Speaker urges help to retain health center

Tom Neff, administrator of the Carrizozo Health Center of St. Joseph's in Albuquerque, was guest speaker at the May 6 luncheon of Canyon Cowbells in the home of Annie Withers.

Neff said the health center has two separate departments, the medical services and dental clinic. Dr. Sergio Huerta and Rosemary Zinc are in charge of the medical clinic and offer primary and secondary care, X-ray, referral service, pre-natal care, infant and child care. Dr.

Dale Goad, Technician Cherri Goad, and assistant Shelia Zumwalt offer full dental service and child dental care.

The medical services are available in Corona once a week and the dental services once a month.

Neff stressed that medical care is not a one-person operation, but a combination of all services. The clinic will remain here as long as it is well used by the community and can help support itself.

He urged that letters to the directors of National Health Services Corp., Region VI, should be written explaining the necessity of the health center in Carrizozo. These directors may be contacted: Dan Error, Dr. Kitt Shaddix and Lois Solari, all of 1200 Main Tower Bldg., Dallas, TX 75202.

"The doctors, nurse and their families not only provide us with clinical care but have become a part of our town. We want to keep them in our community longer than the two- or four-year appointments," the Cowbells advised Neff.

The "Windmill Quilt" was shown at the Cowbelle meeting, and is now on display at the Citizens State Bank. Raffle tickets may be purchased from the bank or from any Cowbelle.

Carrizozo High School seniors may apply for the annual $100 scholarship for a major in agriculture or home economics in college. Information may be obtained from Mr. Miller.

FRAN GABLE presents Tom Neff with the club's cookbook.

A lively town meeting

Following remarks by Dennis Sidebottom, principal, Robert Montano, president of the honor society, welcomed parents and guests and introduced the speakers.

Lisa Crenshaw spoke on the significance of candles lighted during the ceremony. The history of NHS was given by Lisa Cantrell, club treasurer. Joe Curtiss explained the purpose of the organization. Memorized speeches were given by Tim Vega, secretary, Kevin Willmore, Denise Vega and Rosie Lueras. A pledge of membership was given by Johnny Bob Stearns.

Joe DeTevis is sponsor of the society. He invited guests to the reception which followed, of which Mrs. Bob Stearns was chairman. Hostesses were the mothers of the newly-inducted honor society members.

Mayor's order: 'Get tough at the dump'

Carrizozo Mayor Harold Garcia warned at Monday's regular town meeting that people who abuse the sanitation landfill privileges will be fined and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

This action was initiated following a slide presentation by rancher Stirling Spencer. He pointed out that the landfill which is located on his property has become an eyesore because the trash is allowed to scatter. Spencer told the council that it should "take care of basics like trash, water and sewerage before spending time promoting industry to the town."

Emilio Beltran, town foreman, said the source of the problem is wind, unbagged trash, as well as unsupervised dumping, which is done during the evening and weekends by private individuals. Weekdays, a town employee with a bulldozer is stationed at the site.

Carrizozo School Supt. James P. Miller Jr. suggested that town employees have an off-day during the week and work on Saturdays at the landfill site. Beltran responded by saying the paper which is flying around the dump is school trash. Miller said that the school has invested in plastic bags and trash taken by school employees to the dump is contained in this manner.

In the past, the town has been turned down by others when new landsites have been sought, but Spencer said he went ahead and relinquished his "last 40" of good grass land to the town. Spencer, who is willing to continue to accommodate the town, said he is "tired of the wandering trash" and suggested that the dump be patrolled by town police on a regular basis, and violators fined.

Saturday the town will begin handing out citations to people violating the rules of dumping at the landfill. Signs will be displayed. Garcia said the 7-day dumping privilege, granted by a previous council, may be withdrawn by the present council if the public does not comply with posted guidelines.

This Saturday is Carrizozo's Community Clean-up Day, and the town's sanitation crew will be at the dump directing traffic and burying trash. The town has donated plastic bags. The annual clean-up day is sponsored by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce with the school, town and civic organizations participating in its promotion.

Trustee Bobby Dan Crenshaw suggested that in the future local litterbugs also be cited. He believes residents should keep their alleys litter-free.

In other business, the council made a motion to deny requests for out-of-town utility hookups on water, sewerage and/or garbage pickups. The council would like to see town services "up to par" before any out-of-town connections are made. When a go-ahead is approved, a "water contract" will be required to be signed by out-of-town users.

A study will also be made to find out how water pressure can be equalized throughout the town. Trustee Harmon asked Garcia to look into funding for an additional water well and storage facilities for Carrizozo.

Meanwhile, at the golf course, town employee George Serma was granted permission to split his work schedule. He was given a 2-week trial period to work nights when his watering efforts are not affected by sun, wind and their "evaporative powers."

Brief mention was made of a phone call to the mayor regarding a proposed monetary donation to the town's golf course. The "midnight call" came from a Rudoso individual whose name was not obtained.

The council will consider the man's proposal if a written statement is submitted, or if the individual will make a personal appearance at a council meeting.

The council has developed a contract which is to be presented to the Carrizozo Men's Golf Assn. for its approval. The contract gives the association the right to purchase all supplies and equipment for the pro shop. The proceeds from these sales are "solely" for improving, maintaining and promoting the golf course.

The mayor thanked the association for "top dressing the greens and all other volunteer work which the group has done. Willie Silva is the association's president, S.M. Ortiz is vice president, and Albert LeFave secretary-treasurer.

Silva told the NEWS that the group's first goal is to create a supply with air, top dress and fertilize all greens. Plans include buying several golf cart batteries. He encourages all golfers to participate in the upcoming men's and women's scramble to be held Sunday, May 16. Money raised will be used to improve the course.

A letter from Carrizozo school teacher Tom Tracey was read by Garcia. Tracey, a pilot, expressed interest in negotiating a lease with the town for approximately 1,200 sq ft of land at the airport. He would like to build a hangar for his airplane.

The now extinct airport committee was approached by Tracey in September 1981, but it could not come to terms on several issues. Tracey said in his letter that some committee members were very "uninformed about airports, airplanes and aviation.

Tracey who lives in Nogal, has owned an airplane for the last 15 years and has built three airplanes in the last eight years. He said he will not be without an airplane in the future and is seeking a long-term lease of 30 to 40 years.

He did not agree with the demand of the former airport committee that they need a key to enter his proposed hangar to inspect the contents.

Tracey stated in his letter that on several occasions he has repaired, free of charge, airplanes that have broken down at the local airport. (In 1970-74 he was owner-operator of Air Hub, a flying service based in Tucuman, NM.)

Tracey said he will continue to serve in any capacity to aid in the growth and development of the Carrizozo Airport.

Members of the previous council recalled that Tracey had

'Soil Stewardship Week' gets a boost

The Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District will join in the nationwide celebration of Soil Stewardship Week, May 16-23, according to an announcement by Chairman Gary Hightower. The theme of this year's celebration is "A Time for Tenacity."

"This is 'A Time for Tenacity' in our faith, in concept, in communication, in cooperation, in the political arena, in experiments and research, in leadership, in priorities, and in total commitment," says the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) in the 16-page Soil Stewardship Week booklet. Foreword to the publication was written by President Ronald Reagan. NACD has sponsored Soil Stewardship Week since 1955, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts.

Informative material on the Soil Stewardship Week theme each year is distributed through local conservation districts to clergymen, lay leaders, churches, civic and educational organizations and to individuals participating in the observance.

"With the growth of population and the world demand for food and with the clearing and development of most land that is suitable for cultivation, we must turn our attention to the task of saving every acre," according to NACD. "The dream of adequate supplies of food and shelter must cover a period that extends far into the future because this is the only world we have and the total heritage of our descendants."

Information and materials for the 1982 observance of Soil Stewardship Week have been distributed to area churches by the

Carrizozo SWCD Board of Supervisors, which includes Hightower, Stirling Spencer, Tony Gabel, Wally Ferguson and Pete Gnatkowski.

'Hee Haw' fiddler to perform here

One of the country's most talented classical violinists, who also happens to be the "First Lady of Country Fiddle," will be in Carrizozo Friday, May 21, at Nike Hall.

Jana Jae will play a one-night engagement, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Jana got her big break in country fiddling in 1974 at a concert in Redding, CA. Her reception was so overwhelming that she became the first female member of Buck Owens' "Buckaroos." She became a regular on "Hee Haw," and toured in Japan, Australia and the Philippines.

Her association with the Buckaroos ended in 1977 when her much-publicized three-day marriage to Buck Owens broke up. He then ran a nation-wide "ad campaign" to get her back, and didn't.

Jana has turned solo performer, blending country fiddling, western swing and classical styles that has earned her feature spots at "pops" concerts with major symphony orchestras. But her love is still playing the country music at fairs and honky-tonks.

She is also an accomplished singer.

Her musical roots run deep, as both her parents studied at the Juilliard School of Music in New York. Jana went to college on a music scholarship, and spent a year studying classic violin at the Vienna Academy of Music.

But country music is her love, and she became the Ladies' National Champion fiddler in 1973 and again in 1974. She has starred in jazz festivals in New Orleans, Switzerland and England.

Eddie O'Brien, Nike Hall owner, says tickets for the Jana Jae Show will be $6 per person for advance sales; $8 at the door. He may be reached at 648-9985 or 2972.

LISTEN IN! It's Robie's Party-Line! Hot off the Wire:

In this merry month of May, let's think about life for a minute. We want to get the most out of every day and make it as happy as possible. Happiness is not a constant feeling. In order to be happy, one must have some sadness. Happiness comes after hard work and achievement, from creating with one's mind, and these things turn the spirit on, making for happiness.

Here are hints from Robie to stay happy:

Act your age, it's a lot easier and safer. Try to achieve your desires, but if you fail, don't worry, just let it go and start somewhere else. Try to keep busy improving your mind and body. Some things you enjoy, but make yourself do others you don't enjoy. Try to eat simple foods, fresh and lightly cooked. Any kind of exercise will do, just twice a week will help. Handle yourself with your head and handle others with your heart. Stick to your own standards and try to form relationships with people who have standards.

Here's a surprise for you,

Mabel. (I know you're skinny!)

For FAT people: chilled milk (whipped evaporated skim milk). Beat in 1 tbs. lemon juice for added firmness and use artificial sweetener to taste; Use low fat cream cheese. Use plain low fat yogurt. Use cottage cheese in cheesecake recipes. Use butter flavoring. Use low fat milk for ice cream. Make your pies with juice instead of sugar. Use fresh unsweetened fruit for fruit salad. Serve sponge cake or angel cake. Use peanut butter and berries.

FOR SKINNY people: use pure whipped cream; creamy cream cheese; sour cream; butter and real ice cream; sugar and cream in your pies; marshmallows, sugar and whipped cream; serve pound cake with whipped cream; use peanut butter and jelly.

Some new idea, Mabel. Try putting a colorful reminder on the door of the oven to tell you it's in use.

Decorate a little. Cover window shades with bright paper. Spotlight your home with more lamps to save electricity. There are many pretty lamps with bamboo basket and other bases.

For a quick paint job, use foam rubber. It gets into all the cracks and you throw it away later.

When ants invade my kitchen I wash my cabinets with diluted vinegar. Works for me.

Try to laugh: "My wife and I have a deal. If I don't like the way she does something, I can do it myself."

Did you know: The Enquirer says talk shows are a thing of the past. Many have gone off the air this year, and "soaps" are becoming popular at night.

The new operation for diabetes is a new pancreas transplant. How about that?

That noise and light will protect you against burglars.

That the Family Pharmacy is now owned by Hal and Mignon Sims.

I ran into Kay Allison at the post office. Hadn't seen her in years. And Noga had two more visitors, Fran Siddens and Ilene Lindamood.

Marge and Ray Wells' grandson had an accident, and they wish to thank everyone in Lincoln County for their prayers and thoughtfulness.

Liz MaeVeigh is home recovering from a delicate operation, and we hope she is on the road to recovery.

Confucius said that rice is the necessary and appropriate food for the virtuous and graceful life. Rice is a cheap substitute for other foods. It will cut down on meat bills and supply energy. It is ideal for people on low fat and cholesterol diets. So try this vegetable-rice recipe, using natural brown rice:

1 cup uncooked brown rice; 1 tbs. vegetable oil; 1/2 cup chopped green pepper; 1/2 cup chopped onions; 2 cups sliced zucchini; 3 sm. tomatoes cut in 8ths; 1 clove crushed garlic; 2 1/2 cups boiling chicken broth.

Saute rice in oil until golden brown, over low heat for 5 to 10 minutes. Spread in a greased shallow 2 1/2 quart casserole. Layer onions, green pepper, zucchini & tomatoes over rice. Add garlic to broth. Pour over vegetables. Cover and bake at 350 for 1 hr. 15 min. or until liquid is absorbed and vegetables are tender.

Next week: chile rice. Bye now,

ROBIE

Methodist pastor is leaving

Dr. B.C. Goodwin, superintendent of the El Paso District of the United Methodist Church, has informed the Rev. David J. Lynch that his application for a new assignment was favorably acted upon by Louis W. Schoengardt, Bishop of the New Mexico Conference, and his cabinet.

Mr. Lynch, currently pastor of the Capitan and Carrizozo United Methodist Churches, will conclude his assignment here at the end of May and assume the pastorate of Fort Boulevard United Methodist Church in El Paso, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Joe B. Scrimshire.

"Serving the churches here during the past five years has been a unique experience," said the Rev. Lynch, "and participating in the work of the Chamber of Commerce, the Health Center, New Horizons Developmental Center and in interdenominational religious celebrations, has been exciting. Both Mrs. Lynch and I deeply appreciate those who befriended us and gave us the opportunity to serve among them all."

Asked whether he was satisfied with his ministry in the two churches, Rev. Lynch replied, "I came with what I had to offer, and used it to the best of my ability. Only time and the seasons will reveal whether anything will come of it."

Hondo dancers visit in California

La Fiesta Tradicional at Hondo last week was directed this year by Franklin Herrera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benito Herrera of Albuquerque. A graduate of Hondo High School, Herrera returned this year to complete student teaching in the business area.

At this year's fiesta Jackie Maez, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Maez of Hondo, was selected queen for the second consecutive year by a panel of three judges from Roswell, Gallup and Albuquerque.

David A. Lucero, a senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Aristeo Lucero of Arabela, was selected Fiesta king. Judging was based on poise, personality, and proper execution of the intricate dances.

Second place girl was Elizabeth Sanchez, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Sanchez of San Patricio. Second place boy was Charlie Chavez, a junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Chavez of San Patricio.

Third place girl was Deanna Lucero, twin sister of the king, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aristeo Lucero of Arabela. Third place boy was Billy Randolph, a senior and son of Mrs. Priscilla Randolph of Ruidoso.

Three new dances were presented this year: "La Bruja," a girls' traditional dance in Mexico, and "Una Noche en Santa Rosa" and "Se Puede Pasar," polkas from Chihuahua.

A total of 41 student dancers left Tuesday for an 8-day, all-expense paid trip to California. While in California they will visit Disneyland, the San Diego Zoo, Sea World, and tour the Universal Studios.

Republican Women hear Newton Page

Newton Page will address the regular monthly meeting of Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County on Tuesday, May 18, at Whispering Pines Restaurant in Ruidoso.

Page has done a water study for Ruidoso and will speak on water problems and possible solutions. He will incorporate a slide presentation in his lecture.

"In view of the upcoming water bond election we feel voters should be as informed on the issues as possible," said Rhonda Johnston, FRWLC president.

Agenda for the business meeting includes discussion of a fundraiser, appointment of an awards chairman, and a donation to a school library of a book. The last item is the Mamie Eisenhower Library Project, a national project done by Federated Republican Women's groups throughout the nation.

"This year we are giving to the Ruidoso Christian School Olive Coolidge's The Statesmanship of Abraham Lincoln," said Johnston.

Any woman residing in Lincoln County is invited to attend. For further information contact Johnston at 257-8571 or Secretary Dorothy Smith at 354-2499.

'Whiffs of the clean air'

EDITOR—Inside Carrizozo has become a refreshing few moments of each of my weeks. I am truly enjoying a chance to breathe a few whiffs of the clean air that drifts out of the folded pages of Lincoln County News.

We were all happy to find that Dr. Sandra Turner is probably a Red in addition to being a damned fool, but we were even more pleased to find out about the student paper at Dartmouth wherein objection is made to The College giving a $500 gift to a student homosexual club. Lester Kinsolving seems to be a sensible enough Episcopal preacher to suggest that my old church still offers something that I might be interested in.

GREGORY JONES, JR. Santa Rosa, CA

Double DST?

EDITOR—During WWII in England we experienced Double Daylight Saving Time. I believe time-setting still originates in Greenwich, England, does it not?

The reason for it then seemed to make sense, though I doubt if Ben Franklin had anything to do with it. It was to conserve light (energy) so work could be done under as much daylight as possible, rather than electric light.

Bars and pubs also consumed less electricity because you could be served during daylight hours by daylight publicans, especially at country inns where we could sit outside during the spring and summer—and when it wasn't raining.

Perhaps there is some merit to DST? TOM COX, Santa Rosa, CA

(ED. NOTE—Time-setting does still originate in Greenwich—but Daylight Saving Time in the US is a choice made by the states.)

Welcome back

EDITOR—Welcome back to New Mexico. I also feel a close kinship to Lincoln County, coming from the Capitan and Alamogordo areas.

As you know, the livestock industry is the economic hub of your region and anything we can do to assist you with contacts and information, please let me know.

The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau is currently involved in a number of key issues at the state and national levels that are sometimes difficult to explain fully in a news release, so feel free to call on us for additional background if you need it.

I'll make a point of stopping by your office the next time through Carrizozo. ERIK NESS, Director of Information, Las Cruces

McGrory promotes a Seattle Archbishop

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

In her nationally syndicated political column, Mary McGrory refers to Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen of Seattle as "His Eminence."

The fact is, Billy the Kid, handy as he was with a pistol, slew far fewer than 21 men. The late outlaw-authority Ramon F. Adams studied the matter closely and decided that the actual number was probably six. Three others were possible, involving mass gunfights in which the Kid was one of many participants.

Adams concludes that it is highly unlikely Billy was the man who killed Sheriff William Brady, although he was a member of the ambush party which gunned down the lawman and his deputy on the streets of Lincoln. But it was for the murder of Brady that the young outlaw went to trial in Mesilla and was sentenced to hang.

Lodged in the Lincoln County Courthouse awaiting execution, Billy the Kid made his celebrated escape on April 28, 1881. That Miss McGrory further notes that Archbishop Hunthausen has withheld $125 of the $250 income tax on his $9,000 salary. She observes that the Pentagon "probably" spends this amount each day on paper clips.

She further contends: "Many Americans share the archbishop's views although not his courage." Precisely how "many Americans" share Hunthausen's views—and believe him to be courageous rather than fanatical—is, from the McGrory column, as indefinite as the source of her contention that the Pentagon spends more than three million dollars a year on paper clips.

At the Pentagon, spokesman Jim Turner replied that $9,000 a day seemed closer to what the Department of Defense spends for all office equipment for every DOD office, installation, fort, ship or camp in the entire world. But he referred the inquiry to the General Services Administration, which does all the purchasing for the DOD.

At GSA, they had already researched the inquiry, as to how many paper clips are bought each year by the entire US government. The answer, from spokesman Peter Hickman:

"For the entire United States Government, we buy only 725 million paper clips a year. These are all purchased from the National Institute for the Severely Handicapped, at the rate of $1.48 per thousand." At this rate of $1.48 per thousand, Miss McGrory's estimate of daily Pentagon paper clip purchases would exceed six million paper clips per day.

While this would not fill every Pentagon room with paper clips, it is an estimate of Pentagon paper clip purchase which is three times as many paper clips than are actually bought for the entire US government.

Miss McGrory has therefore written a column with an error of one billion, four hundred and sixty five million paper clips. At the $1.48 rate, this means that Miss McGrory has made a two million, two hundred and twelve thousand dollar mistake.

For some reason or other, Miss McGrory has failed to include in her column on Hunthausen two of this archbishop's most newsworthy statements. For in Denver, he suggested that a Communist takeover of the United States would be a "crucifixion" which should be acceptable to all Christian people, because "That's what our Lord did."

The archbishop has also described the US Navy's submarine base in Bangor, Washington, as "the American Auschwitz."

This comparison of the US Navy to the SS death camp guards evoked the expressed disgust of at least one Catholic who is well known in the McGrory base of operations in Washington, DC. For Secretary of the Navy John Lehman accurately described it as an "abuse of clerical office" to "promulgate extremist political views."

Catholic columnist Frank Morris described Hunthausen's views as "demagoguery" that is "tasteless, ignorant and repugnant."

But to those who subscribe to newspapers who publish McGrory's column, this archbishop has been portrayed as a hero, as well as a Cardinal—without her mentioning his extremist statements.

Editorial Comment

'Do as we say, or else'

Homeowners, and owners of improved or unimproved property in Lincoln County, would do well to read a "Notice of Public Hearing" which appears in this issue.

They would also do well to attend the public hearing set for May 26, 1 p.m., at the Carrizozo Administration Building. At this time the board of commissioners will explain how a proposed National Flood Insurance Program will affect property owners located in flood hazard areas.

The proposed ordinance states in part: "No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, repair, improve, move or demolish any building or structure without first obtaining a separate permit for each building or structure from the designated responsible person."

This restriction applies to all property located within a flood-prone area. The "designated responsible person" to approve or deny permits will be the county administrator.

It is almost certain that county commissioners will be forced to yield to this property management proposal. Penalties for not doing so are imposed by the federal government and its agencies, and they are severe.

It is government's contention that preventing building in flood-prone areas will save lives; and private and public property, when flooding occurs; and that forcing compliance with flood zone regulations is, after all, in the best interests of the property owner and the taxpayers at large.

On the other hand, this represents still another invasion of an individual's right to enjoy his property, to build where he pleases, and to take the risks for doing so. The plan is saying that a property owner doesn't always have the good sense to do the "correct thing," and therefore government must force him to do so.

What the government is also saying is: "You will do with your property as we direct or we will do things to you that will make you wish you had."

By attending the public hearing citizens of Lincoln County will at least be aware of what is facing them should they violate regulations about to be imposed by the National Flood Insurance Program.

Who or what was the Kid?

MARC SIMMONS

(The author is a contributor to The New Mexico Independent, a lively newspaper for people who think, published in Albuquerque by Mark D. and Mary Beth Aensif. This tome is lifted without permission from the April 23 issue of the Independent.)

One subject that never seems to lose its appeal for readers around the world is the life of Billy the Kid. Probably no other early-day New Mexican is so well known.

A wealthy lady from Roswell was traveling in the Far East a few years ago. While on a cruise ship in the South China Sea, her Oriental cabin boy learned she was from New Mexico. The first thing he wanted to hear was stories about Billy the Kid.

Recently, the editor of a slick magazine in the East invited me to write an article about the Lincoln County War and the role of the Kid in that terrible conflict. By way of preparation, I read 15 or 20 of the leading books on the war, out of several hundred that exist.

At this late date, and after the spilling of so much ink, it is practically impossible to say anything new about the troubles in Lincoln County. But that doesn't mean, of course, that the final word has been written.

Far from it! Practically every phase of the bloody war and almost every aspect of the Kid's part in it remain subjects of controversy. So arguments will persist over who killed whom... and why. And, magazine editors will continue to print stories that rehash the smallest details, because they know there's a readership for such things.

The first point I discovered was that you can't write about Billy the Kid and remain neutral. It seems you have to accept him either as a murdering young punk with no redeeming qualities or as a romantic Robin Hood figure, decent by nature, who was driven to a life of crime by chance and circumstance.

There is no middle ground. At least it so appears in the huge body of literature that has accumulated since the Kid's death at the hands of Pat Garrett, 101 years ago.

At the very beginning, one encounters questions over Billy's true name. Was he born William Bonney or Henry McCarty? He used both at various stages of his life, together with other assorted aliases.

And where was he born? The majority of authors say Brooklyn. But towns in Indiana, Ohio, Kansas and even New Mexico have also been suggested. One source claims the Kid first saw the light of day in Limerick, Ireland. We will probably never know for certain.

Perhaps the most famous statement about Billy is that "he killed a man for each of the 21 years that he lived." The quote was recorded by young Susan Wallace, wife of Governor Lew Wallace. She claims the Kid himself made that boast. If true, he may have intended it a macabre joke.

The fact is, Billy the Kid, handy as he was with a pistol, slew far fewer than 21 men. The late outlaw-authority Ramon F. Adams studied the matter closely and decided that the actual number was probably six. Three others were possible, involving mass gunfights in which the Kid was one of many participants.

Opinion

THE majesty of law was enhanced last week when a small town in Maryland passed an ordinance prohibiting the dropping of nuclear bombs inside its city limits, or violating its air-space by passage overhead, or trespassing upon the town's subterranean jurisdiction. Students of Capitulation are congratulating Town Fathers for solving the threat of nuclear catastrophe. Now that it has been established that one terrible catastrophe can be avoided by a show of hands in a Town Meeting, Town Fathers owe it to their public to prohibit, by the same peaceful and democratic method other disasters common to mankind—taxes, disease, poverty, unhappiness and congenial idioy.

HERE IN New Mexico there is a first-class lawsuit brewing in Santa Fe (but isn't there always?). One Archie Martinez, fortified by a large dosage of Old Popokull, hit Pedro Lucero, equally fortified, over the head with a 12-gauge shotgun. Damage to Pedro's skull was minimal, but the blow bent the shotgun's 30-inch barrel, rendering it useless for its original purpose. Martinez was charged with negligent use of a firearm, a charge his attorney is bound to find challenging in a cross action demanding indemnity for bending the barrel of a $100 shotgun not his own by means of an uncommonly hard head... Which brings me to the lowdown, thieving meathead who crept into my garage last week and relieved me of my 20-gauge double-barreled shotgun that I had been saving to sprinkle buckshot over the backsides of just such a skunk as he. There seems to be an unwritten law around here that a newcomer is required to divide his money and property among the less endowed. If so, may I point out that I have now been ripped off to the tune of one $150 shot gun, one $50 air rifle, one bundle of brother's freshly laundered linens, and a $95 flash attachment for my camera. Have I paid my dues, and can I enjoy what's left?

THE LOSS of my defense arsenal was offset by news, joyfully received, that the Columbia Broadcasting Company has canceled the "Lou Grant" television show for next season. For five years I have been watching this propaganda vehicle. During those years I have never seen a businessman or a corporate executive depicted as anything but greedy, grasping, unfeeling, hypocritical crooks who prey upon a defenseless public. I watched this "social document" for five years because I don't give up easily. Surely, I reasoned, somewhere out there is at least one hard-working, honest, responsible, socially conscious corporate executive who loves his children, treats his employees fairly, is faithful to his wife, believes in God, does not steal, obeys the law, bathes regularly, and gives to the United Way. If there is, "Lou Grant" never found him. Ed Asner, star of the show, and his writers have been biting the hand that feeds them. Were it not for the businessmen "Lou Grant" despises & slanders each week, this show would have no sponsors. Corporations and their executives have paid millions of dollars sponsoring a "Lou Grant" show that pictures them as con men, swindlers, criminals and clowns. Finally, Kimberley-Clark Corp., one of the show's sponsors, got the message and withdrew its financial support. CBS got the message too. Big Business was paying for a propaganda gambit dedicated to destroying them! Ed Asner is an anti-capitalist social activist and so was his show. He champions everything from supporting El Salvador's communist-led guerrilla movement to violent attacks upon utility plants. What was served up as entertainment was (and is) sheer demagoguery. He deserved to be judged by the public, and he was.

THE MEDIA has little business casting stones at businessmen, what with its own house undusted. Janet Cook, that crooked reporter for the Washington Post who was up for a Pulitzer Prize for a false story, has disappeared from the news. Now comes Ann Landers, the columnist over which 70 million love-crazed readers sigh and slaver daily, admitted she has been digging up letters written to her 15 years ago. She changed a word here and there, and passed them off in her column as new stuff. She has always insisted she writes her column herself without help, and that the letters she prints and comments upon are genuine. One of her frequent admonishments to advice-seekers is that "honesty pays." Honestly!

TWO SIGNS tell it the way it is. One in large letters across the top of a building housing a bar in Corona is enough to strike terror in the hearts of tipplers: "WHISKEY... The Road to Ruin." The other, on a Commander Board at Tiny's Tire Town in Alamogordo reads: "A racetrack—where windows break people!" That's real journalism—terse, tight, and true!

IT WAS inevitable that l'affaire Falkland Islands should produce some American humor. Making the rounds is the one about the fellow who asks: "Do you know why the New Argentinian ships all have glass bottoms?" Answer: "So they can see the OLD Argentinian ships." A loser in the recent Kentucky Derby was heard to complain that the British fleet made better time to the Falklands than his horse did to the finish line. I really don't understand all the fuss over the Falklands. Have you ever seen a map of those islands? Carrizozo has bigger potholes.

A READER complained last week in a letter to the editor that my calling Physicians for Social Responsibility a bunch of left-leaning underheads was unfair. She said just because its president, Dr. Sandra Turner, spoke to a Communist Party rally in New York doesn't make her all that bad because she may have been there trying to show them the error of their ways! She points out that "labels set us apart" from each other and "alienate us from fellow human beings." Bull-bleep. Society runs on labels and always has. We can't write a letter or engage in conversation without the use of labels, none of which alienates anybody from anybody. Democrat is a label. So is Republican. So are these words: liberal, conservative, rich, poor, pious, good, bad, homosexual, farmer, wino, apartment-dweller, beautiful or ugly, pro- or con-. Language itself is little more than a sophisticated labeling machine. Far from setting us apart, labels bring us together by strengthening the ability to communicate and to understand. "Left-leaning" is a label that describes the Nicaraguan government, and it accurately describes that country's political structure. The late Neville Chamberlain was labeled an "appeaser," and the entire world knew at once he had misjudged Hitler at Munich and guaranteed World War II. So when you hear someone comment on "that bubble-brained, pathological idiot, Johnny-come-lately, down at the newspaper office," I understand the label and all it portends. Then, of course, when I cancel that guy's subscription, HE knows I know what the label means!

Angus Church selects delegates

Delegates to represent the Angus Church of the Nazarene at the annual missionary and church schools conventions and the New Mexico District Assembly were recently selected by that congregation, according to Kenneth Frey, pastor.

Sessions will convene at the El Paso, TX, First Church of the Nazarene, May 18-21.

Representatives of the Angus congregation include Rosemary Hezmall, Forest and Azalea Freeman, and Kenneth and Verna Frey.

There will be no local service on Wednesday, May 19.

Water workshop set at Capitan

A water and erosion control workshop has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday, May 28, at the Lincoln County Fair building in Capitan.

"This workshop will deal with the best management practices for erosion control, and the subsequent deposit of sediment in New Mexico's streams and lakes," said Charles Glover, Extension agronomist at New Mexico State University.

The material to be presented at the workshop is the result of research being conducted by NMSU under a grant from the Soil and Water Conservation Division, New Mexico Department of Natural Resources.

Several of the researchers involved in the project will take part in the workshop, along with Carol Dimeff, Soil and Water Conservation Division. Research reports will cover project locations at Fort Stanton and one at Magdalena, and in Socorro, Quay, Rio Arriba and Sandoval counties.

Dr. Karl Wood, watershed specialist at NMSU, will discuss the effectiveness of management practices for erosion control on rangeland.

The cost analysis of management practices will be discussed by Dr. John Fowler, agricultural economist at NMSU. Dr. George Sabol, NMSU civil engineer, will outline a computer program for predicting runoff and sediment load.

The public is invited to attend this workshop, Glover said.

Donna Joiner to be wed, May 29

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Joiner are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna Jo, to Kenneth Wayne Woodard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Woodard.

The ceremony will be held Saturday, May 28, 2 p.m., in the First Baptist Church on Gavalan Canyon Road in Ruidoso, NM. The reception will also be held here.

Mr. Woodard is presently employed by the Capitan Electric Co. The couple plan to make their home in Capitan after a short honeymoon.

$200 reward for some information

On April 28, the El Paisano Restaurant in Capitan was broken into and more than $5,000 in turquoise taken from the premises.

Owners of the restaurant are offering a $200 reward for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons involved, and the recovery of the turquoise.

Persons with information are asked to call CRIME STOPPERS or Capitan Police Dept. at 354-2247 or 354-2575.

Lisa Shear to be wed in Capitan

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dean Schear of Capitan have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lisa Chelette, to Mark Anthony Martin, son of Mrs. T.W. (Elaine) LaMay, also of Capitan.

The double-ring ceremony will take place May 22, at 7 p.m., at the First Baptist Church of Capitan.

Miss Schear will graduate from Capitan High School in May. Martin attended school in Capitan and is presently employed as an electrician for Capitan Electric.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the ceremony and the reception to follow.

The Kid . . .

incident, involving the shooting of two deputies, created a sensation at the time.

A question left for historians was, how did the Kid obtain the gun used to blast his way to freedom? Now it is believed that a friend hid a six-shooter in the outdoor privy and Billy slipped it in his shirt when he was escorted out back.

With that gun, he shortly killed Deputy James Bell and then taking a shotgun he felled Deputy Bob Olinger. Sheriff Pat Garrett had left the pair in charge that day while he rode to White Oaks to purchase lumber for Billy's gallows.

The young outlaw said afterward that he much regretted the death of Bell, an affable fellow with whom he'd played cards during his brief captivity. But Deputy Olinger was another matter.

Throughout Lincoln County, Bob Olinger had been feared and hated. He was a vicious man who had killed three persons in cold blood. Even his boss, Sheriff Garrett, was afraid of him. When folks asked Garrett why he kept the deputy on, he could only reply that men willing to take the job were scarce.

While Billy was locked in the Courthouse, Olinger had taken special delight in taunting him. He often said he hoped the Kid would try to escape so that he could have the pleasure of putting a bullet in him.

After the break-out, young Susan McSween chanced to meet Olinger's mother and, out of courtesy, expressed sympathy over the death of her son. She was greatly shocked when the old woman replied: "Bob was a murderer from the cradle and if there is a hell, I know he is in it."

Susan was the widow of Alexander McSween, who died in the Lincoln County War. Billy the Kid had been on her husband's side and she came to know him well.

In her judgment, "Billy was not half as bad as his enemies, who were determined to kill him. He was neither a bad man nor a murderer and did not kill wantonly; most of those he shot richly deserved it."

SHERIFF'S REPORT
ERNEST A. SANCHEZ
 SHERIFF OF LINCOLN COUNTY

John Mieggs, San Patricio, reported a burglary at his residence. Several items were missing.

Mary Neill, Ruidoso Downs, reported a runaway vehicle that ran into her car while parked at her residence. Vehicle belonged to Jose Martinez, a next-door neighbor of Mrs. Neill's. Officers were dispatched to investigate the incident. No citations were issued as incident occurred on private property.

Jenny Smith of the Incredible Restaurant reported the theft of five bar mats from the restaurant.

Lucy Servies, Ruidoso, reported a large dog on Pappos Trail with either distemper or rabies.

Jack Wilson, Fox Cave, reported to the sheriff's office a disturbance across from his residence. Officers were dispatched and found a loud party going on.

Gerald Hudson, Racetrack Security, reported a 2-way radio missing-stolen from the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The radio was later located in the possession of other personnel of the race track.

Received a report from a citizen that on her way up to Ancho she found some artistic drawings. Drawings have the name "Peter A. Landrum, Phoenix, Arizona" on them. Anyone who has lost paintings, contact the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept.

Answered a burglar alarm at the race track. False alarm.

Answered a breaking and entering call at Valley View Motel. Nothing was missing.

Incarcerated Nabor Padilla and William Hicks from CSB for security reasons.

In Other's Words
 A news item that caught my attention in a recent issue of the Albuquerque Journal was the one about the insect goodies. Kay Weisberg, zoo director, whipped up a batch of meal worm cookies for residents there. The bug-flavored pastry was to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the Smithsonian Institution's Insect Zoo.

Miss Weisberg said there are 57 varieties of edible bugs loaded with protein and other nutritional ingredients. Such dishes are more popular in certain other countries than in the US. In Peru, movie goers munch toasted ants the way we American gobble popcorn.

Two insect cookbooks have been published in this country — "Entertaining with Insects" and "Butterflies in My Stomach."

Attend Conference

Five Carrizozo High School students, members of Santa Rita Catholic Church, attended the 3rd Annual Youth Conference held at Albuquerque's Convention Center last Saturday.

The all-day conference featured workshops and special guest speakers, including Archbishop Robert Sanchez. Of the various workshops attended by the Carrizozo students, especially enjoyed was the workshop entitled, "Dialogue with the Archbishop."

The Carrizozo group stayed overnight. Next day they toured Uncle Cliff's, an amusement park. The ZoZo students were Stephanie Saucedo, Juan Osorio, David Morales, Marina Baca, and Diana Silva. Their sponsors were Liz Luceras and Julie Portio, who accompanied the local boys and girls.

Back Then

The shelves at Central Package Liquor Store were practically empty last Monday. After 31 years in the work force, Isabel Hernandez, manager, is ready to retire, stay home, keep house, cook and enjoy her three grandchildren.

No stranger to work, Isabel started working at Carrizozo Mercantile Dry Goods in 1945 right after high school graduation. Her boss was Mrs. Stokes, sister of Fred English. Mrs. Stokes was also Isabel's home teacher when she was in school. In 1947 Isabel married Albert, a Hondo resident, and they set up housekeeping there. They moved to Carrizozo in 1950.

Isabel worked for Fred English at Carrizozo Hardware from 1954 through 1972. The last two years she also worked evenings as a cashier at the Four Wines Restaurant. Following employment at Carrizozo Hardware she worked briefly at the Grocery Basket.

She started working at Central Package for Raymond Sanchez in March of 1972. She and Albert purchased the store in 1976 and since then business has been steady.

The Hernandezs' are parents of five grown children, Mannie, Albert Jr., Mary, Yolanda and Ray Gene, who is the only single one. Isabel's husband, a state highway employee, helped her at the store evenings when he came off work. Their children and their wives and husbands have helped at the business after working at their own jobs.

Isabel and Albert are planning a summer vacation.

What I like about these cookbooks, compiled by three different organizations, is that they have recipes by honest-to-goodness women. If I have any questions regarding ingredients, I can call up the person who contributed the recipe. You can't say the same for recipes chosen at random from women's magazines. Unless, of course, they are taste-tested. There are six taste-testers to help me out along these lines.

I have been trying out the recipes contributed by my fellow quilters. Corine Sandoval's sopapillas, Arsenia Narvaez's and Mabel Vigil's flour tortillas are favorites with meals at my place.

The Extension Cookbook has some dandy recipes. This week I will try the Mexican cookery section. This cookbook is available at the Extension Office for $7. With warm weather coming, the after school bunch will love this Extension recipe for popicles:

Mix 1 pkg. Jell-O and 1 cup hot water. Add to Kool-aid fixed ac-ording to directions on package. Pour into molds or glasses and freeze.

Polly's Hints

The cookbooks on sale at the quilt show and in White Oaks also included 31 Post Script food hints which I collected especially for the cookbook.

I have enjoyed sharing my all-around hints with readers. I invite you to drop me a note, call me at home or stop me on the street if you have a hint or hints that I could use in this column. One of my many hobbies is collecting hints. You may know a better, least expensive way to solve a problem.

This week's hints are on gift-giving for birthdays or anniversaries. Some of these hints are appropriate for favorite graduating senior or seniors:

—Treat someone to a cut and hairstyle at the local beauty salon or barber shops.

—Send a subscription to the Lincoln County News.

—Collect pictures of brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and cousins in a scrapbook and give to a favorite relative.

—Type up all the recipes your children loved when they were young and put them in a looseleaf note book. Present to grown up children who are going off to college or trade school.

Quilting bits

After a bit of research I was able to find the name of the pattern of the quilt displayed by Rachelle Fox of Alto at the quilt show. The quilt, Lula Fox's "Botch Handle" is made in two colors. Botch Handle in German is similar to the English "meat tenderizer" and the design, as in most quilts, has been handed down from generation to generation.

The quilt-related door prizes given away at the quilt show held recently were handmade by the Santa Rita quilters, they included ruffled pillows and pin cushions. The winners were Orby

New Horizons qualifies for Olympics

A team from New Horizons Developmental Center spent Saturday in Roswell competing in the regional Special Olympics.

Mamie Williamson, Rita Vargas, Maria Lopez, Shirley Kapus, Betty Marsh, Shirley Fordham and Richard Beltran participated in the softball throw, 50 and 100 meter dashes and 200 meter run. The events were held on the campus of the New Mexico Military Institute. This is the qualifying event prior to the state Special Olympic Games to be held in Albuquerque in June. Each team member qualified and will be eligible for the Albuquerque contests.

Training goes on all year for Special Olympics. This year's training has been on basic exercise, jazzercise and running. Bowling and swimming are planned for next year's events.

Coaches are Fayne Greer and Kitty Jaramillo, staffers at New Horizons.

The team extended thanks to Johnson Stearns, Ruidoso State Bank, Citizens State Bank, the Rotary Club, Bill and Liz MacVeigh for providing funds for uniforms.

Ibex head costs woman $1,000

An Albuquerque woman has been fined $1,000 and must pay $10 court costs for illegally killing a bearded Persian ibex—considered a trophy animal—during a hunt for nontrophy, beardless ibex, according to the Department of Game & Fish.

Dinah Moore, 35, pleaded not guilty before Sierra County Magistrate Totale Williams on April 30. Officer Bruce Mazuranich, who cited Moore on March 31, charged she killed the animal Jan. 31, the second day of the hunt in the Florida Mountains of Southwestern New Mexico.

Bag limit for the hunt was one ibex without a beard. The ibex taken by Moore had a beard four and three-fourths inches long, Mazuranich said.

A beardless ibex is defined by the State Game Commission as a female or an immature male and is considered a nontrophy animal by the commission, which set this season's hunt for nontrophy Persian ibex as a means of controlling the species' population in the Florida Mountains. The hunt was the second for nontrophy ibex since Persian ibex were introduced into the Florida Mountains in December 1970.

Mazuranich, assisted in the investigation by Officer Melaine Daladulewicz, said the citation was a result of a tip that Moore had taken the ibex to an Albuquerque taxidermist for mounting.

The $1,000 fine is set by statute and also applies to illegal killing of elk, bighorn sheep, oryx, Barbary sheep or Siberian ibex, and for illegal trafficking in big game meat or carcasses.

Firemen gets tips

By YVONNE LANELLI
"Firemen are trained to take care of other people, but no one trains them to take care of themselves," began Jimmy Zinn, addressing the May 4 meeting of Bonito Volunteer Fire Dept.

His talk dealt mainly with protecting the fireman from accidental electrocution while extinguishing a house fire, but he also touched on hazards in daily life and how to avoid them.

He showed linemen's glove, specially insulated so a lineman can safely handle "hot" wires, those which carry current. Ordinary leather gloves, he said, are not adequate. He also demonstrated the "hot stick," and 8-foot fiberglass pole used to move "hot" wires.

Fiberglass, he said, is superior to wood, because, even though both materials are good insulators when dry, a fiberglass pole that gets wet can be dried quickly and used safely. A wooden pole, on the other hand, absorbs moisture and may be dangerous for many days while it is drying out. Noting that most equipment on fire trucks and ladders were either wood or aluminum, another conductor of electricity, he recommended fiberglass instead.

He showed samples of service lines and power lines, showing firemen which wires were safe to cut and which ones not to touch.

To illustrate the effects of improper use of electricity, Zinn set up a demonstration board simulating overhead power lines, trees, model equipment, trucks and people. For demonstration purposes, the board was wired with one-third amp, far less than even house current.

"Many people think if you touch only one overhead wire, you're safe," he said, "because they see birds land on wires. But a person standing on the ground holding onto a kite string that touches only one wire has provided the electricity with a second contact point."

Using his model he demonstrated that point, and sparks flew from the model person's hand.

While on the subject of kites,

The building will begin down near the practice track and climb up the hill, thus making only about half of the units rising above the highway level.

McDermott purchased the spacious and elegant hillside home of Briscoe and Myrl West, which overlooks the race track. Myrl was surprised by a visit from Gov. Connally who came to look at the house before word got out of his interest in the Chaparral property.

The high-rise developers

he emphasized that parents should never allow their children to fly a kite with metal-wrapped string or wet string. Again using his model, he touched a shiny red metallic string to one wire and the model person was burnt.

Using cotton or nylon string, the model person was safe. "But look what happens when it rains," he said and dipped the string in water. As he touched the wet string to the wire, sparks flew just as they did for the metallic string.

Using a toy truck, he showed that if a power line falls across a vehicle, the person inside is safe, insulated by the rubber tires. "But if that person steps out of the truck, one foot provides the second contact point and..." He did that with the model and sparks flew.

Using a tree limb as a model tree, he touched one of the "overhead" wires, causing sparks. "This is why we have easements near power lines," he said.

"Should a tree be blown into a power line, the current would then travel through the tree via the sap down to the ground, causing sparks and possibly a forest fire."

Following his talk, questions from the firemen touched on the necessity for firemen knowing CPR, on the importance of calling a lineman to shut off power to a house on fire, and on what types of tools firemen should carry.

At the business meeting immediately following, Rowland Tessier, Chuck Brown and D.A. Kincaid were voted in as members.

Steve Hezmall volunteered to head a committee to devise specifications for the "fast out" vehicle to be bought by the department. Serving with him are Bob Finley, Howard Puckett, Mark Muholland, Don Rash and C.R. Patterson.

Next meeting of BVFD will be Tuesday, June 1. Because that is the date for the primary election and the fire station will be used as a polling place, the meeting will be held at La Junta Guest Ranch.

For further information, call the Ranch at 336-4961 or Chief Howard Puckett at 336-4518.

have promised the village a ladder fire truck, as well as the use of water from the building's two swimming pools in case of fire. Mayor Day and the trustees are hoping to somehow solve the village's water tank shortage.

Others investing in the Downs are partners Sid Alford of Ruidoso and Richard Fox of Albany, TX. They plan an 18-acre amusement park at the old drive-in theatre site across from the race track. It is to be a Six Flags type park, with a one-price entry fee.

Some of the already existing businesses in the village have made improvements. The Price's Dairy building has been enlarged and beautified, "it is now called 'Ruidoso Wholesale Foods, Inc.'" Black's Feed & Supplies has a new building near the original store. Even the Flea Market has expanded.

New businesses are: A.V.C. Excavating; Arrowhead Roofing Contractors; and Willy's Restaurant has opened in the existing building at American Motel. The village's only laundry and car wash is now being installed at the old post office building.

A start is being made toward removing the abandoned buildings, some of which are too close to the widened highway. One of these old buildings is now in the process of being torn down.

The new Ruidoso Christian School, housed at Ruidoso Downs' First Baptist Church on US 70, is finishing a successful first year. It has an enrollment of almost 80, with eight teachers.

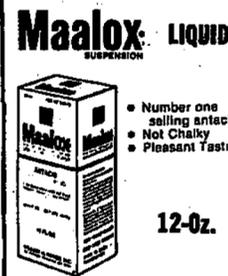

And, of course, the race track's multi-million dollar improvement should attract more fans to the area this season. Improvements have been made in all areas, including the grandstand, betting facilities, horse housing, and a new entrance sign.

The women of Ruidoso Downs and the joining unincorporated Agua Fria area have formed an auxiliary to improve the village. Myrl West is president. They have supervised the cleaning of the park, after which they gave the youngsters who helped a weimer roast. They also painted the police station's interior and installed a new carpet. To raise funds for the projects, the women have already given a bake sale and are planning a rummage sale on May 7-8 across from the post office. They meet the first Monday of each month.

The Downs is moving up.

El Paso man buys a lot of high-priced trout

A tip to Operation Game Thief resulted in fines and civil assessments in excess of $300 for an El Paso man fishing at Lake Roberts, May 3.

Joseph Immediato, 43, was cited by Game & Fish Officer Steve Harvill for exceeding the possession limit on rainbow trout, when Harvill found 97 trout in Immediato's vehicle—49 more than the possession limit allowed for Immediato and his three juvenile fishing companions.

Immediato appeared Monday before Grant County Magistrate John School, Silver City, who fined him $235, plus $10 court costs. In addition, Immediato paid $2 in civil damages for each trout over the possession limit.

Possession limit for the four anglers was 48: 16 for Immediato and his licensed juvenile companion; eight for each of the two unlicensed anglers under 12 years of age. (Possession limit for unlicensed fishermen under 12 years of age is one-half the limit permitted licensed anglers.)

The OGT caller earned $100 for the information which led to Immediato's citation.

Operation Game Thief pays $100 for information which leads to arrest or citation of persons violating game bird and fish or endangered species laws, $250 for information on big game violations. A toll-free number, 1-800-432-4263, is printed on all fishing and hunting licenses. Callers remain anonymous and are not asked to testify in court.

Laryngectomees, families to meet in Alamogordo

There will be a meeting for laryngectomees and their families in the Alamogordo, Tularosa, Ruidoso and Carrizozo areas to be held Saturday, May 15, 9 a.m., in the library of the Education Building on the campus of the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped at Alamogordo.

The address for the school is 1900 White Sands Boulevard.

A laryngectomee is a person who has had the larynx (voice box) surgically removed due, usually, to disease. The patient must then acquire a new means of communication.

The objective is to reach these people and aid them in their rehabilitation process. The New Mexico Lost Chord Club is sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

There will be two members of The New Mexico Lost Chord Club in Albuquerque present to discuss the aims, purpose and support which may be given to rehabilitate the laryngectomee. There is a need to establish a satellite group in this area as well as other areas throughout the state.

All laryngectomees and their families are invited to attend the May 15 meeting.

BEAUTY SALON

Rita & Patty will both be in the shop Tuesday, May 25th for graduation.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners shall hold a public hearing at 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, June 8, 1982, in the Commissioners Meeting Room, County Court House, Carrizozo, New Mexico, to consider the following:

PROPOSED ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH MEASURES TO BE REQUIRED WITHIN ZONE A OF THE FLOOD HAZARD BOUNDARY MAY ISSUED BY THE FEDERAL INSURANCE ADMINISTRATION FOR LINCOLN COUNTY

WHEREAS, the COUNTY OF LINCOLN wishes to establish eligibility in the National Flood Insurance Program and in order to do so must meet the requirements of 1910. 3(b) of the Federal Insurance Administration regulations.

NOW, THEREFORE, the following measures shall be required within Zone A of the Flood Hazard Boundary Map issued by the Federal Insurance Administration for this community.

SECTION 1. PERMIT REQUIREMENTS: No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, repair, improve, move or demolish any building or structure without first obtaining a separate permit for each building or structure from the designated responsible person.

No man-made change to improved or unimproved real estate, including but not limited to buildings or other structures, mining, dredging, filling, grading, paving, excavation or drilling operations, shall be commenced until a separate permit has been obtained from the designated responsible person for each change.

No mobile home shall be placed on improved or unimproved real estate without first obtaining a separate permit for each mobile home from the designated responsible person.

SECTION 2. APPLICATION: To obtain a permit, the applicant shall first file a permit application on a form furnished for that purpose. The form must be completed and submitted to the designated responsible person before the issuance of a permit WILL BE CONSIDERED.

SECTION 3. REVIEW OF APPLICATIONS: The LINCOLN COUNTY MANAGER, hereinafter referred to as the responsible person, is appointed as the "person" responsible for receiving applications and examining the plans and specifications for the proposed construction or development.

After reviewing the application, the responsible person shall require any additional measures which are necessary to meet the minimum requirements of this document.

SECTION 4. The responsible person shall review proposed development to assure that all necessary permits have been received from those governmental agencies from which approval is required by Federal or State law, including Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, 33 U.S.C. 1334.

SECTION 5. The responsible person shall review all permit applications to determine whether proposed building sites will be reasonably safe from flooding. If a proposed building site is in a flood prone area, all new construction and substantial improvements (including the placement of prefabricated buildings and mobile homes) shall: (i) be designed (or modified) and adequately anchored to prevent flotation, collapse, or lateral movement of the structure, (ii) be constructed with materials and utility equipment resistant to flood damage and (iii) be constructed by methods and practices that minimize flood damage;

SECTION 6. The responsible person shall review subdivision proposals and other proposed new development to determine whether such proposals will be reasonable safe from flooding. If a subdivision proposal or other proposed new development is in flood-prone areas, any such proposals shall be reviewed to assure that (i) all such proposals are consistent with the need to minimize flood damage within the flood prone area, (ii) all public utilities and facilities, such as sewer, gas, electrical, and water systems are located and constructed to minimize or eliminate flood damage, and (iii) adequate drainage is provided to reduce exposure to flood hazards;

SECTION 7. The responsible person shall require within flood prone areas new and replacement water supply systems to be designed to minimize or eliminate infiltration of flood waters into the systems; and

SECTION 8. The responsible person shall require within flood prone areas (i) new and replacement sanitary sewage systems to be designed to minimize or eliminate infiltration of flood waters into the systems and discharges from the systems into flood waters and (ii) on-site waste disposal systems to be located to avoid impairment to them or contamination from them during flooding.

SECTION 9. The responsible person shall require that all subdivision proposals and other proposed new developments greater than 50 lots or 5 acres, whichever is the lesser, include within such proposals base flood elevation data;

SECTION 10. The responsible person shall obtain, and reasonably utilize any base flood elevation data available from a Federal, State, or other source, until such other data has been provided by the Administrator, as criteria for requiring that (i) all new construction and substantial improvements of residential structures have the lowest floor (including basement) elevated to or above the base flood level and (ii) all new construction and substantial improvements of nonresidential structures have the lowest floor (including basement) elevated or floodproofed to or above the base flood level;

SECTION 11. For the purpose of the determination of applicable flood insurance risk premium rates within Zone A on a community's FHEM, the responsible person shall (i) obtain, or require the applicant to furnish, the elevation (in relation to mean sea level) of the lowest habitable floor (including basement) of all new or substantially improved structures, and whether or not such structures contain a basement, (ii) obtain, or require the applicant to furnish, if the structure has been floodproofed, the elevation (in relation to mean sea level) to which the structure was floodproofed, and (iii) maintain a record of all such information.

SECTION 12. The responsible person shall notify, in riverine situations, adjacent communities and the State Coordinating Office prior to any alteration or relocation of a watercourse, and submit copies of such notifications to the Federal Insurance Administration;

SECTION 13. The responsible person shall assure that the flood carrying capacity within the altered or relocated portion of any watercourse is maintained;

SECTION 14. The responsible person shall require that all mobile homes to be placed within Zone A on the community's Flood Hazard Boundary Map shall be anchored to resist flotation, collapse, or lateral movement by providing over-the-top and frame ties to ground anchors. Specific requirements shall be that (i) over-the-top ties be provided at each of the four corners of the mobile home, with two additional ties per side at intermediate locations and mobile homes less than 50 feet long requiring one additional tie per side; (ii) frame ties be provided at each corner of the home with five additional ties per side at intermediate points and mobile homes less than 50 feet long requiring four additional ties per side; (iii) all components of the anchoring system be capable of carrying a force of 4,800 pounds; and (iv) any additions to the mobile home be similarly anchored;

SECTION 15. The Flood Hazard Boundary Map issued by the Federal Insurance Administration for this community, dated March 28, 1978 with Panel Numbers 3501220001-0046, and any officially published revisions to this map, is adopted as the official map for the enforcement of this document. Zone A on this map delineates the area within which the requirements of this document will be enforced.
