Handicapped children act explained

LINDA Public Law 94-142, the Education of All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, was explained last week to parents and other interested persons in Corona. Mr. Jim Simpson, working under the auspices of the Central Region Education Service Center officed in Belen, emphasized the rights of handicapped children and the corresponding rights and responsibilities of their parents. The law essentially guarantees that all handicapped children will receive a free public education. To be in compliance with the law, school districts must actively try to find children aged birth through 21 years who are handicapped. When such children are found, they are evaluated through a battery of tests administered in the native language. Further evaluation takes into consideration the child's cultural and geographical

CALDWELL background and invites parents to share specific problem areas which they perceive the child to have. After evaluation, eligibility is determined by the identification of a specific handicap (as a result of the tests) and by ascertaining if this particular condition will require special education services. Following these steps, an individualized education program is developed to meet the specific and unique needs of the handicapped child. The law states that a representative of the local education agency or intermediate educational unit who is qualified to provide or supervise the provision of special education, the teacher (s) of the child and the parents or guardian are required to be present at the meeting to develop the Individual Education Program (IEP). In addition, the law specifically states content requirements of the IEP such as a statement of the child's present and expected levels of educational performance, specific educational services to be provided, and a statement of evaluation procedures, and schedules for determining, at least once a year, whether the objectives are being achieved. The law also states that each local education agency has the primary responsibility for carrying out the IEP; these may in turn be responsible for further co-ordination with other entities providing educational services handicapped to

NOW that Congress has voted sanctions against South Africa. it may be too late for it to inject sanity into the debate when Congress reconvenes next month. If sanctions stand, as expected, US investment in South Africa wilk end, a dagger in the back of one of the few nations friendly to the US.

OIF this occurs, let us consider what Prime Minister P. W. Botha could do to us, provided he is as mean as Congress has been to him and his government. Mr. Botha also has muscle to flex by way of retaliation. He has the right to nationalize the 300 US companies doing business in his country, even unto confiscating their assets. This would mean a loss of an estimated $2 billion for American stockholders. Incurring such an economic loss could not be easily recovered, for at least six other countries are standing by to fill the vacuum that would be created by confiscation or nationalization of US companies.

SHOULD Mr. Botha decide to do to the US what the US has just done to his country, he would immediately embargo strategic materials upon which the US is largely dependent for its existence. South Africa produces 87 percent of the non-communist world's platinum, 77 percent of its gold, 48 percent of its chrome ore, 32 percent of its manganese, and 32 percent of industrial diamonds. In 1980, the US bought 54 percent of its chrome from South Africa, 61 percent of its ferrochrome, 99 percent of its manganese metal and 85 percent of its platinum. Of the 35 minerals required for US industrial, technological and economic health, 23 must be imported. The only other source is the Soviet Union, But perhaps trading with murderers is preferable to trading with racial segregationists. If any of you are given to prayer, pray that Mr. Botha is more reasonable, less hypocritical and better disposed toward the US than the US is toward him. There is a price to be paid by self-sppointed moral policemen who police the world on a selective basis - and we are very OEVERY Congressman, including some Republicans who yielded to the pressure of mobs in our streets, knows that the Soviet Union has publicly announced that it seeks to destroy the South African government and replace it with a Marxist regime. It has successfully done this in Angola, Ethiopia and Mozambique. The Soviet interest is obvious, More than 25,000 ships a year pass the Cape of Good Hope, making it the world's busiest sea lane. Half of Western Europe's oil passes by South Africa, as does one-fourth of its food supply. One-fifth of all US imports come by the Cape. This route is 5,000 miles shorter than the Panama Canal route for oil tankers enroute from the Persian Gulf to New York. If South Africa becomes a Marxist state, this important lane could be closed easily in case of war. Or, if the lane should be closed for reasons short of war, such action would necessarily provoke one.

THERE are things worse than racial segregation and denial of the vote to blacks. Apparently, Americans don't think so. The lack of the one-man, one-vote condition for South Africa is seldom compared with the one-man, TWO-vote syndrome that has kept Mexico's corrupt ruling political party in power for 50 consecutive years. No mobs take to the streets to protect genocide in Afghanistan, conceivably more grave than denying blacks the vote. Mass executions in Russia and its consistent denisi of human rights provoke no angry debate in Congress, which was busy being outraged that in South Africa black workers earn less than white workers. There is no public outcry over babies being hawked for sale like pigs in South China, and our moral conniptions are not stirred when the girl babies go for only $154 whereas boy bables go for $255—a clear case of sex discrimination. Where is our moral policeman here? Are we silent because China is a communist nation? Is there any other reason for lack of sanctions against China?

 PLANNED starvation of Ethiopian tribes by a black Marxist tyrant has evoked public sympathy, and an estimated $100 million in food has been dispatched there only to wind up is the tyrant's belly and in those of his soldiers. The US appears unconcerned over recent discovery that 1,000 people were executed in Uganda, but since this is a case of black dictator Milton Obote murdering blacks, there will be no coffins paraded in our

*ACTUALLY, Americans don't give a dams whether blacks vote in South Africa, nor do they care, where they live. They want the South African government overthrown only because the Soviet Union wants it overthrown. To prove the point, try to recall any time in recent history that the leftist-intellectual elite in this country has gone to the barricades to protest ANY Soviet action. Please don't argue with me unless you can point to a single instance where Soviet action, whatever it may have been, triggered even mild protest from our elite left in the

·WE had better pray that Mr. Botha has more concern for our country than our country has for his. Sen. Jake Garn recently raised the question in Congress no colleague has answered, or ever will: "Why single out South Africa, a dree world ally, when there are communist and third world countries that oppress their citizens in a far more damaging manner

SEN. Richard Lugar of Indiana, staunch Republican, votes for sanctions against South Africa. His zeal to punish that country for something that is none of his business for yours or mine), prompted this offer to him by Dr. Petr Beckman: "In appreciation of your appeal to the President to be tough on South Africa, I am now sending you a check for 3 cents (three United States cents). I will double this contribution for every African country with equal or better human rights; triple for every African country that has integrated sports and generally practices less racism; tenfold for every African country than has an equally free or freer press; and ten thousandfold for a convincing reason why one should shun the South African segregationists while cooperating with the Soviet murderers." Watch Over Washington

By LESTER

Rock Hudson's dying and Cong. Waxman's demagoguery

WASHINGTON - On front pages of newspapers throughout the world there have appeared photographs of a ghastly and ghostly looking man with a moustache.

Without the captions identifying him, his millions of movie fans would never have recognized the man who has now become the world's most renowned victim of the killer disease known as AIDS.

Will Rock Hudson's yearlong contraction of this fatal malady have the same effect as President Reagan's cancer of the colon?

The Washington Times asked this question and added the following editorial observations:

+ "What is Mr. Hudson to do? Unlike .cancer, we know how most AIDS sufferers get their disease, and what others should do to keep from getting it. But imagine if Mr. Hudson came out and said: 'Now cut that out fellas.' The poor man would be accused of moral imperialism. It would be equally senseless to preach to addicts who make up 17 percent of AIDS victims."

+ "Homosexuals say that Mr. Hudson's situation will encourage -open discussion of the disease, but there isn't any hesitancy on anyone's part to talk Representatives inabout AIDS ... Many people wonder whether an envelope licked by a homosexual should be considered a letter bomb."

+ "Mr. Reagan was blindsided by a disease of mysterious origin and so reaped sympathy. Those who suffer AIDS are victims, but they in a sense went looking for their affliction. Is this blaming the victim? Maybe. But we are all responsible for our actions, and AIDS isn't a no-fault disease."

This reasoned acknowledgement of inexorable consequences contrasts so strongly with what might be termed the genito-demagoguery of the Honorable Henry Waxman. a Democratic Congressman from California.

In Mr. Waxman's Los Angeles district, there are more than 1,000 cases of AIDS, which is the fifth largest concentration in the nation. "What we have failed miserably in doing," declared Waxman on CBS, "is getting research money for a cure."

By contrast to this statement by Waxman there is the Office of Technology's Review of the Public Health Service's Response To AIDS. This discloses that one-third of a billion dollars has already been spent or appropriated for such research. And while this may amount to petty cash in the eyes of such Big Spenders as Waxman, it is a very significant amount to Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the polic vaccine.

"I suppose another way to look at it is to be amazed at how much has been done so .quickly." noted Dr. Salk. "The government did nothing for polio. It was the March of Dimes."

Another significant reaction to Waxman's waxing eloquent for more money to throw at AIDS comes from Dr. Edward Brandt, former Assistant Secretary for Health, who comments:

money for AIDS? Absolutely. Would we have changed things? I don't think so."

Has Congressman Waxman ever advised his apparently heavily homosexual district that they owe it to all taxpayers to cut out that homosexual promiscuity which is the leading distributor of this killer disease? Has Waxman ever suggested that it is a bit much for all of the taxpayers to have to pay millions of dollars to develop a cure for the consequences of the sodomy which a small minority of the public refuses to stop, or even to restrain?

Neither Waxman's administrative assistant nor his AIDS specialist, Tim Westmoreland, can remember Waxman ever suggesting any such guidance. Therefore this congressman's position amounts, inevitably, to the contention that all taxpayers should pay for the consequences of Sodomistic promisculty. And he has never suggested that either AIDS patients or promiseuous should homosexuals quarantined, like those who spread typhus which is less lethal than aids.

Maybe this will have to wait until the House of cumbent child molester, Congressman Gary Studds of Massachusetts, comes down with this Buggers Plague, which has now been contracted by the heterosexual former Governor of Georgia, Lester Maddox. Maddox is being treated for prostate cancer. When we telephoned Congressman Studd's office to inquire about what he intends to do if he contracts AIDS, his aide hung up, with audible anger.

-In May, The American

"Could we have spent more Journal of Public Health published a city-funded study of 655 homosexual men in San Francisco. This study reports that two years after AIDS was discovered and widely publicized throughout the nation, there was some small measure of change in the sexual habits of these homosexuals. One hundred and fifty five of these 655 in the study were described as low risk, because they avoid gay bathhouses, gay bars and "cruising" in favor of a monogamous relationship with one other homosexual.

> But what do monogamous homosexuals do to each other? The study's results are difficult indeed to report in a family newspaper without resorting to strict medical terminology. For these practices involve ingestion that is semenal (47 percent), urinary (4 percent) or even the inevitability of fecal ingestion in oral-anal (33 percent). Forty seven percent engage in non-condom anal copulation, which has increased along with the anal injection of fists and foresrms.

> In restaurants across the nation, there are signs posted which order all food handlers to wash their hands. But this hardly protects the public from homosexuals who refuse to clean their sexual behavior and provide, through such practices, a superhighway for disease. They are killing themselves and other homosexuals in large numbers. This slaughter for sexual satisfaction would be a tragedy in itself, even if it weren't selfinduced. What is really tragic and outrageous is that this has now spread to the population at large, including what The New York Times reported as New York's latest AIDS victims: three hundred babies.

DILEMMA: Those folks who run things among legislators these days are rockribbed conservatives. Almost every one of them pledged with a great oath before taking office that he or she would not allow the linlest increase in taxes of any kind.

It's a good ploy, and it got lots of votes. The trouble is, it just isn't good government at this point in New Mexico's history. Right now-and even back there when those who wanted badly to be elected were making their anti-tax promises—revenues to the state (that is, income from the taxes now in place) were falling, unacompanied by any reduction in the cost of state government.

You'd think these folks who don't want to fatten up the revenues by tapping the citizens for extra income would at least try to cut costs. They didn't do well at that at all.

Whenever you try to trim any area of what the state is already doing, you run afoul of some special-interest group or other. Despite the fact that conservatives point with horror at such groups as are spoken up for by liberals, the fact remains that every conservative ever elected has special-interest groups pushing his or her buttons. They

EDITOR—The Rev. Jerry Falwell called the Anglican Bishop of Johannisburg, Desmond Tutu, a "phony," and all of American liberalism went into orbit.

Well, Falwell did qualify his accusation by explaining that only if Bishop Tutu claims that he represents the Blacks of South Africa, is he a "phony." Regardless, it seems doubtful that Zulu tribesmen, or, perhaps Xhosa tribesmen, look to Bishop Tutu for leadership.

That need not necessarily make Bishop Tutu a "phony." There are many of Bishop Tutu's endeavers that I would judge the Nobel Prize winner as being right on target.

Take for instance the speech that Tutu reportedly delivered before the Sixth Assembly of the World Council of Churches held in Vancouver, B.C. in July and August of 1983, On that occasion. Bishop Tutu reportedly said: "I find capitalism quite horrendous and unacceptable. I am a socialist." (See THE CHRISTIAN BEACON, Collingsworth, New Jersey, Dec. 13, 1984.) Well, the Bishop should know.

Match up Tutu's revelations with charges made by another South African Black bishop, the bishop of South Africa's largest Black church, the Independent Reformed Church Association, a church of 41/2 million Blacks, and led by Bishop Isaac Bayite

Quoting directly from THE CHRISTIAN BEACON, 12-13-84: "Bishop Mokoena worked with Tutu in the South African Council of Churches. His discovery that Tutu was working for Communist ends led Bishop Mokoena to sever his connections with that Council, and he joined in exposing Bishop Tutu's alignment with the Communists."

We cen't afford many records such as that. We can't allow our imports to exceed our exporte by such # wide marein and expect our economic prosperity to contiene, But we appear headed in 1985 for yet another trade deficit record of $150 billion or more.

This trade imbalance has cost Americans more than 3 million jobs - many of them in New Mexico. Acrose the board, in virtually every industry, we are be-ing challenged internationally - and too often beaten. About 70 percent of American products are now meeting stiff foreign competition.

Much of this competition is subsidized, unfair, and injurious to some of our most important industries in New Mexico - particularly agriculture, mining, and the rioing new semiconductor industry. All are being threatened.

There is one simple. modest, but effective first step we can take to begin to cope with these problems and to balance our trade deficit. And that is to reassees and reform the way we do businese internationally. To that end I have introduced legislation to ustablish a one-year bipertican study commission to examine the causes of our trade cricie, review our existing trade laws, and recom a cohesive, coordinated hational trade policy.

Gubernatorial candidate Colin McMillan and candidates for lieutenant governor Majorie Bell Chambers and Hoyt Pattison brought their campaigns to Ruidoso Tuesday in speaking to the Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County. The candidates touched on the main issues of their candidacies in addition to answering questions from the floor.

McMillan said that he sees changes afoot in the state and that he predicts that other New Mexico counties will join Lincoln County in becoming Republican in voter registration.

In discussing economic growth in the state, McMillan said, "The present state government has been counterproductive in promoting growth in New Mexico - in order to change that we need government

Stressing that education is one of his major concerns, Mc-Millan said that he has always been supportive of teachers and the educational system, but "we need to understand that it's (New Mexico education) is not as bad a picture as some people care to paint."

Chambers said, "My style is to give debate in the senate and my job my full attention, especially prior attention," in discussing the job performance she will give to the office of lieutenant governor.

The most important thing that the lieutenant governor can do for the state, according to the first female candidate for the office, is to find out what the problems and hopes of the citizens are. Chambers said that she will ride circuit around the state, meeting with the citizens, asking them, "How are things now, and what are your hopes for the future?"

Citing newspaper columnist Fred McCaffrey who described her as "a voice worth listening to in or out of government," Chambers said that government should be pro-active rather than re-active and in order to do so atmosphere of the Roundhouse" and talk to the people.

Pattison said that she thinks it is very important that persons with legislative experience be elected to state office, "To correct the incredible situation in Santa Fe is going to be an enormous job," he said.

"This is one of the most corrupt administrations New Mexico has ever experienced and it's sad to say that about our state," Pattison said. He added that he is concerned that the publicity New Mexico gets throughout the country and the world is detrimental to the economic growth of the state and that that situation must be corrected.

Education, highways, and employment were other issues Pattison listed as among his primary concerns.

ALAMOGORDO, NM -Many people receive surprise packages in the mail. However, few are as surprised as an Alamogordo man was, earlier this month.

On August 20, 1985 at approximately 1:00 p.m., James Dryden received a package in the mail at his residence in Alamogordo, NM. Dryden opened the package from the side and saw loose wires. At that point he stopped opening the package and called the police. The bomb squad was called out from Holloman Air Force Base and disarmed the device. Whoever constructed the device had set it up to explode when opened from the top. The victim, lucky for him, opened the package from the side which prevented it from going off. It is known that the package was mailed on August 18, 1985. Police have now come to a dead-end in their investigation and need your help.

Tigers lose in overtime

By BARTLEY McDONOUGH

The Capitan Tigers traveled to Artesia last Saturday night and lost a heartbreaker 21-14 to the Bulldog Junior Varsity. The score was tied .14-14 at the end of regulation play. To break the tie the Bulldogs were given the ball on Capitan's 10 yard line after winning the flip of the coin. The Bulldogs scored and added the extra point. Capitan was then given the ball on the same ten yard line. The Tigers turned over the ball on their 1st play and this ended the game.

Things got underway at the beginning .of the game when Chris Peralta took the kick off and "sailed" 75 yards to score. This touchdown was called back because of a clip behind the play.

The Bulldogs soon gained the ball on a pass interception and drove steadily down the field. They scored on a 4 yard run with 4:38 left in the 1st quarter. Artesia kicked all three extra points wnich were good. Key 4th dowi plays helped the Bulldogs.

With a little over 4 minutes left in the half the Tigers found themselves on their own 32. Troy Padilla broke over his left side and ran the ball to the Bulldog 37. After a 15 yard pass play to Keller, Troy Padilla ran the ball "in" on a 12 yard play for the TD. The Tigers could not add the extra point and the score stood 7-6 Bulldogs - 2:20 left in the half.

The Bulldogs scored with 8 seconds left in the half on an 18 yard pass play. Bulldogs 14, Capitan 6.

Just north of Bernalillo on Highway 54, the ruined pueblo draws visitors year-round, but few realize just how impressive it once was. Twelve hundred ground floor rooms and six deep kivas, or subterranean religious plazas and one smaller one. Even the reknowned Pueblo Bonito at Chaco Canyon had but 332 rooms.

In one, a razor-sharp chunk of obsidian glitters in the sun. Too small to fashion into an arrowhead, it was discarded five or six hundred years ago by a long-dead toolmaker and became mixed in with mud used to repair the village's walls. This obsidian is fine. A translucent grey nodule sheathed in a tough outer rind, it quarry known as "obsidian in yellows, sienna, black, and ridge." To the northwest, the Jemez Mountains are barely visible. Today, summer's haze blurs the volcanic Jemez dome which spewed forth this very obsidian before collapsing to become the magnificant Valle

"Chaichihuiti" to Mexico's Aztecs. For centuries, local turquoise was carried down the great trade routes to central Mexico. The Emperor, Montezuma, wore turquoise ornaments, a sign of wealth and nobility-some undoubtedly fashioned from gemstone mined within sight of Kuaua.

Kuana was founded about A.D. 1300 after prolonged droughts forced Indian peoples to abandon older villages in forested highlands, like those surrounding Bandelier National Monument. Permanent rivers provided precious water for crops of corn, beans, and squash. Communal rabbit hunts, large game, and seasonal plant foods like "Indian rice-grass" (still growing adjacent to the ruins) augmented the diet.

The zenith of Kuaua, was probably reached about A. D. 1500. Round kivas, charac-

Strongly associated with rain, agricultural fertility, and abundance, these became powerful religious figures. One of Kuaua's square kivas, now reconstructed for visitors, was adorned with many layers of plaster murals. Take some of the stress out of test taking by studying with a friend from class, You can compare notes, go over fine points and quiz each other. Most of all, you can each come away with the added confidence to do your best on that test. Take a break from your studies with a refreshing cup of hot tea. It can do wonders calming last minute test taking jitters.

SUMMARY: The Commissioner of Public Lands has offered certain State lands within and near to the White Sands Missile Range in exchange for selected public lands in Dona Ana County. The Commissioner has identified four areas of public land in priority order for selection. Priority area one, if appropriate for exchange, will provide sufficient lands to complete the proposed exchange. The exchange will be processed under authority of Section 206 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (90 Stat. 2743). The priority area one lands are described as:

T. 22 S., R. 2 E., NMPM: Sec. 23, S½N½, S½; Sec. 24, S½; Sec's. 25, 26, All; Sec. 27, E1/2; Sec. 34, E1/2; Sec. 35, All.

T. 22 S., R. 3 E., NMPM; Sec. 17, S1/2; Sec's 18, 20, 29, 30, 31, 32,

T. 23 S., R. 2 E., NMPM; Sec's T. 23 S., R. 3 E., NMPM; Sec's.

Comprising approximately 10,061.91 acres located in Dona

Ana County, New Mexico.

Priority area two contains roughly 15,200 acres of public land located along the mesa east . of the Rio Grande River between Las Cruces and the southwest corner of the White Sands Missile Range. Priority area three contains roughly 19,200 acres of public land located on the west mesa around Crawford Airport. roughly 36,000 acres of public land located between the south boundary of the White Sands Missile Range and the New Mexico-Texas State line. These areas will be considered in the planning effort for future actions.

The actions may include State exchanges for State lands within the White Sands Missile Range or All. exchanges for State or private lands elsewhere in the area of the plan amendment. Other types of disposal will also be addressed. However, any specific exchange proposals within priority areas two, three or four will require

"SEE DEAR. NOW ISN'T THIS BETTER THAN GIVING A REDUCING SALON ALL THAT MONEY?"

PRESERVING THE PAST 'Foxfire' magazine published an Appalachian folk wisdom book which consisted of pioneer wisdom in the Georgia hills. Here are a few tips from a 1972 Life magazine story:

MOUNTAIN RECIPES

Groundhog - Skin the groundhog, remove the glands from under the legs, gut, and soak overnight in salty water. Parboil with spicewood twigs (to take the wild taste out) until tender. Pepper and put in a greased pan to bake until brown.

Apple Beer - Peel your apples and dry the peelings in the sun or by the stove. Put them in a crock and add enough boiling water to cover them. Cover the crock and let it sit for one or two days, until all the flavor comes out of the peelings.

HOME REMEDIES

Curing Arthritis - Drink a mixture of honey, vinegar, and moonshine. Drink powdered rhubarb dissolved in white whiskey.

Chest Congestion - Place a large quantity of rock candy in a little white whiskey to make a thick syrup. Take a few spoonfuls several times a day.

Warts - Stick the hand which has warts on it into a bag and tie it up. The first person who opens it will get your warts. WEATHER SIGNS

Forecasting Winter by Animals - It will be a bad winter if: muskrat houses are built big...squirrels' tall grow bushier ... cows' hooves break off earlier...screech owls sound like women

OF HEALTH New Aid for the Allergic

The sneezing and runny nose caused by hay fever and similar allergies can now be relieved, the Department of Health and Human Services has announced, by a prescription medicine that does not have the typical sedative side effects of most antihistamines.

This can be good news for some of the 40 million Americans with allergies. In tests people were about as likely to feel sleepy on a placebo as on the new drug. Called terfenadine, it's made by Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals and sold under the name Seldane. Seasonal allergic rhinitis -an' allergy-is commonly caused by inhaling pollen. In the spring, tree pollen is the culprit for many. In late summer and fall, ragweed and is often called hay fever.

The symptons occur when the dust, pollen or other allergens provoke the immune system to produce a special antibody and series of reactions that release a substance called histamine. Histamine and other substances cause the runny nose, sneezing and other symptoms. Antihistamine drugs block certain receptors to these substances in Antihistamines came along in 1946 and have been relieving symptoms, but adding uncomfortable side effects. Now doctors can prescribe the new medicine that does not seem to have those side effects.
