Carrizozo Schools new budget signed

By RUTH HAMMOND
The public budget hearing for the Carrizozo Municipal schools was held May 29. Dr. Luciano R. Baca, Associate Director, Office of Education, conducted the hearing. L. Grady Mayfield, Jr., state school board member from Las Cruces, was also present for the hearing.
Dr. Baca asked for the 1983-84 year's program accomplishments. These included: Carnegie grant of $3,000 for the improvement of teaching, an on-site visit from the Federal Excellence in Academics people from Washington Department of Education, and were selected as one of New Mexico's representatives for that program, third in the state in FFA judging, science fair students made it to the regional finals, students were the recipients of 37 different scholarships, highest ACT scores in seven years, composites were well over grade level on state mandated CTVS scores, spent less than $100 on vandalism, Mike Gaines is one of six outstanding Vo-Ag teachers in the country, Home-Ed received an award for exemplary child care, adult micro-computer class, adults basic education program and a satellite program for this summer at Fort Stanton in ABE, evening and summertime recreation, jazzercise and aerobics, new judging and study area in agriculture, plans to offer conversational Spanish, accounting, certified welding, and other classes in the next school year, and use of the library by the public.

Dr. Baca said, "A school can bleed a community dry or put life back into it. These kind of activities have energized the community."
Enrollment for the 1982-83 school year was 361. Projected enrollment for the coming year is 326. The district has dropped ten percent of its enrollment.
Projected pupil-teacher ratios for the 1984-85 school year are: kindergarten, 12 to one, grades 1-3, 17.5 to one, grades 4-6, 17.4 to one, and grades 7-12, 16.67 to one. These are well under the state Board of Education standards.
An increase in utilities for the coming year is in the budget. Carrizozo expects an increase of 70 percent in electrical rates, with a 12 percent increase expected in May of this year and a 58 percent increase expected next January. Dr. Baca said in reality the increases should only be 25 to 30 percent.
Dr. Miller said that since Carrizozo is a rural area, the district is having a harder time recruiting teachers to fill the three positions left open by resignations.
Grady Mayfield said, "This district has done much and they are to be commended for the effort they have put forward and the results they are obtaining."
The budget with a grand total of $1,822,953 was signed.

Capitan Schools budget ($2,485,439)

The public budget hearing for the Capitan Municipal School District was held May 23. The Director of Public School Finance Division, Dr. James P. Miller, conducted the hearing. Also present for the hearing was Mr. Garfield Gutierrez, and Dr. Placido Garcia, Sr., from the Department of Education.
Estimated resources available for the 1984-85 school year are $2,485,439. This amount includes the state equalization guarantee of $1,511,733.
The 33 teachers received an estimated 9.60 percent increase in salaries. They have an average of 8.6 years teaching experience, and the total classload ratio is 19.09 students per teacher. Grades 1-3 have a classload ratio of 25 students per teacher and grades 4-6 have a classload ratio of 28.64 students per teacher. This is near the maximum allowed.
Dr. Miller said Capitan teacher's efforts ranked tenth in the state. He went on to say the state legislators are concerned that school boards are sitting on too much cash. Part of this is the state requirement that schools have an emergency account.

L. Grady Mayfield, Jr., state school board member from Las Cruces, attended the budget hearing and made a statement about the increase in teacher's salaries. He said, "I would like to commend the district here for the

FISHERMAN'S TALE

'Se cree o no se cree'
Translation: Believe it or not.

Many NEWS readers marveled at the size of the 'big whopper' in last week's paper. This week's paper has a picture of what Lee Roy was actually holding up with his thumb and fore finger.

Drama lessons, a six-inch trout and some darkroom experimenting was involved in creating the super fish that was as big as the one that got away.

ANOTHER WHOPPER?

Many area people will recall the story of a big snake killed near the Malpais. The following item appeared in the Methow Valley News of Twisp, WA and had been taken from the Roswell Daily Record, June 19, 1960. The publication in Twisp came about because of a news story there of a youngster being bitten by a snake:

-BIG SNAKE-

Movie fans who saw the giant lizard in "Journey to the Center of the Earth" with the 20-foot tongue roaming the Lost City of Atlantis might believe that an 18-foot, 300 pound, diamondback rattlesnake was killed near the Malpais, near Carrizozo. It happened!

Juan Baca, 46, who says he shot the giant snake eight times with a 7 mm. Remington, ten miles northeast of Carrizozo, told the story to Bill Hart and Vic Lamb, editor and publisher of the Ruidoso News - the story of what is the biggest rattlesnake in history.

Baca says he and Mike Gonzales, 46, both natives of Lincoln County, were on a ranch near Carrizozo hunting suitable pasture for burros when Gonzales looked into a dry pond. "The ground seemed to be going up and down," he told Lamb. It was the snake breathing.

Approaching within 12 feet, he suddenly stopped, he said, frozen with fright. Gonzales had a Winchester with him and shot four times, missing every time as the snake raised its head five feet off the ground and "growled," rather than hissed.

"I was scared," Gonzales said.

Baca was some 200 feet away when he opened fire, aiming at the monsters backbone. All eight bullets hit the snake, but none of them penetrated the telephone pole thickness of the frightful thing.

Baca and Gonzales gave these statistics:

Diameter - about like a telephone pole.

Length - 18 feet or about like a telephone pole.

Weight - estimated to excess of 300 pounds.

Size of head - diameter of car steering wheel.

Tongue - yard long.

Fangs - like a man's finger.

Rattles - eight. One the size of a baseball. Some missing.

Gonzales and Baca said the snake was killed 10 days ago but they were afraid to talk too much about it because people "would say we were liars."

But, when the skin dried, they took it to Hart and Lamb.

"I don't believe it, but I saw it," Lamb said. "It's a Diamond Back."

Gonzales said he stood petrified for a moment after he first saw the snake. He said he was about 12 feet away when the snake reared and snarled. "I could feel its hot breath on my face," he told Hart. Baca said smoke appeared to come out of the snake's body when the bullets struck home, but said it probably was dust.

The snake, in its death throes, stirred up a cloud of dust "like a herd of horses," Baca said.

Lamb said the snake's skin is about 18 or 20 inches wide at the widest place.

Asked why they didn't take the snake alive, Baca and Gonzales replied: "How?" They said they wanted to bring the snake back whole, but they could figure no way to carry it.

"It'd be too much for a horse," one told Hart.

Baca works on ranches in Lincoln County and specializes in breaking horses. Gonzales is a carpenter, but also works on ranches at times.

The area where the snake was killed is near a vast area of black volcanic rock. (End of news clipping.)

LEE ROY ZAMORA reveals a twig that he was actually holding in last week's NEWS. Like a fisherman's tale (about the fish that got away) the trout Lee Roy appeared to be holding was a six-inch trout blown out of proportion.

To Go Solar or Not?
If So Which System is Best?

More and more people are now dealing with these important questions.

Here are some of the main things to look for in a quality solar system

1. Federal and State solar Tax Credits pay 65% of the cost of your solar system. These credits are coming close to ending. The need to act is soon.

2. Does the system provide both heat and hot water? Any system purchased today should provide both heat and hot water, and be capable of heating all day, without first having to deal with an exhausted storage facility.

3. Is the system reliable? Systems today should carry a 10 year unlimited guarantee. Not just on the collectors, which rarely malfunction, but on the entire system. Some of today's systems have so many pumps and valves and unnecessary hardware that a 10 year unlimited guarantee is a must! If you don't get it we suggest you don't buy it.

4. Will the system function with no purchased power? Plugging in pumps and valves and all manners of hardware not only drops the reliability of a system, but usually raises the cost, and lowers the efficiency. Quality systems today will generate their own power. Those systems using one and sometimes even two externally powered pumps are already obsolete. There are major firms with warehouses full of this obsolete inventory who must move it. We suggest caution in dealing with those suppliers. Externally powered pumps are definitely out.

5. Can you expand the system at a later date, without excessive cost or the addition of complicated hardware? Systems available now are capable of being expanded easily. Any options added later such as a SPA, Air conditioning or additional heat bars very little additional expense.

This will be a weekly column. We will try to deal with the many questions you have regarding solar.

Give us a call at Alamo Solar we will be glad to answer any questions you might have concerning our system or any other manufacture.

Sheriff's Report

By P. E. CHAVEZ

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Department received a call about a hereford cow found partially butchered on Kraut Canyon above Bonito Lake

The black and white cow, probably over 1-year old was discovered June 2 by rancher Roy LaMay. The animal apparently killed the previous night, was owned by Fred Phingsten. Remains indicated that an attempt was made to butcher the cow. The incident is under investigation by the Sheriff's Office

Due to the increased number of night calls to the Sheriff's office from the surrounding Ruidoso area, the Sheriff's Department has instituted an all-night patrol there. The large volume of calls pertaining to disturbance, prowler, and burglary reports made the 24-hour, seven night patrol necessary

By MARGARET RENCH

We received one inch of good slow gentle showers of rain this last week. Six tenths of which arrived last Saturday. Two more tenths on Sunday afternoon. It took two other days to receive two tenths. How grateful we are for every drop of that moisture. Everything including people have responded. We too appreciate the cool atmosphere.

Bart McDonough reported that last Saturday when the rain was pouring down at Double Crossing he did see a mean old porcupine who was so very bewildered he did not understand, nor which way to go.

There were 4,079 registered visitors at Smokey Bear Museum in the month of May. From June 1-3 there were 512. There was a bus tour of 43 from Albuquerque. Last week Jane Morgan from Grand Prairie, TX won the Smokey Bear wrist watch on which chances were sold for Smokey Bear Day.

Mr. Roy Lical from Washington, DC sent the museum a cancelled stamp of Smokey Bear from 1957. That was very thoughtful of him. They did appreciate that. Last Saturday there was a bus tour of 38 from the Revelation Choir Hoffman Town Baptist Church of Albuquerque.

Olin's Quick Stop had its 8th birthday June 1. We do wish them many more years of good and continued business.

Bess Van Pelt's 100th birthday party is being held at the Senior Citizen Center in Capitan from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., June 10. This is a reminder for everyone to remember. Do attend. We do wish her many more happy healthy birthdays and we truly are very proud of her.

Tony Allred and Ben Wolf were selected for Boys State and attended in Socorro last Sunday.

The Corriente Cowbelles held their "Father's Day Picnic" at the Janice Eldridge Ranch north of Capitan on Sunday. There were approximately 50 Cowbelles, husbands, and youngsters there to enjoy the great food and even better company. The Cowbelles chose their first "Father of the Year," an award that went to Grady Eldridge for his prowess in raising a fine family and contributing to the community and the business of ranching. Mr. Eldridge was presented with a plaque and tie tack, both depicting his brand, the bridge bit. Entertaining the group was Sherry Goodloe, who played her guitar and sang old fashioned "cowboy songs" to the delight of the gathering.

For those of you not familiar with the Cowbelles organization, it is a woman's group who help promote beef in the State of New Mexico. There are Cowbelle clubs all over the state. The local Corriente Cowbelles will be selling raffle tickets for an afghan, napkins and great cookbooks, and will soon be selling bandanas with local brands imprinted on them. In fact, if you would like your own brand on these bandanas, just contact Willa Stone for more details.

The Capitan 4-H Club held their regular meeting at the Fair Building at 7 p.m., Monday night. The County 4-H contest will be held Monday, June 11 at the fair building in Capitan.

The 4-H Club held a horse judging practice at the fair ground last Saturday.

Mr. Daughtery and Shirley Goodloe took several FFA members to Las Cruces on Monday through Wednesday.

Darren Treadwell of the Army in California is home on furlough visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Treadwell and family and his many friends.

Welcome to new residents of Capitan. They are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shrum who now reside on West Second St. near the school. They are the new owners of Borden's Milk franchise. We wish them success and happiness with us for a long time to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Payne and three children of Capitan visited Mr. and Mrs. Bud Payne of Carrizozo where they joined his sisters Bonnie Mierau of Phoenix, AZ and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dick Gilliland and family of Tularosa last Saturday. A happy family gathering to be remembered.

Guests of the Terry Stricklands on the Memorial weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Trammell, and family of Hobbs, Mrs. Judy Green and son of Jal and Mr. Joe Strickland of Ruidoso.

Howard and Maxine Wright, Jim and Linda Wright and family and Terry and Kay Strickland and two daughters enjoyed a family outing of fishing at Elephant Butte last weekend.

Mr. Joe Wright and Joan DeBusk of California were guests of their brother, Mr. Howard Wright on the Memorial weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McCarty were guests of his sister, Mrs. Jim Wright and family on Memorial weekend.

Kevin Gilliland of Tularosa is spending one week at the home of his uncle Mr. Curtis Payne and family.

Joe and Lorraine Barber of Portales and grandson Larry Lassiter of Clovis arrived to spend the holidays with her father Bert Minter. Lorraine remained here to visit her brother, Jimmy Minter, and his daughter Belinda and Ken Coward of Oklahoma City, OK. They all journeyed for a fishing excursion with Bert Minter joining them. Bertha Killough of Ft. Sumner joined them. They visited Gene and Percy Parker in Mancos, CO. I did enjoy Lorraine visiting at my home so very much as it had been several years since she moved away. Come again.

I also enjoyed a visit from Patti and Rod Rogers and their baby daughter of Roswell last week. They also visited her mother Doris Pounds.

Shelby Helms and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Helms of Oscura returned from their Alaskan trip last week. They did enjoy it there so very much.

Catherine Mitchell, sister-in-law of Bessie Jones of Grants visited Bessie and the Joinsers four days last week.

LaRue Parker's father Mr. Cleaver is very ill at this time and is hospitalized there. I do wish him the very best recovery.

Herman Philpot of Lincoln passed away in the Ruidoso hospital after three weeks of serious illness last week. He was laid to rest Saturday after church services in Lincoln, in the Capitan cemetery.

Do read this next article carefully for you will remember "C.V. Koogler" for he was superintendent of the Capitan schools in the late 20s and early 1930s. He served the schools well and was highly known and respected in all of Lincoln County as in all of New Mexico. He coached the Traylor's (H.L. and Dick), Wallace Ferguson, Percy Parker and others to their first championship in District basketball. He also was superintendent to Corona School in the early 1930s. I am certain many of our readers will remember.

OPINION...

● EVERY person reading this column has had a complaint about how elective officials conduct the public's business. They can only penalize these officials at the polls. But by the time election day rolls around, most have forgotten what they got mad about and dutifully vote to keep incumbents in office. Politicians know voters have short memories, which is why they "shape up" as election day nears and postpone action on controversial measures until their jobs are once more secure. A smart rule of thumb is to vote against the incumbent. Keep voting for those in office and we keep getting the results we complain of between elections.

● PUBLIC OFFICE should be an honor, not a way to increase one's income and retire on a handsome pension, courtesy of taxpayers. Every candidate swears to "love and respect" his constituency, his town and his country. They love and respect the power of public office a lot more, count on it. A person who truly wants to help his community and country will serve no more than two terms. If he hasn't done his duty by then, he should voluntarily step down and give somebody else a chance to accomplish what he couldn't. If he declines to step down, voters should defeat him for a third term, no matter how well he has performed, to prevent the evils of an established bureaucracy, if nothing else. There will be no change for the public good until voters impress this two-term limit upon the political mentality.

● NOT LONG ago the Congress came up with $8.4 billion to bail-out Mr. Rockefeller and the big international banks. Then it spent $2.5 billion to keep the price of milk high and dairymen happy. At this moment a bill before Congress would forgive the debt owed the US government by the Kennedy Center (where rich people in Washington go to the opera and to worship the Kennedy Klan). The promoters of this monument to the Kennedy family, supposed to have been built with private funds, borrowed $850 million from the federal government and now want to renege on the obligation and force US taxpayers to pick up the tab. Congress is expected to forgive the debt. While Congress can find billions that benefit tiny minorities, it denies President Reagan's request of $93 million to aid El Salvador's freedom fighters against Communist Guerrillas, and denied $21 million to fight Nicaragua's Communist government, one that came into power by force and for which no election was ever held. I think the moral here is: if you have a Congressman, vote him out of there!

● THE SAME Congress that is shooting down the American taxpayer has given President Reagan only 15 of the 40 MX missiles he requested to counter Soviet superiority in that field. Liberals are jubilant. They already have plans to take the missile money saved and open up 10,000 daycare centers. Realizing that our national survival is at stake, the Department of Defense is conducting tests in Nevada to determine how many incoming Soviet missiles can be shot down with 10,000 daycare centers. I think the moral here is: See moral solution suggested in column item next preceding.

● FRED E. Walts of Occidental has been trying to persuade the US Olympic Committee to have former US Olympic winners as guests at the Los Angeles games. The Committee replied to Walts, saying "Protocol precludes the introduction or recognition of previous medal winners" at any of the games. Besides, too many free tickets would have to be provided. Nuts, snorted Walts. He fired off a letter to Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles. Bradley was sympathetic, and got in touch with the Committee. No deal. Then Bradley offered to buy tickets for Walts' friend, Archie Williams, a gold medal winner in the 1936 Berlin Olympics, and for James LuValle, another participant in those games. The way it stands, Walts has four tickets for the Aug. 8 finals and it appears Williams, Walts and Mayor Bradley may view the games together. But there won't be tickets for hundreds of other winners who brought honor and glory to their country as Olympic heroes.

● WALTS has another plan to recognize former US Olympic winners. He notes that 30 nations have refused to attend the 1984 games. That means about 3,000 athletes will not show up to occupy accommodations set aside for them originally, and for which funds have already been appropriated. "These can be replaced," Walts says, "with an equal number of former Olympic winners, and it will cost the Committee nothing because funding for their food and housing already exists." Walts took his plan to a public relations officer for Pan American Airlines.

Bingaman urges use of Ft. Stanton site

WASHINGTON — Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) today wrote Interior Secretary William P. Clark urging an early transfer of 1700 acres of the Fort Stanton Reservation to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) for an airport.

In his letter Bingaman cited "an indisputable need for a new airport at Ruidoso." He said that he specifically supported the recommendation of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission for the Fort Stanton site, known as Site B. He pointed to the most recent air crash at the Ruidoso Municipal Airport that killed one and critically injured three others, and said: "Such accidents are becoming frighteningly common occurrences at that airport."

Bingaman has also advised Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole of his support for the Fort Stanton location and said he stands "ready to assist in any way to work out agreements with interested parties."

Over the past week Bingaman has spoken several times with Robert Burford, Director of the Bureau of Land Management, urging early discussions between the BLM and the FAA. Burford has assured Bingaman that the matter has been given high priority within his agency.

The Senator wrote Clark that he was sensitive to the fact that the Fort Stanton Reservation, which is on BLM land, is currently used by New Mexico State University for rangeland and grazing research. He wrote that he sympathized with the university's concern that some of their important, long term experiments may be disrupted. But he said only 700 of the 26,000 acres currently used by the university would be involved.

Bingaman also raised the question with Secretary Clark of claims to the Fort Stanton area by the Mescalero Apache Tribe. He pointed out that Tribal Chairman Chino himself supports the new airport and has expressed his willingness to work with all parties in the matter.

"I am not, at this time, taking a position on the Mescalero claim," Bingaman said. "However, I do not believe that the claim should be a delay the transference of the land."

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON

By LES KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON — You've got to hand it to Public Broadcasting — and as a matter of fact that is exactly what we taxpayers (and those who patronize the Chubb Group of Insurance Agencies) did: with approximately four million dollars being used by PBS to try to make a hero and an innocent sufferer out of Alger Hiss.

Alger Hiss was that high-ranking State Department official who, after two trials, was found guilty of perjury and sentenced to five years. It was impossible to convict him of treason as a Soviet agent, because the statute of limitations had run out.

The Hiss case was exhaustively studied — and his conviction extensively justified in Professor Allen Weinstein's book Perjury. But neither this encyclopedic bestseller (which went unmentioned in the script) nor the fact that all three of Hiss's appeals were turned down, made any difference to the producers of "Concealed Enemies." For they left the viewer with the impression that the real enemy was Time magazine editor Whitaker Chambers, a former Communist and Soviet agent, who grew up and out of the movement — and who identified Hiss as one of his former associates. (Chambers was recently given a posthumous award of the Medal of Freedom by President Reagan.)

With undeniably clever use of ominous music, camera angles and an exquisitely villainous portrayal of Chambers by actor John Harkins, Chambers was shown as a bloated degenerate — while Hiss, with precisely the opposite in camera angles and music, was played by the same appealing Edward Herrman who so recently portrayed the young Franklin D. Roosevelt.

According to the PBS rewriting of history, Chambers was really revenging himself upon Hiss, for whom he had homosexually lusted. And Hiss was an alleged hero for refusing to divulge this, for fear that the prosecution might focus on his son's homosexuality and the fact that his wife had had an abortion prior to their marriage.

PBS suggests that the entire prosecution was really under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, who was portrayed as a combination Ernest Borgnine with an ulcer and Bela Lugosi.

We have a nifty new script for those ultra-liberal history-benders at PBS.

It is entitled: "The Maligning of General Benedict Arnold." Alas poor Benedict! The hero of Danbury, Quebec, Ticonderoga, Lake Champlain and Saratoga was really the victim of a gigantic and ugly smear campaign — due to a jealous rival of the same sexual orientation.

The key to this fascinating unknown of history is that the object of their affections, Major John Andre of the British Army, was caught with the secret papers in his boot.

And this proves that Benedict Arnold and George Washington were not enamored of Major Andre himself — they were consumed with lust for the Major's feet. For these two generals of the Continental Army were both foot fetishists!

We can even recommend the most effective possible casting to

LETTERS...

Bingaman Letter to Clark:

The Honorable William P. Clark
Department of the Interior
Washington, DC 20240.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

As you know, there is an indisputable need for a new airport in the Ruidoso, New Mexico, area. The most recent accident at the Ruidoso Municipal Airport on May 4, 1984, resulted in the death of one person and critically injured three others. Such accidents are becoming frighteningly common occurrences at that airport. Accordingly, I respectfully request that you act expeditiously to approve the transfer of approximately 1,700 acres of the Fort Stanton Reservation land from the Bureau of Land Management to the Federal Aviation Administration.

In the last week, I have spoken several times to the Director of the Bureau of Land Management, Robert Burford, about my concern that discussions between the BLM and the FAA proceed as quickly as possible. Mr. Burford has assured me that the matter has been given high priority with the BLM.

While there has been uniform support for a new airport, there has been some controversy concerning the most appropriate site. A great deal of study and deliberation has gone into assessing potential sites over the past ten years, including a report prepared by the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission. The Commission has recommended the Fort Stanton Reservation site, known as Site B, and I concur with its recommendation.

I realize that the Fort Stanton Reservation is used currently by the New Mexico State University for rangeland and grazing research. I understand the University's concern that some of their important, long term experiments may be disrupted or destroyed. As I understand current plans, construction for the new airport would only disrupt approximately 700 acres of the current 26,000 acres used by the University under a cooperative use agreement with the Bureau of Land Management that ends in 1991.

I am recommending Site B notwithstanding the claims to this area made by the Mescalero Apache Tribe. Tribal Chairman Wendell Chino has long supported the new airport at this site and has expressed his willingness to work with all parties concerned. I am not, at this time, taking a position on the Mescalero claim. However, I do not believe that the claim should delay the transference of the land.

Accordingly, I urge you to approve the transfer of approximately 1,700 acres of the Fort Stanton Reservation land from the Bureau of Land Management to the Federal Aviation Administration. I also have informed Secretary of Transportation Dole of my support for the Site B location.

I stand ready to assist in any way to work out agreements with interested parties, and I very much appreciate your prompt attention to this matter.

JEFF BINGAMAN
United States Senator

Walts is a former captain with Pan Am. The pr officer liked the idea. Pam Am may consider (if the Committee agrees) flying, at its own expense, all these Olympic winners to Los Angeles. Walts says such a move would create a lot of good will for the Olympics — especially in view of the boycott by Communist bloc nations, charges of commercialization of the games, and high costs of attending the games. Well, maybe, it's time we began showing appreciation to our past winners — else we may not attract many future winners. That Walts fellow is a persistent cuss who just might change the thinking of the Olympic Committee.

ASK DR. DAN

I keep getting bladder infections. I am a 43 year old woman. What can I do to prevent this from happening again? V. C.

Infections of the bladder are caused by bacteria growing in the urine, which is normally sterile. Women develop these infections much more often than men. This is felt to be due to the short distance between the bladder and the opening of the tube (called the urethra) which drains the urine.

Improper hygiene of the area between the vaginal lips leads to bacteria getting into the urethral opening and moving up into the bladder. Always wipe from the front to back after urinating to prevent this. Infections will occur any time that the urine in the bladder is blocked from emptying. Stenosis, or narrowing of the urethra, is a frequent cause of blockage and can be corrected by passing metal dilating probes through the narrowed place.

Women are often guilty of holding their urine for too long. This promotes bacterial growth also. Drinking a lot of fluids (especially in hot weather) and emptying the bladder frequently will often prevent infections in those who are prone to get them. Other causes of recurrent infections include stones, tumors and congenital defects of the urinary system. Usually a special x-ray of the kidneys and bladder is needed to diagnose these conditions. Your family doctor can advise you if these special studies are needed. He may refer you to a urologist (a specialist in the urinary system) if surgery or special tests are indicated.

Please send questions to Dan Blodgett, M.D., Box 8, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

LOST LENS

Next time you lose a contact lens make the room as dark as possible. Shine a flashlight over the floor area that you dropped it. The lost lens will shine when it reflects the light.

AVOID OVERDONE FOODS

To avoid burning foods, carry a pocket-sized timer. When you leave the kitchen to do other jobs around the house or yard work, the timer will let you know when to check your oven.

SUBSTITUTE PALETTES

The artist might find this idea useful. Don't throw away the plastic foam trays that meat comes packaged in. Wash them in soapy water, rinse and use to hold dabs of oil paint.

ALAMOGORDO, NM—Summertime fun is underway on all Districts of the Lincoln National Forest. Camping, picnicking, hiking, backpacking—there are activities for everyone. Photographers and sightseers will find wildflowers in mountain meadows, and many cacti are still blooming at lower elevations. The wild iris around Oak Grove Campground on the Smokey Bear District are lovely.

All campgrounds and trails on the Cloudcroft District are open. Motorists will find heavy equipment working on the Sunspot Road, and should watch for flagmen and expect some delays. Logging trucks may also be encountered on Sunspot Road and on US 82 from Cloudcroft to Alamogordo. No firewood areas are open. The number to call for information is 682-2551.

By REV. LES KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON — In its sponsoring of a nationwide tour of 20 Soviet clergymen, the National Council of Churches (NCC) announced that the visitors were on "a mission of peacemaking and church unity" and would be visiting "diverse elements of American life."

Such diversity did not extend, however, to two areas of Americana, to wit:

1) American concern about the Soviet demand for suppression of demonstrators (as well as Soviet defectors) at the Los Angeles Olympics; Soviet conquest and use of poison gas in Afghanistan; Soviet Air Force target practice on unarmed Korean airliners; or Soviet submarines along US coasts.

2) Diversity in American media.

The apparently very nervous NCC was obviously determined to eliminate any real chance that diversity in the United States media might lead to press conference questions that might embarrass or displease the Kremlin. For on May 21, when these Soviet clergy held a news conference arranged for them by the NCC at the College of Preachers of the Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral, they scheduled this news conference for the highly unusual hour of eight o'clock a.m. Moreover, this was a press conference "by invitation only."

Two of us (Shelly Tromberg, WJOK and Washington Guide Magazine) who are fully accredited reporters — but not among this NCC Media Elect — arrived to attend this selective press conference. The NCC's press conference convener, Robert Lear of United Methodist Communications, together with Nancy Montgomery, the Washington Cathedral's communications director — summoned the Washington Cathedral's uniformed police — complete with billy club and handcuffs — to banish us from the premises. (To their considerable dishonor as journalists, both David Anderson of UPI and Ed Briggs of The Richmond Times-Dispatch refused to leave this discriminatory press conference, even though they could see that we were being subjected to this Soviet-style police action.)

The NCC-Washington Cathedral — media-manipulators were already on edge when we arrived. For two days earlier, at a Washington Cathedral service of evensong with these Soviet clergy, there had been an incident involving Mrs. Lydia Vins.

Mrs. Vins is the mother of famed Russian Baptist dissident Georgi Vins. She lives in Elkhart, Ind., where she serves as director of the Council of Soviet Prisoners' Relatives. Mrs. Vins came to Washington in order to present these visiting clergy with Russian language Gospels, which she asked them to please take to Baptist prisoners back in the Soviet Union. Apparently horrified NCC-Washington Cathedral officials followed her, asked the Soviets for each Gospel and, after the service, were seen putting these Gospels into a large bag.

Mrs. Vins was told to "move on." And when, after the conclusion of the service, she dared to talk to Cathedral worshippers about the plight of Baptists in the Soviet Union, the NCC-Washington Cathedral people summoned those uniformed Cathedral police, with their billy clubs and their handcuffs, in order that they eject this gentlelady from the Cathedral (whose charter affirms that this (tax-exempt) structure shall be "A house of prayer for all people.")

The conduct of PR people Robert Lear and Nancy Montgomery (as well as that of two Cathedral clergy who were summoned in their police action against two accredited reporters was in the very highest tradition of the Keystone Kops.

Methodist Lear angrily informed us: "It is NOT a press conference: it is a press conversation."

Not two minutes later, however, Nancy Montgomery announced: "The press conference is about to start, and you are trespassing!"

These two eventually became so incensed that I was obliged to ask each of them to take their hands off me.

Furiously, Lear declared to me: "You've had two days when you could have come and asked questions at open meetings, Friday afternoon was open. (That was when Mrs. Vins was "policed" and her Gospels seized.) The peace conference on Saturday was open to the press."

Not only had columnist Reed Irvine been told that this conference was "open only to Christians," but an NCC news release stated in writing: "In Washington, DC, the Ecumenical Peace Conference May 19, an invitation-only event (emphasis added) will focus on peace and Soviet-US relations."

Perhaps Lear's most ludicrous performance was when Vyacheslav Ovsyannikov, deputy Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of the Moscow Patriarchate was asked by me: "Did you ask that certain American reporters be excluded from this meeting?"

Mr. Ovsyannikov was about to answer when Lear leaped between us and exclaimed:

Washington Cathedral calls cops to council of churches Soviet clergy press conference

"YOU DO NOT HAVE TO TALK TO HIM!"

Then Lear grabbed me. But the man from Moscow disregarded Lear long enough to disclaim any connection with the NCC Policy of Selective News Conferences.

Finally, two Cathedral clergy arrived, the Rev. Charles Minifie, President of the Cathedral's College of Preachers, and the Rev. R. Scott Taylor, another Episcopal priest. Minifie seized my microphone, until I asked him to take his hands off that. Taylor, a priest with a thick Southern accent, began a declamation of my sin in "trespassing and disobeying the law!"

I asked him if he was unaware of the Cathedral's high regard for numerous civil rights leaders who had secured the repeal of unjust laws by civil disobedience of them.

Taylor replied: "This is not Alabama! —this is the College of Preachers!"

As I began singing "We Shall Overcome," This solo anthem silenced everybody. But it didn't impede the arrival of one of those Cathedral policemen, with his equipment, who led me out into the street, outside that Cathedral which purports to be "A house of Prayer for All People" (except reporters who might ask questions that might embarrass the Kremlin.)

Do you ever yearn for the filled cookies of years gone by? Prune Thumbprints are an update of grandmother's classic cookie. The difference is that you can make these cookies in a lot less time.

If you have a food processor, you can whip up the dough in a jiffy. Just remember to stir the oats and diced prunes in by hand. Even if you don't have a processor, the dough won't take long. The filling is fast and foolproof when you use Sunsweet Diced Prunes.

Sunsweet Diced Prunes eliminate the need to pit, snip, and chop prunes, saving you an average of about 15 minutes. Recipe: ready diced prunes are convenient and easy-to-use, and can be substituted in the same amount for prunes that are chopped or diced by hand. Look for this new product available in the baking and dried fruit sections of supermarkets.

PRUNE THUMBPRINT COOKIES

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups packed brown sugar
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 3 cups uncooked quick-cooking oats
- 1/2 cup apricot jam
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups (1 pkg.) Sunsweet Diced Prunes

Cream butter with brown sugar. Sift flour with soda and salt, and blend into creamed mixture. Stir in milk and lemon peel; then oats, mixing well. Shape into 48 small balls, about 1 1/4 inches diameter, and place 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Make an indentation in center of each with rounded end of spatula or thumb. Melt jam with lemon juice and stir in diced prunes. Spoon into indentations on cookies. Bake above oven center at 375° F. about 15 minutes or just until edges brown very lightly. Let rest a minute, then remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 48 cookies.
