

COMMISSIONERS —

County subdivision resolution adopted

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Lincoln County Commissioners met in regular session July 30. They heard reports from Sheriff Tom Sullivan, Ken Moore with an update on the Carrizozo Health Center, approved a resolution requiring that subdivision plats be filed within 30 days of the approval, and set a date for a special meeting to inspect the Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates cul de sacs.

The special meeting to consider the variance request on the cul de sacs will be held Saturday, August 10. The Commissioners will meet at 10:30 a.m. at the Lincoln County Sub-Office in Ruidoso and from there will go on an on-site tour of the Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates subdivision.

Gene Duvall, developer of the subdivision, requested that a variance be granted for an 80 foot driving surface on the cul de sacs. The utilities have already been put in and it is his contention that it would create a hardship on him if the county will not accept the cul de sac the way it is.

County subdivision regulations require cul de sacs with 100 foot diameters. The plats for the Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates show 100 foot cul de sacs but after being built do not have 100 foot of driving surface.
Another concern that commissioners voiced was the electric pedestals that have been built out in the driving surface of the cul de sacs. A decision on the variance may be made at the special meeting on Saturday during the on-site tour.

Another special meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, August 14 at the Lincoln County

Sub-Office in Ruidoso at 1:00 p.m. Commissioners will meet with the Village of Ruidoso and the New Mexico State Highway Department concerning the 1985-86 Co-op funds for Lincoln County.
Ken Moore gave the Carrizozo Health Center update. He said that Mary Heller, Certified Nurse Practitioner, will be in the Carrizozo Clinic on Tuesdays. This will give Rosemary Zink, CNP, Tuesday mornings to be in the Corona Clinic and have Tuesday afternoon off to compensate for being on call every weekend and each night.

Moore also said that Dr. Arlene Brown will be in the Carrizozo Clinic the 2nd and 4th Thursday mornings of the month. Commissioners agreed to reimburse Dr. Brown $750 for the total of one day per month she would be in Carrizozo.

In other business
An agreement was signed with the Army Corps of Engineers for construction of emergency streambank protection works on the Rio Ruidoso at County Road B-015.
Roads in Wolf Creek and Wolf Springs subdivisions were accepted for the preliminary road inspections. Routine maintenance of the roads will be an ongoing obligation of the builders during the two years from the time of acceptance and it is their responsibility to keep the roads the same conditions.

The resolution requiring plats be filed within 30 days of approval from the Commission states that if all fees and documents are not filed within 30 days the final approval by the L. C. Board of Commissioners will automatically be withdrawn and the L. C. Clerk shall not accept the subdivision for filing.
The Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended the resolution. The P & Z also said thirty day period would give the subdividers time to get the other required signatures on the plat. Some agencies will not sign the plat until the Board of County Commissioners have acted and approved this.

Approval of these subdivisions will be withdrawn unless the plat fees and other documents are filed within 30 days from July 30. The 1985 subdivisions are Las Cruces subdivision, Vera Cruz subdivision and Matanza subdivision.

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan's statistical and progress report for the last six months of 1984 listed some of the accomplishments from January thru June 1985. Using the 5 violator fee money earmarked for jail improvements, an exercise area for inmates has been built in compliance with federal correction regulations, a commercial cook range complete with hood has been installed and the old jailer bedroom has been remodeled into an office for the investigator.

Sullivan also mentioned the in-house firearms qualification program for all personnel carrying firearms that has been initiated and computerized forms for affidavits and complaints which has been approved by the Administrator of Courts. Lincoln County is the first law enforcement agency to go to this system.
Sullivan ended his report by saying that his department has conducted a long and lengthy investigation into the murder of former Lincoln County Commissioner Cotton McKnight and his wife Judy McKnight. The investigation has been under some very adverse conditions, however, Sullivan said "We are confident that we will be bringing this investigation to a successful conclusion in the near future."

Highlights of Sullivan's report: 176 arrests, 572 civil cases handled, 265 animal calls, 85 training sessions for employees, eleven narcotics cases, $68,010 in narcotics seized, 7,568 meals served in the jail to 519 prisoners during the six month period, $19,051 collected for the merchants of Lincoln County in worthless checks, and stolen property recovered that was worth $1,039,469. Included in that amount is the more than one million dollar value of the sketch of Yoko Ono that was recovered after a drug raid.

Hindi team sets record

The 1985 Pony Express race was won by the Hindi team of Duran, New Mexico. That sounds simple enough, and certainly final enough. But it took one hour and fifty four minutes of highly skilled work to do it.

In 1984 Ted Clements had come back to the race and dominated it in an awesome manner. He left the second exchange with a twenty minute lead. The number two team headed up by Calvin Veneno of Dulce made a fine bid to overtake Clements and closed the gap to ten minutes at the finish line. The Hondo Valley team looked unbeatable. The Hindi team eased through the third leg with a horse they would not do damage to. They were out of the race and '84 was gone.

Friday night at the Calcutta auction the Hindi team won a spirited bid and purchased themselves. This seemed to indicate they came to win Saturday morning. Mark Mascareno was on the number one horse, bareheaded, and with one goal in mind, don't let the Clements team get too far out front.

Young Kerry Clements sat his horse and it was rumored around that he might beat his dad. In fact, he was only four minutes behind at the second exchange. Then came the Hindi team, nine minutes out of the lead. As Jamil Hindi took the race from Mascareno he left little doubt that he intended to overtake the leader.

Now came the Bonita Stables team with Chris Peralta handing off to Sandra Rankin. Cunningham had turned it over to Ted Clements and Kerry handed the race over to Hank Wood.

Meanwhile back at the first exchange Paul Perea and Leland Jackson had run into difficulties and the race was over for the Crenshaw team. Over except for a long year of looking back at it and dreaming. If we could just have...

For each of the five teams who reached and left the starting point there would be a very remarkable story. It is unfortunate that that story does not get told.

At the finish line Jamil Hindi came in first on a great grey stallion, in a time of one hour fifty four minutes, five minutes less than the '84 time. Then came Ted Clements, then the second Clements team and then Pretty little Sandra Rankin. Ted cut three minutes off his '84 time at one hour fifty six minutes and Kerry equalled the '84 time of 1:59. Chris and Sandra finished at 2:10 still a very commendable time.

The Hindi team was of course, jubilant and took turns walking the stallion. It was something to watch him gingerly put his feet to the earth feeling the near effect of exhaustion through his muscles. He didn't understand the race, he had just simply done what he had been asked to do.

Meanwhile on another part of the grounds were some folks with solemn faces. Looking back. Not bad losers, just winners who on this day got beat. The team master has to ask himself, did someone outdo him, or did someone's horses outperform his.

It is one of the great events of our country. If we are lucky, and work hard, these great people will come back next year and be at the starting line. And when the gun fires it will be a brand new world.

WINNERS OF THE PONY EXPRESS RACE—Harold Mascareno, Jamil Hindi, Mark Mascareno, and Abraham Hindi. Mark was the first rider and Jamil was the second rider. Together they set a new record time for the race.

Supplemental bill passes

WASHINGTON — Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) and Congressman Joe Skeen (R-NM) praised Congress' passage of the 1985 Supplemental Appropriations Bill because it "includes the funds and land transfer language to complete transfer of land at the Fort Stanton site for construction of a new airport for Ruidoso."

Domenici said. "I commend NMSU President James Halligan and his Board of Regents for working together with federal and local officials to make this come about and I am glad that I was able to work as a middle man to bring this agreement about and to help pass this measure on the Senate side."

package for all parties involved."

The bill passed in the final hours of Congress Thursday before it broke for the August recess. Both Domenici and Skeen said the measure needed to be included on the supplemental bill for 1985 because "plans for developing the new site needed to be started now and not months later."

"We have now cleared the final legislative hurdles that have stood in the way of building a new airport for Ruidoso," Skeen said. "At the same time, New Mexico State will have the funds needed to continue its important range and wildlife research projects now underway at the Fort Stanton site. This has turned out to be an ideal and practical

The bill now goes to the President for signature.

"After months of negotiations, meetings with federal, state, local and University officials, we have adopted a fair package that frees up the land for a much-needed new airport for Ruidoso while compensating New Mexico State for the loss of their valuable agricultural research activities."

RC&C to meet

The South Central Mountain RC&D will meet Tuesday, Aug. 13 at the La Cochera Restaurant in Ruidoso. The meeting will start at 10:30 a.m.

The program will be about the WIPP site in Carlsbad. Everyone is invited to attend.

WAY TO GO—This couple passed through Carrizozo July 25. It took them a year to travel from Minnesota to Arizona and they're on the way back home.

CEDARVALE DAY

Obie and Dorothy Simmons of Carrizozo were in Corona last Saturday and accompanied Pete and Helen Porter of Corona to Cedarvale. Pete is Dorothy's brother. The two couples enjoyed a day of visiting at the Cedarvale celebration, a 2-day event held annually.

The Simmons, former Corona area residents, saw many acquaintances of years past. People traveled from all parts of the country to be there and registration Saturday was about 350. A covered dish luncheon was served by the St. Rita Choir in the raffle project and to the general public for their contributions. The quilters use quilt raffle monies to fix the parish hall, thus making the facility a nicer place for all church members.

Those who worked on the latest quilt included Cecilia Ortiz, Ramona Ortiz, Helen Serna, Arsenia Narvaez, Nacha Verdugo, Corrine Sandoval, Millie Baer, Isabel Vega and Gloria Munez. They met this week to plan their annual Christmas quilt.

NATIVE NEW MEXICAN

O.B. Simmons, son of Obie and Dorothy Simmons of Carrizozo will be part of Anthony's school staff this fall. Anthony is located between Las Cruces and El Paso. He will teach shop. O.B., wife Marilyn and children Bruce, Kirby, Kimberly and Justin have moved to Anthony from Fort Worth, TX. O.B. graduated from Corona High School, received his degree from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales and has taught several schools in New Mexico

SUMMER INSTITUTE

Former Carrizozo area resident, Margie Pino Hobby recently spent six weeks in Spain. Margie, daughter of Pres and Esther Pino of Carrizozo, now resides in Polvadera, NM.

The trip, under the direction of Dr. Lopez-Gaston, was a summer institute for New Mexico Highlands University students. During the trip Margie and fellow students studied Spanish literature, history, grammar and gave presentations. Parts of the course were quite difficult and required a lot of study time, but according to Margie the trip was well worth the effort. Margie would like to share the experience of the tour with Lincoln County News readers. The following contains Margie's own personal account of the tour.

COMFORTABLE FLIGHT

"Our flight was comfortable from Albuquerque we flew to Dallas, TX, where we changed planes and that was the last change we had, thank goodness. From Texas, we went on a non-stop chartered Iberian flight straight to Madrid, Spain. We left New Mexico at 1:45 p.m. on a Monday and by Tuesday, 11:50 am (Spain time), we were in Madrid. The first day was reserved for rest."

"My roommate for the first few weeks was Elizabeth Pacheco of Maxwell, New Mexico's 1984 Mother of the Year. She has twelve very successful children. She had been to Spain previously and proved to be a very informative guide. One of the greatest pleasures of traveling, I've always felt, are the wonderful friendships that develop. I couldn't have had a better roommate—Elizabeth was so easy to get along with. Later on, she departed from the group in order to travel independently to Rome and upon her return to the group, she brought me a medal from the Vatican of the Holy Family."

"One of the things we had in common was an interest in San Ysidro. This was her grandparents' patron saint, as well as mine on my mother's (Esther Lopez Pino) side. In her studies of his life, Elizabeth, found out that when the church officials were doing research on him, they discovered that his wife, Maria, was also an extremely devout person—as much as, if not more so, than San Ysidro. Therefore, his wife was also canonized 'Santa Maria de la Caveza.'"

"Elizabeth knew that he had been born in the old part of Madrid, so we decided to try to find his house. After traversing many crooked, narrow, little streets, we located it—a plain, nondescript building of gray stone blocks with a very old set of large double doors. Unless a person was actually looking for it, he would not notice the small carved inscription above the doorway, along with the family Coat of Arms. Unfortunately, the house was all boarded up—closed to the public. We also wanted to find the church that was dedicated to the couple and after looking for quite sometime, we happened upon a moderately steep road, climbed it, and there it was. The entire edifice is under restoration, but we were able to enter the small, plain chapel containing the sculpture of San Ysidro and Santa Maria de la Cabeza, where I lit a candle offering for my mother back home. One of the most unusual statues in the chapel was dressed in black velvet from head to toe, with a crown of stars about her head—this was Nuestra Senora de Dolores (Our Lady of Sorrows). There was such a peaceful feeling about the little church and the surrounding plaza! We were very happy to have visited it.

(The next day, the college group took a bus to several places close to Madrid, which Margie will write about next time.)

OPINION

Ernest V. Joiner

ABC-TV White House correspondent Sam Donaldson is frequently on the backs of politicians for being greedy and for cashing in on their positions when it comes to making speeches or negotiating business deals. I don't know Sam's annual salary for his TV newscasts. But if the New Jersey Star Ledger is correct, Egalitarian Sam delivered a 20-minute commencement speech at Glassboro State College in June for which he charged $11,700. That's $585 per minute. Students had to pay half that bill, the New Jersey taxpayers the other half. Next time Sam makes one of his frequent TV comments on how the government is wasting taxpayer money, abusing the poor or showing signs of a lack of compassion, remember how poor students and poor taxpayers paid him $585 a minute for a commencement speech he should have had the courtesy and compassion to do for nothing.

INSTEAD of beefing up his wallet, Good Sam might have been on ABC-TV with information the media doesn't deem important but the world probably does. The media has given wide coverage to the trial in Rome of three Bulgarians and four Turks charged with complicity in Mehmet Agca's attempted assassination of the Pope in May 1981. Curiously, it remains silent on a significant development in that case. The Soviet Union has "ordered" the Italian government to stop that trial "immediately." Bulgaria is a Soviet captive nation. Two other Bulgarians involved in the assassination plot escaped arrest. Italy asked the Soviets to send those two, Teodorov Ayvasov and Jelic Vassiliev, to Italy to stand trial. The Soviets refused this request, at the same time ordering Italy to end trial of the others involved. Agca has identified the Soviet and Bulgarian KGB as arranging the assassination of the Pope. If the Soviet's KGB is innocent in the shooting of the Pope, it has missed the chance to establish its innocence. The media is silent on this news. Why?

JOURNALIST Marx Lewis, writing in the Washington Inquirer, points out that this is not the first time the Soviets have ordered other sovereign nations around. Lewis reports that the Soviets have ordered Japan, which has no military defenses, not to start building its military defenses, even though Soviet missiles are aimed at Japan. The Soviets threatened Pakistan if it did not use its good offices to prevent President Reagan from exerting pressure in Nicaragua, where the Soviet Union is supporting a Communist take-over. The Soviets promised dire consequences to West Germany if it agrees to support Reagan's plan for defensive weapons in space (SDI, or Star Wars). Isn't there a news item here worthy of Sam's expertise on the Five O'Clock News? When Reagan speaks harshly of the Soviets it gets top coverage in the media. But when the Russians threaten other nations who do not do their bidding, the media has little or no comment. Recent polls indicate most Americans get their news and comment on foreign affairs from TV. A tragedy.

ATTENTION all drunks. Ronald Snow was fired from his postal service job in 1972 because he was an alcoholic with a record of excessive absenteeism. In 1978, Snow claimed that he had been rehabilitated through Alcoholics Anonymous. Thus fortified, he filed suit charging that his alcoholism was a "handicap" and thus he could not legally be discriminated against. The federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission agreed and ordered his reinstatement, along with $200,000 of your money as back pay. This is indeed the Land of Opportunity. Shall we drink to that?

JOCOSERIOUS July has gone and there's a hull for the gathering of strength to face August. In New York City a public high school opened for homosexual and lesbian students. Named for San Francisco's revered and respected sex pervert Harvey Milk, the school will be operated by the NYC Board of Education in conjunction with the Institute for the Protection of Gay and Lesbian Youth, financed in part by city and state taxpayers. Illegal aliens are being welcomed as students at the University of California and California State University systems, and if the US Immigration Service officers aren't on campus on Registration Day to do their duty... In Northumberland, England a rock band staged a benefit concert for prisoners of Atton jail. The prisoners walked out to protest the foul language. Steven L. Knox, known affectionately as the "Lovers Lane Rapist" with a burning desire to start a family; was sentenced to 142 years (and four months) in prison by a Contra Costa judge. Unless the law of averages has been repealed, Mr. Knox will be out in six years to pursue his passion. Greenpeace, an environmental group, had its flagship "Rainbow Warrior" blown up in Auckland, New Zealand by disgruntled veterans of Vietnam. The ship was enroute to French Polynesia to conduct US foreign policy by interfering with the French nuclear weapons tests at Mururoa Atoll this month. A bill was introduced in Congress that would turn over 1.3 million acres of "sacred" land to the Sioux Indians to atone for an unfair treaty signed more than 100 years ago. There goes the farm. In Lagos, Nigeria we learn of a quick cure for cocaine possession. A 20-year-old woman was executed by firing squad for possession, the fourth woman so far to take the cure. The US Census Bureau announced that California ranks high above national average in three professional categories—doctors, lawyers and welfare recipients. Jane Fonda's videocassette exercise workouts sell for $370 on the black market in Moscow (Russia, not Idaho). John F. Kennedy is the nation's choice for the Greatest US President among both Democrats and Republicans, according to a Gallup Poll. Kennedy is best remembered for his brilliant military victory at the Bay of Pigs and unconventional corking in the White House swimming pool. Thomas Jefferson ranked 10th. Rather than face a lawsuit that would surely clap the entire county population in jail and strip them of their possessions, the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors agreed to pay $12,000 of our tax money to jail inmates who had to sleep on the floor because of crowded conditions—at $100 per person per night, the going price for a bed at San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel. Unfortunately, July will be back next year.

CATCHY full-page ad in the SF Chronicle, sponsored by The Joan B. Kroc Foundation of San Diego. It asks us how long can we live with the arms race. It points out that the US and the Soviet Union now have enough nuclear weapons to destroy the world 67 times. Its point is: Don't make any more nuclear weapons because we already have too many. Question: If we have enough bombs to destroy the world 67 times, why should anyone worry about building enough to destroy the world 68 times? The point the ad hopes to make is, methinks, "a Kroc." Unless the Supreme Court has ruled otherwise, we only die once, not 67 times.

NAACP leader deplores black caucus and the Washington Post

WASHINGTON — On the Fourth of July, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's denunciation of five black superstar entertainers was transmitted nationally by the wire services.

Attorney Melanie Lomax, Southern Conference coordinator of the NAACP's "Fair Share" program, charged Tina Turner, Michael Jackson, Lionel Richie, Diana Ross and Prince with "hypocritical discrimination" because they have "almost entirely white operations...and have excluded blacks from their operations."

Publicist Norman Winter, who represents Michael Jackson, described Jackson as "color-blind" and explained: "Michael just gets the best people he can without worrying whether they are black or white."

Richie's manager, Ken Krager, replied: "I am not aware of any conscious effort to keep blacks out." Prince's manager, a black named Fred Moultrie, said he tries to hire blacks, "but there is sometimes a lack of expertise."

Spokesmen for Diana Ross and Tina Turner declined comment because they had not been informed of the NAACP campaign.

During a telephone interview with attorney Lomax in Los Angeles, she was asked about the disproportionate number of white staffers employed by members of the Congressional Black Caucus. For a survey of the twenty members of this caucus revealed that in their Washington offices, they employ a total of 150 staffers — nearly one-third of whom (45) are white.

Four of these Congressmen have all black staffs: Louis Stokes of Ohio; Parren Mitchell of Maryland; Julian Dixon of California; and Charles Hayes of Illinois. But six of the nine staffers of Missouri's Alan Wheat are white. Five of the eight staffers of California's Ron Dellums are white. Half the eight staffers of Pennsylvania's Bill Gray and Tennessee's Harold Ford are white.

Four days after the news of this NAACP denunciation of black stars broke nationally, there was still no comment on this from any of the 20 members of the Congressional Black Caucus. But when the NAACP's Lomax was asked about the predominantly white staffs of Congressmen Dellums and Wheat, she replied: "That's pretty incredible."

Lomax's NAACP denunciation of the black stars was strongly supported by The Washington Post's syndicated columnist Dorothy Gilliam, Ms.

Gilliam wrote a column on this issue headlined: "A RECORD OF HYPOCRISY".

Columnist Gilliam was out of the country (in South Africa) and unavailable for comment. But her editor, Eric Pianin, who edited this column, was unable to recall any instance in which Gilliam had ever protested the racial discrimination on the board of directors of The Washington Post Company — which pays her salary.

The Post Company board of directors, who are paid stipends of $25,000 a year for attending six meetings, is comprised of nothing but white men, along with one woman, Chairman Katherine Graham. These directors include Nicholas Katzenbach, former Attorney General and alleged civil rights advocate.

For the past three years, a black publisher, Robert Maynard of The Oakland Tribune, has been nominated to this board of directors — and voted down by such shareholders as Katzenbach. Maynard is unquestionably qualified, having also served as The Washington Post's own ombudsman, after he had been a Post reporter. When asked why he had voted against Maynard, Katzenbach angrily replied: "How I vote on racial matters is my own business."

In Los Angeles, Lomax of the NAACP said that she was not aware of this situation at The Post, but "I know of Bob Maynard, and he's unquestionably qualified". His exclusion as well as the composition of The Post Company's board of directors is "pretty objectionable," concluded Lomax, who added that she will be looking into this matter.

Lomax's mother, Almena, is the former publisher of a weekly newspaper in Los Angeles, who became a reporter for The San Francisco Examiner.

In 1972, Almena Lomax wrote a column for The Examiner in which she deplored the acquittal of Communist professor Angela Davis, who had been indicted and put on trial for the murder of Marin County Judge Harold Haley and the crippling of Assistant District Attorney Bruce Bailes in an attempt to free Black Panther George Jackson.

In her column, headlined "A LYNCH MOB IN MARIN," Lomax quoted one of the jurors at Davis's trial who explained: "I was determined to prove that a white person could identify with the oppressed of the world" — which Lomax described as a "blatant malfunction of the jury process."

Lomax also asked in this column: "Does Angela Davis ever consider the injustices done by such a scared verdict, and does she include the victims in Marin county along the oppressed of the world? (Marin County is the site of San Quentin Prison and is joined to San Francisco by the Golden Gate Bridge.)

What heroes are made of

WASHINGTON, VIRGINIA — When Lillian Hellman was buried, America's elite turned out for the funeral.

Katherine Graham, chairman of the board of The Washington Post, was there, as was MIT president-emeritus Jerome Wiesner. Also present were Mike Wallace of "60 Minutes," New York Times columnist Anthony Lewis, journalist Carl Bernstein, movie directors Warren Beatty and Mike Nichols, playwright-cartoonist Jules Feiffer, and novelists William Styron and Norman Mailer. And the executors of the $4 million Hellman estate — Kingman Brewster, the former president of Yale and former ambassador to Britain, and novelist John Hersey. It was a star-studded sendoff.

"Lillian Hellman was remembered as a courageous woman who stuck to her principles," reported United Press International. Said MIT's Wiesner, "I have been able to see young people's faces light up when they hear her name. To them, she is one of the heroines of our time." The Reuters news service eulogized her as "a heroine to United States liberals." The New Republic called her "a model for independent women everywhere," while The Washington Post said she was "a woman of wit and charm, a gracious hostess and a great fisherman." An Omni magazine survey released shortly after her death named her as one of the 13 best role models for young girls, right after Gloria Steinem.

And she was a Communist. One of the highest-paid writers in Hollywood during the late '30s and the '40s, her income reached $150,000 a year even in those pre-inflation days. She hosted dinner parties attended by the likes of William Faulkner, Nathaniel West, Dorothy Parker, and the Garhwins. Dashiell Hammett, creator of Sam Spade and the dues-collector for the local Communist Party organization, was her lover, and they were part of the inner circle

Letters TO THE EDITOR

OUR REAL ENEMY —

EDITOR—We are constantly being bombarded with the threat of Communism and Russia, but if the USSR is our great enemy then why do we supply her with money, food and technology? Is it that we have a lot of traitors in this country or that the Real Enemy is not the Communists at all!

Our real enemies are the International bankers, International oil companies, Council of Foreign Relations, Trilateral Commission, Federal Reserve System. The Eastern Establishment, i.e., the elitist super rich group who want to set up a one world government and a one world money system which they will naturally control and use to enslave the rest of us.

No matter which major political party happens to be in power the end result is the same. Our debts get bigger and the interest payments to the bankers get higher.

The lust for power is not as likely understood as is the desire for fame and fortune. Perhaps some who have obtained great notoriety feel they are entitled to rule, or that control of others is the only sensation remaining in a jaded existence. Whatever the case, those afflicted are responsible for most of the wars, slavery, and human misery throughout the world.

The subject of a new book just released called "Architects of Conspiracy" provides an intriguing and scholarly examination of these conspirators - beginning with the French Revolution and continuing through the American Revolution, the Civil War, Reconstruction, robber barons, and banking conspirators, the two world wars...and bringing the reader up to contemporary machinations of the Trilateralists and Council on Foreign Relations. It makes fascinating reading.

SANTA FE—If you've been sitting around waiting to hear what great new ideas for improving education in the state our Governor was going to come up with, forget it.

His plans have been published, but they contain almost nothing new. (One different notion would have every teacher spend an additional ten days per year on the payroll, going about visiting the homes of his or her pupils.)

Probably it's something of a misnomer to call this the Governor's plan. Sources inside his office indicate most of the suggestions come from the education department at the University of New Mexico, rather than from Santa Fe. Some, of course, come from Anaya's visit to Texas, a state which had previously seemed to be modelling its change on what New Mexico has already accomplished.

CENTRALIZING: One of the major propositions in the Anaya plan, it is not surprising to learn, is that the present Department of Education, not subject to the governor's will, be taken over by the Office of Education, which the governor controls. As presently constituted, the Department governs the content of what is taught; and the Office runs financial affairs.

There is no doubt that the two should be combined into one, but some have severe doubts that the direction of the combination should be the one the Governor is pressing for.

Dr. Luciano Baca, who presently runs the Office of Education under the Governor's direction, recently told members of the elected Board of Education who run the Department that his plane should be taken over by them.

of Hollywood leftists. Writer Martin Berkeley testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC) that Hammett and Hellman were present at a Communist Party meeting at his home in June 1937. (Fifteen years later, when asked whether Berkeley was telling the truth, Hellman testified: "I must refuse to answer on the grounds that it might incriminate me.") She helped Hollywood Communists build a powerful network that enabled many of them to get jobs (and salaries) far beyond their abilities. As producer Roy Huggins, who joined the party but dropped out, said, "There were left-wing writers who wouldn't have worked without their politics — awful writers, but they were politically smart."

Meanwhile, Hellman campaigned for aid to the Communist forces in Spain. She opposed American involvement in World War II because she didn't want the US to aid in Hammett's phrase) Britain's "imperialist expansion"... though she changed her mind on June 22, 1941, when the Nazis double-crossed their Soviet allies and attacked Russia. motherland has been attacked," she told a friend.
 Hellman praised Stalin, the murderer of tens of millions of people. She defended the purge "trials" and mass executions that even the Soviets criticized later, after Stalin was safely cremated. She travelled to Russia and returned to talk about all the happy faces she had seen there. She denounced the organizers of relief for the Finnish victims of the Soviets. ("... and there is nothing in my life of which I am ashamed," she wrote later.) All the while, she worked to keep Hollywood safe for people who hate democracy. In 1952, when called before the HUAC for questioning about her communist activities, she at first said she would testify only about herself, not about others. Then she took the Fifth Amendment, refusing to testify even about her own past. The committee declined to prosecute her. She refused to sign an oath of loyalty to the United States, and movie producers were reluctant to give screenwriting jobs to a supporter of America's principal enemy. Jobless, she was required to live off her accumulated wealth for six or seven years, and that is the basis of her claim to be a martyr in the cause of "civil liberties."

 Over the years, she denied her Communist connections, telling the ridiculous lie that she never knew—never even asked!—whether Hammett, her mentor and roommate of three decades, was a Communist. In best-selling memoirs, she painted herself as an innocent victim of "McCarthyite, witchhunts" for communists. As more and more people accepted that myth, her stature increased.

In 1981 she made the World Almanac list of the 25 most influential women in America. In obituaries, The New York Times assured its readers that "she was not a Communist" and Newsweek declared flatly that she "had never been a Communist."

Hammett, who taught her many things, knew the value of a sustained lie: "nothing so impresses a jury as a bare statement of fact," he wrote, "regardless of the fact's inherent improbability or obvious absurdity in the face of overwhelming contrary evidence." Hellman's closest friend at the time of her death, novelist Peter Feibleman, defended errors and omissions in her memoirs by saying, "All great writers have the right to fool around with the facts."

But lies are made for the living. When Hellman died, she left nearly $2 million for the creation of the Dashiell Hammett Fund, which will make grants to Marxist writers. Her will instructed the fund's trustees to be "guided by the political, social, and economic beliefs—which, of course, were radical—of the late Dashiell Hammett, who was a believer in the doctrines of Karl Marx." It was more evidence, not that we need it, of what kind of people the cultural elite admires and respects and makes into heroes.

(CON'T FROM P. 4)

That's not an idea Governor Anaya wants given circulation, and Baca ran considerable risk putting it forward.

COMBINING: Governor Anaya is presently suggesting that such a melding of the two establishments should not take place until after he has left office. That's an attempt to defuse the arguments of those who will say he wants all this done only to give himself more power. If execution of the plan is delayed till he has left, Anaya apparently believes, it will be harder for others to oppose it.

But the fact is that New Mexicans have traditionally tended to go with power in the hands of elected bodies rather than in appointive ones. If Anaya got his way, the Board of Education chosen by the people would be done away with and the whole show would be run by somebody chosen solely by and responsible to the chief executive.

Does it matter which method prevails?

Well, look at it this way: The educational system is by far the biggest "industry" in the state of New Mexico. In almost every city, town and village, it hires the largest number of employees and certainly does more purchasing than any other single source. That gives it a lot of clout.

In turn, anybody who has control of all this has that clout multiplied many times over.

PROGNOSIS: This observer of the political scene would predict the present legislature isn't about to adopt that portion of the Anaya plan as proposed. In fact, it can be expected to reject it with loud and rude noises as accompaniment. If any consolidation comes into play, it is likely to be the way Dr. Baca wants it, not the way Toney does.

News

by MARGARET RENCH

There certainly is joy and happiness with deep appreciation in this community, as of August 1, we have received three and two tenths inches of good gentle rain which the soil took all in. This is August 5. Each day there has been a little moisture. The parched lawns, pastures, etc., are turning green; makes breathing easier in this atmosphere. It's wonderful. We who have lived here for years know how to appreciate this moisture as this has been the worst drought and grasshopper infestation ever.

Last Monday, I worked on the Water Bond election and was unable to get all of the news on. I wrote and mailed what I had on Sunday afternoon so as not to fall you. If I had waited until Tuesday, it would have been too late. But you will find what you left with me in this column this week. Just try to understand. We must follow our routine in order for everything to come together.

School begins Aug. 19

By BARTLEY McDONOUGH
The first day of school for Capitan students is August 19. School busses will run and meals will be served on this date. A workshop for teachers will be held on August 16.

School counselor Dick Esthimon would like to have students in grades 7 to 12 come by his office in the high school and complete registration. The dates for this are August 14 & 15 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. New students should bring their birth certificate and shot records.

The Tiger Guard (marching band for students in grades 7-12) began practice on August 6. Drill sessions start at 4:30 p.m. and end at 9 p.m. Part of this time is for marching and show preparation and another part is for music instruction. Flag girls work on fundamentals while the band rehearses.

The first Tiger football practice is scheduled for August 12 at 8 a.m. The team will meet at 10 a.m. August 10 in the new gym. Zale Woodward is the new head coach. Zale will also teach physical education and drivers education. Woodward comes to Capitan from Corona.

The first game on the Tiger schedule is August 31 with the Artesia JV on their turf. Game time is 7:30 p.m. The Tatum Coyotes visit Capitan on September 6 for a 7:30 p.m. game. The Tigers then go to Texico on September 13 for a 7:30 p.m. game and return home for a 7:30 game with Hagerman on September 20. The Hagerman game is also homecoming.

The Tigerettes get underway on August 24 when they host the Capitan Jamboree Volleyball Tournament. Other teams in the tournament are Socorro, Moriarty, Tularosa, and T or C. New teachers in addition to Woodward are Mary McIlwain who will be teaching 3rd grade for 1 year while Pam Noriega takes a leave of absence to work on a higher degree. The high school secretary this year will be Diane Newsom. Aurora Sanchez, high school special ed teacher, has resigned and will be replaced as soon as possible.

School short notes
December 15 is the completion date for the new library. —High school students are to use the parking lot on the west end of the high school. —Ten Capitan school bus drivers are in the process of completing a driving institute in Silver City. In order to drive a school bus one must complete this institute in addition to having a "9" endorsement on their driver's license. —The Capitan Board of Education meets August 8 in the board room at 7:30 p.m.

From July 22-28 there were 2,508 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum. There was a group of 16 young people from Holloman AFB who enjoyed it.

There were 2,144 registered visitors from July 29-August 4. For the month of July there 9,824 of those registered visitors, 49 states, and 39 foreign were represented from October. That is a good record.

Willie Hobbs is a good curator there and she has done a great job. We need to keep that success right there with her.

Many thanks to Curtis Payne, Pat Joiner, Fred Payton and many others who helped get the "Pumpkin Rolling", going on August 8. Robert Runnels needs a big pat-on the back for all the organization and work he puts forth especially when it's even hard to walk. We never seem to give him proper thank you.

The Pony Express Race was a success again this year, thanks to the hard work of many folks. (Thanks again Jenny James) The winners this year were the Hindi Mascarin team from Duran and Espanola. Jamie Hindi had not won the race for several years so he was really happy. All contestants worked so hard and deserve lots of praise.

The crowd is growing larger each year at White Oaks at this time of year for the above mentioned events. Everyone does report a good enjoyable time. That proves everyones hard work

Albuquerque Federal assumes ownership

Albuquerque....Albuquerque Federal today announced it has assumed stock ownership of American Bank, NA Rio Rancho; Eddy County National Bank, Carlsbad and Artesia; and First National Bank of Lincoln County, Ruidoso, all previously part of Moncor, Inc.

Albuquerque Federal, the state's largest financial institution acquired control of the three banks as a result of a loan it had advanced to the Moncor, Inc. Employee Stock Ownership Plan, which was guaranteed by Moncor, Inc.

Richard G. Elkins, Senior Vice President of Albuquerque Federal stated, "The three banks will continue to operate as separate financial institutions with FDIC insurance. Customer relationships will not be disrupted by the change in stock ownership."

Elkins also said, "our company plans only to exercise the same degree of control over operations as would be expected of a majority stock owner."

Final decisions on all asset management and pricing strategies will be left to the local boards according to the Albuquerque Federal release. "We are confident this financial relationship will provide the banks with additional building blocks to strengthen them from an asset quality and operational standpoint," said Elkins.

BARGAIN HUNTERS

Clean out your garage, shed and closet and make extra money at the same time by having a weekend sale. Ask your neighbors to join in with their items so that bargain hunters can have a better selection. Place an ad in the Lincoln County News, divide the cost.

EVER READY

Keep a flashlight from being turned on accidentally and using up the battery power by putting masking tape over the "off" position.

TIDY DESK

Next time you see a plastic silverware tray at a garage sale, keep in mind that it is ideal for use as a desk organizer. Place pens, pencils, and paper clips in the tray compartments.

CLEAN VASE

Clean a flower vase with a very narrow neck by breaking eggshells into it. Add soapy water. Shake well, rinse out the egg shells.

RICE AND PEAS

Add drained canned peas to cooked rice. Place, covered in heated oven to heat through. Save the pea liquid to use in soup, stew, etc. for another meal.

HANDY IDEA

Did the phone ring when you were in the middle of kneading tortilla or pie crust dough? Before you start keep an empty sandwich plastic bag nearby in case the phone rings. Slip your goosy hand in the bag and head for the ringing phone.
