

July 18-22—

44th Camp Meeting begins Wednesday

The 44th Lincoln County Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting will be held July 18-22. When the Camp Meeting first originated under the direction of the late Ralph Hall, Roger Sherman, and Joe Evans, the aim was to furnish a meeting of cowboys, ranchers, and their families to camp together as their forefathers did in the long wagon train treks to the West. In 1940, Lincoln County was sparsely populated in most areas, roads were rough, and travel was not easy. Some families had no neighbors or churches close enough to warrant more than a yearly visit. So Camp Meeting gave them 4 days of sharing meals, friendship, and religious brotherhood.

Today, living and traveling conditions have greatly changed, but the same spirit of brotherhood, friendship, and western Christian hospitality draws people from far places to participate in this unique gathering. The 23-acre grounds on Nogal Mesa in the pine and juniper forest, has nature's greenness, pure air, the trill of birds, and all the rugged natural beauties of the land. The tabernacle overlooks the great expanse of the Tularosa Basin and the mountains beyond. But it is the people who make the encampment so special. They drop the accoutrements of gracious living to dwell close to nature, tranquilly, and peacefully. They forget the torrid pace of the world where political, racial, and economic problems are rampant. The cynicism and urgent tensions are dropped for 4 days of enhanced optimism and Christian faith in a better tomorrow. The encampment is interdenominational. Opening services will be held Wednesday evening after the first chuckwagon meal, July 18, and continue through Sunday evening, July 22. This year, the preachers will be Rev. Randy Steele of Colorado, and Rev. Leon Wyss of Albuquerque. Paul Biggs will again be in charge of music, accompanied by Jane Shafer. The choir is made up of volunteers.

Officers in charge of running the camp are Rick and Randy Steele, managers; LaMoyné and Opal Peters, Wesley Lindsey, Scott and Bob Shafer, Walt Wilson and Johnson Stearns, with a complete roster of New Mexico residents on their committees.

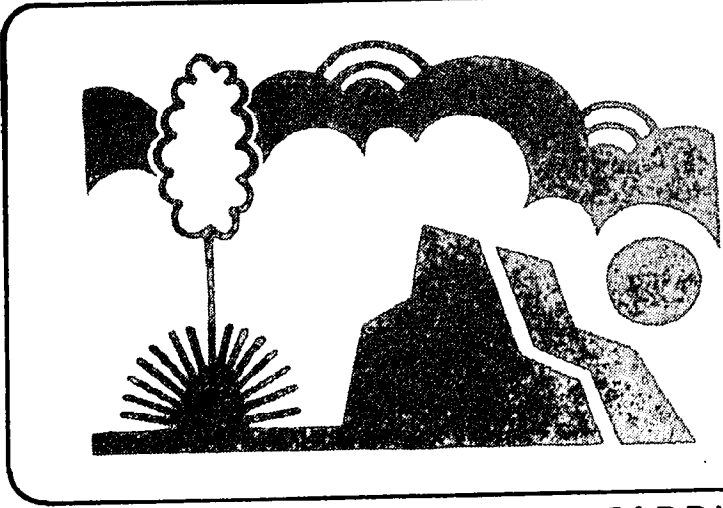

A Memorial Service for those who passed away during the year is held Saturday afternoon under the direction of Chloe Peters and Glenda Armstrong. There are Prayer Tree gatherings for the men, and group meetings for the women, youths, and children. John Walker and Joe Wigley have games and hayrides planned for the teenagers. Peggy Wilson, Joanne Anderson, Nancy Wigley, Glenda Armstrong, and Brenda Zumwalt will direct the children's activities. The kiddie corral has been moved next to the pink trailer away from the parking area. Wally Ferguson will replace the late Bob Peebles on the wood committee to supply fuel for the barbecue pits. A gravel surface has been spriged on the road and the dining hall floor.

Every 10 years, the Camp Meeting historical booklets are brought up to date. This year, the new edition, under the direction of Esther Van Soelen and Dorothy Guck, will be available.

For those attending for the first time, there is camping space available at no charge for those participating in the services. All youngsters must be sponsored or accompanied by adults. Bring your own campers, tents, or bedrolls. Water, electricity, and restrooms are provided. The altitude is 7000 feet; so sun wear and jackets are essential.

It is camping is not possible, everyone is welcome to attend daily services. Meals are served from cauldrons by the ranchmen at 6 and 8 a.m., 12:30 and 6:30 p.m. Tabernacle services are at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 8 p.m. Group prayer meetings are held at 5 p.m. There are a few posted runs, a registration booth to give you any other needed information. The camp is financed by tree-wood donations.

The grounds can be reached by the Lincoln National Forest road at the sign turning off U.S. 66 about 7 miles west of Capitan and 1 1/2 miles east of Carrizozo, or by the road turning off State Road 6 past Nogal Lake. Further information may be obtained at United New Mexico Bank, Carrizozo, NM 88301. Reservations are not necessary.

Annual 'People's Market' scheduled for July 29th

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Chamber of Commerce heard reports about the People's Market, the Fly-In, and the possibility that "Up With People" may be in Carrizozo again soon, at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

People's Market, scheduled for July 29, is going well. There are still 10 booths available, with 22 reserved. No answers have been received from the 126 notified of the fiddler's contest. Patsy Sanchez said that last year at this time only 5 had answered by mail. There is no entry fee for the fiddler's contest.

Other activities planned for the People's Market are a bubble gum blowing contest, strolling musicians, bingo and raffles.

Dr. Dale Goad reported on the Fly In that was held June 23. Goad said it was a big success with 27 airplanes registered coming from Albuquerque, Roswell, Artesia, Socorro, Alamogordo, Dexter, and El Paso. The ladies flying club, the 99ers were here for the day, and Jim Kinlen, publisher of Flying Review Magazine was here for the event. Kinlen plans to have the Carrizozo Fly-In in the August issue of 'Flying Review'.

Goad reported also that 240 donuts were cooked and served during the morning and 150 hamburgers were barbecued and served for lunch. An aerial photography company from Albuquerque was the last plane in for the Fly In and has sent a letter commending the airport on the Fly In. The 99ers will paint "Carrizozo" and the altitude on the airstrip soon.

The Chamber of Commerce has spent $595 for advertising for a new industry to come to Carrizozo.

Goad also reported that since the airport manager, Mel Carl and his family had moved in the use of the airport had tripled. Last month there were 130 planes, not including the 27 for the Fly In. Gas sales for the month have also tripled. A large hangar is being built. Another lease is being negotiated, and another hangar should be going up soon in the new apron area.

The airport committee is trying to raise money to purchase a weather instrument for use at the airport. The instrument will cost about $350 and enable the Carls to give wind information to pilots. Cutter Flying Service sent a thank you for having a nice clean airport.

School Superintendent Dr. Jim Miller told members of the award the Carrizozo High School has received from Washington. The school has volunteered to be a demonstration site for computers. The school winning the award should help economic development industries, when looking for a location are interested in the quality of the schools.

Isabell Clausen, of Denmark was a guest at the meeting. Clausen is a staff member of Up With People. A discussion was held as to whether Carrizozo should have Up With People perform again this year.

Capitan Town Council—

'Special Election' Sept. 14

Unapproved minutes of Capitan City Council meeting, July 9, 1984.

A special election will be held Sept. 14, 1984 to answer the following two questions: 1. Shall the Village of Capitan adopt a Municipal Gross Receipts Tax Ordinance imposing an additional tax of 1/4 percent of the gross receipts of all persons doing business in the Village of Capitan? The registration books will be closed at 5 p.m. on Aug. 3, 1984. 2. Shall the Village of Capitan adopt a Special Municipal Gross Receipts Tax Ordinance imposing an additional tax of 1/2 percent of the gross receipts of all persons doing business in the Village of Capitan?

If both resolutions pass the total tax in the Village of Capitan would become 5/4 percent.

The gross receipts tax revenue of 1/4 percent will be dedicated to the General Fund. The gross receipts tax revenue of 1/2 percent will be dedicated to infrastructure improvements for related facilities as specified by law.

There will be a special meeting of the Capitan City Council on July 16 beginning at 7 p.m. A bid has been awarded to resurface the village tennis court at a cost of $7,900.

The city council is considering purchasing property in the village which would be used for a new fire station. The present fire station would then be renovated and this additional space added to city hall.

Mayor Cummins announced that the Motor Vehicle Dept. would be open all day Mondays and until noon on Tuesdays.

A city session will be held Aug. 2 at City Hall for the purpose of planning and zoning. This meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m.

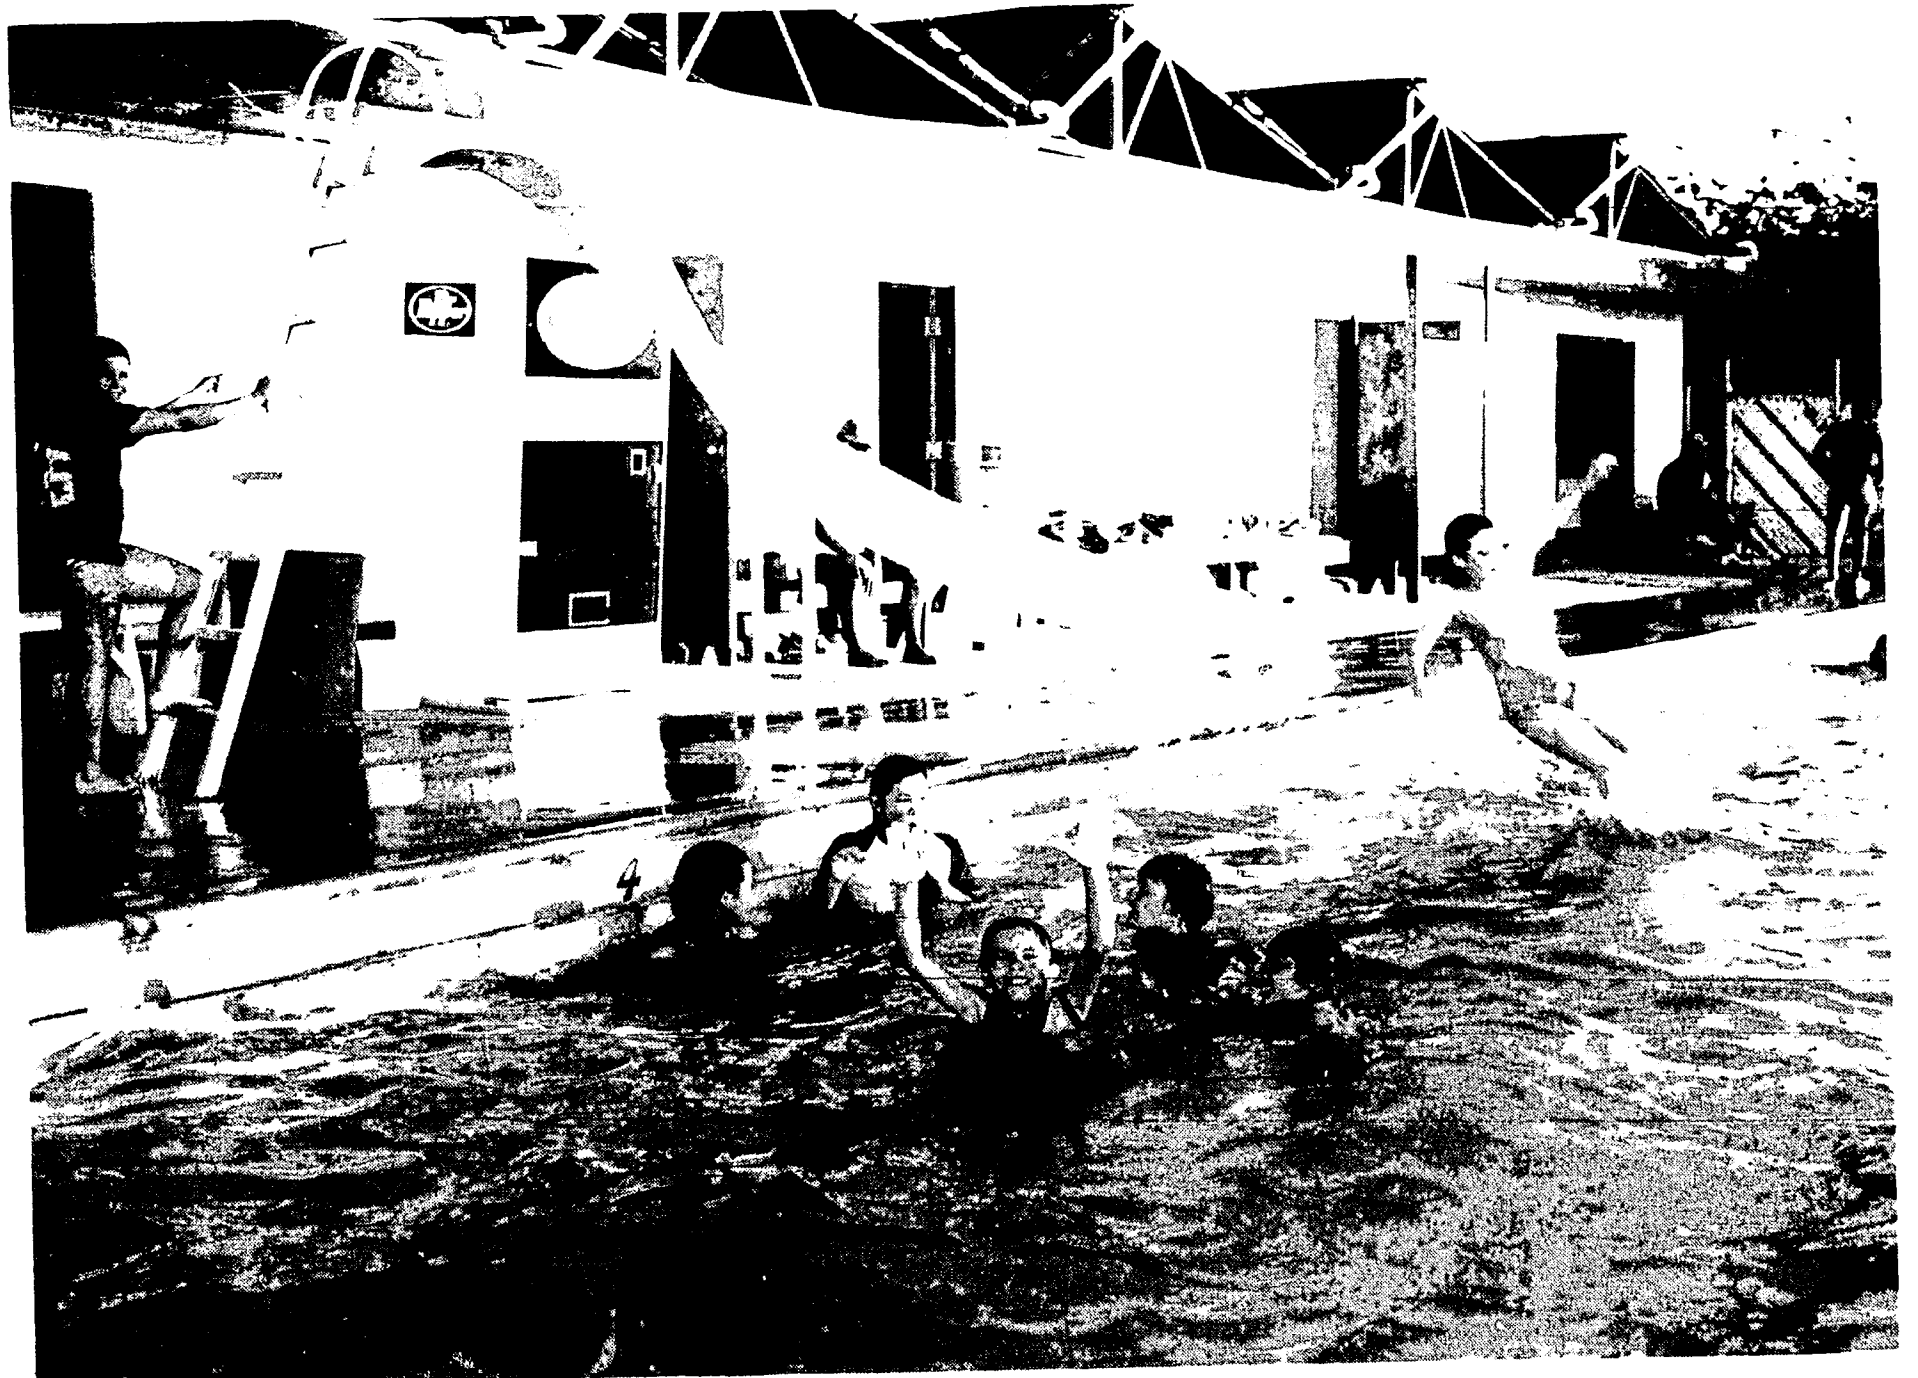

The Village will host an Economic Development Meeting at the Senior Citizens Center, July 13, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., also July 14, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. This meeting pertains to the development of a PROFILE Plan on a 20 year plan for Capitan's development. The public is urged to add its input to this meeting.

The quantity of water at Pearson Well 1 was good but the quality was not. The village will look further east for more water.

VISITS IN CARRIZOZO

Monday afternoon members of this household visited with Lisbeth Clausen of Denmark, Scandinavia located in the northern part of Europe. We met Lisbeth two years ago in August, when the cast of 'Up With People' first performed in Carrizozo. She has finished her touring with the cast and will attend college in Denmark.

Before heading for her home country she decided to take her summer vacation in New Mexico. While in Carrizozo this week she was a guest of Phyllis and Woody Schlegel. Lisbeth said that she had been to the NEWS office and found that her "favorite editor," Ernest Joiner, was no longer around.

She always remembers Carrizozo because the hospitality was the best in all her travels all over the US, Canada and Europe. She fondly recalls the parade and community potluck.

HOT AS FIRECRACKERS

Lisbeth also recalls the taste of the fresh green chile she tried out at our house when she came to visit our family two years ago. That was while she and her partner were our neighbors during her stay in Carrizozo. She and another girl worked on advance promotion for 'Up with People.'

During our chat Monday we interviewed her at length. We asked her to tell us about her country and her experiences with the group, which she joined when she knew little English. Monday she taught us Danish words, told us about Denmark's television, movies and foods.

She spent 4th of July in Santa Fe and enjoyed the way the holiday is celebrated. "We don't celebrate July 4 in Denmark," she said, then added with a smile, "of course not."

ALONG THE WAY

Did you ever wonder how the idea of a local swimming pool originated? The following is from Paul Baker's 'Along the Way' NEWS column in June 1958, the year constructed was held up:

What happened to the swimming pool that Carrizozo was to build? Here's a little history - Shortly after the Army moved to Red Canyon, several of the personal including a captain, said that Carrizozo should have a swimming pool and offered to help build it. Several businessmen became interested and volunteered to raise money to buy material, the Army boys to draw up the plans and help with the labor, plumbing, etc. The ground, generously donated by the Turners and Spencers was excavated and over $3,000 raised to buy cement and lumber for forms.

"All went well for a short time only an Army directive came along, forbidding further use of government material or labor on the non-military project. Then opposition developed from other sources. A representative came from Santa Fe advising how cigarette money should be spent and a swimming pool was definitely not on her approval list. Even the Carrizozo school council took a vote on what they preferred in the way of recreation facilities and a swimming pool was fourth choice when the votes were counted."

"The citizens committee on recreation spent hours of time checking plans and estimates on swimming pools and the cheapest standard size pool at that time was almost $25,000. It was impossible to get volunteer labor to build the pool and the committee, faced with so much opposition and lack of funds reluctantly decided the project would have to be abandoned. Material already purchased was re-sold and the donors to the pool were eventually refunded 80 cents on the dollar."

IT'S THE LAW

New Mexico State Police

compiled by officer randy rhue

I will continue this week with regulations dealing with turning at or entering intersections.

66-7-329: VEHICLES TURNING LEFT AT INTERSECTIONS:

The driver of a vehicle within an intersection intending to turn to the left shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard but said driver having so yielded and having given the proper signal when required, may make such left turn and the drivers of all other vehicles approaching the intersection from said opposite direction shall yield the right-of-way to the vehicle making the left turn.

What the last portion of this law means, is that after you have started your left turn, all other traffic coming from any direction must yield to you, but only after you have fulfilled the requirements for making a left turn.

66-7-330: VEHICLES ENTERING A STOP OR YIELD INTERSECTION:

A. Preferential right-of-way at an intersection may be indicated by stop signs or yield signs as authorized in the MOTOR VEHICLE CODE.

B. Except when directed to proceed by a police officer or traffic control signal, every driver of a vehicle approaching a stop intersection indicated by a stop sign shall stop as required by law, and after having stopped shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle which has entered the intersection from another highway or which is approaching so closely on the highway as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time when the driver is moving across or within the intersection.

C. The driver of a vehicle approaching a yield sign shall, in obedience to the sign slow down to a speed that is reasonable for the existing conditions, and shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle in the intersection or approaching on another highway so close as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time the driver is moving across or within the intersection. If the driver is involved in a collision with another vehicle in the intersection, after driving past a yield sign without stopping, the collision shall be deemed PRIMA FACIE evidence of his failure to yield the right-of-way.

REMEMBER IT'S THE LAW!

I perspire a great deal and would like to know about surgical correction of this problem? C.B. Medical treatment of hyperhidrosis (excessive sweating) is usually adequate to control this distressing problem. Treatment methods may differ between the axillary area (armpit) and the palms and soles of the feet. A prescription drug called Drysol will generally be effective when applied once daily at night. Oral agents designed to decrease sweating can be used but these often have side effects.

Surgery of the armpit area can be used to remove the sweat glands. A plastic or general surgeon experienced with this procedure should be consulted to learn about the potential risks of the operation. Excessive palm sweating is not amenable to surgical correction.

I have heard of a new chewing gum to help stop smoking. Does this really work? N.D.

The new gum, called Nicorette, really does work for many people. Tobacco contains the powerful drug nicotine, which causes physical addiction in smokers. Attempts to stop smoking are often unsuccessful because of the unpleasant withdrawal symptoms which occur when nicotine levels in the blood drop to zero. This chewing gum contains nicotine, which is absorbed into the body through the lining of the mouth. A person can stop smoking and chew the gum at regular intervals throughout the day to prevent nicotine withdrawal.

The amount of gum chewed is gradually reduced over one or two months until all dependence on nicotine is gone. The gum is available by prescription only and minor side effects do occur in some people. I urge anyone interested in stopping smoking to consider this method if they have found that they failed with previous attempts to stop because of nicotine withdrawal.

Send questions to Dr. Dan Blodgett, MD, Box 8, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

The Cowboy's Shirt Tail

By the Holaday and Hampton Post

There is one thing people inquire about; They ask why a cow puncher's shirt tail comes out. Most any rough hand that you happen across— If he's skinnin' a beef, if he's shoein' a hoss; If he's ridin' a bronco or flankin' a calf— Well, his shirt tail is out, or at least the last half.

Now workin' wild stock where the brush is right thick, Where the cattle is sudden and cowboys is quick; If you notice a man and a hoss disappear, That is, if you view the event from the rear, The thing that you always will keep on your mind Is that cowpuncher's shirt tail a-floppin' behind. If you've seen some old waddy jest bustin' his neck To escape from some critter that's got on the peck, You've discovered two facts, jest between you and I, That a cowboy can run and a shirt tail can fly. He knowed what he'd get if he happened to fall. So he shore didn't stop to arrange his shirt tail.

Them "Levi P. Strauss" is built small in the seat, And a cowpuncher's frame doesn't carry much meat. He can eat a big breakfast and long before night He's so empty and hongry that nothin' fits tight. And besides, he gits rassed and tussled around Till the best behaved shirt tail won't hardly stay down.

We all have days when our shirt tail is out, we are dog tired, weary and sometimes worried.

One way to relieve some of that anxiety is to begin a savings account at our bank, a little saved back for a rainy day lifts your spirits and makes the sun come shining through.

But you need to start today. Maybe you just made the final payment on your TV set, washer-dryer, this would be an ideal time to use that monthly payment to start yourself a savings account. Please ask about the different plans - any of us at our Vaughn, Carrizozo and Estancia bank offices will be glad to help you.

"RODNEY IS TRYING TO CONVINCING THE ADMINISTRATION TO SELL THEM THREE MILE ISLAND!"

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

BY Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Not even a political columnist feels mean when he gets up every morning. Occasionally—a thought crosses the mind which is actually mellow and friendly. Not often, but occasionally.

The current notion, full of sweetness and light, involves a few words on the personality changes in Raymond Sanchez, presently the Speaker of New Mexico's House of Representatives.

Tracing those psychic changes in the Speaker also allows for a brief review of recent legislative history.

PHASE ONE: Sanchez, who is completing his seventh two-year term, represents a district in Albuquerque's North Valley, just outside the limits of the city. He is a native of Belen, where his family has long been politically active.

He was one of the original members of a group of House members which came to be known as the "Mama Lucys," from some real or fancied connection with a restaurant off the campus of Highlands University in Las Vegas operated by a woman of that name.

The Mama Lucys, most of them young, tended for a while to run roughshod over the House. They had the votes, and in such people as Gene Cinelli they also had the strategists who could plan moves well in advance. They were successful—and being successful, some of them, including Raymond Sanchez, grew a shade arrogant.

That rightly offended House members, who were excluded from the insiders' group, and when their turn came, they struck. They gave us the Cowboy Coalition.

PHASE TWO: All the Republicans in the House, perennial outsiders because they represent the minority party, worked out a deal with those Democrats whom the Mama Lucys had rolled over with such vigor. Most of the latter came from the southern and eastern verges of the state and were more conservative in bent than Sanchez and his companions.

They banded together, turned the Mama Lucys out and elevated one of their own, Gene Samberson of Lovington, as Speaker.

PHASE THREE: But once again the pendulum swung, though not by far. When one House member, Max Coll of Santa Fe, changed from the Republican to the Democratic camp, that gave Sanchez the vote to become Speaker again.

But this time, to the surprise of many, he seemed remarkably humbled and remarkably mellowed. He exacted no revenge of any kind. He was kind to those who had previously displaced him, as Samberson himself will tell you. He was considerate and careful to listen to the wishes of the members—in short, a changed man, and a much improved one.

Needless to say, there are in political history not many stories to tell of how a person has been improved in character while in office. That makes this almost a unique one.

THE FUTURE: And where does the House go from here? It's hard to say. It could go back to the control of the Cowboys, though one now hears a position which was not common before: "Oh, I don't know. I wouldn't want to hurt Raymond. After all, he's been good to me these last two years. I guess I'd have to support him in any fight that arose."

Moral of the story: Being friendly can sometimes be mighty good politics.

An open letter to Jody Powell

The alleged right to lie

Dear Jody: I am one of the few members of the White House press corps who covered you for four years and who:

1) Was not criticized, or even mentioned, in your book The Other Side of the Story; and
2) Was not critical but rather was enthusiastic about most of this book — especially your detailed and devastating expose of the assorted treacheries of Senator Kennedy toward your boss, President Carter — this, and your valuable expose of the continuing favoritism which most of the Big Media extend to Senator Kennedy.

Having thus established something on the order of an approximate neutral objectivity, let me express, in the form of some questions, my serious concern for your book's eighteenth chapter, "The Right To Lie."

Twice I have conveyed to your secretary, Carolyn Shields, invitations for you to appear on two talk shows: 1) My own, in Philadelphia, and 2) Barry Farber's show, in New York, with which I am also associated.

I wish that you had been able (or willing) to accept either one of these invitations, since the question of lying in government — and in the media — is one of considerable national concern. Absent any such willingness, perhaps you will be willing at least to think about — or even reply to — some of these questions:

1) You quote — with your own approbation — a Kennedy Administration Pentagon spokesman named Arthur Sylvester as saying: "Under certain circumstances, I think the government does have the right to lie."

Q: When you deliberately lied to reporters, in denying that military force was being considered in an attempt to rescue the hostages in Iran, and four months later Jack Anderson published reports of an "October surprise" in the form of a planned all-out US invasion of Iran, why did you expect that editors and reporters would believe your (latest) emphatic denials and evaluate them as anything more than added lies from President Carter's press secretary?

Q: Since you are undoubtedly a master at the art of humorous evasion (a mixture of Uncle Remus and Milton Berle), why, when you were asked this important question about a possible military action in Iran, did you not dispose of the question by using something like the following (which is no wilder than some of the answers I heard from you): "Yes, we are. These are top secret plans — which I am telling you all in strictest confidence, because I know I can trust all of you to say nothing until it's all over! We're planning to parachute five thousand Southern Baptist missionaries into Iran, in confidence that at least one of them will get to the Ayatollah and convert him!"

(However you would have done it, you surely could have, effectively. But you did not. Instead you lied — and today you seem to be very proud of doing so — to the point of seeming to protest too much.)

2) You write: "In certain circumstances, government has not only the right but a positive obligation to lie."

Q: Did Jimmy Carter believe this when he campaigned all over the United States with promises that "I'll never lie to you!" and "I'll never mislead you!" — and even something to the effect of "If I ever lie to you, come to the White House and remove me!"?

Q: Were these Carter campaign promises genuine? Or were they even more lies? Or did Mr. Carter believe this himself, and leave the lying to Jody Powell?

3) You reveal that President Carter said to you at the time of the planned Iranian rescue mission: "If you have to lie to the press, I may have to fire you when this is all over, you know. I'm not sure I can have a press secretary who won't tell the truth to the press."

Q: Candidate Jimmy Carter promised: "I'll never lie to you." Didn't he really mean: "I'll never lie to you — but my press secretary may?"?

4) You write: "It is ludicrous to argue that soldiers may be sent off to fight and die, but a spokesman may not, under any circumstances, be asked to lie to make sure that casualties are fewer and not in vain."

Q: Are you unable to detect any difference between the Presidential News Secretary addressing the national media at the White House press room podium on the one hand and, on the other, a CIA agent under deep cover in some foreign and hostile country?

Q: On how many important issues can a Presidential spokesman deliberately lie before he destroys his credibility and the credibility of the President in whose name he speaks?

Q: Has there ever been any evidence that the Ayatollah's government really believed your Big Lie about no military intervention?

5) You write: "If a secret is worth lying about to protect, it makes sense to come up with the most effective lie possible."

Q: How would this statement of yours differ substantially if at all from a more distilled statement, to wit: "Only lie on big issues — and then be sure to lie big!"

Q: Would you recommend this policy of lying as effectively as possible to our nation's young people — particularly those who are enrolled in our service academies at West Point, Annapolis and Colorado Springs?

Q: How do you suppose President Carter could have functioned as Commander-in-Chief, if most of his generals and admirals had also followed this policy of "Lie only on the big issues — and then lie big!"?

Sincerely,
Lester Kinsolving

EDITORIAL

Monday night the regularly scheduled meeting of the town of Carrizozo board of trustees had to be cancelled because there was not a quorum. A quorum is the number of members of a group or organization required to be present to transact business legally, usually a majority.

The duly elected officials that are responsible for running our town supposedly made a commitment when they took the oath of office to fulfill their duties. One of these duties is to make an attempt to be present to fill their seat of office at each regularly scheduled meeting.

Monday night Trustee Patsy Sanchez and Trustee Bob Hemphill, acting as Mayor Pro Tem, fulfilled their duties by attending the regularly scheduled meeting at 6 o'clock. City Clerk Carol Schlarb was present to take the minutes. City Attorney Don Dutton made a trip from Ruidoso to attend the meeting.

Important business to be conducted was the final budget hearing for the 1984-85 fiscal year. The budget must be approved at the final hearing before it becomes effective. The old budget was from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984. This year's budget was to take effect July 1, 1984. Since it could not be approved Monday night, the town is in limbo until the next meeting, scheduled for Monday the 16th at 6 p.m. Let's hope there is a quorum then so the town can get on with business.

Another very important item on the agenda was the hiring of a certified police officer. The safety of the residents of Carrizozo depends in part on the police protection provided by the town. This one business transaction alone should have been enough for each elected official to make every effort to attend the meeting.

Public discussion of raising commercial garbage rates was on the agenda also. The $3,300 a month the town has agreed to pay for the new solid waste disposal system is more than the approximately $2,400 a month collected from residences and businesses. The extra money can come from the general fund but why should this be necessary?

Perhaps voters should ask those elected the question, "Where were you?" Is it not one of their duties to plan to attend the 12 regular meetings that are scheduled for each year? These meetings are held the second Monday of each month. It would not seem too difficult to set this one evening aside each month.

Special meetings may be called at any time and while they are important, it is impossible to schedule them each month.

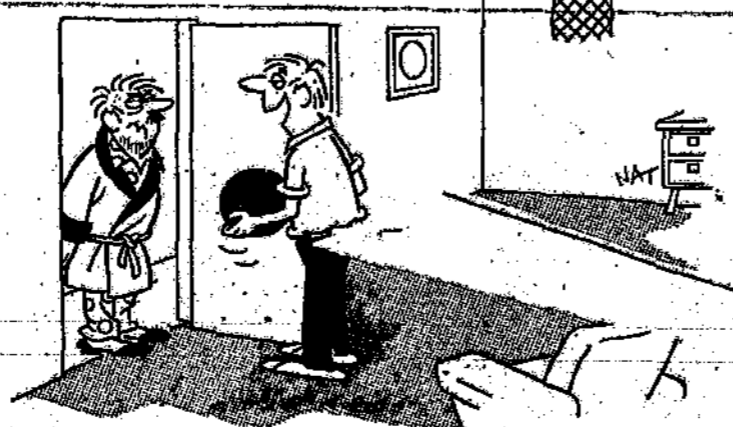

Emergencies and sudden illnesses do arise to prevent participation in activities. Voters do not expect an elected official to leave a hospital bed to attend a meeting. It does seem that once a month meetings should have priority.

Capitan News

By MARGARET RENCH

On the night of July 3rd we received tenth of an inch of gentle rain. That is it for last week. Just hot, hot and dry with wind all week.

Tourists are still coming and enjoying the Smokey Bear Museum and the New Mexico Smokey Bear State Park. On the 4th of July there were 520 registered visitors. Many were disappointed that there was not a parade. But Smokey Bear himself visited the State Park and fairgrounds so that was a big surprise for the children and the grownups as well. Thanks Smokey!

From Monday, July 2 thru Sunday, July 8 there were 2,638 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum. On the 2nd Bert O. Purcella son of George and Millicent Purcella, and Lena Moss daughter of Josie Sparks formerly of Capitan were here. Lena was in the 3rd grade when Smokey was found. They had just attended the Purcella family reunion in which 150 persons attended at the Baca Campsite.

The Capitan Jr. Rodeo will hold their play day Sunday, July 15 starting at 1:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds.

The Capitan FFA Barbecue was a big success.

On July 16-20 the Capitan Church of Christ Bible vacation school will be in session. The teenagers that help each year from Texas will be there doing their part and there will be devotionals for adults and children every night.

The new low income housing units will be finished in the next two weeks. Applications are now being taken for their rent. They are nice looking buildings. Something to be proud of.

A report on the progress of Westley Founds who was in a motorcycle accident in Roswell June 27. He has been taken from intensive care and is gaining strength. Keep up the good work and get well fast.

Anyone wishing to mail a letter by pony express may take the letter to the Smokey Bear Museum in Capitan. Be sure to leave a two inch space in the lower left hand corner for the commemorative stamp. Place the letter inside another envelope along with one dollar and place in the box. If you cannot make it to the museum...just mail your letter (inside another envelope) to Pony Express Race, P.O. Box 596, Capitan, NM 88316. Remember...these letters are collectors items, and one of a kind. Send one to all your loved ones and friends. Remember...have the letter ready to mail, stamp and all; space in the left hand corner; and $1.

Robyn Peralta, daughter of Isidro and Patsy Peralta, is representing Capitan and Sacred Heart Church in the Annual Santa Rita Fiesta Queen Contest. Any monies donated to Robyn will be used in the parish. Robyn will be selling raffle tickets for a pig and a basket of food. This year there are only two candidates, Robyn and a young lady from Carrizozo. Lets all help Robyn to win the contest.

The Southern Baptist Church Bible School was held at the fair building from July 9-13. They held a parade through town last Sunday.

Happy birthdays to Herbert Lee Traylor, Eugene Andrews and Howard Shanks whose days are July 10, and to Dorothy Payne in Carrizozo whose birthday is July 14. I wish all of you many, more very healthy and happy years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Trujillo became the proud and happy parents of a son Jerry Jeremy at the Roswell Medical Center June 12, and weighed 8 lbs. 12 ozs.

Corky and Mona McEuen and their family returned last Friday from a three day camping trip from which they received much happiness and enjoyment.

Visiting the Joiners over the 4th were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Joiner, Patsy Racher, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, Trina and Danny Racher, and Mr. and Mrs. Rio Mayami and new baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Bo Worham of Pecos, TX and Mr. Hicks visited Bessie Jones and the Joiners last week.

Leonard Crain and Toni returned from one weeks vacation in Houston.

Berry Herd and Janice Eldridge were united in marriage in a beautiful church ceremony at the Episcopal Church in Ruidoso Saturday night at 8 p.m., July 7 with their family and friends present. I wish this lovely couple many years of wedded happiness together. May God bless you.

Herbert Lee and Alice Traylor accompanied by Jane Traylor attended the George Coe Centennial at Glencoe recently which they truly did enjoy. Jane had taught school where the Ferrys and Noskers attended. She was ecstatically happy at seeing them again... Something to be long remembered.

Late that afternoon they traveled on to the Baca Campsite and attended the Purcella family reunion. Again Jane was so happy as she knew all of them as she lived in Tinnie and was a teacher. Everyone was so thrilled and happy for their visit. It was a great day and one to long remember.

Larry Lucas and friend of Roswell visited his aunt Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright in Capitan last Sunday.

Guests of David and Terry Strickland families last week were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bell and son Michael of Lovington.

Matt and Terry Carroll formerly of Block Ranch now of Alamogordo spent their 10th anniversary at the Capitan Church of Christ visiting friends Sunday, July 8. All of their friends were overjoyed to see them. I wish them many more years of happiness.

Many have been wondering when the Bakery will open. I did talk to Polly. She said there was more to be done on the building before opening. We will keep you informed.

All of us did enjoy seeing Mary and Virgil Loomis last week with their son Sandy and Cindy Loomis and two children. Sandy is in the Air Force now located in Texas. He will be transferred to England for four years very soon and his family will go with him. They visited her people on the Bonita while they were here.

Last Sunday afternoon a little boy from California was riding a mini motor bike in mid Capitan and was hit by a vehicle. Our rescue unit took him to the Ruidoso hospital. The report is that though there were many lacerations, etc., he was not hurt seriously, although he will have lots of pain. I wish him the very best recovery.

Mrs. Rench accompanied

Millie Muse to the Hall family reunion picnic July 4 on the Nogal picnic area for the day. One hundred eleven attended that happy affair. A very beautiful day in a beautiful area with perennial sweet peas in full bloom and tall grass. Such circumference for a juniper tree which must have been many years of age was in mid camp by which many camped their vehicles from the 3rd. The other trees were of great interest, too. Such beauty and it was cool.

There was music, games of all kinds, visiting, pictures being taken. A great day with all kinds of delicious food. The oldest was 82 and the youngest was one month. There was ten children in that family, five boys and five girls there with their families from various states. It was great that they all were in a picture together to be remembered in this great occasion.

It was located by a running stream which the children did enjoy. The forest furnished the proper facilities for a large crowd. When all went home, the last ones by 9 o'clock everything was clean and left in perfect condition. All of the trash was bagged and hauled away therefore nature took over with a smile. It truly was a great day and I enjoyed every moment.

The July 4th rodeo and dances were successful and enjoyed by large crowds.

T. V. Roswell break in News just announced that Peter Hurd passed away this day Monday July 9, 1984 with his lovely wife and three children at his side. He will be long remembered for he was a great artist who lived in San Patricio. He painted many beautiful pictures of this area of New Mexico. To know him was to love him. We did just that. My sympathy is extended to his lovely family.

LAS CRUCES — Twenty Japanese young people and adults will visit New Mexico July 28 to Aug. 24, according to Glenn Bartelt, state 4-H program leader for the New Mexico State University Cooperative Extension Service.

"The program is designed to be a cultural exchange between the two countries. Japanese youth will learn about the American culture and customs by living with a New Mexico family," Bartelt said.

"New Mexico 4-H families will gain new knowledge about Japan through communication and sharing family life experiences. Labo delegates will attend community affairs and special 4-H meetings and events."

(DFCS) demonstration tests successful

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, NM — An Army computer control system at White Sands Missile Range recently launched and landed two Air Force full-scale drones at Holloman Air Force Base almost 40 miles away for an Air Force air-to-air missile test.

The range has been using its Drone Formation Control System (DFCS) to fly aircraft targets in formation since 1977. The recent demonstration proved the expansion of the DFCS to include routine launch and recovery operations was technically low risk, economical and operationally desirable, according to William Patterson, the DFCS coordinator.

The recent test used Air Force PQM-102 drones. The former F-102 delta wing interceptors were the first tactical delta wing fighters. They were introduced in the 1950s and used through the Vietnam era. Now obsolete as military aircraft, they have been modified to be targets and can fly with or without a pilot onboard.

The DFCS, the only system of its kind, was developed for the range by IBM and is designed to control formations up to a mix of six sub-scale and full-scale aircraft targets. The system also has been used to drive 10 tank targets in formation. Data links throughout the range provide tracking and control functions for the individual targets and the central control system in Range Control Center coordinates the capabilities to establish and maintain precise control.

During missile tests the aircraft drones are presented as targets with as little as 200 feet between wing tips, according to Manion Long, chief of the National Range Operations Directorate's target control section.

"With the sophisticated missile systems tested here at White Sands we must be able to simulate the types of threats a system would face in a combat situation," Long said. "We were manually flying drones in formation in 1967. But with people controlling the targets we weren't able to keep them in close formation for any length of time. That's why we came up with the DFCS. 'It's still one-of-a-kind.'"

In the past, targets were launched by the Drone Target Control System (DTCS) at Holloman. The all-manual system requires direct operator visual control. Once airborne, target control is passed to the DFCS. At landing, control is passed back to the DTCS.

A five-minute delay between launches is required when the DTCS controls the operation, Patterson said. The time is required to reposition the operator equipment. When the DFCS controls launches, only a 90-second delay occurs between takeoffs.

The Air Force has a contract with RCA for the operation and maintenance of the PQM-102s. The headquarters for the contractor is at Tyndall Air Force Base, FL. In the past, when these Air Force targets were required for testing at White Sands, PQM-102 operations at Tyndall had to be suspended because RCA controllers had to be sent to Holloman to supplement the small detachment there, Patterson said.

Because of the growing demand for target operations at Tyndall, the Air Force went on record saying that recurring requirements for multiple PQM-102 operations at White Sands would have to be accomplished without impacting on the Tyndall target operation and maintenance mission. Because multiple PQM-102 flight operations are required for only a few programs at White Sands, it was decided it was not cost or operationally effective to retain the DTCS launch and recovery capability with equipment or manpower at Holloman.

"We knew we could land the drones with the DFCS because we had to do it once," Patterson said. "An emergency situation closed the Holloman runway used for drone operations and we used the DFCS to automatically land two PQM-102 drones at Northrup Strip."

But to use the computer control system at WSMR to routinely launch and recover drones at Holloman, two things had to be done. A proportional nosewheel steering for the target was developed by Sperry Flight Systems. IBM developed additional software for the automatic takeoff and landing portion for the program which drives the DFCS.

During the recent demonstration Army and Air Force controllers worked together in the target control area of WSMR's Range Control Center.

Two RCA controllers sat at remote terminals in the room. While the system is automated, the controllers have the capability to manually override the computer to steer the drone while it is taxing. When the drone reached the required direction, speed and runway position the

Sen. Pete Domenici Report:

WASHINGTON — Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) Thursday introduced a relief bill for White Sands ranchers and a resolution which "may be the breakthrough we've been wanting for more than 42 years to give just compensation to these ranchers."
 Domenici introduced the relief bill and in a rarely used procedure, introduced a resolution referring the case of the White Sands ranchers to the US Court of Claims.
 Under this process, the US Court of Claims would use a quasi-legal procedure that rules on the equity of judgments and awards from the federal government. It is different from the judicial system in that it only makes recommendations and allows any evidence and testimony to be presented before it that would be a factor in determining equity.

 "Such evidence presented could be the testimony from the Senate hearing I held last November or any evidence of inequity the White Sands ranchers would like to present," Domenici explained. "As an impartial body, it can rule on merits and equity alone, and not on legal decisions or documents."

"After 42 years, we may have found the fast track we have been looking for to help our ranchers," Domenici said. "Congressman Skeen and the ranchers themselves agree that this is a good approach and would go hand in hand with Skeen's bill to compensate them."
 "The reason this may move much quicker than other approaches is that the resolution only has to pass one body, the Senate, before it is acted upon," the Senator said. Also, whatever recommendations the impartial US Court of Claims make usually are adopted with little opposition by Congress.

"I will be working for the quick passage of this Senate resolution so that we can get on with the important work of determining a just payment for our White Sands ranchers," Domenici added.

controller punched the Automatic Takeoff button.

After the drones had flown for the Air Force missile test, the controller pushed the Recovery button to put the PQM-102 on its flight path to the Holloman runway. The DFCS taxed the drone to a complete stop after landing.

An IBM system manager manned the main control console. He had the capability to take over either remote terminal should a problem have developed.

An Air Force officer was assigned. The officer acted as the Launch Commander and Destruct Officer. He had the responsibility to activate the Air Force destruct mechanism aboard the drone if a problem developed while it was in the Holloman airspace.

Two WSMR missile flight safety officers were on standby in the Range Control Center. Their job was to activate the separate range destruct system on the drones if a problem developed in the range airspace.

Procedurally, the two destruct systems also act as backups to one another should either system fail.

The DFCS also has safety features built into the program, Patterson said. A terrain avoidance system automatically pulls the drone up if it gets too close to the ground. A collision avoidance system separates the drones if they come too close together in flight.

Loss of carrier, or loss of communications, from the DFCS to the drone also activates safety features, Patterson said. If the fail-safe system has been activated, the target automatically destructs if communication is lost for 14 seconds. If the fail-safe system has not been activated, onboard controls take the drone to the center of the range where it will circle at 20,000 feet until communication can be reestablished or the missile flight safety officer destroys the target.

"The Army and Air Force teams had to work closely together to develop the new capabilities," Patterson said. "We proved the DFCS has the ability to launch and land drones from 40 miles away."

While the first demonstration of the new capability was for an Air Force test, Patterson said the automatic launch and landing capability will be used during testing on an Army system later this summer. From now on it will be used for all multiple full-scale target operations.
