go to Ann Goodwin, Randy Spears, Sharon Horton, and Mike Points for their help at parade time.
Special visitors in Capitan for Smokey Bear Day were Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Smith of Santa Fe. The doctor had taken care of Smokey shortly after he was discovered.

The accumulation of junk, trash, and refuse on property is declared a nuisance, and is prohibited within the city limits. It is unlawful for any person to

POLICE REPORT—

State Police

By P. E. CHAVEZ
The Memorial Day weekend was busy for State Police Officer Heriberto Flores who investigated three highway accidents near Carrizozo.
Noemi Rodriguez, 39, Garden City, KS was cited Sunday, May 27 by Flores for careless driving and driving without a license. Rodriguez's 1979 Mercury rolled over at 7:50 a.m. near Oscura on Highway 54. No injuries were reported.
At 9:45 p.m., May 27 a bull was hit by a 1978 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Tim Vega, 18, of Carrizozo. The impact occurred one mile south of Carrizozo on Highway 54. No injuries were reported. Investigation is pending by Flores. Monday, May 28 at ap proximately 4:40 p.m. a 1979 Peterbilt semi-truck overturned 23 miles west of Carrizozo when the driver attempted to negotiate a curve at 70 miles per hour according to Flores. The driver Kenneth Crist, 48, Globe, AZ who was eastbound was pinned inside the cab. He was transported by Carrizozo ambulance to a Socorro hospital. Enforcement action is pending.

State Police Officer Jim Hilsley who is stationed at Corona said that there were no highway accidents in his area during the holiday weekend.

Two place in Senior Citizen Olympics

Zia Senior Citizens Center, project director Barbara Ward announced that two senior citizens placed in the competition in the New Mexico Senior Citizen Olympics held in Roswell May 23-25 and a "good time was had by all."
Ruth Shelander, 84-year old from Capitan placed 2nd in pool and Stanley Pew, 80-year old from Capitan placed 4th in pool.
Seven senior citizens from Carrizozo and three from Capitan attended the three day meet and competed in pool, ping pong, tennis, talent, and fun games.
Sponsored by New Mexico Senior Citizens, Inc., the state meet next year will be held in Las Vegas.

Sheriff

All night patrols in various parts of the county "kept trouble down" according to Chief Deputy Charles Cox. The Memorial holiday weekend passed with only minor calls to the Sheriff's office.
Activity around the county included Smokey Bear Day in Capitan with a dance that evening at the fair grounds; the Huns Motorcycle Club gathering at Nogal Lake; dances at the Barn and Carrizo Lodge in the outskirts of Ruidoso; a dance at Carrizozo's Nike Tavern. Fishing and camping activity was heavy at Bonito.
On his way to work last Tuesday morning, Sheriff Tom Sullivan came upon a 24-year-old man near the Nogal junction who apparently had fallen out of a vehicle and was injured. Sullivan drove Bobby Padilla of Carrizozo to the Carrizozo Health Clinic for treatment of cuts and abrasions. Padilla was later taken to Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

'A Big Whopper' . . .

TROUT FISHING has been excellent at the Carrizozo Recreation Area lake. Belinda Baca is amazed at the size of Lee Roy Zamora's catch. Freddie Padilla appears skeptical and suspects there is something fishy about this super fish.

US WAR DEAD

The nation celebrated Memorial Day weekend by remembering veterans of wars ranging from the War of 1812 to the Vietnam War by attending ceremonies and placing flowers at monuments and graves.

Thousands of veterans and visitors in Washington filed through the US Capitol to view the casket of the nation's Unknown Serviceman from the Vietnam War. A procession and burial on Monday followed at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington Cemetery.

Memorial Day or Decoration Day is a patriotic holiday in the US. It is a day to honor American servicemen who gave their lives for their country. Originally, Memorial Day honored men who had died in the Civil War. It now also honors those who died in the Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War.

PATRIOTIC LADY

Since the end of World War I Memorial Day was also Poppy Day. I remember when the late Mary Johnson of Carrizozo sold the small, red artificial poppies to help disabled veterans.

May 30 became the official date for Memorial Day in 1868, but Congress changed the official celebration in 1971 to the last Monday in May for honoring all US war dead.

New Mexico, Delaware, Maryland, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania and South Dakota have insisted on retaining the traditional date of May 30. However in New Mexico Monday was the day most of the commemorative services were held.

The Carrizozo Knights of Columbus had originally planned to hold a Memorial Day Mass at Our Lady of Guadalupe Cemetery, but due to Monday's wind the Mass was held at the church. Following the Mass the Knights treated their wives, families and other guests to a pancake and sausage breakfast at the parish hall.

DRUNK DRIVING CHARGE

In Massachusetts a woman who won a $875,000 damage suit in the 1978 drunken driving deaths of her husband and child was arrested early Sunday and charged with drunken driving.

The 25-year-old woman was awarded damages by a Hampshire County Superior Court jury in 1983. She had sued the town of Ware, MA, claiming police officers were negligent when they failed to arrest a 19-year-old man who had been drinking. Ten minutes after being stopped and released by police, the young man was involved in a May 1978 accident that killed her husband and their daughter.

HEART FAILURE

Woman who have heart attacks are more likely than men to die and those women who survive are more likely than men to have a second heart attack, according to a federal government study. The study also found that death from heart disease is increasing in women 50 to 59 years old, despite an overall decline in heart disease in men. Among the study's conclusions: Smoking has now been shown to be a risk factor for heart disease in women as it is in men.

LAST LAUGH

"You're a cheat! shouted the defense lawyer at his opponent. "You're a liar!" charged the other lawyer.

The judge banged his gavel. "Let's proceed with the case, he said dryly, "now that the attorneys have been properly identified."

SMOKEY BEAR DAY PARADE

NORM'S FLOAT Much time and effort went into the making of this float. Smokey Bear Motel. This is a beautiful float!

ASK DR. DAN

I would like to know what you think the responsibilities of both the doctor and his patient are in their doctor-patient relationship? M.P.

This very important topic is often not considered by people who visit a physician. The doctor has a responsibility to: provide considerate respectful care at all times and to respect your privacy and individuality. 2) give you an explanation, in terms you can understand, about the nature of your problem, the course of treatment and the outlook for the future. 3) refer you to a specialist at your request or if medically indicated 4) discuss the charges for medical services, 5) give prompt and fair consideration to complaints about medical care. 6) keep current with advances in medical knowledge and care.

As a patient you have a responsibility to: be honest and direct about information that will help your doctor take care of you—give a complete and accurate medical history—indicate whether you understand the illness and the proposed treatment—follow your physician's instructions regarding treatment—ask for further information if you do not understand your treatment—accept the consequences to yourself of failing to follow your treatment—inform your doctor if a treatment is not working or if a medication side-effects occurs—meet your financial obligations in a timely fashion.

If all these responsibilities are met, then both people involved will feel good about the relationship. This will usually lead to an important sense of well being in the patient (regardless of the illness).

Soil Stewardship Week

The Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District, along with over 3,000 other soil and water conservation districts around our nation, is again observing Soil Stewardship Week this past Sunday and coming Sunday.

Our bank expresses its appreciation to all those who take of their time to serve on the soil and water conservation boards. Please take time to read the following, entitled:

Consider Our Commitment

What beauty abounds here on God's green Earth! And who can begin to measure its worth? What price a sunset, a blossom-filled spring; A moonlit lake, a butterfly wing?

God gave us all these and so much more: There are beautiful harvests, too much to store. All this He meant for us here to treasure. How fortunate we are, enriched beyond measure!

But there is the danger that we might forget That for all this beauty we do owe a debt. For, as He gave to us His world to share, He committed it to our care.

When God made the Earth, before it He stood, He looked His work over and said "It is good." Do you wonder sometimes what God has to say When he looks down upon His world today?

Man's obsessions have upset nature's balance. Today costly mistakes are taxing our talents. We mustn't forget Earth's not ours alone; That we're only mortal and soon will be gone.

We each have a duty to God our Creator To protect Earth's resources for those to come later Yes, it's time our commitment went even deeper, If we are to be our brother's keeper.

CONSIDER OUR COMMITMENT: CONSIDER IT WELL.

Smokey Bear Day was a big success. There was a large crowd for the entire day. Every event was of great interest. The parade was excellent. The floats were many and elaborate. The Ruidoso bands did a grand job and we did enjoy and appreciate them. Our gracious 100 year old lady, Bessie Van Pelt rode in the lead car. No one was ready for the end as it was all good and interesting. A great day.

From May 21-27 there were 2,014 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum. Sorry to report that he lost the position by five votes. They were able to make short jaunts to Sea World, Tijuana and other interesting places in between sessions.

The Capitan City Hall has gotten a new face lift after many

NOTICE TO HOMEOWNERS:

You have no doubt noticed the increase in the number of Solar Systems throughout Alamogordo in recent months. There are two reasons for the sudden increase in systems.

1. State and Federal programs currently pay for 65% of the system cost. This will end soon.
2. System reliability and performance have improved to the point where all systems should now carry a virtually unlimited 10 year warranty. (If you don't get it, don't buy it)

The Ultima II System, patented by Alamo Solar, will provide both heat and hot water for your home, and carries a full 10 year guarantee. It has been acclaimed by experts as having made all other systems obsolete, and costs half as much.

For a limited time only we will install a home heat and hot water system that will reduce your utility bills forever, and include absolutely free home Air Conditioning. No down payment required, we can arrange financing up to 10 years on approved credit. There will never be a better time to go Solar.

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON

Are US taxpayers subsidizing a national Marxist radio?

By LES KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON — One current question in our nation's capital, as to whether the taxpayer subsidized National Public Radio is pro-Marxist, might appear extreme — except for what NPR broadcast in March of 1983.

For NPR celebrated the centennial of the death of Karl Marx with a special half-hour broadcast. And while Marx has had a considerable effect upon world history, this program, notes Benjamin Hart in Policy Review magazine, included tributes to him by "various Marxist scholars, political pundits and historians" who delivered "unreserved praise for the man and his philosophy." But there were "no opponents of Marxist doctrine."

In his article, "Ventriloquist Journalism at NPR," Hart mentions columnist Joseph Sobran's charge that this network utilizes the technique of using purportedly unrehearsed interviews with randomly encountered people — all or most of whom just seem to have the same editorial outlook as NPR.

As examples, Hart notes: "NPR likes to highlight human rights violations by American allies, while down-playing atrocities by friends of the Kremlin...When Meskito Indian leader Stedman Fagoth Muller held a press conference in Washington to catalogue human rights abuses committed against his people by the Sandinista, who burned Meskito villages and put thousands in forced labor camps to starve or die of disease, every major media outlet carried Mr. Fagoth's revelations — except NPR."

NPR blamed the United States for the chaos on Grenada, "because of our failure to back the island's Marxist dictator, Maurice Bishop." And NPR broadcast a claim that the American public disapproved of the Grenada invasion by a 3-2 margin — which claim conflicted with almost every other poll contacted in the entire country.

When President Reagan was shot and nearly killed by John Hinckley, NPR broadcast such comments as: "It doesn't surprise me" and "Judging from a lot of resentment, I think a lot of people, especially my age, toward what Mr. Reagan is doing, I'm not surprised." "Good, he got shot! Everybody's got to die. Why does it upset you?" "Am I personally disturbed? No."

(At the University of Pennsylvania, a columnist for The Daily Pennsylvanian expressed his regret that Hinckley failed to kill the President. But he was fired by vote of the student board of this newspaper — by contrast to the University authorities, who decided to permit a degree to be awarded to this student advocate of Presidential assassination.)

Another professional journalist who is disgusted and appalled at the far-left wing slant of such NPR programs as Morning Edition and All Things Considered is Jon Basil Utley, associate editor of The Times Of The Americas. Utley, who has been covering Latin American affairs for a quarter of a century, described one edition of NPR coverage of Central America as "A spate of leftist commentary, all critical of the Kissinger report and all opposing aid for El Salvador — topped off by a long, unquestioned promotion (of the Sandinistas) by Richard Barnet of the Institute For Policy Studies."

Mention of this institute, which is the largest of the far-left wing think tanks in Washington, brings to recall that the lineup of NPR commentators is invariably heavily loaded with liberals and radical leftists, along with one or two token conservatives, or right-wingers. Utley concludes that NPR's broadcasts are "usually one-sided and almost exactly parallel to the Cuban-Soviet view of what America should be in Central America."

Other expressions of concern for the extremist pro-Marxist slant at NPR have come from philosopher Sidney Hook, Georgetown University Professor Michael Ledeen and conservative columnist-broadcaster Pat Buchanan.

They are concerned that the taxpayers of the United States are being forced by Congress to finance what amounts to the extreme left wing of the Democratic Party — on the air, with 280 affiliated stations.

The Democratic involvement is obvious, in that the past President of NPR (who very nearly bankrupted it, until he was forced out) was George McGovern's old campaign aide Frank Mankiewicz. Mankiewicz has now been succeeded Douglas Bennet, another dedicated, very liberal Democrat, who previously worked for Democratic Senators Eagleton, Ribicoff and Muskie.

The NPR reportorial staff on Capitol Hill includes the notorious "Nepotism Lineup" of Nina Totenberg (wife of Senator Floyd Haskell — Democrat); Cokie Roberts (daughter of Congresswoman Lindsey Boggs — Democrat); and Linda Wertheimer (wife of lobbyist Fred Wertheimer of Common Cause — Democrat.)

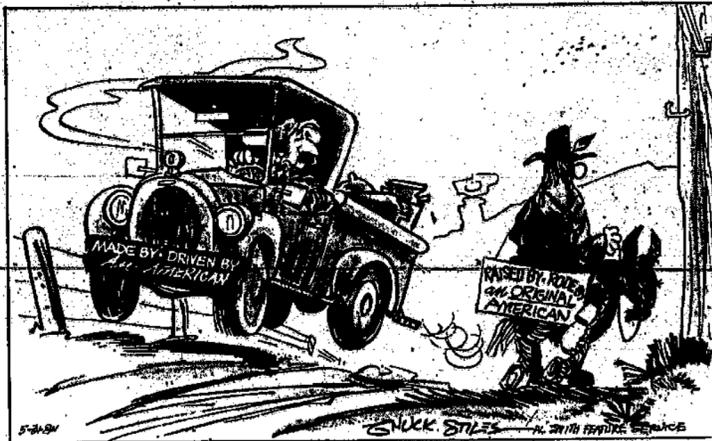

The near bankruptcy caused by Mankiewicz's catastrophic overspending was staved off by a loan — of the taxpayers' money — arranged by the wife of West Virginia Governor and Democratic Senate candidate Jay Rockefeller. Sharon Percy (daughter of Senator Charles Percy — Republican) Rockefeller also lobbies her father's friends on Capitol Hill on behalf of what columnist Buchanan terms "Radio Sandino."

National Marxist Radio costs the taxpayers $24,000,000 a year. It raises only one and a half million from other sources. Its 280 public radio affiliates conduct recurrent on-the-air begging sessions, such as that presently being conducted by WETA-FM in Washington at the time of this writing.

WETA's format of classical music is presently being punctuated by endless appeals to an apparently gullible listenership to make the station's format possible and enable the continuation of "listener-supported, non-commercial radio in our nation's capital."

Every radio station in existence is "listener-supported" — although the commercial stations cannot depend upon federal subsidies. What is particularly questionable during this begging marathon is the fact that in this morning's Washington Post there is a large

SANTA FE—How is the political climate in New Mexico the week before the 1984 primaries?

Variable. Highly variable. Gusts of wind, followed by high, thin cloudiness.

There is abroad in the state a kind of disgust with and disillusionment at all things political. Most people, frankly, would rather think about something else.

There are a few hot fights in legislative races and an item or two of other interest, but by and large there is little to excite the populace—or to cause the voters to turn out in large numbers.

THE NORTH: There's a mixed-up race for a Senate seat in Taos county, where anyone who makes a prediction, including anyone who lives there year-round, is goofy. That pits Francisco Gonzales, Tony Anaya's sworn enemy, against two other candidates, who will split the anti-Comanche vote between them. When the votes are counted here, we'll know whether it's better to have Anaya for you or against you.

In the Congressional race up here, there are some notable elements.

For one, Bill Richardson, the incumbent, has hardly bothered to campaign at all. Maybe that's an attempt to show his contempt for Edmundo Delgado, who's running against Bill in the Democratic primary. But the action has left room for a free-flowing rumor that Bill doesn't much care whether he gets re-elected or not. According to this theory, he can make more money as a lobbyist in Washington, so it really doesn't matter.

There's one other element which should not be discounted in that race: Rio Arriba county boss Emilio Naranjo has stated categorically that Delgado will be the winner. (That might better be phrased as saying he declared Richardson will be the loser.)

OTHER RACES: In most other places where there is much emotion, we have recaps of that El Comanche situation—Anaya enemy is fighting to see if opposing the Governor means your automatic defeat.

Most of us would take money if doesn't.

One legislator in southeastern New Mexico, in fact—a Republican—sent word to Anaya requesting that when he was denouncing Democrats he wanted defeated he also include the Republican's name. "I've got an opponent, and I need all the help I can get," he is reported to have said.

A race which has split Democrats like hardly any seen before is for a Senate post in Eddy county, where incumbent Joe Gant is going up against Lou Whitlock. That has been so hard-fought and so bitter the seat could go to a Republican in November.

ENNUI: In districts other than those in which such exceptional battles have developed, however, voting turnout is likely to be light.

If all counties were like Lincoln county, that might not be so. That's the one place in the state where Republican registrations have grown slowly but steadily, till they have now inched up within 377 party members of besting the Democrats.

A hard drive by Republicans there might make New Mexico history. Lincoln could become the first county in the state in which the underdog party became a majority since Depression days, when New Mexico Republicans changed party registration so they could get jobs and feed their families. Whether you like Republicans or not, our state would be better off if we had a better balance—and something closer to a real two-party system.

'Strange critters'

EDITOR—Politics is a strange critter. You just never know what funny things are going to happen. Would the people who threw eggs at my store, Family Pharmacy, please come clean up my sidewalk. I've already cleaned my windows so it will save you a lot of trouble. Next time I really would prefer scrambled eggs rather than raw, however. Oh! By the way, would the person who took and smashed my wife's political billboard on the night of May 28, 1984 that said "Elect Sims Lincoln County Treasurer," please paint me another one. Plywood is so expensive these days. Of course, you will have to paint in a hurry, because it took me a week. I'm sure whoever smashed the sign was a very upstanding responsible person of the community, with well, maybe, a minor hostility release problem.

While I'm at it, I might as well include everyone who has given my life new meaning since my wife entered the unsuspecting political scene. The individual who called on the phone the day after the sign was smashed and told me, "not to make no more waves." I could best suggest a lesson in grammar. Actually, the word "intimidation" comes to mind. I would like to address the "phantom caller" with this reply. I've weathered a lot of waves and storms and have never been sea sick a day in my life!

Still Supportive and More Determined.

America's ally?

EDITOR—Many Americans can't afford hi-interest home and business mortgages, but the Federal Government, with a $200 billion deficit and over a trillion debt donates $750 million to the World Bank plus $8 billion to the I.M.F. for 50 year credits to third world and Communist countries with no interest. Red China is promised part of this largesse.

America has created her own enemy, Soviet Russia, selling her technology useful for armaments and now will militarily arm Red China, who might tomorrow rejoin her Soviet comrades.

Red China has murdered 80 million Chinese, supported the diabolical Pol Pot who slaughtered 2 million Cambodians, decrees forced abortion, has killed all pet dogs, and recently executed, without trials, thousands of so-called criminals. Red Chinese killed American GI's in Korea, and supplied arms to America's enemy, the North Vietnamese. This is America's ally?

While Red China's premier, Zhao is given a 19-gun salute, mayors rolled out red carpets, he constantly threatens war over the Far East should America arm her true ally, Taiwan.

Will American taxpayers be subsidizing American industrialists rushing to trade with Red China? Is America opposing or embracing Communism?

VOTE — JUNE 5th

Lack of emotion . . .

With Walter Mondale virtually assured of the Democrat nomination and President Reagan running without opposition, the assumption should be that voters will turn their attention to the senatorial and congressional races.

This doesn't seem to be happening.

The lack of emotion in the Democrat senatorial primary is particularly apparent.

With the polls showing Sen. Pete Domenici the overwhelming favorite of voters in both parties, no clear leader has developed on the Democrat side.

Former party chairman Nick Franklin, Gov. Toney Anaya's man in the race, should be a runaway leader.

Instead, State Rep. Judy Pratt, D-Bernalillo, who was the only member of the House who voted against a resolution commending the Canadian government for rescuing American hostages in Iran, and political unknown Anselmo Chavez, who ran a strong congressional race several years ago, are running neck and neck with Franklin.

Chavez has contrasted himself with Pratt, and to a lesser extent with Franklin, by coming out for a strong defense posture for the United States.

Rumor has it that Franklin entered the race as a warm up for the 1986 gubernatorial election much as his mentor Anaya had done against Domenici in 1978.

Failure to win this primary should just about end any such plans.

In the congressional races, interest seems little different.

Rep. Bill Richardson, D-NM, who's seat some observers believe to be the most vulnerable in the New Mexico delegation, apparently is having a fairly easy time of it against former State Sen. Edmundo Delgado of Santa Fe in the Third Congressional District primary.

It may be, however, that Delgado will soften up Richardson for former Domenici staffer and San Miguel County rancher Lou Gallegos who is unopposed in the Republican primary.

Gallegos excited the recent Republican pre-primary convention with a rousing speech questioning the current leadership in the Third District.

In the 1st District, the primary to decide who will oppose veteran Rep. Manuel Lujan, R-NM, in the fall has State Rep. Ted Asbury, D-Bernalillo, against newcomer Manny Garcia.

Recent news reports suggest that the race is close, but neither candidate is generating the kind of interest that is necessary to unseat the long-term congressman.

Neither Rep. Joe Skeen, R-NM, nor his general election opponent Roswell Mayor Peter York, have primary opposition. The feeling in the district suggests that Skeen is well on the way to his third victory.

The lack of enthusiasm in the congressional races should go unnoticed in those districts where hot contests are developing in the state Senate. Anaya is trying to gain the control of the Senate which he lost in the last legislative session.

In District 34, Carlsbad resident Louis Whitlock, who was appointed to the state Investment Council by Anaya, has resigned that post in order to take on long-term incumbent Sen. Joe Gant, D-Eddy.

Gant gained Anaya's displeasure in the last session by failing to tow the line on several key votes.

The winner will face a tough fight against long-time Republican activist and Carlsbad rancher and businessman Marvin Watts.

In District 41, former Hobbs City Manager Joe Harvey faces conservative Democrat Red Arson. The winner of the Democrat primary will probably be Harvey, although Arson supporters believe him to be ahead.

The winner faces Lea County Commission Chairman Bill Brininstool who was popular enough to be unopposed in his last run for office, quite a feat for a Republican in Lea County.

Probably the most exciting Senate race will be in District 6 where Anaya has targeted Francesco "El Comanche"

Gonzales for retirement.

District 6, which includes Taos and Mora counties and parts of Santa Fe County, is in an area that enjoys heated political campaigns.

Gonzales, who joined the senate coalition against a high Anaya tax increase will have his work out for him because of his opposition.

While the congressional races may have to wait for the November election for resolution, the public may know in early June whether Anaya or his foes will control the legislature.

Spruce budworm spraying begins

ALAMOGORDO, NM—The US Forest Service and New Mexico Division of Forestry began spraying for the western spruce budworm Tuesday, May 22, 1984. The spraying should continue for another two weeks. The areas to be sprayed are federal lands on the Lincoln National Forest, state and private lands in and around the Forest, and Mescalero Apache Tribal lands.

The project calls for the use of two insecticides; Sevin and Bacillus thuringiensis (B.t.). Sevin, a chemical insecticide will be used in remote areas of forest land. Sevin is a non-persistent pesticide and is used most often in house and garden pest control. There have been no observed effects on livestock, birds, mammals, or fish when used as directed. However, it is toxic to honey bees. If hives, traps, etc. are removed from the spray area and returned after one week of the spraying there should be no adverse effects.

B.t. is a bacterial insecticide that is most specific to moths and butterflies. The insecticide will be used around populated areas, streams and lakes. B.t. is believed to be completely safe for all areas of application. As B.t. is more difficult to apply than Sevin, and its limits and tolerances for application are narrower, it is less likely to achieve the degree of success that may be expected with the chemical insecticide. Both of these insecticides are registered for use the Environmental Protection Agency and the New Mexico Department of Agriculture.

Information on spray areas is available at the following locations:

Alamogordo: Lincoln National Forest Supervisor's Office.

The Pope's new PR man: A gift from Philadelphia

By REV. LES KINSOLVING

PHILADELPHIA—So far as is known, Vatican City does not have a baseball team — not even a Little League entry.

This is propitious. For the newly appointed President of the Pontifical Commission for Social Communications, who will be in charge of the Vatican's relations with the media, was once present at a party in a home in the Philadelphia suburb of Fort Washington.

Among the guests was a sports celebrity and his wife. But this new Papal PR man has absolutely zilch acquaintance with professional baseball — even in his native Philadelphia, most of which is wild about the Phillies.

Since this nationally known guest was wearing a pair of bright red trousers, the Rev. John P. Foley remarked with his customary congeniality:

"You look like a cardinal."

"I am one," replied Stan Musial. What really made the evening was that Father Foley kept asking everybody why on earth they were laughing — which simply incited them to increased mirth and him to heightened mystery. Only later in the week was it explained to him that his fellow Pennsylvanian was a Cardinal, all right — in St. Louis, where "Stan The Man" spoke softly and wielded a big stick.

Father Foley admitted to an equally total ignorance of contemporary music. His academic record reveals he was a bit busy for baseball and rock. He was absorbed in mastering four other languages: Italian, Spanish, French — and Latin (to be sure), while graduating summa cum laude from Philadelphia's St. Joseph's College. Five years later, after a similarly impressive seminary record, he went to Rome and in two years at the Angelicum had acquired his doctorate. (The Angelicum has, among its other alumni, a prominent Polish clergyman, who is now residing in Rome.) One year later, he had earned a masters degree in journalism from Columbia's famed but radical School of Journalism, where he emerged having successfully resisted its left wing allurements and graduated magna cum laude. It was good that he had, for he had been sent there in preparation of being assigned to the official newspaper of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia, The Catholic Standard and Times.

This multi-million member Archdiocese which is led (like a regiment) by one of the last of the great prince bishops, the imposing and solidly conservative — but actually very dry witted

John Cardinal Krol, who once answered one of my leading questions in Polish.

There may be prelates in this world who have had lieutenants as loyal as Foley. But if there are any, there are surely not many. At the same time, while serving faithfully on the staff of this awesome archbishop, Foley did not deteriorate to the level of a chancery cipher in the manner of some bishops' staffers.

For a number of years, Father Foley was one of a two-priest team who, twice daily for four days, explained in detail to the media what the National Conference of Catholic Bishops had been doing behind the closed doors of their annual meeting.

With the sole exception of never even hinting at what the bishops had designated as confidential or classified, Father Foley's Revelations, of what those closed doors, were memorable — even wondrous. Rarely in modern history has there been such exhaustive and

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Another opinion

DEAR EDITOR—After reading the ROSWELL DAILY RECORD Editorial on May 9, along with other articles on the subject of the Ruidoso Airport relocation, I submit another opinion, one based on twenty years of experience as a Navy carrier pilot without scratching an aircraft except in combat.

First, I disagree that the mesa at Fort Stanton is the best site available for a replacement airport. The Carrizozo area would be safer. Engine failure is most critical in take off and landing. On the mesa, a pilot in trouble might be fortunate enough to glide to one of the few flat spots void of trees, but he also risks the extreme hazard of many canyons, and the topography causes unpredictable winds. Carrizozo has a relatively flat valley all the way to Alamogordo towards the south and at least twelve miles towards the east, and the long wide valleys make wind direction and velocity more predictable.

Next, the argument that Carrizozo is too near a restricted area isn't logical. It is at least ten nautical miles from the nearest restricted area and outside all military operating areas. Both the Ruidoso Airport and the proposed mesa lie under military operating areas. This is not a problem, but it is pertinent to the argument.

The third item concerns the question of how many people will die before human safety takes precedence over grazing studies. That question is followed with a statement concerning the necessity for grazing studies. The two cannot co-exist on the mesa for the following reasons: (1) Any disruption of grazing habits will invalidate all studies past the time of disruption. Low-flying aircraft will disrupt animal habits, evidenced by the lawsuits filed against the military by angry ranchers. (2) Accidents will probably happen regardless of where the field is relocated. Statistics now indicate that the accident rate per man mile of general aviation flying is at least ten times that of the accident rate per man mile of automotive travel. (AVIATION CONSUMER, May 2, 1984, Page 7) If one of these inevitable aircraft accidents happened on the mesa and started even a moderate grass fire, present grazing studies would cease. Future studies would not be possible for years.

The fourth item is the last accident. Wind velocity on that day was reported by the news media to be around 40 mph at the surface. The AIRMANS INFORMATION MANUAL (on which pilots are tested) tells us: that we shouldn't fly in mountainous terrain when winds at proposed altitudes exceed 35 mph; to expect winds to be of greater velocity over mountain passes; that downdrafts of 1500 to 2000 feet per minute are not uncommon on the leeward side; that we shouldn't fly near or above abrupt changes in terrain as severe turbulence can be expected. The mesa is in mountainous terrain. I do not have accident reports on other fatalities in Ruidoso, but general statistics show that a majority of the pilots violated standard safety procedures.

My reason for this letter is to bring attention to possible misconceptions about the relocation as transmitted by the news media. I have no monetary or political interests in the airport or the proposed location. It would be wise to relocate since the governing powers have allowed development so close to the airport. If the mesa is chosen for relocation, a ten-mile green belt around the perimeter, where no structures would be allowed, might preclude future problems of over development, complaints, and relocation arguments as are now occurring.

This is my first and last opinion on this subject to be submitted to a newspaper regardless of the jabs I'm bound to receive in the "letters to the editor" column.

encyclopedic gleaming of each and every episcopal jet and archepiscopal title — delivered with absolutely deadly accuracy and rapturous respect.

Finally, after years of complaints about the closed doors, the bishops voted to open nine of their ten annual sessions to the media. Most of the Fourth Estate came to realize that the Lost Mystery of Closed Doors — plus Father Foley's Revelations — was really more exciting after all.

While Foley is an absolutely straight arrow doctrinally and ecclesiastically and canonically, he brought with him a well developed sense of humor — which he was to need. And he never lost his cool (to my knowledge) when a covey of liberal Catholics began publishing a (now defunct) parody of the official newspaper, which they called The Catholic Substandard and Times.

Both he and his archbishops retained their cool and their good humor for the years in which this column would ask why the Catholic Supreme Court Justice William Brennan had not been excommunicated for his voting to liberalize abortion laws.

Father Foley also took with good grace (albeit with appropriately courteous but firm resistance) — the insidiously ingenious needlings of a rebel elf of a Monsignor, whose post (as pastor of the Cathedral in Camden, NJ) is safely out of the archdiocesan reach.

When Krol forbade Saturday evening Masses as a substitute for Sunday obligation, Msgr. Sal Adamo promptly advertised (with an ad you couldn't miss) the availability of Saturday evening masses just across the river from what he loves to refer to as "The Archdiocese of Brother Love." Krol and Foley even managed to avoid apoplexy when Adamo, in his most notorious escapade, called for the elimination of pimps — by legalizing prostitution.

This past month, however, The Adversary Adamo softened. He wrote such a kindly tribute to Foley that the latter termed it "a very touching thing." For Monsignor Foley has been appointed archbishop by Pope John Paul II, and he will be living in Rome.

Monsignor Adamo and this writer alternate on Saturday nights as talk show host over station WWDB-FM in Philadelphia. While I would never, ever presume to speak for Adamo, I believe I am safe in paraphrasing the slogan of the Keystone State and observing that on Saturday nights especially, "You Have Two Friends in Pennsylvania, Archbishop."

In like manner, I believe that however much we may have needled him, we have a friend in Rome — who will be a blessing to the press corps, as well as to the Pontiff.

Fire-free holiday in Lincoln National Forest

ALAMOGORDO, NM — Some of the credit may belong to Smokey Bear and his fire prevention campaign, but visitors and users of the Lincoln National Forest must also be given credit for their carefulness with fires over the Memorial Day weekend. There were no fires reported on the Lincoln even though campgrounds and picnic facilities were heavily used. A big "thank you" goes to everyone.

Increasing summer-time use of the forest is expected now that school is out and families are heading to the mountains for refreshment and relaxation. All visitors are urged to be especially careful as forest fire danger is very high due to continued drying winds. Also, please make a special effort to keep litter cleared up so that our forest will stay lovely and usable.

The Smokey Bear District reports heavy use of South Fork Campground. All facilities are open. Trails are passable. Firewood areas are open. Call 257-4095 for more information.

All campgrounds and trails are open on the Cloudercroft District. Construction continues on Sunspot Road—motorists should allow for delays. Logging trucks may be encountered on Sunspot Road. No firewood areas are open. The number to call for information is 682-2551.

WILTON HOWELL is the candidate who has taken a stand on issues concerning Lincoln County.

(from El Paso Times - May 25, 1984)

—WILTON HOWELL says he will fight state efforts to close Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School as a center for the mentally retarded and transform the institution into an alcoholism treatment hospital. The hospital should remain unchanged, Howell said, because it employs 185 persons and provides services not available in smaller group homes.

—Howell said he would support a tax increase next year if he saw a choice between higher taxes or reduced services. He added, however, that state government "should trim the fat off" before asking taxpayers for more money.
