

NOGAL MESA—

Ranchmen's Camp Meeting starts on 17th

The Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting for 1985 will be held July 17 through 21.

For the 45th year, this unique interdenominational, family-oriented, Christian gathering will be a major experience for those attending.

If you have never been to any of the services, enjoyed a chuckwagon meal, or joined the singing atop the mesa that overlooks the vast Tularosa Basin, then don't miss it this year.

The Nogal Camp Meeting began in 1940 because our western roads were so bad, and communities with churches so far apart, ranchers decided to try the type of yearly gathering of the Bloys Camp Meeting in the Davis Mountains of Texas that had proved so satisfying.

Twenty-three acres of land in the mountain coolness of Lincoln County was leased from the Forest Service. Families came for 4 days of fellowship and religious services.

The children and grandchildren of those first organizers are carrying on in the same fashion on Nogal Mesa. The people of today, tourists, townspeople, farmers, and ranchers, are given an opportunity to enjoy an outstanding simple down-to-earth experience. The Meeting inspires and revitalizes the beliefs in the basic goodness of our fellowman and our American life.

Today, the comforts for those attending are much improved with a large wooden tabernacle, dining shelter, electricity and piped water. But the tranquility of the forested grounds, and friendliness of the people make the encampment very special.

Opening services will be held Wednesday evening after the first chuckwagon meal, the 17th. They will continue through Sunday evening, the 21st. This year, the preachers will be Rev. Wayne Stockstell of California and Rev. Edmund W. Robb of Texas. Paul Biggs will again be in charge of music, accompanied by Jane Shafer. The choir is made up of volunteers.

Officers in charge of running the camp are Rick and Randy Steele, managers; LaMoine and Opal Peters;

Wesley Lindsey, Scott and Bob Shafer, Walt Wilson, and Johnson Stearns; with a complete roster of New Mexico residents on their committees.

A Memorial Service for those who passed away during the year will be held Saturday afternoon under the direction of Chloe Peters and Glenda Armstrong. There are prayer meetings for men, women, youths, and children. A schedule for fun activities is also planned.

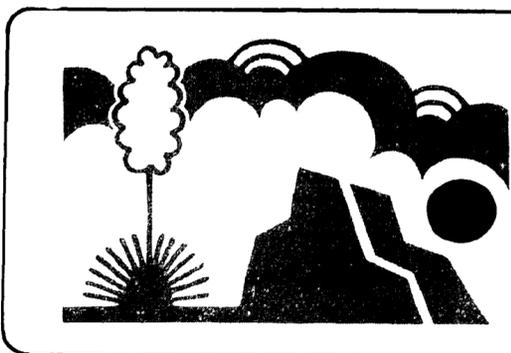

For those attending for the first time, there is camping space available at no charge for those participating in the services. Some simple rules are posted for everyone's comfort. All youngsters must be sponsored or accompanied by adults. Bring your own campers, tents, or bedrolls. Water, electricity and restrooms are provided. The altitude is 7,000 feet, so rain wear and jackets are essential.

If camping is not possible, everyone is welcome to attend daily services. Meals are served from cauldrons by the ranchmen at 6 to 8 a.m., 12:30 and 6:30 p.m. Tabernacle services are at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 8 p.m. Group prayer meetings are held at 5 p.m. There is a registration booth to give you any other needed information. The camp is financed by unpressed freewill donations. A business meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, the 21st.

There are 8 Camp Meetings held in the southwest with the 8th being added this year. They are in Colorado, Arizona, Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, all with the general managers of the Steele brothers, each with their own independent meeting programs.

The Nogal Mesa grounds can be reached by the Lincoln National Forest road at the sign turning off US 380 about 5 miles west of Capitan and 15 miles east of Carrizozo, or by the road turning off State Road 37 past Nogal Lake. Further information may be obtained at United New Mexico Bank, Carrizozo, NM 88301. Reservations are not necessary.

A final workday before the opening of the grounds will be held Saturday, July 13.

LC COMMISSIONERS —

House blocks road in Nogal dilemma

By RUTH HAMMOND
Lincoln County Commissioners agreed to not waive the five dollar penalty on delinquent taxes for 1985 during the July 9 meeting. L. C. Treasurer Flora Vega told the commission that the county had been charging the five dollars for delinquent taxes.

In other business, A field agreement on predator and rodent control for the period July 1, 1985 to June 30, 1986 was signed. The county will contribute $42,000 to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service for the predator and rodent control.

A road review committee was appointed to inspect county roads in Nogal. A request to close certain streets and alleys in Nogal was received from ten Nogal residents. The committee, Pat Peterson, Bud Fenne and Eddie Siddens, with John Stearns as alternate. One of the roads in question is a house built in the middle of the road. West Road will be the official name of the road from the old Mesa schoolhouse south of Loma Grande Acres.

The county will participate in the highway department's five year plan for off-systems bridge replacement projects. Bridge no. 8024 on county road B020, one half mile west of US 70-380. The work is scheduled for 1987-88 at an estimated cost of $200,000.

A proposed amendment to the Lincoln Historic Preservation Ordinance will be presented at the July 30 meeting. The change will show that mobile homes are included with custom-built or manufactured homes and should conform to the appearance and architectural style as required in the ordinance.

Final road inspections were approved for the Coyote Mesa Subdivision and Shauna Downs Estates Subdivision roads. These roads join the final road inspection means they are now the responsibility of the county.

Resolution 74-1 that requires the subdivision plats be filed within 30 days after receiving final approval from the commissioners was tabled. Recently three subdividers did not file the plats with the Lincoln County Clerk but started selling lots. The resolution or ordinance will be brought before the commission July 9. If the ordinance is adopted, it will cause the subdividers to lose their commission approval if they do not file within the thirty days.

Agreement was signed with the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District. The county will pay $2,500 for services assessed on the 1980 census of 10,993 persons.

The Nogal Water Project budget was amended to establish line items.

The Soil Conservation Service will reduce the amount of office space being rented. An adjustment in cost will not be necessary.

Speed limit signs will be (CON'T ON P. 2)

WILL INCLUDE PRIVATE LINES—

New telephone system for Corona residents

By L. CALDWELL

Private line telephone service to Corona area residents will be a reality in the foreseeable future as workers progress with the installation of telephone cable. The new system, being installed by Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone Cooperative headquartered in Clovis, is targeted for completion by June 1, 1986. With that completion, area residents will not only have private line service but will also have available the 911 emergency number and several custom calling services. According to Robert Harris, general manager at ENMR, current customers who lease their phones will be connected to the new system at no charge and will pay $13 per month for a private line. Custom calling packages will be offered at that time for an additional $6.50 per month.

The xenon gas filled cable will be buried, protecting it from the elements and greatly reducing the current high maintenance costs. A $350,000 DMS10 switch (computer), capable of expanding to 10,000 lines, will be housed in Corona. The system will be linked at Vaughn to Clines Corners to Santa Rosa where a state-of-the-art fiber optics system transmits voices over light with a laser gun through very fine, flexible glass rods enclosed in cable. The system permits 1344 circuits to be used simultaneously in the toll-free number.

Workers are averaging seven miles of cable laid each day—less in town, more in the flat, outlying areas. The project will add 490 miles to the 175 existing miles (some of which will be replaced) in the Corona area.

The long-awaited and much delayed improvements are the result of feasibility studies, environmental impact studies, studies to determine danger to archaeological and historical sights, and subsequent filings and re-filings with numerous government agencies. After viewing and reviewing the planned project, REA finally approved a $3,676,500 loan, and work began.

Feasibility studies had shown 72 person per route mile of cable plowed would be served by the new system as compared to 30 persons per route mile of cable plowed by Mountain Bell or other such telephone companies. It was projected that 354 customers would be served in 1988. Therefore, $10,385 would be spent per customer in the installation of the new system, and at $13 per month, would take 70 years to pay for itself.

Harris noted that when ENMR Board of Directors initially discussed and voted to acquire Corona Telephone Company they said, "We realize this is not going to be a lucrative venture, however, we can sympathize with the people over there and their predicament. We were in the same situation a few years back ourselves." Harris further pointed out that the nature and purpose of the co-op is to help people in rural areas, and therefore the Corona Telephone company was purchased by ENMR.

"We've had real good cooperation from the town council and the county people, and we appreciate that. We're happy that this work is progressing and we can finally begin to see light at the end of the tunnel."

Corona Mayor Ernest Luera's wholeheartedly agrees. "The people here have been disappointed so many times about the phone system delays. We are very happy that we can finally see progress being made."

IT'S BEEN SAID

The quickest way to find a lost item is to buy another just like it.

Have you noticed? Today's nostalgia consists largely of recalling yesterday's prices.

The business that considers itself immune to the necessity for advertising sooner or later finds itself immune to business.

History's first unisex garment: the diaper.

DID YOU KNOW?

All three Zia Senior Citizen's Centers (Carrizozo, Capitan, Corona) appreciate the support given them during the past budget year. They are thankful for all the fund raising events and the volunteers who generously gave of their time.

The three communities and the village and town councils have contributed time, effort and funding to the centers. This includes the Lincoln County Commission. The senior citizens have also volunteered many hours in all three centers.

With the new budget year which began July 1, it would be great if all seniors in the communities would benefit from the services offered at the centers.

SERVICES OFFERED

The program is designed and mandated for socially and economically deprived senior citizens age 60 and above with particular emphasis on minorities. A spouse younger than 60 is also included in the services offered. There are senior citizens in Carrizozo, Capitan, and Corona who are not receiving these services.

The centers provide counseling on Medicare, Medicaid, some minor legal services. Meal services in Carrizozo only. Transportation is available for medical and dental appointments, shopping, recreation, blood pressure clinics, glaucoma clinics, etc. Education on nutrition and exercise is provided. Arts and crafts in many areas are shared and taught.

BUSY SUMMER

This year's Santa Rita queen candidates are busy this summer with bake sales, dinners and raffles. The contest ends July 27. The winner will be announced and crowned during the Fiesta Mass. Next day is the People's Market Place at Spencer Park.

Two girls are competing for the chance to reign as queen, Veronica Zamora and Theresa Guevara.

Veronica, age 15, is the daughter of Ted and Christine Zamora. She will be a 10th grader this fall. She has three older brothers, David, Gilbert and Charles. Veronica's money raising projects are under the direction of her aunt, Juanita Baca.

Theresa, age 16, is the daughter of Tommy and Martha Guevara and sister of James and Robert. She will be a high school junior this fall. Her sponsor is her aunt, Patsy Serna.

BEEF-CABBAGE TACOS

In 12-inch skillet over medium heat, in 2 tablespoons SALAD OIL, cook 1/2 small head green CABBAGE, coarsely sliced and one-fourth teaspoon SALT until tender-crisp, about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove cabbage into bowl.

In same skillet over high heat, cook 1 pound GROUND BEEF until all pan juices evaporate and meat is well browned, stirring frequently. Stir in one 4-ounce can DICED JALAPENOS. Heat through. Stir in cooked cabbage.

Soften CORN TORTILLAS in hot cooking oil. To serve, spoon beef-cabbage mixture into tortillas and fold like a taco. Top with shredded CHEESE and chopped pitted ripe OLIVES. Many, many calories per serving. (Milder green chile can be used for people with tender taste buds instead of jalapenos.)

Motorhome destroyed

A motorhome burned west of Carrizozo last Sunday when apparently the bearings locked up and caught on fire. The motorhome had just left the Valley of Fires State Park and the driver was unaware that the vehicle was on fire.

The exhaust system came loose and it is assumed that the sparks from the exhaust system dragging on the pavement were the cause of the four fires that started in the Mal Pais.

M. R. Varney and his wife Nora of Prescott, AZ were owners of the motorhome. They had Kimberly, 18 year old granddaughter, with them at the time of the fire. Varney was burned on the right arm and the right side of his face and was treated at the scene.

The 1975 Diplomat II motorhome was 28 feet long and valued at $13,000. It was a total loss. In addition to the loss of the motorhome, contents were valued at $10,000.

FIRE DESTROYED this 1975 Diplomat II motorhome west of Carrizozo on July 7. Firemen from Carrizozo used both fire trucks to battle the blaze. Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Varney of Prescott, AZ and their granddaughter were able to escape the burning vehicle. Mr. Varney suffered burns on his right arm and the right side of his face. The 28 foot motorhome was valued at $13,000 and contents valued at $10,000.

posted in Alto Village. Appointments to the County Lodger's Tax Committee were tabled until commissioners could talk to Ruidoso about the LTC. The two percent lodger's tax will generate revenue for the county to be used to advertise Lincoln County. The original plan was to let the Ruidoso Lodger's Tax Committee administer the funds.

Clifton Hammett requested the county to repair damage done to his road.

Mrs. Danny Sandoval requested county assistance in having a fence removed from a road leading to her property. The road was fenced on June 29 leaving the only access to her property through a canyon.

After an executive session, Commissioners decided to retain Pajo Technical Services as the County Engineer.

Last week was very, very hot. This grasshopper festation is growing by leaps and bounds and nothing seems to stop their eating. The hotter it gets, the more they eat. Perhaps rain will stop them. We do hope.

There are lots of dangerous fires too. Be careful and beware wherever you are as the tiniest spark will spell disaster. Always, remember that. We cannot be too careful.

The tourists truly are enjoying our part of the area of which we are very happy to inform you. There were 2,240 registered guests at the Smokey Bear Museum from July 1-7. The Smokey Bear Museum took second on their float in the parade and received a beautiful trophy of which they are very proud.

The Lincoln County 4-H Council NM Jr. Rodeo Assn. rodeo was held last Friday and Saturday. There was a large number of contestants competing and everyone enjoyed it.

Welcome to another new business in Capitan which opened July 2. "Tate Automotive Repair" located in the Terry Strickland Shop on East Main. We do wish you success and happiness.

"Old Corral and Sagebrush" western wear store did open Saturday July 6. Their hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. It takes your interest the minute you step inside. Their displays are very original with a western flair. Everything is out where you can see even to the bales of hay where the boots are in pairs and colors to vision. There is no guess work. If you are interested you will find what you desire. Original art is displayed. If there are certain items you would like and do not see in the store, drop by and tell them and they in turn will get them for you. Their desire is to become a close part of this community. Seniors are given 10 percent discount. The grand opening date is later. Watch for it.

Audrey Joiner and Eddie Davis were united in marriage at the First Christian Church in Ruidoso Saturday, July 6, 1985. On their honeymoon they went to Albuquerque from there via plane to Los Angeles and then on a cruise to Mexico. I wish this couple many years of happiness.

Happy birthdays and many more with health and happiness to Anita Chavez who reached her 73rd birthday July 5 and to Dorothy Payne whose day is July 14.

Shelly Eldridge will attend the National High School Rodeo Finals in South Dakota next week. She won two saddles at the State finals in the goat tying and breakaway roping. She will represent Capitan High School in these two events.

Dee and Martha Proctor celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary June 17. Their children joined them in a barbecue and visited for that great occasion. They are Tim and Dollie Proctor and children from west of Roswell, Bert and Altina Shelley of Silver City and Todd Proctor who is home for the summer. I wish this lovely couple many years of wedged happiness together for many years to come and may God always bless you.

Bert Sorrells was one happy man last week when his son Bert who is vice president of Frontier Mortgage in Roswell arrived last Thursday, July 4 and took him to his class reunion in Haetshorne, OK. His class of 1934 and what a joy he had and he visited relatives and friends with the greatest joy and happiness and you feel it as he was telling you. 1000 people attended. He is such a worthy man and truly deserved that happiness. May you have many more happy occasions.

Remember: July 26-27, 1985 for the Capitan School Reunion. I know what joy it gives for I attended one and I cannot ever forget the joy of meeting the children grown up. What a joy. Do remember the date, for there is happiness.

Pearl Spohn fell at home last Saturday and broke her left hip severely and our rescue team took her to the Ruidoso hospital. She underwent surgery Monday morning. I wish her a good recovery. Chip up little lady and get well fast. Do send her cards.

Maxine Wright went to Lubbock, TX last Friday to visit with her mother Elsie Kidd who is in a nursing home. She reports that she is bed fast and is doing nicely and is happy. She returned home Sunday night.

Ryan Winter of Albuquerque is spending one week with his aunt Mr. and Mrs. Phil Keller and Erin.

Mrs. Judy Green and daughter Cayla of Jal visited with the Terry Stricklands and the David Stricklands last weekend.

BIRTHDAY CARD—This is actually a long birthday card signed by about everyone in the Capitan area. The Smokey Bear Stampede was quite a weekend for Margaret Rench.

Museum changes hands

The Capitan City Council met in regular session Monday night with the big surprise being the resignation of Councilman Bill Allred. Allred was appointed to the council in June 1984 by Mayor David Cummins to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sharon Horton. Allred stated that conflicts were the reason for his resignation.

The Planning and Zoning Board reported to the council with a nice amount of written material. The council will study this material and an ordinance could be forthcoming. Planning and Zoning Board members include: Joe Gemoets, Duffy Morton, Hollis Fuchs, April Randle, and Jim Clee. The chairman of the board is Jimmy Don Wright. Planning and Zoning Board was complimented for its hard work and the fact it has saved the Village of Capitan much money.

Waste Control of New Mexico with home offices in Farmington was the only bidder for the solid waste contract. The company would provide 90 gallon carts to be picked up once a week. Residential pick-up would be $7.00 a month with a $2.00 discount for senior citizens. The cart weighs 35 lbs. empty and can hold up to 200 lbs in weight. Action concerning this was tabled by the council for further study.

The contract the Village of Capitan has with the Sheriff's Department was extended. The Village pays $20.00 a day to house a prisoner in county jail.

OPINION

Ernest V. Joiner

THE United Nations, formed 40 years ago this month in San Francisco, is awash in congratulations for having kept the peace for 40 years. The cheers are subdued, however, and for reason. Harold Stassen, last living delegate to the 1945 conference, admits the UN has many problems.

but it's important to remember that it has done what we most hoped it would do. Here we are 40 years later and there was no third world war. Interesting. By the UN's own admission, there have been 150 armed conflicts since World War II in which 20 million people have died. Last year alone, we had 40 military struggles in progress at one time.

FACT: There has not been one moment of worldwide peace since the UN's lofty rhetoric in San Francisco. The only reason there has been no World War III is because nobody cared to label it as such. The world has been at war for 40 years, and it is at war today.

THE UN points with pride to the fact that it has presided over the "decolonization" of the world. The rush to grant independence to colonies is reflected in UN membership, which went from 51 nations in 1945 to 159 in 1985. This rush to decolonize has resulted in much bloodshed, the rise of Marxist dictators and the loss of human rights in many newly "freed" colonies. Few of these colonies, now independent nations, are better off politically, economically, or in terms of human freedom. If there has been no advancement in the cause of human rights, can it be said that decolonization was worthwhile?

THE UN has been successful in establishing itself as a tool of Third World baggar countries who delight in tweaking Uncle Sam's nose. The UN takes our money and kicks us in the teeth. Since 1945, the US has poured $12 billion down this ideological rathole. Cong. Jerry Solomon of New York notes that three-quarters of the UN budget goes to personnel costs. More than 52,000 employees at the UN headquarters in New York enjoy salaries and tax free benefits far greater than civil service employees in the US government. Some 200 officials in the UN Secretariat earn more than the Vice President of the United States.

WHILE little, if anything, has been done to advance the cause of peace, the UN has provided a forum to belabor the US, to insult and demean our government, and to attack America's political and economic system. The UN is a paper tiger, an impotent coterie of cocktail party Marxists who travel the world, stay in plush hotels, conduct meaningless seminars on how to distribute America's money, and live so high on the hog that, if they did so in their own countries, they would most probably be imprisoned, or shot. And the US contributes 25 percent of the total budget for their ideological orgies.

WHAT else may we expect from an outfit that was put together by such people as Alger Hiss, a Marxist apologist later convicted for spying on the US for the Soviet Union? Happy birthday, United Nations, and may it and its consortium of KGB agents never see another.

Pentagon: Televising our combat wounded—but not our executing at Leavenworth

WASHINGTON — If the Courts of Military Review and Military Appeals — as well as President Reagan as Commander-in-Chief — all approve the death sentence of Private Todd Dock of Maryland, he will be executed in the US Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Dock, who was found guilty of murdering a West German cab driver, is therefore not sure whether he will lose all appeals and be put to death. He doesn't even know HOW he will be executed. For the US Army's capital punishment regulation expired in 1974 and is presently being rewritten.

The last execution at Leavenworth was PFC John Bennett, another murderer, who on April 13, 1961, was hanged. Dock, as one of only two condemned armed forces prisoners, can rest assured of one thing if he is hanged: his execution will not be televised or photographed — even though capital punishment is supposed to be a deterrent to murder. US Army Regulation 190-47, according to the Public Affairs Office at Leavenworth, prohibits any still photographs or motion pictures of any inmate.

Such privacy that the Department of Defense provides for the felons it executes is being denied, however, to our troops on the battlefield. For Big Media demands the "right" to take TV closeups of America's dead and wounded — even if they're screaming in pain. And the Defense Department acquiesces to this, with a wimpy wish that they at least ought to wait until the notification of the next of kin.

Reporters have been chronicling war and the horror of war for years," said Pentagon Spokesman Mike Burch, during a news briefing. "Artists went to the very earliest battlefields to paint the effects of war, the carnage of war, the unpleasantness of war...in some of the finest and most dramatic paintings. As we move into this era of modern technology, we now have cameras; we now have videotape recorders. In some ways, I don't see that as much different than centuries-old practices in trying to chronicle the unpleasant side of war. And it's important for the public to understand. War is not all glory and flags and streamers. On the other hand, we do feel there needs to be a respect for the privacy of individuals and for the suffering of the families back home. Perhaps there's some balance that can be achieved."

So I asked: "Has the Defense Department ever sought legal relief from having to allow these (TV) ghoulies to exploit our dead and wounded for profit — in view of the fact that all cameras are presently excluded from most courts, all executions and the United States Senate?" (Where artists are allowed.)

"No, we have never sought such relief," replied the Pentagon's spokesman. "And I think we can remember the Time-Life series of World War II, in which there were pictures of American dead."

(Yes, we can remember a storm of protest when one of the first of the pictures, a Marine's body in the sand of a combat beach in the Pacific, was published — even though it was not identifiable. Surely there was nothing approximating the full color death agonies of American fighting men, captured for the evening news of that very day — although Tokyo Rose would have loved it.)

"The grief of the families should not be compounded by explicit pictures," added Spokesman Burch. "But chronicling and covering war is important. And it can be a deterrent to future wars, too." (So let's by all means deter Army murders in the future — by showing the next Leavenworth hanging on prime time TV. Imagine the ratings!) Just how much of a damn the Big Media in general give about the grief of families of service men killed in action can be recalled in the seige laid to hundreds of US Marine homes by TV crews. They lay in wait to catch some "good footage" — of the tears of wives, parents or children, after the Marine disaster in Beirut.

This exploitation of grief for

Inside the Capitol

by FRED MCCAFFREY

SANTA FE—Senator Pete Domenici has an interesting message for small-town America.

"I know," he says, "it often sounds like the United States is dominated by and preoccupied with the problems of the cities, to the point where it would be easy to believe nobody cared about the rest of the country. But as I listen to people from all over the nation, I hear a very different tune."

"What most Americans cherish, though they may not realize it overtly, is the very kind of life smalltowners are fortunate enough to have and live."

DEEP FEELINGS: The Senator has been speaking more frequently and more fervently of late on a subject which some thought became passe back in the 60s—patriotism.

"My kids," he says, referring to the eight Domenici offspring, "may not know as much about me as they should. But if you ask any of them, they will tell you one thing: that I care about this country. I have lectured them on that topic till they have grown sick of it."

Domenici, in Santa Fe during a recent Congressional recess, talked quietly with a small group of us here over an informal lunch. Face to face, his sincerity is completely apparent.

What's more, it's not some sentimental feeling, rushed out because of Americans held hostage or just for such occasions as the fourth of July.

It appears to have grown out of his experiences in Washington, where a high-ranking official learns not only what is wrong with the way this nation conducts itself but also what is right.

WHAT THEY ENVY: The senior Senator makes it clear he isn't talking about some Norman Rockwell America when he discusses small towns.

"I'm just saying that if you ask most of our people who live in megalopolises what is most missing from their lives, they will tell you, in whatever words they choose, something that comes down to neighborliness and friendliness. It's the inhumanity of the big city that gets them, even if they have never had the advantage of living anywhere else."

It is clear that the daily battle to preserve any kind of sense of values in an urban setting is what he sees as most debilitating, especially on those who go on there year after year without relief.

Domenici was born and spent his early years in what was then a small community outside Albuquerque called Las Candelarias. The Albuquerque in which he grew up was very little like the metropolitan area of today.

IGNORING PEOPLE: "We

in Congress," Senator Domenici says, "appear to talk right over the heads of anyone who chooses not to live crowded together where you have to commute to work. That's a mistake. We ought to take more public cognizance of that better, more peaceful life that comes so much closer to the American ideal."

As he speaks, some thought flits through the listener's mind. Like the fact that some politicians wouldn't expose quite so much of themselves with this kind of talk. Like the notion that some auditors might consider the words a little corny or embarrassingly old-fashioned.

In Pete's case, what keeps the conversation from being that way is that he clearly means every word of it.

Richard A. Viguerie

"A Matter of Honor"

WASHINGTON, VIRGINIA — For the privileged among the Washington elite, failure carries no price.

It's not unique to Washington, of course. When he was minister of agriculture in the USSR, Gorbachev presided over a near-famine but came out smelling like a rose. The same thing often occurs in a family-owned company when an incompetent worker just happens to be, say, the boss' son.

In a democracy, however, public officials are supposed to be held accountable for the failure of their policies. That is why the British foreign secretary (secretary of state), Lord Carrington, resigned when Argentina seized the Falkland Islands. He believed that his country had been humiliated and that he had no choice but to lay his own head on the chopping-block. To him, it was "a matter of honor," according to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

So how come George Shultz is still Secretary of State?

Ever since taking office, Shultz has talked about swift and sure retaliation against terrorists. He has even advocated pre-emptive strikes, hitting the terrorists before they hit us. In contrast to Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, who has talked of restraint, Shultz has been full of bluster. Yet seemingly nothing has been done to respond to terrorism, and Americans awaiting that "swift and sure" reaction promised by Shultz are still waiting. His policy seems to be: Speak loudly, and carry a very small stick.

After the truck-bomb attack on the US embassy in Beirut, Shultz promised that security would be improved. After another truck-bomb killed 241 Marines at their barracks in Beirut, he again promised that security would be improved. It is a measure of how much security has been improved that last month a man carrying a rifle walked into the State Department headquarters; 100 feet from the Secretary's office, where Shultz was working at the time, the gunman shot his mother and himself to death.

After the 241 Marines were killed, Shultz also promised that there would be retaliation. There was none... just as there was no retaliation for the shooting down of the Korean airliner, or the shooting of the Pope, or the murder of Major Arthur Nicholson, or the assassination of four US Marines sitting at a cafe in San Salvador.

Nor were adequate precautions taken to prevent acts of piracy like the hijacking of TWA Flight 847. It is common knowledge that the radical government in Greece has turned Athens into a nest of spies and terrorists; for months there have been complaints about lax security at the Athens airport, and about the fact that many of the PLO members evacuated from Lebanon were given sanctuary — and permits to work at the airport — by the Greek government. Yet nothing was done to restrict US air traffic to Athens, or even to warn passengers of the dangerous lack of security.

And then, in order to obtain the release of 39 Americans held hostage in Beirut, we apparently agreed not to strike back — not to punish anyone for the murder of a US serviceman, not to hold anyone accountable for yet another case of America Held Hostage, not to demand the immediate release of seven other Americans still held in Lebanon. In effect, we invited terrorists to do this kind of thing again and again.

What a humiliation! What a victory for the forces of terror!

COMMENTARY

Other than the President himself, no one bears more responsibility for this fiasco than the Secretary of State, especially his secretary of state who has worked so hard to crush opposition to his policies.

In recent months, Shultz has moved to eliminate any internal criticism of his management of the State Department. Long-time supporters of the President have been removed from key ambassadorships and replaced with bureaucrats who can be counted upon to "get along by going along." In effect, Shultz has promoted himself to the position once sought by Alexander Haig: vicar of foreign policy.

In so doing, he has worked to usher in a new era of detente — a return to the failed policy that caused the loss of Southeast Asia, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, and the establishment of a communist dictatorship in Nicaragua. As the late George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said, "Everywhere communism is on the march.

Everywhere the West is in retreat. These are the fruits, the bitter fruits, of detente." Or, as Leonid Brezhnev said at a secret meeting in Prague in 1973, "We (Soviets) are achieving with detente what our predecessors have been unable to achieve using the mailed fist." While the US taxpayer finances credits and loan guarantees for corporations that trade with the USSR, the Soviets, encouraged by our weakness, work to destroy us.

In a democracy, policy failures are often punished by the removal of the officer responsible. Following the seizure of the Falklands, the British foreign secretary resigned to preserve his and his country's honor. How many times will America be kicked in the shins before George Shultz follows his example?

CLASSIFIEDS WORK!

EDITOR—In regards to the picture of the seven men in your June 27, 1985 issue. The man in the middle (front row) looks very much like a good friend and buddy of mine in the middle and late 50s, by the name of Leet Forbus. . . but he was not to my knowledge in the 'Death March'. He was reported killed by a land mine in the European Theater. I could be mistaken. . . after all 44 years is a long time to remember a face. But we were very close friends and had a lot of good times and fun together. I am almost certain this is he (Leet Forbus) of Hondo, NM, a cowboy and ranch hand, one great guy.

EDITOR—The good people of Carrizozo, it's Airport Committee and Airport Manager Mel Carl, are to be congratulated on your excellent 2nd Annual Fly-In.

I personally know many of the pilots who flew in for the event and without exception they spoke highly of your hospitality and airport facility. Dr. Dale Goad's home made donuts were a big hit, Stirling Spencer's hamburgers were big and juicy, the many fine awards and prizes impressive.

Congratulations and thanks to those who worked hard and well on the fly-in, some that I met were: Woody and Phyllis Schlegel, Steven Spencer, Mame Carl, Scott Shafer, Lerry Bond, your Deputy Sheriff, Jim Crause, Curtis Hall and, of course, others who I've failed to recall.

My wife Rozonna, daughter, Leslie, and I personally thank the Schlegel's and other friends, who made our visit pleasant and possible.

EDITOR—With the cuckoos and the commies, the sillies and the socialists, and the loonies and the liberals advocating disinvestment in the Republic of South Africa, it is refreshing to read that there are still those around who possess a common sense approach to solving South Africa's apartheid problems.

IBM South Africa is going to spend 20 million Rand (approximately 10 million US dollars) to aid some 250 schools with a computer assisted system for teaching what they call the "Writing to Read" system. South Africa's Black children, its Colored children, and its Asian children will be the beneficiaries of this IBM developed program.

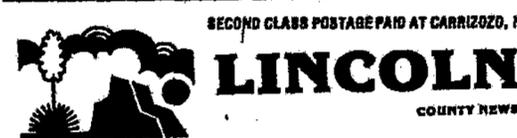

IBM is going right into the Black teacher training colleges where Black teachers will receive special instructions on how to teach the system.

IBM President and Chief Executive Officer John Akers is quoted as saying, "We believe one of the most important things we can do to promote change in South Africa is to advance the educational development of Black South Africa. (See, SOUTH AFRICAN DIGEST, Pretoria, June 14, 1985.)

Now isn't education a lot more sensible strategy than those wacky demands for disinvestment.

It would be awfully hard for the disinvestment advocates to explain to all those Black children how they are going to help them by putting their mothers and dads out of work. And that is for sure what would happen if the disinvestors have their way.

Trinity Site tour July 16th

SITE OF FIRST ATOMIC BOMB EXPLOSION

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, NM, July 8 — Trinity Site, located on the northern end of White Sands Missile Range, will be open on July 16 this year to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the first atomic bomb explosion.

There will be two ways of entering the missile range to get to Trinity Site. The range's Stallion Range Center gate will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Visitors will be able to enter and exit through the gate anytime during these hours and drive unescorted directly to and from Trinity Site. The Stallion gate is just five miles south of Highway 380 which connects San Antonio and Carrizozo, NM. The turn-off is 12 miles east of San Antonio and 53 miles west of Carrizozo. Visitors will be greeted at the gate and given handouts with information about Trinity Site.

travelling in a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo Chamber of Commerce. The caravan will form at the Otero County Fairgrounds in Alamogordo and leave at 9 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel in an escorted caravan the 86 miles to Trinity Site from Alamogordo. The caravan should return to Alamogordo sometime after 2 p.m.

All visitors should insure their vehicles are in good operating condition. It could be very hot on the drive with temperatures in excess of 100 degrees and there are no service facilities on the missile range. This is especially true for those travelling in the caravan. The caravan usually travels at a slow speed which can cause engine overheating.

The crater at Ground Zero was graded over soon after the explosion and the area now looks much like the surrounding desert. There is a small marker designating the spot where the bomb was placed. The missile range will also have historical photos on display within the area.

The McDonald ranch house is located two miles southeast of Ground Zero and is where the plutonium core to the bomb was assembled. Last year the house was restored to its 1945 condition through the cooperative effort of the US Army, Department of Energy and the National Park Service. No vehicles are allowed at the house. Buses will be available to transport visitors from the Ground Zero parking lot to the house and back.

At Trinity Site visitors will be able to visit Ground Zero and the George McDonald ranch house.

Trinity visitors can also enter the missile range by

Watch Over Washington . . .

(CON'T FROM P. 4)

TV's huge profits was made abundantly clear as network policy by ABC's veteran combat correspondent, John Laurence (Vietnam, Northern Ireland and Israel.) Laurence was one of the panelists on a Public Broadcasting Program entitled: "The Media and The Military: Correspondents Under Fire" (which would more accurately have been entitled "The Media Attack on The Military.")

Lt. Col. George Connell, USMC, of the National War College in Washington, who is a combat veteran of Vietnam, said of his troops:

"In addition to being Marines, they're also somebody's sons; they are in many ways my younger brothers... To me, photographs of dead Marines are unacceptable, as are videotapes of wounded Marines screaming in pain."

But ABC's Laurence replied loftily that he'd have to question this "restriction" — which he later described as "censorship." Laurence went on to say that dead Marines are "at the very heart of the story," and "it'd be necessary to show what happens if your unit gets engaged and, if your men die or get wounded, to show that, too."

Mr. Laurence also emphasized that such coverage (of lots of bright red blood oozing from the belly wound — with loud screaming as great audio to match this vivid video) is "in the best interests of the Marine Corps, of the individuals' families, of yourself as company commander and of the American public in general."

(Laurence actually said this with a straight face — even though North Vietnam's famed General Giap strongly disagrees. For he paid due credit to the enormous help rendered his conquest of South Vietnam by the media — which, if the families in Hanoi ever saw any of their sons on TV, either dead or wounded, they were unable to do anything about in any ballot boxes.)

Col. Connell's reply was trenchant: "I don't understand what the point is. We all know that war is an awful thing. But I don't understand what purpose that serves. They're very much like my younger brothers, and I wouldn't let you do that to my family."

ABC's Laurence did not mention one of the main points which Col. Connell is unable to understand: huge profits. But the other point of this ghoul beat was revealed as something of an agenda in political science:

"An uninformed American public, even to the horrors of war, is not one that's going to continue to make responsible decisions through its elected leadership."

Therefore Big Brother Big Media will coach the American people as to what they ought to do — in full color closeups of War Is Hell — with no comparable footage at all of what is worse than war, including the Cambodian holocaust as well as the concentration camps which pockmark Vietnam. Big Media Knows What's Best For You. And Big Media was strongly opposed to the United States' effort to help a nation resist Marxist invasion.

"Does the Defense Department believe that televised closeups of our men's bodies or of their suffering is fair to their families or to the war effort to which they are asked to risk or give their lives?" Burch was asked; and he replied: "Notification of next of kin should be respected. By and large, they (the media) have respected this." (So that in most cases, the new widow is warned in advance, before she sees her husband's body being exploited for profits on the evening news.)

"Are there any instances, to your knowledge Mike, where cameramen doing such full color closeups on our dead and wounded have been shot by our troops?"

"No," replied the Pentagon spokesman, "not by our troops."

Notes on nutrition

Question: What do you think of fad diets?

Answer: In general fad diets are "fat diets". Fad diets are designed either to catch people's fancy by being unique or different—such as the bartender's diet or the chocolate lover's diet. Or they're based upon some famous person's experience: a famous movie star who lost 31 pounds in three days. Some, of course, pretend to be the result of some new miraculous biochemical discovery—like the grapefruit diet. This diet, for instance, says that if you eat grapefruit or grapefruit tablets that you will burn fat at an accelerated rate. The Beverly Hills

People's Market draws near

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce spent $5,557 advertising Carrizozo during the 1984-85 fiscal year according to an announcement made at the July 9 meeting. Expenses were for the Carrizozo brochures, radio, ads in the Flying Review, and a publication for retired federal employees. It is projected that $7,475 will be spent for advertising Carrizozo during the 1985-86 fiscal year, with 35 percent being returned from the department of tourism and development.

Scott Shafer reported on the airport committee. He said the Fly-In was a success; everyone had a good time, attendance was excellent, the food was good, and the event gave publicity for the town.

Shafer also said the economic development of the town was helped by talking to people who attended the Fly-In. Many of those attending the Fly-In were pleasantly surprised to find the Carrizozo Municipal Airport is being improved.

The new fuel system has been installed, the lighting is functioning properly, and improvements are continuing slowly. The fuel system is a 4,000 gallon tank with a monitoring system to detect leaks.

There were 43 airplanes in Carrizozo for the Fly-In.

In other announcements: —The Christmas decoration committee will consider ordering street decorations for Carrizozo. Eric Lynch and Scott Shafer are on the committee.

—There were 5,000 Carrizozo brochures printed, and 3,000 have been distributed as far as Albuquerque to the north and El Paso to the south. —People's Market will be July 29. Nearly all the spaces are sold, with a wide variety of booths planning to be here. Among the booths are flea market items, fresh honey, arts and crafts, leather belts, and home-made dolls.

Sheriff is speaker

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan was guest speaker for the Lincoln County Democratic Women luncheon held Tuesday. Sullivan spoke on jail conditions, animal control problems, juvenile detention hall statistics, and on progress being made in the department. There were 28 members at the meeting.

—Thank you letters were received from Canyon Cowbells for helping make the Ranch Tour a success and Anna Marie Lueras for the scholarship. Anna is attending the DeWolf College of Hairstyling & Cosmetology, Inc. in Albuquerque.

The LCDW made plans for the first annual Aspen Festival to be held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods on Oct. 5. Charlotte Jarrett is chairperson.

The next meeting date will be August 13. A pot luck dinner will be held at 6:30 at the home of Bill and Coleta Elliott.

Vacation bible school in Ancho

"God's People Pray" is the theme of Vacation Bible School at Community Presbyterian Church in Ancho. The community is invited to attend the classes for 5-14 year olds from July 29 through August 2. Sessions will be from 9-11:30 a.m. each day.

Students will participate in Bible stories, art activities, music, service projects, recreation and worship, all centered on five themes: "Come to God in Prayer", "Learn About Prayer", "Respond to God's Love and Goodness", "Ask for Daily Needs", and "Seek God's Will for All People's Needs". "God's People Pray" is a unique and important learning opportunity for children and youth. It aims to provide a learner-centered, fun-filled, and diet is based on a similar concept. Most of these diets depend upon your boredom to be successful. You get so bored trying to follow the diet—that you eat less other food.

A key factor in fad diets is that they are not healthful. They are not nutritionally balanced, and they certainly don't help you get control of whatever caused the problem. So you might lose some weight, but it probably won't be fat—and it won't last. Not only that, but you'll begin considering yourself a failure. And that's not true: the fad diet was the failure. Try a solid program instead.

13 YEARS OF BUSINESS TO THIS AREA

SEVERE GRASSHOPPER infestations in 17 western states have prompted emergency spraying of crops and rangelands with materials such as Sevin brand XLR Plus carbaryl insecticide. Up to 50 grasshoppers per square yard have been reported in some areas.

COULD OCCUR IN '86--

Grasshopper outbreak worst in 30 years

The worst grasshopper infestation in 30 years could very well repeat itself next year in the western United States according to American and Canadian government officials.

"A mild winter and a warm spring followed by hot and dry conditions have prompted the widespread grasshopper hatch in 17 states," according to Chuck Bare, staff officer of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) headquartered outside Washington, DC. "Outbreaks in some southwestern states were eliminated as a result of a cold snap in May but the balance of the western states experienced weather ideal for grasshopper development."

Over 30 species of grasshoppers have reached economic thresholds in Idaho and surrounding states. The US government considers an infestation of eight grasshoppers per square yard economically significant. Yet, in some areas grasshopper counts have exceeded 30 to 50 insects per square yard reports Don Nielson, public information officer for APHIS.

"Some grain farmers have been losing up to 30 feet of crops per day on field perimeters as the grasshoppers migrate in search of food," Nielson explained. "A 300 acre alfalfa field in Oregon was completely consumed in a two day period during the second week of June. County agents in some Oregon counties predict that one-third of the farmers in the area will be forced out of business due to crop damage from grasshoppers."

The insects feed primarily on range and grasslands but at this level of infestation "nothing green is safe," remarks APHIS official Chuck Bare.

L.C. deputies, academy graduates

Two Lincoln County deputies graduated from the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy in Santa Fe on July 8. The men attended the academy for seven weeks.

Duane Vinson, Lincoln County animal control officer, is now qualified as a full time deputy in addition to being the animal control officer.

Bruce Brown, civil process deputy, is also qualified as a full time deputy in addition to being the civil process deputy. Brown is a deputy in Ruidoso.

The sheriff's department announced that all but one deputy are certified and he will be attending the academy in September.

LAS CRUCES—New Mexico will send 34 senior 4-H members, leaders and agents to the annual Citizenship Washington Focus program in Washington, DC. This year's dates are July 27 to Aug. 3, said Glenn Bartelt, state 4-H program leader at New Mexico State University.

While in Washington, DC, 4-H delegates will tour Gettysburg, spend a day on Capitol Hill, attend "Whiz" at the Burn Brae Theatre and visit the Washington Zoo.

"Special assemblies, workshops and tours are set up to teach citizenship, government, history and our American Heritage. New Mexico 4-H delegates will tour the White House, meet with our senators and representatives and visit the science museum," Bartelt said. Citizenship Washington Focus is organized by the National 4-H Council and co-sponsored by the delegates and the Cooperative Extension Service at NMSU.

Rio Arriba County Extension Director and Home Economist Imelda Garcia, NMSU faculty member in Espanola, will serve as this year's agent chaperone. She will be responsible for program and delegate coordination while in Washington, DC.

"Upon arrival back in New Mexico, 4-H delegates and leaders will work on a plan of action for their respective counties. This plan includes reports to local 4-H clubs, 4-H councils and reports or programs for civic and service groups.

"Delegates will teach citizenship and government to their local 4-H clubs. Understanding the governmental process and how to work with local government officials are important goals of the New Mexico 4-H program," Bartelt said.

1985 delegates include:

Lincoln County: George Cordova, Cody Lightfoot, Roe Ann Alford and Tammy Sultemeier from Corona.

Otero County: Barbard Van Winkle, Renee Tucker and Angel Nichols.

Chaves County: Nola Bea Graves and Mindy Gist.

Community survey in July

We are concerned about you. We want Carrizozo to be the best that it can be. Because of this we at First Baptist Carrizozo, will be surveying our community during the month of July. The purpose of the survey is to better understand the needs of our community, that we may minister to those needs more effectively.

The survey information which we receive will also be shared with other churches in the area that they too will have a better understanding of Carrizozo and it's needs. We look forward to meeting you and talking with you.

GRAPES MAKE THE MOST OF SUMMER

You can add a new touch to summer salads with California table grapes. Fresh, juicy grapes and moist, well-seasoned potatoes pair-up in an unusual salad loaded with marvelous flavor and texture accents. Grapes add delightful sweetness to a green salad with avocado, alfalfa, asparagus and bacon bits in California Green Salad. Whether vibrant red, dusky blue/black or tranquil green, California table grapes are available nearly year-round in at least one color.

Potato and Grape Salad

- Italian Dressing
- 1 cup green grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1 small carrot, shredded
- 1 green onion, diagonally sliced
- Salt and pepper

Marinate warm potatoes in Italian Dressing. Refrigerate until thoroughly chilled. Add remaining ingredients except salt and pepper; mix well. Salt and pepper to taste. Makes 8 servings.

California Green Salad

- 1 cup green grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
- 1/2 avocado, peeled and cubed
- 1/2 cup each alfalfa sprouts and diagonally sliced asparagus
- 2 green onions, sliced
- 1/2 cup Italian Dressing
- 2 tablespoons bacon bits (optional)

Toss together all ingredients except bacon bits. Garnish with bacon bits. Makes 4 servings.

Board member resigns

By L. CALDWELL
Resignations of board member Wayne Sanders, high school math teacher Bill Bryan, and migrant aid Teri Stewart were accepted during the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening of Corona School Board.

According to Board member Margaret Lightfoot, the Board has 45 days to appoint a replacement to fill the vacancy left by Sanders. The Board agreed to consider residents of the district who would accept the responsibility of board membership and subsequently make suggestions and appoint a replacement at the August meeting. Sanders began a two year term last March.

In other business, the Board hired a new migrant aid to replace Miss Stewart and agreed to accept applications for the position of high school math teacher. In addition, a Chapter 1 aid, Equal Rights aid, and high school aid were hired. The Equal Rights aid is required to be bilingual and will work specifically with students who know English as a second language. The high school aid will principally help with clerical duties.
