

M. Delgado voted president-elect

By RUTH HAMMOND
Mark Delgado, administrator of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School, was voted president-elect of the New Mexico School Board Association.

Delgado will assume office at the convention early in December 1985. He will remain in office until December 1986. From now until he assumes office, he will be training for his duties as president and will be in a period of transition.

As president of the NM School Board Association, Delgado will preside at meetings and conventions. He will also represent New Mexico at regional and national conventions. He will vote on issues that affect school boards across the nation.

Delgado has been a member of the Capitan School Board for four years and is now president of the Capitan School Board. During his four years as a school board member, Delgado has not missed a NMSBA convention.

One of his main goals as president is to increase interest in the NMSBA. He would like to see more members come to the meetings. Of the more than 400 members around the state, less than 180 attended the convention in December.

The NMSBA is made up of 86 of the 87 school districts in the state. The only district that is not a member of the NMSBA is the Albuquerque school district. Only members are allowed to vote in the election that named Delgado president-elect.

The NMSBA will meet again in March to train newly elected school board members. School board elections will be held in February. The School Board Training Institute is a two or three day affair usually held in Santa Fe.

Delgado feels that training is necessary to become a good school board member. He said, "Anyone can be a school board member. It takes reading and studying to be a good board member."

School board members have much responsibility. The share of the New Mexico budget for public education is 52 percent. This does not include colleges. This 52 percent is a grand total of 689 million dollars that school boards spend in New Mexico.

On a national level, 85 billion dollars is spent on public education and school board members are responsible for 160 billion dollars in school properties.

Delgado is looking forward to his term as president. In addition to administrative issues, he lists duties of school board members as budgets and staffs, student attitudes, cafeteria food, busing of students, and parents.

Another goal of Delgado's is to see more team effort in groups that are involved in public education around the state.

He wants to see organizational teamwork when the legislature convenes Jan. 15. "Last year it seemed like everybody was asking for something different," Delgado said.

He feels that if the education related groups would get together and decide items of common interest to support, that a group proposal would do more good for the schools.

He would also like to see more involvement of board members, teachers, parents, and administrators. "Money is needed for public education," he says.

Delgado was elected to a six year term on the Capitan School Board in Feb. 1981. He will probably run again because of his children, his interest in public education, and his concern for getting more board members interested in attending NMSBA meetings, conventions, and training sessions.

"Attending training sessions helps you become a better board member," he says. "The programs that are offered are good."

Attending training sessions helps you become a better board member," he says. "The programs that are offered are good."

Woody Schlegel announced that the pilot's pocket guide, will go to the printer in about two weeks. Most of the advertising has been sold. The three-fold pocket guide will be placed in airports for pilots. It will give necessary information about the Carrizozo airport.

The Lodger's Tax Committee has agreed to renew the ad in Flying Review for another six months at a cost of $408. They will also pay for an ad in the 'National Association of Retired Federal Employees' for a month at a cost of $690. If response is good, they will pay for additional publications for the display ad to run.

The annual bowling tournament will be held early in April for two weekends. Last year it ran for one weekend and prizes totaled $1,700. Prizes for the two weekends this year will total $2,200.

Members voted to have unpaid continuous music by volunteers instead of a fiddler's contest this year.

Other Chamber announcements:
—The 'Up With People' show will be in Carrizozo with a totally new show on Feb. 17, 18, and 19. The advance team will be here in about two weeks. The cast of 'Up With People' will rehearse on Monday the 18 and Tuesday the 19th and perform that night. There are 200 to 210 members in the cast that will need places to stay.

—GED classes will begin

Smokey Bear Classic Basketball Tournament this week.

By BART McDONOUGH
The Capitan Schools will host the Smokey Bear Classic Basketball Tournament this week, Jan. 10-12, in the Lewis Cummins Gymnasium. The teams entered in the boys division include Magdalena, Lake Arthur, Hondo, Hagerman, Alamogordo Sophomores, Estancia, the host school, and last year's winner Reserve.

The girl's division includes Lake Arthur, Dexter, Capitan, Magdalena, Hagerman, Hondo, Reserve, and Estancia. Some fans like Reserve to repeat as winners of this fine tournament. We know that Coach Carter's Lady Bears from Estancia are always tough. The Tigerettes just might take it all — LOOK OUT!

Games begin Thursday morning at 8:15 with Dexter vs

Hondo girls. Hagerman boys vs Alamo Sophs is scheduled for 10 a.m. The championship games are scheduled for 6:45 and 8:30 Saturday night. Admission prices per session are adults $2.00 and students $1.00.

Trophies will be awarded the first 3 places in each division along with the consolation winners. Sportsmanship trophies will be awarded and are donated again this year by the Smokey Bear Restaurant and Motel — specifically Norm and Marla Renfro.

New to the tournament is an Outstanding Spirit Group Award to be given to the school cheerleaders and fans exhibiting the most spirit, enthusiasm, and sportsmanship during the tournament. Halftime will feature the free throw contest with plaques awarded.

Twelve all tournament players will be selected by the coaches for both divisions. These coaches will also select an outstanding official who will be awarded a plaque.

The following is a roster of the host teams along with their jersey numbers — boys: Trent Thompson 11, Ronnie Sanchez 13, Troy Padilla 15, Robbie Runnels 21, Mike Lunn 23, Mike Valenzuela 31, Andy Trujillo 35, Chris Peralta 41, Troy Keller 43, Dewey Keller 45, John Parker 51, and Jay Eldridge 53.

Girls: Kateri Sanchez 10, Sheila House 13, Shawna McDaniel 15, Tracy Herd 14, Shelly Eldridge 20, Becky Huey 22, Audrey Joiner 30, Tiffany Huey 35, Becky Phillips 40, and Jana Harris 45.

Tournament T-shirts will be on sale for $6.00. Come out and enjoy this excellent tournament.

Special Meeting

There will be a SPECIAL CALLED MEETING of the Capitan Board of Trustees, to be held on Tuesday, January 15, 1985, at City Hall, beginning at 1:30 P.M.

Agenda includes Water Improvement System, use of Grant monies and proposal by Ted Asbury, Engineer.

Carrizozo CofC to meet at airport tonight

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday for the regular luncheon meeting and will meet again tonight at the airport for the convenience of members unable to attend a daytime meeting. The meeting tonight will be at 7 p.m. with coffee and cookies being served Night meetings will be held once a quarter.

Dr. Dale Goad gave the airport report. The second hangar is almost complete. Goad said, "The significant part is that a new industry, 'Aviation Products Co.' will move here."

The owner of the new hangar, Curtis Hall, is also owner of Aviation Products Co. Hall was a guest at the Chamber luncheon. Aviation Products Co. makes sun screens for airplanes. The company is second in the nation in sales. Most customers are wholesalers.

Goad also announced that airport manager Mel Carl will start a flying school in Carrizozo the first of May. Goad went on to say that business at the airport is ten fold that of a year ago.

THE NEW HANGAR at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport is owned by Curtis Hall of Alto Village. The building is made of 24 gauge steel and is 1,575 square feet. Hall will move his company, 'Aviation Products Co.' to Carrizozo. The company manufactures aircraft sun screens.

Meeting changed to January 15th

Lincoln County Commissioners will meet Jan. 15 instead of Jan. 22 as was reported. Due to a conflict of schedules, the first meeting will be held Jan. 15 and the second meeting will be held Feb. 12. After that commission meetings will be held every third Tuesday.

DISTRICT JUDGES from the 12th Judicial District are shown after swearing in ceremonies held Jan. 2 at the Lincoln County Courthouse. District Judge Richard A. Parsons, Sr., will serve in the newly created Division III judgeship. It is the first time that Lincoln County will have a resident judge. Shown with Parsons are District Judge Sandra A. Grisham, Division I, and District Judge Robert M. Doughty, Division II.

J. B. HOWELL

J. B. Howell, Carrizozo, N.M., passed away Monday, January 7, 1985 in the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Howell was born October 7, 1906 in Bangs, Texas, and was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church of Carrizozo, the Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 A.F. & A.M., Scottish Rite Bodies of Santa Fe, and the Ballud Abyad Shrine Temple of Albuquerque, N.M. He was the son of the late Steven Daniel and Lula Howell. Survivors include his wife, Betty Howell of the family residence; son, Roy Howell of Lubbock, TX, sister, Maudie Kington of Brownwood, TX, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held 11:00 a.m. Thursday, January 10, 1985 in the Trinity United Methodist Church of Carrizozo, with Rev. Harry Riser officiating. Interment followed in the Evergreen Cemetery, Carrizozo.

Pallbearers were Leon Gibson, Charles Glover, Bob Stearns, Steve Stearns, Johnny Bob Stearns, and Billy Bob Shafer.

Arrangements by Clarke's Chapel of Roses Mortuary, Ruidoso, N.M.

The family suggests memorial contributions be made to the Carrizozo Health Center, Monitor Fund.

Ask Doctor Dan . . .

I suffered slight frostbite of my toes during some very cold weather. How should I treat this if it happens again? F.N.

Frostbite is best treated by rapid rewarming with warm water at a temperature of 100-106 degrees F. This method causes the least damage to frozen tissues. Do not rub or massage the affected area since this increases damage. Do not use snow or cold water for rewarming. Do not rewarm using radiant heat (such as a fire or heater) since the injured tissue cannot sense if the temperature is too high.

If you are away from medical care and a source of rewarming, do not thaw the area if it will become frozen again. Less damage will occur to the still frozen foot if walking is necessary.

Prevention is the way to avoid the unpleasant consequences of frostbite. Avoid tightly laced boots in very cold weather. If your toes become numb, stop and warm them with a fire, if possible. Place your bare feet against the abdomen of a companion if you cannot make a fire. Protect your nose and ears from the cold and wind. Avoid tobacco since it reduces blood flow to the extremities. If you have had damage to your fingers or toes from frostbite before, you need to take extra precautions because you are more likely to get repeat frostbite.

Send questions to Dr. Dan, Box 8, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

NEW MEXICAN HOLIDAY

Luminarias, the candles in paper sacks of New Mexico, were among the holiday sights that former Carrizozo resident, Carol Ann Focken showed her family. Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Simmons had not spent Christmas in New Mexico since 1973, but had visited at other times of the year.

Carol, husband Dan and children, Pat age 9; Becky 7; and Sarah 2½ arrived Christmas Eve and visited with the Simmons until December 29. The Fockens live in Sebeka, MN.

Carol attempted to take snapshots of the luminarias to show back home. Strings of red chile (ristras) were among the New Mexican-style items that made their way to Minnesota. Norwegian and Swedish breads, a Christmas treat enjoyed in Minnesota were goodies that the Fockens brought to Carrizozo for Carol's parents to taste.

HOME FOR HOLIDAY

Shirley Whitlock and husband, Bobby visited her, parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Simmons and Carol's family on Christmas. The Whitlocks live at Hatch, NM.

Following Christmas, Carol's mother Dorothy, accompanied the Fockens to Artesia where they visited with Carol's grandmother, Lucille Porter. Before returning to Minnesota the Focken family stopped at White Sands National Monument.

ONE EASY LESSON

I found an amusing item that readers may enjoy. The following excerpts are from the Santa Rosa News and Davy Delgado's column, 'La Voz del Pueblo.' He found the following quiz in a copy of Editor and Publisher, a trade journal which celebrated its 100th anniversary last March:

How To Be a Reporter (in one easy lesson)

How to be a police reporter.

Q: What are all chases of fleeing car thieves and drunk drivers?

A: Wild.

Q: How does the police chief make important announcements?

A: Tersely.

Q: When will an arrest be made?

A: Police expect to make an arrest in the near future.

Q: What does a jury do with evidence?

Q: If two men burglarize a safe, what do you say?

A: Two lawbreakers, taking advantage of the early hour of the day and apparently throwing caution to the wind, today combined their talents, etc., etc.

Q: What do you say when in doubt about facts?

A: Alleged.

Q: What does a crook say when he pleads innocent?

A: He vehemently denies guilt.

Q: What is more preferred than saying the man was arrested?

A: Say he was nabbed, seized, grabbed, apprehended, taken into custody, surprised, trapped, corned, cowed into surrendering, frightened into submission.

Q: How do you say "their automobile"?

A: Call it "the car in which they were riding."

Q: What do you call our enemies on the battlefields?

A: Hordes.

Q: How do you say "Now"?

A: At the present time.

Q: What do women's groups do?

A: Principals.

Q: How can you leave the reader utterly confused when you mean "several"?

A: Write "a number of".

Q: How do reporters get around this?

A: They write "a number of".

Q: Is there such a word as "led" in the English language?

A: No. Always use "lead."

Q: When you commit an error in a story, who gets the blame?

A: The composing room.

Capitan News

By MARGARET BENCH

Just one week ago tonight we received a three inch snow and very cold weather. Below zero at night. Starting Thursday it became warm and to date is very nice. The snow finally left Sunday. It is great for the country.

Capitan athletic fans... be sure to remember that the Smokey Bear Classic Basketball Tournament starts Thursday, Jan. 10 thru Friday and Saturday. The Capitan Boys team playing at 1 p.m. and the Capitan Girls team playing Magdalena at 6:45 that same night. Our kids work hard to get ready for these games. Lets show them, we are proud of them by attending their games and cheering them on!!! Their next games in the tournament will be determined by their win or loss in these opening games.

The Capitan Jr. Varsity and the Varsity Boys played Ft. Sumner in Capitan last Friday. The Ft. Sumner girls won by two points in a double over time, the boys lost to Ft. Sumner.

The Jr. varsity and varsity traveled to Dexter Saturday night and won the varsity game and lost the Jr. varsity.

The Dexter boys came to Capitan and played the Jr. varsity and varsity boys. The Dexter boys won both games.

The Capitan School Board election candidates that have filed for the one position that is open are Tom Trost, incumbent Robert Runnels, Bob Barre, and Armando Quinones - four candidates for the one position.

Norman and Maria Renfro are now welcoming their customers and friends to the Smokey Bear Restaurant. They took over the business on Jan. 1. Welcome to every one.

Thirty-nine thousand five hundred twenty-nine registered visitors visited the Smokey Bear Museum in 1984.

The first six days of 1985 Jan. 2-6, 228 visitors enjoyed it.

The Capitan Education Association will sponsor a Meet the Candidate Jan. 24, 7 to 9 p.m. in the multi-purpose building. Questions from the community addressed to the school board candidates can be submitted before Jan. 18 to Dr. Hayes, Capitan School Superintendent or Mark Delgado, Box 8, Ft. Stanton, NM.

Mrs. Efthimiou's drama class will present three one act plays Jan. 17 and 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose building.

Roy and Sharon Horton just returned from three weeks Christmas vacation in Mesa and Bisbee, AZ with relatives. Sharon now has her shop open and is busy as a bee.

Frances Shaw and Doris Founds attended the regular meeting of the Eastern Star in Cornet Chapter in Carrizozo last Thursday. Their official visit will be Jan. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Paxton and two children visited the Smokey Bear Museum last Saturday. Jim formerly worked for the Forest Service here and helped bury Smokey. He is now District Ranger at Gunnison, Colorado. He said to tell everyone "Hi".

Lincoln Ramblings

We all hope everyone had a very Merry Christmas and everyone will have a joyous New Year.

Sleepy little Lincoln Town was a beautiful sight on Christmas Eve. It was lit up with luminarias from one end of town to the other. Last year we were unable to have the luminarias due to winds but the weather was perfect.

Friends of Ruth Penfield will be glad to know she is home now and progressing fine. She will still have to have periodic checks and adjustments of her medication.

Mr. and Mrs. Cy Sales spent part of the holidays in San Francisco with their son Robert and family.

The La Pasada celebration was also held in various homes during Christmas ending the final celebration on Christmas Eve at the Catholic Church.

New Years Eve Lincolntes and area friends enjoyed the home and hospitality of Kay and Glenn Dennis.

Dee Miller and son Douglas enjoyed being home for the holidays. Doug is going to school in Las Cruces.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Thomas are living in their new "apartment" and are enjoying it. Their sons Stanley and Jack were trying to finish the painting and other finishing work over the weekend. Mickey and John spent Christmas with their children and families in Las Cruces.

Weatherwise we have been like everyone else. Christmas was beautiful, but New Years Day was blustery, snowing and the roads very icy, so everyone stayed home or visited with their neighbors.

Philo Reilly, 79, died in the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital January 4, 1985. She was born November 11, 1905 in Dallas, TX. She is survived by her two daughters Patricia Gunter of Ruidoso and Bonnie Zischkale of Garland, TX and two grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10:00 a.m., Monday, January 7, 1985 in the Episcopal Church of The Holy Mount in Ruidoso, NM. Burdette Stampely officiated. Interment followed in the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jack McNeal, Bill Dean, Gary Thompson, Steve Bewly, Grady Gunter and Robert Zischkale.

Family request that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Notre Dame Special School, 1451 Norgate, Irving, TX 75062. Arrangements by Clarke's Chapel of Rest, Ruidoso, NM.

here and at the Parish Hall in Capitan. Anyone interested in earning their high school equivalency or taking a refresher course in math or English should call Patay Sanchez.

The request for funds from the Community Development Block Grant for paving of streets in Carrizozo was denied.

Algonkian Pines will be planted on the road going to the airport. The trees will grow to 30 feet in six years. The seedlings will be here for planting in March.

C of C needs a secretary. Business at the Rec Hall has fallen off. Doyle Woods said if business does not increase from now until June, he will not renew his contract.

School enrollment last year was 325. This year enrollment is down to 298 and projected enrollment for next year is 289. There were 26 students in kindergarten this year on the 40th day and only eight are projected for next year.

Polly Chavez is offering a new service in town. Polly is available for alterations, and mending, and will specialize in hemming of pants, slacks, skirts, and dresses.

Phyllis Schlegel reported on the Christmas decoration contest. Many residents decorated but did not enter the contest. The Chamber welcomes suggestions as to how to get more people interested in entering the contest.

Curtis Hall of Alto Village is owner of the new hangar at the Carrizozo airport. The 24 gauge steel building was constructed by Rhema Steel Buildings in Littlefield, Texas, and was brought here in pieces and built on the concrete floor.

The hangar is 45 feet by 35 feet and covers 1,575 square feet. The electric door will work on a hinge type operation.

The hangar will house not only Hall's airplanes, but will be the new home of Aviation Products Co. owned by Curtis Hall. The company manufactures aircraft sun screens.

Sun screens cover the inside of windows in aircraft to protect interiors and conceal the contents of the plane. Sun screens are custom fitted for each aircraft and are individually cut and sewn. Material used is fire retardant reflective white vinyl and has a full two year warranty.

Hall plans to build hangars to specifications for anyone interested.

A candlelight ceremony was held in the home of Sara Jackson in Ancho on Jan. 2 for the installation of officers of the United Presbyterian Women of Ancho.

Officers installed for two years terms were: president Sara Jackson, vice-president Ruth Wilson, secretary Martha Bond, treasurer Vernelle Hightower, coordinator of missions Beth Hightower, coordinator of sewing Betty Davis, program chairperson Linda Caldwell, and nominating committee members Susan Hightower, Margaret Lightfoot, and Vernelle Hightower.

School Librarian Julia Hollis announced that the preschool story hour will begin Jan. 24 from 10 to 11 a.m. All preschoolers are welcome.

Mrs. Hollis has asked that parents preregister their children by calling 648-2346 extension 20.

The preschool story hour will be held every Thursday after starting. Parents of children under the age of three are asked to stay with their children during the story hour.

Inside the Capitol BY FRED McCAFFREY

SANTA FE—Don't believe everything you read in the papers.

Good current example: The Albuquerque Journal's attack on Governor Anaya's recent appointees to the board of regents for the University of New Mexico.

His choices, former Governor Jerry Apodaca and Albuquerque businessman Robert Sanchez, are probably the best such selections Anaya has so far made. What's more, as he announced them, the Governor was making the first sincere effort to mend his fences with the university communities—to unsay several stupid statements he has made on the topic of governance in higher education during the past six months.

To have the state's largest daily then huff and puff about the unworthiness of these men, particularly Jerry Apodaca, is hardly likely to encourage Tony to continue altering stands which need changing.

Besides, the Journal's editorial strongly suggests it was their transparent and lasting dislike for Jerry Apodaca which dictated their opinion.

NON-SEQUITURS: For instance, the newspaper, which has shown an ugly kind of animus toward Apodaca for many years, says he should not now be named to any "sensitive public position" because New Mexico Democrats failed to nominate him to run for the US Senate last time he came before them at the polls.

Would they say Judy Pratt is unworthy of appointment for the same reason?

Did they think Pete Domenici fatally flawed after Bruce King beat him in a run for governor?

Sure, it is true, as the editorial went on to charge, that Apodaca has had publicly noted financial problems since leaving the chief executive's job. But does a university regent (or a newspaper editorial writer) have to pass some test for fiscal soundness before assuming the job? If so, it's not specified in the state Constitution.

And, Apodaca isn't fleeing the jurisdiction in an effort to evade his debts. He appears to be making every legitimate effort to pay them; even a wealthy newspaper publisher cannot do more than that.

It's also worth noting that the ex-governor isn't being hired as UNM's business manager. He won't be writing the checks for that institution, anymore than they are written by Colleen Maloot.

OUTCRIES: It's clear that none of the Governor's choices for university boards will satisfy everybody. Most notable for their handwringing on such occasions are those closest to the scene, the school's faculty. But their beefs on the topic are seldom as violent as the big Albuquerque Daily's reaction whenever Jerry

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON— By LES KINSOLVING

Three exciting Democratic congressmen elect . . .

WASHINGTON — All was not lost to Speaker Tip O'Neill in the Reagan landslide. For the Republicans gained only a handful of seats in the House of O'Neill. And three Districts have elected particularly exciting Democrats to Congress.

From southern Illinois there comes a 20-year veteran, back after a 10-year absence. Ken Gray is perhaps better described as "sexciting." For he was the owner of a helicopter as well as a fabled houseboat, which might be described as "The House of Representatives' Love Boat."

Aboard this renowned vessel, Gray's Congressional colleague, powerful committee chairman Wayne Hays of Ohio met the famed—or ill-famed, if you wish—Liz Ray. Miss Ray was the typist on Hays's Congressional staff who was unable to type. But this young lady was discovered to have other talents, which The Washington Post detailed all over page one. Congressman Hays had made the bad mistake, when he was asked about his buxom inamorata, of replying that he intended to marry her just as soon as The Post's executive editor, Ben Bradlee, was willing to marry one of The Post's writers named Sally Quinn—with whom Bradlee was at the time bedded down without benefit of clergy in a love nest which other Post reporters were forbidden to report. But Washington Weekly published at the top of page one four photographs with headlines: "Wayne and Liz and Ben and Sally." And not long after, Ben married Sally, and Wayne Hays went back to Ohio.

The other exciting new Democrats in the House are Tommy Robinson of Arkansas and Ohio's Jim Traficant, both of whom are former (and memorable) sheriffs.

Sheriff Robinson achieved fame by shaking his fist in the face of a federal judge by way of objecting to court-ordered busing. He subsequently got himself stopped for speeding and exploded in rage on a radio talk show.

Sheriff Traficant was similarly uninhibited on the air. He had been indicted by a grand jury on charges of accepting $167,000 in bribes from the Mafia. (He claimed he was conducting his own investigation.) And after he was acquitted, he tried to arrest the FBI agents who had investigated him. On TV, he exploded in a stream of profanity which a spillover and inhibited station management cutoff the air. This provoked an absolute storm of protest from outraged Ohio viewers, who protested the turnoff, not the language.

Meanwhile, in Miami there is an exciting football coach whom the Democrats should certainly not overlook as a future Congressional candidate. For 26-year-old Emilio Caballero produces winners, previously at LaSalle High School and this year at Loyola High.

According to 52The New York Times, the Florida High School Activities Association has stripped Loyola of its district title. For the Association charged that Coach Caballero used six players who were academically ineligible. Moreover it charged that he threatened to beat up principal Louis Suarez and a number of teachers who refused to pass his players.

After the final victory, Caballero provided his 17-year-olds with champagne—which he claims was nonalcoholic. And the following night, the coach and two of his assistants were charged with burglary. Earlier, in September, filing cabinets in the school office where exams are kept were found rifled. Still, nine of his boys flunked.

Ladies and gentlemen, if the O'Neill House of Representatives has room for a Congressional child molester from Massachusetts, what's the matter with a Caballero from Florida? He'd be a natural for Tip O'Neill's House Ethics Committee.

COLIN McMILLAN COMMENTARY

"You don't miss the water 'til the well runs dry." Unfortunately for New Mexico, it is our oil and gas wells that are running dry and we are beginning to miss them.

As the New Mexico Legislature begins to struggle with a budget to run state government for next year, it is worthwhile to see how we got into our present fix.

A spendthrift government which has one of the highest per capita number of state employees in the lower 48 states has not helped the problem.

One cannot ignore the fact that for the past decade news about our state has generally been negative.

The Lobogate basketball scandal, the prison riot and murders, and recent criminal investigations involving a New York bank have represented our principal national news stories for the past decade.

A more positive political image would certainly improve our lives, as well as the state revenues. But the immediate problem with New Mexico's revenue is a sharp decline in the production and price of copper, potash, uranium, and particularly oil and gas.

The biggest single driving force on state revenues is the oil and gas industry.

From 1971 to 1981, total direct taxes from oil and gas increased 11-fold, from $36 million to $382 million, and total state revenues, $100 million to slightly over $1 billion. (The state's general fund budget is about $1.4 billion.)

During this same period, oil and gas production was decreasing by about 30 percent.

Unfortunately for state government, things began to change in 1982.

The worldwide price of oil began to drop from a high of more than $40 per barrel to about $26 per barrel today. The price of natural gas declined sharply during the same period.

Declining prices lead to a decline in drilling activity. This leads to a decline in gross receipts. Production also

Mr. & Mrs. Monty Pounds

Hewitt-Pounds nuptials read

In a small but impressive double-ring ceremony Kelley Lorraine Hewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hewett of Mountainair, became the bride of Monty Jay Pounds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pounds of Corona.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Grove on December 29 in the Mountainair Church of the Nazarene.

Marvin Vaughn, brother-in-law of the bride, sang "Til The Rivers All Run Dry", accompanied by the guitar.

The bride's father escorted her down the aisle. Her two-piece dress of white silk was off-set with a white straw hat. She carried a white fan with a large bouquet of burgandy roses and pink carnations.

The maid-of-honor was Melissa Sue Phillips of Mountainair. She wore a burgandy silk dress and carried a fan and a small bouquet similar to the bride's bouquet.

Marvin Pounds, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the reception room of the church with Mrs. Marvin Vaughn, sister of the bride and Melissa Sue Phillips assisting. Mrs. John Marshall of Corona made and decorated the two-tiered cake. The bride's chosen colors of pink and burgandy were used throughout the reception room.

The groom is employed by the A & M Gas Co. of Mountainair.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will reside in Mountainair.

Colin . . .

declined by about 9 percent between Jan. 1 1982, and Jan. 1, 1984.

Personal and corporate income taxes have been adversely affected.

The long-term outlook for revenues from oil and gas is not particularly optimistic.

Since there is an excess of oil worldwide, prices should remain soft. With a decline in production and soft prices, the results are obvious.

Because New Mexico is selling all the oil it can produce and drilling activity is down, oil production will continue to decline.

The situation in the natural gas business is significantly different.

New Mexico is not producing gas to capacity. Demand appears to be stabilizing.

Excess producing capacity and an improved market could bring significant new revenues in a relatively short time.

With revenues from gas and oil about equal and the outlook for each different, the state can hope for no better than the status quo for the next few years.

If this prognosis is correct, time is relatively short for New Mexico.

We must develop new businesses to provide alternate jobs for our people and the revenues to operate our universities, public schools and needed state services.

We cannot squander our credibility in the next decade as we have in the past. To do so will relegate us to the backwaters of American economic life.

We can't wait 'til the well runs dry.

American Legion Veever-Bond Post No. 135 and Legion Auxiliary Veever-Bond Unit No. 25 in unity had good attendance at their meetings from July through Dec. 19, 1984. We are happy to have some new members joining us and are in hopes of having more.

The Auxiliary was elated to have our District President, Pauline Gantz, and secretary, Erman Ann McGee, of Estancia join us at our Oct. 2 meeting.

The American Legion and Auxiliary gave boxes of food and baked food to Freddy Stewart as our community project. We are hopeful that 1985 will be as good as 1984 was. We would like anyone who is eligible to join our organizations. Nolan Vickrey, Commander and Liola Vickrey, President Auxiliary.

Mrs. Pearl Lunday, Estancia, visited her sister, Mrs. A. E. Mulkey and Mr. Mulkey Sunday.

The Nolan Vickreys and Mrs. Katie Merritt spent Christmas in Farmington with Pamela Vickrey.

for her last semester at Wayland Baptist University at Plainview, TX. She had spent the holidays with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mulkey. Her mother and brother, Elene and Kenneth Means came from Bronte, TX where Mrs. Means is program director at a nursing home, and another brother, Allen Robertson, Albuquerque, joined the group for a day.

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. Katie Merritt and the Nolan Vickreys were Pam Vickrey, Farmington, Bucky and Kathryn Minton and two children, Melrose, and Betty and Dusty Minton and Neuman Merritt, Fort Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Freddy Schmidt the 4th, daughter Valerie, and son Freddy the 5th, San Antonio, TX.

Robert Williams reports a low temperature of 7 below zero on January 1. Thermometers in the village dropped as low as 18 below zero. The high was 55 degrees on the 4th with a total snowfall of 24" for December.

Holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burton included their four children and families.

Shirley and Tom May and two daughters, Janie and Jonie, Houston, TX; Sherry and Jerry Kunkel and children, Darren and Sara, Clovis; Shelly and Steve Swanson, Kyle and Lance, Littleton, CO and Clay and Sara Burton and Chase of Corona, and Hazel's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Clovis. Ernest Dishman joined the group for Christmas dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams finished their move to Nogal on Christmas Eve. The Scott Williams came from Roswell and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Frazier from Albuquerque to help give the finishing touches to the new home.

Rand Perkins went by plane to Phoenix, AZ and returned Jan. 2 to attend funeral services in Mesa for an uncle, H. D. Hillger.

The Crown Cowbelle meeting has been postponed until further notice.

'Human hair' made ancient hunting net

During the hot, tedious summer of 1960, archeologists working near the Mexican border in one of Hidalgo County's remote caves unearthed an enormous hunting net woven entirely of dark reddish-brown human hair—the most remarkable artifact of its kind ever found in North America.

Thin high and long enough to be stretched across the width of a modern football field, the net was fashioned from more than 1.54 miles of finely twisted human hair cordage. When fully extended it covered an area of nearly 800 square feet—the size of a modern town house.

The net's diamond-shaped meshes were amazingly uniform and measured, knot-to-knot, 2.5 inches on each side. It was as if some prehistoric group had created an immense community volleyball net, painstakingly tying nearly twenty thousand knots in the process.

Four types of knots were used, but the quality of workmanship is uniform and masterful, except for one modest section. It was undoubtedly the work of one senior craftsman and an inexperienced helper.

The net contained over seven pounds of human hair and represented a considerable labor investment. When archeologists originally made the find, they consulted experienced sailors and skilled net-makers who estimated that tying the knots and laying out the cordage would have taken six to eight working days. That was the easy part.

The real labor went into making 3,140 feet of fine stranded cordage. Years ago, during a field assignment high in the Ecuadorean Andes, an aged craftsman taught me how to hand make twine of sisal and animal hair fibers. Believe me, it is painstaking work! The net's cordage was beautifully done with 13 twists to the inch. Such cordage requires the maker to roll tufts of fiber between the palms hour after hour, while maintaining tension till the twists in the thin strand have "set."

Because the Hidalgo County net consisted of two interwoven strands, 16,280 feet of thin cord had to be produced. Based on my observations of the Ecuadorean cordmaker, the job would have taken over eighty working days.

The net was found, neatly wrapped and folded, along with four "hanks" of human hair, averaging 18 inches long. Each of these hanks was cut from a single head—obviously intended as material to be used in emergency repairs. By comparing the average weight of these hair cuttings with the weight of the complete net archeologists calculated that it contained the equivalent of 69 heads of human hair.

When recovered, the net had never been used. It was AIRBORNE—Kenny Crenshaw of Carrizozo takes the elevator to make this layup in action against the Vaughn Eagles last Friday night. That's Joe Candelaria in the background.

Grizzly B-B Roundup . . .

The Carrizozo Grizzly varsity basketball teams opened district competition on the wrong note Friday evening as they played host to the Vaughn Eagles.

Coach Fron's girls played an outstanding three quarters of basketball...but lost sight of the hoop in the fourth quarter. The Carrizozo girls led 25-13 at half and still had a comfortable 39-28 advantage after 3 periods.

The disastrous fourth period found The Eagles outscore the local girls by the count of 15 to 0 and came away with a 43-39 victory. Liz Beltran led the Carrizozo scoring with 13 points, followed closely by Sylvia Archuleta with 11, and Marcella Sandoval with 10.

Saturday night action found the Grizzly girls running into a buzz saw as the Lake Arthur Panthers ripped the Grizzlies by the score of 65-35. Beltran again was high point for Carrizozo with 13, Lynn Gallacher and Julie Vega added 6 each.

The Grizzly boys faced a little better, but their 5 game win streak came to an end Friday as the Eagles from Vaughn took advantage of a cold shooting Grizzly squad and went home with a 47-43 district win.

The Grizzlies hit their first shot of the game then went ice-cold from the field and the free-throw line for the rest of the game. Vaughn grabbed a 10-4 after the first period and increased their advantage to 24-13 at half-time.

Coach Ron Becker said, "Our poor shot selection and lack of patience on offense were the main reasons for our losing the game...that plus the long holiday lay-off."

The Grizzlies made a game of it as they came out in a full-court press and their tight man-to-man forced the Eagles into numerous turnover and got some offense out of it — Grizzlies cut half-time margin to 28-23 after three periods.

Vaughn maintained their lead throughout the last period as the closest the Grizzlies got was 44-41 at the 0:26 mark. At that point the Grizzlies missed 4 out of 5 free throws and two close in shots also missed the mark as the Eagles prevailed 47-43. The cold shooting Grizzlies attempted 25 free-throws and made only 9 — several of their misses were on the front end of 1 and 1 situations.

Carrizozo travels to Ft. Sumner Saturday to face what Coach Becker says "is probably the best team in our district."

Capitan Tiger Tracks . . .

The Ft. Sumner Foxes jumped out to a 41-18 halftime lead last Friday night in Capitan and coasted to a 70-44 victory. Troy Keller had 12 points for the Tigers. Ronnie Sanchez and Dewey Keller contributed 10 each. The Tiger Junior Varsity also lost to the Foxes. The Tigerettes outscored the Vixens 21-6 in the 4th quarter after going through a disastrous 3rd quarter. This knotted the score at 37 at the end of regulation play. The Tigerettes lost a heartbreaker to Ft. Sumner in double overtime 42-40. Shelly Eldridge lead the way for the Tigers with 18 points. Tracy Herd had 11 points and Tiffany Huey was credited with 7.

The Tiger varsity boys stayed on their own turf Saturday night while the Tigerettes traveled to Dexter. Both squads played teams from the same school.

The varsity boys had trouble making their layups and "just couldn't seem to get anything going for them. The Demons led the Tigers 33-22 at halftime. The Tigers outscored Dexter in the 3rd quarter by 1 point but then faltered again — Dexter 71, Capitan 46. The Keller brothers had 33 of the Tiger's 46 points.

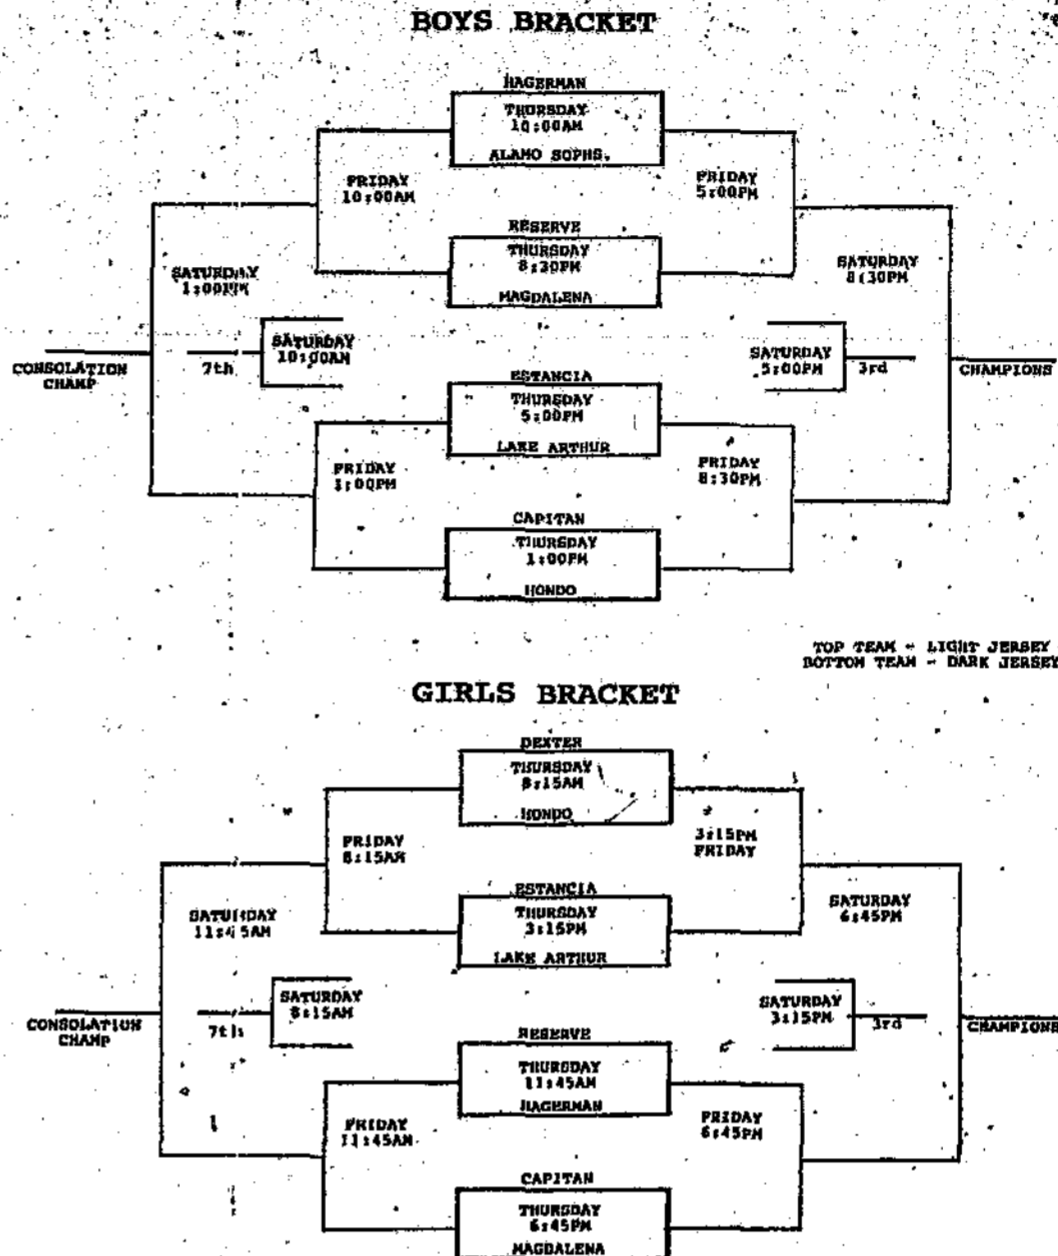

The Tigerettes got back in the winning column with a 40-38 victory over the Lady Demons. There was a nice point spread by the Tigerettes.

The Tigerette junior varsity could only mount 10 points in their "best" quarter and were defeated by the Lady Demons 40-27.

Cloudcroft Junior High was in Capitan last Saturday with the following results - Capitan 8th grade boys 41, Cloudcroft 32. Capitan 7th grade boys 11, Cloudcroft 10 in an abbreviated game. The 7th grade Tigerettes showed a lot of spunk but lost to the Lady Bears 24-18. In another game it was the 8th grade Lady Bears 24, Capitan 8th grade Tigerettes 10.

These Tiger junior high players scored the following points - Anthony Sanchez 10, Chris McCarty 11, Warren Russell 4, Marsha Nevarrez 6, Shannon Harris 12.

Hondo Eagle Notes . . .

The Hondo varsity boys hosted the Weed Bulldogs Jan. 4 and wound up on the short end of the 80-29 score. One understands this score much better when they realize that a number of Eagles are under disciplinary action and did not suit up for this game.

Joe Aguilar found the hoop for 14 points followed by Sam West with 10. The Eagles head into the Smokey Bear Classic this weekend with a 1-6 won-loss record.

The Lady Eagles came back in the 4th quarter after a shallow 3rd quarter but could not overcome Weed's lead. Weed won this one 49-31. As usual Tina Torrez was the big gun with 19 points. The girls can boast a 4-3 record as they play in the Smokey Bear Classic in Capitan Jan. 10-12.

Jenny Cooper came in 2nd in the Dr. Pepper Ski Race last weekend at Ruidoso's Sierra Blanca Ski Run. She will compete later at Taos in the Nationals. Present enrollment in the Hondo Schools is 173.

remarkably clean and contained no traces of tears, foreign matter, or blood. This is surprising because it was found in a cave long venerated as a hunting shrine. In early historic times Palute Indian hunters of Nevada's Great Basin set such nets in huge semicircles during community rabbit hunts. This net was almost surely intended for similar use.

Other mysteries surround the net's precise age and its makers. Though a few pottery fragments of the A.D. 1200 period were found in the cave, such intricate woven goods were typical of a much earlier era in Southwestern prehistory. So the net might be as much as 2,000 years old, and the pottery deposited in the cave long afterwards.

The reddish-brown hair was also intricately analyzed by a respected Anatomy Department in St. Louis. It was generally agreed to be American Indian in origin. After all who else could it have belonged to? No Europeans entered New Mexico until hundreds of years later. However, its shape and color characteristics did not conform well to hair known from any other prehistoric burials found in New Mexico.

In spite of the subsequent mysteries, the original archeologists must have been thrilled when the net came to light. Found in a deep limestone cave high in the dry Alamo Hueco Mountains south of Lordsburg, the excavation work was done under appalling conditions of discomfort.

As deep deposits of ancient bat guano were disturbed, a dangerous dust cloud filled the cave. Often so dense that flash photography could not penetrate the suspended dust, excavators worked in face masks under the weak light of Coleman lanterns. Nearly 500 lantern mantles were burned up while the excavators carried on.

A quarter of a century after its discovery, memories of the miserable working conditions have faded. Yet this intricate net, a remarkable survival of ancient hunting culture, remains an unmatched prize in the world of archeology.

AIRBORNE—Kenny Crenshaw of Carrizozo takes the elevator to make this layup in action against the Vaughn Eagles last Friday night. That's Joe Candelaria in the background.

Capitan Tiger Tracks . . .

The Ft. Sumner Foxes jumped out to a 41-16 halftime lead last Friday night in Capitan and coasted to a 70-44 victory. Troy Keller had 12 points for the Tigers. Ronnie Sanchez and Dewey Keller contributed 10 each. The Tiger Junior Varsity also lost to the Foxes. The Tigerettes outscored the Vikings 21-6 in the 4th quarter after going through a disastrous 3rd quarter. This knotted the score at 37 at the end of regulation play. The Tigerettes lost a heartbreaker to Ft. Sumner in double overtime 42-40. Shelly Eldridge lead the way for the Tigers with 18 points. Tracy Herd had 11 points and Tiffany Huey was credited with 7.

The Tiger varsity boys stayed on their own turf Saturday night while the Tigerettes traveled to Dexter. Both squads played teams from the same school.

The varsity boys had trouble making their layups and just couldn't seem to get anything going for them. The Demons led the Tigers 32-22 at halftime. The Tigers outscored Dexter in the 3rd quarter by 1 point but then faltered again — Dexter 71, Capitan 46. The Keller brothers had 33 of the Tiger's 46 points.

The Tigerettes got back in the winning column with a 40-36 victory over the Lady Demons. There was a nice point spread by the Tigerettes.

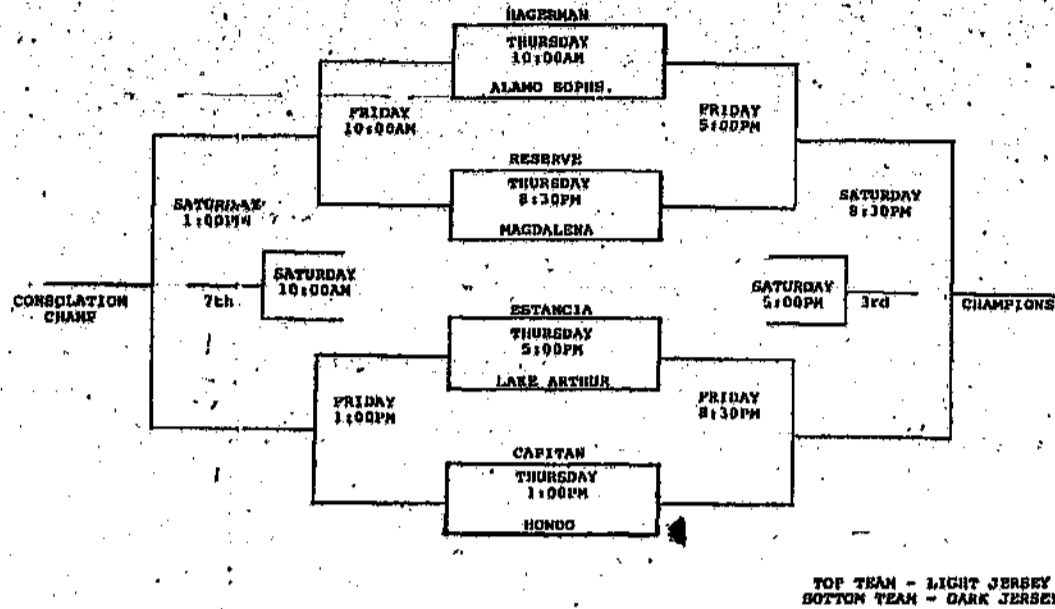

The Tigerette junior varsity could only mount 10 points in their "best" quarter and were defeated by the Lady Demons 40-27.

Cloudercroft Junior High was in Capitan last Saturday with the following results - Capitan 8th grade boys 41, Cloudercroft 32; Capitan 7th grade boys 11, Cloudercroft 10 in an abbreviated game. The 7th grade Tigerettes showed a lot of spunk but lost to the Lady Bears 24-18. In another game it was the 8th grade Lady Bears 24, Capitan 8th grade Tigerettes 10.

These Tiger junior high players scored the following points - Anthony Sanchez 10, Chris McCarty 11, Warren Russell 4, Marsha Nevarrez 6, Shannon Harris 12.

GIRLS BRACKET

Grizzly B-B Roundup . . .

The Carrizozo Grizzly varsity basketball teams opened district competition on the wrong note Friday evening as they played host to the Vaughn Eagles.

Coach Fron's girls played an outstanding three quarters of basketball...but lost sight of the hoop in the fourth quarter. The Carrizozo girls led 25-13 at half and still had a comfortable 39-28 advantage after 3 periods.

The disastrous fourth period found The Eagles outscore the local girls by the count of 15 to 0 and came away with a 43-39 victory. Liz Beltran led the Carrizozo scoring with 13 points, followed closely by Sylvia Archuleta with 11, and Marcella Sandoval with 10.

Saturday night action found the Grizzly girls running into a buzz saw as the Lake Arthur Panthers ripped the Grizzlies by the score of 65-35. Beltran again was high point for Carrizozo with 13, Lynn Gallacher and Julie Vega added 6 each.

The Grizzly boys faced a little better, but their 5 game win streak came to an end Friday as the Eagles from Vaughn took advantage of a cold shooting Grizzly squad and went home with a 47-43 district win.

The Grizzlies hit their first shot of the game then went ice-cold from the field and the free-throw line for the rest of the game. Vaughn grabbed a 10-4 after the first period and increased their advantage to 24-13 at half-time.

Coach Ron Becker said, "Our poor shot selection and lack of patience on offense were the main reasons for our losing the game...that plus the long holiday lay-off."

The Grizzlies made a game of it as they came out in a full-court press and their tight man-to-man forced the Eagles into numerous turnover and got some offense out of it — Grizzlies cut half-time margin to 28-23 after three periods.

Vaughn maintained their lead throughout the last period as the closest the Grizzlies got was 44-41 at the 0:26 mark. At that point the Grizzlies missed 4 out of 5 free throws and two close in shots also missed the mark as the Eagles prevailed 47-43. The cold shooting Grizzlies attempted 25 free-throws and made only 9 — several of their misses were on the front end of 1 and 1 situations.

Carrizozo travels to Ft. Sumner Saturday to face what Coach Becker says "is probably the best team in our district."

Hondo Eagle Notes . . .

The Hondo varsity boys hosted the Weed Bulldogs Jan. 4 and wound up on the short end of the 80-29 score. One understands this score much better when they realize that a number of Eagles are under disciplinary action and did not suit up for this game.

Joe Aguilar found the hoop for 14 points followed by Sam West with 10; The Eagles head into the Smokey Bear Classic this weekend with a 1-6 won-loss record.

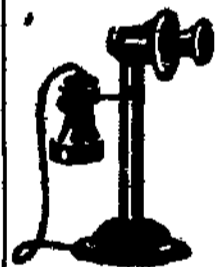

The Lady Eagles came back in the 4th quarter after a shallow 3rd quarter but could not overcome Weed's lead. Weed won this one 49-31. As usual Tina Torrez was the big gun with 19 points. The girls can boast a 4-3 record as they play in the Smokey Bear Classic in Capitan Jan. 10-12.

Jenny Cooper came in 2nd in the Dr. Pepper Ski Race last weekend at Ruidoso's Sierra Blanca Ski Run. She will compete later at Taos in the Nationals. Present enrollment in the Hondo Schools is 173.

GOOD FOR TWO—You don't need to look ref... it's the old automatic. Liz Beltran does her thing as Karen Baroz looks on in last Friday night's action as the Grizzly girls dropped a close one to the Aguilas from Vaughn, 43-38.

Heritage . . .

remarkably clean and contained no traces of tears, foreign matter, or blood. This is surprising because it was found in a cave long venerated as a hunting shrine. In early historic times Paiute Indian hunters of Nevada's Great Basin set such nets in huge semicircles during community rabbit hunts. This net was almost surely intended for similar use. Other mysteries surround the net's precise age and its makers. Though a few pottery fragments of the A.D. 1200 period were found in the cave, such intricate woven goods were typical of a much earlier era in Southwestern prehistory. So the net might be as much as 2,000 years old, and the pottery deposited in the cave long afterwards.

The reddish-brown hair was also intricately analyzed by a respected Anatomy Department in St. Louis. It was generally agreed to be American Indian in origin. After all who else could it have belonged to? No Europeans entered New Mexico until hundreds of years later. However, its shape and color characteristics did not conform well to hair known from any other prehistoric burials found in New Mexico.

In spite of the subsequent mysteries, the original archeologists must have been thrilled when the net came to light. Found in a deep limestone cave high in the dry Alamo Hueco Mountains south of Lordsburg, the excavation work was done under appalling conditions of discomfort.

As deep deposits of ancient bat guano were disturbed, a dangerous dust cloud filled the cave. Often so dense that flash photography could not penetrate the suspended dust, excavators worked in face masks under the weak light of Coleman lanterns. Nearly 500 lantern mantles were burned up while the excavators carried on.

A quarter of a century after its discovery, memories of the miserable working conditions have faded. Yet this intricate net, a remarkable survival of ancient hunting culture, remains an unmatched prize in the world of archeology.
