By D. JARRARD
Carrizozo Schools served as host for 15 Latin American Ministry of Education officials on April 13. The educators, on leave of absence from 13 countries, are studying the American public school system as part of UNM's Programas de Educacion.

The group, led by Loretta Acama, a native New Mexican from Taos, and employed by Albuquerque Public Schools, wished to study the resources and operation of a rural school district as part of their field experience, leading towards a Maestria (MA) in Educational Administration.

Warmly received by local school personnel and students, friendships were made and understanding developed. Representing Carrizozo were co-hosts Dr. James Miller, superintendent, and Douglas Jarrard, Spanish teacher; Mela Herrera, special ed. aide, and Tom Funk, instructor. Acting as student guides were several bilingual students—Linda Garcia, Carlos and Adrien Sanchez, Robert Montano, Juan Osorio and Christetta Chavez. All the aforementioned gained personal satisfaction from the experience.

The visitors, each equivalent to a Secretary of Education in the federal government, arrived through snow flurries at about 11:00 a.m., and, after hot coffee and cookies were escorted on a tour of the school campus. Their main interest, however, was the new VoAg farm. Mike Gaines' students were at work cutting and packaging beef. Returning to school, the LAPE team was well fed at the school cafeteria. Following lunch, the educators met with members of the school board and Dr. Miller for an informative question and answer session, covering all aspects of the public school system.

Following the interview the visitors took part in a computer demonstration, produced by Robert Hemphill, mid-school math teacher. Several students showed their knowledge of computer operation, after which observers tried their hands at program simulations on the keyboard.

At about 2:40 p.m. the visitors boarded their van and headed back to Albuquerque.

Reorganized sheriff office a busy place

Property stolen from Breakaway Farm, Glencoe, last November and February has been recovered, according to Chief Deputy Charles Cox of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept.

Last November, two saddles were stolen from the farm. In February a 3M copying machine was taken. The copier was recovered last week in El Paso by Deputy Bobby Green. One of the missing saddles was found last week when deputies Green and McIntyre, aided by Det. H. Picossot of Ruidoso, obtained a search warrant to enter a house near San Patricio.

Records in the sheriff's office show that during March 1983 a total of $9,235.51 worth of stolen property was reported to that office. More than $2,322 was recovered—a 25 percent recovery rate.

The office also collected $4,552.19 in worthless checks during January and February, and $1,115.36 in March. Total checks collected to date this year is $5,667.55, representing 31 different check complaints.

During March, the sheriff's office responded to three calls involving auto accidents, 2 fire calls, handled 2 juvenile, jailed 17 persons, 26 rescue missions, dispatched 3 wreckers, accepted 786 walk-in requests for aid, received 3,141 phone calls and 7,586 radio calls, served 972 meals to jail inmates who spent 324 "man days" in jail.

Cox told the NEWS that detailed records of department activities are being kept and made available to the public. "Citizens of Lincoln County have a right to know what this department is doing," he said.

Seven deputy sheriffs, according to the reports, show the following activity for March:

Total arrests 10, total citations issued 7, number of traffic stops 43, number of calls handled 92, number of civil papers served 184, number of offenses reported 35, miles traveled patrolling county 11,740, outside county 1,717—during which time their vehicles consumed 1,505 gallons of gasoline.

During the same period, they cleared a total of 21 cases, with another 21 cases still active, investigated 7 traffic accidents, responded to 16 calls regarding animals, attended 10 meetings on law enforcement and 27 crime prevention programs, held 11 training sessions and spent 82 hours testifying in court.

One of the most difficult assignments was the recovery of the body of Miguel Reyes, 61, at White Oaks during the last snowstorm, April 7. The body was discovered in a snowbound house by Charlie Wayne Wetzel, who reported to Sheriff Tom Sullivan. Sullivan, his deputies and Rosemary Zink, county medical examiner, were finally able to reach the scene by a snowmobile provided by Robert L. Reynolds.

The chief deputy also reported that a 1980 Chevrolet Luv pickup belonging to W. R. Edwards was stolen near Hondo, April 14. The vehicle has not yet been located.

Sheriff Sullivan has also organized a Sheriff's Reserve unit which has 41 active members, 10 in Carrizozo and 31 in Ruidoso. Reserves serve in emergencies, sometimes as plainclothes officers and undercover agents.

Several students were commended at Tuesday's board of education meeting.

The board expressed pleasure that high school junior Stephanie Saucedo's application to the Minority Student Enrichment and Scholarship Program in Health and Science has been accepted by the College of Santa Fe. The program offered June 13 through July 8 allows a student to explore potentials in pursuing careers in health and health-related sciences.

Saucedo's sister Suzanne, a 5th grader, has been awarded the top state prize in the grades 5-8 division of the 1982-83 Elmer's National Gluecraft contest.

High School senior Robert Montano has been chosen as a winner of the Jostens Foundation Scholarship Program. Though evaluation of over 14,000 nationwide student applicants, Montano has been selected with 199 other graduating high school seniors to receive a financial award of $500.

Students Juan Osorio, Robin Beltran, and John Roueche have been selected to attend Boys' State Selected to Girls' State were Mary Jane Ferguson, Geneva Maxwell, Stephanie Saucedo and Christetta Chavez.

SP traffic up; $500 to Zia

The Southern Pacific Railroad is running up to 18 trains a day through Carrizozo under its traffic reorganization program, according to Richard C. Hall, public relations manager at company headquarters in Tucson.

He told the NEWS Monday that the company had spent more than $2 million constructing two sidings here, one 9,000 feet long and the other 10,000 feet long, to handle increased traffic. The project employs 50 men.

Hall also informed Barbara Ward that Southern Pacific has donated $500 toward the remodeling and renovation of the Zia Senior Center. The center occupies the old city hall. The town recently voted to help with building and roof repairs for the center. The structure belongs to the fire department, which has agreed to help put the old building in order. Ward said a contract for repairs will be sought soon.

BLM land sales to be discussed in meetings

The Roswell District of the Bureau of Land Management will hold public meetings in Carlsbad and Roswell to describe its land sales program in southeast New Mexico, and to receive comments about developing a sales schedule for 1984.

The Carlsbad meeting will be held on April 21, 6 to 8 p.m. at the Rodeway Inn; and in Roswell on April 25 at the Roswell Inn from 6 to 8 p.m.

Approximately 7,000 acres of scattered, isolated tracts of public lands east of the Pecos River in Chaves, Eddy and Lea counties will be offered starting in 1984, where BLM land use planning has taken place. Most tracts vary in size from 40 to 160 acres.

"We invite all interested people to comment at these meetings or in writing," said Jim Gillham, acting district manager for the BLM in Roswell. "Your input is essential in making this program work. We will also meet with user groups, county governments and other state and federal agencies to develop BLM priorities."

The BLM's Roswell District manages 3.5 million acres of federal lands in southeast New Mexico. In the state as a whole, the BLM manages some 13 million acres of public lands. About 242,000 acres, slightly less than 2 percent of the BLM's total land holdings, have been placed in the potential disposal category and may be offered for sale or exchange in 1984 and in subsequent years.

The BLM's land disposal program is not new, however. During the past 20 years, the BLM in New Mexico has sold over 160,000 acres of land and has exchanged other acreages. President Reagan initiated the government's Asset Management program in 1982 to identify lands and properties which do not fit into an efficient management program. The purpose of the program is to reduce the government's administrative costs by disposal of these properties.

BLM lands fitting this category are small, isolated tracts which are difficult to manage. The lands will first be surveyed to determine that they do not contain significant cultural or recreational values, or habitats for rare and endangered wildlife.

Lands to be sold will be appraised, and must be sold at a minimum of fair market value through competitive bidding. The federal government will retain the mineral rights on all sale lands. Sale dates will be announced in legal notices and in news releases at least 60 days in advance of the sales.

The BLM has a listing of potential disposal lands in southeast New Mexico and a booklet describing the program throughout New Mexico. For further information contact Hans Stuart at the Roswell District Office (1717 W. 2nd St.; 622-7670).

First Meeting

Last Saturday The Bar W Ranch, home of Stirling and Mary Spencer, was the site of the first 1983 meeting for members of the Lincoln County Historical Society. More than 60 members and guests enjoyed a covered dish meal prior to a talk by speaker Tom Mann. Tom and his wife Allene live in Roswell. Tom came to New Mexico with his family in 1908 from Canada and graduated from New Mexico State (A&M). He has been active in civil engineering since the late '20s, helping to set up engineering laws in New Mexico. Tom is also one of the pioneers in developing grapes for wine production in the state.

Town Doings

"What do you hear from the road man?" This is a question often asked at town hall meetings. Because I am a pedestrian I don't feel the pot holes like the motorist, but I do notice, them, and they are getting bigger. Patience is the answer for all behind-the-wheel people. The town's street repair work will begin when the temperature hits 70 degrees. Marcos Villegas will receive recognition he deserves when the town fathers present him with a plaque sometime soon. Marcos is retired from the sanitation department.

"Small Business Week" is May 8-14. According to a sample proclamation, "small businesses contribute to the individuality of expression that leads to new products and new industry."

Coming Up

April 24 an enchilada and spaghetti dinner will be served at Santa Rita Parish Hall. See NEWS ad for details. Serving begins at noon and continues until 2 p.m. April 25, Zia Senior Citizens will conduct a rummage sale. They accept donated used articles.

April 29, Zia Center sponsors a wiener roast for interested eaters.

Quilt-A-Holic

Audrey M. Peters in the July-August 1978 Quilter's Newsletter Magazine accurately describes a person who is addicted to quilt making:

1. Carry your quilt making everywhere you go and never fail to show it off.
2. Be sure to talk to anyone and everyone about quilts, any time, any place.
3. Save every scrap of material, no matter how small, and be sure in your mind that they are all necessary and useful, even if your family objects to being crowded out of whatever space you have for storage.
4. Train your family, especially your husband, to move around, not on, any quilt making on the floor. Or the bed. Or the dining room table. Or any place else in the house that might possibly inconvenience him. Do not interfere with the television viewing during football (boxing) season, however.

5. Brook no snide remarks about people who cut large pieces into small ones just to sew them back into big ones again. Learn to ignore such talk.

6. Always have at least three quilts in the making, three more in the planning, and look at any new quilt pattern with an eye to starting it immediately.

Tied Quilts

Senior Citizens at Corona's center have made several quilts now available at Carrizozo's Zia Center. Overall Sam and Square-in-square are some of the patterns used in the comforters. A comforter is often tied together by knotted yarn placed at designated points. This process is known as tufting and the result is a tied quilt.

No Sex Discrimination

Men and women alike complain of disappearing waistlines. People with potbellies browse through the magazine racks looking for the solution to the problem. This month I came across a magazine article titled "FLATTEN YOUR STOMACH IN JUST 30 DAYS!"

Results of track meet at Tatum

The Grizzly track team traveled to Tatum Saturday, April 15, for the first state qualifying track meet. Five Carrizozo boys and girls successfully met state qualifying marks, and the boys squad placed 3rd overall in team standings with 43 points.

John Roueche qualified for state in two events, the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 15.5, which placed him 2nd in Tatum; and in the 100-meter dash running a time of 11.4. Steve Stearns also qualified in the 100-meter dash. Stearns ran a 11.5 placing 3rd.

Qualifiers in the field events were Kevin Wilmore in the high jump and Robin Beltran in the discus. Wilmore placed first with a jump of 6' and Beltran placed 2nd with a throw of 124'.

The two qualifying girls were Liz Beltran in the discus with a throw of 92.6' and Christetta Chavez in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 17.1.

Tim Vega, Kenneth Crenshaw, Stearns and Roueche teamed together in the 400-meter relay and placed 2nd with a time of 47.1. A time of 3:49 placed the efforts of Vega, James Guevara, Wilmore and Roueche 3rd in the mile relay. In the 800-meter relay it was Crenshaw, Alex Serna, Guevara, Wilmore in 4th place with the time of 1:42. The 1600-meter medley was run with Stearns, Serna, Crenshaw and Carlos Sanchez in the time of 4:21.

Clarence Beltran took 3rd in the shot with a throw of 39'11 1/2". Fourth placers went to Roueche with a 22.5 in the 165-meter hurdles, Joseph Candelaria with a 2:11 in the 800-meter run and to Duane Zamora at 139' in the javelin.

Chavez of the girls squad took 3rd place in the long jump at 15'1". The boy and girl squads travel to Tularosa Saturday, April 23. It will also be a state qualifying meet.

Other participants and times of the Tatum meet were: Carlos Sanchez 2 mile 12:33; Jimmy Delgado, 800-meter run 2:30; Robert Montano, mile run 5:30; C. Beltran, javelin 135'; Wilmore, long jump 17'11", 200-meter dash; Crenshaw, 400-meter dash 59.95; Vega, long jump 18'5"; Serna, Back home in my kitchen I read the magazine from cover to cover, leaving the tummy article for last. The food photography was fabulous.

These are some of the recipes I found — corn flake chocolate chip cookies, carrot cake, rib-ticking barbecue sauce, golden ham, coconut cream chiffon torte, sausage and tomato lasagna, caramel popcorn balls, Hungarian stuffed cabbage, gouda cheese ball, brown sugar pound cake, olive salad, perfect spareribs, chocolate mint pie, raisin cake, apricot cream tarts, praline soufflé, and new ways to make crepes, quiche, strudel and tacos.

In addition, stiff recipe cards stapled in the middle of the magazine almost slapped me in the face when I turned the page. I filed away the card-a-day recipes.

And what did the tummy article have to say? I don't know because I'm still clipping cents off food coupons, copying recipes, and sending off for hundreds of cookbooks which I can get for free.

Capitan students receive awards

Robert Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parker of Capitan, was recently awarded the President's Scholarship to Seaver College of Pepperdine University. The 4-year merit scholarship, in the amount of $4,500 per year, is one of Pepperdine's most prestigious awards.

Parker has also been offered a 4-year full tuition Academic Scholarship to New Mexico State University and an Academic Grant of $4,600 yearly to Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa.

He is an outstanding student at Capitan High School whose academic achievements, leadership role in extracurricular activities and athletic accomplishments have all contributed to his selection for these awards.

David Beavers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beavers of Capitan, has been awarded an academic merit grant of $6,200 per year for four years to Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa. Grinnell is a private school with a highly selective admissions policy. Beavers' admission to such a prominent institution shows a very high regard for his academic ability and personal characteristics.

Shelly Stowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stowe, was selected by the Capitan High School faculty as this year's representative to the 36th Annual Girl's State. New Mexico Girl's State is a practical application of good citizenship, affording girls the opportunity to have their own self-governing "cities." They will have their own Senate and House of Representatives and city councils where they will present and argue their own bills.

This week of extensive training will be held at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro, May 28 - June. Girl's State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Selected as first alternate was Rebecca Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barber.

Daron Armstrong, son of Mary Dell Scarborough and Tom Armstrong, and Charlie Marrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marrs, were chosen as Capitan's delegates to Boy's State.

The 36th annual session of American Legion Boy's State will be held on the campus of the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro, June 5 through June 10.

Alternate delegates for Boy's State are Denny Cummins son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cummins, and Jerry Glynn Story, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Story.

The University of New Mexico recently selected two Capitan High School students as recipients of UNM's High School Achievement Awards.

David Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Keller, will receive the Citizenship Award and Robert Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parker, was selected for the Science and Math Award.

The awards, handsome walnut plaques, will be presented by an alumnus of UNM at the Capitan High School graduation ceremony. Should either of the students choose to attend UNM he would also receive a $50 stipend upon enrollment.

Rebecca Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips of Lincoln, was recently selected as Capitan High School's candidate to the 1983 Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership seminar.

The seminar for New Mexico candidates will be held the weekend of June 10-12 on the campus of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

About 70 outstanding sophomores throughout New Mexico have been selected to attend the New Mexico Seminar. During this seminar one boy and one girl will be chosen to represent the state at the Hugh O'Brian Foundation's International Leadership Seminar at Walt Disney World-Epcot Center in Orlando, FL, on Aug. 5-13, 1983.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 300 visitors from April 4 through April 11. Travel is picking up of which we are grateful.

We have had several very nice warm days, yes, some wind but otherwise grand. I noticed some people purchasing potatoe salad, barbecue and home-cooked pinto beans at Olin's to go on a picnic. It must be spring.

The Capitan Junior-Senior Prom was held at the multipurpose building last Saturday night. Dinner was catered by El Paisano. Steaks were cooked by Jack Watson in the foyer of that building. A large crowd attended.

The beautiful decorations were blue and white.

Classes read predictions and class wills.

The dance was held in the gym with decorations of silver. Music like a disco, with Darrel Ray, Frank Romero and David Cummins operating lights and the music, etc.

From Queen—Gloria Zamora. King—David Beavers.

It was a very elegant affair and the dresses were beautiful and everyone looked very nice. Something to be long remembered.

Village Clerk Virginia Spall and Billing Clerk Dana Runnels attended a meeting of the Municipal District Conference Leagues in Cloudcroft, April 13.

The Postmasters of New Mexico state chapter of NAPUS held their annual convention at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, April 6-9. There was a large crowd in attendance.

I am so happy to report that the Hondo Fiesta will be held at the High School Gym in Ruidoso, April 22-23. It is such a beautiful performance of Mexican dances done with perfection by those students. Do go and enjoy the evening and you will be glad you did for it is wonderful. Their PTA will serve food just as they did in Hondo. It will be an evening to be remembered with happiness. I am happy for them.

Mr. Cooke, our band director, took a group of 20 of his junior high students via bus with James Jenkins as bus driver, Jane Allred and Paul Griego as chaperones, to Humming Bird Camp near Jemez Springs above Albuquerque last Thursday through Sunday. They visited many historical sites, the last one being Bandalier National Park. They had a most enjoyable trip.

Cathy Ross, Bertelle Delgado, Vicky Hall and Lee Ann Longbotham, our Girl Scout leaders, attended their annual council meeting in Roswell, April 16. They had dinner and each received an appreciation award for their voluntary services. They did enjoy the day. They are doing a great job and we are proud of them.

Monday, April 25, there will be a 4-H meeting at the Fair Building at 5 p.m. This is the last meeting to sign up for 4-H projects.

The Capitan Fire Softball team will practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday. They held a garage sale and also a bake sale last week. They expect to do that again very soon.

Driving tests will be given at the City Hall Tuesday through Thursday from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m.

The Capitan School is sponsoring a Little League basketball. The girls games are Tuesday after school. The boys games are Thursday after school.

Linda Ponder took a group of 4-H girls to a horse clinic at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces last Saturday.

The Spring Fling Musical was held at school last Tuesday night. Large crowds always enjoy this.

Happy birthday and many more to Marian Lynn Runnels of Bonito who was two years of age Saturday, April 16.

Karen Hall and Robert Miranda were united in marriage at the Hazel Bradford home April 12. She is the granddaughter of Georgia Maples. I wish this couple many years of happiness.

A good group of Senior Citizens were in attendance at the April carry-in dinner at the center. All enjoyed the bountiful meal and games. Margarito Trujillo won the quilt for which the seniors were taking donations. The seniors are grateful for the community's help in their moneyraising endeavors. The money is used for in-kind payment and materials for crafts. The next dinner will be April 27 at noon.

Raymond Schneider returned home last Thursday after two weeks in the Ruidoso Hospital. I wish him the very best and quick recovery.

Dolly and Tim Proctor and their lovely family visited her sister, The Olin Boohers, Easter and visited for while on Monday, April 18. They are happily located on a ranch near Roswell.

Orville Trammel of Hobbs and Dean Strickland of Lovington visited Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland and Mrs. David Strickland and their families last weekend and went turkey hunting and they did kill a turkey.

This is great interest to many who can remember 53 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Buck Akers of Coarsegold, California, visited the Smokey Bear Museum and reminisced some childhood memories. Buck left 53 years ago with his parents, and they located 30 miles north of Fresno, CA, near Yosemite. He had not been back since that time.

His father's name was Aaron Akers and they lived in the place across from Smokey Bear Museum which is now known as Mountain Wood Craftman. They first lived on the Cooper Ranch.

THE HANDSOME Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York's posh Manhattan district owns 107 rundown tenements in Paterson, N.J., where 400 families live with rotting roofs, broken windows, peeling paint, cockroaches and mice. The tenants are unhappy that their living quarters are not being upgraded as quickly as they wish. Annie Nero is such a tenant, a welfare mother who pays $235 a month for her 5-room apartment. She complains of a cracked wall and a broken toilet. No rents have been increased. The Rev. Bryant M. Kirkland, the church's pastor for 21 years, says his church is doing the best it can. The church acquired the property in 1980-82 for $1.6 million. Last year the church took in $800,000 in rents, all of which was spent on repairs, maintenance, insurance and taxes. The church plans to invest $1.75 million over the next 10 years to fix up the properties. It is losing money. In 10 to 15 years it hopes to make a modest return on its investment. The pastor is logical: "I'll grant you that they're not the best homes, but at least they're a dry-roof over people's heads. Some of our people see it as an embarrassment, but I see it as a responsibility and a service." The good pastor is finding out something about man's ingratitude.

WHAT kind of 5-room apartment does Annie Nero want for $235 per month? If her apartment was redecorated, sanitized, painted and repaired could she still rent it for $235? Of course not. The rent would have to be raised to cover the costs. What Annie wants is a $1,000 per month apartment for $235. If the church were making a profit from the rental, that profit would be used to repair the slum. Without profit, how does the slum get face-lifted? Annie isn't interested in that line of reasoning. Like so many people, Annie feels "somebody" owes her the kind of housing she wants. So does the liberal community and so do many of the church members. So the church, which started out to make life a little more comfortable for poor people as a matter of moral obligation, is now regarded as a money-grubbing, sanguisugent slumlord because it can't do more for its tenants.

WHAT would the poor and homeless do without slums? Slum housing is an alternative to sleeping in culverts, under bridges and in cardboard shacks. Slums fill a definite need for the penniless. There they can repair until they can find work that will permit them to live in better surroundings. If they don't care about living in better surroundings, they deserve slum life and the public need not interfere with that choice.

I WONDER what ever happened to the idea of a renter fixing up his own tenement? Why does a landlord have to come in and exterminate mice and cockroaches when the tenant could set a few traps and squirt roach powder around the place? If a tenant kicks out a window, why doesn't he just replace it instead of whining to the building inspector that his landlord isn't "living up to his commitment" to make him cosy? Anybody can maneuver a paint brush or fill a crack in the wall. People have been known to mend their own broken toilets, scrub the floors and throw refuse in the trash container instead of out the window. No one has to live in squalor just because he lives in a rundown, filthy, unpainted tenement. The worst ones can be cleaned and brightened—if one really cares about such things.

I HAVE lived in slums and tenements, and always left them in better condition than when I moved in. Not because I wished to do something nice for the landlord but because self-respect required that the place be clean, neat and uninfested by mice and roaches. Paying such low rent, I could afford the labor and cost of soap and roach powder. Who can't afford a mean and hungry tomcat to patrol the premises?

I FOUND advantages in living in a slum. Nobody came to ask contributions to the Community Chest or home for unwed mothers. No salesmen rang the doorbell for there was no doorbell. Nobody asked to stay overnight, the prelude for staying six months. The tax people left me alone. Credit cards were not available; I was on a cash-and-carry basis, something that hasn't happened since I moved to a more prestigious address. Doctors charged me less for services. I never saw the landlord, for he felt sure I'd want some expensive repairs to his pad. Nobody came to the door with a recorded message that the End Is Near. There was never any fattening food, which kept the figure intact. There was no radio or television, but plenty of books from the library. It was a character-building experience in that I came to loathe poverty. So much so that I got out of it. A procedure I recommend to all who find it distasteful.

HAROLD Washington, new mayor of Chicago, owns slums rented to those who cannot pay for better accommodations. He thinks he is providing a needed service, and I agree. According to the US Census Bureau, there were 31.8 million people in this country with income below the poverty line ($9,287 for a family of four). Were it not for slums, where would 31 million people live?

LIBERALS have the answer. Assess every American a few dollars a year to build the kind of housing the indigent need; and tax all of us again to keep the windows in, the mice at bay and the carpets swept. If you resent having your pockets picked for this good cause you are considered insensitive to the needs of the poor, non-caring, and without respect for honest illth. I, too, have the answer—but you don't want to hear it.

"THE foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head." The Book of Matthew may have been right at the time, but now we have slums!

IN some places in the Orient, I have read, if a person befriends a less worthy person, even to saving his life, the benefactor is required to provide such services for the life of the befriended. East is East and West is West, and maybe the twain is meeting after all.

DR. William DeVries, the surgeon who implanted an artificial heart in the chest of Barney Clark, knows about man's ingratitude. This amazing humanitarian feat, for which he received no fee, has made him a target of some who believe such medical miracles should be left to God. There have been attempts on his life. The brake cables on his car have been cut and his tires punctured. Clarke's widow, Una Loy, has also been threatened, officials say. If we cannot meddle to save a person's life, why should we meddle to provide him a nice apartment?

A FACT of life is the Mc Generation's conviction that each person has a constitutional right, not only to decent housing, but peace of mind, for which the landlord is responsible. The Days Inn hotel in Chattanooga, TN, has found that providing decent overnight accommodations is only part of its responsibility to guests. A federal jury has just awarded $25,000 to a man who hurt his neck when he discovered a scantily-clad woman in his room. Most men would have paid up to $100 for such an adventure, but not this fellow. He said that upon seeing the woman he jerked his head around so that it caused neck pains that have cost him job time and medical expenses. Poor dear. If never would have happened had he lived in a slum.

New Mexico in Washington

Who led Cong. Richardson around in El Salvador?

By LESTER KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON — New Mexico's freshman Democrat, Rep. Bill Richardson, is in the headlines once more.

Having attracted national attention previously by his suggestion that Secretary of the Interior James Watt's Indian policies are influenced by the late General George Custer, Richardson has made a four-day trip to El Salvador, during which he became involved in a shouting match with an army colonel. This officer was understandably annoyed at Richardson's claim that he was responsible for the massacre of two dozen peasants.

Richardson, along with two other Congressmen, Jeffords of Vermont and Oberstar of Minnesota, visited Col. Carlos Gonzalez, commander of the garrison in Sonsonate. This meeting erupted into a shouting match after these Congressmen held Gonzalez responsible for the killing of "18 to 25 peasants, whose hands were bound behind their backs and who had been shot at close range."

According to press reports, Gonzalez instantly denied this charge and noted that a local Indian group, which had been infiltrated by Marxists, was caught in a cross-fire.

But the three Congressmen retorted that this explanation was "not acceptable to the United States."

In wondering just how Richardson & Co. felt authorized to declare to this colonel what is, and what is not "acceptable to the United States," we discovered that Rep. Richardson had not been asked by the US Government, or even the Congress, to go to El Salvador, much less to rule on what is and is not "acceptable to the United States."

Richardson's congenial and ingenious administrative assistant, Jeff Smith, tried valiantly to better this image by noting that the Congressman had been "briefed by the State Department, the Defense Department and even the CIA prior to his departure." But Smith admitted that Richardson was not sent by Congress, since Richardson is not a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, "and it is difficult to obtain funds for such travel. So his way down there was paid by the Universalist-Unitarian Service Committee."

What evidence does Rep. Richardson have to substantiate this massacre charge? Has he seen any bodies or even graves?

"Since the massacre took place on February 28th, he couldn't have seen the bodies," explained Smith. "His information came from AP and UPI press reports as well as from the El Salvador Human Rights Commission."

The El Salvador Human Rights Commission is an unofficial organization founded by Marienella Garcia, a 40-year-old attorney. Earlier this month, Garcia's body was found among a group of dead Marxist guerrillas. "She was operating with the guerrillas and was found with camera equipment," explained Peter Romero, El Salvador Desk Officer at the Department of State in Washington. "Her organization is very critical of the government of El Salvador. It is supposed to be objective, but it has hardly ever investigated reports of atrocities by the guerrillas."

When I asked about Congressman Richardson having been briefed by government agencies including the State Department prior to his departure, Romero replied: "I know that. I briefed him myself. We hoped that he might understand that you ought to be very wary of the various claims made by the guerrilla organization. Then I read that Richardson went down there and announced that the guerrillas are genuinely interested in negotiation."

Rep. Richardson's office had no comment on this observation from the State Department.

In Boston, Dr. Richard Scoble of the Universalist-Unitarian Service Committee told the Lincoln County News: "The four-day trip for these three Congressmen cost at least $10,000, but it has not yet been audited. We set up the whole itinerary and our staffer, who had been down there in advance, leads them around the country. We try to make it balanced, so they see heads of government as well as the opposition, such as priests and campesinos. This is our eighth one of these trips. It's good, because then Congressmen can't be criticized for going there on government funds."

The Universalist-Unitarian Service Committee has been one of the most outspoken critics of the government of El Salvador. They managed to entice New Mexico's eager new Congressman into one of the most effective of all public relations coups, the guided tour.

Richardson shouldn't feel too badly, however. Reporters Elizabeth Becker of The Washington Post and Richard Dudman of The St. Louis Post Dispatch were allowed into Cambodia where they were led around. They subsequently reported quite favorably that peace prevailed and conditions were improving. Only months later, The Reader's Digest broke the story of the massacre of millions of Cambodians.

In El Salvador, the situation is somewhat reversed. There have been numerous reports of massacres by government troops which, when investigated by the US Embassy proved to be false. There was even the widely reported case of a young priest who disappeared and whose ecclesiastical superior charged that he had been kidnapped by the government forces. This was only a few days before this priest walked into the US Embassy, after having visited with the guerrillas.

Inside Religion

Sex sells, even unto priests

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

Philadelphia's conservative Roman Catholic Archbishop John Cardinal Krol is ordinarily much too smart to get caught in a situation as disastrous as President Ford's illfated appearance on "Saturday Night Live." But apparently the allure of an ABC television audience of 30 million, before whom he could defend priestly celibacy, was too great a temptation.

The setting couldn't have been worse. For only minutes before, a fictional archbishop from Australia had participated in an absolutely colossal copulation scene in bed with another man's wife. As the "hero" of "The Thornbirds," this archepiscopal adulterer had not even the minimal decency to renounce his holy orders and marry the girl. And his very diligently filmed sexual activities in the sack strongly suggested a fellow Australian named Errol Flynn, rather than The Virgin Ralph.

Cardinal Krol's appearance was further marred by one of his co-panelists, the Rev. Andrew

Greeley, author of two steamy, seamy sex books, including "The Cardinal Sins."

Rather predictably, Father Greeley saluted "The Thornbirds" as "one of the great educational efforts." And he went on to slip in a plug (worth $11,000) for his latest priest-fornication novel, "Thy Brother's Wife."

While this clever ad-grab slipped by ABC host Ted Koppel, Greeley managed to impale himself when he went on to observe, wide-eyed and smirking, that celibate priests are after all "fascinating," especially when they sin sexually.

This was all that Koppel needed by way of an extended ego, in order to make Greeley pay a little for his ad-grab. "Why should we care about priests being fascinating?" asked Koppel, in that mellifluous voice which effectively vaselined the dagger.

For only a fleeting moment, there was a shattering silence as Greeley, for almost the first time in his life, felt how it is to be skewered. But then in a sort of desperate recovery, Father Greeley blurted out that God is fascinating, too. This suggests that Father Greeley's next literary triumph will be either "God As Zeus The Seducer" or a D.H. Lawrence-like "Love Life Of The Lord."

Cardinal Krol was very persuasive at first in citing a number of heroic celibate clergy and even the married Mahatma Gandhi, who gave up sexual relations with his wife in order to develop his self-control. But Krol went on to quote from John Henry Cardinal Newman's reference to revealed religion being dominated by the Voice of Peter; in other words, the authority of the Papacy.

Immediately the camera switched to another special guest, Blaise Bompane, a priest who married a nun. Bompane noted that St. Peter had a wife; that Christ selected married Apostles to be the first leaders of His Church; that compulsory celibacy was instituted in the 11th century to keep clergy from giving church land to their heirs; and that today there are 17 rites (or special divisions such as the Uniate

Letters to the Editor

Cramer charges 'preposterous'

EDITOR—I, among many other people, was appalled at the "open letter" from Mr. Cramer to Dr. James P. Miller. I felt I had to write and comment.

It is obvious that Mr. Cramer is ignorant of circumstances surrounding the tragic death of Jerry Lewis. I think the people of Carriazo are beginning to realize that a drug problem does exist; and I, for one, am glad to see school officials and parents trying to deal with this problem before it really gets out of hand.

I believe Dr. Miller and Mr. Sidebottom are on the right track in their efforts to try to educate parents and make us all aware of the dangers of drug abuse. By educating parents on the effects of alcohol and drugs we as parents can detect their use among our children, and we can deal with it on a more intelligent level.

Where Mr. Cramer dreamed up the idea that Dr. Miller is trying to create an "imperial superintendency" is preposterous and totally unfounded. This is clearly a low blow, and a reflection of Mr. Cramer's animosity toward the school administration.

If Mr. Cramer were really concerned about the problem of our school system he would offer constructive criticism, and not go on a tongue-lashing spree designed to embarrass people who are truly trying to do a good job, and who are truly concerned about our children.

I, for one, hope that Dr. Miller stays here for many years to come because it will be many years before all my children graduate—and I feel comfortable with him as our superintendent. Everyone with whom I have talked feels the same way.

School support needed

EDITOR—As a longtime teacher in Lincoln County I have worked for several sets of administrators. They have all been well qualified, professional people with a deep concern for the wellbeing of the students and quality education.

Their integrity and commitment in obtaining the best staff possible sometimes make them targets for attack from far less dedicated individuals.

The school needs the support of the parents and the community in order to give the best education possible to the children.

A simple solution

EDITOR—If the United States took the simple step of prohibiting the sale of any more computers to Russia, it could be 20 to 30 years (if ever) before the Reds could build machines on which they could depend. The MX could very well be the last missile we ever have to buy if we simply don't sell the Soviets the solution to the problem it presents. It should be obvious that, if we hadn't sold (given) them the original IBM and CDC computers 10 years ago we would not now need the MX missile, but simply could put the existing spare Minutemen in super-hardened silos and preserve an adequate deterrent until the end of the century.

Herald, CA.

Photos appreciated

EDITOR—Thank you for printing from time to time photographs of Carriazo Mountain. In 1910, my parents, Samuel Robert and Louisa Ella Moss, homesteaded 160 acres of government land, and for the next 13 years lived there and around Capitan Mountain, ranching and teaching school at such places as Patos Creek, Encinoso, Meek, Nogal, Parson, the Hondo, Arabela, and Blue Water.

Seeing pictures of the majestic mountains still give me a thrill and recall vivid memories of the old days.

We did write a column two weeks ago but the storm must have delayed the mail so that the column did not reach the office in time for publication. So most of those news gems are forever lost.

We did have a snow storm, officially 21 inches, but more than that in many places, with howling winds that made four to five-foot drifts common. The melting snow put out tank water, and there was heavy livestock loss in cattle and young sheep. The buzzards and doves had arrived the week before the storm hit.

In place of the annual spring tea for the girls in the junior and senior classes members of Preceptor Alpha Nu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi invited girls and boys of both classes to a ham dinner Sunday afternoon in the school recreation room. The students were introduced and shared some of their plans and dreams. Vice-President Eya Mae Holleyman told of the international scholarships available to children of Beta Sigma Phi's. Dolly Smith and Tom Perkins had applied. Mrs. Holleyman complimented them on completing the application forms. She presented Dolly with a graduation charm and Tom with an award certificate. She gave Tom a boutonniere and gave yellow roses to Dolly and her mother, Eleanor Smith, and to Tom's mother and grandmother, Patricia and Geraldine Perkins.

Preceptor Alpha Nu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday afternoon in the home of Kathleen Williams with president Patricia Perkins in charge of the ritual and business sessions. Discussion concerned the scrapbook, the dinner for the junior and senior classes, Founders Day arrangements, and the state convention to be held in Socorro June 3-5.

Roll call was: What is your opinion of a nuclear freeze and of the anti-nuclear protest marches? Linda Cancilla and Geraldine Perkins chose two countries to discuss from the World Around Us from the Selected Cultural Programs Outline and spoke of the land, the people and historical highlights for each. Mrs. Cancilla chose Canada with emphasis on two cities, Toronto and Vancouver. She discussed Toronto's public transportation, critical housing shortage, two-tiered government moratorium on high rises, ethnic groups staying separate, separate districts and boroughs for police and fire protection and other affairs. Vancouver has half the population of British Columbia where rainfall varies from 300 to 10 inches per year. Skiing to boating are only 20 minutes from downtown. Fish and lumber are the big industries plus tourism. Vancouver has the largest Chinese colony in Canada; it is also noted for its silver thread centers for senior citizens.

Mrs. Perkins talked on the USSR with its 15 republics. Moscow grew up on the trade routes from Europe to the Orient and between the Caspian and Baltic Seas. She discussed communism, the 15 ethnic groups, and the Kremlin; and recommended reading MIG Pilot by John Barron, the story of Victor Balenko, which gives a good idea of conditions and morale among the army and civilian groups. She also had a small display of mementoes from the trip she made with her daughter, and said that from discussions with more recent tourists conditions have changed very little. Mrs. Williams served refresh-

1ST PLACE in the state contest went to the agricultural mechanics team of Charles Zamora, Adrian Sanchez and Melody Hefker. Advisor Mike Gaines is at right.

Thomas Perkins wins $1,000 scholarship

Thomas Perkins, son of Patricia and Gerald Perkins, Corona, has won a $1,000 scholarship from the Walter and Dorothy Ross Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Perkins is one of 20 recipients of grants from this fund, which is financed by members and friends of Beta Sigma Phi, an international women's service, social and cultural organization. Perkins' mother is a member of New Mexico Preceptor Alpha Nu, Corona, a local chapter of this sorority. Recipients of the grants must either be members or daughters or sons of members of Beta Sigma Phi.

This Corona student won the grant for outstanding scholastics and citizenship, and for an essay that outlined his plans for a career in agriculture.

Beta Sigma Phi, an international organization of 250,000 members in 34 countries, has funded hundreds of scholarships for students throughout the world. Besides the Walter and Dorothy Ross Memorial Scholarship Fund, members are responsible for the giving of many scholarships to Canadian students; and an annual scholarship to a Beta Sigma Phi legacy daughter. Many local chapters also raise money to sponsor scholarships for their area's high school students.

State gives 'Last Escape' pageant back to Lincoln

The pageant grounds at Lincoln State Monument will belong to the Lincoln Pageant & Festival Corporation as soon as appropriate deeds are signed and filed in Lincoln County, the Museum of New Mexico Board of Regents learned Wednesday at its meeting in Santa Fe.

"We're very pleased to turn the property back to this nonprofit group so that they can continue to produce the annual 'Last Escape of Billy the Kid Pageant,'" Thomas J. Caperton, MNM Monuments chief, said.

The pageant grounds were given to the State of New Mexico 1961 by the Lincoln County Society of Art, History and Archaeology. The grounds were administered by the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission, a state agency, until 1978 when the commission's powers were reduced and Lincoln properties transferred to the Museum of New Mexico. During this 22-year-period, the state improved and maintained the pageant grounds.

The enactment of the Last Escape of Billy the Kid Pageant has been an annual summertime event since 1949, organized each year until recently by an informal group of Lincoln residents. Recently, the group was formalized as the Lincoln Pageant & Festival Corporation.

After some difficulties over lease terms, insurance and care in August, the museum began investigating the possibility of turning the grounds permanently back to the residents of Lincoln. A clause in state statutes was discovered that says if land is given to the state (with no involvement of funds) and the state does not use the land as specified, then the property can return to the group that donated the land. The attorney general's office decided the pageant grounds could revert to the successor of the Lincoln County Society of Art, History and Archaeology, which is the Lincoln Pageant & Festival Corp., because technically the state never had produced the pageant.

but rather had maintained the property for the use of the informal organizers.

So, the Lincoln Pageant & Festival Corp. filed a friendly suit of convenience to gain ownership of the property. The suit did not go to court because the Museum of New Mexico did not contest it.

The Lincoln Pageant & Festival Corp. already is planning this summer's event which is a reenactment by local residents of portions of the infamous Lincoln County War of the 1890s and the escape of outlaw Billy the Kid from the Lincoln County Courthouse.

Lincoln State Monument is located between Roswell and Carrizozo on Highway 380. Several historic buildings, including the old Lincoln County Courthouse, are being restored and preserved by the Museum of New Mexico's monuments division. General monument hours are 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. daily.

Correspondence to the board included several thank-you cards and letters expressing appreciation to the district for shelter during the April 4 snowstorm. The letters came from all parts of the US.

On April 13, board members "Hoot" Gibson and Tommy Guevara lunched with a group of educators from Central and South America. The group is studying education at UNM for a year prior to returning to their home countries.

As part of their study they chose Carrizozo to look at rural education in general and agricultural education in specific. The group toured the schools and visited the vo-ag shop and livestock barn. Following lunch at the school's cafeteria, they observed a microcomputer demonstration.

Several bilingual students and staff members served as interpreters for the visiting group.

During Tuesday's regular meeting the board moved to go into executive session for the purpose of viewing and taking into consideration staff employment for 1983-84. The motion was amended to include discussion of pending litigation.

After one hour and forty-five minutes in closed session the board disclosed the following:

churches in the Middle East) which are part of the Catholic Church and accept the Pope as leader - and which have married priests.

The saga of celibate clergy struggling against the lure of well arranged female flesh is hardly new. But it took the geniuses at ABC-TV to dramatize priestly fornication as their special feature for Holy Week.

Taste did not perish altogether, however. For McDonald's Hamburgers requested that all their commercial run BEFORE the Big Night when the Archbishop, in white civvies, finally took the gorgeous young wife to bed.

Perhaps McDonald's was afraid that the big buck-makers at ABC might feature The Most Reverend Ralph coming out from between the sheets in order to refuel his libido by chomping on a Big Mac.

OLD LINCOLN TOWN

By JERRY LOCKE

Thirty-nine people attended the Lincoln Zoning Board meeting. Pretty good for a community of less than 150. Five members of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission were here to observe and aid the Lincoln board. Both Bill Seelbach, chairman, and Ben Hall, member, brought up several excellent points. Lincoln has an architectural and historical quality found very seldom. Hope this quality is preserved.

Saw lights at the Wortley Hotel dining room the other night. Have not checked but maybe the old hotel is now open full time. Warm weather seems to be bringing out the natives. Cille Dockery has been busy building and painting a new wooden fence. Interrupted Jerry Jordan digging postholes. From the sweat on his brow, I think he appreciated the break. Maurilda's "Perry's Paradise" is beginning to bloom. It is a beautiful flower garden.

This column frequently presents Lincoln as different and unique. It is! Despite loss of the county seat, decline in population and not really having an economic base, Lincoln never died. Other towns withered and passed on or grew and modernized. Lincoln did neither. Of its 40 plus structures, over half are original. Many date back to the Lincoln County War days. "Certainly Lincoln must take first place among the villages of the Southeastern New Mexico in the combined departments of color, history and romance." Looking Over My Shoulder, Cecil Bonney, 1971.

If you awake early and step outside in Lincoln, you may hear a lone, creepy cry. Don't bother to look for the source for, Mr. Coyote will already be gone. The Indian believed he was God's dog, entrusted to carry a jar full of stars. But his curiosity got the better of him and he lifted the lid, scattering the stars to the heavens for eternity.

Caution! The deer are out on the highway. Saw three small herds last night. They are beautiful little animals but can raise havoc with both your car and person.

THE 1830s ERA STAGECOACH, "Mountain Pride," is on display inside the Lincoln County Courthouse at Lincoln State Monument from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The monument, a part of the Museum of New Mexico, is located on Highway 380 between Carrizozo and Roswell.

MARY BODWELL, doll collector, speaking before the doll show sponsored by the Carrizozo PTA, April 15.

A trip into the world of dolls

By P.E. Chavez
Dolls, loved the world over, may be made of anything from rubber and china to cloth and wood. They may be made in factories and bought in shops, or they may be made at home.
Marge Bodwell, Alamogordo doll collector, owns dolls of practically every material, description and size.
At an April 16 doll show, where she displayed her collection, Bodwell told her audience that "it is easy to be lured by the fascination of dolls."
She advised doll show-goers: "If you want to be a serious doll collector you must know your collection. Lack of knowledge in any collection, whether it be stamps or other things, result in sad experiences." She said most libraries have doll books listing types and prices.

You can find dolls everywhere, including garage sales, where for 50 cents and a little imagination a doll can be transformed into a thing of beauty.
"The true value of any doll is the joy that we receive from the doll or the joy someone else receives from the dolls we share," Bodwell said at the event sponsored by Carrizozo PTA.
"I love to share my dolls," Bodwell said. She has displayed them at banquets, teas and programs.
Bodwell says she uses her collection in a practical way by using them as part of the decor in her home and in her teaching profession. She is a 2nd grade teacher at Holloman AFB.

She started a serious doll collection in 1953 when her daughter, Elizabeth, was born. Since then friends and relatives have sent her dolls from all parts of the world. Her sons, Roger and Robert, both pilots, have been contributors to her foreign doll collection.
Bodwell herself has visited 14 countries and every state in the union except Alaska. During her travels over the US she has added many historical dolls to her collection, which has enhanced to her love of history and love of "this wonderful country."
"I've always been a historical nut as well as a doll nut," says Bodwell. "My doll collection has led me into the pages of history books," she added.
Her main topic at the PTA doll show was a presentation using 12 Madam Alexander first lady dolls. The dolls, now scarce and expensive, were manufactured during the bicentennial year. Bodwell doubts that she will ever see or own the rest of the series.

The dolls sit or rest in antique doll chairs, benches, cradles beds and strollers.
During one of her Alamogordo visits in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lott commented, "I'm tired of dressing dolls. Isn't there something else to do?"
"Well, you can refinish that table if you like," Bodwell answered pointing to a piece of furniture.
Martha, a fine cook, had very little formal education, but was an excellent hostess, Bodwell stated.
She talked about the accomplishments of each succeeding first lady including the sorrowful times in their lives, citing incidents of illness, death, and career disappointments.

Other dolls in the Bodwell collection include several Kewpie and Shirley Temple dolls. The Temple doll, modeled after the character she portrayed in the movies, need to have the approval of Shirley Temple Black before a company can make them. This year there are six new ideal Shirley Temple dolls.
Bodwell has several twin dolls, "I am a twin, so I pick up a few now and then."
She also has five dolls made about 1930 which represent the Dionne quintuplets of Canada.
She has dolls once owned by her grandmother. Among them a Lee Overall doll given to her grandmother by her grandfather, an Ohio clothing merchant. The doll was once used for advertising the overalls.
The Bodwell collection include musical dolls, three-faced dolls, dolls with 'growing' hair, cute dolls, beautiful dolls and even homely looking dolls.
Bodwell has designed and made clothing for some of the dolls. Her mother, Mrs. C.E. Lott of Xenia, OH, has helped her in sewing for the dolls.

FINALLY!

There is a roofing material that can survive in Lincoln County! Tired of constant problems with leaks, rotten wood and water damage to your walls? Now there is a lightweight, long-lasting and wall covering that is so tough, flexible and durable that it can handle just about all the problems we have.
Solving for sun, brittle, sagging, tenacious, Hair Wands, nails that work their way up through conventional materials. Metal roofs that leak around seams and methods. Cracks that appear between wood, masonry and tile. All these and more we don't just cover up, we solve your roofing material.
It can go over your old metal or tar-and-paper roofs. On flat roofs or pitched. On wood, masonry, or metal. New construction or old. Commercial or residential. Mobile homes or City Hall. Anyplace at all you want an impervious membrane to keep water, wind and dirt out.
And since it doesn't cost any more than the old fashioned tar paper and gravel roofs that leak, there's really no reason not to use the very best there is.
Give us a call and let us show you this stuff. You'll be impressed and pleasantly surprised at how normally we can solve your roof and wall problems.

Airman Moises J. Sambrano, son of Moises and Elizabeth Sambrano of Carrizozo, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, TX, after completing Air Force basic training. The airman is a 1981 graduate of Carrizozo High School.

MARY BODWELL, doll collector, speaking before the doll show sponsored by the Carrizozo PTA, April 15.

A trip into the world of dolls

By P.E. Chavez
Dolls, loved the world over, may be made of anything from rubber and china to cloth and wood. They may be made in factories and bought in shops, or they may be made at home.
Marge Bodwell, Alamogordo doll collector, owns dolls of practically every material, description and size.
At an April 16 doll show, where she displayed her collection, Bodwell told her audience that "it is easy to be lured by the fascination of dolls."
She advised doll show goers, "If you want to be a serious doll collector you must know your collection. Lack of knowledge in any collection, whether it be stamps or other things, result in sad experiences." She said most libraries have doll books listing types and prices.

You can find dolls everywhere, including garage sales, where for 50 cents and a little imagination a doll can be transformed into a thing of beauty.
"The true value of any doll is the joy that we receive from the doll or the joy someone else receives from the dolls we share," Bodwell said at the event sponsored by Carrizozo PTA.
"I love to share my dolls," Bodwell said. She has displayed them at banquets, teas and programs.
Bodwell says she uses her collection in a practical way by using them as part of the decor in her home and in her teaching profession. She is a 2nd grade teacher at Holloman AFB.

She started a serious doll collection in 1953 when her daughter, Elizabeth, was born. Since then friends and relatives have sent her dolls from all parts of the world. Her sons, Roger and Robert, both pilots, have been contributors to her foreign doll collection.
Bodwell herself has visited 14 countries and every state in the union except Alaska. During her travels over the U.S. she has added many historical dolls to her collection, which has enhanced to her love of history and love of "this wonderful country."
"I've always been a historical nut as well as a doll nut," says Bodwell. "My doll collection has led me into the pages of history books," she added.
Her main topic at the PTA doll show was a presentation using 12 Madam Alexander first lady dolls. The dolls, now scarce and expensive, were manufactured during the bicentennial year. Bodwell doubts that she will ever see or own the rest of the series.
She began her talk with the doll representing Martha Washington, who became America's First Lady when George Washington took office as the first president in 1789.

Martha, a fine cook, had very little formal education, but was an excellent hostess, Bodwell stated.
She talked about the accomplishments of each succeeding first lady including the sorrowful times in their lives, citing incidents of illness, death, and career disappointments.
Other dolls in the Bodwell collection include several Kewpie and Shirley Temple dolls. The Temple doll, modeled after the character she portrayed in the movies, need to have the approval of Shirley Temple Black before a company can make them. This year there are six new ideal Shirley Temple dolls.
Bodwell has several twin dolls. "I am a twin, so I pick up a few now and then."
She also has five dolls made about 1930 which represent the Dionne quintuplets of Canada.
She has dolls once owned by her grandmother. Among them a Lee Overall doll given to her grandmother by her grandfather, an Ohio clothing merchant. The doll was once used for advertising the overalls.
The Bodwell collection include musical dolls, three-faced dolls, dolls with 'growing' hair, cute dolls, beautiful dolls and even homely looking dolls.
Bodwell has designed and made clothing for some of the dolls. Her mother, Mrs. C.B. Lott of Xenia, OH, has helped her in sewing for the dolls.

How to Measure

If installing inside window frame, measure width and length.

If installing outside window frame, add desired overlap, such as molding width, to inside width. If there is no molding, recommended overlap is 1 1/2" per side.

For example, if you are installing inside a window frame that measures 23 1/2" wide and 56" long, select the package marked 23" to 23 3/4" wide x 64" long. Blind lengths can be shortened at home.

We can special order any sizes you need.
