'Safety Belt Week' proclaimed in NM

November 10-16 is being proclaimed as Safety Belt Week in New Mexico by Governor Toney Anaya. Activities are being planned statewide beginning November 10 in Albuquerque with the "Colossal Click Carnival" at the Civic Plaza. Other activities around the state include parades, road blocks, and safety belt activities at shopping malls.

"The purpose of these activities," said Mary Justice, Director of Safer New Mexico Now, "is to call attention to the issue of safety belts and child restraints. It is clear they save lives and we hope activities of this type will remind people to buckle up."

New Mexico's Child Passenger Law requires all children under 11 to be properly restrained. The law is actively enforced and carries a $50 fine. The adult mandatory Safety Belt Use Act requires all front seat drivers and passengers to be buckled up. This law will become effective January 1, 1986 and the fine is $25 to $50.

"We feel that if people have the information, they will choose to buckle up," said Justice. "There are many myths and excuses for not wearing safety belts. Many people fear they will be trapped in a car and it will catch on fire. In fact only 1 percent of all accidents end in fire or submerison. It is primarily television that promotes that fear—every crash on television ends in fire. Another excuse is that it is safer to be thrown clear of the car. In fact you are 25 times more likely to die if ejected. Those ejected often go through the windshield, hit a tree, pavement or another car or often their own car will roll over them."

Safer New Mexico Now is a statewide coalition of groups concerned with reducing the number of deaths and injuries on New Mexico highways through the increased use of safety belts and child restraints. The coalition has free materials and films for loan. They can be reached at 1-800-231-6145.

VIEW ON SAFETY BELT LAW—

Is child's life worth $5?

By RUTH HAMMOND

A law goes into effect on January 1, 1986 that will require each front seat occupant of a passenger car manufactured with safety belts to have the safety belts fastened about his body at all times when the vehicle is in motion unless all seating positions equipped with safety belts are occupied.

The use of safety belts will no longer be a matter of personal choice. Senate Bill 111, as amended, was approved by the legislature of the State of New Mexico during the first session in 1985.

It is interesting that our state legislatures have decided what is best for us in passenger cars and even defined a passenger car to mean a motor vehicle with motive power designed for the primary purpose of carrying not more than ten passengers, but does not include a motorcycle, a trailer, a school bus of any seating capacity or a truck.

School buses are not included in the safety belt use act.

Can this be interpreted to mean that our state legislators do not consider the safety of our children as important as the safety of everyone else?

A federal statement says that school buses are excluded because they are the safest means of transportation, they are compartmentalized, the seats are padded and have high backs, and no seat is next to a door where a passenger might fall out.

School buses do not come equipped with seat belts. If it is a matter of expense, then what amounts to is that the legislature of New Mexico is willing to impose a law on us for our safety as long as we pay for it but they will not include our most precious asset, our children, if they have to pay for it.

If the seat belts in your car are not functioning properly, you must have them repaired at your expense.

Seat belts could be installed on school buses for a minimal cost. The local auto salvage has hundreds of seat belts in old vehicles that can be bought for $5 each. Do you consider $5 too much to pay to possibly save the life of your child?

If you object to the safety belt use act, notify your legislators. Another method of not having to comply is to buy a truck, load the family in the back and drive to your heart's content. There is no law against letting children of any age ride in the back of a truck. The legislators consider the lives of children in the back of a truck no more important than if they were riding on a school bus.

FFA to nationals

Three members of the Carrizozo FFA Chapter will travel to Kansas City, Missouri, next week to compete in the National FFA Meat Contest. The contest is being held in conjunction with the 58th National FFA Convention and sponsored by Oscar Mayer Foods Corporation and Geo. A. Hormel & Co.

Members of the team are Mike Curtiss, Lynn Gallacher, Jamie Patterson, team alternates are Troy Hollis and Lynn Heard. Mike Gaines, vocational agricultural instructor and chapter advisor at Carrizozo High School, is the team coach. The Meats Contest is one of 12 national agricultural contests conducted annually by the National FFA Organization as part of the convention. This year, 37 teams will test their knowledge in grading carcasses, placing cuts of meat and identifying 30 retail cuts of beef, pork and lamb they will yield, and quality grade 9 beef carcasses. The contest is one of many educational activities at the National FFA Convention in which FFA members agriculture agri-business classroom.

Meats contestants will spend two hours in a cold storage room at the Kansas City Safeway Distribution Center making their evaluations. Judging will be based on the latest USDA meat inspection standards.

Each team in the Meats Contest won at the local, area and state levels to earn the trip to Kansas City.

The two sponsors provide money for team travel, contest administration and trophies and medals for winning teams and high scoring individuals.

Awards will be presented at the breakfast Saturday, November 16th. The contest winner will be introduced to the

CARRIZOZO

WOMAN'S CLUB

Upcoming activities for the Carrizozo Woman's Club include a Fall Rummage Sale this Saturday, November 9 from 9:00 to 3:00 at the club building on 11th and D Avenue. Donated items for this sale are welcome.

The November 14th meeting will be highlighted with a presentation by Charlotte Hill, Lincoln County Extension Agent, on "Old Fashioned Holiday Ideas." The 7:00 meeting, hosted by members Barbara Langley and Kim Roper, will also include saxophone solos by John Menner, music teacher at Carrizozo Municipal Schools.

Sharon Hefker, president, will preside at the business meeting following the program. This year's fund raisers will benefit the annual scholarship fund and help pay for necessary repairs to preserve the adobe club building. Dedicated in 1939, the Woman's Club Building is one of Carrizozo's historical sites.

GRIZZLIES ADVANCE—Kenny Crenshaw (11) moves the ball while Doug Eckland (75) gets the angle to make the tackle in last Friday's game between Carrizozo and Capitan. (34) for Carrizozo is Tommy Escamilla. To the far left is (63) John Parker. On the ground to the right is Nick Najjar for the Tigers. Carrizozo travels to Tatum Friday night for a 7:00 pm semi-final playoff game with the Coyotes.

RUNS WILD—Richard (Crazy Legs) Guevara broke loose for many long gains last Friday night as the Grizzlies came out on the long end of a 40-14 score over Capitan. That's Robert Guevara (60) throwing a block. Capitan's Chris Peralta moves in on defense. Both Richard and Robert are sophomores.

Bowl for breath at rec center

Bowlers of all ages in Lincoln County are joining the Strike Force for Cystic Fibrosis and participating in the 1985 Bowl for Breath at the Carrizozo Rec Center.

Not only is there a chance to win prizes such as bowling towels, t-shirts and jackets, but statewide grand prizes of a weekend at the Flamingo Hilton in Las Vegas, a VCR, and much more.

Gary Skidmore, a national professional bowler and resident of New Mexico, is the National Chairman of the 1985 Bowl for Breath and he urges everyone to join in the fight against cystic fibrosis. CF is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults in America, stealing the lives of over 100 New Mexican children unless a cure is found. Cystic Fibrosis attacks the lungs and digestive systems of its victims, literally suffocating them. CF kills more children every year than muscular dystrophy and juvenile diabetes combined.

It is easy to enter the Bowl for Breath. Get sponsor forms at the Rec Center, then ask friends to sponsor you for two cents a pin. After three games are bowled during the week, collect the pledges and send them to the Cystic Fibrosis Chapter in Albuquerque to be eligible for prizes. For more information contact Bill Lynch at 648-2235.

MINIATURE COLLECTORS

The Zia Senior Citizens Center had their handcrafted miniature Victorian style mansion on display at the Halloween carnival. Additional furnishings have been donated for the doll house. Among Liz MacVeigh's latest contributions are a fireplace, butterchurn, four-piece bedroom set, and a Tiffany table lamp.

I sewed a tiny quilt from print material designed to resemble patchwork squares. I trimmed the edge with rickrack.

Miniature enthusiasts may be interested in knowing that the doll house will be on display later this week at United New Mexico Bank. Raffle tickets can be obtained at the senior citizen center. The drawing will be held December 13. Call the center 648-2121 for more details.

Marian Spencer plans to donate a miniature canopy brass bed. Patsy Sanchez has ordered furnishings for an old fashion bathroom.

OUT OF INK

The Valley of Fires Lioness Club in cooperation with the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department fingerprinted children at the Halloween Carnival.

Club members Frances Pittillo, Maxie LaMay and Anna Belle Burrow and staff of the Sheriff's office were busy all evening. They ran out of ink but not before they had finger printed 54 youngsters.

Barbara Langley filed in the identification cards. Wayland Hill did the finger printing, assisted by Barry Hale (Hondo deputy) and Duane Vinson. The youngest printed was a 2½ month old baby. Wayland had a time trying to spread open the hand of the tiny baby who decided to make a tight fist. Children 13 years of age and younger were finger printed.

Parents who would like to have their children finger printed can get the work done at the Sheriff's office. There is no charge for this service.

CHILD ABDUCTION

Georgia Hilgeman, M.A., executive director of the Vanished Children's Alliance (VCA) offers helpful tips to prevent child abduction. The VCA, a non-profit organization formed in 1980, is dedicated to the prevention and recovery of missing children: Never assume your child will not be abducted-always act as though it could happen.

-Never leave young children unattended (at home, in a parked car, shopping cart, or in a public restroom).

-Make certain your child knows his or her full name, your name, address and telephone number. Teach him or her to use the telephone. Help may be available simply by dialing "0".

-Have pictures taken yearly. For pre-schoolers, four times a year.

-Keep records of fingerprints, footprints, dental and doctor information, birthmarks, and birth certificates. You should keep copies of x-rays as hospitals do not keep such records other than for a few years.

-Get your child a passport. Once a passport has been issued it is both difficult and suspect to attempt to get another for that person. Contact passport services, Bureau of Consular Affairs, Washington, DC for a copy of passport procedure.

TELL BABYSITTERS

-Tell babysitters or friends caring for the child not to let child go with anyone but you.

-Teach child to avoid strangers.

-Explain to your child that a stranger is someone they do not know nor do you.

-Teach your child that adults usually do not ask children for directions and if someone should stop in a car asking for directions tell your child not to go to the car.

-Try to explain to your child that abductors may tell them lies (mother or father) is dead or does not love or want you any more.

-Have child practice the buddy system until old enough that this is not necessary.

-Caution child not to play in deserted places.

-Teach your child the facts of abduction early. If handled matter-of-factly, as another fact of life, children need not be inordinately frightened by the idea of abduction.

INSTRUCT YOUR CHILDREN

-Establish strict procedures regarding who will pick up your child from school.

-Have your school establish a "school call back program."

-Make sure that your child does not have their name on a visible place such as clothing or belongings. It makes it easier for strangers to be on a first name basis with your child.

-Know as much as possible about your ex-spouse and his or her friends and relatives.

-Pay attention to threats of stealing the child. Watch for attitude change and or unstable behavior in your ex-spouse. Be aware of how a lifestyle change by you, or your spouse might affect him or her.

-Explain to your child that if they are at home alone not to open the door for any stranger (including a salesperson or delivery person.)

-Teach your child never to answer that he or she is home alone. If a stranger should call instruct your child to make a prepared statement such as "Daddy" ... "Mommy" cannot come to the phone right now ... can I take a message?"

KNOW CHILD'S FRIENDS

-Teach older children to come home at dark.

-Remind older children to phone home.

-Know who your child's friends are, where they live, and their telephone numbers.

-Beware of any adult that showers your child with and an inordinate amount of attention and or presents. No one should care about your child more than you.

-Be aware that a pedophile is usually an adult male whose sexual preference is confined to youngsters. The class pedophile preys on runaways or children from unhappy homes. He showers the children with affection. By the time sexual activity takes place, the child is often an uncomplaining partner and it goes unreported ... please show your child affection.

-Teach your child that if they are being followed not to hide behind bushes, but go where people are.

-Teach your child that it is appropriate to "make a scene", if he or she senses danger from an adult. Teach them to yell "HELP", not just scream.

FURNITURE SCARS

Scratches on mahogany woodwork can be painted with iodine; then apply furniture polish over the entire area and buff.

QUICK PIN HOLDER

Make a pin cushion by covering a sponge with scraps of fabric. Sew the material on three sides, slide in the sponge and stitch up open end.

BUTTON UP

When sewing buttons on garments where there is lots of strain, sew a smaller button on the other side of the material. This prevents the button from tearing off the material.

DOUBLE DUTY

For quick dusting, dampen a pair of old socks with furniture polish. Slip the socks over your hands and dust.

Ernest V. Joiner

● BACK in 1984, Donna L. Todd filed her Form 1040 with the IRS after having typed on it: "Signed involuntarily under penalty of statutory punishment." Todd's insolence was rewarded by the IRS fining her $500, seizing her bank account, and filing a lien against her house. Todd sued the IRS. A more sober IRS dropped its claim and offered to pay her legal costs. She refused. A US district court judge in Billings, Montana has now ruled in her favor, noting that the IRS had violated Todd's right to free speech and due process. The IRS has appealed. The outcome depends on whether the IRS agents knew they were violating Todd's constitutional rights. This strange turn of events reflects the new liberal philosophy that no crime has been committed when a defendant doesn't know that what he did was against the law. The old rule that "ignorance of the law is no excuse" is being repealed, and by the very courts that originated it. Ignorance of the law is now an excuse for committing a crime. In California that includes murder, thanks to Supreme Court Chief Justice Rose Bird and her liberal bench-kooks. This is an excellent way to abolish all crime—all a defendant has to do is confess the crime, then explain that he hadn't "intended" to commit it. Tell me, when a man shoots another through the gizzard, and tells the court he was really aiming at his kneecaps, how do you dispute his claim, given under oath? And if Ms. Donna Todd's IRS agent pleads that he didn't know her rights were being violated, by what judicial legerdemain would a court prove otherwise? I have just given you an alibi for the crime of your choice.

● THE University of Minnesota was host to the Marxist Summer Institute, Aug. 22-Sept. 2. (Marxist is a new, clearer, more respectable term for Communist.) Herbert Apthaker, strategist for the Communist Party USA, told 70 ideologically aligned academic intellectualoids gathered for the event that illegal mass action against the US government is necessary to keep the US from intervening in Latin America—El Salvador, Nicaragua, and others—while the Marxist Good Guys complete their good work there. He called for "imaginative civil disobedience, illegal action, mass action, picketing, demonstrating, marching, sitting down, and interference with military maneuvers." Director of this event was Professor Erwin Margut, Marxist professor of physics at the University of Minnesota, who was candidate for governor of Minnesota in 1974 on the Communist ticket. He told his fellow Marxist (Communist) professors how they failed in Grenada and lost to American Imperialists. Then they took the show on the road, this time to the University of South Florida in Orlando, Oct. 18-22. Sorry you missed it.

● WHILE the US lends its tax-supported educational institutions to those pledged to violent overthrow of this government, one wonders what would happen if the John Birch Society wanted to hold a patriotic rally on a college campus. Would any college provide facilities for such a meeting? If one did, would anyone attend? Probably not. Our government directs our tax dollars to be used for those who would destroy it. Those who support it are on their own. While colleges promote revolution and even violence, patriotic Americans have to hide out in unlikely places, such as in Ronald Reagan's basement.

● DEAR Peace Movement Persons: What we learn from history is that we refuse to learn from history. You think you have something new and effective in your Peace Movement, so let us journey back to the 1920s, before most of you were born. There was a Peace Movement in this country then as big as yours is now, only it was more effective. If you will consult your history book, you will learn that this peace effort resulted in the Kellogg-Briand Pact, signed by all major nations in August 1928. Chief provision of this pact was the outlawing of war as a means of settling international disputes. Naturally, war broke out 11 years later. It became known as World War II. As of this date, Oct. 31, 1983, not one of the 62 nations who signed the Kellogg-Briand Pact has ever rescinded it, disavowed it, or abided by it. The lesson of history here, which we won't accept, is that all peace pacts are good only as long as all parties thereto have the military strength to protect themselves. Which is why peace with military strength has worked: and peace without military strength has not. History aside, and getting closer to home, there are 138 different peace movement groups in Berkeley; yet that benighted city continues to be a veritable war zone. Your "peacefully" oriented answers are solicited. Yours fitfully, etc., etc.

● AMONG key ingredients of the Strategic Defense Initiative (Star Wars) concept is the laser beam. On Sept. 6 at White Sands, NM a chemical laser was used for the first time to successfully destroy a Titan missile in space. An x-ray laser beam was successfully tested on Sept. 27. On Oct. 10 it was tested a second time, successfully. It wasn't reported in the media, probably because the whole idea is a hoax, is entirely too expensive, and besides—it won't work.

● ARE you ready for this? The Hispanic State of California has decreed that all government school teachers must learn Spanish or lose their jobs.

● RAN across this headline in the Dallas News for Feb. 21, 1918: "The Poor Are Getting Poorer And The Rich Are Getting Richer." Headline in Santa Rosa (CA) Press Democrat, Oct. 15, 1983: "The rich get richer" and by implication, the poor are getting poorer. In 67 years, and the tossing of $3 trillion in tax money to abolish poverty, nothing has changed. Why do we bother?

● ARE you weary of going to sleep nights and awakening mornings with endless media recitations of the trials and tribulations of Humphrey The Whale? Humphrey strayed into California's Sacramento River delta and won't leave. The world, even San Francisco, is upset. Experts from everywhere have been summoned to do such things as make "female whale" seductive noises to lure Old Hump into the Bay. Analysts of San Francisco have overlooked the possibility that Old Hump may prefer to hear the mating call of a male whale, as do the current elite of that city who so enjoy their vice versa. Else why would Old Hump choose San Francisco over Half Moon Bay, other than to express his bizarre sexual preference. Tune in next week and discover how this celebrated whale really got that hump on his-her-its back.

Watch Over Washington

By LES KINSOLVING

The latest on Senator Kennedy — and Dodd

WASHINGTON — Senator Teddy Kennedy has a good press secretary named Bob Mann. Some years ago, Bob, was one of some 250 editors who published my syndicated column.

Bob has to be good — and tolerant. He gets hundreds of requests for interviews every week. And of late, his burdens have not been lightened by that expose book written by Joan Kennedy's former aide, Maria Chellis, who chronicles a number of Teddy's hits, runs and errors.

"There have been dozens of Kennedy books," remarked Bob. "We are sorry that there are people who write about their former employers for financial gain."

That was in early September. One week later, The New York Times reported where the nickname "Star Wars" came from. This clever but inaccurate effort to disparage the vital Strategic Defense Initiative is roughly akin to disparaging US Air Power in the 1930s by referring to the Army Air Corps as "The Buck Rogers Brigade." And who started this "Star Wars" slur?

You guessed it! Big Ted! He did it in reaction to President Reagan's speech on March 23, 1983. He responded by referring to what he termed "reckless Star War schemes."

On the same day as this New York Times report, the Associated Press reported from Boston that Massachusetts's liberal Congressman Barney Frank informed two political columnists that if Teddy runs in 1988, he will lose to the Republican candidate because: "He's the embodiment of all the right wing says is wrong with the Democratic Party."

Congressman Frank's intrepid disclosure — shall we call it "Frankly Speaking"? — in which he flew full in the face of Massachusetts's National Political Royal Family, came only four days after yet another revelation about Teddy — and his fellow liberal, Connecticut's Senator Chris Dodd.

Credit The Washingtonian magazine with an embellishment of this story in The New York Post for this latest disclosure about the extracurricular activities in Wild and Wonderful Washington. When we asked Kennedy's press secretary about this, Bob Mann replied: "Well, I wasn't in town at the time, but they may have been having a good time."

That is to wallow in understatement, Bob. For at La Colline, near the US Capitol, a favorable restaurant for busy lawmakers, there is an autographed photo gallery of all the famed who have dined and drunk there.

Not many nights ago, the senior United States Senator from Massachusetts and the junior United States Senator from Connecticut dined, and apparently drank, at La Colline. For when Senator Kennedy spotted the photograph of his drinking buddy, Senator Dodd, he reportedly laughed hysterically, snatched the Dodd picture from the wall and smashed it on the floor.

Never one to retreat from a challenge (or from Monkey-See, Monkey-Do), Connecticut's United States Senator retaliated by grabbing Senator Kennedy's picture and smashing it, too, on the floor. They then proceeded to seize the picture of Senator Bumpers of Arkansas. They smashed this, too — all the while laughing hysterically.

Big Ted, who could become chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee if the Republicans lose the Senate, then reportedly ordered the hapless proprietor of La Colline to have the photographs restored and in place by the following day — or else he, Teddy, would never darken this door again.

The following day, aides from these two fun-loving Senators arrived at La Colline in desperate hopes of making amends and hushing it all up, all wearing those desperately glum "It's A National Crisis" expressions.

All employees were reportedly threatened with unemployment if they breathed a word of this. But, of course, it leaked out — and Senator Dodd's new assistant press secretary didn't know about this scintillating episode, until contacted by this column.

The United States Senate has a swimming pool and an exercise room in the new Hart Office Building. But it has no nursery closer than the Immigration Building blocks away.

Moreover not the Hart nor the Dirksen nor the Russell Senate Office Buildings have a playpen! And considering the playful Senators from Connecticut and Massachusetts, this column calls upon the Senate to establish the Dodd-Kennedy Playpen — soonest!

Inside the Capitol

By FRED McCAFFREY

SANTA FE—We make progress—crabwise.

Nobody ever said democracy was the most efficient form of government—and when it comes to action on tax increases, our legislators seem intent on proving it isn't. One day they move the state forward a step, and the next day they move it back two.

Little by little, however, some hints of what action they may be considering to solve the cash-shortage problems are beginning to appear.

One small group of lawmakers, for instance, is urging an easy solution to our difficulties. All we have to do, as they see it, is to restore all the tax cuts we mistakenly gave in the early 1980's, under the rubric of "Big Mac." In support of their position, they point out that these taxes are ones citizens were used to paying, so reimposition will not be as likely to be offensive as a lot of new imposts.

Maybe so, but the fact is that the walling is going to be shrill no matter what kind of increases they lay on us.

LOGICALLY ILLOGICAL: New Mexico, when compared to other states, has an extremely heavy burden of gross receipts tax. Because we impose that particular revenue-raiser on everything bought and sold in the state, we rank near the top of the fifty states in the share of the burden we assign to this particular form of tax.

Most states have nothing similar to our severance tax to use as a producer of revenues. They may envy us the portion of our load this particular species of tax has borne in the past; but the fact is that the decline here is what is creating our current difficulty.

As for the other two major areas most states depend on, income taxes and property taxes, New Mexico is very light in both.

Where are our legislators almost certainly going to impose the necessary increases in 1986? That should be clear from what we have said here and from what we know of them. Of course they will choose to increase the gross receipts tax, which is already a heavy burden, especially on those of low incomes.

Play around with increases in property or income taxes and you attract the lightning of the rich. But the homely old sales tax can be sneakily upped a little without that fact's being noticed by most citizens, who pay it a penny or two at a time, even if it's already out of line.

OTHER SOURCES: We can also look for some effort to increase the compensating tax, which is charged on goods bought out of state in lieu of what an in-state purchase would produce for the coffers. Clearly, since the two forms of taxation are linked to one another, they should be more or less equal. That would be a step in the right direction.

And it wouldn't hurt too much to end some of the income-tax rebate presently given to make up for taxing necessities of life like groceries and medicines, if the rebate is left in place for those of low annual income. That keeps the gross receipts tax from being grossly regressive, which it otherwise is.

Those steps, plus a little more drawing down of reserves still in the bank, would reduce the immediate pressures on expenditures. That's probably about all we can expect the 1986 legislative session to do. As far as further problems go, they're likely to get a good dose of New Mexico's favorite old manana treatment.

This area did receive three tenths of an inch of light rain last week. Saturday morning we awakened to 16 degree weather, the coldest it has been to date. Thursday night a terrific wind brought a freak snow storm. It was reported that Bill Edgar received one foot of snow out at his place. The Capitan Mountains were very white. That is the area it hit. There is still snow on the peaks of those mountains. The White Mountains were clear, though Sierra Blanca Peak shows snow from a distance and that has been for a month.

CORONA ATHLETIC trainer tapes the wrist of volleyball player Shannon Byrd.

Undefeated season

by LINDA CALDWELL
Corona Jr. High volleyball team finished their season with an unblemished 7-0 record. Corona residents Margie Hand and Carolyn Riley donated a trophy to the team in recognition of the girls' efforts.

Coach Teresita Stewart praised the young athletes for their great teamwork and never-say-die attitude. "We had a few close games where the girls didn't give up and were able to go ahead and win the match," she said. "Every member of the team is a good server," she continued, "and some are varsity material." As for their ability to return the ball, the girls tried to have three hits on every return, including the spike.

Miss Stewart said the outlook for next year is uncertain. Four team members will be sophomores and will be playing varsity ball. "A lot will depend on who will be coming up and how many will come out to play," she said.

CORONA TRAINER ENJOYS—

'Keeping people happy'

By LINDA CALDWELL

Many times in the excitement of a game, we forget the support group, the behind-the-scenes workers who remember to bring a ball to the event, who are ready with the repair kits, the extra helmets, and all the other paraphernalia needed to make an athletic event happen.

Corona athletic trainer Jason Gibbs and manager J.J. Young are two who keep things going. Coach G. Ray Johnson commented that the boys perform very important functions. "They make sure we have plenty of tape and other supplies . . . We don't have to worry with that part of it because those guys are very dependable."

J.J. Young works as manager and makes sure all equipment is aboard the bus for away games. That includes balls, kicking tees, medicine kit, water bottles, extra helmets, chin straps, a repair kit and air pumps. J.J. wanted to play ball, but when a knee injury kept him off the field, he became manager because he was determined to be involved in the football program in some way.

Jason began as manager when he was in 7th grade and has learned the ropes through three years of tireless, often thankless, efforts which keep the athletic teams prepared for action.

Jason considers his most important job that of carrying out treatments prescribed by doctors for injured players. Although he does not diagnose injuries, he may be needed for such duties as taping sprained joints. The taping gives added support to joints, thus preventing further injury. Jason estimates that the Corona athletes have had about 3,600 yards of tape applied to assorted joints since school started. The pre-tape is a non-sticky, self-adherent substance which helps absorb perspiration and prevents the adhesive tape from pulling hair when it is removed.

Jason also monitors Whirlpool treatments, as in the case of football player Tony Romero who suffered a back injury. Jason was the guy who readied the Whirlpool, making sure water temp was correct, and who sat in attendance throughout the treatments. Because the process usually feels so good to the injured athlete, the possibility exists that the athlete will either want hotter water or longer treatments. Jason explained that these are dangers that must be guarded against because, during the Whirlpool treatments, blood is drawn away from the brain and the chance of passing out increases.

In addition, the trainer may be needed to apply ice packs or Cramegesic heat balm on sore muscles. He also makes sure the medical kit is well supplied and ready for dealing with minor injuries during the game.

Among other numerous duties, Jason is responsible for setting up and managing the scoreboard and PA systems at all home games. In addition, he has become an accomplished video recorder of games, this enabling players to study their strengths and weaknesses.

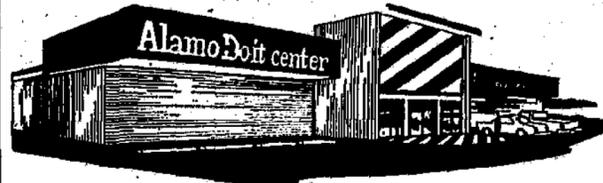

Jason enjoys helping out the athletes, even down to keeping candy fireballs on hand, just "because the volleyball girls like them." All in all, Jason sees his job as one of "keeping people happy, especially when they're hurt."

SHANNON BYRD, senior Corona volleyball team member, was selected to the All-District team.

The first gold rush in the United States was touched off not in California but in Georgia, where prospectors discovered gold deposits in 1828.

NEW 3rd and 4th grade teacher Adis Robertson discusses a workbook problem with Blossom Rodriguez.

ADIS ROBERTSON IS ...

Corona teacher

by LINDA CALDWELL
Miss Adis Robertson has been hired to teach 3rd and 4th grades at Corona Elementary School. The new teacher attended Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, TX where she majored in elementary education and art. She received the prestigious Ted Bell Memorial Art Award given to only one art student each year. She held her senior art show entitled "Butterflies to Bronc Riders" last December and completed student teaching last spring at Hale Center, TX.

The former Corona resident spent most of her childhood in Roswell but finds it ironic that she will be teaching 3rd grade in the same room where she attended 3rd grade as a student.

Miss Robertson's grandmother, Effie Mulkey, was a teacher in Cedarvale and may have influenced her in that direction. Adis knew she wanted to be "in a helping profession because other people have helped me in my life."

She enjoys all spectator sports, (especially Corona sports) and likes to play racquetball. Her favorite hobbies are painting and drawing.

The All-American Apple Pie came from England with the early settlers. Because every colonial housewife knew how to make it, early American cookbooks seldom included a recipe for a basic apple pie. The one given here, thickened with corn starch, might well be labeled today's All-American Apple Pie.

| 1 recipe double crust pastry | 3/4 cups sugar |
| 2 pounds apples, cored, peeled, sliced (about 6 cups) | 1 tablespoon Kingsford's corn starch |
| 1 tablespoon lemon juice | 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon |
| | 1 tablespoon margarine |

Roll out one-half of pastry on lightly floured surface to 11-inch circle. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry allowing 1-inch overhang. In large bowl, toss with apple slices and lemon juice. In small bowl, stir together sugar, corn starch and cinnamon. Spoon apple mixture into pastry-lined plate. Dot with margarine. Roll remaining pastry to 12-inch circle. Cover pie with pastry; seal and flute edge. If desired, re-roll excess pastry; cut out apple shape. Place in center of top crust. If desired, brush crust lightly with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Make several slits in top crust to permit steam to escape. Bake in 425°F over 50 minutes or until crust is golden and apples are tender. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

MISS TEEN OF NM Waynette Lindsey received a scholarship during recent national competition.

Miss Teen wins $1,000 scholarship

by LINDA CALDWELL
Waynette Lindsey, Miss Teen of New Mexico, has returned home and settled back into a "normal" routine after an exciting and exhausting two-and-a-half month preparation for the National Miss Teen of America Scholarship and Recognition Pageant in Duluth, MN last month.

Miss Lindsey received a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice as a result of having sold nine pages of advertising in the Pageant Program Booklet. After printing expenses were deducted, ad money was donated to the March of Dimes. Susan Parker, Miss Montana, with eight ad pages, was the closest competitor in the ad selling contest.

Although Miss Lindsey was not among the finalists, she is grateful for the once-in-a-lifetime experience and the opportunity to represent her town, county, and state. She was able to make numerous acquaintances and exchange ideas with young women from all over the country. Among her many mind-broadening experiences were a tour of the Duluth Depot (a historical museum) and dining at a restaurant overlooking scenic Lake Superior. She lived with a host family in Duluth and learned about suburban Minnesota lifestyles. She gave a 45 minute presentation about New Mexico to 5th and 6th grade Minnesota school children, then experienced every teacher's frustration when, at "Are there any questions?" time, the first was, "Do you have a boyfriend?"

She made a special new friend, Lisa Halter of South Dakota, who lives about five miles from Mt. Rushmore and doesn't have electricity at her house! She also met and had a photo session with pageant master of ceremonies Scott Valentine, the actor who plays Mallory's new boyfriend in "Family Ties". "That was a real experience in itself," remembered Waynette. "We had to change clothes four times in about 10 minutes and that included running up and down stairs to our rooms."

There were daily seven-hour rehearsals to prepare each contestant for the opening song and dance routines as well as individual talent and state achiever presentations. And there were fun activities, too, like the Make Your Own Sundae party for getting acquainted with the other contestants, and a Hoedown for getting acquainted with the assigned escorts, and the Coronation Ball for celebrating.

Miss Lindsey sincerely appreciates all the support she received from friends and family. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lindsey, and brother Mike all attended the pageant as did her grandparents Mrs. Joe Atkinson and Mrs. Florence Lindsey and grandfather Henry Lindsey. Good friends from Forest Park, GA, Mrs. John Parker and daughter Vicki also attended.

For the record, Miss Teen of Pennsylvania, Amy Wharton, won the National Pageant. Her talent presentation was "An Expression of Myself", wherein she explained her accomplishments and hobbies; her state achiever was Milton Hershey of Hershey chocolate fame represented through her costume as a Hershey Kiss. All six finalists were college students.

DEER SEASON STARTS—

First hunt begins Saturday

There are many people waiting with anticipation for the opening of the rifle seasons for deer. These people won't have long to wait, the seasons are almost here.

This year, there will be three hunt periods held on a statewide basis. The first hunt will be two days, November 9 and 10. The second hunt period will be a five-day season beginning on November 13 and ending November 17. The last hunt is seven days long opening November 20 and ending November 26. Deer hunters may choose one of these hunt periods.

If you've already bought your license and wish to change the hunt period, the Department of Game and Fish will have officers in the following locations; State Police Office, Carlsbad - 12 noon to 6 p.m. State Police Office, Hobbs - 12 noon to 6 p.m. Police Department, Artesia - 12 noon to 6 p.m.

State Police Bldg., Alamogordo - 12 noon to 6 p.m. Sheriff's Office, Carrizozo - 12 noon to 6 p.m. Police Department, Ruidoso - 12 noon to 6 p.m. Rock Lake Hatchery, Santa Rosa - 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. State Police Office, Clovis - 12 noon to 6 p.m. City Hall, Portales - 12 noon to 6 p.m. Dept. of Game and Fish, Roswell - 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tru Value Hardware, Ft. Sumner - 12 noon to 6 p.m. State Police Office, Vaughn - 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This year once again the bag limit for rifle hunters is one buck with antlers at least two inches long. The weapons legal for taking deer are center-fire rifles, center-fire handguns using ammunition with a case length of 1.198 inches or longer and shotguns not smaller than 28 gauge firing a single slug. Firearms that fit within these limits may be used to take deer during the three hunt periods.

Also, we have received many questions about the closure in Unit 30, the Guadalupe Mountains. In March, the State Game Commission met and adopted a regulation to close the southern portion of Unit 30. The Commission later reversed this decision. Therefore, areas open in Unit 30 will be the same as in past years.
