

Rural areas selected against

By RUTH HAMMOND
State Representative
Maurice Hobson stopped by the News office Friday on his way to Santa Fe for the special session legislative session that started Saturday.

Hobson said the closing of the 11 welfare offices was a political ploy and added that the majority of the offices being closed were in the southern part of the state. He also said that the projected savings would be less than had been announced by Human Services Secretary Juan Vigil. According to Hobson, most offices are leased and the rent must be paid whether the office is being occupied or not. Most of the employees are being transferred which will eliminate a savings there. As to the saving of $350,000, Hobson said, "It is ludicrous. It is ridiculous." With a budget of $100 million, the saving of $350,000 would be less than one percent.

He pointed out that it would amount to three and one half of one percent. Hobson was concerned that the staff in the higher offices was not being cut. He insisted that, "If they would make the proper cuts in Santa Fe, this ploy would not be necessary." According to Hobson, New Mexico has one third more employees than other states the size of New Mexico. He said there are between 13,000 and 15,000 NM state employees and other states our size only have 9,000 employees. He said, "We have some good employees by we don't need that many in Santa Fe."

Hobson stated that Vigil is taking the money the legislature has appropriated and putting it somewhere else. Vigil is a cabinet secretary appointed by the governor. Vigil has the say as to how $100 to $200 million in state funds will be spent. In addition to this, he is responsible for the federal matching funds and AFDC bringing the total to many million dollars.

Hobson noted that last year Vigil gave certain H.S. employees raises that amounted to half a million dollars and then he told the legislature that he needed more money to run the day care program or services for 300 children would have to be cut.

Hobson says that Human Services department is not concerned with serving the people. "If they are going to treat everybody in the state the same, then it is fine, but they are not. We are being selected against just because we are in the southern part of the state and in a rural area." He feels that, "This is no reason for them to discriminate against us."

Hobson encourages people to write to Governor Toney Anaya and tell him how they feel about the Carrizozo office closing. "We need to let the Governor know we are unhappy," he said. He also feels the H.S. is subsidizing inefficient offices that don't try to get people back to work.

Editor's Note: Earlier this week Vigil was questioned by the legislature about the closings. He was asked if the department was given $350,000 will the offices remain open. Vigil responded, "I would probably put the money in a different area."

VIGIL SAYS, "NOT A POLITICAL PLOY"—

Budget move closes welfare offices

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo welfare office is one of 11 offices scheduled to close permanently on July 1. The Carrizozo office first opened in 1938 and has been open continuously since then except for a three year period in the 1950s.

The surprise announcement was made on TV May 8. Human Services secretary Juan Vigil and staff members flew into Carrizozo the next day for a meeting with employees from the Carrizozo and Estancia offices. Staff members arriving with Vigil were H.S. Personnel Chief Gene Valdes, Division Director for the Income Support Division Jane Cotter, Tony Duran, and Nena Romero.

Vigil said, "This is not a political ploy," when asked if the closings were announced just before the special session legislative session to get more money from the legislature.

Vigil said the offices are being closed because of a tight budget. Most client contact will be made through the mail or by phone. When asked if the long distance phone calls and expenses for necessary travel wouldn't offset the savings, Vigil said, "The cost of travel will be less than maintaining an office."

Cotter said it will make it more efficient with fewer offices, and, "I do honestly think we can manage better with fewer offices." She said that more business will be conducted by phone and if a face to face interview is needed someone can come here for the interview.

Employees were concerned that the phone will not allow the eye to eye contact that is necessary for their work. Many clients are seen once a week and closing the office will eliminate this. Also, many clients walk to the office and do not have a phone.

Employees were told that in many instances the department could provide better services. They were also told that the legislature does not allow any funds to be transferred from other areas to keep the offices open, there will be other savings in the efficiency of the operation, and it is not cost efficient to have the records right on hand.

An announcement is expected by mid June about itinerant services and on official notice will be issued to the News with a phone number clients can call for assistance.

Closing the 11 field offices will save the department $350,000. There will be some layoffs but the majority of the employees have the opportunity of transfer. In addition to this, employees that do transfer will be eligible for up to $2,800 in moving expenses.

Jeanie Wilmet and Hazel Hayes will transfer from the Carrizozo office to Alamogordo and Mary Crenshaw and Liz Lueras will transfer to the Socorro office.

A new office in Belen with all new equipment will be one of the offices that will have more people per office. Lay-offs are provisional and the employees' rights to jobs will extend to Dec. 31, 1985.

Lincoln County clients will be served out of the Alamogordo office. Other offices to be closed and the offices to serve affected clients are: Union County in Clayton, to be served out of Raton; Mora County in Mora, to be served out of Las Vegas; Quay County in Tucuman, to be served out of Santa Rosa, Torrance County in Estancia, to be served out of Belen; DeBaca County in Fort Sumner, to be served out of Santa Rosa; Hidalgo County in Lordsburg, to be served out of Deming; Sierra County in Truth or Consequences, to be served out of Socorro and Las Cruces.

Catron County in Reserve, to be served out of Silver City; the Artesia office in Eddy, to be served from the other Eddy County office in Carlsbad; and the Lovington office in Lea County, to be served out of the other Lea County office in Hobbs.

CLOSING OF THE WELFARE OFFICE in Carrizozo was discussed May 9 when Human Services Secretary Juan Vigil and staff members flew into Carrizozo for a meeting with employees from the Carrizozo and Estancia offices. Shown from left are Carrizozo employees Laz Lueras and Mary Crenshaw talking to Jane Cotter, Division Director for the Income Support Division. The office in Carrizozo is scheduled to close on July 1.

C'ZOZO SCHOOL BOARD—

Tentative budget is approved

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo Board of Education met in special session May 9 to consider employment of staff and review and approve the tentative budget.

Peggy Frazier was hired as administrative aide to fill the vacancy when Susan Wells resigns July 1. Peggy will begin training on May 15.

The board agreed to pay Susan Wells an increment of $1,000 in addition to her regular salary to train Peggy from May 15 to mid July. It was announced that Peggy will go to Dallas in July for a week of training to learn to do the payroll on the computer.

The resignation that had been submitted by Vo-ag teacher Mike Gaines was reconsidered. Gaines will remain as vo-ag teacher and there will be no break in his tenure.

The budget committee presented a tentative budget with an average 7.3 salary increase for teachers and a revised salary schedule with a higher base and an incentive for all employees to obtain additional training related to their current jobs.

Other highlights of the tentative budget included addition of school nursing services and employment of a health-aide-athletic trainer for critical medical care and athletic injuries care and prevention, addition of a summer library program one morning a week for a pre-school story hour and book checkout for residents, increase in financial support for non-athletic activity program to reduce the burden of fund-raising, reduction of the kindergarten program due to decreased enrollment, reduced vocational program offerings at the high school, and an increase in pupil-teacher ratios, with the estimated ratio being 21.67 for elementary, 20 for mid school and 18.63 for the high school.

The budget has an additional salary of $16,314 included to cover unexpected expenses that may arise during the fiscal year. After a lengthy discussion, the board decided to increase this amount to $25,000 to be used to hire a football coach.

The board expressed concern for the football program and chose to include the salary for a football coach in the budget. This means the budget must be changed and the proposed 7.3 average salary increase for teachers will be reduced from the estimated average increase of $1,641 per teacher.

The teachers will receive a salary increase this year but not the proposed amount. The tentative budget was completed and delivered to Santa Fe on May 13.

HONDO TEACHER—Charlotte Lee of Lincoln and a teacher at the Hondo Valley Public Schools has recently been awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities Scholarship for an 8 week study at St. Johns College in Santa Fe this summer. Her topics of study will be philosophy and history.

Capitan special election July 29th

By BART McDONOUGH
Water again was the major business for the Capitan City Council meeting in regular session Monday night, May 13.

The council passed a resolution calling for the following priorities: Storage acquisition of new water sources and transmission water rights distribution lines.

The council passed a resolution calling for a special election on July 29. This bond issue will not exceed $600,000. The voter registration books will be closed at 5 p.m. on June 17.

John Burkstaller of EID (Environmental Improvement Division) stressed that the new well east of Capitan should be the major concern. The council had planned to use $593,000 in grants on a filtering plant. Burkstaller felt that the council should redo its thinking and use the major portion of the grant with reference to the new well. The existing treatment system should be used as a standby system. The council passed a motion to redo "its filter thinking - put it on hold." Burkstaller also stressed new water rights.

Jack Atkins (Atkins-Landfair Engineers) advised the council that the new well is an excellent one. The final drilling depth was 495 feet. With proper equipment this well could produce 1,000 gallons a minute. Atkins asked the council to consider additional wells in this area. Atkins went on to state that this is an unlimited water supply.

In other council action the council began proceedings to condemn the Stevens building on 4th Street. This building is next to the Johnny Preciado Residence.

Vernon Goodwin resigned as chairman and member of the Water Advisory Board. The council praised Goodwin for his excellent work.

The council rejected all bids for a new backhoe $5,774 in revenue sharing will be used on the streets - specifically for gravel.

The waste disposal contract now held by Wayne Hobbs will be up for bids. Hobbs was praised for doing a good job.

The council was very happy to learn that the title for the old Otero Electric Building beside the Smokey Bear Motel had finally been obtained.

A workshop will be held Thursday night, May 16, to consider other business.

Rec Center update

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo Board of Trustees met May 14 and discussed the proposal received from Harold Shelby for lease of the Recreation Center.

Acceptance of the bid was tabled until the proposal is returned from the Municipal League. At that time a special meeting will be called for Trustees to meet with Shelby and negotiate the contract.

During the Board meeting held April 23, Mayor Harold Garcia stated, "If it is inevitable that sooner or later, just because of economics, we have to close down the Rec Center, then now would be a prime time to do so."

The proposal was sent to the Municipal League for legal advice because the town does not have a city attorney at this time.

PROJECT GRADUATION

"In spring when teenagers' thoughts turn to graduation, proms, and trips to the beach, very few stop to consider the consequences of drinking and driving. Yet, traffic accidents involving alcohol are a leading cause of death for youth between the ages of 16 and 24, with a number of fatalities escalating in May and June."

(Drinking and driving is a problem that cuts across age groups, but young people - males in particular - are more likely to be involved as drivers in alcohol-related accidents as well as to be injured or killed in such accidents. Legislative responses have ranged from raising the minimum drinking age to mandating alcohol and traffic safety education in the schools. Reduction of adolescent DWI is also being addressed by a growing number of community and parent groups and alcoholism caregivers.)

"Project Graduation" seeks to reduce teen DWI incidents. The rest of the article by Jill Vejnoska follows:

"Project Graduation was organized by the Montgomery County Ad Hoc Task Force on Drinking and Driving, the Montgomery County Regional Student Governments, the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations (PTA), and the Business Community Team Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse. Because high school graduations and proms traditionally are high-risk times for students who drive, Project Graduation organizers directed their efforts at participants in these activities."

"The PTA took a direct approach to curbing teenage drinking while driving, providing a hotline number teens call for free rides on prom night and recruiting parents to act as drivers. Members of the business community cooperated by printing cards with the hotline number and slipping them into corsages, boutonnières, and rental tuxedos. In addition, similar cards were placed on tables at the proms, while posters proclaiming 'Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk' graced the walls."

"Prevention activities begun well in advance of the graduation season, included presentations of 'Sacred Stiff', a videotape account of the dangers of drinking and driving by Montgomery County policemen at most of the area's high schools, and broadcasts of public service announcements over local radio and television stations. Students, parents, and faculty also coordinated distribution of Project Graduation materials within the schools, as well as to local newspapers, in their attempt to ensure that alcohol-related driving fatalities are no longer part of the traditions associated with graduation night."

SPECIAL HAZARDS

Unfortunately, the legal drinking age, 18 to 21, depending on the state, is easily circumvented. Teenagers get older bar patrons to buy alcohol for them, or they buy it illegally from a willing liquor store.

From Good Housekeeping magazine: Teenagers drink to feel grown up. Buying liquor and having it at parties when their parents aren't around gives them adult status in the eyes of their peers. Like adults, teenagers drink to have a good time, to be part of a group. And like adults, they sometimes drink to escape from problems and the stress of school or a job. But unlike most adults, who drink to relax, teenagers often drink for the express purpose of getting high, even drunk. "They also have a tendency to underestimate the potency of alcohol beverages," says Dr. Wallace Mandell, director of Johns Hopkins Hospital Alcoholism Service, and to overestimate their ability to drive after drinking."

Because alcohol use is either illegal or forbidden by parents or school authorities, many teenagers drink surreptitiously and in a hurry, often without food or mixers, causing the alcohol level in their blood to suddenly shoot up, producing intoxication. Low body weight is another factor in their becoming intoxicated more quickly than adults. The smaller the person, the sooner the effects of alcohol are felt.

along just fine. But one semester when the bloodmobile rolled into campus and I went to give my pint, they refused my blood because I was anemic.

"Eat more meat," advised the blood technician. He said that beef is especially good for anemia because it is rich in iron and vitamin B12. I later found that 62 percent of the iron in beef is "heme iron," three to five times more usable to the body than the iron found in other foods. In fact, heme iron has a booster effect...actually increasing the amount of iron available from spinach and other vegetables that are eaten in conjunction with meat.

Mary asked if I still eat beef because I need iron. "No," I said, "I eat it because I like it...and I know it is good for me."

"I wonder if I should be eating more meat for the baby's sake," she queried. I knew that as an expectant mother Mary needed to increase her intake of all the nutrients - and that beef was a good source of nutritional requirements. I didn't have the facts but I knew I could find them for her. The idea of finding some figures that would open her eyes was challenging and I decided to start the search with dietitians - people who prescribe foods for other people for health reasons.

The staff dietitian of a leading hospital told me that the blood technician wasn't the only one recommending that people eat more red meats. Most major hospitals offer the patients a choice of entrees at each meal. The hospital's dietitian works with the patient, making suggestions as to what they should be choosing if they need a particular nutrient.

For example, when patients are encouraged to eat red meats as an entree because they need more protein (beef is a super source supplying 76 percent of the recommended dietary allowances for women 23 to 50 years old.) If a patient needs thiamin, the dietitians encourage them to eat pork, a leading source of the vitamin B1.

Dietitians not only suggest what patients should eat, but work to exorcise some common falsehoods. For those patients concerned about cholesterol and saturated fats (and it is worth noting that the connection between diet and heart disease is among the most hotly debated issues in medicine) today's beef comes as a surprise. Less than 48 percent of the fat in beef is saturated. The rest is mono- or polyunsaturated. The recommended serving of beef contains only 73 milligrams of cholesterol, just 24 percent of the American Heart Association's recommendation of 300 milligrams of dietary cholesterol per day. A man or woman could eat a 12 ounce steak and still stay below the limit.

If beef is choice of the sick and mending in the hospital, it is also the choice of the champions. Athletes ate steaks for breakfast at the Los Angeles Olympics. ARA Services, the official

C'zozo students CTBS test results

The Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills was administered to Carrizozo Students in grades one, two, three, four, five, eight, and ten in March. The state requires that the test be administered statewide to grades three, five, and eight.

Areas tested were: reading, language arts, math, science, social studies, and reference skills. CTBS results gave the class average in each area tested and an average for the total battery of tests.

Carrizozo students in grades one through eight tested above average in all areas and in the total battery of tests.

CTBS results for the tenth grade were below average in reading, language arts, math, and reference skills. These tests scores brought the average down for the total battery of tests. The tenth graders test results were a full year below average in language arts and almost a full year below average in math and reference skills.

PART THREE
It was a special evening. Our friends had some news to tell us. We have gone to our favorite steakhouse - the one we choose for celebrations. Mary and Randall were excited all evening. Finally, over dessert, the news broke. They were expecting their first child.

Of course, we were thrilled. You would have thought we were family. As we finished the meal, I noticed that Mary hadn't eaten much. She had only ordered a salad. I asked her if the pregnancy made her nervous or queasy.

"No," she said, "I feel great. It is just that I'm not really sure what I should be eating. I assume that raw vegetables are good for the baby. Frankly, I don't know much about nutrition."

I could understand her concern. After all, here she is about to give birth to a child. She is not just responsible for herself anymore.

I admitted that I didn't know much about nutrition either, but had learned the hard way that balance was the key to a proper diet. The lesson was learned in college, where as a typical student I didn't have much time or money. Popcorn sometimes served as breakfast, lunch and dinner. I thought I was getting

ZUMWALT-SULLIVAN

United in double-ring ceremony

The marriage of Sheila Marie Zumwalt to Brian Patrick Sullivan was held on April 13, 1985 at 3:00 p.m. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ken Cole in the First Christian Church of Ruidoso. Organist-pianist was Mrs. Phyllis Schlegel of Carrizozo, two of the special songs were: "Twelfth of Never" and "How Great Thou Art." Soloist was Eva Zumwalt of Nogal, who sang, "To Me."

The brides parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Zumwalt of Nogal, NM and the grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sullivan of Capitan, NM. The brides grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Zumwalt of Nogal, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kilpatrick of Socorro, NM. The grooms grandmother is Mrs. Maureen Sullivan of Capitan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown, designed by the bride and made by her mother, with some work being done by each of the brides grandmothers. The gown was made with a traditional high neckline, with handmade french imported lace, accenting both the neck and bodice. Pearls and sequins were hand sewn atop the lace by the brides mother. The sleeves were satin puff at shoulder, cut into a reverse V, with chantilly lace, finishing the sleeve, fitted to the wrist. The skirt was full, with white satin pulled up at four points in front by white satin roses, showing the rows of chantilly lace beneath. The skirt flowed into a long satin and lace cathedral train. The brides fingertip illusion veil was held in place by a lace and pearl encrusted tiara, which was worn by the brides mother in her wedding.

For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief made of silk that her grandfather Kilpatrick brought home from Japan after WWII. The handkerchief was trimmed in blue and white hand tatted lace, made by brides great grandmother, Neva Kilpatrick. For something new the bride carried her bouquet, made of hand blown glass flowers and wax buds, accented by 26 yellow and white roses cascading down with baby's breath and fern. Something borrowed was a string of pearls belonging to brides grandmother, Lattie Kilpatrick. Something blue was the traditional blue garters, made by her grandmother.

The attendants wore taffeta floor length gowns in (lt. yellow and (lt.) green accented by corresponding satin belts with streamers, and white straw hats with corresponding ribbons. Matron of Honor, a friend of the bride, was Mrs. Paulette Johnston of Palmdale, CA, who was dressed in yellow. Brides maids were friend of the bride, Kathy Erb, of Palmdale, CA, and cousin of the bride, Shari Ozier, of Clovis, CA, both wore lt. green. Flower girl was Candis Zumwalt of Nogal, NM, dressed in yellow and ring bearer was Jerome Hamilton of Albuquerque, NM, both are second cousins of the bride.

Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. JoAnna Buckley, aunt of the groom, from Elk City, OK. Photographers were: Mrs. Jacque Ozier of Clovis, CA, aunt of the bride, and Mr. Mark Kennedy of Phoenix, AZ, cousin of the bride, and Miss Paula Sharpe of Nogal, friend of the bride.

Brother of the bride, Ronald Zumwalt, was the escort for their mother, and an usher. All male attendants wore lt. green suits with yellow boutineers. Groom wore an all white suit with yellow rose boutineer. Best man was brother of the groom, Paul Sullivan, and groomsmen were; Marcus Reid and Scott Willis, friends and SAE fraternity brothers of the groom, from O.S. U. Stillwater, OK.

The pastel colors of the wedding were carried out in the reception following the wedding in the fellowship hall. Assisting with the reception table were Mrs. Maureen Sullivan, who wore a beige lace dress brought from Paris, France by her mother, and Mrs. Leora Zumwalt, who wore a beige floor length gown, and Mrs. Lattie Kilpatrick, who wore a mauve and beige flowered floor length gown, all are grandmothers of the groom and bride. Also assisting was Miss Kristi Kennedy of Rio Rancho, NM, cousin of the bride. The prayer asking Gods blessing of the marriage was said by Paul Hamilton, great uncle of the bride. The four tier wedding cake, in all white, was made by Mrs. Donna Kennedy, aunt of the bride. The bottom layer featured a china bride and groom which was also used on the wedding cakes of the grooms grandparents, parents, aunt, and brother. A buffet dinner was hosted by brides parents after the ceremony, in their home.

The couple honeymooned at Disneyland, CA, visiting Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, and Hollywood Wax Museum. They will be living in Los Lunas, NM. The groom will be attending UNM in the fall, and is employed at Frontier Ford, Albuquerque. The bride will be employed as a Certified Dental Assistant.

But the benefits of beef in the diet aren't earthbound. Quite a bit of meat is used in spacechips and on shuttle missions. Beef is a natural in space because it is a nutrient dense food - relatively low in calories and relatively high in contribution of essential nutrients.

Storage room is limited in space, but just three ounces of beef will supply the adult male with 79 percent of the RDA for vitamin B12, 45 percent of the RDA for protein, 38 percent of his zinc, 28 percent of his iron, 24 percent of his niacin and only seven percent of daily intake of calories.

Ernest V. Joiner

• SMUGGLING aliens into the United States is a felony offense punishable by a fine of up to $5,000 and/or five years in prison — per illegal alien smuggled. All nations protect their borders with such laws. It is one of the first duties of a nation to protect its borders against persons whose presence in the country would tend to disrupt the economic and political life. Most nations accept refugees and extend asylum to deserving refugees who follow procedures laid down by the host government.

• SANCTUARY and asylum is available to all legitimate refugees. The US Immigration and Naturalization Service has adopted guidelines for those who can show that they have a well-founded fear of persecution for such reasons as race, religion, nationality, membership in social groups, or because of political opinion. However, just wanting to come to the US for a better life, or for propaganda purposes, or to set up a "terrorist" cadre inside our borders to work for a foreign power, are not grounds for asylum.

• ABOUT 200 US churches and synagogues are violating federal law, deliberately, by providing Central America "refugees" with sanctuary inside US borders. This Sanctuary Movement, by violating the law, hopes to convince the Congress to halt all anti-Communist support in Central America. This would make it easier for Soviet-backed guerrillas to take over Central American nations, thus undermining the security of our own borders.

• THERE are between 300,000 and 500,000 Salvadorans already in the US illegally. The Sanctuary Movement leadership has not used the legal avenues available to any of them to gain official asylum status. The US State Department, after an 18-month study, has found none of them in danger of persecution by the El Salvador government should they be returned. There has not been one appeal to the US Supreme Court for asylum, even though this machinery exists. In fact, El Salvador is not being consumed by violence at this time, nor has it in the recent past. It is not that the US has closed its doors to legitimate refugees, or that it has failed to "show compassion." The US admits more refugees and immigrants each year than all the other nations of the world combined.

• IN spite of all this, leftists and activists, working through churches, religious and educational institutions, are breaking the law because, as their spokesmen say, sheltering and aiding illegal aliens is a "matter of conscience." Churchmen declare they violate the law because of a Higher Law than ours, God's. In doing so, they are putting themselves above the law created by the American people. Recently, the cities of Berkeley, CA and Cambridge, MA have flouted federal law by making their jurisdictions "sanctuaries" for illegal aliens. It makes one wonder why these same people have not used normal channels to achieve their ends.

• THE clergy take the position that they are bound by God's law to provide sanctuary, no matter what US law says. In the Bible, upon which most rely for guidance, Jesus recognized the necessity of obeying laws of the state: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." This admonishment appears wasted on his priests.

• NOT long ago I was discussing with a Protestant minister the problems of church and state separation. Where, I asked, does God's law end and the state's begin? "Anything," he replied, "that affects the life of a person is the concern of the church." Assuming that to be so, there appears no valid reason for civil law at all, except to provide enforcement support for church policy. Nothing supports this thesis more than the much-publicized Letters of the US Catholic Bishops. In this document the Bishops all but assert dominion over mankind's total welfare — social, cultural, economic and political.

• GOD'S law, it appears, is what the clergy says it is. Then why do we bother with Congresses and Legislatures? Why not turn the business of governance over to the clergy and let them administer the Higher Law they happily trot out when it meets their needs? I cannot conceive of a more resounding slap in the face to democratic tradition and representative government than these self-anointed holies who seek to substitute Higher Law for those we have enacted and under which we have prospered.

• MARTIN Luther King set the stage for this type of insurrection when he established that people should obey only those laws of which they approve. Not long ago draft dodgers were hiding out in churches that believed their Higher Law supercedes federal law. Before that, law-breakers were sheltered in churches in the name of "civil rights." Today, supporters of the Soviet Union's surrogate forces in Central America have this "moral obligation" to stop President Reagan's support for anti-Communist forces in Central America.

• WHATEVER happened to separation of church and state? Can it even exist when the church defies federal law and demands it be changed in order to impose an order that is foreign and repugnant to the mass of American people?

• PEOPLE are known by the company they keep; causes are known by the people and organizations who support them. The Sanctuary Movement is being supported by the following: Remember other causes they support?

• THE American Friends Service Committee, Clergy and Laity Concerned, Church World Service, and affiliate of the National Council of Churches; Political Rights Defense Fund, a front controlled by the Socialist Workers Party (Communist); National Council of Churches; American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, a front of the Communist Party USA which represented the NCC in fighting deportation of Haitians; National Lawyers Guild, a Communist front; The Rev. Jesse Jackson, who is pro-Castro, pro-Sandinista and pro-PLC; the Rev. Phillip Zwierling of the First Unitarian Church, Los Angeles, who invited Communist Herbert Aptheker to give a Sunday Sermon on why the Soviets were justified in shooting down KAL Flight 7; the Rev. William Sloane Coffin of New York's Riverside Church, who recently conducted funeral services and provided a laudatory memorial for a Communist Party official; and the American Civil Liberties Union.

• IF there is one pro-American among this sorry lot, I cannot find him. If these rotting radicals cannot be required to obey the laws of this land, why should the rest of us bother to do so?

"BY THE WAY, JUST HOW DOES ONE BUY UP THE CONTROLLING STOCK OF THAT COMPANY YOU WORK FOR...?"

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON

By LES KINSOLVING

If you criticize welfare cheats or whores, you're a racist

WASHINGTON—The City of Philadelphia has been notified that if its police crack down on street prostitutes, this will be "racist."

Margaret Prescod, testifying for an organization called US Prostitutes Collective, was quoted by The Philadelphia Daily News as telling a City panel studying vice laws:

"A crackdown is racist because it would put more black than white prostitutes in jail."

In Baltimore, Dr. Emmet Burns, Region Seven Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was quoted as saying that a game called Public Assistance: Why Work For A Living? is "entirely racist."

Under these criteria, anybody who opposes prostitution or who criticizes either welfare cheats or the incompetency of welfare bureaucrats is a racist.

And you had better not say anything critical of college or pro basketball!

One of the inventors of the game Public Assistance is Robert Bowie Johnson of Severna Park, Maryland. Johnson is a graduate of West Point and a decorated combat veteran of the Army's Airborne Rangers in Vietnam.

His game is similar to Monopoly. The Wall Street Journal reported that in some states, it outsold Monopoly. The game has no mention of blacks, Hispanics, Orientals, Indians, or any other minority group. The art work in the game box is similarly devoid of any illustration of racial minority.

But this one-time best-selling game is a strongly satirical critique of welfare cheats and incompetent welfare bureaucrats.

This Vietnam veteran has learned that any criticism of anything to do with the nation's huge welfare industry will be twisted and distorted. Any such critique of welfare's cheats and bureaucrats runs the risk of being denounced as a racist attack on the poor, especially poor children.

This was the technique used by two of Maryland Governor Harry Hughes's welfare department bureaucrats, Kalman R. Hettleman and his assistant, the Rev. Luther Starnes, a Lutheran pastor.

Hettleman, as secretary of the Maryland State Department of Human Resources, used the state letterhead, with Gov. Hughes's name, to notify merchants that Public Assistance is "a total slur and condemnation of thousands of poor in Maryland and throughout the nation... most of whom are children and innocent victims of an inadequate system."

In New York City, Human Resources Administrator (and now Deputy Mayor) Stanley Breznoff sent a form letter on City of New York letterhead in which he wrote to 13 of the largest department store chains:

"I am writing to urge that (Bloomingdale's, Gimbel's, Lord & Taylor, Macy's, Saks Fifth Avenue, Toys-R-Us) refrain from carrying this game in its store..."

It is an ugly and damaging slur at this society's poorest citizens 60 percent of whom are children... Your cooperation in keeping this game off the shelves of your stores would be a genuine public service."

This type of campaign was also initiated by the NAACP, the National Association of Social Workers, the National Organization for Women, the American Public Welfare Association and the Annapolis and Anne Arundel Community Action Agency headed by Carl Snowden.

Attorneys for Hettleman, Snowden, Starnes and these organizations were unsuccessful in their efforts to have the US District Court in Baltimore dismiss a $13 million lawsuit filed against them by Public Assistance's inventor, Robert Johnson.

Hettleman, who is now teaching at the University of Maryland School of Social Work, and Starnes, who is now with the Maryland Department of Employment and Training, are charged in the lawsuit with "utilizing the power and authority of the State of Maryland and the good name of her governor" to pressure merchants all over Maryland with "organized and coordinated intimidating phone calls," threatening boycotts, which "directly resulted in the fact that the game was removed from such stores as the Hecht Company and Hutzlers" (major retail department stores in metropolitan Washington and Baltimore.)

Inside the Capitol

by FRED McCAFFREY

SANTA FE—Republican legislators, by rushing into the arms of their opponents, have struck a blow at the English language.

Most of us politician-watchers used to think we knew what "Democrat" and "Republican" meant. Each referred to a person who had enlisted under the banner of a particular party, gave loyalty to it and contested with its opponents.

But that isn't true in New Mexico in 1985. By coalescing in both the Senate and the House, members of those bodies have so blurred party lines that they no longer mean anything. (What should one call Caleb Chandler, who runs as a Democrat but at the first shot out of the box allies himself with Republicans to push other Democrats around?)

MORE CONFUSION: And how about those no-longer meaningful terms "liberal" and "conservative"?

Those who belong to the two

Johnston also notes that this campaign was conducted nationally through periodicals and press releases of such organizations as the American Public Welfare Association, the National Association of Social Workers and the National Organization for Women.

This campaign of prior restraint and censorship has reduced sales of this game from hundreds of commercial outlets to a handful — plus those individual games which Johnson is able to sell door-to-door.

Johnson sought the help of the American Civil Liberties Union. The ACLU recently assisted a Marxist professor named Bertell Ollman, inventor of a game called Class Struggle, which is strongly critical of the United States and of capitalism. The ACLU also assisted American Nazis who wished to parade through Skokie, IL. But the ACLU has refused to help Vietnam veteran Johnson.

Never before in US history has the power of the state been used to censor a game — especially in Maryland, which was founded for the purpose of tolerance. In only two other nations are there any such game laws. Both Cuba and the Soviet Union prohibit Monopoly.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

OBVIOUSLY . . .

EDITOR—It would be interesting to learn of the background of those who are really behind those demonstrations against South Africa. I would suspect, just as in the case of Kent State, outside agitators are very much involved.

If these demonstrators really cared about suffering humanity, why are they not demonstrating against the Soviets Soviet Union and the horrible atrocities being committed in Afghanistan?

The Soviets have bombed and strafed anything that moves in the Afghan countryside; they have littered roads and villages with mines designed to look like toys that explode when a child picks them up; they have massacred, maimed and tortured tens of thousands of innocent people; and they are trying to starve the rest of the population into submission by destroying the country's agricultural economy — by burning fields, poisoning stores of crops, and machine-gunning herds of livestock.

The Soviets have driven more than seven million refugees from their homes and villages. All of this information is recorded in the recent Helsinki Watch report on human rights. This report is based largely on interviews with Afghan refugees during 1984. For instance, it tells of innocent people being thrown alive from airplanes, being crushed by Russian tanks, being thrown alive down wells and buried in mud. An Afghan doctor tells of the arrest of 40 people by Soviet troops in one village. "They were tied up and piled like wood, then the Soviets poured gasoline over them and burned them alive."

The real tragedy of all of this is that while millions are starving in Marxist Africa because of the disruptive and oppressive policies of the Marxist regimes, the demonstrators pour out their venom on anti-Communist South Africa where the blacks have the highest standard of living in all of Africa. They should want to know who it is who are leading these demonstrations. Obviously, the Communists are very much involved in all of these demonstrations.

NOTHING TO CUT . . .

EDITOR—While the thieves operating our federal government spend ten times as much as was spent only 25 years ago, they tell us there's nothing to cut.

Nothing to cut like a study of the "Effects of Truck Size on Driver Behavior" (cost $297,633). A botanical study of plant life in Fiji (cost $221,186). A telephone survey of 1,200 people to determine if telephone surveys are worthwhile ($204,908). A study of bathtub and shower accidents that concluded: "Slips and falls by far are the most frequent type of bathtub accidents and these slips and falls frequently occur while entering or leaving the tub ($142,000). A research project to determine if women enjoy ironing children's clothes ($113,000). A film on the life of Frank Grillo and unknown bandleader from Communist Cuba ($101,333). A Braille edition of Playboy magazine ($100,000) and a payoff to the Queen of England to induce her not to grow cotton on her plantation in Mississippi ($88,000).

You mean you would not joyfully contribute to these projects? Well, perhaps you would be interested in writing a check to help finance a Navy study entitled "Aerodynamic Analysis of the Self-Suspended Flare" ($375,000) and concluded that frisbees could not be used to carry lighted flares over battlefields.

I see you still haven't opened your wallet. Everyone loves animals; how about one of these projects: A study to determine the "Ontogeny and Plasticity of Ascending Thalamic Afferents in the Opposum (translation; how opposums think) for only $54,000; research into the "biological rhythms of cat fish in India" for a mere $25,000; or, a study on the public attitude toward Smokey the Bear for a bargain $15,000.

You are a tough cookie. Still, you say no! Doubtless you're more inclined toward international relations and would like to contribute in that area. Let's see, you can give to finance a federal agency set up in 1925 called the International Boundary Commission, US and Canada that cost $200,000 a year. Doubtless you would like first to know what this agency has done in the past. That's the beauty of it. The answer is: Nothing, it has never had a dispute to handle.

President Reagan might do well to read a list of such worthy projects at random over national TV and announce his intention to turn them over to the well-known private charitable instincts of the American people. In the meantime, let's keep the heat on Congress and insist that those Grace Commission recommendations be implemented.

STEAMED UP . . .

EDITOR—The recent flap over President Reagan visiting the Bitburg cemetery seems to be much ado about really, very little. With the public outcry as shrill as it has been, the President would probably have been wise to back down. It really does not seem worth all the controversy.

On the other hand, it seems that those making such a fuss are getting all steamed up over the wrong thing.

Hey, it's not the Nazi type socialism that we have to worry about; that type of socialism was pretty much buried forty years ago.

It's the Soviet type socialism that we need to worry about; it's the Soviet type socialism that is very much alive and busily taking the world.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER

Banquet at Corona Baptist Church

By L. CALDWELL
Mothers and daughters of Corona were recently treated to a delightful evening by the Corona

Baptist Church. The annual event began with a delicious meal served by the men of the church and their sons. Martha Hobbs welcomed everyone before introducing special guests Rev. and Mrs. Claude Cone and their "adopted" daughter from Brazil, Danea Silva. Mrs. Cone is the daughter of Corona Baptist minister A. L. Miller, and her husband is the current Executive Director of New Mexico Baptist Convention.

After a round of applause in appreciation for the "waiters", the ladies adjourned to the sanctuary where they were treated to a high fashion show. Commentator Barbara Worley described summer "wedding" attire as the models showcased their original creations. Among the most memorable were Waynette Lindsey's "bride" attire, featuring a bride head-dress and long flowing "train." The outfit was accented by an 18 "carrot" ring. Other creations included Mary Romero's "cancan" skirt with attached assorted aluminum cans and Denise Lightfoot's "print" frock of Lincoln County News print and "tennis" shoes accented with yellow tennis balls.

The fashion show was followed by a short mother-daughter presentation by Mrs. Helen Kay and Waynette Lindsey. With Mrs. Lindsey providing background music, Waynette read "Mother", a selection about the importance of home and how a mother makes a home special. Selected daughters held letters to spell HOME and MOTHER.

The evening concluded with guest speaker Jeannie Cone's keynote address concerning a woman's importance in God's creation.

Corona FFA banquet

The Corona FFA Chapter held their 1st annual Banquet and Awards Program on the 8th of May, 1985. The dinner was provided and served by the Corona FFA students and parents. Dr. Garrey Carruthers was the speaker.

Star Greenhand: Alvie McKibben.

Outstanding Corona Chapter Member: Joseph Erramouspe.
Star Chapter Farmer: Shawn Perkins.

Star Chapter Agribusinessman: Don Myers.
Swine Proficiency Award:

Horse Proficiency Award: Roe Anne Alford

Honorary Chapter Farmers: Mr. Rupert Mansell, Mr. Jerry Sharp, Mr. Rand Perkins and Dr. John Clem.

The Chapter Farmer Degree: Travis Lightfoot, Jim Stevenson, Beverly Bell, Kim Worley, Tracie Proctor, Don Myers, Jack Dennison and Steve Copeland.

coalitions arrogated to themselves the term "conservative", but that doesn't mean they genuinely are such. If they were, how could they push such legislation as that requiring seatbelts in (most) automobiles or telling us where we may and may not smoke cigarettes? Laws of that kind certainly run counter to the conservative's major tenet of faith that government should take itself out of our private lives. Aren't they the ones who are constantly quoting Jefferson about less government being better government.

As for "liberal", those in our Legislature who don't want to be designated that way have tried to turn it into a dirty word with which to beat over the head those who disagree with them. As used here these days, all it actually means is "somebody who refused to join in our coalition."

There could hardly be anything more ludicrous, for instance, than the sight of the chief Houstonite referring to such longtime legislative stalwarts as John Morrow as "left-wing liberals." One of his own constituents said of Morrow, who ranches around Capulin, "If he's a liberal, the Pope's a Baptist."

ANOTHER DESIGNATION: About all one can do in order to avoid the trap of using one-pronged words now made almost meaningless is to adopt the coalitionites' title for themselves as "the new majority."

Even that doesn't work very well. For one thing, there is little new about them except for the fact that the majority of them are legislative neophytes who arrived here innocent of knowledge of how the system works. The others are old and somewhat tired, and are using their majority status largely for their own purpose and to push their personal priorities.

They are a majority, however: there is no doubt of that.

That's what allowed them, during the 60-day session earlier this year, to muscle their way through a legislative agenda, most of which was left broken on the ground around them as they departed.

That, in turn, is why they are back in Santa Fe (this week, to give the whole procedure another try, at our expense.

We'll see whether they can get it right this time.

We may even end up creating new and more accurate terms with which to refer to them—after we have observed their performance during Act II.

Ask Doctor Dan . . .

I have read about something called premenstrual syndrome and wonder if I have it. How can I tell? P.S.

Premenstrual syndrome is an ill-defined and poorly understood process which affects menstruating women. Symptoms are cyclical and generally worsen during the 7-10 days before the start of a period. Physical symptoms which are common include breast tenderness, abdominal bloating, and edema (swelling). Psychological symptoms include increased hostility, crying, nervousness, sadness, depression, and craving for sweets or junk food.

Current theories on the cause focus primarily on the cyclical changes in female hormones. Because the symptoms which each woman has may be highly individual, no one theory as to cause is likely to explain all cases.

There is no test which can make a diagnosis of premenstrual syndrome. The best way is to keep a daily record of symptoms for 2 or 3 cycles. If certain symptoms occur only during the same time of each cycle, then the diagnosis of premenstrual syndrome is strongly suggested. At this point, consult your doctor. He will do a physical exam and suggest a treatment. Treatment is strictly empirical and includes exercise, proper diet, oral contraceptive pills, progesterone (a female hormone), vitamin B6, water pills, and others. Patience is required since successful treatment is often achieved only with trials of several methods. Much ongoing research is expected to shed light into the causes of this disorder. When the causes are better understood, more specific treatments will be developed.

Send questions to Dr. Dan, Box 8, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

Canyon Cowbelle report

The Carrizozo Canyon Cowbelle sold chances on two $10 Beef Certificates during Bank Week, May 6-10, and the two lucky winners were, Wayne W. Schaffer of Corona, and Jack Parnell of Ruidoso Downs. The two beef certificates were donated by Cowbelle Margaret Stearns.

The Cowbelle served coffee and 'Beef Goodies' each day during banking hours. A few of the goodies, each with beef in the recipe, were muffins, dips, filled log-rolls, brownies, fudge, jerky and salami. The Cowbelle gave away car litter bags, bibs for the little tots, balloons, the National Cook-off winning recipes - each of which advertised and promoted the use of BEEF.

The Canyon Cowbelle wish to thank everyone that came by for a visit and a taste, for helping make Bank Week such a big success.

Temperatures registered last week at Lincoln Station show a high of 76 degrees on the 8th and a low of 37 on the 11th. No moisture, plenty of wind.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Winfield have arrived from Laguna Station and Mr. Winfield has assumed his duties as complex superintendent at Lincoln Station, succeeding Allan Cushman who with Mrs. Cushman now lives in retirement at Las Vegas.

Plans are being made for a 4 p.m. service June 16 at the Corona Presbyterian Church at which Patrice and Sloan Humphreys will be ordained.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Livingston left early Tuesday for Tulsa, OK and a visit with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Stubblefield and Matthew.

Mrs. L. K. Merritt and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Vickrey spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Fort Sumner.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennan Fuller and the four Gibbs attended a Mothers Day brunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brewer in Albuquerque.

The Corona Extension Club met Thursday for a short business meeting and a salad luncheon hosted by Denise Byrd and Beverly Merritt. Scholarship applications were read, a winner voted, the name to be announced on Awards Day. Some members worked on the junior-senior banquet and prom arrangements. Others made Christmas boots.

The next meeting will be Thursday, May 23 with Ruby Davidson and Juanita Owen hostess for a salad luncheon. Janice Bond will show members how to crochet a parachute. Needed will be a ball of knit crochet size 30 and a crochet needle size 0.

Preceptor Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held the last meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at the home of June Tyree. Stacey Wilson presented the program "Your Colorful Season" with Mrs. Tyree as model. This was so interesting that Mrs. Wilson was asked to continue the program at the home of Eleanor Smith on Monday afternoon, during which several members and one guest, Allene Sultemeier were "colored".

There was a short business meeting. It was decided to order a Mother's Day plant to be used for graduation and then presented to a mother in honor of her day.

Pecans and t-shirts sales were reported.

President Eleanor Smith read the Silver Circle ritual for Eva Mae Holleyman and Geraldine Perkins to acknowledge 25 years of devotion to Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Smith then installed the new officers for the coming year, President Jo Ann Joy read her committee assignments and it was agreed to use an original program outline, probably with a southwest theme.

The hostess served from three platters, one of cold meats and cheese, one of assorted fruits, and one of assorted vegetables and dip, hot breads, punch, tea and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cox, San Antonio, TX, were visiting friends here Monday. They were enroute home from a visit with a daughter in Denver, and are still working on their project of tracing family graves in the Corona cemetery where they have already placed three markers. They expect to make and set at least four more after they get information at a reunion of the Cox-Farris families in Ardmore, OK June 21-23.

Ken Halsell, Albuquerque, and Todd Tatum, Las Cruces, were here to help Joseph Erramouspe through graduation. A shower for Jeanne and Todd is planned for Sunday afternoon, May 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DuBois, Helen Shattuck and John DuBois, Albuquerque, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thomas, Mountainair, Sharon, Frank, Sevon and Frank Austin DuBois, Las Cruces, Caroline and Curly Hollon, Sherrill and Bob Bradford, El Paso, were among the family members guest of Shawn Perkins Sunday. Crown Cowbells met Wednesday morning at the home

Legion Auxillary plans cleanup

American Legion Aux. Unit No. 35 held their meeting and election combined with the American Legion Workday May 4. There were 24 in attendance. A handicap ramp was built across the front of the American Legion Building.

Many donations were received for the disable veterans, laprobes, therapy rolls, magazines, puzzles and gifts. A delicious lunch was served and enjoyed by all.

There will be a Work and Clean-up Day at the Corona Cemetery Sat., May 25. A covered dish lunch will be served at the American Legion Building at noon.

of President Eva Latham with ten members present. Mrs. Latham and Lee Sultemeier reported the proceeds received from the Spring Emporium at the Roswell Mall. The theme was Country Charm. Crown displayed the quilt which will be given a lucky winner at the Lincoln County fair. Heirloom quilts were used in the displays where they sold cowbelle napkins and cook-books.

The June meeting will honor the Father of the Year and will be held for members and their families at the Hanney Ranch. The July meeting will be a trip to Lamy and Girls Ranch with a return trip by Boys Ranch, details to be worked out by phone. Crown will furnish door prizes for the ranch tour. The scholarship will be awarded by President Latham on May 23. Two hundred dollars was sent to Chaparral 4-H to assist four young people going to Washington for the citizenship short course. These 4-Hers still lack almost half the necessary funds for the trip.

The covered dish luncheon featured beef stuffed cheese puffs created by Suzie Maness.

Edwina Noesinger, Babo, Montana, and Edwina Bartlett, Fanny Brown and Jenny B. Eagleton, Albuquerque, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sultemeier had lunch last week with Allene and Ernie Sultemeier. Mrs. Noesinger, in her late eighties, is planning a fall trip to New Zealand and Australia.

Teresa Coen and Troy Yancey came up from Roswell for Mother's Day and graduation.

Guests of Sabra Sultemeier for graduation were Mary Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Butch Allen, Gid and Jim Bob Allen, Capitan, Charles Allen, Alamogordo, Avela and Willie Sultemeier, Espanola, Connie and Bill Ledbetter with two year old Brandon, Lakeside, AZ, and Joby Perretti, Phoenix.
