Graduation day

Sheriff is Capitan speaker

By P. E. CHAVEZ

Commencement speaker Tom Sullivan, sheriff of Lincoln County, told the Capitan graduating class to set goals, point their lives in those directions and "go for it!"

"Everything that marks an end, also marks a beginning," said Sullivan. "The end of one day is the commencement of another. The end of one task, is the beginning of a new one. The tree blossoms, bears new fruit, sheds its foliage and immediately begins preparation for another crop. So it is with our education. What we have learned at school, valuable as it is, is only a beginning. The end of our school work merely means the commencement of those experiences which will put to the test the principles we have learned."

Sullivan, who has an extensive background in law enforcement, said at the combined baccalaureate-commencement ceremony that the May 12 event had different meanings for each graduate. "To some it is the commencement of higher educational works, to others it is the beginning of business life or home careers."

"To those who are going to higher schools, have a purpose. Do not go merely because a friend will be there, or for the social enjoyment it will afford. You will find plenty of both without seeking them. Select a goal and work toward it with earnestness. Know what you want and shape your course of study toward that end."

Honor graduate Robert Parker, Capitan's top ranking senior, said in his address that President Reagan's Committee on Excellence in Education is far behind other industrial countries. The committee suggested tightening the course requirements for high school graduation and college entrance.

Parker said that what the committee didn't report on was the practical education received. "We learn much more in school than English, history, science and math. We learn things that are perhaps more important, things that can't be written in any text book." Continued Parker. "We have learned to work hard for the things that we want. We have learned to fight for the things we think are right and to try to change those things that we think are wrong. We have learned the value of true friendships and the satisfaction of helping another person accomplish a goal. We have learned to be thankful for all of the good things that have happened to us and for all of the people who have helped us." Parker expressed appreciation to teachers, parents and the community for lessons in truth and honesty.

He concluded, "One of the things that has made our education at Capitan so valuable is the fact that our teachers have also become our friends. Teaching has been more than a job to them, and they have really been concerned about us. As long as Capitan High School has the quality teachers it has now, there is no problem with our educational system."

Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parker, was presented with a medallion by Mr. James Askew on behalf of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce in recognition of Parker's high scholastic achievement. Parker was also the recipient of the following awards: a $100 scholarship from the National Honor Society, a four year full tuition scholarship to New Mexico State University, the UNM Achievement Award in math and science, the $1,000 per year UNM Presidential Scholarship, a scholarship package of $8,000 a year renewable for four years to Grinnell College in Grinnell, IA and a scholarship package of $10,376 a year for four years to Pepperdine University in Malibu, CA, where he will enter the pre-med program.

Capitan's other honor graduate, David Beavers, who welcomed the audience on behalf of the class of '83, said that graduation is "the culmination of a course of study we began twelve years ago." Beavers like Parker, voiced his appreciation to parents, teachers and the community "for the love you have given us, and for an education which has prepared us for the future."

Beavers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beavers, plans to study engineering at Grinnell College. He was selected for early admission to Grinnell and was awarded an $8,000 per year scholarship package which is renewable for four years. Beavers also received a $100 scholarship from the National Honor Society.

Ceremonies for the thirty graduating seniors (fourteen of them in the National Honor Society) opened with a procession by Capitan High School Band under the direction of Churchill Cooke. Harry Riser, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church in Capitan and Carrizozo, gave the baccalaureate address with Supt. Ira D. Lee introducing the speakers.

Glen W. Crane, principal and Jo Gruetzmacher, counselor, introduced the class of 1983. Diplomas were presented by Mark Delgado, board of education president, James McDaniel, member and Pat L. Huey and Claudio Montoya, former members.

The following seniors were among those receiving special awards and scholarships: Ron McDaniel was awarded a $600 per year scholarship to the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology and was the recipient of a $400 per year NMSU Brian Pebrick Scholarship. Gloria Zamora received a $200 scholarship from the Capitan Teachers Assn. Patti Huey was awarded a $125 scholarship by Ruidoso State Bank in Capitan. Grady Le Eldridge received a full rodeo scholarship to Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. Jon Todd Aguilar received a $200 scholarship from the Capitan Teachers Assn., was recently selected as a national award winner of history and government by the US Achievement Academy, and was awarded an academic scholarship of $500 per year for four years by UNM.

Paul Sullivan received the Marvin Jones Dean's scholarship from Texas Tech University, and was named to receive a NMSU scholarship of $400 per year and the Bearden Fletcher scholarship of $550 per year. Teri Womack was awarded a medallion by the Capitan Chamber of Commerce for highest ranking female student, a cash award from Citizens State Bank of Carrizozo, received an academic grant of $200 to Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, and a $100 scholarship from the Capitan Extension Club to be used at Eastern New Mexico University, where she will enroll as an Agricultural Business major.

David Keller received a $200 scholarship from the Capitan Student Council and UNM's High School Achievement Award for citizenship, plus the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science award and academic grants of $200 to Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

Jerry Mark Lobb was presented a $100 scholarship by Fr. Dave Berger on behalf of the Sacred Heart Catholic Parish, and a $150 scholarship from Capitan High School Student Council. He plans to enter a pre-law program at the University of Tulsa in Tulsa, OK, where he has been awarded a scholarship package of $7,025 per year.

Help to save the pool

The local Volunteer Fire Department indicated Monday that it will assume the leadership in organizing a fundraising campaign to keep the local swimming pool open this summer. Concerned about the possible loss of recreational opportunities for young people this summer, Chief Albert Najjar and others have planned a community-wide enchilada supper to be held at the school cafeteria on Friday, May 27, 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Proceeds and other donations will go toward the purchase of a pool cover. Prices of $3 for adults and $2 for children under age 12 have been set. Donations of food supplies or cash will be accepted. Other organizations indicating a willingness to assist in the project include the Carrizozo Schools, the Carrizozo FFA, the Carrizozo FHA, and the Santa Rita Knights of Columbus. Since the City of Carrizozo has not provided funds for this project, the participation of everyone in the community will be necessary in order to raise the almost $3,000 needed to open the pool.

An evening of music

On Friday 13th the community of Carrizozo was treated to an evening of musical entertainment. The program was presented by the kindergarten, 3rd grades, 4th grade tonettes, 5th grade beginning band, and the Carrizozo Grizzly Band.

The evening performance began with the K-3 singing three selections in a combined choir, after which each of the four classes presented special selections of their own.

Next on the program was the 4th grade tonette band who presented four selections: Twinkle-Twinkle Little Star. After the tonettes portion of the program was completed, the newly organized C Band played four well done selections.

The Grizzly Concert Band was next on the program and performed two selections with students from the band performing individual solos.

Those performing solos were: Leah Patterson, flute; Bryan Cantrell, trombone; Amy Means, piano; Theresa Guevara, clarinet; Marcella Sandoval, clarinet; Judy Vega, alto saxophone; and the clarinet too, Jamie Patterson, Marcella Sandoval, and Theresa Guevara. After the evening's performance Mr. Harris, the Band Director and teacher, presented awards, trophies, and certificates to the students.

The outstanding 6th grade trophy went to Leah Patterson, 7th grade trophy to Marcella Sandoval, and 8th grade trophy to Bryan Cantrell. The outstanding student award, The John Phillip Sousa award went to Amy Means.

At the conclusion of the awards the Band students presented a plate with all the names of all the band students and a pen & desk set with a musical note on it to Mr. Harris for his work with the Band Program. The music department would like to express thanks for the community's support given to the band and music department the past year.

ATTEND CORONA OPENHOUSE

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Hymen of Estancia were weekend visitors in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dale Goad. Dr. Hymen is a dentist. The Goad's son, Briton, is in Abilene, TX visiting with his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Ken Williams.

The Hymens accompanied the Goads to Corona to attend the Health Clinic openhouse. A luncheon, raffle and an auction were part of the festivities at the former American Legion building. Remodeling was done through the efforts of Corona area residents who donated their time and money.

The clinic includes dental and medical facilities. The dental department is open once a month and the medical staff is available every Tuesday of the month.

SPRUCE UP CEMETERY

On May 15 Carrizozo Knights of Columbus (Sabino Vidaurri Council) and other male members of Santa Rita Catholic Church dug holes, mixed cement and lined up 60 posts at the church's cemetery. Our Lady of Guadalupe cemetery will have a new look when 600 feet of fence, a drive-in gate and a walk-in gate are installed. The school's vo-ag department will redo the main entrance into an arch. And yes—the "a" will be removed, and the proper letter replaced to spell "cemetery" correctly.

Among those doing their share were Chevo Baca, Paul Ortiz, Nat Chavez, Arthur Zamora, Paul Guevara, Choncho Morales, Nat Palomarez, Pat Jiron, Freddie Padilla, Doug Whittaker, Elias Otero, Nick Vega, and Stanley Benson. Lending a helping hand were Fr. Dave Bergs, Markie Guevara, Peter Morales, Gabriel Chavez and George Serna, who did the blade work. Wives of the men served the workers a delicious rib-sticking turkey dinner at the parish hall.

GOLF TOURNEY WINNERS

Ken Means of Carrizozo and his five-member team placed first at a golf tournament sponsored by the Dunes Hotel and Country Club in Las Vegas, NV. Howard Hassel of Ruidoso and his team came in second.

Ken and his wife, Vickie, were in Vegas May 4 through 8 to attend the event, staying at the 1200 room Dunes Hotel which features an 18-hole 7240-yard championship golf course, the longest in Las Vegas. In September the Dunes will be the setting for the $1,052,000 PGA Pro Celebrity Golf Tournament.

While staying at the Dunes Ken and Vickie observed boxing champs during workouts for the world's first live heavyweight championship doubleheader to be held May 20 direct from the Dunes.

Among the autographs that the Means couple obtained for their three boxing fan sons back home were from Michael Weaver, Dave Bey, Aaron Pryor, Michael Dokes, and Tim Witherspoon. (Larry Holmes, "Terrible Tim" Witherspoon, Michael "Dynamite" Dokes and Mike "Hercules" Weaver will head the featured bouts at the May 20 event on closed circuit TV.)

Another autograph that made its way to Carrizozo was that of Don King, boxing promoter. King, who displays tinges of gray on his 'outstanding' hairstyle, is called the world's greatest promoter. The super salesman has made many fighters millionaires.

DAR MEETS

Sierra Blanca Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the home of Marion Spencer at the Bar W Ranch May 12 for the monthly meeting. Following a delightful luncheon, Chapter Regent Juanita Bush presided over the meeting. Carrizozo first and third graders and the kindergarten class participated in field trips to the Omni Space Theatre in Alamogordo where they viewed a film, 'To Fly.' The third graders stopped at Alamogordo's zoo for lunch before returning home.

JOT IT DOWN

Mark your calendar now for what may be the largest enchilada eating event in Carrizozo's history. The Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Dept. is spearheading the fundraiser on May 27 to help the schools open the swimming pool and keep it active this summer.

In cooperation with the Fire Dept. and the schools, other organizations that will pitch in with the enchilada project will be the Knights of Columbus, the FFA and the FFA-HERO chapters.

Can you imagine your water bill if the kids had to spend the summer on the lawn cooling down with the sprinkler?

LAST LAUGH

You can't win. Take your billfold. There's an income tax on what goes in it and a sales tax on what comes out of it.

Names and Places!

—Around New Mexico we have many colorful and historic names for our towns and the country in-between them. Pictured here is Mr. L.H. Claunch, who passed away a number of years ago, but after whom the town of Claunch was named. He moved his cattle and ranch equipment from a ranch near Marfa, Presidio County, Texas to a ranch north of Claunch, now owned by Von Cain. Ranching was some different in those days, but agriculture is still our nation's No. 1 industry.

—Next week we will be observing Memorial Day and many of our friends and relatives will be returning to this area for this time of tribute. Evelyn Claunch Greer of Tulsa, Oklahoma will be among those folks visiting and the gentleman pictured at right is her grandfather.

In the dual banking system there are national banks and state banks and a variety of names have been chosen for these financial institutions. Our's is Citizens State Bank and you will find other banks with this same name in other places although in no way associated with this one. We think this is a good choice for a name and we try to the best of our ability to serve the citizens of our area with the best service possible.

If you have a question concerning your account please come by and we will help. If you wish to make an investment or talk about money for adding to your inventory, please pay us a call - maybe we can help. Our citizens and customers are our main interest.

OLD LINCOLN TOWN

By JERRY LOCKE

The Lincoln Historical Review Board held a special meeting on May 11. Several matters were acted upon, but the most interesting concerned the proposed Sally Black home. This residence will be the first major structure to be built in Lincoln since the construction of the Visitor's Center by the Heritage Trust. It put forth questions concerning solar energy applications, historical and architecture styles, and other very strongly felt matters. Jim French's plans were approved and Lincoln is looking forward to seeing construction begin.

By the way, 25 counties and many more cities in the United States are named Lincoln.

Don't forget the Trash to Treasure Mart and the Pageant Corporation meeting. Both are on Sunday, May 29.

While browsing thru a list of railroad terms, came across two which might be of interest. Speed was not a drug but was a ball of fire, half the jack, but the stackoff her, beat her on the back, roll 'em, walk the dog and widen on her. If you have been drunk you have also been boiled, canned, frazzled, fried, oiled, ossified, pifflicated, pie-eyed, snozzled and stewed. Been all of these except pifflicated, and may have even been that. Just don't remember.

Letters to the Editor

Newcomer speaks up

EDITOR—I've read with great interest the dust raised over the UDAG loan for a motel. Also, "Spencer Makes His Case," in Letters to the Editor, Lincoln County News, May 13.

As a newcomer to New Mexico and Carrizozo I think the town very much needs a good motel. The fact the Crossroads is unavailable to travelers seems not to bother "Absentee Owner Spencer" one bit.

I'm sure it would be best if travelers ventured on to other cities rather than stop in Carrizozo. The Four Winds Cafe is an attractive business and I'd rather guess they'd give a motel the same treatment.

Not having found housing the need arose to wash some clothes. Thus, I was directed to the Spencer-owned Carrizozo Laundry. What a pig sty! Out of 20 spaces for machines there were but 17, and only about half of these were working.

A look at the Carrizozo Laundry is a view into what is wrong with the American economy...the profits have been skimmed off and nothing put back, little or no maintenance. Disgusting.

WILLIAM C. BOLTON, Carrizozo.

'Liberal' statistics

EDITOR—According to The Review of the News, Capitol Hill sources report that some months ago in preparation for the Nuclear Weapons Freeze debate, "liberal" Congressmen asked the Library of Congress for a report on the number of American and Soviet warheads.

They believed the US was far ahead. When the Library of Congress documented 6,990 US nuclear warheads to 8,066 for the Soviets, the "liberals" ordered the Library not to release the report.

These "liberals" pushing the freeze in Congress are now relying on phony warhead estimates prepared by such pro-Communist research groups as the Stockholm Peace Research Institute.

Drug war

EDITOR—Carrizozo Lions have joined International Lions President Everett J. Grindstaff's program, together with other local interested individuals, to be leaders on war on drugs. In their regular meeting, it was decided that they will have an exhibit on the harmful effects of marijuana and other drugs and displaying them in various places in the community.

The key to fighting drug abuse in our homes, schools and country lies within us, as interested citizens and parents who dare to challenge the drug culture. By uniting as individuals who are committed to removing the spectre of drugs from our everyday lives, we can do an incredible amount of good.

WHILE YOU are seeking the answers, perhaps your attention can be focused on the lessons of history. Man changes many things but he seldom changes his nature. It is the nature of man to fight and kill, to be understanding. It is his nature to be greedy and to steal what he cannot rightfully or legally acquire, so be patient. It is man's nature to dominate his kind and hold dominion over everything, including the animals, so don't panic when he reverts to his natural condition.

WHEN THESE ceremonies are concluded I hope you will have the simple decency to cross over to the Bleachers and thank your parents and grandparents for all the sacrifices they have endured to make good men and women of you. They did it with the sweat of their brows and by sacrificing their pleasures and conveniences that you might live better lives than they did. While they don't demand or even expect such expressions of gratitude, they do expect you to carry on in the way they did so that your children will have more freedom and better opportunities than even you have.

New Mexico in Washington

Lujan, Richardson vote for the nuclear freeze

WASHINGTON—Two of New Mexico's Congressmen, Manuel Lujan and Bill Richardson, have voted in favor of a so-called nuclear freeze resolution that has to be one of the leading absurdities in the legislative history of the world.

Republican Joe Skeen voted against this measure, along with 148 others. But 278 members of the House voted in favor of this monstrous two-month mutant, which contains, among the other wondrous things, the following provisions: "Nothing in this resolution shall be construed by US negotiators to mandate any agreement that would jeopardize our ability to preserve freedom."

If these three provisions do not sufficiently demonstrate the essential Swiss cheesiness of this resolution, there is also the following Congressional monument: Any item both sides do not agree to freeze would not be frozen.

This says Rep. Elliott Levitas (D., Ga.), implicitly allows for modernization of weapons. He contends that the major victory of the opponents of the original resolution is his amendment, which ties the freeze to arms reduction. "The beauty of my amendment," he contends, "is in the eye of the beholder."

Beholders of this weird and heavily amended resolution can also note a provision that until "the final instrument embodying the objectives" of the resolution is ratified by both the US and the USSR, modernization and deployment of weapons is still allowed. Yet it is not entirely clear just what this "final instrument" is.

The ultimate proof of the essential absurdity of this legislative morass is the fact that both sides are claiming victory, the Democratic leadership as well as House Minority Leader Robert Michel (R., Ill.).

Pro-freeze members of the Senate, Republican Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Massachusetts Democrat Edward Kennedy, have therefore called upon President Reagan to support what Michel calls a victory. But there are reportedly a number of Republican Senators who oppose even so extensively amended a measure as this freeze resolution.

While Hatfield and Kennedy are hoping for floor action prior to the July 4 recess, there may be enough GOP opposition to be able to consign this resolution to a committee whose chairman will willingly see that it is buried.

Already the wags of Washington are referring to this strange measure as "The Freezing Thaw."

Inside Religion

Catholic bishops disagree on anti-nuke proclamation

It may be that the nation's Catholic bishops have forgotten the venerable aphorism: "The world's greatest optimist is the person who asks a clergyman to say a few words."

In their pastoral letter on war and peace (which is not quite as long as Count Tolstoy's novel of the same name), the bishops have supported the nuclear freeze in a mind-boggling 45,000 words.

The sheer size of this homiletical encyclopedia was noted carefully by President Reagan, who mentioned this awesome wordcount, as well as their strenuous debate of whether to use the word "curb" or "halt," regarding the testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons.

This huge document calls upon both the Soviet Union and the United States to halt such nuclear activities. Tass News Agency saluted the bishops — no doubt with the same tongue in cheek as in the Kremlin's military directorate, which has no track record at all regarding ever having been influenced by any bishops, Russian Orthodox or whatever. Hence the US Catholic bishops' position on nuclear weapons is likely to have even less effect upon the Soviet government than the US bishops position on contraception has had on the average US Catholic layman.

Among the nation's Catholic laity who strongly disagree with their bishops are National Security Councilor William Clark, who wrote the bishops a long letter of dissent. But the clever anti-nuclear advisor in the US Conference of Catholic Bishops, the Rev. Bryan Hehir, neatly parlayed this into a suggestion of government pressure rather than the dissent felt by many Catholic laity.

Another Catholic laity who dissented was Secretary of the Navy John Lehman, who at one point in the long campaign of three drafts, numerous news conferences and innumerable leaks, declared bristly that the Church's bishops are "all wet" on this subject. During an interview with this writer, Secretary Lehman said that to the best of his knowledge, the bishops had never consulted him or any other Catholic layman with any real technical knowledge of the issue. Before the final draft was debated and approved, Lehman predicted that the final document would be very, very long and open to a wide variety of interpretations.

Lehman was right on target. For almost immediately after the almost unanimous passage of this 45,000-word, 150-page "Pastoral Letter" (Textbook), the prelates were disagreeing as to what it means.

In San Francisco, Archbishop John Quinn, past president of the US Conference of Catholic Bishops, announced that the letter means that from now on, no Catholic military officers should obey their commanding officer's order to detonate any nuclear weapon.

This archepiscopal counsel to mutiny was promptly denied by Philadelphia's John Cardinal Krol, also a former president of the US Conference of Catholic Bishops, who said that the letter certainly doesn't go that far and that it is essentially a teaching document.

Such an immediate disagreement brings to mind the issue of the Papal Encyclical, Humane Vitae, in which Pope Paul VI disapproved his own birth control commission's report and came out strongly against contraception.

In Washington, DC, conservative Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle reacted to parish priests who dared to disagree with the encyclical (as did some 800 Catholic theologians) by ordering them kicked out of their rectories and suspended in the neighboring Archdiocese of Baltimore, such dissent by priests produced no such treatment. So the solution, said some observers, was to work in Washington and commute to a home (and bedroom) in Baltimore.

Since the Pastoral Text Book on War and Peace is liable to have little more effect upon Catholic servicemen than the Vatican's position on contraception, there seems to be no need for any Catholic servicemen stationed in the San Francisco area to apply for a transfer to another archdiocese such as Cardinal Krol's Philadelphia. And if President Reagan had not gotten his administration involved in the contraceptive "squel rule" controversy, he might have been able to react (rather than overreact) to the bishop's pastoral by saying that he fully respects the right of the bishops to take whatever position they choose on any subject, whether nuclear disarmament or anti-contraception.

Memorial

(The following says what I would have said to any 1983 graduating class, had I been invited to deliver a commencement address, which I have not.)

MEMBERS of the graduation class: That your parents are proud of you for reaching this milestone in life is indicated by the large number of them present for these ceremonies. I am not going to bolster your egos by reminding you that the future of mankind lies in your hands, for it probably does not. Neither am I going to elaborate upon how successful you may become in the life ahead.

THE PARENTS and grandparents who are here to witness your graduation are among the more remarkable people on earth. Most of them never had a chance to spend four years in high school and four years in college to further an education. By the time they were your age they had already chosen the life they would pursue.

ALONG THE way to providing educational facilities for those who followed them, they increased your life expectancy by about 50 percent. Where they were worn out and dead at 50, you may now expect to live until age 75. They made this a healthier world for you by eliminating the fear of epidemics such as influenza, diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, mumps, plague, polio and other dread diseases.

THE PARENTS and grandparents here to wish you well have within the last five decades cut your working hours to 35 and 40 hours, leaving time for recreation, furthering education, and added time with loved ones. Working conditions are such, thanks to them, that you work in well-lighted, well-heated, air-cooled surroundings for wages and salaries guaranteed to promote the good life.

TO INSURE that none of the benefits they provided for you were jeopardized by this nation's enemies, they fought some of the most grisly wars the world has ever known. They fought those wars with the same fierce intensity with which they attacked institutions that would deny you a chance to have a better life than they did.

THE PEOPLE in the bleachers lived through one or more of the greatest depressions in history. They know what it means to be poor, hungry and cold. They skipped a lot of meals. They seldom knew when the next one was coming. They worked, many of them, at hard chores for a bed and a bite. So that you would never know these things they determined that you would have nutritious food to eat, warm houses, recreational opportunities, decent clothing, affordable medical care, and greater opportunities to succeed than they had.

THOSE MOST responsible for your presence here have also conquered every physical frontier and are probing the outer limits of space. In doing so, they have not forgotten to heat some of the scars they imposed upon the earth by fighting pollution and preserving a healthy environment for all mankind. Conservation practices have revolutionized factories, natural resources, agriculture; and land has been set aside for you and your children to enjoy for generations to come.

PERHAPS this graduating class, with proper appreciation for the outstanding accomplishments of their parents and grandparents, will find ways to curb greed, tame the lust for power, make people responsible for their own destinies, and find a way to settle arguments off the battlefield.

Bit of science on trip

On Tuesday, May 10th several students enrolled in an enrichment program in the Carrizozo schools went on a field trip to the V.L.A. site located 52 miles west of Socorro. The V.L.A. site is basically a radio telescope observatory, and is used to conduct different types of experiments by scientists from all over the world. There are 25 radio telescopes arranged in a "Y" which covers most of the San Augustin Plains. The telescopes are positioned on a series of railroad tracks that spans a total of 42 miles. Each telescope is supported by four concrete piers and is 94 feet tall. It is possible to change the distance between the telescopes by transporting them on specially built railroad carriers designed for that purpose. The distance between the telescopes determines the clarity of the "picture" taken by the telescope.

While at the site, the students were able to tour the facilities available to the visiting scientists. Included in the tour were the computer room, control room, and the electronics room. Because of tight security, the students were unable to enter the actual rooms, but they could view the equipment through windows provided for tourists.

Students included in the tour were Keith Greer, James Silva, Freddy Vega, Geneva Maxwell, Cheryl Hightower, and Renee Roper. Sponsors for the trip were Mr. Orsak, who is the special education teacher, and Mrs. Barbie Roper.

Program curriculum will consist of topics on "Orthopedic Injuries," "Alcohol and Drug Abuse" and "Abdominal Trauma." National and State

Registry Continuing Education credits may be obtained upon participation. CEARPS points have been applied for.

NOTICE OF MEETING

There will be a public meeting at 7 P.M. on Monday, May 23, 1983, at the County Commissioners Room, Courthouse, concerning a proposed Mini-Steel Mill to be located in or near Carrizozo.

Specifically, Zia Steel Corporation will request the Carrizozo Town Council to adopt a resolution expressing an interest in this project for our area. If the resolution is adopted, then Zia Steel would come back later and ask the Town of Carrizozo to pass an ordinance authorizing the issuance and sale of a $10 Million Industrial Bond to help finance this project.

At this meeting there will be present, among others, Brian McCabe, one of the leading bond attorneys in New Mexico; Sam Fall, a consulting mining engineer, formerly of Kennecott and Anaconda; Dr. Clay Smith, chairman of Geo-Science Department of the School of Mines in Socorro; Norman Bishop, the plant superintendent of the mill being purchased when this mill was being operated in Arizona; Bill Sherwood, president of Sherwood Engineering, Vancouver, Canada; Lloyd Antonides, representative of LURGI, the German manufacturer of this mill; Carlos Villachica, president of Sparton International; and a representative of the bank which has indicated that it is willing to purchase the bonds.

These people will be here to explain the feasibility of the project, explain that there can be no risk to the Town or any of our residents concerning the bonds, and in general, to answer any questions that you or the members of the Town Council might have.

This may very well be the most important public meeting to ever occur in our town. Everyone is urged to come and be heard.

Range inventory plan explained

The Carlsbad area office of the Bureau of Land Management will hold meetings in Hope and Carlsbad to explain range inventory techniques it will use to prepare a resource management plan for public lands in southwest Chaves andddy counties west of the Pecos River.

The meetings in Hope will be at the Hope fire station at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, May 17, 1983, and the Carlsbad meeting will be at the Rodeway Inn at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, May 19, 1983.

BLM range specialist Jim McCormick will show and explain the field methods to be used in gathering vegetative data. "We are beginning a detailed, long-term study of BLM grazing lands west of the Pecos River," said Ben Koski, Area Manager for the BLM in Carlsbad. "The first step will be to conduct a vegetative inventory on grazing allotments, to determine their overall condition."

The information from these inventories will be used to place each allotment in one of three selective management categories, which are: (M) maintain, (I) improve, or (C) custodial. Rangelands placed in the I category will be further studied to determine what the BLM and the permittee can do to cooperatively improve the allotment by improving range condition.

Services for Tommy J. Latham were held Tuesday morning, May 10, in the Corona Presbyterian Church—with the Rev. Ray Wells officiating. Interment was in Corona Cemetery under the direction of Harris-Hanlon Mortuary. Casket bearers were Terry Latham, Wayne Latham, Gordon Owen, Freddy Latham, Melvin Sultemeier, and Martin Yriart. Honorary bearers were Trinidad Chavez, Bob Rogers, Floyd Sterrett, Charles Porter, Bill McKinney and Charlie Cox.

Tommy James Latham was born Nov. 4, 1925 in Albuquerque. When he was 10 days old he was taken by train to Lake Valley and from there by horseback to the Latham ranch. He attended many schools in the area, finishing up at NMMI. He was in the US Navy during WWII serving in the Asiatic-Pacific as an Amphib, a platoon commander and in the Philippines with a shore patrol. On Aug. 5, 1946 he was married to Eve Richards. He ranches in the Lake Valley area until 1968 when he moved to his present Corona location. He leaves his wife Eve, of the family home; one son, Jim Latham of Sterling City, TX; two daughters, Sue Maness, Dexter, and Lee Sultemeier, Corona; seven grandchildren: Andora, Barbara and Creighton Maness, Dexter; Tammy and Emmet

Sultemeier, Corona; and Michelle and Kimberly Latham, Sterling City, TX; his father, Fred J. Latham, Deming; one brother, Ted Latham, Loving; and many nieces and nephews. Mr. Latham was a member of St. Colombo's Episcopal Church, Lake Valley, the New Mexico Wool Growers and New Mexico

Cattle Growers, Elks Lodge 908, Roswell, the American Legion Post No. 35, Corona; and was a past president of the New Mexico Farm Bureau.

Romans didn't know any better either!

Erik Ness, NM Farm and Livestock Bureau, says the commonly held principle that history repeats itself has certainly been proven, but it seems we often forget some of the hard lessons our ancestors learned. Take the welfare system. Almost a century before, Christ, wealthy Roman landowners drove thousands of smaller farmers from their homes and fields which created the urban unemployed. Being unable to fend for themselves the farm families were given grain from government stores on a monthly basis. In 72 B.C. these unemployed were a force of some 40,000 and thirty years later under Julius Caesar their numbers soared to 200,000.

Around 27 B.C. Augustus tried in vain to reduce the number on welfare by refusing, as he put it, "those whose needs were pretended." He failed, for too many had been used to the free grain for too long.

As time went on the Roman government began to hand out bread, which meant those on welfare no longer had to grind their grain or bake their bread. In fact, it was recorded that on the first day of the bread giveaway more than 300,000 Romans clogged the narrow streets to get their share from the bakeries, which had to be nationalized for administrative purposes.

The State also had to set up an army-of-officials-and-clerks-to administer the cumbersome program which, of course, meant the wealthy landowners were strapped with more and more taxes, to the point where one Baron remarked that "it was no longer a privilege to be a Roman, but a burden."

It seems that Rome never learned that when you give a man bread with one hand you take away something else with the other. His incentive and dignity. But when you give him work for his hands he will supply his own needs. Sounds familiar. All too familiar. For the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, I'm Erik Ness.

Las Vegas man buys costly fish

SANTA FE, NM — A Las Vegas man has been fined $350 for fishing without a license—his second conviction for the game law violation in as many months—and another $100 for the beer can he threw into Storrie Lake, according to Conservation Officer Paul Pirtle.

Freddie Gallegos, 23, of Las Vegas, was cited by Pirtle on those charges and for resisting arrest when Pirtle attempted to issue citations on March 13 at Storrie Lake. Gallegos appeared Thursday (May 5) before San Miguel County Magistrate John Perea. Plea bargaining resulted in dismissal of the charge of resisting arrest, but Gallegos was placed on conditional probation for 90 days. Pirtle said Perea mandated a 'jail sentence for Gallegos if he violates game laws during the 90-day probation. Gallegos also paid $10 court costs.

Gallegos had also been cited at McAllister Lake in February for fishing without a license and paid $50, plus $10 court costs, on that charge. Pirtle said Gallegos and a companion were both fishing at Storrie Lake when they tossed their beer cans away. The companion, Johnny Montano, 27, also of Las Vegas, was cited with littering and fined $50, plus $10 court costs, when he appeared before Perea March 14.

LAS VEGAS, NM — Summer Sessions at New Mexico Highlands University will begin with registration on June 13, according to Wayne Woolston, registrar.

Stratton says he's 'shocked'

State Representative Hal Stratton (R-Albuquerque) expressed "shock and dismay" at letters sent by Speaker Ray Sanchez (R-Bernalillo) to the Legislative Finance Committee and Legislative School Study Committee urging them to look into increased salaries for teachers. "We finish a legislative session where the liberal Democrats take complete control of the spending process, where the liberal Democrats raise taxes $115,802,000 without providing money for any educational salary increases, and now the leader of the liberal Democrats ask that the problem be studied!" Stratton exclaimed.

Stratton went on to explain that with increases in expenditures from the General Appropriations Fund of over $50 million that all of the increases in such expenditures funded by the $115 million tax increase went to "new pork barrel projects in various legislators' districts ignoring possible salary increases for current employees." "What the liberal Democrats have done in this past legislative session is refuse to make funds available for any teacher pay increases yet raised their taxes in the form of income tax, gross receipts tax and other taxes. Now they have less buying power and available disposable income due to higher taxes on no salary increase."

"If I were a teacher, I would consider that a double slap in the face from those who the teachers' unions have traditionally supported — the liberal Democrats," Stratton stated.

"I think it's about time that the teachers as well as the public realized who really supports education in New Mexico and the politics that are involved."

Domenici supports PILT

WASHINGTON - Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) assisted Friday in passing legislation out of the Energy and Natural Resources Committee which "guarantees the protection of the PILT (Payment in Lieu of Taxes) program, so vital to our New Mexico county governments."

The legislation overrides a federal court decision which threatens the entire PILT program. PILT payments are made to counties with federal lands which their boundaries as a compensation for the revenue lost from these lands in property taxes.

"I realize and our New Mexico county officials know that PILT payments are a major source of revenues for New Mexico counties," Domenici said. "Without these funds, many of our counties would be forced to cut back some of the most basic services they provide to outlying areas."

"I will be working to preserve PILT here in the Senate and maintain its existing funding levels," Domenici explained. "The most important piece, though, is this legislation to overturn a bad court decision that threatens its very existence."

"We have attached PILT to other legislation to speed up its passage and hope to have a vote on the Senate floor very soon," Domenici added.

"PILT payments to New Mexico total more than $8 million," Domenici said. I am working to preserve it through the Senate and the BLM (Bureau of Land Management) also recognizes its values in Western states and will work for its continued funding."

Liability insurance costs hindering small business

SANTA FE - A new survey of nationwide small businesses shows that the cost of liability insurance, which is directly regulated by government agencies, is undermining economic growth and the ability these businesses have to hire the unemployed.

Respondents to the survey by the National Federation of Independent Business rated costs that are regulated by government agencies as more than half of the top 10 concerns for small business, while the other concerns result from an unhealthy economy.

"Among the most serious problems small firms identified were 'payroll taxes,' which have been hiked twice in the last nine months," said Jack Berton, spokesman for NFIB-New Mexico members, noting that independent-business owners see lawmakers as holding the key.

The survey, conducted in November, asked the 20,980 random small-business owners to rate 72 problems by severity. Interest rates were rated No. 1, but researchers attribute the responses to the abnormally high interest rates at the time the survey was taken. Small retailers, however, found electricity rates harder to swallow than most and agricultural firms had a big problem with competition from imported products.

"Small entrepreneurs in metropolitan areas see their problems in the same order, and with roughly the same intensity, as their small-town twins," said

Berton, adding that rural employers were less burdened by finding and keeping good workers than were the urban employers. Small, metropolitan businesses rated payroll taxes, benefit costs and locating qualified employees as bigger problems than either small-city or rural firms.

Problems were rated similarly regardless of what state or region the business was located

Bill would revive the old CCC

WASHINGTON — Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) Friday joined in pushing through the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee a bill establishing the American Conservation Corps.
 Domenici strongly supported the concept of the bill, calling it "one-new-program-that-even-in these times of austere budgets needs to be funded."
 "The American Conservation Corps is a revised version of the highly successful Civilian Conservation Corps which closed at the outbreak of World War II," Domenici explained. "It will not only take our young people and find them meaningful work, but at the same time will help us protect and improve our national parks, forests, rangelands and recreational areas."
 "With youth unemployment so high today, and so much of our national public land system in need of cleanup and improvements, this is a bill that solves both problems," Domenici said. "More than 20 million acres of federal land in New Mexico will be impacted through the establishment of the new ACC."

 "It is fitting that during 1983, the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the old CCC, that we put through a bill restarting this worthwhile program again," Domenici said. "I will be working hard over the next few months to get this bill to pass the full Senate and signed into law and give our young people an opportunity not just to find meaningful work, but to expose themselves to the vast beauties of our national public land system."

ALBUQUERQUE — An eligible veteran may obtain a Veterans Administration-guaranteed loan for purchase of a farm — if the residence is located there and occupied by the veteran.

White Oaks

By ROSE VINSON
 Despite high winds, rain and some hail, a good size crowd turned out for the Cajun chile cook out Saturday. Don Schneider and Marc Daniel played guitars and sang, supplying us with some good music, and we hope a good time was had by all.
 The adobe walls of the new room are almost completed and we're hoping the roof will be on soon.

A. J. and Elaine Marks killed their first rattler of the season last week on the White Oaks highway, so beware—the ones with fangs are out.

Bud Crenshaw and his hands have been busy rounding up cattle and new calves and branding, so watch for confused little ones on the roads.
 Ruth Hawk and her son Wayne have been busy working on her driveway, moving dirt and just generally making the place look neat. A. J. Marks lent a hand and his tractor to help cover up ditches.

Bob and Beth Lefler are leaving White Oaks to live in Carrizozo to be closer to medical help as Bob has cancer. Neighbors have helped in the move and we know they'll be missed in the area. They are currently helping run the Zozo Chevron station.

We extend our best wishes to them and to Chuck Clark, who suffered a heart attack last Sunday. Hope you are better soon, Chuck, and back home where we know you would much rather be.

Notice to all dogs: Robert Wetzel is now the local animal control officer. Keep up the good work, Robert.

VA's basic loan rate reduced

DENVER — The Veterans Administration reduced the basic loan-guarantee rate for single-family homes and condominiums by a half percent May 9 to 11.5 percent, said VA loan guaranty officers for Colorado-Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico.

It was the seventh basic rate reduction since March 2, 1982, when it was lowered to 15.5 percent.

At the same time, the VA maximum interest rate for Graduated Payment Mortgage loans was decreased to 11.75 percent.

Other new VA loan-guarantee rates: 13.5 percent for purchase of manufactured home units; 13 percent to buy both a mobile home and a lot, and 13 percent for loans to purchase a lot and the cost of necessary site preparation. The interest rate for veteran or non-veteran purchase of properties acquired by VA has also been reduced to 11.5 percent.

For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year, average GI loan of $55,000, the rate decrease of a half percent will lower monthly payments by more than $21 over the previous 12 percent rate.

The change, however, doesn't affect existing GI loans, whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement. But the loan may be refinanced.

VA guarantees loans made by private lenders to eligible veterans, widowed spouses of veterans who died as a result of service-connected disabilities or spouses of service personnel officially listed as missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

The basic home-loan guarantee — now set at 11.5 percent — is for a maximum of $27,500, or 60 percent of the loan.
