COUNTY COMMISSION:

Lodger's tax is approved

By RUTH HAMMOND
Lincoln County Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday and approved a county wide lodger's tax. The tax is to provide revenues for advertising the county, improving its services, financing new facilities, attracting conferences, conventions and meetings of commercial, cultural, educational and social origin of Lincoln County.

The two percent tax from lodging will be imposed on rent paid for lodging, trailer parks and tourist camps in Lincoln County outside the incorporated limits of any municipality of Lincoln County.

The Village of Ruidoso has a lodger's tax and according to representatives attending the commissioner's meeting, this tax generated $115,000 in revenue last year for the Ruidoso lodger's tax committee to spend.

Carrizozo also has a lodger's tax with revenue being spent for advertising for the area.

The Ruidoso lodger's tax committee members requested that county commissioners not name a new county lodger's tax committee but to allow the Ruidoso lodger's tax committee to administer the county tax revenue.

Commissioner Kenneth Nosker said, "I am in favor of it." He went on to say, "In the spirit of cooperation, we don't need to set up a board."

Commission Chairman Bill Elliott said, "I am appreciative that they will take care of this for us."

The ordinance must be published before the final hearing to be held at 9 a.m., March 5 in the courthouse. Commissioners will take public input at that time.

The Lincoln County ordinance, section 10, Administration, states: The duties assigned to the County Manager in this ordinance may be delegated to the County treasurer's office, Village of Ruidoso, Village Clerk and Village finance department or other department or officials of the county or village in whole or in part as to the County Manager shall appear useful.

In other business, commissioners received the Sheriff's Office statistical report for 1984 from Sheriff Tom Sullivan.

Some of the accomplishments in 1984 listed by Sullivan were: reduced the amount of stolen property in 1984 compared to 1983, a 63 percent solved crime ratio, advanced training for personnel in specialized fields, formed a Ju-

Deputy Sheriff program for the Youth of Lincoln County, formed a Multi-County Law Enforcement Task Force with adjoining counties, installed a computerized Sober-Meter for determining the alcohol level of drunk drivers, (at no expense to the county as the Traffic Safety Commission furnished it), investigated 200 accidents as well as assisting in numerous others, repainted the entire jail, and the Lincoln County Jail has been commended by the New Mexico Corrections Department for conditions and operation.

Larry Bandy, State Forestry Service, presented the keys to the fire truck that has been donated to the Palo Verde Fire District.

Robert J. Carson, District Manager, District VI Health Services Division, gave the annual report, discussed major priorities for the coming year, and long range planning of public health services and facilities in Lincoln County.

Designated County Manager Suzanne Cox as agent for the Federal Disaster Funds for Lincoln County. The designation authorizes Mrs. Cox to sign reports for the county.

Adopted a gross receipts tax in the amount of one eighth of one percent. It was explained that since the revenue sharing may soon end, the gross receipts tax could help replace that void in the budget. The gross receipts tax will apply only to areas in the county outside incorporated municipalities, with the ski run at Sierra Blanca being exempt from

Pilot's pocket guide goes to press

The regular Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce luncheon was held Tuesday. Members decided to spend $6 to $7 each month for post cards to send to members each month to remind them of the meeting.

Proofs were in for the Pilot's Pocket Guide, and they will be printed in about two weeks. The pilot's pocket guide will be distributed to 40 airports in the region and will give necessary information about flying in to Carrizozo.

The Carrizozo brochure is due for renewal. The C of C had 2,600 printed last year and there are only a few left. Plans are to print 3,000 in March.

The 4th annual bowling tournament will be held April 19, 20, and 21. Prizes this year should amount to $2,200 compared to the $1,700 in prizes awarded last year.

An ad about Carrizozo will be in the March issue of 'National Association for Retired Federal Employees'. Response from a former ad was very good.

The Up With People show will be presented Tues., Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Carrizozo High School Auditorium. Beds are needed for six to ten cast and staff members. A parade will be held through town to welcome Up With People as they arrive Sunday between 4:30 and 5.

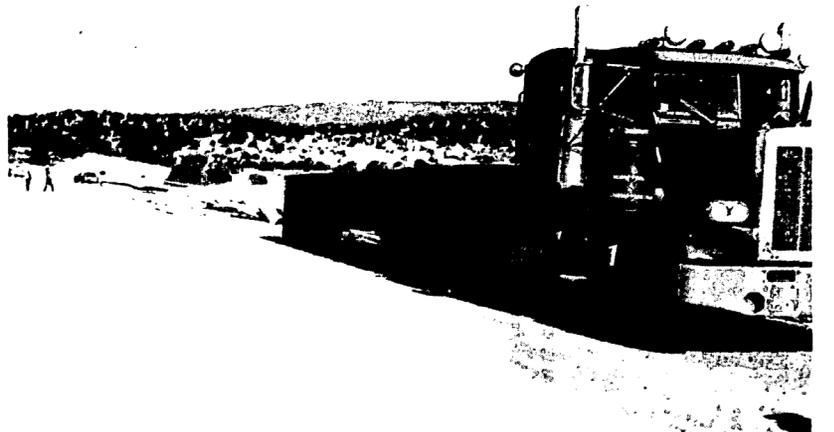

Everyone is invited to the community pot luck at 6 p.m. Monday, Feb. 18 in the recreation center.

BOMB SCARE EMPTIES SCHOOL

THE Lincoln County Sheriff's office rushed to Capitan School yesterday when a call was received that a bomb had been planted in the school. The buildings were evacuated while a thorough search was made.

No bomb was found and the call was a false alarm.

EXCESSIVE SPEED INDICATED—The truck made the curve but the lumber didn't. This accident occurred about 8 a.m. Feb. 7 at "Deadman's Curve" 4 miles west of Capitan. Sgt. Jack Johnson and one of his officers of the New Mexico State Police investigated the accident.

THE CAST of Up With People will arrive Sunday between 4:30 and 5. A parade will be held through town to welcome the cast and staff.

The Up With People show will be presented Tues., Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Carrizozo High School Auditorium. Tickets are now on sale at United New Mexico Bank, Family Pharmacy and at the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce. Admission is $6 for adults, and $4 for children and senior citizens. It is suggested that tickets be purchased in advance as there are no reserved seats.

A community pot luck dinner will be held Monday, Feb. 18 at 6 p.m. in the recreation center. This dinner is for everyone in town as well as the cast, and staff of Up With People and their host families.

NICE DOGGIE

Do you know where your dog is? It is an owner's responsibility to see that his or her dog is kept on his property or restrained. Any dog, any size can do damage, even a dog that is usually a nice pet can do bodily harm to another dog or person.

You've heard it before: "Aw, he (she) wouldn't hurt a flea." Meanwhile the dog (Precious, Prince, Lady or Fifi) is wagging a friendly tail when only a few minutes earlier he (she) had revealed some pretty sharp teeth.

In some parts of the country dogs are ordered by the City Dads to be kept on owners' properties; if the dog is off the premises it must be restrained by a chain or leash and under the control of a competent person. Even people who move to the country are expected to obey the ordinance because marauding dogs kill or badly injury livestock every year.

COUNTY CLINICS

Last Saturday, Dr. Willard of Ruidoso and his assistants held rabies clinics throughout the county. Vaccines were given to dogs and licenses were available by the town at the same time. With the local skunk and bat population, concerned dog owners have their pets vaccinated yearly.

One reason that I enjoy small town living is that I can walk anywhere and practically any time. The time has come to write about the one hazard I face when I walk - dogs, the topic of this column this week.

I know where my dog is supposed to be. Rarely does he break his chain and if he does we immediately go looking for him. Neighbors can be helpful by informing pet owners if a pet has left a fenced-in yard or broken the leash.

PROFESSIONAL PEDESTRAIN

My plans in an upcoming column had been to write about walking, but I felt I should first mention the experiences I have had with dogs on the street and sidewalks. Most people know that I am an avid walker. I don't walk for health reasons. I walk to get from this point to that point. Although we are a 2-car family I prefer to walk - in the rain, when it snows and when the sun shines. Some people often give me the impression that they think my IQ level is low when they inquire.

"Don't you know how to drive?"

I have been walking for years and have had only a few experiences with suspicious dogs. The two experiences of last week are most fresh in my mind, so I will recall those now.

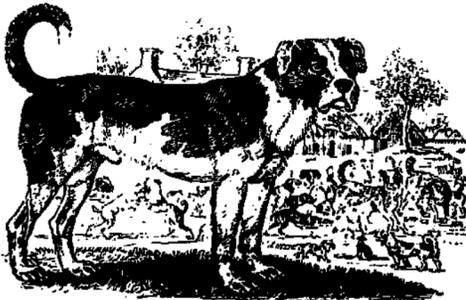

SHORT TEMPERED

Tuesday of last week as I walked to the City Hall to pay for two vehicle registrations I observed a big dog on the center of 8th Street observing me. The street is behind City Hall. A little dog approached the big dog in a

I thought of the places I would walk to next. Through the window I spotted the big dog sitting under a tree outside the City Hall.

A town police man was not immediately available to come to the scene at that time. I called the Sheriff's Department from the City Hall to ask for the county animal control officer. "He is out today" the dispatcher told me, "Call the City Hall. They'll take care of it."

The police secretary at City Hall volunteered to 'shoo-away' friendly manner. The big dog commenced to chew up the smaller dog, who made noises in pain that sounded like human screams.

Unable to move from the street I was standing, I watched the small dog as it was tossed aside like a rag doll. When the attack was over I walked slowly towards the City Hall, the big dog watching me, and then following at a slow pace.

After paying for the car tags the dog for me. When we stepped outside the dog had moved on. In my attempt to make it to the safety of the new business at the former 'Little Store' I slipped in snow. No broken bones.

AYE CHIHUAHUA!

My second experience the following day (different dog) made my heart beat faster or was it slower? Headed for the newspaper office, I rounded the corner at the Sheriff's Department where the staff parks their police vehicles. Throughout my walk I had been thinking of ABC's 20-20, a special the previous evening on Pit Bulls - the breed of dog that made news upstate and other spots around the US. The program featured the disfiguring results on children following attacks by Pit Bulls on children.

"Aye Chihuahua" I exclaimed as I almost stepped on a dog sleeping near the county police cars. ('Aye Chihuahua' means 'Golly Darn'. I don't use other four-letter words. This is a family column.)

The startled, sleepy dog looked at me and continued to snooze. I was wondering if the dog was a Pit Bull so I went into the Sheriff's Department to have someone identify the breed for me. The lady at the front office stepped outside with me.

NOT TO WORRY

The big, red dog outside the Sheriff's Department was not a Pet Bull. It was the jail cook's Doberman Pinscher I learned. I was given the impression that the Doberman is harmless. I don't know....

Since last week I've had a poodle nip at my ankles. Last year a couple of dogs attempted to bite me. The point of my closed umbrella kept them at a distance.

A concerned citizen has suggested that I carry a battery operated device to give a dog an electrical shock to stun it. One person suggested that I carry a gun like the man who shot the subway muggers.

I would hate to hurt dogs, after all it isn't their fault that they are on the streets.

BEWARE OF DOG

Homes that display "Beware of Dog" signs warn peddlers and intruders, but stray dogs do not carry signs around their necks. Walkers have to worry about getting bitten or go out of their way to get to their destination.

I can still run and jump to safety if a dog gets serious. How can an elderly person or a small child avoid a bite from an angry or frightened dog? I will find literature on the subject and pass it on.

Am I the only walker that dogs like to scare?

Tuesday's town meeting agenda included the town's dog and cat ordinance. The town has completed re-writing the animal control ordinance. A final hearing for public input will be held Tuesday, Feb. 26.

Walkers, joggers, runners, bikers and motorists who are concerned about the dog situation may want to be at the meeting which begins at 6:00 p.m. Don't be shy.

SNOW ARTISTS

If the kids tire of making snowmen, give them plastic bottles filled with water and food coloring. They can squirt the colored water onto the snow. They can 'draw' designs or words.

RAISIN BREAD KRISPIES

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spread four slices of raisin bread with 1/4 cup softened margarine. Sprinkle one side of each slice with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Cut each slice into four sticks and place on a cookie sheet. Bake until crisp, 5 minutes or longer.

QUILTING PATTERN

To make a template (pattern) for quilting, use the clear plastic from the flat side of an empty milk container. Draw the design on the plastic then cut out with a razor blade. Cardboard templates can't take the repeated tracing when many cloth pieces are needed.

HOT DISH PADS

The good part of the old ironing board cover can be cut and used as insulated table pads to put hot dishes on. The edges can be trimmed with bias tape.

HOUSEHOLD DUSTER

Check the toy department for a play mop. The miniature toy makes a good duster for high shelves and other hard to reach places.

WHOLE WHEAT SNACK

Preheat oven to 250 degrees. Using cookie cutters cut shapes from slices of whole wheat bread. Bake on a cookie sheet until crisp. When done spread with jelly and sprinkle with wheat germ.

Cloisonne business card cases for lady executives, also cloisonne earrings, pendants and belts.

Denise Montgomery from "Up With People", gave a report on the company and how it functions. She has been in Carrizozo for a week finalizing the plans for the arrival of the "Up With People" company. She has to know where and how to get help in case of medical or dental needs or emergencies, where the laundry is and how late it stays open, the eating facilities and the housing with our local families.

It is a privilege for Carrizozo to entertain and be entertained by the "Up With People" company. Some of the young people that have been here before, sent in requests to be guests of the same families.

March 20 is the hamburger-fry for Ag Day at noon, at the Carrizozo High School and put on by the Canyon Cowbelles. Debbie Sauble of Maxwell, President of the New Mexico Cowbelles, has been invited to attend this meeting, along with the Captain Corriente Cowbelles.

He formerly worked for the Forest Service, so had a lot of Smokey Bear items. He had sent a number of these items to the Museum, among them their son's 30 year old Smokey Doll. It was so nice of them to do this and stop

The queen's court consisted of seniors Tammy Dean, Bobbi Rogers, and Shella House. Also in the court were junior Jackie Goodrum, sophomore Toni Crain, and Kateri Sanchez of the freshman class. These young ladies all wore formal dress which was very attractive.

Ernest V. Joiner

ARE you tired of the political intelligentsia regaling us with the notion that there are no simple solutions to complex problems? What nonsense. There are no other kind. Can you name a single instance where a complex solution has resolved a complex problem? Consider the following: (1) Thomas Sowell, famous economist concerned with the causes and cures of poverty, has startled naysaying nitpickers with this dictum: "The answer to poverty is prosperity." If that isn't a simple solution to a complex problem I'll kiss your sainted amaterera. (2) Pope John Paul said in Venezuela last week that the church cannot remain passive while some live in luxury and others in poverty. Simple solution: Since everybody obviously can't live in luxury, let us all live in poverty, which we can all afford.

ONWARD: (3) A group of Afghan rebel leaders came to San Francisco to drum up support for their guerrilla war against Russia. Simple solution: San Francisco is a weird place to go for help against the Russians. Afghans should take their case to the Deep South where guerrilla warfare has been prosecuted successfully for 140 years against the hated Yankees. (4) Abortion is perceived as a pernicious problem. Simple solution: Make it mandatory that all persons pay for their own abortions instead of charging the cost to taxpayers. Actually, abortion is not the issue; who pays for it is. This will strengthen backbones, promote private initiative, further free enterprise and resurrect personal responsibility for one's mistakes. And (5)

"COMPARABLE worth," also known as "incomparable worthlessness," is the latest cause celebre rolling the bowels of women of the fevered brow. Example: Civil service typists in California earn $1200-$1400 per month; park maintenance workers earn $1450-$1750 per month. This upsets typists (mostly women) who claim that on a "comparable worth" basis they should be paid the same as the park workers. Simple solution: Instead of raising typists' pay to $1450-$1750, reduce park workers' pay to $1200-$1400—thus achieving equal pay for comparable work at considerable saving to taxpayers and at the same time fulfilling the socialist dream of nobody earning more money than anyone else. Sheer utopia.

TOLERANCE has been defined as the patience shown by a wise man when he listens to an ignoramus. Which brings us to State Sen. David Roberti, president of the California Senate and political bed-mate of Willie Brown, who announced last Friday that he will introduce a bill to spend $5 million of your tax dollars to construct a Museum of Tolerance. Visitors to this glorified Taj Mahal, he said, will discover their hidden prejudices and hates. Roberti, who is intolerant of intolerance, presides over a den of tariffian legislators who, between voting pay raises for themselves, pass out costly favors to scurvy stalwarts who suckle the public tit. All tolerated by an already tolerant citizenry.

INTOLERANCE is by no means a vice. Bernhard Hugh Goetz showed commendable intolerance recently when he shot four muggers who demanded money of him. It is not good to tolerate the existence of evil, as we do in the case of Soviet inhumanity. Our abundance of tolerances makes possible such things as the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Helen Caldicott and Tom Hayden. A show of blessed intolerance would find all three either jailed or deported. US voters were intolerant of Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro-Zaccaro. This may be the kind of intolerance Roberti hopes to cure with our money. His cushy job depends upon our tolerating him.

THORNE Smith, the writer, once said of a friend that his mind was so tolerant that he could have attended a lynching every day without becoming critical. But G. K. Chesterton put it best: "Tolerance is the virtue of the man without convictions." And I recall that back when Dick Gregory was a comedian he told an audience: "Wouldn't it be a helluva joke if all this were really burnt cork and you people were being tolerant for nuthin'?"

AMONG the first to enroll in Roberti's Museum of Tolerance should be Jesus Christ, who performed the intolerant act of abusing money-changers in the temple.

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON— By LES KINSOLVING

How honesty came in last among the big media . . .

WASHINGTON — "There is more accuracy and fairness in the media today than ever before," declared Hodding Carter — who managed to say this with a straight face.

Mr. Carter, a former Mississippi newspaper owner who won world attention as spokesman for Jimmy Carter's troubled State Department, is now the media critic for the Public Broadcasting Network. For it, he is the star of a series entitled, "Inside Story." Carter made this statement about the allegedly accurate and fair media to an audience of some 600 impressionable undergraduates at Georgetown University on Jan. 22.

Along with this whopper, Hodding contended: "We're (the media, that is) terrified that our critics will stand up and say, 'You're irresponsible.'"

That was downright prophetic!

For Hodding's two fellow panelists, Hugh Sidey of Time magazine and Ben Bradlee of The Washington Post spotted Reed Irvine of Accuracy In Media standing up at the rear of the line of questioners.

Sidey and Bradlee did not immediately flee. They waited until the student moderator adjourned this event — with only four questioners still standing. And when the questioners called on the three panelists to stay and answer questions, Hodding Carter did. But Hugh Sidey and dashing Ben Bradlee dashed out of a back door and fled into the night.

With regard to Hodding's claim of the "fairer and most accurate media" in history, I asked: "Could you tell us when, at any time in the past century, there have been as many major media scandals as: + "Janet Cooke of The Washington Post — fired for dishonesty;

+ "Michael Daly of The New York Daily News — fired for dishonesty;

+ "Christopher Jones of The New York Times — fired for dishonesty;

+ "Poster Winan of The Wall Street Journal — fired for dishonesty;

+ "Geraldo Rivera of ABC News — whose being sued for slanderous reporting was settled out of court;

+ "And similar cases at The Toronto Star and The Stanford (Conn.) Advocate?"

This time, Hodding Carter was unable to keep a straight face. He grinned broadly and replied: "Just a specimen of American Journalism!"

He stopped grinning, however, when the relentless Reed Irvine began questioning Carter's softball interviewing of Ben Bradlee in 1961.

Earlier that week, The Washington Journalism Review, a rather pale clone of The Columbia Journalism Review, held a huge and expensive party in the course of its rather transparent attempt to win acceptance as house organ for the Big Media Establishment.

This magazine named a number of wealthy and powerful media superstars as "The Best" — in a technique rivaled only by that university and college fundraising device called "the honorary degree."

The Washington Journalism Review also published interviews with 13 print media executives or writers and 18 TV executives, whom they asked:

"What makes a great reporter?" And,

"What makes a great TV correspondent?"

This struggling magazine did not bother to tabulate the results

— but Accuracy In Media did. AIM, as Washington's real and non-incestuous journalism review, discovered that sixteen of these Big Media people designated the ability to write or communicate — and energetic willingness to work long and hard — as first-ranked among what Makes Reporters-Correspondents Great.

At the very bottom of this tabulated list of What Makes Media People Great is honesty! Only two of the 13 print media and none of the 18 TV people mentioned honesty! Only three of them mentioned accuracy. And only five mentioned fairness and knowledge.

Who were these Big Media Bosses who regard honesty as (with only two exceptions) so far down in the attribute list in reportorial greatness?

They included such top Big Media Bananas as Walter Mears, Executive News Editor, Associated Press, Eugene Roberts, Executive Editor, The Philadelphia Inquirer; Benjamin Bradlee, Executive Editor, The Washington Post; Peter Weltzel, Managing Editor, The Miami Herald; and Al Hunt, Washington Bureau Chief, The Wall Street Journal.

On the TV side: Don Hewitt, producer of CBS's "60 Minutes"; Ed Fouby, Washington Bureau Chief, ABC News; Hodding Carter; Lawrence Grossman, President, NBC News; and Ed Turner, Executive Vice President, Cable News Network.

We telephoned Washington Journalism Review's managing editor, Jacqueline Powell, to ask her why her staff had not tabulated these expressed qualities of What Makes Reporters Great?

"Resist the idea of making it numerical," replied editor Powell.

So we asked her for her comment on her magazine's own reported (but untabulated) revelation that among Big Media's Higher Ups, Honesty is Further Down than anything else.

"It's inconsequential," replied the managing editor of the Washington Journalism Review.

In New York City, CBS is fighting off a $120 million law suit after being found guilty of dishonesty; and ex-Wall Street Journal

In New York City, CBS is fighting off a $120 million law suit on charges of dishonesty; Time magazine has won on a technicality a libel suit after being found guilty of dishonesty; and ex-Wall Street Journal reporter Foster Winans is on trial for dishonesty.

But in Washington — at least in Washington's Journalism Review — the importance of honesty is inconsequential.

put to them to vote on — and it is likely that any new Constitution proposed to them today would meet the same fate.

SPECIAL INTERESTS: Most of us who were around to observe that last attempt agree that the Constitution was not adopted because all those groups who opposed some special passage in it turned out their "anti" voters, while the ordinary citizens stayed home. The "aginers" outnumbered those who favored the document — and the whole work of a constitutional convention went down the drain.

That's why so few have lined up behind Toney Anaya when he has told us we need such a constitutional convention again. We remember, and we certainly don't think he is the one to overcome the difficulty we are aware of.

That's why people go on trying to change the Constitution we have, one sentence at a time. It's not the best way, but it may be the only way we have.

Look for more efforts to do that in the future, not for fewer.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

NOTE OF APPRECIATION . . .

EDITOR—I just wanted to send a note of appreciation thru your paper to the Law Enforcement Agencies of Carrizozo. We stayed at the very nice "4-Winds Motel" last week, and when we prepared to leave the next morning it had snowed and was rather cold, and our diesel car refused to start! It is always a pain when you're in a strange place to get a "boost," and I was feeling sorry for myself while we were walking across the highway to a restaurant for breakfast when a "Sheriff's car" came by; I waved him down to ask where I might get help and Deputy Max Watson did more than that, he insisted on boosting my car to start it and when that didn't do it, he took me to a station and had me get some starting fluid and then back to the motel and sure enough it started! The easy and obvious thing for him to do was to refer me to some garage, but he went the extra step to help and was most courteous and kind. We really appreciate Max and he and the people we met in Carrizozo certainly left us with a sincere warm feeling for your people and community. You're to be congratulated.

REAL BAD LAW . . .

EDITOR—The proposed Genocide Convention is bad law. It's real bad law. The worst part is that it may become the law of the land unless concerned Americans speak out.

Like all treaties, the Genocide Convention must be ratified by the US Senate. Once ratified, treaties become the law of the land according to Article VI of the US Constitution.

Article II of the Convention says, "genocide means any of the following acts committed with intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious groups, such as: (a) Killing members of the groups; (murder) (b) Causing serious bodily or mental harm to members of the group:

There is more, but Part (b) should cause anyone to be alarmed. If you were charged with "Causing...mental harm to members of the group," you could be forced to defend yourself in an international court of law conducted in maybe Moscow or Peking according to Articles VI and IX.

Nor does it make any difference whether or not you are a public official or a private citizen according to Article IV.

As mentioned, the Genocide Convention is bad law. The worst part is that President Reagan has endorsed it. California's two Senators are on record as supporting it.

It very likely will become the law of the land unless enough concerned citizens speak up. There is a nationwide letter writing campaign underway. Your Congressman, more importantly your Senators should hear from you immediately.

This shocking law has no place in any nation that intends to long remain a "land of the free."

LATEST END RUN . . .

EDITOR—When President Truman committed the US to the compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court, the Senate attached an important guard to US sovereignty in the form of the Connally Reservation. Jurisdiction of the World Court could not apply to "disputes with regard to matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the US as determined by the US." Were it not for those six words in the Connally Reservation, according to legal experts, the Court "could invade fields of domestic law concerning immigration, tariff policy, armaments, education, civil rights, freedom of speech - in fact, many of the freedoms guaranteed by our Bill of Rights could be adjudicated by the Court if it arbitrarily held that the denial of these rights in the US were having sufficient repercussions abroad to be considered as international matters."

Over the years radicals in Congress have attempted to repeal the Connally Reservation and to increase World Court interference in US affairs. The latest end run around American sovereignty involves the Genocide Convention. If it is approved by the Senate, any American so much as accused as causing "mental harm" to any member of a protected "national, ethnical, racial, or religious group" would be subject to trial under international law. Indeed Article IX of the Genocide treaty states this fact.

More than 10 years ago Senator Sam Erwin warned that Article IX of the Genocide Convention would empower the World Court to review the acts of every American, including even the President, to determine if their actions had lived up to the Genocide Convention and then to order our courts and Congress to take whatever action it deems necessary. Bear in mind that US courts have ruled that a treaty signed and ratified by the US becomes the supreme law of the land, overriding even the US Constitution, and that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee noted in its discussion of Article IX that "Cases arising under the Genocide Convention will not be covered by the Connally Reservation...Let your Senators know that you expect them to vote against the Genocide Convention.

SANTA FE—Our state Constitution needs work.

It's a little like an old family car that has been repaired and repaired; it still gets us where we are going, but it's not a pretty sight.

As of the end of last week, the current legislative session has seen 14 attempts to amend that basic document, and there will be many more before this Legislature closes. By no means all will pass both houses, which allows them to be voted on by the citizens, so we won't find them all on our ballots. But almost every time there is a general election, we are asked to vote on one or more of such proposals.

Is that a good way to produce a document which is relevant to our times?

NO MORE PATCHWORK: Straightforward logic would say this kind of piecemeal amending of the Constitution is clearly unsatisfactory. Simply to change a passage here and a passage there, as we have been doing since 1912, isn't an efficient way to produce a document which can guide our government.

If we really want the basic improvement some think the Constitution needs, we should simply create a new one.

That makes a lot of sense and is a position which attracts many followers, including Governor Toney Anaya. But can it be done?

The problem, as some New Mexicans found out in 1969, is not so much to produce a good Constitution as it is to pass it.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE: The Constitutional Convention we held at the end of the 1960's came up with a document which many thought, was a model that could serve for other states to follow.

The convention itself was a model one, made up of a healthy mix of veteran political figures, such as Bruce King and Flo Sedillo, and of then-inexperienced citizens of good will, some of whom went on to become politicians, like John Irick. Between them, they wrote an instrument the state could have lived with for decades to come.

But there was one weakness. They couldn't get it passed. The people turned it down when it was

Ask Dr. Dan

My grandfather died unexpectedly and his doctor asked for an autopsy to determine the cause of death. What is an autopsy? N. C.

An autopsy is a special examination of a dead body. The exam is done by a pathologist, who is a specialist in studying tissue and fluid samples from bodies and making diagnosis based on what he sees. All marks and external changes on the body are described and may be photographed if necessary. Samples of blood and other fluids are taken and analyzed. The internal organs are removed and examined. Small tissue specimens of the organs are taken and prepared for viewing under the microscope.

The law requires autopsies in all cases of homicide, suicide or unexplained deaths. In addition, many doctors will request an autopsy of a hospitalized person whose cause of death is uncertain. The information gathered during such autopsies is often reassuring to the family that everything possible had been done. Medical knowledge has greatly benefited from autopsies.

An autopsied body can be prepared for casket viewing without any visible signs of the autopsy. The family may request that the brain be excluded from examination.

HITLER NO MATCH . . .

EDITOR—It would be very interesting to learn who is behind all of these "spontaneous" demonstrations throughout our country against South Africa as many of those involved are self-admitted Communists. Why don't they tell us that South Africa and the United States have the same border problem, that is that illegal aliens are entering both our countries. In the case of South Africa the illegals are blacks fleeing their adjacent "Marxist Paradises" knowing that the blacks in South Africa have more freedom and a higher standard of living.

Why are there no demonstrations over the fact that close to two hundred million dollars of goods which are made in Communist slave labor camps are being shipped into the United States each year? According to Atrahan Shifrin, who is a Russian Jew and who spent many, many years in slave labor camps inside the Soviet Union, there are about 80 slave labor camps in East Germany alone while Hitler had only about 40 in the whole of Germany. We still hear of Hitler's atrocities, but the Soviet Union has murdered more people than Hitler ever thought of.

It would, to say the least, shock most people of our day and age to learn that wholesale slavery is daily being carried on and at an enormous profit to the slave masters. Forced labor is by no means exceptional in the Soviet Union. It is an integral part of the economic system, and it is extremely doubtful whether the current Soviet economy could function without it.

We import millions upon millions of dollars worth of goods from the Soviet Union and Red China, isn't it about time that moral Americans ceased buying slave-produced goods? Next time you go shopping look for the Communist label.

Billings in Lincoln County

By Philip J. Raab
The year 1885 was a vintage one for the connoisseur of the fine art of murder as practiced in Lincoln County. John N. Hudgens is well remembered as one of the White Oaks posse who surrounded the Greathouse & Kuck ranchhouse on Nov. 23, 1880 in an unsuccessful attempt to capture Billy, the Kid (Henry McCarty), Dave, Rudabaugh, and Billy Wilson. The only tangible result was the death of James Carlyle, a member of the posse. Hudgens was on friendly terms with Louis Montjeau, but while drinking together in a saloon in White Oaks early in January, a quarrel broke out between the two men. Montjeau "presented" his Winchester, whereupon Hudgens killed him with a pistol ball.

At the May, 1884 term of court Nicolas Aragon had been sentenced to five years for rustling. He escaped from the Lincoln County jail on May 28. In October Deputy Sheriff Jasper N. Corn, his brother-in-law, and James M. Abercrombie learned that he was at Gallinas Springs and set out to arrest him. Aragon killed Corn and made his escape. On January 25, 1885 Sheriff John W. Poe and three deputies, John Hurley, Jim Brent and Barney Mason, reinforced by Abercrombie then surrounded Aragon's home at Chaperito. Hurley climbed on to the roof of the building and endeavored to break through it. He was shot and instantly killed by Aragon. The murderer finally surrendered when the posse threatened to dynamite his house. Eventually an all-Mexican jury freed him on the charge of killing Hurley. Tried later for the murder of Corn, he was sentenced to life, but was pardoned on Dec. 24, 1886. Aragon must go down in the record as one of the most desperate men in Lincoln County's history.

O. D. Kelsey was stabbed by Dan McCarty, a soldier, somewhere in Lincoln County in March and died near Fort Stanton. McCarty was sentenced to seven years in the pen.

The bloodiest single crime in Lincoln County annals occurred on May 5, 1885. A Dr. William H. Flynn shared a room with Martin Nelson in the Mayberry home at local dance-hall owner, Peter Nelson, ran to the Mayberry house and was shot down. The citizens then surrounded the place, but unbeknown to them

At the May, 1885 term of court Catarino Romero was tried for a murder committed over two years before. Who he murdered does not appear in the published murder, while the charges against Tom Pils were dropped. Again the published record fails to show who was murdered.

Early in August, August Cline and Tom Mooney "were having some fun" at Charles Fritz's saloon in Lincoln. Cline accidentally shot and killed Mooney.

The conclusion that Townier wanted Benham killed because the latter had been intimate with his wife, a woman of loose character.

Bonito City, about 14 miles east of Fort Stanton. Early on the morning of the fateful day Flynn was awakened by hearing Nelson going through his pants pockets. As he leaped out of bed, the thief shot him. Hearing the report the Mayberry family rushed to the scene. Nelson killed Mr. Mayberry, Mrs. Mayberry, who was pregnant, their two sons, aged 19 and 13, and wounded their 14 year old daughter. A

Nelson had already sneaked away. After obtaining breakfast he returned to the scene of his crimes, avowedly "to get two or three more." As he approached the house he shot one of the guards. Herman Beck, in the back, killing him almost instantly. Within moments he was himself cut down by some of the other guards. All of the action had taken place between 3 a.m. and 7 a.m.

accounts. In any case he was sentenced to life. While being held in the Lincoln County jail he assaulted Jailer Smith Lea with a piece of iron and succeeded in knocking him down. Lea, however, drew his revolver and killed Romero. The date was June 5, 1885.

At the same term of court Romaldo Aragon was tried for

The first week in June, William Saunders, Sid Moore, and the latter's father, Nat, got into a fight over a game of cards in a Nogal saloon. Nat hit Saunders over the head with a chair. When Saundser continued to defend himself, the two Moores rushed behind the bar and procured weapons. Saunders succeeded in taking Nat's Winchester away from him and tried to get on his horse to leave. When Sid fired at him with a pistol, he put two bullets from the rifle into Sid's left breast. Saunders as examined at Lincoln and "adjudged innocent of premeditated crime."

About the middle of that same month, a Mexican killed his wife at Lincoln, cutting her almost in two.

The July 21 issue of the Santa Fe Daily New Mexican reported that "Jose Gonzales stole a horse in Lincoln County and caught at it." The implications appear obvious.

The writer's records for the year 1886 are quite incomplete, but it was remarkable for the fact that two murderers received just punishment for their crimes in Lincoln itself.

We must first mention that James Trout and Frank Scott were killed on Zuber's ranch, on the Yeso, in May, 1886, by a deputy sheriff and his posse. Allegedly the posse attempted to arrest them on a charge of horse stealing and they chose to resist.

William James Bolt was hung at Lincoln on June 18 for murder. He said that Charles T. Tower had told him that a man named Benham intended to kill him, so he shot Benham in the back while they were riding across the Staked Plains. He explained that he believed Tower because Benham had proposed to him that they kill and rob Morgan Livingston and poison a Mrs. Allen to get her horses. Afterwards he came to

The hanging, conducted by Sheriff James Brent, was the second in history of Lincoln County, the first having been of a man named William Wilson, in 1875, for the murder of Robert Casey. On the scaffold, Bolt, who was only 20 years old, said, "Young men, take warning from me; don't do anything to bring you to the like of this." Turning to the sheriff, his last words were, "Good-bye, God bless you all." Tower was sentenced to seven years as an accessory.

WHITE OAKS EAGLE

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HIMSELF

Through an oversight the EAGLE last week failed to mention a serious accident which overtook one of our young nimrods, William Gallacher. He, Marshall Parker, Richard Tallafarro and others were hunting squirrels near White Oaks spring when young Gallacher crossing a pipe line struck his rifle hammer against the pipe, discharged the gun, the contents taking effect in his left arm and shoulder. The ball entered the under side of his arm between the elbow and shoulder and passed out on top of the shoulder between the joint and the neck, making an ugly wound. Dr. M. G. Paden was called and found by probing that no bones were broken. The young hunter is rapidly recovering and when the wound is healed no serious impediment will likely remain to use of the arm. Other youngsters may profit by Williams' experience and if accidents are to be avoided keep cartridges in the magazine until ready for use and never carry a gun loaded, it only requires a second or two to load and unload a magazine gun.

STANDING ROOM ONLY—Stop me if you can Capitan's Dewey Keller seems to be saying to Grizzly defender Joe Candelaria. That's Robbie Rannels in the background. This large crowd witnessed Capitan's 45-44 victory over the Grizzlies and an exciting coronation ceremony.

READY! AIM! FIRE!—Capitan's Troy Keller pulls the trigger as Kenny Crenshaw (32) and Hal Roueche (40) defend. Chris Peralta (41) is off to the left. Look closely and you can see Capitan's Ronnie Sanchez and Tommy Escamilla of Carrizozo. The two teams split their series this year.

HONDO-CAPITAN-C'ZOZO

Basketball round-up

The Carrizozo Grizzlies were in Mountainair Feb. 8 defeating the Mustangs 71-44. Carrizozo hit 51 percent from the field and 83 percent from the free throw line. The Grizzlies turned the ball over 19 times but stole the ball themselves 20 times along the way. Dominic Vega had a big night with 23 points. Vega was followed by Kenny Crenshaw with 16 points and Tommy Escamilla with 10 points.

The Hondo Eagles made the 24 mile trip to Capitan Feb. 8 and were shot out of the air by the Tigers 63-28. The Eagles were in it through the 1st quarter before the Tigers pulled away. Dewey Keller found the hoop for 20 points followed by brother Troy with 10. Robbie Rannels and Ronnie Sanchez contributed 8 points each for the Tiger cause. T. Salcido was high scorer for the Eagles with 7 points. D. Chavez and G. Maez followed with 6 points each.

The Tigerettes bested the Lady Eagles 35-11. Tracy Herd and Sheila House had 8 points each for the Tigerettes while Tina Torrez was credited with 5 points for the losers.

Missed free throws and the lack of free throw opportunities have been a major cause for the (4) Grizzly losses this season. This was the case in Capitan last Saturday night. The Grizzlies had a chance to pull this game out with 2 free throws at the final buzzer. Carrizozo missed both these free throws as the Tigers edged out the Grizzlies 45-44. Carrizozo was unable to stay with their pressure defense due to early foul trouble.

Dewey Keller led the way for the Tigers with 16 points. Kenny Crenshaw had the hot hand for the Grizzlies with 24 points. Also scoring in double figures was Tommy Escamilla with 10 points for Carrizozo.

The Foxes from Ft. Sumner will be in Carrizozo Feb. 15 for action beginning at 5 p.m. Ft. Sumner leads the conference with a 6-0 record followed by the 2nd place Grizzlies with a 4-2 conference record. Coach Becker feels the Grizzlies will need a good showing against the Foxes to build confidence and get the Grizzlies back in the race.

Cloudercroft squeaked past Capitan Tuesday night in double overtime 68-66. A big 3rd quarter by the Bears overcame the 7 point advantage Capitan held at halftime. The 2 hot hands for the evening were T. Scott with 29 points for the Bears and Dewey Keller with 28 points for the Tigers.

The Bears won the JV boys game 82-64. Trent Thompson led the way with 15 points followed by John Parker with 11 points and Scott Thompson with 10 points for the losing cause.

The Cloudercroft Lady Bears defeated the Tigerettes 46-32. The Bears led all the way behind the shooting prowess of Susan Peek. Jana Harris and Tracy Herd had 8 points each for Capitan.

The JV Tigerettes made the bus ride home a little easier defeating Cloudercroft 41-29. Kateri Sanchez continues to show nice improvement with 20 points for Capitan.

Wool and Mohair prices will vary

The federal support price for 1985 shorn wool marketings is $1.73 per pound, 8 cents a pound higher than the 1984 level, according to John W. Cooper, Chairman Lincoln County ASC Committee. Mohair marketings will be supported at $4.65 per pound, about 52 cents per pound less than the 1984 rate.

The ASCS wool and mohair programs are designed to encourage sheep growers to do their best job of marketing and to improve the quality of fibers. "The better the marketing effort by a producer, the better the incentive payment," Cooper said. Lincoln County's sheep growers could receive payments totaling about $850,000 for their 1984 sales of shorn wool and unshorn lambs, and $7500 for mohair.

Shorn wool and mohair payments are based on a percentage of each producer's return sales. The percentage is the amount required to raise the national average price for 1985 wool up to the $1.73 per pound support price, Cooper said.

Pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the price support level for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

The ASCS official said projected prices indicate payments will be necessary for 1984 mohair marketings, and these payments will be calculated in a manner similar to wool.

Wool prices for 1985 are expected to average around 75 cents per pound. Mohair prices are expected to average about $4.60 per pound.

Lincoln county eligible

Lincoln County was declared eligible for Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) disaster emergency loans on August 8, 1984. Generally, this means that farmers who have lost at least 30 percent of their production due to the severe storms and flooding are eligible for FmHA loans. Proceeds from crop insurance and the PIK program are taken into account when determining eligibility.

FmHA County Supervisor, Arthur Baca is urging farmers who are interested in receiving an emergency loan to get their applications to FmHA as soon as possible. Mr. Baca said, "We hope farmers will get their applications in early rather than waiting until near the deadline which is September 18, 1985. The longer they wait, the more chance there is for long delays in getting their checks. If the applications come in early we can avoid backlogs and speed up the process."

The FmHA office is located at 1007 Mechem Drive, Hwy 37, P.O. Box 2450, Ruidoso, NM 88345.
