

Hondo Superintendent to retire

Superintendent of the Hondo Valley Public Schools, Ernest J. Booky, has notified the Board of Education of his intent to retire at the close of the current school year, June 30.

Booky has his Masters Degree in School Administration and had earned his Bachelor Degree in two years and seven months of college.

He began his teaching career in Cloudcroft where he taught in the junior high and senior high levels. He resigned that position after one year to return to college to earn his Masters Degree. He accepted a position with the Capitan school District at the high school level. He resigned that position after two years to return to college to earn a major in elementary education. Booky then accepted a position with the Hondo Valley Public Schools where he has been employed for the past twenty-eight years: one year as an elementary teacher, two years as an elementary teaching principal, eleven years as high school principal and fourteen years as superintendent. He has also taught at the university level.

Booky states that "I have been very fortunate to have had excellent board members, current and past members, with whom to work during my tenure at Hondo. They have been dependable, cooperative, dedicated, and have shown real concern for their responsibilities."

Booky further states, "that I leave the Hondo Schools with all facilities in excellent condition." All buildings on campus have been constructed during Booky's superintendency with the one exception of the Vocational Agriculture building which was constructed while he was high school principal. All facilities had to be reconstructed after the June 27, 1982 fire. The one and a quarter million dollar gym currently under construction will be completed in 60 days.

Applications for both the superintendent position and for the principal position which is also vacant are being accepted.

Cox says county budget is in good shape

County manager Suzanne Cox "was pleased to announce" that the county budget is in good shape when she presented the mid-year budget review to the county commissioners at the Jan. 31 meeting. She noted the computer system is working efficiently and allows a much faster processing rate of incoming mail. Tax collections for 1983 were $3,235,457.24 in mid-December compared to $1,040,852.94 for Dec 1982. 800 tax returns can be processed a day with the computer system, and the money can be invested to earn interest.

Commissioner Bill Elliott presented resolution 72-36 which was approved. It states, in effect, The Lincoln County commissioners are proud that Lincoln county has been chosen for the site of the US Open and they believe the event will benefit all the county. They offer their support and send their best wishes to all persons organizing and participating in this great event. The US Open will be at Eagle Creek Ski area in early March.

In other action the commissioners acted on a citizen's committee request that the S curve on Eagle Creek Road be straightened. The commissioners agreed that it is dangerous. Property owners have been asked to sign easements and all but two owners have signed. It was mentioned that not only have there been several accidents on the curve, but it is also a school bus route.

The Lincoln County manager's office has been designated as the contact to coordinate efforts to comply with the requirement that prohibits discrimination against qualified individuals because of their handicapped status. Lincoln county advises the public, employees and job applicants that it does not discriminate on the basis of handicapped status in admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its program and activities. All buildings must be surveyed and the county has two years to modify structural changes to comply.

Fidelity Insurance of Roswell was the only bidder for auto insurance coverage for the county fleet, which includes ambulances and fire trucks. Fidelity has had the insurance bid in the past and their bid of $13,071 was accepted.

The cooperative school bus route agreement with the state highway department for construction of the proposed Bog Springs roadway was approved.

Lincoln National Forest issued a special use permit for a borrow pit southeast of Ancho.

Liquor license N. 1039 was transferred from Aveline and Adelina Trujillo to Salomon P. and Dora Trujillo.

John Ryan, developer of Woodlands Subdivision requested that he be granted a variance from the county regulation which required him to pave the roads in the plat. Based upon the recommendations of the planning and zoning commission about the construction unsuitability of paved roads within certain subdivisions it was approved.

Mr. Ryan also asked that the county inspect the roads as they are presently built and begin the two year time period for which he is required to maintain them.

The commissioners also approved the replat of lot 16, block I, K, and M, Middle Cedar subdivision; replat of part of block B, Red Cedar Subdivision, and replat of lots 20A and 20B of the replat of lots 20 and 21, being a replat of block I, K, and M, Middle Cedar Subdivision.

Asks extension of two-mil levy--

Carrizozo Board of Education sets bond vote

Voters residing in Lincoln and Socorro counties within the boundaries of the Carrizozo school district are asked to vote in the Feb. 7 school bond and mill levy election.

The Board of Education is asking the voters to approve the maximum amount of $160,000 in general obligation bonds, and extension of the current two mill levy for another three year period.

Voters should ask themselves not how much taxes will be raised, but rather why passage of both issues is important and what it will do for the school district.

The district must be bonded 75 percent to maximum and it must have the two-mil levy in effect to apply for Capital Outlay Funds. This means that the tax will produce about $10,500 a year for each of the next three years. This will be matched with approximately $44,500 per year from the state.

Money from these taxes will be used for improvements, starting with those designed to lower current operating costs. These include thorough installation of all buildings, addition of vestibule entrances on selected buildings and addition of foam insulated roofs. Other planned projects include vocational equipment replacement, cafeteria and kitchen equipment, science laboratory equipment, re-surfacing the high school hallway floor, and automation of the school district's business operations through computerization.

What voters will decide is if these planned improvements are worth an increase of $5 a year per assessed valuation for the retirement of the bonds and if they are willing to extend the two-mil levy for the property tax years of 1984, '85 and '86. Assessed value is one third of appraised value and market value is usually higher than appraised value. This means that if your property is appraised at $3,000, you are taxed on $1,000

For additional information call 648-2451. Remember to vote Tues. Feb 7 between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the superintendent's office, 800 D Ave.

Bank bag lost--Zozo man finds and returns it

A zippered pouch containing cash and credit card receipts totaling $901.34 was found last Monday afternoon by a Carrizozo resident.

Wesley Lindsay who was enroute from Nogal to Carrizozo spotted the bag near highway junction 37 and 380. Upon arriving in town he contacted the Sheriff's Office and turned over his findings to Deputy Sheriff Guy Brown.

The bank type plastic bag contained $310 in cash and $591.34 in credit card carbon receipts. The bag was traced to the Fan Tail Restaurant in Ruidoso. Apparently the bag was placed on the car's roof and the driver, who was unidentified, drove off. The bag and its contents have been returned to the owner.

Deputy Sheriff Bryan Baker, along with Carrizozo Town Police Chief C. A. Morales responded to the Jan. 23, Monday afternoon emergency at the Exxon gas station where a 22-year old Alamogordo woman was found with a gun shot wound in the abdomen. A female companion of the woman, after putting gas in the vehicle they were traveling in, found her friend in the ladies restroom and alerted the station owner.

Carrizozo Ambulance transported the injured woman to Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital. Approximately five hours later the woman died from the 22-caliber gun shot wound. Officer Baker found among the woman's belongings a note indicating that the gun shot was self-inflicted.

Deputy Sheriff Connie Hopper traveled to Monterey, CA for the extradition of Stacy Saum, who was arrested by authorities in that state and held for New Mexico. Saum faces felony charges of forgery in Lincoln County as the result of an investigation filed by the Ruidoso Police Department. Saum is incarcerated in the county jail.

Danny L. Ensey, age 33, Ruidoso, was charged Jan. 24 with Trafficking Controlled Substance (cocaine). He is out on bond.

Leonard R. Padilla, age 34, Ruidoso Downs, was charged

Jan 30 with Possession of Heroin. Padilla is out on bond.

The State Fire Marshall's Office complimented Sheriff Tom Sullivan by letter concerning the condition of the jail. Deficiencies corrected since Sullivan took over the county enforcement agency included posting a fire plan, providing exit signs and the installation of smoke detectors. The State Fire Marshall's Office, who conducts unannounced periodic inspections, was pleased with their Jan. 12 examination of the facility.

Sullivan attended the Mid-Winter Conference of the New Mexico Sheriff's Association and the New Mexico Association of Counties, an event held Jan. 24-25 in Santa Fe. Discussion included problems and solutions facing county jails.

Lack of academy training for deputies in the serving of civil papers was also brought up. Feb. 7, the NMSA will sponsor an all-day training session regarding the serving of civil papers. (Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, in 1983 served 1,916 civil papers.)

Birthday cards for President Reagan

REGARDS FROM AFRICA

Former Santa Rita pastor, Fr. Joe Sys writes from Kampala, Uganda East Africa. He sends regards via the NEWS to his many friends "en el condado de Lincoln" (Lincoln County).

"I love 'em all, young and old and not just my fellow churchmen," Fr. Joe writes. The letter was written in December but arrived in the USA this month (Jan.). Here and there he substitutes an African or Spanish word for English words.

"Ndoho, as we say here, 'I'm there.' Still alive and kicking. Pero un poco menos que antes... Politics, especially primaries have wreaked havoc with our schools... What to do during the holidays? I've requested to go help out in parishes for Christmas but got to go easy... Am just out of hospital. My chron-bronch acting up... I could return to USA and retire. When I left Carrizozo in '78 I went to retire in Florida. I was never so bored in my life. So no second mistakes if I can help it."

FEELING NEEDED

"Now what's so attractive out here? Just feeling needed. Another parish told us this: 'If we'd left when the shooting started, all people would have left also.' When half the parish was forcibly closed because the shooting just got too hot, others stuck it out. Now 2 years later, news is - 'Area is safe again.'"

"I could tell you of spine-shivering killings going on daily; but this is my wild and wooly West. Really hope to die here. Am 70 years old, lots of experience. New Mexico was a happy one."

Fr. Joe says his visit here last year was a privilege, an opportunity to renew acquaintances.

LAUGH ALOT. LOSE ALOT

This week's program for the Carry Less Pounds Club was entitled, 'Saccharine Disease' and was presented by Roberta Burkstaller. The club, not affiliated with any national organization, meets each Tuesday at 5:00 in the REA building. Position of leader for the group is determined by a member's eight loss. Each month the member who loses the most pounds heads the meeting.

Members weigh in once a month and the person who loses the most weight also wins the 'kitty', a pot of money collected at each meeting. Members swap presents and play games. "We laugh alot and lose alot," says one enthusiastic member. New members are encouraged to join the group.

BAKING SPREE

Dropped, rolled, sliced - I've been trying them all. New cookie recipe of all varieties and shapes have been enjoyed by my after school taste-testers. With one exception, the sugarless orange cookies from the recipe featured in last week's column. The recipe received a thumbs down sign. From now on no recipe will be featured in this column that has not been fully approved by my five-member cookie testing team, who hate raisins and can't stand sugarless cookies.

Have you browsed through your recipes for cookie ideas? PTA will serve refreshments at the polls on Tuesday. Contribute your baked goodies. Proceeds of the project will benefit your school student or students. Vote for the school renovation program, this also will benefit your child or children (and grandchildren).

ATTEND TRADE SHOW

Rita's Creative Hairstyles was closed, Monday, Jan. 23 because Rita Narvaez, shop owner and her associate Beatrice Sheehan were in Las Cruces to participate in a trade show, which introduced the spring and summer trends in the hair-dressing field.

Forefront in fashion is 'New Break', precision haircuts featuring versatile styling length for both women and men. New Break cuts that break away from the old "one dimensional" bob and can be cut in a variety of ways to accent and frame a multitude of facial shapes. New Break was created by HairAmerica, the fashion group for the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association (NHCA). HairAmerica is comprised of the nation's leading salon owners.

The all-day trade show was held at Holiday de Las Cruces. Rita was initiated as a model and had her hair bobbed in the New Break fashion. Rita and Beatrice were accompanied to Las Cruces by Bea's daughter, Kelly and a friend, Clarisa Carpenter. The four lunched at Dick's Restaurant.

A combination of aerobic (with oxygen), anaerobic (without oxygen), and selective toning and strengthening exercises that will tone and strengthen muscles, promote flexibility, create power and athletic skill, and improve stamina. The combination of aerobic exercise, selective exercise and proper diet is the most effective way to reduce body fat and promote physical fitness.

TODAY'S WORKOUT: Waist fitness
PRIMARY MUSCLES USED: Internal and external obliques
TYPE OF EXERCISE: Selective exercise - Toning and strengthening. Exercise, regardless of type, reduces fat from all over the body and not merely from specific areas.

PURPOSE: To tone, firm and strengthen the waist line and to reduce the intramuscular fat in that area. However, it will not reduce the size of the fatty deposits around the midsection. To lose fat, your daily caloric expenditure must exceed your daily caloric consumption.

PROP: A plastic bottle filled with water. The added weight helps speed along the firming and strengthening process.

BREATHING: Inhale as you bend sideways, exhale as you straighten body lifting prop to original position.

Begin by standing with legs slightly apart. Place one hand behind your head. Hold bottle with other hand, arm straight, at side of your body. Let the weight of the bottle pull you, as you bend sideways as far as possible, return to standing straight position and repeat. Begin by doing 20 repetitions on each side, and then increase to 2 sets of 20 repetitions.

WEIGHTED SIDE BENDS

NEXT WEEK: Lower leg fitness.

Q: What is angina? M.I.

A: Angina is chest pain caused by a poor blood supply to part of the heart muscle. Some people get this pain when exercise causes their heart to need more oxygen to do its work. Other people get it at rest. Anybody with angina needs to be under the care of a doctor because the causes of this condition are usually serious.

Q: I have been told I have Bursitis; What does that mean?

A.B.

A: A bursa is a fluid filled sac near a joint that provides a cushion for the muscle tendons to glide over. The causes of most bursitis are unclear, although over use of the joint is most common. The pain comes from inflammation which is caused by release of chemicals into the bursa by white blood cells. Treatment consists of resting the joint, using heat, and taking anti-inflammatory medication (of which aspirin is one of the best.)

Q: What is a physician's assistant? P.B.

A: A.P.A. is a midlevel provider who works under the supervision of a physician. They are trained in family practice to diagnose and treat routine medical complaints. More complicated patients are referred to their physicians. Most P.A.'S have a broad range of medical experience as a nurse, technician or medic prior to their formal training. In New Mexico, a P.A. must be a graduate of an American Medical Association approved school, pass national certifying boards and work under the supervision of an approved physician. P.A.'S may write prescriptions for all except narcotic drugs.

Mountain Bell means long distance in New Mexico.

Our separation from AT&T hasn't limited our service to just your town. Now and in the future, we're providing long distance service throughout New Mexico within the boundaries of something known as a LATA.

What's a LATA? LATA stands for Local Access and Transport Area. Simply put, it's the area where we provide long distance service. In New Mexico, there is one LATA which generally follows the state boundary.

That means that you can call most anywhere, any time in New Mexico using Mountain Bell's service. It's easy. Just as always, dial 1 + the number for direct-dialed calls and 0 + the number for all Operator-assisted calls.

The Mountain Bell advantage. Because it's so easy to dial, our long distance service offers convenience that's second to none. But most importantly, our more than 100 years of telecommunications experience stands behind every call you make. So you'll always enjoy the kind of quality, reliable service you've come to expect from us.

The battle for the homosexual vote

WASHINGTON, DC—It was not long ago that homosexuality was considered scandalous by all but the most radical politicians. Today, the Democratic National Committee has an official homosexual organization within the party and most of the Democratic presidential candidates are seeking the endorsement of organized "gays."

Sometimes the only way to analyze a political issue is to look at a specific incident, so let's examine the recent battle over the endorsement of one of the country's most influential homosexual organizations. Before it was over, the City of Washington, the National Organization for Women (NOW), the AFL-CIO, and the Mondale, Jackson, McGovern, Hollings, and Cranston campaigns were involved in the fight.

In the nation's capital, there are three "gay" political groups: the Gertrude Stein Democratic Club, the Langston Hughes-Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club, and the Walt Whitman Republican Club. The Hughes-Roosevelt Club is oriented toward minorities; the Whitman Club does not have a significant impact on local politics. It is the Stein Club—made up mostly of whites from the Adams-Morgan, Dupont Circle, and Capitol Hill sections of Washington—that has the most influence and the greatest impact.

Recognizing the importance of the Stein Club endorsement, Mayor Marion Barry (D-Washington) assigned two officials of the city's Office of Community Services to lobby Stein members in behalf of Jesse Jackson. The Mondale campaign bought a half-page ad in the Washington Blade, the local homosexual newspaper. NOW worked to bring lesbians into the Mondale camp. And both campaigns wrote letters and used telephone banks to get support for the endorsement.

The endorsement meeting drew some 300 people (compared to only 50 four years ago when the club narrowly endorsed Ted Kennedy.) Asking the group to support Jackson, Mayor Berry said, "I'm no stranger to the Gertrude Stein Club" and bragged that he had appointed "over 60 openly gay and lesbian people" to posts in city government. "On the Jackson team," he said, "we're going to openly support gays and lesbians... no ifs, ands, or buts."

Speaking for the Mondale campaign, Judy Goldsmith, president of NOW, said the former Vice President's support for "gay rights" (extending civil rights laws to cover homosexuals) was an important factor in her organization's decision to endorse him. Joslyn Williams, president of the Washington Council of the AFL-CIO, also spoke for Mondale.

Gil Gerald, head of the Jackson effort to get the endorsement, pointed out that many Jackson campaign workers are homosexual. But Tom Collier, head of the Mondale effort, said it was important to pick a candidate who could win. "(It's) time for us to get involved early, endorse a presidential candidate, follow him all the way to the White House, and reap our rewards," Collier said.

Although the Cranston, Hollings, and McGovern campaigns also sought the endorsement, the only real contest was between Mondale and Jackson. Mondale won, 123 to 86.

The significance of the endorsement, and others like it across the country, lies in the fact that average working Americans will not support a candidate who is identified with the cause of "gay rights." Many people, including those who believe the government should leave homosexuals alone and let them answer only to God, are repelled by the proposal that the government require people to rent to, sell to, hire or join a club with homosexuals.

It is clearly wrong to refuse to give a job or rent an apartment to someone because of race or religion. But if the government starts telling people that they cannot restrict access to jobs or housing on the basis of sexual behavior, there will be an explosion of resentment against those responsible for such a law. This is true whether the behavior is homosexual or heterosexual (such as adultery and promiscuity).

The "gay rights" issue is a political time-bomb planted in the Democratic Party by extremists within its own ranks. The party's opponents will have an opportunity to set it off during the 1984 campaign, perhaps during the Democratic National Convention—which will be held this year in America's homosexual capital, San Francisco.

Inside Religion:

State Department mishandles vatican ambassador controversy

BY REV. LES KINSOLVING WASHINGTON—On the day it was announced that President Reagan had decided to nominate a US Ambassador to the Vatican, State Department Spokesman John Hughes was deluged with reporters' questions.

Hughes' answers, as recorded in the official transcript of the daily news briefing, are the kind of massive blunder that could help to snatch a Reagan defeat from the very jaws of reelection next November. For Hughes managed, within the modest time frame of some twenty minutes, to (A) misrepresent the Roman Catholic Church and (B) express disdain for the serious concerns of millions of devout Protestants and Jews.

At another briefing only days later, Hughes—who is a former editor of The Christian Science Monitor—indirectly insulted one of President Reagan's strongest supporters in the 1980 election, the Rev. Jerry Falwell, head of Moral Majority. For front pages all over the nation, which announced the proposed Vatican ambassador, also featured Falwell's undeniably logical question as to why there is no such proposal for a US ambassador to Mecca, which is the holy city to hundreds of millions of Moslems. But when this column raised Falwell's question, and added a question as to why there is no such proposal for an ambassador to the World Council of Churches (Protestant and Orthodox), State Department Spokesman Hughes, with lofty sarcasm, replied:

"Are there any serious questions?" The White House is already beginning to realize how serious is this question in the minds of Protestants, Jews and Orthodox,

Watch over Washington . . .

A questionable protest from the big media

By LES KINSOLVING WASHINGTON—President Reagan's Press Spokesman Larry Speakes is scheduled to meet with leaders of ten media organizations who are protesting exclusion of reporters from the first two days of the landings at Grenada. (There were, however, five reporters who were already on the island at the time of the US Marine landing and Ranger air drop.)

A special committee of the major news organizations includes the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Society of Magazine Editors, Associated Press Managing Editors, the Associated Press, the United Press International, National Association of Broadcasters, Radio-Television News Directors Association, Reporters Committee for The Freedom of The Press and the Society of Professional Journalists Sigma Delta Chi.

A statement issued by this group on Jan. 10 calls on "the highest civilian and military officers of the Government" to consider, among other things, the following:

+ "Reaffirm the historic principle that American journalists, print and broadcast, with their professional equipment, should be present at US military operations."

+ "Military plans should include planning for press access, in keeping with past traditions."

+ "Since the Revolutionary War, American journalists have traditionally been allowed to accompany American troops on military operations, even when those actions depended on the element of surprise."

+ "Exclusion of journalists never has been deemed appropriate except in small, clearly covert intelligence or command-type hit-and-run operations."

At the Pentagon, Defense Department spokesman Michael Burch, when asked about these statements, replied:

"There have been many military operations in this history of our country that did not involve reporters... I do not accept the generalization that reporters have accompanied military forces on all operations. I think that statement is overdrawn."

As to the news organizations' claim that "exclusion of journalists never has been deemed appropriate except in small... (or) hit-and-run operations," they appear to have overlooked the decisive Civil War Battle of Vicksburg, which was neither small or hit-and-run. And a press issue arising out of that battle brought another delegation of protesting news leaders to the White House 120 years ago.

General William T. Sherman had not only forbidden any reporters to cover his flank attack on Vicksburg, via the Yazoo River, but he actually court-martialed one of the six reporters who disobeyed his order.

Thomas W. Knox, age 28, was the leading war correspondent of The New York Herald, which at that time was one of the nation's most powerful newspapers. After Knox had disobeyed Sherman's order by accompanying the Yazoo Expedition, his extensive dispatches were intercepted by Sherman's postal officer. In his story, Knox claimed that Sherrepresent Big Media. For the transcript to which Hughes refers contained the following exchange:

Q: How do you respond to protests from the American Jewish Congress and other religious groups that this is a violation of the separation of church and state?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Well, it isn't.

Q: Why isn't it?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: It's not a violation of separation of church and state because for a long time we recognized the Holy See as having an international personality distinct from the Roman Catholic Church. This relationship will be with the Holy See. The Holy See is distinct from the Catholic Church.

Q: Could you parse that a little bit? What is the distinction?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: I think the Pope has responsibilities and a leadership role in the Roman Catholic Church as he has in the Holy See, which is responsible for the Vatican, which is a sovereign city-state. The two roles, as I understand it, are separate.

Q: Does this mean that the relationship will be between the Government of the United States and of the Holy See?

Q:—and of the Government of the Vatican City-State and not with the Catholic Church?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: With the Holy See. That's correct. With the Holy See.

Q: Not with the Catholic Church?

We invent--commies take

DEAR EDITOR—Most people are well aware that some US citizens have business dealings with the Communists. However, most Americans believe that such transactions are minor in size and non-strategic in nature. After all, doesn't our government spend $200 billion a year for defense against Communism?

Americans must learn that sweetheart deals with the Soviets are extensive and have been for decades. In fact, so extensive is the aid that Soviet leaders not only could not pursue expansionist policies but would be starved and overthrown without it.

Volumes of materials are available to show that this is true. For instance, at the commencement exercise at Annapolis on May 25, 1963, Secretary of the Navy John Lehman told the graduates: "Within weeks many of you will be looking across just hundreds of feet of water at some of the most modern technology ever invented in America. Unfortunately, it is on Soviet ships."

EDWARD SEAVEY, Lodi, CA.

Says get out of U.N.

DEAR EDITOR—Spokesmen from the Reagan administration have assured us that the United States will withdraw from the United Nations—Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) January 1, 1985.

For a quarter of a century, members of the John Birch Society have been warning that the United States should not only get out of UNESCO, but, even more urgently, the US should get out of the United Nations.

It should be recalled that back in 1959, when the JBS took its stand against the UN, the Gallup polls told us that 85 percent of Americans polled looked to the UN favorably. The Birchers have been busy since 1959.

One JBS project that you may not have heard too much about just about shock Washington to its foundation. Between 1975 and 1982, Birch members turned over to Congress 2,201,000 petitions containing 11,008,500 signatures petitioning Congress to get the US out of the UN, and telling some very sound reasons why.

A more recent Gallup poll, one taken Nov. 19, 1980, tells us that favorable public opinion toward the UN has dropped to a mere 35 percent. It is safe to conclude that public opinion is even lower today than in 1980.

The public is learning that even though American taxpayers pay 1/4 of its cost, the UN majority predictably votes against the US right down the line.

Only recently, the UN voted 108 against the action taken by the Reagan administration to free Grenada from Cuban and Soviet suppression. There were 9 votes supporting the President's action.

You can't make it any clearer than that. It's time that the US gets out of the UN, and it's time that the UN gets out of the US.

It is more befitting that the UN headquarters be located in Moscow.

RAYMOND C. WILSON, San Juan Bautista, CA.

Grizzly basketball

The Carrizozo Grizzlies will face the Hondo Eagles on Sat., Feb. 4 at 4 p.m. Both A & B boys teams and A girls will be competing. The game will be played in the Carrizozo gym since the Hondo gym is not ready for use. There will be free attendance for any Carrizozo basketball fan that night.

On Tues., Feb. 7, 1984, the Capitan Tigers will travel to Carrizozo to meet their arch rivals.

During half time of both games there will be a free throw shooting contest for both women and men. Women's free throw will be during half time of the girls varsity game and the men will follow the boys half time.

The free throwing shooting finals will be held on Sat., Feb. 11, when Cloudercroft travels to Carrizozo. During the girls half time the competition will begin for the women and the winner will be announced. The men will complete their free throwing skills at half time of the boys varsity game. Prizes for 1st place are $30, 2nd place $15, and 3rd place $10.

Everyone is encouraged to participate in this competition. The Grizzly girls traveled to Hagerman on Friday and won their game, Carrizozo 34 - Hagerman 33.

On Saturday they met Lake Arthur with a win of 20 points, Carrizozo 47 - Lake Arthur 37.

The girls record now stands at 14-5.

The boys defeated Hagerman 68 to 48. Boys record stands at 8-9.

He received a master's degree in 1979 from Redlands. His wife, Donna, is the daughter of Melvin C. and Hazel M. Vick of Ruidoso Downs, NM.

Inside Religion

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Catholic Church. Correct. Q: Sir, you said that the Vatican has an international personality distinct from the DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Yes. Q: And that's how you get around the church-state thing?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Well, it's not a getting around it. It's a recognition of the fact. Q: Could you explain what is that "international personality" that makes it distinctive and different from the Catholic Church?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Well, the Holy See is the government of a sovereign city-state and it operates as such and is recognized as such by most of the nations of the world.

Q: What does that government do, sir, beside administer some 100 acres?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE: Well, I think it's involved in treaties, and it's involved in negotiations and a variety of other activities - but I don't think I should be speaking for the Holy See. I think you ought to talk to them.

Rather than telephoning the Vatican, we asked the ranking public relations officer of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, Russell Shaw, Secretary for Public Affairs for the United States Catholic Conference in Washington, for his comment on Hughes's statements. Shaw replied:

"The statement that the Holy See is distinct from the Catholic Church" is a badly phrased, imprecise overstatement that is the equivalent of saying that "Congress is different from the United States." Shaw's response is officially seconded by the Apostolic Nuncio to Belgium, Luxembourg and the European Economic Community, Archbishop Hyginus Eugene Cardinale, who in 1976 wrote "The Holy See and The International Order," in which he noted:

"It is the Holy See which acts as the supreme organ of the government of the Church. The Holy See is to the Church what the government is to the state... the exclusively institutional character of the Holy See, as the supreme organ of the Church universal in its contacts with other members of the international community..."

On Capitol Hill, just two blocks away from the US Capitol building, Dr. James Dunn, Executive Director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs (which represents 8 Baptist denominations, with a membership of 27 million people) listened to a tape recording of Spokesman Hughes's statements and issued a statement of his own:

"The treatment of the religious press by the State Department officer John Hughes is simply another evidence of this Administration's insensitivity to countless millions' principled concern about church-state separation. It's an evidence of what seems at least to be arrogant and insensitive response to very serious questions: minimization and trivialization and making light of earnest questions seeking information about the justification of this Administration's attempt to send a United States Ambassador to the Roman Catholic Church."

At the White House, Presidential Spokesman Larry Speakes told a daily news briefing that he agrees with Hughes's statement that the Holy See is distinct from the Roman Catholic Church.

So we asked Speakes the same question as Hughes:

"If the Vatican is not a religious establishment, is it a real estate establishment?"

THE WHITE HOUSE: Well, it's into that, too.

FFA V.I.P. visits local chapter

Rhonda Scheulen, the Central Region Vice-president of the FFA visited the Carrizozo FFA on Thursday, Jan. 12. Rhonda is a national Vice-president in the FFA and is from a town in central Missouri called Loose Creek. Miss Scheulen presented a speech to the Carrizozo FFA and also the FFA officers from Capitán. Her speech was mainly about what she did in order to become a National officer in the FFA. "You have to decide what you want out of life, set your goals and then go for it!" stated Miss Scheulen. She went on to say that she had set her goal of becoming a national officer when she had first become a greenhand. In order to become a national officer, you must first achieve what is called an American Farmer Degree in the FFA. This requires that you have invested at least $1,000 in a supervised Occupational Experience Project, and have already earned your State Farmer Degree. As you can imagine, this takes either a lot of hard work or a family rich enough to provide you with a very large project. Rhonda's project consisted of 20 hogs which she raised herself. "It's not the size that makes the difference, it's work, hard work," as Rhonda put it.

Scheduled in this year's tour of duty is a trip to Japan for Miss Scheulen. While in Japan, she will visit with the Future Farmers of Japan (FFJ) to exchange ideas about industry and agriculture. Rhonda will then stay three days and two nights with a non-english speaking Japanese family. She must find a way to communicate with them and try to follow their customs as much as possible, so that the family will be offended as little as possible by the American customs that they know very little about.

Rhonda is the daughter of a rural farming family—the only National Officer who can claim to come from a real farming family. Her parents raise registered hogs on their farm in central Missouri.

Tiger tracks

The Capitán Tigerettes edged the Cloudercroft Lady Bears 49-48 in a thriller played Jan. 27 in Capitán. The Tigerettes trailed Cloudercroft 31-17 at halftime. Coach Darrel Ray told the girls that they had to play a more physical game with more confidence. The Tigerettes came back in the 3rd quarter to outscore the Bears 22-11. The 3 point 3rd quarter deficit was erased in the 4th period and the Tigerettes enjoyed a hard fought victory. Accolades go to Tiffany Huey for her 1st half play and to Shawna McDaniel for her 2nd half efforts. It was Shawna's last two free throws with 18 seconds left that gave Capitán the victory. Shelly Eldridge scored 19 points while Tiffany Huey was scoring 12 for Capitán. The Tigerette Junior Varsity jumped out to a 23-13 halftime edge and went on to win this one 39-28. Stephanie Stowe contributed 10 points. It was Joan Leslie-8, Zeba-Morris-8, Chantille-Points-7. Eddie Davis scored 24 points in a 50-46 losing effort to the Bears. Gary Cox helped Cloudercroft with 22 points. The Bears hit 42 percent of their field goal attempts while the Tigers were cashing in on 28 percent. The Tigers traveled to Hagerman Jan. 28 dropping the Bobcats 78-63. The Tiger scoring looked like this—Eddie Davis-28, Todd Proctor-19, Dewey Keller-15, Danny Cummins-9. The Tigerettes outgunned the Lady Bobcats 40-28 thus winning their 1st two conference games of the season. It was Tiffany Huey-

10, Audrey Joiner-10, Tracy Herd-9. The Tigerette Junior Varsity got by Hagerman 27-23. Scoring for Capitán—Chantille Points-8, Joan Leslie and Kateri Sanchez-5 each, Poco Phillips-4, Stephanie Stowe and Zeba Morris-2 each, and Michelle Vevarez-1. In other action the Tiger J.V. Boys lost to Cloudercroft 61-60. This same squad was defeated by the Hagerman J.V.'s 49-44. Hondo-visits Capitán Feb. 3 and the Tigers play host to Lake Arthur on Feb. 4.

BY MARGARET RENCH

If you missed the basketball games against Cloudcroft on Friday night, you not only missed 3 cliff hangers that made us all sit on the edge of our seats, but you missed the first performance of the Capitan high school band under the direction of our new band instructor, Ricardo Valenzuela. Mr. Valenzuela came to Capitan at the semester break from Deming, where he was the band director there for many years. If anyone can come close to being like our Mr. Cooke, it is Mr. Valenzuela. His enthusiasm was contagious, as he had everyone in the gymnasium clapping their hands, stomping their feet and singing the school song. It was great to have that spirit around the school again. We want to welcome Mr. Valenzuela to our little community and we sincerely hope that he will stay with us for many years.

The junior varsity boys and junior varsity girls traveled to Hagerman last Saturday. The girls won and the boys lost. The varsity girls and boys also went to Hagerman winning both games. Hondo and Lake Arthur will be the game this weekend at home. The Capitan Youth Organization is really working hard to earn the money needed for their trip to Rome. They need $1500 more to have enough. They are now selling chances on a white crocheted bedspread with protruding red roses. It is beautiful. Then, too, they are selling chances on a cord of wood. Both of which will be raffled off Feb. 12. This is for Julian Romero and his grandmother, Frances Peralta made the spread. Lets help them with their goal.

Two hundred four registered visitors from Jan. 23-29, visited the Smokey Bear Museum. That is excellent for this time of year.

Happy birthday and many more to Christa Michele Bass who celebrated her 6th birthday Jan. 26. Her sister Brittany Dawn reached her 3rd birthday Jan. 29.

Sandy Wilson of Campbell, CA and Sherry Jobe of Albuquerque spent several days last week in the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Jobe of Mesa Verde subdivision.

Don and Georgia Hutchinson arrived home last Friday to find that the pilot on their furnace had blown out and their water pipes had frozen and bursted. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Peck of New York are visiting them at this time.

Stephen Strickland arrived home from the Shriner's Hospital in Houston, TX Thursday, Jan. 26. He will have to return there Feb. 14 to have the cast removed. He is doing wonderful at this time. Keep up the good work Stephen.

Lou Boyd moved Saturday from Capitan to Ruidoso where she is now employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forrester were at the senior citizen center in Capitan last Saturday when they received a most pleasant surprise. Her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ogle of Gatlinburg, TN stopped by for a brief visit as they were enroute to El Paso. This is their first trip and they had not seen each other for nearly two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forrester received a recent letter from their youngest son Jackie and pictures as well, that he is the Alaska State Champion Steer Wrestler.

Pat and Betty Joiner and family and Eddie Davis spent Sunday afternoon with Leo and Louise Joiner at Hondo.

Mary Allred Jordon and husband were visiting Bill and Jane Allred last weekend.

The last few days have been nice and sunny but very cold. A few high clouds appear, otherwise it is winter and much to be grateful for.

OFFICER ROBERT Allen Wetzel, Lincoln County Animal Control, holds a matching set of puppies who need a home. The puppies a male and a female may be adopted separately or as a pair. Wetzel may be reached by contacting the Sheriff's Office.

La Junta Extension Club meets

The La Junta Extension Club met this month at the home of Cecelia Booky of Hondo.

The meeting was preceded by a very interesting report by Alice Booky on her trip to Washington, DC with the 4-H Washington Focus program. She showed some very interesting slides of Washington.

Following the program and a delicious covered dish luncheon the meeting began. A report on the Xmas party was given, the very successful Xmas bazaar, and reports given on several members who were on the sick list.

Several programs are coming up—the trip to Santa Fe in regards to the legislature, County council meeting Feb. 7, party for the residents of New Horizons Feb. 7 both in Carrizozo, bake sale just before Easter for the Washington Focus program, and the District meeting to be held in Alamogordo sometime in March. The scholarship fund was also discussed.

Capitan Clinic is closed

The Capitan Clinic, formerly run by Nancy Guck P.A.C., will be closed permanently starting on Feb. 1, 1984. The patient records will be transferred to the Carrizozo Health Center.

Guck currently works at the Health Center under the supervision of Dr. Dan Blodgett. They will both continue to provide health care for former Capitan Clinic patients at the Health Center. Call 648-2317 man had not only bungled the attack (in which the Union lost 1,700 compared to only 200 Confederate casualties behind their strong fortifications) but that he had failed to provide sufficient hospital facilities.

After he had read these charges, Sherman summoned this reporter and, with both witnesses as well as written orders, refuted most of the details of the story.

Gen. Sherman also noted that reporter Knox had not only disobeyed Sherman's order barring reporters from the combat zone but that Knox had also violated the 57th Article of War, which required that all news dispatches be submitted to the commanding officer before being sent for publication.

Knox, who was a large and sarcastic New Englander and known to his colleagues as "The Elephant," replied with a snirk: "You, General, are regarded as the enemy in our set. And we must, in self-defense, write you down."

Knox then traveled to Cairo, Illinois, where he filed the intercepted story, which was picked up by a number of additional newspapers. His graphic description of the casualty rate not only gave great comfort to the Confederacy but spread gloom throughout the North, which was already mourning the military disaster at Fredericksburg.

On Sherman's order, Knox was promptly arrested, jailed aboard a river steamer, tried by court martial and found guilty — but not of any criminality, much to Sherman's disgust, since the general wanted Knox hanged. Instead, Knox was simply ordered out of the war zone.

Even this exile, instead of imprisonment or execution, motivated a committee of newspaper publishers and editors to go to the White House and protest to President Lincoln.

Lincoln told the indignant newsmen that he would modify Knox's expulsion — but only if General Grant approved. But Grant had already saved the life of another miscreant reporter, William Swinton of The New York Times. Swinton had been caught hiding in the bushes in the act of eavesdropping on the top secret meeting of Grant and his generals. Gen. Ambrose Burnside ordered this Times reporter shot, but Grant reduced the sentence to expulsion from the war zone.

In the case of reporter Knox, Grant supported Sherman, who warned Knox that if he ever again came into that theater of military operations, his body would be found "floating down the Mississippi on a log."

Gen. Sherman also wrote Knox:

"After having enunciated to me that you had to supply the public demand for news — true if possible, but false if your interest demanded it — I cannot be privy to a tacit acknowledgement of that principle. Come with a sword or musket in your hand, prepared to share with us our fate, in sunshine and in storm, and I will welcome you. But come as you do now, expecting me to ally the reputation and honor of my country and my fellow soldiers with you, as a representative of the press — which you yourself say makes so slight a difference between truth and falsehood — and my answer is: never."

During his famed march "From Atlanta to the Sea," Sherman allowed ten reporters to accompany his army of 62,000 men on the course of this three-month campaign. But he reminded all of them of what he had done to reporter Knox. And he promised that he would court martial any of them who gave away aid or comfort to the enemy.

He made doubly sure of this intent by cutting all communication from the rest of the Union Army as he marched south from Atlanta. Six days before this march began, The Indianapolis Journal, in a story detailed Cincinnati, reported almost the exact strength of Sherman's command and where he was bound. (This story was picked up and given wide circulation by The New York Times.)

The General attempted to counteract this journalistic espionage by pleading with Washington to plant several spies with other newspapers and The New York Daily News, its sister paper, broke a secret report of advance plans to send US troops to Europe. FDR, who held the White House correspondents in such awe that he occasionally ordered one of them to go sit in the corner, or even wear a dunce cap, noted that the Tribune reporter had not shown up for his news conference. So FDR ordered the Daily News reporter to come forward and stand at attention while he awarded him the Iron Cross.

In 1942, the Tribune was in trouble again. Its reporter Stanley Johnston was summoned to appear before a grand jury on charges that he had divulged confidential information in his story on the Battle of Midway. But Johnston was not indicted because his story was published after the battle was over.

At the White House, Presidential Spokesman Larry Speakes, when asked whether President Reagan favors reporters covering military operations to be in correspondents' uniforms and subject to courts martial, replied:

"I don't think he (the President) is in favor of courts martial, but I am."

By striking contrast to the claims of the ten media organizations in 1984, Gen. Sherman declared: "I have steadily refused to admit reporters of any kind to my lines... You fellows make the best paid spies that can be bought. Jeff Davis owes more money to you than to his army."

(The Cincinnati Times ran banner headlines such as "IS SHERMAN INSANE?" while The Philadelphia Inquirer described the general as "Crazy Sherman" and reported that he had "the manners of a Pawnee Indian." The reporter who wrote this later apologized to the Pawnees.)

Sherman spoke or wrote frequently about the effect and morality of the press: "If I am forced to look to The New York Herald as my lord and master, instead of the constituted authorities of the United States, my military career is at an end."

"Mr. Lincoln, of course, fears to incur the enmity of the Herald. But he must rule The Herald, or The Herald will rule him; he can take his choice."

"Newspapers can now turn armies against their leaders... If the press can govern the country, let them fight the battles... These newspapermen hanging about the skirts of our army reveal all our plans and are worth a hundred thousand men to the enemy." (Sherman held the press responsible for the disaster at the First Battle of Bull Run as well as for exposing the Union movements on Vicksburg.)

"The spirit of anarchy seems deep at work in the north; more alarming than the batteries that shell us from the opposite shore... Reporters print their limited and tainted observations as the history of events which they neither see nor comprehend. We cannot prosper in military operations if we submit to this, and someone must begin the attack. I must assume the ungracious attack... Military men are chained to a rock whilst the vultures are turned loose."

"I will never again command an army in America if we carry along paid spies... I shall notify Mr. Lincoln of this if he attempts to interfere with the sentence of any court martial ordered by me. If he wants an army, he must conform to the well-established rules of military nations and not attempt to keep up the open peace of."

General Sherman's anger with the press was matched twelve decades later, on at least two occasions, by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.
