

Hinderance to marijuana growers in '83

By P. E. CHAVEZ
The value of narcotics seized in 1983 by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department totaled $148,950.02 and involved 26 cases, which include 1 LSD case, 3 heroin cases, 2 cocaine cases and 20 marijuana cases. Thirty-three narcotic related arrests were made.

Narcotics seized last year included 2,360 marijuana plants, all prior to maturing. Had these plants reached maturity, a conservative estimated value would be $1,200.00 yield per plant. The confiscation prevented the circulation, within the county, of $2,832,000.00 worth of marijuana.

According to Chief Deputy Charles Cox, the increase of narcotic related cases and arrests can be attributed in part to the efforts of the department's investigation division, formed in July 1983. Sgt. John Ashbaugh and Deputy Ray Garner, both of Ruidoso, are the investigation team for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept.

Sheriff Tom Sullivan appeared before the county commissioners at their Jan. 10 meeting to present them with his department's year end report. Value of property stolen totaled $206,387.00. Value of recovered property totaled $120,694.00. Recovery rate was 58.4 percent.

"This is far above the national average for the recovery of stolen property," Sullivan pointed out. Other achievements accomplished in 1983 by the Sheriff's Dept. include the initiation of a complete incident reporting system; the revamping of the civil division (eliminated duplication, improved bookkeeping of civil fees and most recently assigned a full time process server to eliminate confusion and delays in serving of civil process); updated warrants and the initiation of an extradition procedure for out of state warrants. The dispatch room has been enlarged to accommodate added equipment. Almost 100 percent coverage of county and surrounding areas has been achieved by updating the radio system. Number of radio calls logged in 1983 totaled 76,484; telephone calls numbered 36,501. A National Crime Information Center (NCIC) terminal has been installed. Dispatchers have been sent to FBI school to learn operation of the terminal, which connects to FBI terminals in Washington, DC and every state.

Personnel in-house training as well as training by professional police schools has been introduced. During 1983, three deputies attended the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy. Each payday the personnel and equipment undergo inspection. This action makes deputies better aware of their personal appearance and to take better care of their assigned equipment.

The assignment of deputies to areas in which they reside in the county has resulted in shorter response time to calls, eliminated duplication of patrol and provided better patrol coverage with less mileage. A night patrol has been initiated.

In addition to the forming of an investigation division, the department started a National Crime Prevention program for Lincoln County. A study was conducted of various crimes and crime areas of the county. Enforcement action to cope with the findings of the studies has been commenced. Sullivan believes the success of the studies is evidenced by the decrease of crimes in the last three months of 1983, which is normally high during the Christmas holidays.

Among jail improvements was the installation of an intercom system in jail blocks, uniforms for inmates to increase security and the initiation of a log for all inmates scheduled to appear in court.

The number of prisoners booked in 1983 was 584 which includes 34 juveniles and 102 illegal aliens. The department experienced one jail escape, making the jail personnel more security conscious.

Grazing permits cause problems

By RUTH HAMMOND
White Oaks rancher Bud Crenshaw met with W. R. Snyder, Director of Range Management, Regional US Forest Service, Albuquerque, Paul Gordon, Ruidoso Ranger District, and Don Cunico of the Lincoln National Forest supervisors office, Alamogordo. The meeting was held Jan. 11 at the REA building in Carrizozo to discuss Crenshaw's grazing permit on the Pino Grazing Allotment, Lincoln National Forest.

A letter to Mr. Crenshaw dated Nov. 2, 1983 stated that Forest Supervisor James R. Abbott has recommended the term grazing permit for 20 cattle on the Pino Grazing Allotment, with a period of use from Nov. 1 through March 31, be cancelled. Before making a decision, Crenshaw was invited to provide any information he wished to be considered in the matter. The permit is in suspension for unauthorized use until Nov. 84.

Mr. Crenshaw said there are 24 gates between his land and Forest Service land that pose the problem. He presented other information that will help the regional forester or his deputy make a decision in the near future.

Crenshaw said that his special use permit of 150 acres had been terminated. The Forest Service explained that a special use permit is highly individualized and spells out the responsibility of the holder of the permit. It sometimes can be used as an integral part of the ranch. There are not very many special use pastures still in use. The Department of Agriculture has been phasing out special use pasture for 10 years. There is only a handful left, and they try to incorporate special use pastures into grazing allotments.

The National Forest Service provides 9 percent of the rangeland grazing in New Mexico. In fiscal year 1981 Lincoln National Forest had 123 range allotments. The 1,036,055 acres provided 143,931 AUM's. AUM is Animal Unit Month, forage sufficient to provide grazing for 1 cow or 3 sheep for 1 month. Payment to Lincoln County for Fiscal Year 1981 was $41,501.

Livestock grazing on rangelands is a very important industry in the Southwest. The forage furnished from lands of the NFS is an essential contribution to the well-being of that industry. It is important that these ranges be maintained and improved so they can continue to contribute their fair share of forage for livestock.

Approximately two-thirds of the allotments have satisfactory management practices being applied. Progress continues to be made in implementing improved management practices on all allotments. With the application of satisfactory management practices, sufficient forage will be available to provide for authorized livestock.

DEPUTY Sheriff Connie Hopper of Ruidoso recently joined the staff at the Lincoln County Sheriff's office. Prior to this she was employed as head teller at Ruidoso State Bank. Hopper is no stranger to police work. She has worked in the past for the County Sheriff's Dept., Ruidoso Downs Police Dept., Ruidoso Police Dept., Roswell Police Dept. and was recently member of Sheriff's Reserve in Ruidoso.

Star witness absent

Drug hearing postponed

By P. E. CHAVEZ
The six people arrested in Lincoln County in connection with the 2-county early morning raid on Jan. 10 have been released from custody after posting bonds.

Three of the subjects Anna Lima, Virginia H. Brown and John L. Caillouet, also known as Jeep Jagger were scheduled for preliminary hearings Tuesday, Jan. 18, with Magistrate court judge Bettye Dean presiding.

Motion was made and accepted for a continuance of the proceeding due to the unavailability of the main witness Debbie Horner.

Representing the defendants was Gary C. Mitchell of Ruidoso. James R. Askew, Carrizozo represented the State of New Mexico. Representing Lima was D. R. Villani of Las Cruces.

Brown was refunded her appearance bond and released on O.R. bond (Own Recognizance). Caillouet was released Tuesday morning from the Lincoln County jail on O.R. bond. Lima is still out on bond.

Preliminary hearings for the trio will be held within 60 days. Kurt R. Miller, Jason L. Meyers and Jackie L. Wilson, the three others arrested in Lincoln County have not been scheduled for preliminary hearings.

"Wrong name, right person," was the answer given by a spokesman from the Ruidoso Police Dept. when the NEWS inquired about the accuracy of the identification of Virginia Brown. A Mary Whittenberg contacted the NEWS in reference to the name as it appeared in the raid story.

Thirteen persons were arrested in the raid conducted by several law enforcement agencies from Lincoln and Otero counties.

Deborah Jane Pipkin, age 30, was booked into the county jail on Jan. 13. Pipkin of Ruidoso, charged with issuance of worthless checks was released after posting bond of $1,000.

Henry Padilla, age 31, Ruidoso Downs, was charged Jan. 13 with a Sun Valley Addition burglary and was released after a $10,000 property bond was posted.

$225,000 housing rehab to start soon

Mayor Harold Garcia, project director Jim Cooper and assistant project director Albert Baca attended an intense inservice training session in Santa Fe Jan. 10-11 that explained how to administer the CDBG program. The CDBG, which is the Community Development Block Grant of $225,000 for housing rehabilitation, will start soon.

Garcia, Cooper and Baca will meet with the citizen advisory committee to update guidelines before applications will be taken. There will be community meetings for people to learn how to apply.

Airport renovation to start March 1

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo Airport Committee met Jan. 16 to discuss requirements for construction of hangars. Hangar space will be leased and the committee is working with two prospective lessees at this time. They also reviewed letters received from applicants for the airport manager position. Chairman Goad will write and ask qualified applicants to come for a personal interview in Carrizozo at their earliest convenience.

Renovation of the airport will start on or near Mar. 1 and the committee would like to have a manager selected by that date. Scott Shafer said, "We are putting a lot of stock in hiring an efficient manager."

Engineers plans have been approved and funding for the airport improvement project is provided by a grant of $178,000. The grant for resurfacing of existing runway and construction of additional apron and tie-down area is a cooperative grant between the town of Carrizozo and the state. Department of Aviation Architect Joe Shain presented the preliminary plans for the airport improvement project to the town council at their last meeting. One copy of the plans for renovation is in the council room of city hall for inspection by the public.

Airport committee members present for the meeting were Scott Shafer, Hoot Gibson, Robert Hemphill, Dr. Dale Goad and Woody Schlegel.

THE evidence room at the Lincoln County jail will be better organized when construction of a storage room is completed. Less important items will be moved there. Jail administrator Wayland Hill is pictured amid a collection of evidence including several pot plants.

Carrizozo-Capitan housing projects completion set for July Construction recently started on the building of eighteen rental housing units in Carrizozo and fourteen in Capitan. The rental units are part of an 84 unit housing project that is being built for the Region VI Housing Authority. The project includes 52 units in Roswell (2 - 1 BR; 28 - 2 BR; 18 - 3 BR; and 4 - 4 BR), 14 units in Capitan (6 - 1 BR; 6 - 2 BR; and 2 - 3 BR) and 18 units in Carrizozo (6 - 1 BR, 6 - 2 BR; and 6 - 3 BR).

The Region VI Housing Authority first applied for the project to HUD in March, 1980. The project was approved in June, 1980, and it took until September, 1983, to complete the government paperwork process, select a developer-builder and negotiate a contract to build the project.

Hunt Building Corporation of El Paso, Texas, is the developer-contractor for the project with Nifms, Calvani and Associates of Carlsbad, New Mexico, as the design architect. Construction started in late October, 1983, at the Roswell site.

The Capitan and Carrizozo sites were started in late November, 1983. Construction in all three communities is moving slow due to inclement weather but the job should be completed on all sites by July, 1984.

Region VI Housing Authority will manage the rentals under the Low Rent

Public Housing Program beginning in July, 1984. The Authority will begin accepting applications for occupancy in May, 1984. All applications will be taken on a first come, first serve basis but no application will be taken prior to May, 1984.

The exact time and place for taking applications will be published prior to doing so.

Joseph R. Ortega, the Executive Director of the Regional Housing Authority of Region VI, New Mexico, Inc., stated that "the units will be an asset to each community and will provide needed housing for lower income families and the elderly in the area."

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Every year since our eldest daughter, Annette left the nest, I threaten to phone her at 4:20 a.m. on Jan. 13 to wish her a happy birthday. The evening before, I change my mind and do not set the clock. The wee hours of the morning is a time to be warm and cozy under the blankets.

This year on the 13th in the cold, dark, wee hours of the morning I was awakened by the ringing of the telephone. It was Annette calling from Albuquerque, where she lives. She just wanted to remind me of the joyous event almost a quarter of a century ago.

Annette, once 6 pounds, 9 ounces and 19 inches in length, works with the Albuquerque Public Schools. She has one sister and four brothers, who have a tough act to follow.

RICHARD A. VIGUERIE

Time to talk to Assad

WASHINGTON, DC — Support for the presence of American troops in Lebanon is collapsing. Such prominent Senators as Charles Percy (R-IL), Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Barry Goldwater (R-AZ), Chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, are calling for withdrawal. Leading Democrats in Congress have done likewise.

Liberal and conservative members of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans, have come to the conclusion that the Marines in Lebanon should be pulled out. The growing perception is that the US troops are no longer a peacekeeping force; rather, that their presence ensures a continuation of the conflict that has torn that country apart.

Probably the only questions that remain are when will our troops come home and what kind of situation they will leave behind.

The decision of Syrian President Hafez Assad to free Lt. Robert Goodman is a smart public relations move; it almost makes Mr. Assad seem like a reasonable person to the US public. But it may also be an olive branch held out to President Reagan, a signal that Mr. Assad wants to sit down and talk.

In the media hype and general excitement over Jesse Jackson's triumph in freeing Lt. Goodman, it has been mostly ignored that the US Ambassador to Syria, Robert Paganelli, was included in the arrangements. In other words, Mr. Assad did not try to humiliate the Reagan Administration by excluding its representative. The Syrian President dropped his earlier demands that the US withdraw first, or that reconnaissance flights be halted, before the Lieutenant would be released.

Like many other left-leaning dictators around the world, Pres. Assad would like to free his country from dependence upon the Soviet Union. He is not the type of leader who tolerates, being bullied, and it may give him a great deal of pleasure to tell the Soviets to take a hike, as the late Egyptian President Anwar Sadat did in 1972. But, given the unreliability of the United States as an ally during the 1970's and Israel's "sister-state" relationship with the US, Mr. Assad may be reluctant to take the risks to which defiance of the USSR would expose him.

However, President Reagan should aggressively pursue this possible historic opportunity to make Mr. Assad less dependent upon Moscow. One suggestion would be that the two presidents meet as soon as possible to discuss a solution to the crisis in Lebanon.

In fact, Mr. Reagan should consider meeting with all the heads of state who are involved. He should invite the leaders of Syria, Israel, Lebanon, Egypt, and Jordan to meet with him here in Washington or any other suitable US location to work out a plan to end the conflict.

If all reasonable efforts fail to bring peace to Lebanon, then we should pull our marines out of Lebanon and let the Syrians and Israelis slug it out.

For now, though, there is a clear sign that Mr. Assad wants to talk. In the spirit of Camp David and President Reagan's September, 1982 peace initiative, the leaders of the US and Syria might have the opportunity to sit down and bring this episode to a conclusion.

As the late Sir Winston Churchill said, "It is better to jaw, jaw than to war, war."

OPINION...

IT IS not too late for the 1984 Olympic Committee to correct an oversight: To date, Archie Williams, who won a gold medal at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin in the quarter-mile run, has not even been invited to attend the Olympics in Los Angeles this year. All gold medal winners of past Olympics should certainly be invited guests of this year's games, especially those winners in the 1936 games in Berlin where Herr Hitler made such an ass of himself.

WILLIAMS is now teaching mathematics at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley. According to Fred E. Walts, Sebastopol, retired captain for Pan American and a contemporary runner of Williams, the latter is a quiet, modest, unassuming scholar who wouldn't think of being upset by the Olympic Committee's oversight. But it upsets me and it upsets Mr. Walts that this hero of the 1936 games should be ignored in the 1984 games. It is a recognition that should be accorded every gold medal winner. The Soviet Union gives its Olympic winners a farm and a pension for life. Couldn't the US provide a couple of tickets for Williams, and maybe introduce him to the crowd?

ACCORDING to the "Book of Olympics," Williams is a native of Oakland and a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. Prior to the 1936 season, the author states, Williams had never run a quarter-mile faster than 49 seconds. However, at the NCAA championships in Chicago he clocked 46.5 for the 440 yards around one turn, passing the 400-meter mark in 46.1 to break the world record then held by Bill Carr.

AT THE Olympic finals in Berlin Williams and fellow Californian James LuValle led the field entering the home stretch. Godfrey Brown (Great Britain), who was three yards behind with 100 meters to go, staged a thrilling stretch drive, passing LuValle 40 meters from the tape, and was closing in on Williams when the latter breasted the tape. Williams' time was 46.66; Brown's was 46.68.

BACK in the 1930s Walts was running for the San Francisco Olympic Club and later for the University of San Francisco. Williams was running for Cal and Sen. Allen Cranston was running for Stanford. Later, Walts taught Williams how to fly. All three men remain friends to this day.

HOW many Times readers have ever seen an Olympic Gold Medal, or met an Olympic winner? Well, Williams will be at the Sebastopol Times tomorrow afternoon, and he has been instructed to bring his medal along.

WILLIAMS graduated from Cal with honors—in mathematics. He went on to become a colonel in the US Air Force in World War II. To me, he's a great American. If you agree, write the Olympic Committee chairman, Peter Ueberroth, PO Box 60729, Los Angeles, CA 90060. Ask him to recognize this Olympic winner!

THERE IS no truth to the rumor that this newspaper plans to stop publishing news from outlying communities such as Forestville, Occidental, Bodega Bay, Graton, Bloomfield, et al. As always, this newspaper solicits such community news and gives it high priority. Tell your rumormonger to knock it off.

AREA FOLKS are still upset about the redwoods. Some want them to stay as they are, even if people have to go. This Monte Cristo section of Highway 116 near Monte Rio is dangerous to drive and motorists have banged up a lot of cars trying to negotiate that road. Caltrans wants to remove some of the trees and widen the road, and tree lovers will have none of it. I believe highway safety takes precedence over trees. Trees are a renewable resource, and the ones in question are second and third growth redwoods anyway. A couple of years ago the Department of Agriculture published figures to show that there are more trees on the North American continent now than when Columbus arrived. I recommend a copy of this report to Friends of the Redwoods with the hope that their grief at the loss of a few trees will be alleviated. The recent storm toppled dozens of giant redwoods, some estimated to be more than 100 years old. I am surprised that Mother Nature has not been taken to court over this wanton destruction.

I HATE to be caught in agreement with the Democratic wastrels who infest Congress, but I have to join them in beseeching President Reagan to withdraw US Marines from Lebanon. I was opposed to the move in the first place, considering that that particular war is none of our business. It was argued that our oil supply lines to the Middle East were in jeopardy and that we should do everything possible short of war to keep the oil flowing to the US. That argument is not wholly correct. While emphasis is placed on foreign oil, our domestic oil business has suffered. I have just come from an oil producing state, and I can tell you that New Mexico's oil industry is in deep depression, thanks to our passion for foreign oil. Why should we continue to patronize Middle East potentates at the expense of our own oil industry?

ONE ARGUMENT is that if we pull out of Lebanon, the Soviets will fill the vacuum, gobble up the oilfields and make puppet states of those countries. I savor that possibility. Nothing would

Watch over Washington

The towering stupidity of our department of state

By LES KINSOLVING

WASHINGTON—On Sept. 1, 1983, unidentified personnel of the Department of State sent a number of filing cabinets to be refurbished at the Lorton Reformatory, which is the prison for the District of Columbia.

In a blunder hardly matched in the modern history of the world, these filing cabinets were sent to Lorton despite the fact that they contained highly secret intelligence reports.

The general public impression of the Department of State is that its people are above average in intelligence and education. But this ludicrous Lorton blunder raises the harrowing possibility of either one of two devastating alternatives:

1) That the State Department did not realize that this highly classified material was even missing, until an inmate of Lorton gave it to a local TV reporter, who returned it to State.

2) That the State Department was very well aware of its responsibility to be very careful about state secrets—but having realized almost immediately that the mistake had been made, decided to try to hush it up.

It is difficult to determine which of these alternatives is worse. And what is particularly insufferable is that three months after this catastrophe, there is no report to the American people as to who is responsible.

Fortunately, such failure does not characterize the rest of the Reagan Administration. For example, at the Office of Personnel Management, Director Don Devine has stated that "heads will roll." If the results of his order for "an aggressive investigation" determines that any OPM people destroyed any letters from retired federal workers.

No such head-rolling has been promised, or even hinted at, by those laid-back elitists at the State Department. Instead, the Department of State is being vigilant about "guarding such information as—the names and affiliations of all reporters who are accredited to cover the State Department!"

According to Thomas W. Ainsworth of the State Department's Bureau of Administration, the release of any such information "would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." (Reporters? Privacy?)

Mr. Ainsworth's incredible statement was written on Nov. 25 in response to a Freedom of Information request filed the previous May by attorney John Hemenway of Accuracy in Media. Hemenway, a former Foreign Service officer, had asked for a list of names and affiliations of all reporters who are accredited to cover the State Department.

Incredibly, while Ainsworth contended that provision of the full list would be an "invasion of privacy," he provided a list of 63 of these reporters, with their affiliations. But he provided no explanation as to why he would give out this list and not the other 200 or so reporters (including this writer) who are similarly accredited.

Efforts to determine the reason for this vigilance with regard to (certain) reporters' privacy are being met with the customary State Department evasions, which suggests that George Shultz & Co. has some accredited reporters whose identity they are anxious to conceal. But nobody will explain anything.

And so, the public is left wondering why the Department of State, which was guilty of a Grand Canyon of carelessness with regard to government secrets, is, by striking contrast, so vigilant about the patently non-private identity and affiliation of (certain) reporters.

Inside Religion:

Prince Charles and the rival St. Charles societies

By REV. LES KINSOLVING

His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, has endured the slings and arrows of a media-imposed golden bowl of courtship, matrimony and even honeymoon—following a publicly scrutinized bachelorhood in which he was the target of approximately seventy million maidens—and their mothers.

Just prior to the passing of 1983, Prince Charles was subjected to the historic indignity of being the target of a 15-year-old West Indian ple-e-dinger named Karl Slater. When another of his subjects rudely guffawed at this horrid Royal affront, His Royal Highness delighted the realm by immediately wiping the pie from his face and retaliating in kind. ("His Royal Pieness" headlined a local newspaper.)

All of this may prove to be an invaluable basic training in noblesse oblige for that day in the future when this Bonny Prince Charlie becomes His Majesty King Charles III, Defender of the Faith. For the new King Charles may find himself caught in the middle of a smoldering ecclesiastical rivalry.

The Times of London, no less, reported in early 1983 the latest skirmishing between two societies devoted to the memory and veneration of another King Charles of England—whose head was chopped off in 1649, by order of Parliament. The Society of King Charles the Martyr was founded sev-entures later by Mrs. Ermengarda Greville-Nugent and the Rev. James Fish. Each year this royal beheading is remembered with what The Times describes as "a High Mass in St. Mary-le-Strand, with much pomp and incense."

This High Church (Anglo-Catholic) emphasis has led to a schism among the St. Charles the Martyrites. For a rival group soon broke off and organized itself into the Royal Martyr Church Union. The RMCU is headed by Hubert Wadsworth Fenwick, whom The Times has quoted as saying:

"I often wonder why they (Mrs. Greville-Nugent's Society of King Charles the Martyr) bother to go on. They stand for incense and all that, which Charles never did. They do not want to get together with us."

This contention, however, is emphatically denied by the Rector of St. Mary-le-Strand, the Rev. Edward Thompson, who declared: "Oh, but we do! Acrimonious letters have been exchanged in past, but there are always individuals who will stand in the way of anything like that—but a few hairs, a piece of his shirt, his gloves and a piece of coffin. But we are not Stuart fanatics, and some groups get downright embarrassing, breaking their wineglasses at midnight and swearing allegiance to the King-over-the-Water."

This assertion of moderation hardly impresses Fenwick of the RMCU, for he describes the SKCM as being devoted to "bone-in-a-box icon worship."

With which of these two sharply competing Charles-venerating societies will England's Third King Charles identify himself?

The answer to this question is as much of a mystery as is the answer to a question asked by this column of the new Archbishop of Canterbury during a Washington Cathedral news

please me more than for the Russians to try and subdue Arabs and Moslems who have been killing each other for 6,000 years, enjoying every minute of it. If Russia can't subdue Afghanistan, think of their problems with these fanatics who just can't wait to get killed as a means of getting to heaven fast! Better we should be encouraging the Soviet Union to move into the Middle East and let the hardheads of the world clobber each other.

Picking a winner

EDITOR—In your December 29, 1983 issue, you printed a letter by a Reese Fullerton of Santa Fe, which letter was an eulogy of Alan Cranston, not only as a senator but as a prospective candidate for the presidency.

Apparently, Mr. Fullerton doesn't know a few things about Cranston, which need be told. The following public allegations, which he has not refuted, have been made about him:

Alan Cranston, while at Stanford, was a revolutionary figure and one purportedly aligned with communist activities. He continued these revolutionary tactics on a visit to Mexico and was jailed for same. In World War II, because of his political and revolutionary bent, he was denied acceptance in the Officer Candidate School of the United States Armed Forces.

In the last year or so, at least one of his sons was apprehended as a drug smuggler out of Mexico. (And don't please say that is not germane to him. I have seven children. None of them ever peddled drugs, and if one did and if I could, I would wallop the daylight out of him and likely disown him. Cranston chose to remain silent on the subject.)

In the past month or so, Cranston returned from a Central American trip to assess the situation and stated publicly that a solution to the problem could be through negotiations with Castro. (Imagine, dealing with that bum!)

One need only review Cranston's voting record (which is the assessment that really counts) to know that he has supported every pro-Communist-anti-American measure that has ever come before the Senate during his tenure.

You're sure picking a winner, Mr. Fullerton. Why not advocate Andropov?

Get US out

EDITOR—According to Congressman Jerry Solomon, American taxpayers will shell out $388 million this year to the United Nations. That's a lot of money to pay for the dubious privilege of being alternately harangued, insulted and double-crossed by some of the roughest guests this country has known since the invading Redcoats put their dirty boots on Dolly Madison's furniture back in 1812.

Charles Lichenstein, our number two Ambassador at the UN should be given a medal for extending an invitation to Mr. Gromyko and his Third World Colleagues, clones and stooges to relocate the UN someplace that better reflects their customs and craven political style. Afghanistan, for instance, although they'll want to avoid the yellow rainy season.

I have had it with Soviet lies and propaganda. We certainly do not need to provide a forum for their anti-US gibberish within our borders. If the UN representatives have grown weary of running rampant through the streets of New York with callous disregard for our laws; if they feel our hospitality in listening to their claptrap is in some way deficient; they should certainly move someplace else.

There is some merit to Congressman Solomon's suggestion that after living in New York, double-parking limos and dining in posh restaurants they should now move to Moscow where they will have to dodge KGB agents and look for wiretaps in the cinder-block walls of their socialist style hotel rooms.

Since the UN's creation, American taxpayers have kicked in $10.7 billion, money which has been used for many, many anti-American activities. Congressman Ron Paul believes we should end our participation in the United Nations so he has introduced HR 3891 to Get US out.

Barnett challenged

"Super Bowl" session begins

This session of the legislature is being described by one veteran observer as the Super Bowl of 30-day sessions. He just may be right. Never in this writer's memory have so many issues been prepared for the short session.

Tax increases, education improvement, two 4-year terms for governor and other statewide elected officials, elimination of the elected state Board of Education, interstate banking, DWI law rewrites and the budget all are major issues. Many others will be proposed.

The issues are never as exciting as the individuals who decide them. Sen. Mickey Barnett, R-Chavez-Roosevelt, should create opening day excitement aplenty. Barnett, who maintains his official residence in Portales and his law practice in Albuquerque, is being challenged by Gov. Anaya. Anaya claims that Barnett does not reside in his district and has appointed a replacement. Barnett, who is known for his frankness, claims that he spends more time in his senatorial district than Anaya spends in the state, and joins a long list of legislators who have maintained dual residences.

The Senate, which will make the final decision on the matter, is well aware of the serious implications involved in allowing a governor-to-pick-and-choose which legislators may serve; a privilege usually reserved in democracies for the electorate.

They will probably sustain Barnett in a close vote. At the same hour that the Senate is deciding Barnett's fate, Those happy wishes of mine are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Dee Turman who celebrated their 45th anniversary.

Then there is a dear couple on the Ruidoso, Mr. and Mrs. Stansell Jones who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. I most certainly do wish all of these couples many more years of health and happiness together.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittier of Dumas, TX who are now located in the subdivision of Capitan and will make their home here permanently. She is the former Marjorie Hagee and graduated from Capitan High School in the class of 1940.

There was a lumber truck accident at Double (Salazar) crossing early this Monday morning Jan. 15. He was traveling east and on the curve it turned over. The driver was taken to the hospital. The truck was demolished and lumber scattered. The school bus as well as others who live up the canyon were detoured.

Jack Bays, Smokey Bear Park manager, passed away at his home Monday morning Jan. 16 following a lengthy illness. Jack was really an asset to the park and community the short time he was with us and he will be missed by those whom he worked with and around. Everyone loved him. Our heartfelt sympathies to his wife Joann and all of the family.

Tiger tracks

The Tigers traveled to Mountainair Friday the 13th and clobbered the Mustangs 24-7. The hot hand of Eddie Davis was good for 35 points. Dawey Keller and Danny Cumming also contributed to the Tiger attack with 11 points each.

Ray Serna is State Senate candidate

Ray Serna, 30, of Socorro, announced his candidacy last week for the Democratic nomination for the District 39 State Senate seat now held by Republican Charlie Lee.

After reapportionment takes effect on Jan. 1, 1985, the district will include the city of Socorro, San Antonio, Lemitar, Florida, Lincoln County and the northern portion of Otero County.

Not included are Magdalena, Alamo and northern Socorro County.

"It's not an overnight decision," said Serna. "I've been thinking about this for a long time." Serna said he has been seriously working on the race for the past year.

He already has begun much of the footwork in campaigning in the huge district, and has talked to many people in the two counties, leaving Socorro for last since it is home.

The Democratic contender has the unique advantage of having lived in all three of the district's counties, he said. He was born in Alamogordo and raised there, in Ruidoso and Capitan.

After graduating from Capitan High School in 1962 he joined the Army Signal Corp. During his time in the service, Serna studied broadcasting and telecommunications. When discharged in 1966, he came to Socorro to work as a civilian at the White Sands Missile Range.

In 1975 he joined the staff of the Very Large Array where his present position is group leader of wave guide and communications.

This will be Serna's first try at running for public office, but he added he has been actively involved in Democratic politics as a precinct chairman and with various campaigns.

CSCs sell donut holes

For years the doughnut has been a mainstay of American life. Doughnuts and coffee, doughnuts and milk, doughnuts any time of day or night.

The hole was there only to facilitate the "baking" of the doughnut and was ignored except to afford a better hand hold while dunking or eating.

Now! The Capitan Senior Citizens are presenting this tasty morsel in all its glory. Order yours by dialing 354-2640 for delivery every Friday. Remember, the Do-Nut Hole is King.

Electa Roberts and James Sanders tops in pool tournament

The District VI Sam Norman Pool Tournament was held here in Carrizozo on Monday, Jan. 16. The competitors were from Chaves County, Otero County, Eddy County and, of course, Lincoln County.

Betty Robson, Marie Varela and Bella Killingbeck handled the registration desk and the final count was approximately 160 participants with twenty one men registered for the pool competition as well as 7 women. The competitors from Lincoln County were Jack Forrester, Al Haines and Stanley Pew from Capitan with Chevo Baca and Bucky Baer representing Carrizozo.

The traveling men's trophy and third place was captured by James Sanders of Tularosa with second place going to a gentleman from Loving. The Ladies trophy previously held by Lovington was won by Electa Roberts of Alamogordo, second place to Dovie Pender of Alamogordo and Eleanor Hewitt capturing third prize.

Individuals from the other counties acted as judges as well as Eric Lynch of Shop-Rite from Carrizozo. Manuel Barragon from Eddy County assisted Barbara Ward in seeing that the tournament ran smoothly.

Mac Luera prepared a lunch with the assistance of Petra Lopez, Rosa Chavez, Ellyn Cady, Juanita Gallegos and the center staff.

Tino Lopez, Jr. won the bicycle raffle and expects to be riding out to the Mal Pais as soon as the weather warms up. He will pick up hitch-hikers.

Kudos to John Jiron, Lou Fortenberry and others who moved furniture, borrowed furniture and gathered necessary equipment to be used at the Recreation Center and to the

THESE four pool enthusiasts from Lincoln County were among the 28 players entered in the tournament held Monday. Left to right they are Chevo Baca and Bucky Baer, Carrizozo; Al Haines and Stanley Pew, Capitan.

Odor eaters that will keep your refrigerator sweet; charcoal, dried used coffee grounds, a piece of vanilla bean or vanilla-soaked cotton, baking soda or a wad of crumpled newspaper.

CALORIE SAVER

Use unsweetened dry cereal as topping for fruit or ice cream instead of nuts or coconut. The cereal can also be used in place of graham cracker crumbs in piecrust.

MUSHROOM COOKING

Rinse mushrooms to remove sand but never immerse them in a water bath. They absorb liquid quickly and would turn soggy. Don't cook light colored mushrooms in aluminum pans. It darkens them. Sauté mushrooms over high heat with a long handled fork. They release a high amount of moisture and need high heat to prevent steaming instead of browning.

Grizzly basketball

Friday the 19th is known throughout the land as a day of gloom and doom. However, the Grizzlies found the day to be one of inspiration and opportunity. The girls and boys varsties traveled 76 miles west to meet the Socorro Warriors in two basketball battles.

The girls opened the evening with a bang by overcoming a point deficit at the end of three quarters with excellent 4th quarter defense and outstanding freethrow shooting.

As usual the Grizzly girls were led in scoring by Christetta Chavez with 18 points. Her support was well rounded and led by sophomore Julie Vega with 8 points and at least that many clutch rebounds. Mary Jane Ferguson and Anna Lueras scored 7 points each and played a steady floor game which was complimented by excellent passing. Lynn Gallacher rounded out the scoring with 3 points and half a dozen rebounds.

The Grizzly girls led by 1 point at halftime but saw that lead dwindle and finally disappear under a relentless half-court trap. Socorro was in for the surprise of its life in the 4th quarter as the Grizzly girls used a full-court trap to force numerous turnovers and clutch freethrow shooting in the last 1 minute by Mary Jane Ferguson, Christetta Chavez, and Julie Vega. The final score found Carrizozo on top 43-35. This win upped the girl's record to 8 wins against 4 defeats.

as Carrizozo worked the ball around for good shots. Robin Beltran led the Grizzlies with 8 of his game high 10 points. Two of these points were scored on two technical fouls called on Socorro for incorrect numbers in the score books.

The fourth quarter was full of excellent play on the part of both teams. The outcome of the game was not decided until the last 9 seconds when sophomore Kenneth Crenshaw hit both ends of a one and one to give Carrizozo a well deserved 45-42 win. The win upped Carrizozo's season mark to 5 wins against 7 losses.

The Grizzly boys will be in action again on Jan. 17 against Corona, Jan. 20 against Mountainair and finish the week's action Jan. 21 against Magdalena.

Coach Ron Becker felt both teams played an intelligent game and hopes the two wins will better prepare the Grizzlies for the upcoming district play.

"Super Bowl"

It will be swearing in a new member of the legislature. Newly appointed Sen. Eddie Lopez, D-Santa Fe, will succeed former Sen. Alex Martinez, who died recently after a lengthy illness.

Lopez is no stranger to this legislature, having served as chairman of the House Taxation and Revenue Committee for a number of years.

While Lopez is considered a liberal on many issues, he is no friend of Gov. Anaya's. Lopez and Anaya were involved in a running feud during Anaya's term as attorney general.

Lopez, who loves the legislative process, is best remembered for the time he allegedly put the Santa Fe police up to raiding a penny ante poker game being played by members of the Legislative Finance Committee in a Santa Fe hotel room. It's never been confirmed that he put the finger on former Sen. Aubrey Dunn, D-Otero; Rep.

Bob Moran, R-Lea; and other LFC members, but he is the prime suspect. He should live up the rather staid New Mexico Senate.

Another interesting relationship will be between Rep. Fred Luna, D-Valencia, chairman of the House Appropriation and Finance Committee, and Rep. Ron Gentry, D-Valencia, Democrat House Floor leader.

In an unusual show of party unity, the pair engaged in a fist fight at the Bull Ring, a Santa Fe watering hole. Sporting events in this establishment in the past have not included either bull fights or boxing matches.

While this legislature may be the Super Bowl of 30-day sessions, it's the players that make the game.

As long as they don't take themselves too seriously, New Mexico will survive yet another legislature.

conference just prior to the last visit of Prince Charles to the United States.

"Since Prince Charles has prepared himself by learning to fly planes, to parachute, to pilot ships and even to learn Welsh for his investiture, could you tell us, Your Grace, how he is preparing himself to become Defender of the Faith?"

THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY: Well, he is an active churchman.

Q: How is he active, other than the church attendance, which is done by millions of other laity?

THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY: (After a pause) Well - uh - he has, on occasion, attended church conferences. And he has not altogether uncritical opinions.

Q: How are they critical?
THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY: Well God bless my soul, I really don't know!

In the United States, King Charles The Martyr has been included in the recently revised - and very controversial - Book of Common Prayer.

Understandably. For in 1637, King Charles attempted to impose a revised prayer book upon the Scots, of all people. One reaction from these irrepressible people came when Jenny Geddes entered history by hurling a stool at the head of the preacher in St. Giles, Edinburgh. And two years later, the King's liturgical obstinacy had so infuriated the Scots that it led to "The Bishops' War," in which Scottish troops invaded England and took the city of York.

In London, the Puritans in the House of Commons introduced legislation to abolish bishops. But Charles, and his rather heavy-handed Archbishop of Canterbury, William Laud, tried to alter canon (church) law by imposing upon the entire populace of the notorious "Et cetera Oath." This incredible measure sought to retain the episcopal system by pledging the people to preserve "archbishops, bishops, deans, and archdeacons, etcetera..."

Parliament responded to this by joining the Scots in war on the Crown - and removing the crown from Charles's head, along with his head itself, as well as the head of Archbishop Laud.

Sierra Blanca Ski Report

Three Rivers is the only campground open. Deep snow remains in the high country. Many roads are snowpacked and icy.
