ESTABLISHED 1905

JUDGE Zimmerman welcomed public officials and their families to Monday's swearing in ceremonies for newly elected and appointed officials of Lincoln County. Zimmerman sprinkled the event with little-known anecdotes of his career, which entertained the onlookers. Here, the Judge is shown after the swearing-in of Bill Payne, Carrizozo, left, as magistrate; and James Wheeler, magistrate at Ruidoso.

DIST. JUDGE George J. Zimmerman, center, is shown congratulating Asst. Dist. Atty. James R. Askew Jr. of Capitan (right). Dist. Atty. Steven Sanders, who was sworn in two years ago, is serving a four-year term.

NEW SHERIFF. Tom Sullivan of Capitan is shown with Barbara J. Langley (right), administrative secretary, and Carol Baldonado, secretary at the Ruidoso sub-office.

SP announces plans for Carrizozo

Effective yesterday, Southern Pacific has opened up five new clerical positions at Carrizozo to handle increased traffic on the El Paso to Tucumcari (East Line) run, according to Richard Hall, in charge of public relations for Southern Pacific in Tucson, AZ.

Hall also said the normal six trains a day through Carrizozo are being upped to 10 per day.

Richard Coca, local SP representative, said there are two signal maintenance men working out of Carrizozo, and that 24 workmen are employed on extending sidings at Three Rivers, a $2 million project.

It was also announced that the railroad has entered into an agreement with the Four Winds Restaurant to stay open 24 hours a day to accommodate crews that will change trains on the 332-mile run from El Paso to Tucumcari.

One of the reasons for making Carrizozo a crew-change stop is because of the federal "12-hour law" which requires that train crews stop work after putting in 12 hours, regardless of where the train may be at that moment. In the past, Hall said, it has been necessary to send workmen out in cars and trucks to relieve crews that halted after 12 hours of work.

Carrizozo will be a train crew's "home away from home," Hall said. The workmen will retain their homes in El Paso or Tucumcari but use Carrizozo for rest stops and overnight accommodations before taking over another train or "deadheading" back to their home base.

The railroad is considering construction of module homes in Carrizozo for the crews. If this is finalized, the prefabricated units will be completely modern with television facilities, and will probably be placed on land owned by the railroad here.

"From now on," Hall said, "you can expect to see more SP people around Carrizozo. This will be good for the local economy."

Opening up the El Paso-Tucumcari run to high density traffic will enable the SP to compete more effectively in carrying freight between the San Francisco-Los Angeles area to St. Louis, Kansas City and the Midwest.

Commissioners in last '82 meeting

Lincoln County Commissioners met Dec. 30 to handle routine business, to put their house in order, bid farewell to two commissioners, and to receive congratulations and best wishes from county employees.

For Commissioners Ben Hall and Thomas P. McKnight it was their last commissioners meeting. Both served two successive terms and by law cannot succeed themselves. Both ran for State Representative from Dist. 56 in the August primary but were defeated.

Suzanne Cox, county manager, presented plaques to Hall, McKnight and John A. Hightower to honor them for their service on the commission. Hightower was appointed to the commission in 1979 and ran unopposed in the general election for his second term representing Dist. 2.

McKnight and Hall have been replaced by Kenneth Nosker of Glencoe, elected to Dist. 1 position, and Bill Elliott, Ruidoso, representing Dist. 3. Both, along with other elected county officials, were sworn in Monday.

The board approved a $42,361 budget increase to beef up the road department, which had a $25,000 deficit in its road maintenance fund. Under agreement with the State Highway Department's cooperative road maintenance agreement, the county completes road work and is reimbursed by the state's share.

In other business the commission:

Agreed to pay 50 percent of the health insurance premium for James McSwane, special investigator to the district attorney.

Discussed design of the Big Spring-Gavilan Canyon intersection.

Accepted an expense report from Cox.

Approved a $1,000 budget increase for Chavez County Soil & Water Conservation Dist.

Amended a contract for the Bonito fire truck.

EM medical instructors meet

The Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Academy has recently formed an EMS Instructors' Council. The Council's first meeting will take place in Albuquerque on Jan. 6, at the EMS Academy, University of New Mexico Medical School.

Representing instructors in the 12 counties comprising Emergency Medical Services Region III will be Devil Bill

Adams, instructor, Capitan; Billy Selders, instructor, Clayton; John Gaffney, instructor, Carlsbad; Ron Edwards, instructor, Clovis, permanent alternate; Dan Hill and Art White from Eastern New Mexico Emergency Medical Services Corporation, Region III, headquartered in Clovis. Region III includes the counties of Chavez, Curry, DeBaca, Eddy, Guadalupe, Harding, Lea, Lincoln, Otero, Quay, Roosevelt and Union counties.

The importance of this first meeting was stressed by Art White, EMS training specialist, in saying that the Instructors' Council will give emergency medical technicians the "opportunity to have personal input into the functioning of the educational mechanism of emergency medical services."

The council will be meeting on a regular basis during 1983. Information will be disseminated to interested individuals throughout Region III. Anyone wishing information about the meetings should contact Art White at the Clovis office of Eastern New Mexico Emergency Medical Services Corporation, Region III.

What! Dogfights over Carrizozo?

A composite force training exercise sponsored by the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing at Holloman Air Force Base will mean increased flying activity over White Sands Missile Range's northern extension Jan. 12, 13 and 14.

Holloman based F-15 Eagles, along with US Army HAWK and Stinger units from Fort Bliss, TX, will "defend" selected "targets" on the White Sands Missile Range from aircraft deployed from other US Air Force bases.

Although the "adversary" units will fly some 80 missions a day to challenge the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing F-15s, which will fly approximately 60 missions each day, every effort will be made to minimize overflight of populated areas within the exercise zone, which includes Carrizozo. All flights are scheduled during daylight hours and will include low, medium and high altitude flights.

Col. James E. Chambers, 49th TFW commander, said "The exercises will provide an invaluable opportunity for deployed Air Force and Army forces to train in air defense operations and composite force management."

Participants will include E-3As (AWACS) from Tinker Air Force Base, OK; AT-38s from Holloman's 479th TAC training wing; F-111s from Mountain Home AFB, Idaho; and F-111Ds from Cannon AFB, NM; A-7Ds from Kirtland AFB, NM; and Buckley Air National Guard Base.

Honey not the same as sugar

Do you know the differences between honey and sugar?

Both honey and sugar should be regarded as energy foods, although they differ in the types of sugars they contain, according to Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food and nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

Honey contains 40 percent fructose, 34 percent glucose, 2 percent sucrose, 2 percent other sugars, 17 percent water and less than 1 percent minerals.

Sugar contains 100 percent sucrose and less than 1 percent water.

Sucrose splits into glucose and fructose when digested. Fructose is sweeter than glucose, so honey is slightly sweeter than sugar, Mrs. Johnson explains.

Honey is also higher in calories measure per measure. Sugar is 770 calories per cup and honey is 1,030 per cup.

One cup of honey has the following percentages of the US recommended daily allowances: 2 percent protein and calcium, 10 percent iron, 8 percent riboflavin and 8 percent niacin and vitamin C. These percentages are low enough that honey should not be considered a good source of these nutrients, Mrs. Johnson says.

Honey has a very distinct flavor. The flavor and color of honey depends on the type of flowers from which the bees gather their honey.

To substitute honey for sugar in recipes, use the same amount, but decrease the liquid in the recipe by one-fourth cup for each cup of honey used. When making plain cake, it is best to substitute only one-third to one-half of the sugar so the texture does not change too much. Also for baked goods, add one-fourth teaspoon of baking soda to counteract the acids in honey. When making jellies without pectin, replace only one-half of the sugar called for with honey.

Honey is not a safe sugar for diabetics. Although fructose does not require insulin to break down, the glucose and sucrose do. Also, some of the fructose found in honey is converted to glucose in the liver. Also, it is not recommended that honey be used in infant formulas or other foods fed to infants, the specialist says.

Changes in property tax reporting

Julia Samora, Lincoln County tax assessor, is calling public attention to two changes in 1983 property tax reporting requirements.

First, all non-governmental entities which have been granted an exemption from property taxes must claim their exemption in 1983 for it to be continued.

Second, veterans exemptions which were claimed and granted in 1982 should be automatically applied in 1983. Veterans no longer have to bring their Veterans Certificate into the assessor's office each year for the exemption to be granted. These two changes are included in the legal notice appearing in this issue of the Lincoln County News.

The Grizzly girls had a good standing in last year's tournament placing third over all and also received the sportsmanship trophy. In their three days of last year's tournament they beat Dexter the first match and lost to Reserve the next day, but defeated Capitan the last day. This year the Grizzlies first game of the tournament will again be against the Dexter Demons on Thursday at 5 p.m.

Coach Jerry Koller feels the holiday vacation may have left the girls just a little rusty, but also put in, "It will affect the rest of the teams a little bit also."

"The Smokey Bear Classic is a fairly tough tournament year in and year out," said Koller, "and one of the tougher teams will be Reserve."

The Carrizozo boys will play

Dexter also at 3:15 p.m. on Thursday. In last year's tournament the Grizzlies lost their opening game to the Dexter Demons, but defeated Lake Arthur on the second day. On the final day Carrizozo lost to Magdalena in double overtime.

"Dexter will be tough, along with Reserve and Capitan," said head coach Hal Roueche who also noted the tournament is a tough one. "I think we're going to do okay," said Roueche.

"We're not near as good as we will be at the end of the month for our district games," added Roueche.

Other girl games to be played that day are: Magdalena-Hagerman, 10 a.m.; Lake Arthur-Reserve, 1 p.m.; and Mountainair-Capitan, 8:30 p.m.

In the boys bracket Lake Arthur will play reserve at 11:45 a.m., Mountainair and Capitan play each other at 6:45 p.m., and Hagerman has a bye the first day, but will play the winner of the Lake Arthur-Reserve game.

ONE FINAL POST-ELECTION NOTE ON THE RESULTS...

Letters to the Editor

Uh, yeah, sure, Mick

DEAR EDITOR—Some wise guy said if you "read it in the Lincoln County News it would be biased," so I am asking you if you think the Democrats really believe they are descended from Santy Claws?

My teacher says that reading and writing is not as important as learning to get along without it since we have computers and the telephone. She says we need to learn to live with the Russians and the terrorists are just people who need love and understanding.

Our preacher says the people in that country down south that raise bananas and coffee are suffering so much that if we don't buy bananas or coffee the big companies will treat the people better.

If this make sense to you then I am sure you don't believe in Santa or Christmas. We are quite well and so is the country but we hope times get better.

MICK CLUMPNER, Sebastopol, CA

I AM afraid not to wish Eugene Changoy of 18415 Mapleboro Ave., Maple Heights, Ohio, a Happy New Year.

ONE event to which our black brothers apparently look forward is a reasonable excuse to start a riot. And one of the advantages of rioting, aside from getting even with society for alleged injustices, is a chance to loot stores and pilfer cash registers.

MIAMI has gone through three days of rioting in which blacks helped themselves to a Merry Christmas by beating up on policemen, setting fire to police cars, looting stores.

ALL IN all, it was a jolly show, and I must say it's nice to see people enjoying activities in which they excel and so obviously relish.

IN ALAMOGORDO it costs $30 just to keep a prisoner in jail overnight; $63,000 in all to house crooks in 1982. It might be cheaper for that city to send all its misbehavers to Harvard.

ACROSS THE country it costs about $100,000 to build a single prison cell as opposed to a $14.95 pup tent. That gives you an idea of the esteem in which we hold convicted criminals.

AFTER LEARNING from blacks how easy it is to get rewarded for making noise and howling about minority status, the American Indians are whetting their knives to take the whole pie.

Famous last words:

"The budget should be balanced, the treasury should be refilled, public debt should be reduced, the arrogance of officialdom should be tempered and controlled, and assistance to foreign lands should be reduced lest the state become bankrupt."

New Mexico in Washington

Indian claims for 100 million acres

By LESTER KINSOLVING WASHINGTON — An avalanche of Indian land claims — nearly one hundred million acres — is being viewed with increasing concern in our nation's capital.

For Congress is realizing that its enormous settlements of previous Indian land claims in Alaska, Maine and South Dakota have simply served to stimulate more demands in what has become a lucrative enterprise for both tribes as well as lawyers.

In 1971, Congress awarded 44 million acres and nearly one billion dollars to 53,000 Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts in Alaska.

Nine years later, under prodding by the Carter Administration, Congress awarded 300 million acres of government-owned, or corporation-owned land in Maine, to the Passamaquoddy and the Penobscot — who had claimed two-thirds of the entire State of Maine.

This claim, under an alleged Revolutionary War-era treaty violation, was complicated when two other tribes, in Quebec, claimed that the Passamaquoddy and the Penobscot had stolen this land from them.

A similar consideration exists in South Dakota's Black Hills. Some of the Sioux, who were awarded $123 million for their loss of the Black Hills to the US Cavalry, are now demanding all of this land.

In Arizona there is another land battle, with the Navajos and the Hopis fighting each other for more than two million acres. In New Mexico, the Santo Domingo and Santa Ana Pueblos are claiming 100,000 acres of the northern part of the state.

Other claims include: —In Nevada: From 18 to 24 million acres of land is claimed by the Western Shoshone — three years after they were awarded a $26 million settlement.

—In Florida: 50,000 acres claimed by the Miccosukee Seminoles.

—In Rhode Island: 3,200 acres claimed by Narragansett; a claim settled by awarding them 1,800 acres.

—In Minnesota: The Chippewas are claiming hundreds of tracts of 80-to-240 acres apiece, which local government had sold when the Indian owners failed to pay their taxes.

Senators Al D'Amato (R., NY) and Strom Thurmond (R., SC) have sponsored Senate Bill 3064, the Ancient Indian Claims Settlement Act of 1983, to put an end to such Indian claims in their states.

When courts even consider such claims, rather than accord them immediate dismissal, the effect on a community and an entire region can be critical. For a cloud is cast on the title, not only of all private homes but on all business properties as well — which can wreak havoc on the economy.

New Mexico's astute Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici, who constantly warns of needed economies in the national budget and who speaks of seeking every possible means to reduce government spending, is strangely noncommittal with regard to the enormously expensive potential of Indian claims.

For when asked for a comment, a spokesman for the Senator told the Lincoln County News: "He is aware of these claims but has no particular reaction. He continues to monitor the situation, both here in Washington and in the district. He is hopeful that a solution acceptable to all parties can be reached."

No one in Congress has yet introduced a bill that would put an end to all such Indian claims by means of a statute of limitation. Nor has anybody suggested that similar restitution should be paid to those who lost their land because they joined the British and the Indians in fighting against the Continental Army in the Revolutionary War. (Benjamin Franklin was given very emphatic orders by the Continental Congress that no such Tory claims were to be considered for any payment whatsoever, in the course of a treaty of peace with Great Britain.)

One of the smaller Indian claims is for 650 acres near Davis, California. The controversial (in view of their use of federal funds and their faculty standards) "Deganawidah Quetzalcoatl University" claims this land.

But this claim may soon fade itself out, after California's Gov. Jerry Brown leaves office. For the Golden State has a new, no-nonsense law-and-order-governor-elect, George Deukmejian, who has vowed to extradite to South Dakota the "chancellor" of DMU, Dennis Banks.

Banks is a fugitive from South Dakota, where he is wanted on charges of assault on an officer and inciting to riot. Bank's others accomplishments include the trashing of Wounded Knee by his fellow professional Indians who were armed with Soviet assault rifles. There was also the trashing of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington.

Belated efforts to deal with bankrupt SS

WASHINGTON D. C. — US Sen. Pete V. Domenici and five other Senate leaders met Tuesday with President Reagan, agreeing that the top priority of the coming year should be solving the impending bankruptcy of the Social Security system.

"I believe it was the consensus that it has the highest priority and that we have the greatest responsibility to make sure that it is fixed," Domenici said.

"We need to preserve this program for those who now depend on it and for those who are planning to rely on it in the future," he added.

Domenici, who is chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, has consistently warned that major action must be taken by Congress to assure that the system remains solvent.

Otherwise, he has said there would be insufficient funds to pay full Social Security benefits, beginning as early as this summer.

"Social Security will remain solvent and full benefits will continue to be paid — that much is certain. The question is how that will be accomplished," he explained.

Domenici said $160 billion to $200 billion is needed during the next few years to keep the system adequately funded.

"The second item that was discussed in a very general way was the fact that there are enormous federal deficits remaining — even if the economy recovers," Domenici said.

something dramatic has to be done about this because a recovery which is predicated upon lower and lower interest rates would not last if all the savings and capital of the government is going to pay off the national debt," he said.

Domenici has told audiences throughout New Mexico that the economy is being strangled by the deficits because as much as 65 percent of all the available money for lending is being siphoned by the government to pay the national debt.

"Ideas were presented on how to reduce the growth in the defense budget in such a way that it would have the least effect on our national security," he explained.

Domenici said he told the president that something must be done to assure increased housing starts.

"We've got to do something about solid, construction-type projects," he said.

Throughout the discussion, Domenici said the mood was "upbeat" and that the talks were "helpful and healthy."

"The president was there today as a listener. While he participated in a lively manner, I do not mean to imply that he agreed with any specific fiscal policies or budget approaches. We were there to simply present our views.

The debunking of Saint Maximilian Kolbe

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

Sainthood "connotes perfection" according to Richard Cohen, a columnist for The Washington Post, in an article on Pope John Paul's recent canonization of the Rev. Maximilian Kolbe.

"In selecting Father Kolbe for sainthood," writes Cohen, the Roman Catholic Church overlooked the following:

Father Kolbe's writing that Freemasons are "an organized clique of fanatical Jews who want to destroy the church" — written in 1925.

Father Kolbe's writing, 13 years later, that "Atheistic communism can easily be located in the criminal mafia which calls itself Freemasonry, and the hand that is guiding all that towards a clear goal is international Zionism. Which should not be taken to mean that even among Jews one cannot find good people."

"According to a church expert," (whom Cohen identified orally, but not in his column, as the Rev. Bernard Geiger of Illinois) Kolbe "believed in the authenticity of that notorious anti-Semitic forgery, 'The Protocols of Zion,' and thought that Jews were disproportionately represented in Polish economic life at the expense of Christians."

Even if all this is authentic, rather than a well counterfeited smear, there are no reports at all that Father Kolbe asked the Jew whose life he saved at Auschwitz, "Are you a Freemason or a Zionist?"

This priest simply offered his life as a substitute for a condemned man who, when picked for death by starvation (as punishment for someone having escaped) had wept over his wife and children.

In order to save the life of this man — who was present at Kolbe's canonization last Fall — Father Kolbe suffered for two weeks without food. He led the others in prayer and in hymn-singing. Finally the Nazis killed him with a lethal injection.

For writers like Cohen, and for the far left wing National Catholic Reporter, to focus on what Kolbe may have written is unfortunate. For it is so very incidental to what a young rabbi — who, like Kolbe, was also executed — said, "Greater love hath no man than this: that he lay down his life for his friend."

For columnist Cohen to write that sainthood "connotes perfection" is another pinnacle in what has become a mountain range of Washington Post absurdities and inaccuracies.

Christianity's two most prominent saints are Peter and Paul.

Their distinct lack of perfection is listed in both Gospels and epistles.

In the second chapter of Galatians, St. Paul explains why he felt obliged to denounce St. Peter, in public and to his face, for "dissimulation" or hypocritical pretension in regard to dietary law.

This was not long after the allegedly perfect Peter (according to Cohen) lied three times in claiming that he had never heard of Jesus Christ.

Not long after this scandal, one of Jesus's other followers, a young man named Stephen, was being stoned to death by a group of men whose cloaks were held by a notorious persecutor of Christians named Saul of Tarsus.

This was the same Saul who later obtained a special hunting license for Christians in Damascus. Yet this murderous adversary underwent a conversion experience and was renamed Paul.

Paul's writings, which constitute the largest authorship in the New Testament, nowhere suggest that he ever achieved perfection. Quite to the contrary (of the Cohen connotation of sainthood), Paul frequently laments his inability to achieve perfection, as well as his bloody record against Christians — which was far worse than anything ever attributed to Father Kolbe against the Jews.

HOLIDAY ACTIVITY

The Christmas tree decorations are packed; toy batteries no longer function and the last crumbs of the rum bundt cake have been eaten. This means that 1983 is off and running.

My daily stroll through town last Monday revealed that area people were busy throughout the holiday season. Christmas Day and New Year's Day, like Easter, finds many people hosting dinners or traveling near and far.

The column this week is a potpourri of local news gathered over the phone, on the street, and inside businesses places. At the end of the day the news items were spread on my kitchen table. Some of the notes were jotted down on napkins, cash receipts and would you believe, on the white butcher paper wrapped around a fryer I had purchased at the Grocery Basket?

COMINGS AND GOINGS

Charles and Suzanne Cox and sons Chuckie and Jeff spent Christmas Day in Las Cruces with Charles' sister, Cathy Gardner. The couple's daughters, Jody, a senior at Western New Mexico University, and Marsha, an ENMU sophomore, and a son, Ben Cox of Hobbs, also were visitors at the Gardner residence for the holiday.

Charles, chief deputy for new Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan, ended his 6th term as sheriff for Sierra County. Charles has 18 years experience in the sheriff's department. Suzanne is county manager. Another daughter, Lisa, is a probation officer in Farmington.

Lucio Vidaurri of Los Angeles, CA is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Sabino Vidaurri. Other out-of-town Christmas day visitors in her home were daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Aguilar and sons, Mark and Matthew of El Paso; grandchildren Christine, John, and Gaby and their friends Lorrie Roybal and Bernadette Aragon, all of Albuquerque.

Leo Samora Jr. and Frank and Esther Hein and sons, Jason and Justin, all of Alamogordo, were Christmas Day dinner guests in the home of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Samora. A long distance call that day arrived from Germany. The Samora's spoke to their daughter and her family, Milton and Beatrice May and children, Dana and Nicholas. The Samora's also spoke to nephew Orlando who was visiting in the May home for the holidays. Orlando, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Samora of Carrizozo, is stationed in Holland with the Air Force. A second Christmas Day call came from the Samora's son, Rudy, who is stationed in the Philippines.

Holiday visitors in the Nat Chavez home were daughter Annette and fiancé Arthur DeLaCruz; Mr. and Mrs. Tioflo Martinez and son Isaac of Albuquerque; Mr. and Mrs. George Sanchez of Las Cruces; Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Fresquez of Tularosa and Mr. and Mrs. Nasario Garcia of Alamogordo.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baca and son Dino spent the New Year's weekend in Alamogordo visiting with son Frank and his wife Josephine Baca. Dino spent his school vacation with his brother in Alamo.

AND THERE'S MORE

Roxanne Gabel, Dimmit, TX, was a New Year's weekend guest in the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Wally Ferguson and daughter Mary Jane. Lisa and brother Matt, NMSU students, were home for the holidays.

Sun Duchess Elaine Cantrell was in El Paso last week. Luncheons and receptions preceded the big day — the coronation and ball on Dec. 30. The coronation audience included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cantrell, brother Bryan, sister Lisa, friend John Paul Ventura, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Scott Alamogordo, and cousin Ann Marie Scott, Alamogordo. Elaine is on holiday vacation from NMSU.

Adrienne Kristen is the name given to the baby girl born Christmas Day to William and Tamí Vega of Santa Fe. Holiday visitors in the couple's home were Carrizozo residents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ortiz, Judi, Tracey, and Dominic Vega. Others were Mario Ortiz, Roswell; Margarita Franko, Los Angeles, CA; Yolanda Ortiz, Alamogordo; Conrad Ortiz, San Antonio, NM. New Capitan residents and former Zozo residents Earl and Beverly Bragg and daughter Belinda spent Christmas Day in their home and in the company of son Johnny and his girlfriend Billie Jo "BJ" Payman, both of Roswell; and son, Thomas, his wife Debra and their children, Michael and Beth Ann, all of Carrizozo.

Louis and Bonnie Fortenberry hosted an early New Year's luncheon on Dec. 29. There for the occasion were Albert and Euda Roberts; Ruth Burnett and Betty Fields.

The week before, Betty Fields was hostess for a Christmas Day dinner in her home with the Roberts, the Fortenberrys and Ruth Burnett as guests.

Among the holiday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Narvaez and sons Pete and Jacob were Tiofilo and Rosie Martinez and son Isaac of Albuquerque and George and Jessie (Kila) Sanchez of Las Cruces.

New Year's Day visitors in the Lois Ortega home were Tony Chavez, Becky and family; Mr. and Mrs. Nasario Garcia; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sandoval, Cathy and Matt; Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Fresquez and family, Tularosa; and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Griego and daughter Vivian of Capitan.

STILL MORE

New Year's Day visitors in the Henry Sandoval residence were son Louie, wife Angie, daughter Cathy and son Matt of Alamogordo. Christmas Day, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sandoval spent with daughters Lois and Brigitte, both of Albuquerque. Brigitte, UNM student, went on to Fort Worth, TX, to visit with her brother Pat and his family.

Bud and Norma Griffin of Manassa, CO, visited Christmas Day with son Ken Means, wife Vickie and sons. Others at the Means residence that day were Capitan residents Danny and Marla Jenkins; their daughter, Danielle "Dannie Raye"; and James and Marcella Jenkins.

Christmas Day dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Florentino Lopez were son Tino of Espanola and grandson James Lueras of Albuquerque. Daughter Flavia and granddaughters, Liz and Margaret, all of Carrizozo, were included in the holiday dinner.

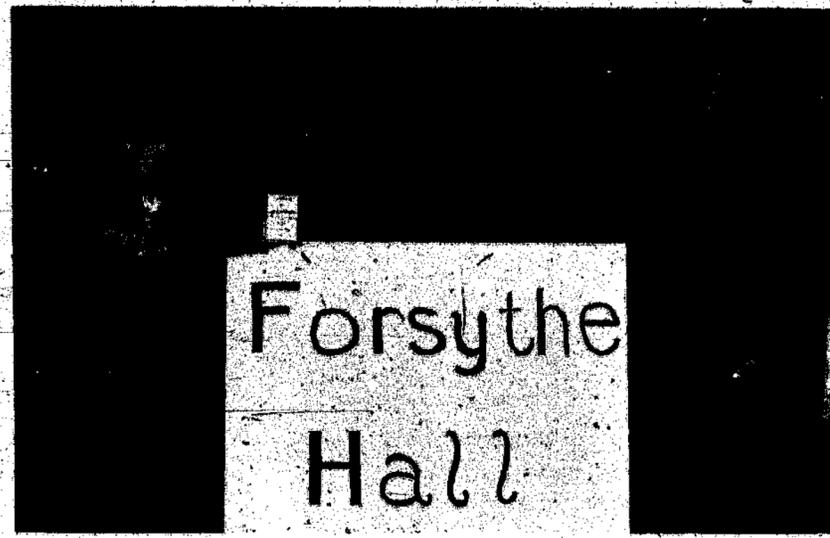

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stearns hosted their traditional family Christmas Eve dinner. Family members present were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shafer; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Shafer and family; Billy Bob and wife Ginger; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Howell; their son Roy and his family, Lubbock, TX; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stearns, sons Johnny Bob and Steve, Nogal; Mr. and Mrs. "Hoot" Gibson, daughters Jenna and Lori. Robbie Bohks, friend of the family, joined them for the event.

News items or other "noteworthy" may be submitted any day for use in this column. In order for items to appear in the upcoming issue, a deadline of Monday at 5 p.m. is set. Recipes, timeless truths, inflation fighters, bits and pieces of wisdom are also encouraged. Keep my telephone number (648-2524) and my box number (374, Carrizozo, NM 88501) near your new 1983 calendar.

WAIT, THERE'S STILL MORE

Christmas Day dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hemphill and son Robert were daughter Cathy, husband Allan Reed, and their daughter Michelle. Bob's mother, Catherine Cornett, joined them. The Reeds are on their way to Panama where Allen will be stationed with the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Jete Voss were in Las Cruces for Christmas Day dinner in the home of son Dusty and his family. Also there were RALPH Forsythe (left) thought he was going to a pre-Christmas party for Nogal firemen on Dec. 19. Instead, he was honored for his help and that of his son, Jack Forsythe (right) in making possible the new fire department building. The Nogal community turned out to name the building Forsythe Hall in honor of the father and son. Out of town guests included Ralph's son Jack from North Carolina; brother Paul and sister Dorothy Kindschi and her husband, Albuquerque; Marlow and Barbara Sharpe, Colorado; Floyd R. Winn, Seminole, TX; Alton and Pauline Whittaker, Mr. and Mrs. Henri LaMothe, Capitan; Frances and Earnest Pitillo, Scott Shafer, Johnson and Margaret Stearns, Alton Lindamood, all of Carrizozo; and Iris Crane of Ruidoso. More than 50 guests attended the event.

Colwell on scholarship

Robert M. Colwell, a graduate of Carrizozo High School, is attending the University of New Mexico this year on a Presidential Scholarship.

The $1,000 Presidential Scholarships are awarded annually to 100 of the top students in the state and are among the most prestigious scholastic awards given in New Mexico.

Colwell, a senior majoring in pharmacy, received an award contributed by Nathan E. Goode of Torrance, CA.

FRANCES DEGNER

Art exhibit by Frances Degner

Outstanding oil and acrylic paintings by Frances Degner are now on display in the conference room of Carrizozo Schools.

The show which will run through the month of January is open to the public from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Miss Degner is the daughter of Mrs. C. E. Degner and has lived in Carrizozo since birth. She started painting at age 10 and considers herself a self-taught artist. Her favorite subject is landscape, although her exhibit has a number of still life flowers. She considers painting a good way to relax.

She is active in the Trinity United Methodist Church in Carrizozo and serves as financial secretary. She is also a member of UMW (United Methodist Women) and Order of the Eastern Star. She makes original get-well cards as part of her contribution to the Order.
