

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET

Subdivision regulations tabled

Lincoln County Commissioners met July 17. County Clerk Jane McSwane performed the swearing in ceremonies for the new Lincoln Historic Preservation Board members. Ofelia Salas and Leota Pfingsten will serve until the end of this year. Betty Schrecengost, James Beal, and Pat Ward, member at large, will serve until December 31, 1985.

Letters of appreciation were presented to past members of the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board.

Other business conducted:

—Approval of a field agreement for predator and rodent control for the period July 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985 with the Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service. Funding for the service comes from the Farm and Range Improvement Fund.

—Approved a road closure request for a portion of County Road A-006, and all of County Roads A-007, A-008, and A-009.

—LaMay Distributing submitted the low bid for annual fuel supply requirements for the county. Estimated monthly requirement is regular, 3,997 gallons, unleaded, 200 gallons, and No. 2 diesel, 2,960 gallons.

—Action on the proposed revisions to Lincoln County Subdivision Regulations was tabled following a lengthy discussion. Nine pages of revisions were presented to the commissioners for a public hearing. The Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission had suggested the proposed revisions.

A Technical Services

Agreement with PAJO Technical Services of Las Cruces was signed. The county intends to utilize PAJO to perform general planning, engineering, and other technical services and duties. PAJO shall be responsible to provide expertise, consultation, and advice in such areas as needs and economic analyses; feasibility studies, reports, and technical document preparations; preliminary and final designs; impact statements, assessments, and other environmental issues; research and estimating; training; subdivision and construction inspection; site investigations; project management; compliance assurance and quality control; public presentations, review and comment-approval of submittals; surveying, drafting, and printing; technical representation, acting as a witness, and all other services mutually agreeable to both parties.

—Approved Resolution no. 73-2 and Resolution no. 73-3 for mileage and per diem reimbursement.

Robert Carson, New Mexico Health Department, gave a report to the commission explaining services provided.

Sheriff Tom Sullivan gave a statistical report for the first six months of 1984. The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office has shown improvement, with stolen property down in 1984, recovered stolen property up in 1984, and the recovery rate is up from 27 percent in 1983 to 55 percent in 1984. The Sheriff's office has added an Intoxameter for determining the alcohol level of DWI's. This was furnished by the New Mexico Traffic Safety Commission, at no cost to the county. Only the cost of maintenance. The machine is computerized and prints out the alcohol level while the test is being conducted. Personnel have attended school for operating the Intoxameter.

Sullivan said, "I feel the night patrol has cut down on stolen property." He added, "The implementation of the Investigation Division has increased the recovery rate of stolen property" and "Extra effort on bad checks has reduced the amount of bad checks."

Commissioners signed the contract with the Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging for Zia Senior Citizens Center.

The $5 minimum penalty on delinquent taxes was not waived. Agreed to place speed limit signs in Fawn Ridge.

Denied a request from Frankie Silva to use the county facilities in Capitan to wash mud and ice off the windows of the school buses. Silva offered to pay a monthly fee for the use of the water and facilities.

C'ZOZO TOWN COUNCIL APPROVED BUDGET

Special election Sept. 14

A special meeting of the Town of Carrizozo board of trustees was held July 16. The final budget was approved, with changes in the sanitation and fire fund, a special election resolution was adopted, discussion of commercial garbage rates being raised, and the town hired a certified police officer.

A discussion was held concerning raising rates for commercial garbage pickup. Any changes in rates will become effective after public hearings are held. Increases may be in effect as early as September.

Commercial garbage rates may be raised to $12.50 for a two yard dumpster with once a week pickup service, $17.50 for a three yard dumpster with once a week pickup and $22.50 for a four yard dumpster with once a week pickup. Businesses receiving twice a week pickup may pay $20 for a two yard dumpster and $27.85 for a three yard dumpster. Businesses desiring the poly kart may pay $8.75 for once a week pickup.

A special municipal election will be held September 14. Voters may decide if they wish to raise taxes an additional one-fourth cent for infrastructure improvements, and one-fourth cent for general fund. If the resolutions pass, it will raise Carrizozo taxes to five cents instead of the four and one-half cents now being assessed.

Bill Hasenbuhler, certified policeman, was hired by Carrizozo trustees. Hasenbuhler had been appointed by Mayor Harold Garcia a week earlier. The News will print a column by Hasenbuhler to let people know some of the town ordinances.

Trustees held a closed personnel session. They decided to lay off Manuel Hernandez. Hernandez had been working at the golf course.

The final budget for 1984-85 was approved. Changes were made in the sanitation and fire fund portions of the budget. Estimated revenues and budgeted expenditures in sanitation have increased. The ending cash balance will be $1,305 instead of $7,592 for solid waste.

The fire fund estimated revenues and budgeted expenditures have decreased. The estimated ending cash balance will be $25,119 instead of $25,599.

FROM CAPTAIN

The following recipe by Lorraine Daugherty of Capitan found its way into my recipe box. Potato-Cabbage casserole, a one-dish meal, is easy to prepare on a busy summer day. I tried it and the family liked it:

Saute 2 tablespoons margarine and one-third cup minced onion. Add and heat until cheese is melted - 1 can cream of mushroom soup or cream of chicken soup; three-fourths cup milk and 1/4 cup grated cheese.

Pour soup-cheese mixture over 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of garlic powder, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 2 large boiled potatoes (sliced). Mix well. Pour into greased casserole dish. Bake at 350 degree oven for 30-40 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

HAPPY BOOKWORMS

Has it been a long, hot summer and the children have nothing to do - so they complain? Those who have discovered 'Reading Rainbow' on Channel 5 KNME Albuquerque have been entertained with the station's reading program.

Children learn to love reading when they hear and see the stories featured on Reading Rainbow. The stories have characters the children can identify with. In addition to the reading of stories the program offers book reviews by children. There are ideas on making children's crafts and game playing.

If the 11:00 a.m. show is missed, children can catch it later at 5:00 p.m. Next week's book titles are: July 30, Monday - Digging up Dinosaurs; July 31, Tuesday - Liang and the Magic Paintbrush; August 1, Wed-

VERY NICE

The new laundry is an asset to the community and a business that has been needed for a long time. A sturdy playpen - with carpet even - is available for parents of small children. While clothes wash or dry, a toddler can play there and mother (or father) can read magazines.

A clothes cleaning service was once located where the laundry is now. The June 12, 1988 issue of the NEWS carried this item: "Want flag cleaned and ready for Fourth?" Fred Hover of the Nu-Way Cleaners offered a patriotic service. He offered to dry clean any American flag brought to his establishment between June 12 and the Fourth of July - and all for free.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Reading newspapers of years past is like eating peanuts - hard to stop. Other news tidbits in June of 1988 included:

LINCOLN COUNTY OFFICERS NAB ESCAPEES -

"Two escapees from the LaTuna Correctional Institutional near El Paso were captured near Capitan by Sheriff S. M. Ortiz and Deputy Sheriff Hoppy Gutierrez. The men had crashed through the gate of the federal institution in a truck which they had stolen from the motor pool. A mile east of Capitan, on a curve in the road along the Bonito, Ortiz and Gutierrez came up on the men walking along the highway. They surrendered without a fight. One of them was in possession of a butcher knife."

CHAMBER ELECTS FIVE

"Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce members elected five of their members to the board of directors - J. S. Stearns, Vernon Petty, Kino Ortiz, Clarence E. Shaw and Will Ed Harris."

POLICE CHIEF RESIGNS - Orin Sears resigns as police chief. Chief Sear's action followed the meeting of the town board of trustees at which meeting it was voted to alternate the shifts of the town's two police officers - each to rotate working the day shift one month and the night shift the next month. Sears said that such an arrangement would not be acceptable. LAST LAUGH

An eccentric fellow smugly showed his neighbor an animal that appeared to be a dog. "He's unique," he exclaimed. "He is part dog and part bull, and he cost a thousand dollars."

"Which part is bull?" asked the astonished neighbor.

"The part about the thousand dollars."

Capitan News

By MARGARET BENCH

Only a trace of rain this past week. Today's report from north of Capitan there has been good rains that have given everyone joy. That is just great and I am delighted and happy for them.

Welcome to two new businesses in Capitan. Ron Smith Associates Real Estate located in the former Brown Drug Store, located on East First St. Bonito Tile Co and Maggie Doyle Hand Woven Designs, held their official opening Sunday, July 22 from 12:00 to 6 p.m. Located across from Hotel Chango. Just one door from the laundry.

I wish these new residents and business many years of success and happiness with us.

The Smokey Bear 10K made $396 to send to Kimberly Fuller. A little girl in Elk City, OK. Kimberly is 8 years old and is in desperate need of a heart - lung transplant. She is on oxygen all of the time and can only walk a few steps at a time without tiring.

I do think it is great to see and realize how many tourists visit the New Mexico State Smokey Bear Park and the Smokey Bear Museum. From July 18-22, 2,264 visited that Smokey Bear Museum. All are so very interested in that and the entire Park. They do love the wild flowers and want seeds and they say they will write for them at the address given.

July 16, Grayson Harding of the National Zoological Park in Washington, DC visited there. He worked with Smokey from 1974-1978 as a Keeper. He helped remove Smokey from the cage that morning they found him dead. He made slides inside the museum and around the park including Smokey's grave. He has spent 30 years at the National Zoo and is still employed there.

Nelson of Ruidoso visited the museum July 19, 1984. There will be a Smokey Bear Caravan from New Hampshire arriving August 9 in honor of Smokey's 40 years.

The Capitan Roundtable Club met July 20 at the home of Harriet McGinnis. Two members were absent, Frankie Tonn and Alice Traylor. Their guest was Lorraine Daugherty.

The club met Friday instead of Thursday due to the funeral of Ethel Howard, a friend to several members.

The hostess served brisket and potatoe salad. Members furnished the remaining part of the menu.

Lorraine Daugherty demonstrated cake decorating for the club which they all enjoyed and appreciated. She also won the raffle.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Winfred Cozens.

Gid Allen and Rusty Hamilton attended the New Mexico Rodeo Association at Belen last weekend. Rusty won 1st place and Gid won 2nd in steer wrestling. That is good. Just keep up the good work, young men.

The Ranchers Camp Meeting is over for another year. I accompanied Doris Pounds there last Wednesday night and we did enjoy it all. Due to circumstances we were unable to attend any other time. But that was delightful enjoyment and good memory. We met many old friends and enjoyed the visit, the food and the sermon. There was a very large crowd for the first day.

Malcolm and Evelyn Petree and their twin grandchildren of Albuquerque were there. They attend every year. Parked there on Monday and remained the duration. That is a great vacation and they do enjoy it. We most certainly enjoy them. They are formerly residents of Capitan. May God bless one and all.

Kay and Terry Strickland and two daughters held an anniversary dinner at their home last Monday night honoring her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wrights 37th wedding anniversary. Her brother Jim and Linda Wright and two children were present. A happy family gathering. I wish them many more.

Howard Wrights cousins and families held a family reunion at Bonito Lake last weekend, which 33 people attended. It was a joyous event for all to remember.

Happy birthday and many more with good health and God's blessings, to Josephine (Mrs. Clark) Pfingsten of Lincoln, July 14. Mona McEuen July 20 and Tommie Allen July 23.

Josephine underwent an eye cataract surgery on her right eye in Albuquerque and returned home one day last week. It was successful. In a few months she will under go one on the other eye. I wish her continued joy and happiness with the best vision ever.

A report on Wesley Pounds son of Doris Pounds. He entered the Rehab in Roswell Tuesday, July 18 and Saturday's report was that he had gained 65 percent in that time. All of us are still in prayer for his good recovery.

Geneva Niere, a very lovely 18 year old young lady, a niece of Millie Muse who attended the Hall family reunion July 4 arrived safely home at Butte, Montana Sunday, July 15 and on Friday night July 20 she was killed in a car accident in which there were other young folks. She was the only fatal one. Slim and Millie Muse left via plane from El Paso Sunday and attended the funeral Tuesday. They arrived home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Grover of Kentucky are spending some time in Capitan visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cheney.

Brand and Jessica Nosker of Hondo are spending a few days in Capitan with the Curtis-Payne family.

Kay and Terry Strickland and two daughters spent last weekend in Hobbs visiting Mr. Bill Strickland and the Orville Trammell family.

Kitten Talley, wife of Harvey Talley, formerly of Bonito passed away unexpectedly in Alamogordo last Saturday afternoon, July 21, 1984.

Charles Hinkle of Alamogordo who recently became an employee of the W Diamond Ranch passed away Thursday, July 19, 1984.

The David Bryson family of El Paso visited Hattie Lacy and family last Wednesday. They attended the Ruidoso Horse Races several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tunnel spent last week with her sister Betty Browning in Capitan. They enjoyed the cool climate compared to Dallas, TX.

Mrs. Vera Jones and friends of Bingham Gift Shop enjoyed the Camp Meeting. She visited her ranch neighbor Hattie Lacy Saturday.

Ethel Howard of Tularosa formerly of Capitan passed away July 16, 1984 at her home. She was born March 15, 1892; laid to rest in the Angus Cemetery July 19. I do send my sympathy to Jim and those lovely children. She left us with good memories for she was a lovely lady and was a resident for many years here.

Jim Ramsey who came to Lincoln in 1912 passed away in a rest home in Clovis July 14, 1984 at the age of 89. He was born January 8, 1895. Laid to rest in the Lincoln Cemetery July 16. He left good memories with all of his friends there. He was dearly loved.

due to no relatives; will have to wait a month for burial. If you remember, he and Herman Philpot were friends and

WATCH Over Washington

By LES KINSOLVING

Election year hot season hilarities in our nation's capital

WASHINGTON — It is true, as political archives will attest, that along with several other Presidents of the United States, the Honorable Calvin Coolidge frequently allowed himself to be photographed wearing the eagle feathers of an Indian war bonnet.

If such striking plumage appeared somewhat ludicrous when above and adjacent to the dour and antiseptic face of Silent Cal, the fact remains that he never got carried away to the point of enlisting as his spiritual adviser a medicine man.

Or a medicine woman. According to Vanity Fair magazine, however, recent Presidential candidate Gary Hart, an alumnus of Yale Divinity School, has, since 1974, been provided with all manner of Great Spiritual sensation by "a radiant divorcee," a gorgeous Comanche named Marilyn Youngbird.

Ms. Youngbird is identified by Vanity Fair writer Gail Sheehy as the daughter of Comanche medicine persons. In 1979, reports Sheehy, Senator Hart's Medicine Woman not only advised him of his selection as President of the United States by The Great Spirit, but she took him to an unforgettable Comanche ceremony in Denver. Writer Sheehy notes that in order to participate in that ceremony "You must take your clothes off and get down on your knees to crawl into the sacred circle" — this inside the purification-through-sweat-lodge.

Then, Ms. Youngbird (described as the "closest friend and soul mate" of the frequently-separated-from-his-wife Senator) is quoted as recalling: "They brushed the front and back of our bodies with eagle feathers. It was sensual — oh, yes! He (Gary) would look at me, smiling from ear to ear."

(And if any reader is still in doubt after this steaming selection of Hiawathan carnality, writer Sheehy had even more. In high school, Senator Hart — whose name was, at that time, Gary Hartpence — was widely known to his classmates as "Gary Hotpants.")

Surely this was more exciting than the comparatively drab revelation that Rock Ribbed Republican Roger Jepson had, some years earlier, joined a health spa with nude attendants — in Iowa of all places. There are conflicting reports as to whether this expose has caused the embattled (for reelection) Senator's ratings to go up or down. In any case, Jepson apologized.

Hart did not. Instead, he took to the networks to describe the Vanity Fair article as "terribly inaccurate" — an indictment which was not terribly effective in view of Hart's admission that he has never read the article and refuses ever to do so. Hart's faithful press retainer, Kathy Bushkin, announced earlier that the article was full of errors — which she promptly refused to detail for inquiring reporters.

Across town, the Annual Hot Season Hilarities produced yet another eye-opener at generally staid and moderately conservative US News and World Report. For the magazine produced for its brand new owner an almost stupefying graphics disaster.

In the process of reducing the full size of a Bassett cartoon showing Fritz Mondale as a prizefighter, there was a distortion which is beyond description in a family newspaper.

At the White House, there was almost as much embarrassment when reporters reacted to the announcement that President Reagan had personally selected as the Keynote speaker at the Republican National Convention somebody named Katherine Ortega.

Unless you are in the habit of carefully inspecting your dollar bills, you are very likely to wonder who is Katherine Ortega — and why she had been picked instead of Jeanne Kirkpatrick, the heroine of the GOP conservatives. Apparently Ambassador Kirkpatrick is not at all a heroine to White House chief of staff Jim Baker, who reportedly arranged for the unknown Treasurer of the United States to be the keynote speaker.

Whether or not Baker is providing Ortega instruction in public speaking — or whether she is in need of any assistance — is something of an unknown. For nobody in her office or elsewhere in the Treasury Department wanted to tell anything about her speaking prowess. And all that White House spokesman Larry Speakes would say is: "Tune in at Dallas."

Neither Gary Hart's Medicine Woman nor the US News and World Report's Graphics Disaster was any more bizarre than the latest blunder of The Washington Post's executive editor, Benjamin C. Bradlee.

For Bradlee, who recently confessed that he doesn't know what's going on at The Post with regard to Bob Woodward's report of massive cocaine use by Post people, sounded the other night as if he himself were into something strange. For Bradlee, along with his boss, Post chairman Katherine Graham, insisted to a panel on "Is There A Liberal Media Elite?" that there is no such animal at their newspaper — which Illinois Congressman Phil Crane has, not unreasonably, described as "Pravda on the Potomac."

Another panelist, New York Post publisher Rupert Murdoch, evoked laughs and applause when he asked Bradlee and Graham: "Why hide from it? I wish that Mr. Bradlee wouldn't run away from this." But Bradlee in a performance which suggests galloping senility, contended that Ronald Reagan has been treated with more kindness by The Post than any other President since he has been editor. (Post readers can readily attest that Bradlee's paper tries to kill Mr. Reagan with kindness. Every morning.)

Bradlee then erupted into a Captain Queeg recital of the parentage and war records of several Post people. This was so utterly bizarre that columnist John Lofton (who, like columnist Reed Irvine of Accuracy In Media, was not allowed to ask questions by columnist Nick Timmesch) wrote that "Bradlee made an ass of himself."

Since this was published in Washington's other daily newspaper, The Washington Times, which along with The Post is read avidly by Mr. Reagan's media expert, Larry Speakes, this column asked Mr. Speakes, during a daily White House news briefing, whether he would confirm or deny "The Times report that Ben Bradlee is an ass."

Amidst laughter, Speakes replied that he would prefer to "let Mr. Lofton and Mr. Bradlee settle their differences themselves."

An excellent idea! The Debate of the Decade! Mr. Lofton for the affirmative with Mr. Bradlee in the negative: RESOLVED: BEN BRADLEE IS AN ASS (which, let it be noted, the White House would neither confirm or deny.)

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

BY Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Whatever the average daily balance in your checking account was last month, the state of New Mexico did better.

On any day of that same period of time it was putting into short-term investments—mostly what the bankers call "overnights," money that goes in late today and out early tomorrow morning—the resounding sum of $72,148,617.86.

Those are big bucks, friends. The State Treasurer's office actually massages that money—to use current money-market language for what happens to it. But the group which has ultimate responsibility is a not-too-well-known operation called the Investment Council.

That particular commission manages investments of various kinds which now total up to $1,997,970,747—just on the verge of becoming two billion bucks.

Expected yield from all that money is something over $188 million this year, up from $165 million last year.

THE MARKET: If you're a big plunger in the stock market, you might like to know what the managers of that fund have been doing in this area lately.

Well, they bought 40,000 shares of Anheuser-Busch, with a book value of $2,524,000 last month—which may be more than your margin account can handle. Just the commission on that purchase, made through Eppler Guerin & Turner, came to $4,000.

And they bought 100,000 shares of Boeing Co., which were worth $4,281,491.40, as well as over $2 million worth of Raytheon, a million of Perkin-Elmer and $1.5 million of Martin Marietta.

You can see why the brokers love us.

During the same period the state was selling 50,000 shares of Coca Cola, 75,000 shares of Revlon and 50,000 shares of Phillips Petroleum.

All in all, our churning of the market has netted us a realized gain of $52,124,330.05 so far this year, which is counterbalanced by unrealized losses of $21,720,117.83.

We are big operators, in other words, with more than $350 million in stock holdings, $575 million in corporate bonds and $440 million in US Treasury notes of one kind or another.

ANONYMITY: Yet not one reader in a hundred could name any of the people who bear the responsibility of watching over these investments. They include, ex officio, the Governor, the State Treasurer, the Commissioner of Public Lands and the Cabinet Secretary for Finance and Administration, plus four public members. The latter, at this time, are Robert E. Kirkpatrick, who looks out for the financial affairs of New Mexico State University; Laree Durham, a Santa Fe stockbroker; Frank Murray, mayor of Clovis; and Francisco Urrea, entrepreneur from Albuquerque. In charge of the day-to-day operation (and the man who makes most of the decision about, for instance, what stocks to buy and sell) is Phil Troutman, officially called the State Investment officer. He was a stockbroker in Hobbs for years before taking the post.

This column thinks these are people who should get lots of public scrutiny—which is why we tell you about them every so often.

This column thinks these are people who should get lots of public scrutiny—which is why we tell you about them every so often.

They handle our money, and we should all be closely acquainted with them.

COLIN McMILLAN—

Commentary

By selecting Geraldine Ferraro as his vice-presidential running mate, with a strong push from House Speaker Tip O'Neill, D-Mass., Walter Mondale is attempting to picture the Democrat Party as the party of and for women.

Gov. Toney Anaya attempted to lay the same course in New Mexico with his support of Judy Pratt for the seat held by US Sen. Pete Domenici, R-NM.

The issue of women in government should not be allowed to degenerate into an appeal to vote for any candidate because of gender.

New Mexico voters were electing Republican women to the Legislature and party offices long before it became the "in" thing of the left wing.

As a matter of fact, Republican women legislators outnumber Democrats two to one in the present Legislature.

Were they elected because they were women?

No, they were elected because they wanted a better education for their children, a smaller tax burden on their constituents, better highways and a more responsive bureaucracy.

These women have run for public office on their record and so should Geraldine Ferraro and Judy Pratt.

Let's look at their records. Rep. Ferraro voted against the 1981 Reagan budget and tax cuts, the balanced budget amendment, funding for the MX missile and restoring the purchase requirement for food stamps.

She voted for the nuclear freeze resolution.

In 1982 she received a 75 percent approval rating from the liberal Americans for Democratic Action, 79 percent from the American Civil Liberties Union, while receiving a 9 percent from the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action.

She's a bonafide Eastern Establishment liberal who has been described as a pretty Tip O'Neill.

Only by comparing Ferraro to Judy Pratt could she be called a middle-of-the-roader.

Pratt compiled an interesting record in foreign affairs for a state legislator.

In addition to her oft mentioned vote against the Canadian Foreign Service people who rescued Americans in Iran (1980), she co-sponsored a memorial in the 1981 Legislature requesting withdrawal of military and other assistance from El Salvador.

A strong anti-nuclear activist, Pratt sponsored a nuclear freeze memorial in the 1983 Legislature and currently serves as national coordinator of the National Peace Caucus of State Legislators.

In the area of crime legislation, Pratt appears soft. In 1983, she sponsored legislation to repeal the death penalty for murders. In 1981, she was one of four legislators who voted against making the murder of a prison guard a death penalty crime.

In 1980, she was one of five who voted against setting a minimum period of confinement for those guilty of a capital felony (murder).

In 1979, she was one of eight legislators who voted against stiffer sentencing for habitual offenders.

Pratt was one of five legislators who voted against a memorial (HM-42-1980) requesting that the free enterprise system be taught in our public schools.

A strong supporter of Gov. Anaya, Pratt voted for his 1983 tax increase bill as well as his aborted 1984 tax increase.

The role of women in government should be expanded.

History will judge Israel's Golda Meir and Great Britain's Margaret Thatcher as great world leaders.

Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., and Justice Sandra Day O'Connor are making a name for themselves as national leaders.

New Mexico women are playing a bigger and more important role in the politics of our state.

Those women who are leading us today are there because of their ability and stands on issues.

Let's not lose sight of that standard in 1984.

"HOW MUCH IS THIS GUY CHARGING US?"

Letters TO THE EDITOR

EFFICIENT AND COURTEOUS . . .

This letter is about the sheriff's department. Too often we tend to think of law enforcement in terms of why they stopped us or why don't they enforce laws.

It is common to forget that other necessary services are provided by the sheriff's office. While the personnel probably prefer to not have to do some of the things they do, they will do them.

Two weeks ago I received a call from a relative telling me of the death of a family member. My husband was in Iowa and I had no way to reach him, I knew where he was but did not have a phone number where he could be reached.

I went to the sheriff's department early Sunday morning and gave them the information needed for them to teletype a death message to my husband.

Through the efficient and courteous service provided, my husband received the message and called me an hour and fifteen minutes later. This speedy method of relaying messages made it possible for us to attend the funeral and be with our loved ones at a time when we needed to be together.

The policeman that gave my husband the message said, "It is times like this when I wish I was not a policeman."

We need to realize that law enforcement officers have their share of duties they would rather not perform. The important thing is that we do have them and they do a great job.

Sheriff Tom Sullivan is to be commended for his department and the kindness they show during a time of family stress. I wish I had not had to use their services, but I did. Thank goodness they were there and helped. I especially want to thank Chief Deputy Charles Cox and Joan Means.

We need to think of law enforcement not in negative terms but in the positive terms that will make us glad they are there to serve 24 hours a day. Usually they give us a thankless job. I for one want to say "Thank you for a job well done."

ERRONEOUS ASSUMPTION . . .

DEAR EDITOR—It is time that we all looked at the problem of US support for Communism. There is an erroneous assumption that conservatives are automatically hard on Communism.

Let's get really tough on Communism, and cut off all US government aid, including trade credits and loan guarantees, to Communist regimes. Merely building more weapons to combat Soviet armaments that "conservative" administrations help to finance is an insufficient anti-Communist policy.

It is not just the left wing that presents a problem. Remember, it was Nixon and Reagan who went to China — not Johnson and Carter.

Once it was "Law east of the Pecos"

By DAVID STUART (c) 1984

Though small family bands had camped and hunted within sight of the river for 6,000 years between late Paleo-Indian times and A.D. 800, settled village life came late to the valley of the Pecos.

Mere traces of the first farming settlements built between Alamogordo Reservoir and Roswell have been discovered. Nearly 30 years ago the earliest of these were found south of Fort Sumner on terraces overlooking the River's "18 Mile Bend". Gray, unpainted Anasazi pottery from northwestern New Mexico and scattered fragments of stone dart points mark these sites.

By A.D. 1000, late "18 Mile" sites were well-established and more numerous. A few shallow, dugout "pithouses" and remnants of small mud-and-cobble walled surface rooms have been excavated. Though everyday brown pottery was made locally, striking "red Mesa Black-on-white" bowls, first made in the Red Mesa Valley near Gallup were traded to the Pecos district from west of the Rio Grande.

Just a century ago lands WEST of the Pecos were considered untamed. Ironically, at A.D. 1000 the situation was reversed—then the Pecos Valley held New Mexico's EASTERNMOST outposts of civilized village life. As Anasazi and Mogollon population exploded in western New Mexico, classic Chaco and Mimbres societies were formed and resources stretched to their limits. So pioneers were forced to seek new frontiers on the raw eastern frontier across the Rio Grande.

These early settlers moved into territory that nomadic Indian plainsmen had always dominated. The Villager's economic and cultural ties were with western New Mexico, but life was hard and often isolated.

For a time, about A.D. 1050, Pecos villages were larger, more densely populated and trade was far-flung. Known as the "Mesita Negra" Period more farming hamlets were created in a century than in all other periods combined.

"Mesita Negra" villages obtained Mimbres pottery from Grant, Sierra, and Luna Counties in southwestern New Mexico. "Reserve Black-on-white" pitchers were carried nearly 300 miles from Catron County, while "Cebollita Black-on-white" pottery came from Cibola and Valencia Counties south of Acemba Pueblo. "Socorro Black-on-white" bowls and ladles also found their way east across the Rio Grande.

Even so, the district was poor when compared to towns in the

for District Judge,

"DO I NEED A WILL?"
by Sandra A. Grisham

As an attorney practicing "people law", I am frequently asked that question. My usual answer is a definite yes.

Do you have children under the age of eighteen? If so, you have a say in who their guardian will be.

Do you have children under the age of eighteen? If so, you have a say in who their guardian will be should they become orphaned. A bitter and expensive custody battle may be prevented by a short clause in a will.

Did you own property before you were married, or have you acquired any by gift or through inheritance since? This is basically what is known as separate property, and if you die without a will, one-quarter of it will pass to your spouse and three-quarters of it to your children. If you have a will, you can decide who gets what.

If you are married and have community property (all property acquired in this state which isn't separate property), your spouse will inherit all of it if you do not have a will. Through a will, you can decide what will happen to your half of any community property.

Do you want to leave your property to your children, but in such a way that they can spend a portion of it when they are eighteen, a portion of it when they are twenty-five, and the remainder when they are thirty? A simple trust can be included in your will.

If you have a ring from your great-grandmother that you specifically wish to go to your eldest daughter and a necklace from Aunt Mary that you want to go to your youngest, you can now include in your will a reference to a list of specific items of personal possession that you wish to go to specific people. You can then change the list without writing a new will.

You may need a will for tax purposes, or to benefit a church or charity, or for many other reasons. See your attorney... a little planning and a few dollars spent now can save a lot of heartache and expense later.

New gates were built, fences patched, and a lot of debris picked up to make the arena more serviceable and attractive for the rodeo on August 4. Also, this year there will be a concession stand and restrooms there on the rodeo grounds. They will make things much more comfortable for folks while they are watching the rodeo. Many, many thanks to those friends who showed up to give a hand!

The Cardinal Booster Club will meet Friday, July 27 for a covered dish supper at 7 p.m. in the school recreation room. Everyone is invited to help get the 1984-85 season off to a great start.

Crown Cowbelle held a special July meeting Saturday evening at the home of the Clint Leary Sultemeier for the purpose of honoring Crown's Father of the Year. The covered dish supper contained a variety of foods between the grilled cheeseburgers and freezers of ice cream. The young people enjoyed a swim, intentional and a few unintentional.

President Eve Latham introduced Mack Bell and presented him with a plaque like the one earned by Mrs. Bell a few years ago. Mrs. Latham thanked Mr. Bell for all the help he has given to the organization. She gave a brief rundown on Mack's activities in county and community ranch affairs with the help of Mrs. Bell, daughter Beverly and son Dan.

Neighbors present for the fun evening were the Melvin Johnsons who have moved recently to the Ranney Ranch from Santa Rosa and Floyd Earl Proctor and daughter Tracey, who have come from Bloomfield to help his parents, Mr and Mrs. Walt Jones and Jackie Walker. Out of town guests include: Neal Edington and Helen Waldrip, Anthony, Frank DuBois, Albuquerque, Frank DuBois Jr., Billie Ann Edington and Linda Crawford, Las Cruces, Jo Ann Orvin, Chaco Canyon, Sue Mays, Roswell, and Sherrill and Bob Bradford of El Paso. Members Myra Richards,

ASK DR. DAN

Q: I recently had a barium enema and my doctor told me I have diverticulosis. What is the significance of that? B. E.

A: Diverticulosis is a chronic disease which affects the colon. Many people have no symptoms and the diagnosis is made while looking into the colon or during colon x-rays. The basic defect is a weakness in the muscle layers of the wall of colon whenever arteries penetrate through the muscles. Evidence suggests the a muscles. Evidence suggests that a diet low in fiber is what causes these defects.

trapped in these small pockets and infection will set in. This will lead to abdominal pain and tenderness, usually in the left lower abdominal area. If the inflammation and infection continue, perforation of the colon wall may occur with spillage of fecal material into the abdominal cavity. This complication will require surgery to remove the involved area of colon. An attack of diverticulitis is treated with bed rest, stool-softeners, liquid diet and antibiotics.

This disease is very common and affects up to 50 percent of older people. Prevention is by eating a high fiber diet, exercising regularly and not straining during bowel movement.

Lincoln Ramblings

By ROSALIE DUNLAP

We hear so many stories about the exploits of man's best friend, the dog. Killer, the black dog that belongs to Diane and Bill Shrecengost west of Carrizozo will be among these. Bill, along with some friends was doing some work in the Capitans and took his three dogs with him. The second day, the dogs had not returned from their run, while the men were working. Finally giving up, they came on into Lincoln. The next morning, Vicki and Salty showed up at Bill's house in Torrez Ranch, but no Killer.

Bill told us all, he bet he would show up at the ranch. Days pass and no "Killer" and Bill's face gets longer. Then one morning at 3:00 Diane wakes up to a commotion, gets up to see what is going on and there is "Killer," footsore, walking with three legs as one is too sore, thin, hungry and thirsty. It took him 11 days but he made it HOME. Don't you wish he could talk and tell of his adventures across the mountains, roads and the Mal Pais.

Approximately 75 people attended the casting party for the 44th annual Billy the Kid pageant at the Lincoln Park Tuesday. After the hamburger fry, Peg and Leota Pflingsten were surprised with a beautiful cake in honor of their 44th wedding anniversary (Hm they got married the year of the first pageant performance). Following the festivities 43 people signed up to participate, while Joe Salazar played the guitar. We are all looking forward to a great time this year during Old Lincoln Days.

New Mexico not only is among the missing 50 states, but it looks like that Lincoln Town is among the missing also. One of our Lincoln merchants was transacting business with an Albuquerque bank, when a reply was written to the effect that there was a Lincoln County but where did the merchant live? After years of business with this bank!

Beck Angell and Matt Borowski hosted their 3rd annual Borowski Burger Bust for Lincoln Town Saturday night. Mrs. Christina McKinley of Portales and Patricia, Scott, and Daniel Coleman of La Luz were weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap; Mrs. McKinley, mother of Rosalie, had attended the McKinley reunion in Cloudcroft, brought her great-grandchildren to visit their grandparents while their parents Lois and David Coleman attended a Prudential Insurance gathering in El Paso.

Lois picked up the children Sunday morning then they went on to Nogal Lake area to participate in the Poker Run, in which David was participating.

Bert Shrecengost is home for a week in between attending National Guard summer training.

Ralph Dunlap was among those who attended the Alto-Bonito new firehouse open house Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenan Fuller of Corona celebrated their "Golden Wedding" anniversary Sunday at the home of their daughter Mrs. A. J. Gibbs. Those attending from this area were Louise Babers, and Gladys Nosker, Glencoe, Phoebe Taylor, Hondo, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, Lincoln; Frankie Silva, Capitana; and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stearns of Carrizozo. It was great seeing so many friends whom we hadn't seen for a long time. The honored guests received many lovely gifts.

The first pageant practice was held Thursday evening with a very good turnout. Everyone is excited and ready to go. There will be some exciting new additions; new performers (our younger generation is growing up) and of course, some of our standbys, like Dan Storm as Buckshot Roberts, Dave Parks as our MC and Bert Shrecengost as Billy the Kid.

Jerry Burchett returned last week from a three week seminar in the western states.

Walter Henn judged the miniature art show held at the La Luz gallery.

Extension Club News

The La Junta Extension Club met at the Tinnie Community Building for their July meeting last Wednesday, with a covered dish lunch. Letters were read from several candidates thanking the club for hosting a pre-primary Meet Your Candidate program. Donations received that day will go toward the scholarship fund. The County Council meeting will be held Tuesday, Aug. 7 at the Ruidoso Library.

County fair plans were made and Achievement Day plans for September 25 at the Ruidoso First Christian Church, and a progressive housewarming brunch in the new home of Alice Blakestead, Patsy Racher and Donna Crandall Aug. 11.

Evelyn Ashley gave the program on her and her husband Earl's experiences on the Anderson Ranch near the Big Bend Country. They were managers of the ranch on San Ysidro for 10 years from 1964-74. In 1972 they were written in two different issues of the Texas Star. The story on Evelyn was picked up by 178 different news media.

Among Evelyn's duties was to buy supplies for the commissary which supplied all the employees and their families on the ranch which would run into several thousand dollars a month. She also hunted for arrowheads and other Indian artifacts and has quite a collection. The next meeting will be held at the home of Phyllis Zumwalt Aug. 15.

NEW BUSINESS IN CAPTAN - From l. to r. - Jan Covert, Ann Goodwin, Vernon Goodwin, and Ron Smith. Ron Smith & Associates, Realtors, is located on Hwy 380 East next to Hall's Automotive.

Brush tour scheduled by Carrizozo SWCD

The Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors invites all interested people to attend a tour this Saturday, July 28, to see results of aerial treatment of three brush species sprayed with Tebuthiuron. This is a chemical sold as 'Graslan' by Elanco Products Company. It was applied at various rates on yucca on the Bar W Ranch, Wavyleaf Oak on the Walt Wilson Ranch, and on Sand Sage on Gallacher Ranches. Use on yucca and Wavyleaf Oak is being evaluated. It is also being evaluated on juniper in the Claunch-Pinto SWCD near Mountainair. Its use is approved on Sand Sage.

The tour will assemble at 8:00 a.m. in the west Lincoln County Courthouse parking lot in Carrizozo and proceed to the three ranches. It should be completed by noon. Further information may be obtained by calling Bob Hemphill, 648-2500, or Gary Hightower, 648-2460.

NEW LOCATION—Jackie's Cafe opened for business Monday at their new location near the post office. The menu is the same, some new specialties have been added.

LINCOLN CO. SHERIFF'S DEPT.

SIX MONTH REPORT

Sheriff Tom Sullivan reported improvement in the Sheriff's office enforcement action for the first six months of 1984, compared to the first six months report of 1983.

The recovery rate of stolen property in 1984 was 55 percent compared to 27 percent in 1983. During the first six months of 1983 a total of $37,486 in stolen property was recovered from the $138,807 reported stolen. Figures for 1984 are $58,962 recovered from $106,067 stolen property.

Stolen property is down in 1984, recovered stolen property is up in 1984, and the recovery rate is up from 27 percent to 55 percent.

Sullivan believes the night patrol has cut down on stolen property and the implementation of the Investigation Division has increased the recovery rate of stolen property. Also that extra effort on bad checks has reduced the amount of bad checks.

The Sheriff's office has added an Intoxameter for determining the alcohol level of DWI's. This was furnished by the New Mexico Traffic Safety Commission, at no cost to the County, only the cost of maintenance. The machine is computerized and prints out the alcohol level while the test is being conducted. Personnel have attended school for operating the Intoxameter.

Do you have friends or relatives from another state who will be hunting or fishing in New Mexico this year? Do them a favor by making sure they buy a non-resident license if they do not meet New Mexico residency criteria.

A resident license is less expensive than a non-resident license - as much as several hundred dollars less for some big game licenses. So why shouldn't non-residents try to obtain the cheaper license?

The wildlife of New Mexico belongs to the people of this state. The Department of Game and Fish is responsible for managing that wildlife for the citizens of this state. One benefit that we receive as residents of New Mexico is a reduced price for hunting and fishing licenses.

New Mexico loses several hundred thousand dollars annually due to non-residents illegally buying resident licenses. The Game Department is working to stop this drain by conducting investigations of fraudulent purchase of resident licenses. The fine for fraud to secure a resident license is set by state law at $400.00.

Just what is the law concerning residency? A person is a resident of New Mexico if he is a citizen - or a non-US-citizen legally in this country - who has lived here for at least 90 days immediately preceding the license purchase or application AND who does not claim residency in another state for any reason.

Temporary or part-time residents do not meet this requirement; for example, a person who works here for six months, who plans to return to a home in another state, does not qualify as a resident of New Mexico.

State law also gives resident status to some special categories of residents. Any student attending an educational institution in this state, for at least one full term can present a certificate of such attendance and obtain a resident license. Also, military personnel and their families that are permanently assigned to a military installation in New Mexico can present verification from the commanding officer to any license vendor to buy a resident license.

If you have any questions about residency, call the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. By conducting these investigations, the department hopes to protect the privilege that New Mexico residents enjoy in reduced license fees. The extra cost of a non-resident license is small when compared to the fine for violating this law.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the flight training equipment field.

Chaco and Mimbres heartlands. Virtually nothing was discarded until beyond repair and unbroken prehistoric pottery is almost never found in the Pecos district. Harvests were smaller and no great granaries have ever been unearthed.

Wild plant foods supplemented the corn harvest. In some areas acorns from scrubby "shinnery oak" were collected and ground into paste. Grass seeds, berries, and the carbohydrate-rich hearts of mesquite cactus were all prized.

Large game was very scarce—as it was throughout the state between A.D. 1050 and 1100. What meat there was, came primarily from rabbits, tortoises, prairie dogs, mice, ground-squirrels, and even lizards.

About A.D. 1100, the Pecos settlements began to create more of their own pottery types and economic attachments to western New Mexico evaporated. Great quantities of a cooking ware known as "Roswell Brown" were suddenly found in the Fort Sumner area, indicating the growth of strong social and economic networks along the length of the valley. Women made pottery—Fort Sumner Indian men were probably taking wives from the Roswell area.

A boldly decorated local pottery, "Chupadero Black-on-white", replaced western imports. It was manufactured at many villages from the White Sands and Mountainair on the west to Fort Sumner and Carlsbad on the east. The area around the charming present-day village of Lincoln was probably the geographic center of the vast Chupadero pottery country. Variations of this pottery were manufactured for centuries along the western approaches to the Pecos Valley.

But times change. By A.D. 1250 agricultural life was fading along the River and corn had become a rare harvest. Though not every inch of the Valley has been investigated, archeologists know of only four sites between Fort Sumner and Roswell which were inhabited during the A.D. 1200's. Virtually no fancy pottery wares were imported, but quantities of Bison bone have been found in each site.

About A.D. 1300, after decades of drought, Bison herds and tall grass reappeared along the Pecos, seducing local farmers to abandon the soil and turn to hunting.

For 500 years, between A.D. 1350 and 1850, buffalo camps—including Apache, Comanche, and Ute—replaced farmsteads along the middle Pecos River. Those who persisted in tilling the land first withdrew to the cool Sacramento highlands between Ruidoso and Corona, then, by A.D. 1400, again moved westward to the wide valley of the Rio Grande.

From historical accounts we know that New Mexico's surviving Pueblo farmers both feared and romanticized tribes of buffalo hunters on the eastern plains. No doubt they were both horrified and fascinated by a rough-and-tumble system of "Law EAST of the Pecos."

+Editor's Note: Dr. David Stuart is the author of Prehistoric New Mexico. A self-employed anthropologist, he lives in Albuquerque.

"The Star Spangled Banner" bore another name when it was first published in 1814—it was called "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

As many as 90 couples of African social weaver birds may join to build a huge community nest—a nest version-of-the-modern-apartment-house.
