the press just one week before the national elections.

"I haven't spoken with him," replied Hannan. "But to me, this is like people in an ivory tower speaking about a realistic world — without participating in that realistic world. . . They do not remember the World War II won back Europe's freedom and protected our freedom, too. They do not remember that we engaged in a solemn contract, the NATO treaty, to preserve freedom. They haven't considered that at all."

Chicago's Archbishop Joseph Bernardin attracted enormous media coverage by telling a press conference that the bishops will not be "intimidated" by a letter from President Reagan's National Security Council William Clark, in which Judge Clark, a Catholic layman, disagreed with the proposed pastoral.

During a later press conference, this column asked:

"Do you believe, considering the Holy Father and other Polish bishops who live under unquestionably intimidating governments, that it is realistic to describe Judge Clark's letter as 'intimidating' — or is such use of the word a trifle melodramatic?"

The President of the Conference of Bishops, Archbishop John Roach of Minneapolis, replied:

"Did some one say it was intimidating?"

Q: Yes, sir. It was on page one of one of our local dailies (The Washington Post) that one of your more distinguished prelates said, "We will not be intimidated."

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: No, I don't think it (the letter) was. I hope that his letter was an attempt to assist us in our dialogue, as we try to assist them.

We then asked: "Has anyone on the White House staff, to your knowledge, suggested that the release of your second draft of this letter — just one week before a national election — was an attempt by Father Hehir and some of the bishops to intimidate the White House?"

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: Well, I hope they are no more easily intimidated than we are! (Laughter) No, that kind of language I would not include.

Later in this news conference, we asked this ranking Catholic prelate in the US:

"A headline in a local daily this morning affirmed that the US bishops are 'standing firm' on this issue. In the event this pastoral letter is passed in essentially this form, will your stance on this pastoral be any firmer than your opposition to contraception and to the ordination of women to the priesthood? Or will it be less firm?"

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: Well, I think they are pretty separate questions? (Laughter)

Q: Well, you are certainly firm on contraception and regarding the ordination of women, aren't you?

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: Yes.

Q: Are you just as firm on this pastoral as on those issues?

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: Well, our teaching has not yet been completed on this.

Q: I said: "In the event. . ."

ARCHBISHOP ROACH: There will be changes in the draft. There is no way that that committee can go back and say, "Great, we got it made." There's lots of work to be done.

There are no doubt any number of Catholic laymen who would recommend that such work begin immediately — with instant shredding — along with an ecclesiastical order transferring Father Hehir to the chancery staff of the Archbishop of New Orleans for some retraining by Archbishop Hannan.

Land bank lowers rate

For the second time in as many months, the Federal Land Bank of Wichita has announced a reduction in the billing rates it charges on its loans.

Effective Jan. 1, 1983, the billing rate for new and existing variable interest agricultural loans will be reduced one-half of one percent to 12.25 percent from 12.75 percent.

The rate charged for rural home loans for both farmers and non-farmers will drop to 12.75 percent from 13 percent.

The announcement was made by Federal Land Bank President M. K. Mathews Jr.

The current charge for variable interest agricultural loans was reduced to 12.75 percent on Nov. 1. Between October 1981, and November 1982, all variable rate land bank loans were billed at 13 percent—the highest rate ever charged in the bank's history.

The Jan. 1 rate reduction will result in a savings of approximately $2 million a month to farmer and rancher borrowers in the four-state area served by The Federal Land Bank of Wichita.

The Federal Land Bank of Wichita is a farmer-rancher owned agricultural lending cooperative which specializes in long-term real estate loans. The bank has over 68,000 loans outstanding for $5.2 billion in un-matured principal. These loans are made and serviced by 40 federal land bank associations located in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico.

Since July 1969, all land bank loans have been made on a variable interest rate plan which allows the billing rate to fluctuate up or down during the term of the loan depending on money market conditions. "Such a policy ensures the lowest possible cost of borrowing," Mathews said.

Freeze holiday foods now

"Start baking for the holidays while you have time, and use your freezer," advises Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food and nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

"A little extra work now can free you to enjoy holiday guests and parties."

As you prepare meals now, make a double recipe and freeze the extra, especially casseroles and one-dish meals.

Line the pans with aluminum foil and allow extra foil to fold over the top. Cook the food in the usual way until it is almost done. Use a light touch with seasoning because some spices become stronger during freezing, the food specialist says.

After baking, cool the food quickly. Wrap it in moisture-vapor proof material, label and freeze at zero degrees or below.

Remember, it takes longer to heat a frozen casserole than it does to bake one that has not been frozen. But the convenience of having these prepared foods ready to thaw and serve on busy days makes the extra effort worthwhile.

When preparing special occasion foods for the freezer, remember that certain ingredients do not freeze well, Mrs. Johnson says. Avoid freezing cooked egg whites (meringues and fluffy frostings), raw vegetables and mayonnaise.

Cakes may be frozen frosted or unfrosted. You can also freeze baked or unbaked pies. Partially baked rolls may be frozen, similar to commercial brown-and-serve products.

Large quantities of leftovers after holiday meals or parties are better stored in the freezer than the refrigerator. Freeze leftover turkey, stuffing and gravy if they will not be used within one day. Use containers which will hold as much food as you intend to serve at one time.

Label foods clearly. The label should include the name of food, freezing date and number of servings in the package. For maximum quality, use frozen cooked foods within two or three months.

Living trees bring years of pleasure

Choosing a live Christmas tree this year could bring pleasure to many for years to come.

"If you want a Christmas tree that has many benefits, buy a live tree," says Dr. Fred Widmoyer, a horticulturist with New Mexico State University.

After the tinsel comes off, a live tree can be donated to a school, a park, the Boy Scouts or any other non-profit organization for use in landscaping. As an added bonus, a tree donated to such organizations is tax deductible.

Plant the tree as soon as possible after Christmas. In New Mexico, trees can be planted with little soil preparation. In colder climates, a hole should be dug early and filled with straw to prevent the soil from freezing. Loose soil should be stored in a dry, warm location until planting time.

Water thoroughly every two weeks, especially in southern New Mexico where warm winds dry the soil.

Short of Christmas money? Trap fur-bearing varmints

With Christmas approaching, most people are checking their bank accounts and wondering if they have enough money to survive the holiday season. One way to earn extra money and help reduce the financial stress of the holidays is by trapping.

The furbearer season in New Mexico for raccoon, badger, weasel, fox, ringtail, bobcat, nutria, beaver and muskrat has already started. The season for all these species ends on March 31, 1983.

In the past few years, there has been an increase in the number of trappers, so stricter controls have been placed on the sport of trapping. These controls will help prevent damage to the furbearer resource, private property, domestic or protected animals, and the privilege of trapping. Let's look at some of the regulations governing the sport of trapping.

Each trap or snare set for the capture of wild animals must be permanently marked with either the name and address of the trapper, or a user identification number issued by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. A trap identification number can be obtained by contacting the Game Department office in Santa Fe. Trap identification allows conservation officers in an area to know exactly who is running each trap line and also helps in regaining lost or stolen traps.

No steel trap with an outside jaw spread larger than six and one-half inches may be used in making a land set for furbearers. This prevents small furbearers from being injured, without being caught, by large traps. It also helps to stop large animals, such as mountain lion, bear or domestic cows, from being caught in traps set for smaller furbearers.

No land set may be placed within one-fourth mile of an occupied dwelling without the permission of the occupant; no land set may be placed within one-fourth mile of established public campgrounds, roadside rest areas, picnic areas, or boat launching areas; and a land set may not be within 25 yards of a trail designated on a Forest Service or Bureau of Land Management Map or within 25 yards of a public road partially or entirely maintained with public funds. These regulations help prevent an accidental injury to people or pets in areas where the public tends to congregate.

It is illegal to place, set, or maintain any steel trap within 25 yards of "visible bait." "Visible bait" is defined as the flesh, hide, fur, carcass, viscera, or feathers of any animal which is so placed that it is visible at any angle of observation. This restriction does not apply to a trap flag that is suspended at least three feet above ground. This regulation will stop the accidental capture of hawks, owls and eagles, which has been a problem in some parts of the state.

Every trap or snare must be visited at least once every 48 hours and all captured wildlife removed. Legally protected mammals and birds must be released or if injured, the Game Department must be notified to treat the animal. It is also illegal to retain any live furbearer in captivity which has been taken in a trap or snare.

All residents trappers 12 years old or older must possess a current trapping license, which costs $5.25. The fee for a nonresident trapping license is $301.00.

Trapping may be the answer to some people's financial problems and can be a very enjoyable sport. Outwitting the wily fox or badger can be very challenging.

CONNIE Dearen of Carrizozo (left) won the gun case at a Dec. 1 drawing by the Valley of Fires Lioness Club. Ruth Hawk, club president, is making the presentation. The rifle offered by the Lions Club was won by Ulas H. Solomon of Alvarado, TX. Proceeds from the drawing will be used for the club's community projects.

Lincoln County's postmasters meet

By MARY L. JOINER

The Lincoln County chapter of NAPUS met at Riverside Rancho Nov. 14 for a chicken fried steak dinner which was enjoyed by the postmasters and guests preceding the business meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Lincoln County President Shirlene Roberts. The invocation was given by Dorothy Parnell followed by the salute to the flag.

President Roberts introduced special guests, Lester Rogers, Bayard, NM State President of NAPUS and Ken Primrose, Roswell.

Ellen Fay Womack reported that no progress has been made in finding a suitable location for post office historical memorabilia. It was decided to carry on the search for a repository with the same committee in charge.

There were no retirements in the county so far this year. One new postmaster was appointed Della Bonnell, at Glencoe, NM.

Pauline Britton gave a report on the State NAPUS convention held in Carlsbad in April. Primrose reported briefly on the state convention, saying that those attending not only learned a lot but had fun too.

Rogers gave a report on some of the highlights of the National NAPUS Convention held in Biloxi, MS, last October. He said Postmaster General William Bolger in his address to the convention stressed the fact that the postal service remains the same as always: courtesy and service to the public. Rogers also said the business sessions were informative.

The 1983 state convention will be hosted by Elwood Gradine and Shirlene Roberts with help from all nearby postmasters and many others statewide.

Headquarters for the convention, to be held April 6, 7, 8 and 9, will be at The Inn Of The Mountain Gods. Gradine reported that convention plans are going well at this time. Shirlene Roberts is chairman of the committee to sell ads for convention programs. Several Postmasters still have the Histories of Lincoln County Post Offices if anyone wishes to purchase a copy. A motion was made and carried by acclamation, to retain the present officers of the Lincoln County Postmasters Assn. for the coming year since all are involved in plans for the upcoming state convention.

The officers are: president, Shirlene Roberts; Ruidoso Downs; vice-president, Rosalee Patterson, Pico; Secretary-treasurer, Maxine Wright, Captain; reporter, Mary L. Joiner, Hondo; committee for historical display site, Louise Babers, Ellen Fay Womack and Mary L. Joiner.

Hostesses for 1983 Lincoln County NAPUS meeting are Pauline Britton and Maxine Wright, the time and place to be decided at a later date.

A vote of thanks was extended to this year's hostesses, Rosalee Patterson, Billie Graham, and Patsy Racher.

Among those attending were special guests; State NAPUS President Lester Rogers and MSC Ken Primrose; Postmasters Elwood Gradine, Della Bonnell, Shirlene Roberts, Patsy Racher, Amelia Candelaria, Maxine Wright, Ellen Fay Womack, Rosalee Patterson, Billie Graham, and Pauline Britton; Postmasters Retired included Dorothy Parnell, Hattie Phillips, Gladys Nosker, Mary L. Joiner and Beth Daugherty; and Jack Parnell, Leo Joiner, David Bonnell, Jack Graham, Dorothy Talley, Lupe Kelly, Phil Kelly, Norma Rogers and Jean Primrose.

CORRECTION

Last week Beulah Moore was incorrectly identified as the past president of Valley of the Fires Lioness Club. She is past secretary of the club for two years, not president.

Miners

Lincoln National Forest had been shut down. The notice urged people to contact the Forest Service, Lincoln County Commissioners, and the district attorney and protest the action.

In a telephone interview, Paul Gordon and Jim Abbot, supervisor for the Lincoln National Forest, both agreed that Sawyer was within her rights to close the portion of 583 that crossed her property. According to Abbot, "there is no legal way for us to go in and provide public access to Forest Roads 580 and 583. . . The forestry road markers mean nothing. . . What we have here is public land entirely surrounded by private land, and unless we talk the owners into a right-of-way or condemn it for public use, there is nothing that we can do."

Abbot added that unless a road is maintained by county, state, or federal funds there is no way that any government agency can claim it as public access roads.

Gordon noted that the Forest Service is experiencing this type of problem everywhere. "We are trying very hard to resolve this situation and we're hoping to work out a fair compromise," he said.

Suzanne Cox, Lincoln County manager, reported that both roads in question were not maintained by the county. She said this precludes the county from forcing the roads to be opened, as happened recently on the nearby O-Bar-O Ranch outside of Carrizozo.

In the meantime, Sawyer continues to keep the gates legally locked and Hesse continues to walk to his claim.

"I don't understand this," he said, "I have always respected Fern's property and in effect I have been a sort of free watchdog up here."

Hesse indicated that if he had been at the claim when the campers vandalized the cabin he would have been able to stop them. "They would have had to go right past me," he said.

The miner said he didn't mind the walk, but that it was difficult to haul in 60 to 100 pounds of supplies up the canyon to the claim. He also said that in order for his production to increase it will be necessary to get a small backhoe to the site.

"My partner, John Arrellano, and I have already submitted a request to the Forest Service to use some heavier equipment at the mine, and a locked gate would make that impossible," he said.

Ron Hesse said he plans to speak with Sharp again and request a key. "If I don't get a key, I guess I'll consider legal action." He added that he was willing to compromise, but that he will "absolutely" never give up his claim.

On the other side of the gate, Fern Sawyer thinks of trespassers and property destruction and replies: "I may never open that gate."
