

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET—

$68,000 in co-op funds lost

By RUTH HAMMOND
Lincoln County Commissioners met in regular session last Thursday to canvass the votes in the special primary election the 18th, to open bids, and sign agreements.
Triadic, Inc. of Deming had the overall low bid for tax forms. Foam America of Las Cruces submitted the low bid of $43,314 to reroof New Horizons Developmental Center building, Casa del Sol group home, and the am-balance barn. The county had budgeted $25,000 for reroofing. The remainder will come from General Funds.

County Manager Suzanne Cox said, "The county has sufficient funds in the general fund for a budget increase."
A technical services contract between New Horizons Developmental Center and Carrizozo Health Center was signed. The contract, same as last year, becomes effective

Sept. 6, 1984 and terminates Sept. 6, 1985. The Health Center agrees to provide medical and dental care, consultation with staff, participation in program planning and health care development and all necessary documentation, and emergency dispensing of medication for New Horizons for $5,000 per year.
A letter of agreement was signed between Lincoln County and the Nogal Mutual Domestic Water Consumers and Mutual Sewage Works Association for the improvement program for the Nogal domestic water system. The county will administer the funds received from the Community Development Block Grant and the Water Supply Construction Act Grant.

A contract for library services was signed. The New Mexico State Library will provide regularly scheduled bookmobile services for the sum of $1,400. The bookmobile will be in the area again Oct. 9 and 10. The schedule will be in the News next week.

A statement of assurances certification form was signed to assure the Director of the Office of Revenue Sharing that Lincoln County will comply with the requirements of the Revenue Sharing Act. The assurance was signed in order to qualify the county to receive Revenue Sharing payments during the period from Oct. 1, 1984 to Sept. 30, 1985.

Resolution no. 73-4 named County Manager Suzanne Cox as the agent to obtain certain Federal financial assistance under the Disaster Relief Act from the President's Disaster Relief Fund. Cox said several sites in Hondo Valley, the arroyos in Capitan, and some culverts in subdivisions will qualify for disaster funds.
County Road Superintendent

Earl Krieg said the roads were in good shape until the rain Friday. Carrizo and other roads are being patched. Work has started on the S curve at Pine Meadows.
Resolutions were signed to consolidate absentee voter precincts. In Lincoln County Legislative Representative District No. 52 is: Nogal Precinct No. 2, Carrizozo Precinct No. 3, Carrizozo Precinct No. 4, Corona Precinct No. 5, and Angus Precinct No. 12. Legislative Representative District No. 57 is: Capitan Precinct in No. 1. Legislative Representative District No. 56 is: Ruidoso Precinct No. 11, Ruidoso Precinct No. 13, Ruidoso Precinct No. 14, Ruidoso Downs Precinct No. 15, San Patricio Precinct No. 16, and Hondo Precinct No. 17.

A request for disaster relief aid from the Pine Lodge Club for the road that goes through the cabin area was received. The road is on forest land and does not qualify for disaster relief. Reimbursement funds must come from the Forest Dept.
Co-op agreement reports include: Work on Carrizozo Country Club and Ancho roads, a total of $11,938.03 received from the state; Work on Sun Valley Road completed, total amount filed was $32,163.13 on Sept. 4. The county should receive half that amount when the state has time to process the papers; Work completed on Bonito Road. Total amount filed was $34,377.89. State has not had time to process since it was filed Sept. 10. Work completed on school bus route, Mesa Verde. Total amount filed $48,041.34. Received $48,041.34 on April 13.

Co-op work on Cedar Creek and County Road C-020 Nogal was not complete and these road projects were terminated. The co-op agreements were signed in August 1982. No chip sealing was done in 1982 as it was too late in the year to start chip sealing. Work in 1983 was stopped one month early because of drop in temperature and rain. Rain hindered part of the work in 1984. More than $68,000 was lost in co-op funds due to the work not being completed.
When the county receives a chip seal co-op as late in the year as August, it is difficult to complete the work in the time allotted. Work was not started until June 1983. Nine months of the 18 months contract were gone before work could begin.

Commissioners agreed that co-op work should receive the number one priority.
The county has filed $28,299.97 for work done on Gavilan Canyon Road and should receive 60 percent from the state. Future work on Gavilan Canyon Road is to be furnished by the Village of Ruidoso.
Commission Chairman John Hightower said the county will cooperate with village Street Superintendent Jack LaMay. He went on to say the village and Highway Department had held a scoping meeting to discuss how Gavilan Canyon Road should be built and did not invite Lincoln County officials to the meeting. Most of Gavilan Canyon Road is a county road with the county being responsible for working on it.

Lease agreements were signed for buildings for the Zia Senior Citizens Center in Capitan, Carrizozo, and Corona. The municipalities own the buildings and lease them to the

EL PASO—

99er's beautify C'zozo Airport

By RUTH HAMMOND
Special thanks goes to the El Paso chapter of the national organization of 99'ers for painting 'CARRIZOZO EL 5370' with letters 20 feet high on the runway of the Carrizozo Municipal Airport.
The painting was made easier with the help of students from Joe DeTevis' art class from the high school. The students received art credit for time spent at the airport marking the letters with chalk to be ready to be painted Saturday.

It took 45 gallons of paint to fill in the 20 foot high letters for a length of 285 feet on the runway.
Five airplanes landed at the airport, before it officially closed at 10 a.m. Saturday, bringing the 99'ers and their guests to do the work.

The 99'ers are licensed lady pilots with a love for flying and the energy to work out in the sun to complete a project for community beautification and flight safety. They wielded paint rollers with four foot long handles in an effort to get more paint on the runway than on themselves.

Amelia Earheart was the first president of the 99'ers. There were 99 women pilots in the organization at that time and they named themselves the 99'ers. A total of 6,000 women pilots are now members in chapters throughout the United States. A woman must be a licensed pilot to be a 99'er.

The 99'ers have projects for community beautification and flight safety. Painting the letters on the Carrizozo is one such project. The El Paso chapter has won awards two of the last five years from the national organization for completing the most projects.

Three of the 99'ers brought husbands to help paint and one brought her daughter. 99'ers here Saturday were: Didi Shaffer, Marsha Mascorro, Suzie Azar and her daughter Christi, Lynn Stover, Estella Teran, Freda Young and husband Jim, 99'ers president Louise Austin, Betty Ligon, Edna Lavezzari and husband Gus, and Margaret Thompson and husband Bill. Carrie Staley, a student pilot and member of the 66'ers, was here to help paint. Mary Spencer of Carrizozo is a member of the 99'ers and provided a barbecue lunch to all the workers as well as painting.

Three of the high school students were on hand to assist with the painting and preparing lunch. Gladys Hobbs, Tommy Escamilla, and Troy Hollis worked Saturday. The other art students who helped mark the letters are Marion Wilkerson, Daniel Zamora and Liz Beltran. Airport manager Mel Carl, his wife Mame, and son Chuck spent many hours helping get the runway ready to paint, painting, cleaning up, and other work.

Paint for the project was donated with Wellborn Paint of Albuquerque donating 35 gallons of paint, White Sands Regional Airport donating 15 gallons of paint and other donations being accepted also.

A yellow smiley face is painted on the eastern end of the runway. Carrizozo residents should be smiling and saying thanks to the high school art class students, the Carl family, Wellborn Paint, White Sands Regional Airport, other donations of paint and time, as well as to a group of 12 women pilots with a total of 115 years of flying experience, three of their husbands, one daughter, and one observer for a job well done.

BROWNIES PLAN PROJECTS

Twenty-one girls in grades first through third are registered in Brownies this year. Troop 12 meets every Monday immediately after the end of the school day. The Brownies begin by sharing refreshments, a treat after a long day of school work. This is followed by a business meeting (project planning) and playing of games.

Last year the troop participated in the community's clean-up day. They will again pitch in when the time to spruce up the town arrives. Meanwhile their upcoming plans include a hike at the Valley of Fires State Park. Their tour guide will be John Northrop, park ranger. The Northrop family reside at the park and recently moved to our area.

Leader of Brownie Troop 12 is Charlene Brown. She is assisted by Carol Northrop. On the troop's agenda is a Christmas project to benefit the community. PARTICIPATE AT BANQUET

Ann Withers, president of the Canyon Cowbelles and members Ruth Wilson and Jane Shafer were among the 450 people attending the banquet held in conjunction with National Beef Cook-Off held this year in Albuquerque. Those attending the banquet included cowbelles from throughout the state, cook-off contestants and family members of both groups.

Jane played the organ at the banquet and Ruth was in charge of the table decorations. Other Lincoln County cowbelles attending the event included those from the Corona and Capitan areas (Crown and Corriente Cowbelles). In its eleventh year, the Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National Cowbelles, Inc. in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. It is a national contest for non-professional cooks intended to expand awareness of lesser known and more economical cuts of beef and their preparation.

COOK-OFF ACTIVITIES

Activities for the 3-day event (Sept. 9-11) included a vesper service, a barbecue, a tour of the King Ranch and entertainment. Forty-six contestants entered the beef cook-off, with Vickie Wadlington of Tennessee placing first with her Apple-glazed Beef Brisket. First prize was $5,000; second, $2,500; third, $1,000; and five honorable mentions at $300 each.

This year's panel of judges included Merle Ellis (The Butcher); Lee Halken (Weight Watchers); Sue Huffman (Ladies' Home Journal); Linda Anusasananan (Sunset); Eleanor Ostman (St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press); Joyce Rosencrans (The Cincinnati Post) and Pat Hunna (The Rocky Mountain News). The 1985 National Cook-Off will be held in Wichita, Kansas. See your local cowbelle for this year's recipes, listed alphabetically by state in a neat little booklet.

CREATIVE CLUB

Members of the Arts and Crafts Club met September 10 at the REA building. The group made felt parrot pin cushions and worked 'chicken scratch' embroidery on gingham cloth. On hand at this month's meeting were Helen Baker, Earlena Tubbs, Dorothy Current, Ethel Roberts, Catherine Eaker and Madelle McDaniel. Dolly Ward and Catherine Cornett are also members.

The club meets each 2nd Monday of the month at 1:30 p.m. They teach each other skills that they have acquired. They welcome new members to their group.

LAST LAUGH

A farmer and his wife went to the fair. The farmer was fascinated by the airplanes, so he asked a pilot how much it would cost to take a ride. "Ten dollars for three minutes," the pilot said. "But I'll make you a deal. If you and your wife can ride without making a sound, it won't cost you anything. If you say one word, you have to pay the ten dollars."

"Agreed," said the farmer. So they went for the ride. When the pilot landed the plane after the three minutes were up, he said, "I want to congratulate you. You are a very brave man. You didn't say a word."

"Maybe so," said the farmer, "but I almost yelled when my wife fell out."

George Beaudry and Maurice Francis of Capitan wrote a letter to the Commissioners saying they are not comfortable with the Senior Citizens program as administered in Capitan. Beaudry and Francis were at the meeting to voice their discontent. Commissioners explained that the county sponsors Zia, all money goes to the county and the county pays all the bills for Zia. Termed an 'internal problem' by Commissioner Bill Elliott, it was suggested that the men write a letter to the Area Agency on Aging in Clovis for information. Project Director Barbara Ward responded to the charges by saying the services are mandated by the Older Americans Act and must be followed.

Melvin Morris requested work be done on Alpine Village Road. County road crews will work on the road as soon as possible.

An executive session was held for litigation.

When a recess was called for lunch, the court house staff had a potluck dinner with all employees, commissioners, and others enjoying a nice meal before continuing with the meeting.

Capitan News

By MARGARET RENCH

We did have four tenths of an inch of gentle rain last Saturday afternoon. That moisture was appreciated. There was a little wind. Very cold at night, but the killing frost has not arrived to this date. The feel of autumn makes us realize the season.

There were 810 registered visitors from Sept. 17-23. The Tank Tour of 44 people arrived Sept. 18 and the 20th there were 20 from the same tour and they came from everywhere. Then there were the Good Sam Rally at Taswasky RV camp on the weekend. The motorcycle people are coming in for the Festival 28-30 of September. We do appreciate all of those people.

The jr. varsity volleyball girls and the jr. high traveled to Magdalena Saturday. The varsity girls won and the 7th and 8th grade girls lost their game. The junior varsity girls went to Cloudercroft to a tournament Saturday. They won against Cloudercroft, Hagerman and Hondo and losing only to Lake Arthur. The jr. high volleyball team will play Tularosa there Tuesday afternoon. The Smokey Bear Volleyball Tournament will be held in Capitan September 28.

A big truck load of grass seed arrived a few days ago and it was planted in the yards of the new low income housing units on West First and on East Fourth Streets in Capitan. All look as if it has been there for the year, truly does look good.

All Capitan residents need to give all the support possible to the Tiger football players. They may not be having a winning season, but they continue to practice hard and try their best. They need our backup whether they are winning or losing. We need to get our spirit back up to where it should be and help the boys get excited about winning for their town. Getting discouraged only brings them down. Let's all show those kids that we know they are winners even if the scoreboard does not show it. We know they will get it all together and beat some teams. Go Tigers... You can do it.

Robert Runnels and Tom Chaffins made a quick trip to Mexico to check on hunting opportunities. They were shown around a big ranch and really enjoyed their trip.

Marjorie Arrington of Lordsburg, visited with daughter Dona Runnels and family on her way to and from Oklahoma, where she went to care for her ailing brother.

Dale and JoAnn Sprankle former residents of Capitan who have been living in Cloudercroft these last four years are now moving to Rolla, Missouri, September 26.

Roma Eckland, Tommie Allen, and Betty Johnson went to Hagerman last Thursday to watch the junior high football team play. No score on either side.

Though this is late, my good wishes for many more very happy anniversaries is now being sent to Harold and Marjorie Ramsay who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary September 17. Their son Bruce and Cathleen Ramsay of Vermont arrived via plane to add to their happiness. Their neighbors and friends joined them.

This is a remarkable couple. They have a home in Carlsbad. They are building their home here in Capitan on their own and have been for four years and are doing a fine job. Remember this, they were both past 70 years of age when they started. They are very lovely people and a good example. God bless them and give them many more such happy years together.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pew are trying to sell their home and acreage. They have 18 fruit trees, strawberry beds and raspberries etc. A big garden, etc. Mr. Pew says he does not want to leave but his vision is failing and he needs to do something. They are lovely people. We need them here.

Norvell Carpenter of Midland, TX is spending four days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. LaMoyné Carpenter.

John Corn, guide and outfitter of Roswell had a Georgia hunter Mr. Russell who hunted five days and no bear. Couldn't catch one and there was only one hunting day left for the hunter. John called Tom Chaffins the last day. Again Tom Chaffins and Robert Runnels took John and the hunter to east Capitan Mountain. They used Tom's and Robert's dogs. In four hours they caught a 200 pound two tone brown bear which the happy hunter shot.

Mr. Russell plans to come lion hunting with Tom and Robert.

We were grieved at the death of Alice Traylor's brother.

Robert Harry Hubbard passed away September 11, 1984 in Deming, NM. He was born in Lyndonville, VT on October 14, 1910.

Baca's Chapel of the Dawn of Deming, NM conducted the funeral with George Randall officiating. The organist was Gladys Hartson with the soloist, Nina Viramontes. The final resting place was Mountain View Cemetery in Deming. The pallbearers were nephews: Jack Elderidge, Herbert Lee 'Hub' Traylor, Rick Vinyard, Jack Newman, Nelson Welch and Dan Dane.

SELF SUFFICIENT SYSTEM—

Patented by Lemayer

People living in remote area with no power and no utilities have been deprived of the opportunity of taking advantage of solar heating and hot water systems.

development of a system that is totally independent of external power. Ralph Lemayer, an engineer and owner of Alamo Solar Heating in Alamogordo, has created a technological breakthrough with his new Ultima II Solar Heat and Hot Water System.

When asked to 'build a self sufficient system to help with heat and hot water needs' in 1982, Lemayer began months of research. After a number of unsuccessful attempts, simplicity in the application of modern advancements resulted in a foolproof, inexpensive system destined to become the standard of the industry.

Photovoltaic panels generate all the system's energy requirements, making the system totally independent of external power. The only moving parts in the entire system are two 59 cent brushes in the pump assembly. Entirely dependent upon solar energy, the unit is self-perpetuating.

Lemayer has patented his invention and has received offers for patent rights. It is his intent that residents of Lincoln and Otero Counties have the opportunity to save on utility bills by making use of the FREE energy that bounces off their roof every day.

AF graduate

Airman Patricia L. Frost, daughter of Victor E. and Susan P. Clark of Ruidoso, NM, has graduated from the US Air Force administrative specialist course at Keester Air Force Base, Miss.

Graduates of the six-week course, learned how to prepare Air Force correspondence and reports, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

RALPH LEMAYER - an engineer and owner of Alamo Solar Heating in Alamogordo, shows the patent he received after developing a new standard for the solar industry. Lemayer's system generates all its own power and out-performs other systems in the industry.

We Appreciate

Having a railroad has always been one of our greatest assets in Carrizozo, and today as a crew changing point on the Southern Pacific we again feel the boost to our economy. Railroad methods have changed immensely since those days back when this picture was made.

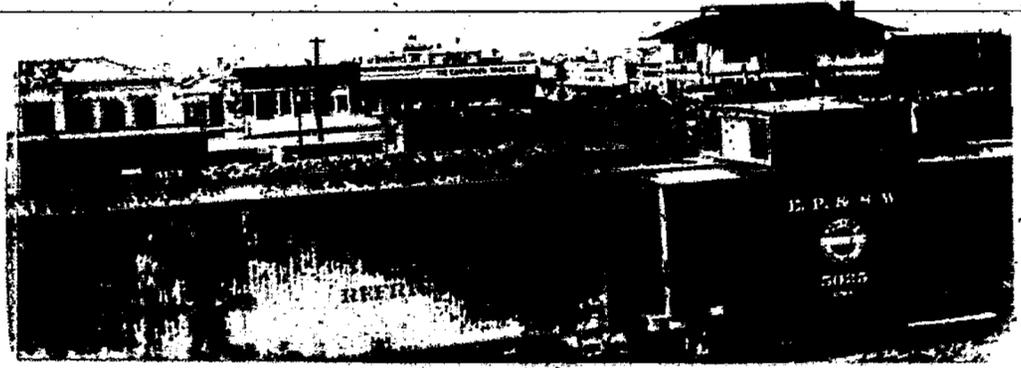

Banking methods have changed too—the mechanics of banking in the computer age are quite different from hand posting accounts as in the past. We accept and welcome improved techniques in banking as in railroading.

One way we believe we still have not changed is in recognizing and appreciating the many customers we serve. When you find a need for one of our banking services, please pay a visit to one of our offices, either in CARRIZOZO, VAUGHN or ESTANCIA and very soon we will be banking out of a NEW branch in MORIARTY. Rural banking helps people to know their neighbors and when time permits enjoy with us and your neighbors our spacious bank lobby.

OPINION...

"If there were no bad people, there would be no good lawyers."

--Charles Dickens

● THE US is blessed with a surplus of lawyers. For 250 million people we have more than 600,000 lawyers, said to be more lawyers than in the rest of the world combined. By contrast, Japan has fewer than 20,000 lawyers for its 120 million people. So how do we keep our lawyers employed?

● THE Rev. Rick Hahn of the Sebastopol Christian Church may have discovered part of the answer to that question. In a recent newsletter he discussed a lawsuit filed against Grace Community Church near Los Angeles and its pastor, John MacArthur, by parents of a young man who committed suicide several weeks after having been counseled by the Rev. MacArthur. It is not likely that Mr. MacArthur counseled the man to kill himself, but he is now a defendant for having dispensed the advice which, by his calling, he is obliged to provide for those who seek it.

● A LADY lawyer in a DA's office was transferred from one office to another against her wishes. She stirred up such a revolution over the transfer that she was fired. It took two levels of courts and $50,000 before it came before the Supreme Court, which ruled that an employer doesn't have to retain a dissident employee who creates havoc in his office. We need a Supreme Court to rule on such nonsense?

● IN Modesto, CA a strap manufacturer had to pay $1 million to an aggrieved man who was injured while running a footrace with a refrigerator strapped to his back. The strap broke and the refrigerator injured the man, causing him to lose the footrace, thereby denying him his right to the pursuit of his idiotic dream of happiness.

● IN San Francisco (surprise!) a woman who said she suffered mental anguish because a hairdresser gave her an unsatisfactory haircut has filed suit for an appropriate number of millions. Before the haircut on Sept. 24, 1983 she said she was "able-bodied and capable of gainful employment." No longer.

● EVERYWHERE, it appears, the courts are taking up where the social, economic and political hucksters have left off in the fight for enforced distribution of the wealth. You yank it from those who have and bestow it upon those who don't have. Columnist Mike Royko reports on the fellow who sued a dogcatcher for locking up his mutt. Municipal workers are suing their supervisors for not promoting them. Students now sue their teachers for giving them poor grades. Even egos and tender sensibilities must be soothed to a common acceptable level.

● AL Cosentino, long associated with drugs, defied a police order to halt. Instead, he opened fire on the officers. Officers returned the fire. Doctors saved this miscreant by removing 19 shotgun pellets and bullets from his hide, after which he was booked for kidnapping, assaulting a cop and assault with a deadly weapon. Recovered, he filed suit in federal court claiming his civil rights were punctuated in the gunfight, and that $50,000 will make him whole and happy again.

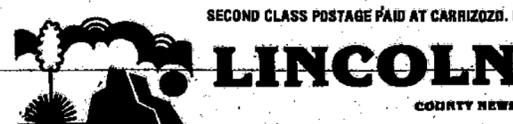

● IN New York a journalism professor has sued the CIA, FBI and the US government for $10 million for their having compiled a report 40 years ago that found him to be a "security risk." Also in New York, a woman wants another $10 million because she claims her dead husband was buried in an undersized casket. In Los Angeles the school board forked over $1.35 of taxpayers' money to ACLU and NAACP lawyers who argued busing was a legitimate tool to desegregate city schools—even though Prop. 1 had halted mandatory busing and ended arguments in the case. A Minnesota petty thief persuaded a jury it was unnecessary for a farmer to have shot him in the foot after he had looted the farmer's car. With the damage money awarded him he won't have to steal anything for years.

● AT ANY given moment about half of America is suing the other half.

● RECENTLY, California Sen. Nicholas Petris introduced SB 2314 which would put any company executive in jail if he is associated with a product that "is likely to cause injury to anyone. Suppose you manufacture chairs. People often injure themselves with chairs. Some jump of them and are injured. Justly or unjustly, people get hit over the head with chairs. The California Manufacturers Assn., which opposed the bill, says Petris claims the "bill doesn't apply if the danger does not arise out of a normal or anticipated use of the product." CMA also points out that present California law is that a product must also stand up to "certain mususes of the product." Too, the Petris bill does not take into consideration that California courts are now presided over by hundreds of screwball judges appointed by former Gov. Jerry Brown, including that attractive judicial loony, Chief Justice Rose Bird.

● IT now becomes clear how 600,000 lawyers are expected to survive... through bad laws, bad juries, bad judges and bad people.

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON — By LES KINSOLVING

PUBLIC RADIO SUPPORTS REELECTION EFFORT OF CONGRESSIONAL CHILD MOLESTER

WASHINGTON — Among its other exploits, the taxpayer subsidized National Public Radio has:

+ Broadcast a half-hour tribute to Karl Marx's anniversary;

+ Broadcast a commentary by terrorist Bernardine Dohrn's boyfriend, Bill Ayres, which contended that the real terrorism is in the US Navy's submarines; and

+ Expressed the regret of one resident of Washington that John Hinckley merely wounded and did not kill President Reagan.

Now "National Marxist Radio" has hit a new low. On the day after Labor Day, it broadcast what amounted to an unpaid political announcement on behalf of the reelection campaign of Democratic Congressman Gary Studds of Massachusetts.

Studds is the self-avowed Sodomist who is not in the least repentant about having bugged one male Congressional page and having tried to seduce two more.

This creature was censured by a nearly unanimous vote of the heavily Democratic and strongly liberal House of Representatives.

But NPR, in a more than apparent effort to raise national pro-homosexual contributions for Studds, cheerfully, affirmed that there is yet hope for this child-molester's reelection.

As "evidence" of this hope, NPR's Boston affiliate, WBUR, covered a September debate in New Bedford between Studds and his leading Democratic Primary rival, Sheriff Peter Flynn of Plymouth County.

Studds arrived in New Bedford accompanied by a number of supporters. Early in the debate, when Sheriff Flynn raised the issue of Studds's censure, this claque boomed loudly. This was noted carefully by NPR when Flynn brought up the issue again by asking Studds:

"What is the difference between what you did to a Congressional page and a school teacher who molests one of his students?"

NPR's recording of the boing sounds as if the entire crowd is boing Flynn. But reporter Maureen Boyle of The New Bedford Standard Times, who covered the debate, said that the loud boing came from no more than one-third of the audience of 1,000 to 1,500 people.

The WBUR reporter, Carol Rissman (a Newman Fellow at Harvard), did not mention this decisive factor. This left national NPR listeners with the distinct impression that the whole crowd up there in New Bedford believes it is somehow wrong and terrible for a Congressman to be called to account for his record of having seduced a sixteen year old boy.

Boston, where this NPR travesty originate, used to be renowned for an opposite extreme: banning books. Now Boston, or at least the National Public Radio affiliate there, has, instead of banning books, or baking beans, opted for boosting a lugger.

In the Bronx, thirty-nine children in six day care centers have been raped, sodomized and beaten up by adults with a sexual orientation to children. District Attorney Mario Merolo has announced that one of the victims is a five year old girl who is now suffering from gonorrhea of the throat.

But the Democratic Party platform, chaired by Geraldine Ferraro, promises an end to discrimination against all sexual orientation.

And National Public Radio is using your taxes and mine in order to campaign for the reelection of this child molester to Congress.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

BY Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—The state's largest daily newspaper combined two facts into one story: Toney Anaya was named a national vice chairman for Walter Mondale, and Toney Anaya's popularity in New Mexico has reached a low ebb. That wasn't just smart-aleck journalism. The two pieces of information relate to one another to make a single whole.

Net effect of joining the two is to imply a strong strain of cynicism. If a man is unable to sell his own programs, in which he presumably believes deeply, to his own citizens, to whom he has access 365 days a year, how effective will that same man be in aiding a candidate who must come from behind to win?

Or you could put it this way: If Mondale isn't a born loser, why would he pick a loser as his confidant?

ROLE REVERSAL: That word "loser" is not one that could have been used of Toney Anaya two years ago.

Just prior to the election of 1982 he was coming on strongly, preparing to win by a sizeable majority—one so large, in fact, that it heartened the Democrats, who won everything in New Mexico that year, to believe that a renaissance was at hand.

What has happened to so turn the picture around in those 24 months?

Well, in the first place, Anaya turned out to be a first-class campaigner and fourth-class governor. Most of his initiatives never got off the ground.

He entered office with a great reservoir of good will. Most New Mexicans appeared to wish him well and to find him a breath of fresh air after the more or less stagnant Bruce King regime.

In two years that political capital has been so badly dissipated that the latest poll taken for an Albuquerque television station shows that only about one in four New Mexicans believes Anaya is doing a satisfactory job in the post to which they elected him.

That's probably a record low for any governor the state has ever had.

HOLLOW LANGUAGE: It's also what makes the Mondale appointment seem even more of a sham.

If Anaya couldn't even carry his own state for that candidate, what possible help can he be around the nation?

Well, the group Mondale chose tells why Toney's name is on the list. One is a black from New York, one is a highly successful campaign fundraiser from California and a third is a Polish woman. That should give more than a strong suggestion that our Governor is the token Hispanic in the post to which he was named.

Some may find that exciting—that his presence suggests the Democrats have finally realized they must cling to their Hispanic support. Others will simply find it demeaning—that a man should be chosen for little other reason than his ethnic background. Some see being patronized as almost as offensive as being discriminated against.

PREDICTIONS: Will all this help Mondale's chances? Almost certainly not.

You could make a good case for the fact that virtually all minds have already been made up in the presidential race.

The realists among Democrats will say it as quickly as hardshell Republicans will. Reagan will carry New Mexico and the West, probably by one of the widest margins any presidential candidate has ever built up here, no matter what Toney Anaya does or fails to do.

Taking The Bite Out Of The Bear.

Even during bull markets, some Wall Street investors worry about the bear showing up to take a bite out of them. But you can get the best of the bull and take the bite out of the bear, if you join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Bonds have a variable interest rate that lets you share in higher returns during bull markets and a guaranteed minimum to protect you against the bear.

Bonds give you the best of both markets. Because you know that if the bear should appear, his growl will be worse than his bite.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY

by Sandra A. Grisham

A power of attorney can be a very useful tool... and it can also be a legal dynamite. A power of attorney is a written document which you give to another person to enable them to do some act on your behalf. That person becomes your "attorney in fact". For instance, if you are out of town when a real estate transaction is to close, then you can give another person a power of attorney to sign the necessary documents on your behalf. Powers of attorney that effect real estate must be recorded with the county clerk.

Usually, a power of attorney is acknowledged (signed before a notary public), and in writing. There are two main types of powers of attorney: special and general. A special power of attorney gives the person you designate the authority to do a specific act set forth in the power of attorney. The person to whom you give the power can only do what is stated in the document.

A general power of attorney usually gives the person to whom the power is given the authority to do any and all acts which you could do in person, and normally ratifies and approves all acts of the person taken on your behalf. A general power of attorney should be used sparingly and given only to a person in whom you have the utmost trust.

A power of attorney terminates upon the death of the "principal" - the person who gives the power. Therefore, you cannot use a power of attorney as a substitute for a will because the moment you die the power would be terminated as a matter of law.

Although the general law in New Mexico also provides that a power of attorney terminates upon the disability of the principal, the state legislature in 1976 adopted what is known as a durable power of attorney. A durable power of attorney specifies that it is not to be affected by the disability of the principal. You can give a durable power of attorney to a trusted friend or relative to be used only in the event you become disabled to the extent that you can no longer manage your affairs. This would eliminate the necessity for a court-appointed conservator and would also ensure that a you choose who will be managing your affairs.

The person to whom you give your power of attorney has a duty under the law to exercise good faith in using the power of attorney. He or she can be held accountable for acts done to your detriment or against your instructions. Even so, it is wise to put a termination date on most powers of attorney. This allows you to keep track of what you give and have done instead of being surprised when someone to whom you give a general power of attorney ten years earlier suddenly sells your house. A power of attorney can be a very useful document for many purposes. However, because of the many possible pitfalls, you should always consult with your attorney before you decide to use a power of attorney.

C'zozo too much for Bears, in easy 36-0 victory

The undefeated Carrizozo Grizzly football team traveled to Estancia last Friday night expecting a tough game — but came away with an easy 36-0 victory. The victory left the undefeated Grizzlies at 3-0 for the young season heading into this Friday night's homecoming game with Anthony, TX.

Coach Dennis Sidebottom praised his offensive line for giving his backs the opportunity to pop through the line untouched most of the night. Meanwhile the Grizzly defense kept the Bears offense in check throughout the game. The Grizzly defense now ranks 2nd in the state allowing a stingy 2 pts. per game.

The Grizzly offense led by running backs Stevie Stearns and Kenneth Crenshaw is now averaging a whopping 37.2 pts. per game — also ranked number 2 in class 'A' football.

Stearns got the Grizzlies off to a fast start by scooting in from the 4-yard line early in the opening period — PAT no good. Stearns added another score later on in the period by scampering 78 yards for his second six-pointer of the night — a 2-point PAT run by quarter-back Dominic Vega made it 14-0 after the first quarter. Stearns (the state's leading rusher with 627 yards) gained 250 yards on 19 carries for the night and added a 2-point conversion in the 3rd period.

Jr. Ken Crenshaw took over the scoring chores during the last three-quarters for the Grizzlies and hit paydirt in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th quarters. He scored on a 54-yard run in the second period — a 4-yard run in the 3rd period — and finished off the scoring with a 73-yard scamper in the final period. Crenshaw ended up with 175 yards on 11 carries for the night.

This Friday the Grizzly squad will be hosting the (2-1) team from Anthony, TX. This will be the homecoming for the local squad with the 1984 homecoming queen scheduled to be crowned during half-time ceremonies. Other homecoming activities include a homecoming parade Friday afternoon which is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

In other class 'A' football the Tatum Coyotes remained undefeated by beating up on Cloudercroft by a 41-14 count — and Hagerman dropped Capitan 26-7.

Another Lincoln County team remained undefeated when the Ruidoso Warriors surprised arch rival Tularosa 28-6. The game left Ruidoso 3-0 in the season.

Tigerette Invite

The 7th edition of the popular Tigerette Invitational Volleyball Tournament is drawing near. Action begins at 9 a.m. Saturday morning with the Tigerettes as defending champions. Capitan edged by Socorro last year in a very hard fought match. Joining these 2 teams in the tournament are Elida, Ft. Sumner, Hondo, Carrizozo, Magdalena, and Quemado. Best bets to watch should be the Elida Tigresses, Fort Sumner Vixens, Socorro Warriors, and the Tigerettes.

This year's format will be a little bit different from previous years. All matches will be determined by the best 3 out of 5 games needed to determine the winner.

The host Tigerettes have 5 returning seniors. The squad also includes 4 juniors and 1 sophomore.

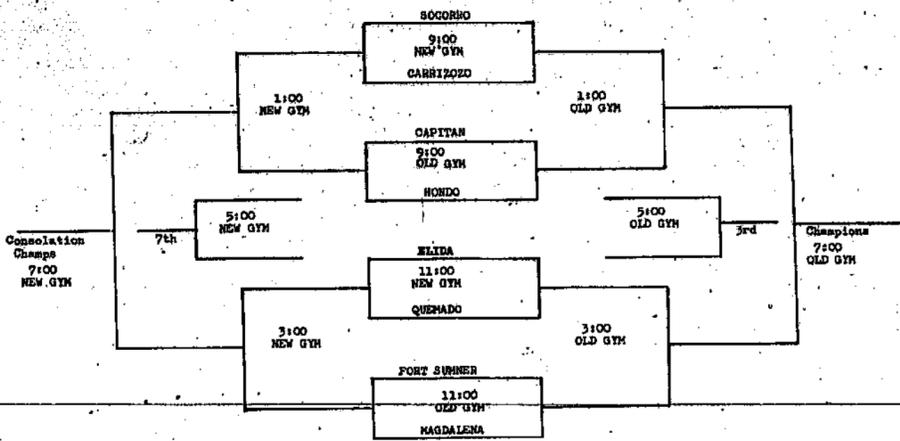

Trophy plaques are being donated by the Ruidoso State Bank and by Norman Renfro (Smokey Bear Motel) — Adults - $3.00, students - $2.00. These prices are good for all day.

Late comers should be sure to see the championship match scheduled for 7 p.m.

BOW TO HAGERMAN—

Penalties, mistakes hamper Tigers

Five pass interceptions by the Hagerman Bobcats and 3 key penalties aided the Bobcats in defeating the Tigers last Friday night 27-6. The action took place in Hagerman.

Capitan scored first with 9 minutes left in the 2nd quarter. This was set up when the Bobcats fumbled a punt return. The big gainer was a 30 yard pass reception by Troy Padilla. The Tigers failed to convert the PAT and it was Capitan 6, Hagerman 0.

In a drive marked with numerous penalties the Bobcats scored with 4:49 left in the half. Hagerman ran the ball in for 2 points and the Bobcats took the lead, 8-6.

A Tiger drive stalled near the Hagerman goal line when the Bobcats intercepted a Tiger pass with just seconds left in the half. This was the turning point in the game.

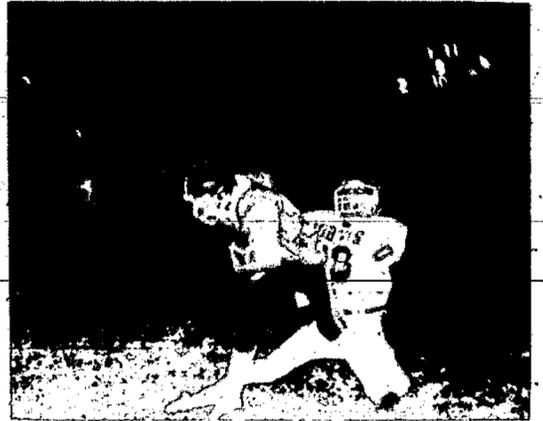

Hagerman added scores with 49 seconds left in the 3rd quarter; with 5 minutes left in the game, and 2:52 left in the contest. Final score - Hagerman 27, Capitan 6.

Total yardage: Hagerman 209 all by rushing. Capitan, passing - 184, rushing - 219.

First Downs: Capitan 16, Hagerman 12.

Coach Thompson stated "I feel that with the exception of mistakes we have played well enough to win our last 2 games." The Tigers have an open date on the calendar this weekend and are preparing to meet the Demons in Dexter on Oct. 5.

Interesting Fact: Coach Gary Thompson's mother, Irene, is a fine golfer. Mrs. Thompson has won the last two tournaments she's played in.

CAPITAN MISTAKES cause loss - An unidentified Tiger is shown being tackled at Hagerman last Friday night. The statistics favored the Tigers but the scoreboard was all Hagerman. Hagerman 27, Capitan 6.

THE CARRIZOZO Grizzly varsity volleyball team is 2-4 on the season and has shown great improvement in its last 3 games after dropping their first three matches of the season. The varsity is coached by Mrs. Ericka Ventura who is in her first year at the helm. Team picture shown here has—Front Row: (l. to r.) Sylvia Archuleta, Melissa Greer, Luann Zamora and Judy Villesca. Back Row: (l. to r.) Julie Vega, coach Ventura, Karri Askew, Lynn Gallacher, Vicki Vermillion, Liz Beltran and Jamie Patterson.

ASK DR. DAN

My doctor sent me to a specialist for a complication of my heart problem. I would rather see him than the specialist. Should I go? N. C.

There are several good reasons why your doctor may send you to see a specialist. The most common reason is if you have need of the special knowledge and skills of the specialist. Physicians can no longer be competent to take care of every kind of problem. The explosion in medical knowledge makes it difficult for even specialists to keep current with the many advances in their fields.

It is important to realize the distinction between a consultation and a referral. When you are sent for a consultation, the specialist is supposed to make or confirm the diagnosis of the problem and to recommend treatment to your personal physician and you. You return to your family doctor for follow up care. A referral means that the specialist is to assume responsibility for treatment of your problem and will follow you while you are under active treatment. Your family doctor may continue to monitor the problem for the specialist and will provide care for your other medical problems.

Another reason for obtaining consultation is if you are not responding satisfactorily to the treatment of your family doctor. The problem may be an incorrect diagnosis, a complication of the illness or the need for special treatment facilities not available to your physician.

Personality conflicts between physician and patient are a reason for referral if they cannot be solved by frank discussion. If the quality of care is being compromised by such conflicts, then the referral is indicated.

In regard to your question, I would urge you to talk to your personal physician about your concerns and find out the reasons for the referral. Honest and open discussions between physician and patient about these issues will prevent misunderstandings and improve the quality of care provided.

Send questions to Dr. Dan, Box 8, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

The romance of archeology

It is July, hot as blazes, and a client is paying us to investigate the route for a 100-mile long pipeline. Federal law requires us to locate, record, and identify all archeological remains. This is tedious work; you simply walk every foot of it.

Fifty bucks a day—that is what we are paid to live with blistered feet, lukewarm water, and sand meals eaten from tin cans. We try to think of it as the "romance of archeology". Yet, as our boots crunch endlessly in the rocky soil, neither my partner, John Broster, nor I feel much like Indiana Jones today.

Finally, we have found a site and are busy mapping and recording information at a small "pithouse" dug by an Anasazi farming family in the late A.D. 800's. With a powerful pocket lens, John is inspecting stone flakes discarded during tool manufacture. The nature of microscopic abrasions or "edge wear" on these tell the archeologist much about daily tasks completed long ago.

Rory Gauthier, the third member of our team, arrives in the supply truck while we are still engrossed. Today, it is his turn to drive while John and I walk. A native New Mexican, Rory's knowledge of prehistoric pottery is impressive. He sets off to gather and analyze shards of boldly designed pottery.

Meanwhile, John repositions the pickup to create a narrow patch of shade where we will rest and eat lunch. Today's menu calls for peanut butter and jelly sandwiches but we can't find the peanut butter. Eventually, John discovers it among odds and ends in the bed of the truck. Using his folded bandana to twist off the jar's scorching hot lid, he pours the peanut butter directly onto sourdough buns. As we end our meal, Rory joins us.

Ahead lie deep arroyos that can't be crossed with the truck, and the dirt pipeline road we have been following is washed out. Rory must leave us, carefully picking his way across-country, then join us on the other side.

We consult our maps and decide to meet about five miles ahead where a dirt road again crosses the pipeline. In preparation we stuff oranges into our packs and fill an extra canteen. Our government maps are old—if that dirt road no longer exists—we are going to have a rough day.

The truck's radio blares the news and weather: "It is 2:00 o'clock and the temperature is one-hundred and three degrees in downtown Gallup." Here in this sandy arroyo country, it is even hotter!

Rory is ready to negotiate the washed-out section of pipeline road just ahead. It has been deeply undercut by recent rains and all that remains is a fragile shelf jutting out from the side of the hill. Carefully, Rory maneuvers the truck onto the ledge. John and I walk behind, ready to pull him from the cab if he rolls it. But Rory is skilled—finally, the pickup reaches solid ground at the base of the hill, and disappears, wheels spinning, in a spray of churning sand.

Suddenly alone, we move on. There is no crunching of boots now—only the occasional sound of a little shower of sand kicked up by a lazy step. Later, as we tire and drag our feet, we will hear it continually.

There appear to be no sites in this wasteland, not even small scatters of artifacts. The walk is hot and boring. Soon we reach the first big arroyo.

Good grief! No wonder Rory couldn't continue; it must be 20 feet to the bottom—loose sand all the way. Digging heels into the arroyo's sandy wall, we slide to the bottom in an avalanche of sand.

John finds traces of charcoal and bits of pottery exposed in one wall. There are prehistoric sites in this area, hidden by 10 to 15 feet of soil washed down from a huge mesa to the north.

Getting out of the arroyo is not as easy as getting in. But John Broster isn't a legend in this business for nothing—out of his pack comes a collapsible army surplus trenching tool! Because no hand holds can be gotten into the loose sand, John plunges the blade in deep and pulls himself up a few feet, repeating the operation.

Eventually he disappears over the top and tosses the shovel down to me, shouting, "Heads up!"

Once across, we rest a few minutes and sip at our canteens. It is important to drink small amounts of water every 15 minutes or so to prevent dehydration. I am crusted with perspiration and take a salt tablet, ridding the nausea that sometimes follows. This is no place to faint in your own tracks. It is 3:30 and the afternoon sun is blinding. We see no sites at all so we slog on through the sand nearly a mile to the next arroyo.

At 4:35 we are lying exhausted on the arroyo's far bank. We are low on water and our feet are swollen. My lips have cracked so badly that they are bleeding. More arroyos lie ahead and Rory is nowhere in sight.

Believe me! At that point, John and I would have much preferred to be at a matinee watching Indiana Jones...

Nat'l 4-H Week is Oct. 7-13

LAS CRUCES -- National 4-H Week is set for Oct. 7-13. During the week 4-H members and volunteer leaders will join with Extension faculty in New Mexico in promoting this out-of-school educational program.

"Window displays, speeches to clubs around the state and local proclamations as well as a proclamation by New Mexico Gov. Toney Anaya will focus on our program for young people," said Dr. Bob Gilliland, assistant director for 4-H and youth development at New Mexico State University.

Thirty-thousand youth in the state currently participate in 4-H, Gilliland said. The most popular educational projects, according to enrollment figures, are foods and nutrition, personal development, bicycle safety, horse and pony, and sheep projects, he said. Many other projects, as diverse as computers and archery, are offered, he said.

NMSU faculty members at the State 4-H Office and Extension faculty in each of New Mexico's 33 counties coordinate the programs. But the widespread 4-H effort would not be possible without adults and older youth who serve as volunteer leaders, Gilliland said.

About three years ago, 4-H began seeking people experienced in specific subjects who could become key leaders. Their job is to train others to lead programs.

The key leader program is supported by a $1,000 "Salute to Excellence" grant from the R. J. Reynolds Company. The grant supports travel by key leaders to the county or district training sessions they teach.

"Our key leaders have reached many more people with educational training programs than our staff could," said Glenn Bartelt, a state 4-H program leader and coordinator of the key leader program.

New Mexico 4-H key leaders and their areas of expertise are:

Kit Cornelius of Socorro and Katherine Pearson of Albuquerque, horse; Sally Gamble of Albuquerque, dog; Sandy Shar of Santa Fe, poultry; Ann Rayroux of Carlsbad, Bill and Sue Nowell of San Acacia and Pat Gregory of Tyrone, rabbits; and Barbara Vall of Las Cruces, dairy goats.

Sharon James of Albuquerque is a key leader for the 1986 4-H Leaders Forum; Betty Lou Leeson of Lindrieth and Gene and Glenda Smith of Roswell, record books; Thelma McFall of Springer, recreation; Helen Pickett of Watrous, Japanese LABO program (a youth exchange program); and Yvonne Riley of Bosque Farms, New Mexico State Fair dog show.

"We still need people to volunteer as key leaders in the areas of poultry, rabbits and especially recreation," Bartelt said.

Bartelt screens applicants and is looking for people with knowledge about a specific subject, the ability to teach and the willingness to volunteer. Previous 4-H experience is helpful, he said.

"With a state as big as New Mexico, this is one means to reach more young people," Bartelt said.

For more information on the 4-H Key Leader Program, persons may write to Bartelt at Box 3AE, NMSU, Las Cruces, NM 88003.
