

Carrizozo superintendent resigns

Carrizozo School Superintendent James Miller gave school board members his letter of resignation at the Feb. 26 school board meeting. Miller's resignation will become effective June 30 and until that time, he has agreed to assist the board in helping find another school superintendent. He will advertise for a new superintendent but said he will not interview applicants.

The school board accepted Dr. Miller's resignation and told him they would give him recommendations.

According to 'The Executive Educator', a magazine for school professionals, Miller is one of 100 up-and-coming school managers in North America. He was cited in 'The Executive Educator 100', a blue-ribbon listing, for the honor by an independent panel of nationally recognized experts on school administration.

Miller told the News, "I have appreciated the support of the people of Carrizozo and also the school board. My family and I will be leaving Carrizozo with many pleasant memories." He added, "I expect to continue to be able to assist Carrizozo in the future in any way that I am able."

In other school board business:

—Margaret Barela has been hired as substitute teacher for the Title I program. Jane Erwin, the former Title I teacher, resigned Feb. 7. Mrs. Barela will be the substitute until the end of the school year. At that time, permanent positions will be established.

—The negotiated contract for the solarium and vestibule was approved. The board may decide to have bricks used. Bids for the solarium-vestibule were rejected twice and the work can now be contracted by negotiation.

—The two snow days will be made up with one being an in-service day and the other one being the Saturday after school is out. Students will go to school on Saturday to get their report cards.

—The school library has been designated as a 'school community' library and a community advisory board was named. The advisory board will meet periodically to advise the library-media center director on matters affecting the community's use of the library.

Appointed to the board were:

Brenda Monrreal, Trudy Torrison, Harry Riser, Jan Barham, Lynn Miller, Mary Chavez, Susan Wells, Rosemary Shafer, Neva Ventura, and Juanita Vallejos.

The New Mexico State Library may award a grant to the Carrizozo Schools for the purpose of automating several collection management functions, and for tying the school library together with a larger library through a long distance telephone-microcomputer hookup.

—Board members agreed to make an exception to the athletic scheduling policy of only having one Thursday game during the 1985-86 school year. Carrizozo has been invited to Floyd for a tournament on Dec. 12, 13, and 14. The players will stay with the Floyd players. Coach Ron Becker feels this will be a good experience for the Carrizozo players.

Carrizozo has also been invited to the Smokey Bear Classic on Jan. 9, 10, and 11 in Capitan. These two tournaments will help the team meet the 22 game schedule that the state sets.

—Principal Dennis Sidebottom explained the seven period day that will take the place of the present six period day. Students now have six periods that are 55 minutes long. Next year they will have seven periods that are 50 minutes long. The school day will be the same length of time, from 8:30 to 3:10.

The seventh period will be an academic period with emphasis on ACT testing. Students needing help in any subject will receive tutoring. Private lessons in music and art will be given. The seventh period will help the ACT test program, will help low achievers, and will get expert help for advanced students.

—Board members adopted a policy where the school will charge $10 for bad checks, starting with the third bad check received.

—Several property related problems in White Oaks has made it necessary for the board to issue public notice that the board will assess lease fees to individuals or companies using school land. These fees will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1985. Grazing fees were established and all agreements are to be in writing. The agreements should include a clause under which the land is to be restored to its original condition to prevent further erosion.

—Board members agreed that school buses may stop only at designated stops.

—A public service leave policy was approved. Anyone elected to public office will be allowed not more than two days leave per month to conduct public business. The leave time will be at full pay, but is not cumulative.

—Newly elected school board members Nat Palomarez and Hoot Gibson were sworn in. Officers remained the same, President Wally Ferguson, Vice-President Hoot Gibson, and Secretary Tommy Guevara.

SHERIFF Tom Sullivan announced a tremendous reduction in the amount of marijuana grown locally. The total value of narcotics seized in Lincoln County in 1984 was $36,490. More time and effort was exerted by the sheriff's department last year to curtail illegal drug traffic.

IN C'ZOZO AREA—

Break-ins and vandalism

A rash of break-ins has occurred in the Carrizozo area in the past few weeks. Small things are being taken from houses and vehicles and windows are broken.

New Horizons Development center was broken into sometimes between 5 p.m. Feb. 8 and noon on Feb. 10. Entry was obtained by breaking a glass on a delivery door. Once inside the building, an office was entered by breaking a glass next to an office door and reaching in and unfastening the deadbolt. A two door cabinet was pried open and about $60, mostly quarters, in a United New Mexico moneybag, was taken. The case is under investigation.

A small trailer owned by Mike Baca of Tularosa was broken into. Items missing included a 30-30 rifle, a small 8 track stereo radio, and a 12 inch TV. The break-in was discovered Feb. 17 in the trailer parked near the Mal Pais. A good set of tire tracks is helping investigators with the investigation.

Sheriff's Dept. puts crimp on 'grass' crop

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan has completed the statistical and progress report for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office for 1984. Sullivan submitted the report to county commissioners at their Feb. 12 meeting when he expressed his appreciation for the support of the commissioners.

Some of the accomplishments for the sheriff's office for 1984 were:

—Initiated a joint effort of adjoining counties to cooperate jointly to combat criminal activities operating in the various counties by forming the Multi-County Law Enforcement Task Force. The Task Force has not reached its potential as of this date.

—Formed a Jr. Deputy Sheriff program for the youth of Lincoln County. This program is in the beginning stages, and is catching on with the youth.

—Installed a computerized Sober-Meter for determining the alcohol level of drunk drivers. The Sober-Meter was obtained at no expense to the county, as the Traffic Safety Commission agreed to furnish it.

Sullivan hopes the Sober-Meter will be beneficial in reducing traffic accidents in the county.

—Investigated 200 accidents and assisted in numerous other cases.

—Reduced the amount of stolen property in 1984 compared to 1983. It is Sullivan's belief that this is a result of better patrol procedures and a 63 percent crime solved ratio.

—A tremendous reduction in the amounts of marijuana grown locally. In 1983 approximately 3,000 plants were seized. In 1984 less than 50 plants were seized, even though more time and effort was exerted in 1984. The US Forest Service has assisted the Sheriff's Department financially in this endeavor.

—Provided advanced training for personnel in specialized fields.

—Continued to employ experienced and qualified deputies. Presently on staff are: three previous sheriffs; one previous Chief of Police, one fingerprint expert, previously employed by the FBI; one previous arson investigator; one previous State Police Officer, one previous shift commander, Roswell Police Department; one previous Lea County deputy and police officer over four years; one female deputy previously deputy and police officer over seven years, and one deputy with two and one-half years with the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept. All but three of the deputies have over ten years law enforcement experience.

—Repainted the entire jail.

—The Lincoln County Jail has been commended by the New Mexico Corrections Department for conditions and operation.

The Sheriff's department had a recovery rate of 41 percent of stolen property with $80,638 being recovered from the $192,854 stolen property for 1984.

Also in 1984, there were ten search and rescue missions, 19 extraditions, 33 narcotic cases, and $36,490 value of narcotics seized. The case solved ratio was 63.3 percent. Checks collected totalled $37,000.

The sheriff's office made 265 arrests in 1984, also issued 241 citations, made 1,250 traffic stops, handled 2,662 calls, served 1,546 civil papers, received 757 offense reports, cleared 284 cases, have 180 cases active, investigated 200 accidents, received 297 animal calls, attended 155 meetings and 181 training sessions, were in court 372 hours, and had a total of 49 crime prevention contacts. Vehicle expense for the year was $49,605. Total miles for the year were 360,508 with 29,596 gallons of gas being used for the year.

The dispatcher's log for 1984: four fatal wrecks, 79 wrecks with injuries, 99 wrecks with no injuries, 352 ambulance calls, 184 wrecker calls, 64 fire calls, 35,440 phone calls, 71,277 radio calls, 38,507 teletype messages, 4,837 walk-ins, 130 hours of training, and 13 schools attended.

The jail log for 1984: 4,197 man days, 12,586 meals served, 69 Camp Sierra Blanca prisoners, 29 juvenile prisoners, 76 alien prisoners, 462 local prisoners, and 636 total prisoners for 1984.

ON THE BOARD

The Canyon Cowbelles hosted a Presidential reception at the Carrizozo Recreation Center for all NMSU alumni, students, parents, and future students on Feb. 13 in honor of New Mexico State University President James Halligan and NMSU staff.

Students from Joe DeTevis art class decorated the walls with an eight foot picture of an Aggie and a sign saying 'Carrizozo Welcomes You'.

The reception was cowboy style with coffee being served in an old camp coffee pot, red checkered tablecloths, and punch being ladled with an old dipper from an old granite canner.

Will Gallacher, the oldest living NMSU graduate, met with President Halligan at the informal affair.

EDUCATIONAL EXTRAVAGANZA

Among the cosmetologists and barber-hairstylists at the all-educational course last Sunday at Roswell's Sally Port Inn was Rita Narvaez, owner of Rita's Creative Hair Styles. Jerrie McClain of Capitan, owner of Jerrie's Hair Boutique accompanied Rita to the all day event sponsored by '1st Addition.'

'1st Addition' is an educational organization whose main objective is to educate, motivate and professionalize the hairstyling industry.

Two top guest artists were featured at the educational extravaganza. Roxie Marsh, a color technician and educator, was one of the original high tech design team members. John Cunningham, winner of numerous hairstyling awards, helped portray hairstyling as an art form.

EYE ADORNMENT

It was the ancient Egyptians who first perfected the art of eye adornment. The legendary Queen Nefertiti and Cleopatra were famous for their beautiful eyes.

Sunday's hairstyling event included guest speaker, Donald J. Ham, Alamogordo ophthalmologist, who spoke about the new technique for enhancing eyes. He introduced the hairstylists and cosmetologists to the permanent lashliner that never needs retouching. A model was on hand to display his work which is done using a microsurgical technique to place color in the second layer of skin just below the epidermis. The color is placed along the lash line in small dots, creating a soft, subtle halo for eyes.

MUSIC AND DANCE

Up With People began with the belief that through music and dance, young people could communicate their ideas and hopes. Five international casts of 125 college-age students meet people and perform in different parts of the world. Up With People incorporated

MASTERS COMPETITION

Rita and Jerrie decided to skip the contest portion of the event this time around but they viewed the work of other competing artists. Among them, Shawn Lock, who took home two second place trophies in mens' and ladies' hairstyling.

Shawn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lock, owns a 6-chair salon in Roswell. The 'North Roffler' is located in the Main Place Shopping Center. Theresa, on Shawn's staff was awarded a third place trophy for her entry in the contest.

UP WITH PEOPLE

"Look, he's staying with us," a proud host mom pointed out during the Up With People show last week.

The show started at 8 p.m. but the advance ticket holders were lined three abreast from the high school door, across the street to Clegg Hall by 7 p.m.

My family's tickets totalled $22. Had other family members attended the show the fee would have been $38. The wholesome song and dance entertainment provided by the cast was worth the price of admission.

The presence of the cast in Carrizozo enriched the life of many (including local business people who took in extra income through food and gasoline purchases by cast or host families.) The host and hostesses that I talked to were pleased with the young men and women who became part of their family. The children in the households were delighted with their temporary older brothers and sisters. Many folks were thrilled to fill an empty nest. Singles also provided room and board for cast members.

MUSIC AND DANCE

Up With People began with the belief that through music and dance, young people could communicate their ideas and hopes. Five international casts of 125 college-age students meet people and perform in different parts of the world. Up With People incorporated in 1968 as an international non-profit educational organization. The organization pursues two basic goals: to build bridges of understanding and communication among people, cultures, and countries and to give young people a learning experience.

Each cast represents 20 different countries. They perform in famous concert halls, village squares and school gymnasiums like ours. They are responsible for all aspects of the daily operation of the cast. This includes advance promotion, travel logistics, business management, applicant interviews and all areas of stage work.

Up With People derives its income from performances and show-related product revenues, student fees and contributions. Cast members can receive college credits for independent study projects associated with their Up With People year.

HOST FAMILIES

By the end of their year in Up With People each student will have lived with some 80 to 90 families in different parts of the world. Host families make a generous and important contribution to the program.

The hospitality of the host families made it possible for the cast to come to our town. Linda Gibson of Carrizozo was the host family locator. She found homes for the cast in Carrizozo, Ancho, Nogal, Capitan and in area ranches. The ranchers and out-of-town hosts went out of their way to provide lodgings for their visitors because the travels to and from Carrizozo each day involved early mornings and late evenings.

Host families are asked to provide lodgings and some meals, but more importantly, they give the students the opportunity to participate in and learn about the rich cultural diversity of the world. Host families were asked to provide individual beds and rest after a long bus trip or a day filled with rehearsals.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

The advance PR team met with business and civic leaders. Such activities with community involvement are all part of the Up With People experience. Bob and Sue Stearns of Nogal were host family for 2 weeks to Denise Montgomery and David Furnish, the advance PR team.

The recent cast, as in casts past, were 'paraded and pot-lucked.' Zozo's Aggie Bucsek was the parade organizer. The cast rode on the fire engine, the school band platform, the cub scout

STATE ESSAY WINNER—Roger Smith, Capitan 6th grader, is the overall winner of the recent essay contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR).

Notes from the Hondo Eaglegram

Reading Teams - The 4th, 5th, and 6th graders have read and reported on 127 books so far this year. The team totals are as follows: 6th grade-Mustangs-36 books, Reading Warriors-14 books, 5th grade-Coon Readers-23 books, Eagles-13 books, Scorpion King-12 books, 4th grade-The Rabbits-18 books, The Cubs-6 books, Big Readers-5 books. Brand Nosker, a 6th grader, has reported on the most books so far—20. Faustina Baca, a 5th grader, follows with 14 reports.

The 2nd grade does hard work (according to us). We have been doing the "Mad minute" every day. It helps develop our math facts. Valerie Maldonado knows her facts better than anyone else in the 2nd grade. — The 2nd grade is learning to write cursive. We are doing a real good job.

The FFA Chapter recently elected a new FFA sweetheart for the 1984-85 school year. The candidate for the senior class was Kirsten Perreault, for the sophomore class-Gail Aragon, and for the freshman class-Jennifer Cooper. The class that sold the most blue and gold sausage in the community got to select the new sweetheart. So, congratulations to our new sweetheart-Gail Aragon. — The Hondo FFA Chapter would like to thank everyone who supported us in this activity. —John Tally, Reporter.

As of the beginning of January the 1st grade has 22 students. The newest student is Shawn Sexton who moved here from Albuquerque. Shawn's father is the new Hondo Valley Highway Patrolman.

The first grade is a very enthusiastic group. Their favorite subjects are reading and math. They have completed 3 books in the reading program and have started on the 4th. The students will begin two digit addition and subtraction without regrouping in math. They have just finished learning to tell time and count small money values. Chip Graham was selected to participate in the Visiting Artist

Program which introduced the children to laser art. Chip had the opportunity to use a laser that was connected to a computer to develop his original drawings. Later this year Chip and other students will go to Alamogordo to the Space Museum to further develop their laser drawings.

SADD - Students Against Driving Drunk. —I know most of you have never heard of this organization. As a representative of this program I hope to inform you about SADD and tell you what it goals are. —SADD is a nationwide program started in 1980 by Robert Anastas, a coach who was concerned over the loss of two of his best players to drunken driving. —I hope you will think seriously about joining this organization. You could be saving your own life or the life of a close friend. If you have any questions, please see me before, during, or after school. — Barbara Barnett.

The special education class is looking forward to some new things. They will be receiving a new computer, new educational materials, and a parttime instructional aide. —In the spring, we will be having a screening day for pre-school children. The children's vision, hearing, and language functions will be checked. —Special congratulations to Edwin Prudencio who has received a scholarship for the Upward Bound Program at Eastern New Mexico University.

Oh, but this sunshine really does feel good and we have enjoyed it for several days with a slight interruption of a light skiff of snow and cold wind, Wednesday and Thursday morning. Otherwise, its clear skies, cold, windy and spring like.

Dr. Earl Leslie DVM of Mountain View will be holding office hours in Capitan at the Blue Columbine (Woodshop) across from the Museum on Tuesdays from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. Call 257-4128 for information or just drop by.

The Capitan Zia Senior Center will soon have a sign on the Highway 48. Virginia Danielson will make the sign. The pot luck dinner will be March 13 and each person is to wear green or else they will be asked to make a donation to the Center. A prize will be given for the "best wearer of the green." After the dinner, Bingo will be played. The donut hole group reported, they have made over 100,000 donut holes. They thank the Community for their patronage. The calendar for March is as follows: Wednesday, March 6 is the trip to Roswell, Wednesday, March 13 is the pot luck dinner and Thursday March 21 is the trip to Alamogordo.

Three hundred sixteen registered visitors did visit the Smokey Bear Museum from February 18-24.

The Parents Teacher Organization now have 40 members and are progressing forward. They have their by-laws and nominating committee. Probably will have meeting the end of March.

The ladies who enjoy playing basketball had a game Sunday at the gym. There was lots of fun full of laughs enjoyed by everyone.

Lionel Charles of Springfield, MO hunted lions with Tom Chaffins and his dogs four days last week. They treed a lion and taken pictures and let him go.

Sunday, Feb. 24 Tom Chaffins and his dogs and Dee Proctor hunted on Dee's Ranch for a stock killing lion. They trailed him for six hours before he treed. A man friend from Roswell shot and killed the lion. This Tom lion was five or six years old had been killing stock for several years.

Robert and Arvel Runnels have had quite a bit of luck hunting Mountain lion the last two weeks. On Thursday, Feb. 14, Jack Hefker put his tag on a very large lion killed in the Mal Pais. Then on Thursday, the 21st, Jim Shepard of Edmund, OK killed another large lion while hunting with the Runnels this time in the Three Rivers area.

Ceil Ware Chaffins is no longer cooking at the Wortley Hotel in Lincoln, much to all of our regrets.

A baby shower at the home of Martha Proctor at Hondo was given in honor of B.B. Berry at 2 p.m. A nice crowd attended and lovely gifts were given.

Willie Hobbs oldest sister who is in the rest home in Hale Center, TX has had another stroke and is seriously ill. I do wish her a good recovery.

Ellen Faye Hammons underwent surgery at the Ruidoso hospital Tuesday morning Feb. 26.

Kay Strickland came home from the Eastern Medical Center in Roswell after several days there recovering from recent surgery. She is doing nicely and I wish that to continue for the very best recovery ever.

Dorothy Payne of Carrizozo arrived home safely Sunday after her recent surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell. I wish you the very best complete recovery and many years of good health. Dorothy.

I had the most pleasant surprise visit from Hal Kingston of Las Vegas, Nevada Tuesday evening as he was enroute home from Dennison, TX. Where, he had laid his mother Velma Kingston to rest. She passed away just one year and two days after his father Paul Kingston who had heart trouble and was with Hal and his family the last three months of his life. Hal is the grandson of the late Dennis Kingston. I had seen him the last eight years. He is a good young man and a joy to see again. I truly did enjoy his visit. He says he will be passing through several times this year and will stop. I have known him as a little boy and watched him grow up and he was such a joy to his grandparents as well as myself.

RECENTLY the Ruidoso News ran a cartoon in which the visage of Wendell Chino, Mescalero Apache leader, was placed alongside the profiles of great US Presidents graven in stone on South Dakota's Mount Rushmore. To me this would come through as a compliment. But to Wendell Chino it was an apparent insult. Giving vent to his displeasure, our information is that he announced that his tribe would no longer consider studying or supporting a proposed railroad from the Inn of the Mountain Gods to the Sierra Blanca ski run. This project would be profitable to the Indian-owned businesses like the Inn and to the town of Ruidoso too.

MR. CHINO, to our knowledge, has not explained just why he is offended at being depicted alongside the nation's great leaders—Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Perhaps this South Dakota monument is associated in the Indian mind with the Crazy Horse Memorial near Custer, scene of battles between the US Cavalry and Indians during the Sioux War of 1876. Gen. Custer and his troops were destroyed in that war. During the Sioux War, Oglala and Cheyenne fought bravely and effectively. Against such odds, Mr. Chino should be proud to have been pictured in stone overlooking battlegrounds where his forebears acquitted themselves so nobly.

THERE is much at stake in killing off the railroad to the top of Sierra Blanca, too much to be knocked off in one person's fit of pique. I wish Mr. Chino would have called at the newspaper for an explanation of the cartoon. If he weren't satisfied with the answer, he could always renew his anger. I don't know a thing about being an Indian leader or chief, but if history serves me right, the chief consulted his wise men (advisers) before any important decision was made. If the Mescalero Indian tribe were consulted and were offended, Mr. Chino is on solid ground. But if he made a unilateral decision based on personal feelings, he is not.

I HOPE Mr. Chino will consult with his advisers and the Ruidoso publisher. If the cartoon is then found to be offensive, ask for an apology, which I am sure will be forthcoming once the grievance is known. "I don't like it" is no way to produce an apology. After that, perhaps the feasibility study can continue; and if found feasible, the Mescalero Indians and the appropriate community agencies can get on with improving the economy and quality of life for everybody.

CBS means never having to say you're sorry

WASHINGTON, VIRGINIA — 1) General William Westmoreland conspired to deceive his Commander-in-Chief and trick his country into sending young men to their deaths in the jungles of Southeast Asia. 2) General William Westmoreland is a patriotic servant of his country who has always upheld the highest standards of his profession.

If you believe CBS, you believe that both statements are true.

When the documentary "The Uncounted Enemy" was aired back in January 1983, newspaper advertisements proclaimed: "CBS Reports reveals the shocking decisions made at the highest level of military intelligence to suppress and alter critical information on the number and placement of enemy troops in Vietnam. A deliberate plot to fool the American public, the Congress, and perhaps even the White House. . ."

During the program, Mike Wallace looked into the camera and told us that "tonight we're going to present evidence of what we've come to believe was a conscious effort — indeed, a conspiracy — at the highest levels of American military intelligence to suppress and alter critical intelligence on the enemy

Since a conspiracy is, by definition, a joint effort by two or more persons to commit an evil or unlawful act, CBS was making a serious charge. A conspiracy like the one CBS described would have been worthy of a court-martial, or perhaps a trial for treason. At the center of the alleged conspiracy was General Westmoreland, US commander in Vietnam from 1964 to 1968, who was cast as the villain of "The Uncounted Enemy."

Three years later, in exchange for the General's agreement to drop his $120 million libel suit, the network issued a statement that "CBS respects General Westmoreland's long and faithful service to his country and never intended to assert and does not believe that General Westmoreland was unpatriotic or disloyal in performing his duties as he saw them."

If, in fact, Westmoreland was and is a patriot, loyal to his country — then CBS' end-of-trial statement contradicts its earlier documentary. I would call it a retraction, except that CBS spokesmen have spent the days since the trial's end frantically denying that any retraction was made. All along, the network based its defense on the Supreme Court's rule of "actual malice." A public figure such as Westmoreland cannot win a libel suit even if he proves the allegations are false and defamatory... unless he can also prove that the news organization (CBS in this case) knew that it was false, or didn't care whether it was false or not.

That's known as an "Idiot" defense because it boils down to this: All the news organization has to prove is that it was stupid enough to swallow somebody's charge against a public figure, and it is absolutely immune from a successful libel suit, even if the accusation later turns out to be false.

Even though a CBS victory seemed certain — how could Westmoreland prove Mike Wallace and Company knew they were lying? — the network was scared enough of the possibility of losing the case that it made its (non) retraction. That's because juries sometimes make decisions

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON—

By LES KINSOLVING

The hypocritical Soviet star war scientist

WASHINGTON — Eighteen Soviet scientists who circulated a letter describing President Reagan's "Star Wars" Strategic Defense Initiative as "practically impossible" have been charged with "a striking hypocrisy" by a top official of the Pentagon.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Richard Perle noted that ten days after Reagan's Star Wars speech in March 1983, the Soviet scientists' letter was published around the world.

"The general theme of this open letter was that strategic defenses were economically impossible and would only fuel the arms race," said Perle during a US Information Agency briefing. "And the extraordinary thing about this open letter is that among the signers of it were the Soviet scientists in the SDI (Soviet Star Wars) program."

Perle did not disclose who these Soviet Star Wars scientists are; nor did any of the reporters at Washington's Foreign Press Center on Jan. 16 ask for identifications.

The New York Post has learned that among these signers of the Soviet "Appeal To The Scientists Of The World" are the following:

+ P. D. Grushin, head of the design bureau responsible for anti-aircraft and anti-ballistic missiles, including the Galosh interceptor missile and a high accelerator anti-ballistic missile interceptor, which is now in development;

+ B. V. Bunkin, an important figure in the development of radars and other key components of weapons systems for strategic defense;

+ Ye. P. Vellkhov, N. G. Basov and A. M. Prokhorov, leaders in the Soviet laser weapons development program for at least 15 years, with Vellkhov director of the Atomic Energy Laboratories at Troitsk, which develops military lasers;

+ V. S. Adnevsky, in charge of a number of projects for military use of space, including a space-based laser weapon.

who signed this open letter also includes:

+ V. N. Chelomel, designer of the SS-11 and SS-19 Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBM);

+ A. D. Nadradze, who designed the SS-16 ICBM and the SS-20 intermediate-range ballistic missiles;

+ V. P. Glushko, designer of the engines for most of the liquid fuel ICBMs now deployed by the Soviets;

+ V. P. Makeyev, the Soviets'

chief designer of submarine-launched ballistic missiles;

+ O. K. Antonov, R. A. Belyakov and A. S. Yakelov, designers of military transports and fighter planes; Belyakov is the successor to A. I. Mikoyan, who was the original designer of the MIG;

+ N. A. Dollezhal and Yu. P. Kariton, leaders of the Soviet military nuclear program; Kariton served for many years as the head of the nuclear weapons research and development program at Sarova;

+ N. N. Isanin, a chief designer of nuclear submarines; + M. I. Kabachnik, a chemist who works in the area of offensive chemical warfare and is reportedly the leading Soviet expert in the synthesis of nerve gas.

In their letter, which was published in Pravda on April 10, 1983, these Soviet scientists

SANTA FE—When times are tough, we need figures that do not lie.

Some of us feel that we don't always get those in the case of projections about what revenue our state is likely to take in.

But unless we know as precisely as possible what expected income is, it's almost impossible to make decisions about spending that truly make sense.

Maybe what we need most of all is an objective, outside source to provide our projections.

THE PRESENT SYSTEM: Nobody is putting down the people who make the estimates at the present time. They are, however, employees of state government—specifically of the Department of Taxation and Revenue, and the Department of Finance and Administration. Since the agencies they serve are affected by the budgets drawn up as a result of their projections, there is a clear possibility that political exigencies may affect the numbers they provide us.

When times were comparatively lush in New Mexico, some of us were cynical enough to believe that these people normally brought in estimates which were actually lower than what could realistically be expected. That allowed the Legislature to keep spending low, so as not to exceed projected revenue. Then, at the end of the year, lo and behold! we had a surplus. And the next year, the Legislature could pass around the dollars in that surplus to their favorite members for their favorite projects.

Now that time have changed and dollars are in short supply, the temptation could be to perform in the opposite way. It is possible that the economists we depend on say to themselves something like this: "The agency for which I work is already being hard hit in its budget by bad times ahead. Why should I tell the legislators things look even bleaker? All that will lead them to do is cut this payroll further. Why not just let the numbers stand, and hope for the best? Maybe the Reagan recovery will take care of things, and it will all come out right."

OUTSIDERS: The legislators do have some advice which comes from non-state employees. The trouble is it just isn't worth much.

Legislative committees retain the services of Wall Street firms to come out here and sketch out for us what they see in the economic future—and that's just about exactly what they do. They fly into town for 24 hours at a high cost per hour, and give the kind of report that could be prepared by a non-economist who simply read the daily Wall Street Journal. (How did these guys get hired? There is a strong suspicion it was because some powerful legislators wanted private advice on their personal portfolios.)

What the state actually needs is some qualified economists who are acquainted with local application of economic facts, who have earned respect for the solidness of such forecasts as they have made in the past, and who are not themselves affected by the conclusions to which they call legislators' attention.

It might be tough to find such prognosticators, but it would be well worth the time of state government to institute such a search.

As for the present system, watch how many times the projections on which the 1985 Legislature operated are revised (almost certainly downwards) after that body goes home.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Yes you may . . .

EDITOR—I would like to add a comment or two about the letter appearing several weeks ago from Mrs. Allen, a resident of Casa Manana Apartments. I agree with her wholeheartedly. Carrizozo has some of the nicest people in the world. Each of the people she mentioned is pretty special. But, could I add someone she forgot?

The Carrizozo Woman's Club is the owner-manager of Casa Manana. That project was conceived, built and is maintained through a tremendous sacrifice and love by a few dedicated individuals in the Women's Club.

I don't have to call them by name; they know who they are. These Woman's Club members and a few community minded citizens (non-members), donated countless hours of their time and spent money out of their own pockets to see Casa Manana become a reality.

I live right across the street, and everytime I drive up to my home I am reminded of the marvelous impact Casa Manana has on Carrizozo.

The Carrizozo Woman's Club as the owner of Casa Manana, has an ongoing responsibility for its success.

The citizens of Carrizozo should be aware of the Woman's Club, its dedicated Board of Directors and members. It has done a lot for the community. The next time you see someone you recognize as a member, say "Thank You."

Killings in Lincoln County

KILLINGS (cont. from last week)

McSween, Alexander A. McSween was the active head of the McSween-Chisum faction during the Lincoln County War. At the climax of the five day battle he attempted to flee from his burning house through a gate on the north side, encountered heavy fire from the sheriff's posse, and was driven back. When McSween called out that he would surrender, Bob Beck with replied that he was a deputy sheriff and would take him prisoner. As Bob stepped out into the light he was cut down, probably by Vicente Romero and Francisco Zamora, who had taken refuge in the chicken house. Wallace Olinger killed McSween so quickly that his body fell on top of Beckwith. Joe Nash and Andy Boyle used a log to break into the chicken house and Boyle shot the men inside. Harvey Morris was a tubercular patient who had been reading law with McSween. He was killed while attempting to escape from the burning McSween house on July 19, 1878. Jim French succeeded to the leadership of The Regulators after the death of MacNab. He was reported to have been killed in June, 1879 in a quarrel over the division of some stolen stock. Charles Bowder (Bowdre) was one of the Regulators and later one of Billy the Kid's gang. He was shot by Pat Garrett at Stinking Springs when he came out of a hut there to feed the horses on the morning of December 21, 1880. Garret had mistaken him for the Kid. He was buried at Fort Sumner. Henry Brown. After the Five Days Battle, Henry Newton Brown was one of the Kid's gang for a short time, but soon left New Mexico. He eventually became marshal at Caldwell, Kansas. However, Brown, his deputy, Ben F.

Wheeler, William Smith, and John Wesley (Harry Hill) so far forgot themselves as to rob the bank at Medicine Lodge, Kansas, on April 30, 1884. During the robbery the president of the bank, George Geppert, was killed and the cashier, E. W. Payne, fatally wounded. The gang was captured by the aroused citizenry and lodged in a small frame house which served as the local jail. About nine o'clock on the evening of that same day a mob burst into the building. Brown broke away from them but was filled with lead before he had run more than a few yards. Tom Offollard (O'Follard) was one of the Regulators and later one of the Kid's gang. He was killed by Pat Garrett and Lon Chambers when Garrett's posse ambushed the outlaws at Fort Sumner on December 18, 1880. He was interred at Fort Sumner.

Bob Beckwith. Robert W. Beckwith was killed, probably by Vicente Romero and Francisco Romero, while serving as a deputy sheriff at Lincoln on July 19, 1878. Lieutenant Colonel N.A.M. Dudley, 9th Cavalry, commanding Fort Stanton, eulogized him as "one of the most upright, energetic, and industrious men of the community, who...lost his life in the conscientious discharge of loyal duty." He was buried at Fort Stanton. Bob Olinger. Robert Charles Olinger was one of the deputies appointed to guard Billy the Kid until he was hung. About 5:30 p.m. on April 28, 1881 Bob took the prisoners involved in the Tularosa War across the street to dinner at Sam Wortley's hotel. Hearing firing from the jail, Temperatures registered last week at Lincoln Station range from a high of 85 degrees on the 19th to a low of seven degrees on the 23rd. Three to four inches of snow yielded 0.19" moisture.

Ben Benson stopped by to visit former neighbors, the Jack Davidsons. He was enroute to Cheyenne, Wyoming Wednesday after a visit with a son in Arizona. He reported the death of his older brother in June of last year.

Services were held Friday afternoon in Kirtland for Lodi Blaylock who died Wednesday in a Farmington hospital after a long illness. Mr. Blaylock, a former resident of the Cedarvale area, is survived by his wife, Eva Mae McCloud Blaylock, of the family home, three sons and four grandchildren. Among those attending the services were Pauline McCloud, Mr. and Mrs. David McCloud, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sanders and Missy Sanders.

Robin Pfeiffer and Dell Roberts were in Albuquerque Sunday to celebrate Robin's birthday.

Kathi Garfield was here from Artesia Sunday.

Mrs. Kennan Fuller and Jason Gibbs made a business trip to Albuquerque Monday and stayed to attend the Liberate concert in the evening.

Officer Mike Hall assumed his duties here last week.

Debbie Moore was in Cristoval, TX over the weekend for their annual rattlesnake roundup and barbecue.

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 35 held the monthly meeting at 2 p.m., Feb. 12 at the American Legion Bldg. A very informative meeting was held on all veteran affairs. A report was given by Auxiliary president, Lola Vickrey, on female veterans who in the past have often been forgotten. The Auxiliary must be made aware of the needs of these women veterans and see that they are taken care of.

The Auxiliary is contributing to the purchase of a locking freezer to the out-patient coffee fund at the Albuquerque VA medical center and also to the Auxiliary emergency fund. Get well cards were sent to members.

A work day is planned for the near future to make therapy rolls, lap robes, and fix puzzles for disabled veterans at the VA Hospital. The Auxiliary is also collecting magazines for the veterans.

It is with great pleasure that the Auxiliary welcomes more new members and junior members: junior member Linda Michelle Cope and senior members Amelia Hindi, Duran, Elsie Nolan, and Wanda McDaniel, Vaughn, Marie Porter, Belen, Lucille King, Capitan, and Sharon Young, Anne Foster, Tracey, Janetta Beth Foster, and Joy Ann Yancey all of Corona.

Mrs. Vickrey, Katie Merritt and Minnie Davenport served cookies, pecan squares, punch and coffee. The next regular meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday, March 5, at the Legion Building, weather permitting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson talked Thursday morning with their son, Butch, who called from Perth, Australia where he is on an inspection tour of titanium mining for Kerr-McGee. He hoped to visit a large gold mine before returning to Sydney where he will be writing reports for about a week.

Killings

(Con't from P. 5)

Olinger, exclaimed, "They are having a fight over there. The Kid has tried to escape and Bell has shot him." As he ran for the jail, Billy appeared at an upstairs window and called out, "Look up, old boy, and see what you've got," at the same instant delivering both barrels of a shot gun owned by Olinger into the deputy's chest. When he was ready to leave the town the Kid broke the gun into pieces and threw them on Olinger's body, saying, "Here is your gun, God damn you! You won't follow me with it any longer." Olinger too, was buried at Fort Stanton.

Bell J.W. Bell was the other officer appointed to guard the Kid in some way the Kid got possession of a pistol and shot him. The details of the killing are still obscure.

Lally Cooler, Charles Crawford, also known as Lalla Coler, was one of Sheriff George W. Peppin's deputies in the Five Days Battle. On July 17, 1878 Peppin sent five men to drive the McSween riflemen off the roofs of building held by them. As Crawford was returning to the Wortley Hotel, a slug fired by Francisco Herreña tore through his left hip. He could not move and it was suicide to go to his aid. The injured man lay helpless until a detachment from Fort Stanton came into the town. Captain Thomas Blair, 15th Infantry, Dr. Daniel Appel, Assistant Surgeon and two enlisted men went to his assistance. They were fired upon by the McSween forces but managed to remove Crawford to the post hospital. He died there on July 4 and was buried at the post.

(Note: The term "lallacooler" or "Lally cooler" is from a card game. It consisted of three diamonds and a pair of clubs. It was the highest hand in the deck but could be played only once an evening.)

Die Brewer. After the murder of Tunstall, Richard M. Brewer was appointed a special constable and set out to arrest the guilty persons. On April 4, 1878 his posse stopped at Blazer's Mill for dinner. While they were eating, Andrew L. Roberts, one of the sheriff's posse that had attacked Tunstall's ranch, rode up to get his mail at the post office. The constable's men drove him into Dr. Blazer's office, where he found a single shot .45-60 Springfield. Brewer and Bowdre hid behind a pile of logs at the sawmill, about 125 yards away. Brewer poked his head up to see what Roberts was doing. A slug from the Springfield store tore off his skull. He was buried nearby.

Roberts. Andrew L. Roberts owned a small farm near Lincoln. When conditions in Lincoln County threatened to develop into open warfare, he sold out to a man in Santa Fe and proceeded to Blazer's Mill to stay with a friend, Sam Miller, while awaiting the check. On April 4, 1878, at Blazer's request, he left the mill, but seeing the mail carrier coming in on another trail, went back to see if his check had arrived. While Roberts was talking with Frank Coe, the other possemen rushed out of the house. A bullet from Bowdre's gun struck Roberts in the left side, ranged through his body and came out just above the hip, inflicting a fatal wound. One shot from Robert's carbine hit Bowdre's belt buckle, putting him out of the fight, recocheted and tore off George Coe's trigger finger. A second went through John Middleton's lung and knocked him down. By now Robert's gun was empty. He jabbed Bill the Kid hard in the belly with the barrel and backed into Dr. Blazer's office. He died about noon the next day in spite of Dr. Appel's ministrations and was buried near Brewer.

...Killed a Martin Chaves (three, names unknown). On September 28, 1878 a marauding band led by John Selman swept through Lincoln County. They murdered two boys, Clato and Desidero Chaves, on the Hondo, and shot another boy named Lorenzo Lucero. A little later in the day they killed Gregorio Sanchez. These appear to have been wanted murders entirely without provocations.

Sam Goodwin. According to Al Erwin, Sam Goodwin was a Chisum, cowboy employee named John Manlove asked for a drink from his canteen, Goodwin replied, "No black s.o.b. shall drink from my canteen." That night Manlove punched a hole in the bottom of the canteen in revenge. A shot out took place, in which Goodwin was killed. He was buried blow Lloyd's Crossing. Rumar had it that Manlove was death summary justice by other Chisum hands.

Billy The Kid. Henry McCarty, Alias William Antrim, alias Billy Bonney, alias Billy the Kid, requires no introduction here. He was shot by Sheriff Pat Garrett at Fort Stanton on July 14, 1881.

Parade spectators also saw a rare sight - three cowboys and one cowgirl. The horse riders wore ten-gallon hats, high boots, and carried real lassos or lassoes (ropes used for catching livestock). The area cowpersons were Allen Langley, Mozaun McKibben, Sammy and Kim Roper. Zachary thought real cowboys wore sneakers and rode motorbikes - like rancher Sterling Spencer

SPECIAL PLACE

Following the Up With People Show the stage thanked their sponsors (United New Mexico Bank and the school system) and their host families. Superintendent of schools Dr. James Miller as in the past spearheaded the Up With People project and others helped along the way.

Rec Center manager Doyle Wood and his staff had a full house the evening of the community pot-luck for the cast. The pot-luck was headed by Mignon Sims, assisted by Linda Gibson and Sue Stearns. Mignon, Lucy Rickman and Iloot Gibson took 100 instant pictures of each cast member and their families for a keepsake folder given to each cast member.

UMW member Alma Sherrill with the aid of cafeteria supervisor Charlotte Archuleta and United Methodist Women served the cast a meal before the performance. The community provided the ingredients of the meal served. And last but not least school maintenance supervisor Nat Chavez and his staff set up the gym seating for the big show.

C'Zozo FFA busy

The past few weeks have been busy for the Carrizozo FFA chapter. On February 12 the FFA chapter met Mr. Halligan, the president of New Mexico State University (NMSU) at the Carrizozo airport. He was escorted through the school and ag department by the FFA and superintendent James Miller.

Kevin Graham the state FFA president visited the chapter on the 13th. He talked to the general shop class and the three ag classes about why he chose to run for an office in FFA, and about decision making and responsibility. Kevin is serving his second year on the state officer team.

Carrizozo FFA held their annual 'Food For America Program' on the 19th. Grades K-5th were taken to the ag farm and were shown several animals such as ducks, geese, goats, pigs, horses, chickens, rabbits and lambs. The kids planted seeds and learned a little about crop production. They were taken through the meat lab and shown the walk in freezers. The kids enjoyed eating sausage, cookies, and milk.

On Saturday, the 23rd, the FFA chapter traveled to Dora for an invitational judging contest and placed third in sweepstakes: 1st place in livestock, second in wildlife, third in horses and ag mechanics. Carrizozo had two high individuals in livestock. They were Jamie Patterson second place, and Lynn Gallacher third place.

Being a host family was a rewarding experience

For the third time Carrizozo and surrounding communities were captive to an unusual group of talented young people. CAST 'E' of "UP WITH PEOPLE" performed to a capacity crowd on Tuesday night, February 19, and were hosted by residents during their three day stay in the area.

Following are comments from some Host Families or Host Parents. (Others will appear in next week's "NEWS" and your comments may be turned in to Phyllis Schlegel at the Carrizozo Health Center or Nenna Vega at the school's Superintendent's Office no later than Monday, March 4.)

Our two kids were delightful! Ina, from Austria and Rhonda from Nebraska are typical of the energetic and exuberant Cast of UWP. We shared photos with both kids and learned alot about Nebraska and Ina's home on the Danube. We would have enjoyed giving our guests a tour of Lincoln County. Unfortunately no free time was allowed. We are looking forward to sharing our home with UWP again next year.

Perhaps we can persuade management to arrange a bit of time for touring. Several other host families expressed the same complaint.

Verma & Bill Adams, Captain
This was the first time to host and to see the Up With People Show. I am looking forward to next year's show and hope to host again!

Mario Ortiz
Being a host family for UWP is an experience everyone in town should have. We felt it was an honor to have two lovely girls in our home. Kimberlynn was from Georgia and Mike came from Japan. What a treat both of them were. They became part of the family immediately; they thanked us for letting them stay but it should be the other way around, we'd paid them for the thrill of having them as part of our family. UWP are welcome in our home anytime.

Hoot, Linda, Jonna & Lori Gibson
We had an European student and an American. Both were very interesting and loads of fun! They wished they'd had more time on the ranch since neither had been on one. Our Swiss girl, Antoinette, said she felt like she was in the movies when she saw the cowboys in the parade! It was a big thrill for her.

Stacy & Alton Wilson
Having UWP members in our home was a fun, educational, enjoyable experience. It is so neat to have young adults come into our home and become temporary members of our family. We had two girls, one from Switzerland and one from Phoenix, AZ. The girl from Phoenix, Michelle, said she prayed she would get to stay on a ranch, and was thrilled to see a "real" cowboy! Regina, from Switzerland, spoke very good English, and shared pictures from Switzerland and her home. Like everyone else, we would have enjoyed having them a few more days.

Allen & Barbara Langley

I think they are a wonderful group and I enjoyed having some of them around. Michael Walker from Portland, Oregon stayed with me and I had 3 girls come over for breakfast. One was staying with Dorothy Martin, and two with Aggie. We tried to fix them up with a nice breakfast and we really enjoyed them. Chuckie Simpson was from Las Vegas, Nevada; Winston McGregor from Corpus Christi, TX; Cindy Sizemore from Chinook, MT, so we had several states represented. I enjoyed them ALL. Hope they do it again some time. I'm all for UP WITH PEOPLE!!

Ralph Forsythe

It was both a pleasure and privilege to have Allyson Brady of El Cajon, CA and Anna Tuovinen of Finland stay with us. They and the others in the UWP cast are shining examples of what is good in our World!

Beth & Gary Hightower

We were real pleased to be a part of UWP. It was very exciting learning about the organization and watching the young men's excitement of what was in store for them down the road. We kept two young men both of which were 21. Jim Berry of Baker, OR brought many interesting pictures and books showing us his state. Scott Boden, Rochester, NY brought pictures and information of home. This was a unique pair of young men for us because we already have a Scott and Jim in our household! It will be easy to remember our first experience. They repeated how excited they were with the parade and having an evening to intermingle with cast and host families at the Rec Center. We gave them each some pictures of the ranch, during branding, etc. They both were keeping journals of their accounts. Jim was getting everyone's address and signatures; Scott was collecting recipes from each host family. It was alot of fun to have them!

Dewey, Linda, Scott and Jim Brown
We always enjoy UWP—have since 1980's and thoroughly enjoyed our houseguests. Unfortunately one of ours, Christian, came down with a strep throat. We are very fortunate to have this enthusiastic group come to Carrizozo.

Barbara and Tom Ward

What a great experience! Talk about UP people, these kids were a great pick-me-UP. This was the second time I've been a host Mom and with each time I've become more involved with the kids and their UP-lifting way of life. I went to rehearsal and was able to see the second half of the show all the way thru. It was wonderful as I remembered all the songs and sang along. Too bad I'm too old to join the group! I've thought of taking my sister's ID and even dyeing my hair. They were great. Miss them!

Agnes (Aggie) Bucsek
GHOST TOWNS—MONTANA OR NEW MEXICO by Dorothy Martin.

Our gal from Montana, Cynthia Sizemore, (better known as Cindy) together with the other three of the UWP ghoulish gang, traipsed with three Carrizozo hooligan hosts in the dark dead of night to White Oaks...just to compare notes. In the absence of street lights, full moon and the bar being closed, our gang inspected the anchor, the wagon, the signs on the door, the skulls on the bar-museum wall by the light of the car headlamps. Then with disappointment and sadness left the fabled ghost town ostensibly to return to Carrizozo and a well-earned rest after their long day of rehearsals and Spanish classes.

But that wasn't the plan of hooligan host Ralph Forsythe...where but to the White Oaks Cemetery for our ghoulish gang! Again by headlamps and the strong beam of Ralph's flashlight, our four guests guided by hooligan hostess Aggie Bucsek, inspected the site with screams and hollers and much delight. Evidently this was a first time and a sure way to confront a New Mexico Governor.

The write of this saga, Dorothy Martin, not a hooligan, took a back seat to keep an eye on the behavior of all and to ensure that the reputation of our visitors was not sullied.

It was my privilege to be Host Mother for Nancy Newton—what a delightful young lady. I feel my life is enriched each time these young people are here. This year was special because I also got to know several of the cast members. They are a hard working, wonderfully dedicated group. Fun to have around and know. The energy they have is contagious. My "High" will last a long time.

based not on legal technicalities but on justice. "The Uncounted Enemy" was one of the most unfair attacks ever conducted by the news media. A consultant, was paid $25,000 to help put the show together, and then appeared in the program as one of Westmoreland's accusers; contrary to CBS policy, he was allowed to rehearse his answers. Another Westmoreland critic was given the opportunity to review previously-filmed comments before being interviewed. Quotes were pulled out of context. When the producers interviewed Westmoreland, they neglected to tell him the specific topic in advance; so he was not prepared and seemed confused trying to remember events 15 years earlier. According to an award-winning story in TV Guide and according to CBS' own investigation, the producer's ignored evidence that contradicted their theory and slanted the documentary as if they were making an argument rather than reporting a news story.

And the very thesis of the program, that defeat in Vietnam was Westmoreland's fault, was absurd. Westmoreland opposed the "no-win" policy that dragged out the Vietnam War. Under orders from President Johnson, he downplayed enemy strength in his public statements, but — as the Pentagon Paper made clear — he fought hard for a US commitment to end the war quickly. If the Vietnam War was the fault of any individual, it was the fellow who sat in the Oval Office deciding which bridges were going to be knocked out each day. It was not the fault of professional military officers like the heroic William Westmoreland.

respectively. Pam Barnett was credited with 16 points for the losers. The Tigerettes travel to Cloudcroft Mar. 1 for a playoff game scheduled for 7 p.m. If the Tigers win this one they will face Cloudcroft Saturday night in Cloudcroft at 7 p.m. for the district tournament championship.

The Hagerman boys defeated Capitan for the 2nd time this season. The winning score was 64-45. The Tigers hit a meager 22 percent from the field. Dewey Keller with 19 points was the only Tiger to score in double figures.

The Tigerette junior varsity fought hard but was defeated 33-23 by Hagerman. It was Kateri Sanchez with 11 points, D. Joiner with 8 points. The Tigerette junior varsity finishes the season with a 7-3 record. Coach Blea stated that he is very proud of these girls.

The weekly Capitan School Bulletin shows the Tiger boys at Tatum Mar. 1 for 3 games beginning at 4 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The New Mexico Water Supply Regulations and the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act require water suppliers to notify their customers whenever they fail to comply with a maximum contaminant level (MCL) or fail to perform required monitoring. Therefore the Nogal Water Users' Association is notifying all Nogal water users that the MCL for turbidity has been exceeded.

The monthly average of daily sample results has exceeded the MCL of one turbidity unit (TU) each month since May, 1984. Although excessive turbidity can interfere with disinfection and can harbor disease-causing organisms, our monthly bacteriological sample results have been satisfactory. Therefore, we may be granted an administrative waiver which will allow up to five TU in our water samples. Construction will begin soon on a new filter plant which should reduce the turbidity to below the MCL. Those who are obtaining drinking water from other sources may wish to continue doing so until the new filter is placed in service.

Because of a misunderstanding or the requirements, we also failed to perform a number of turbidity measurements and resampling as required by the regulations. We are now aware of the requirements and shall perform all required monitoring in the future.

This open letter from the Soviet scientists was addressed: "To all people of good will, above all to scientists; for never before has the task of preserving life and peace on earth become a matter of such high priority. All who are fully aware of the realities of our times understand the implications of increasingly stockpiling death-bearing weapons and creating more and more new, increasingly monstrous means of mass annihilation."

The Soviet scientists also charge that "the US President" and his "gigantic anti-ballistic missile weapon system" would "lead to the emergence of a new element strengthening the American first strike potential."

report which described President Reagan's Star Wars plan as "perhaps the greatest deception of modern times." The report estimated the entire cost of developing and deploying would be $500 billion and could not guarantee full effectiveness. And it also contended that if even one of the Soviet Union's thousands of ICBMs were to penetrate the Star Wars defense, its multiple warheads would cause unacceptable damage. The Soviet scientists also maintained that there could be countermeasures such as space mines, laser beams and decoy missile launchings.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Perle told the briefing that the Soviets have the only deployed system of ballistic missile defense; they have the only deployed anti-satellite weapon; and they have by far the larger program of research into strategic defense. The President has decided that "the United States will also engage in a program of research into strategic defense," which Mr. Reagan reiterated in his State of the Union and Budget messages.
