

Students observe commissioners at work

By RUTH HAMMOND
Students from Carrizozo and Corona attended the Lincoln County Commissioners meeting March 25. The three students sat with the commissioners and were able to observe how county government works.

Waynette Lindsay, and Marvin Pounds of Corona and Marcia Hefker of Carrizozo were guests of the commissioners and were treated to lunch as well as a tour of county offices.

Commission Chairman Bill Elliott had sent letters to each school in the county inviting students to attend the meetings. The letter stated, "We want to promote interest in how county government works. Also, this is an election year which will make it even more interesting."

The Republican Women of Lincoln County were also guests at the meeting. During regular business, commissioners agreed to enter into a joint powers agreement with the soil and water conservation district for erosion and flood control work on the county road between Bonito Lake and the stables. The county will contribute $10,000 for the five areas that are washed out and will be repaired along the county road. —The bid from Karl Storz Company in the amount of $47,891 for urological equipment and instrumentation for the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital was accepted. A lower bid did not comply with bid specs. —A request was received for funding for the Professional Counseling Associates. The county has budgeted $7,200 for the past three years and the request for this year is for $15,000. This request will be considered in the budget sessions.

—A letter is being sent to the Local Government Division (DFA) stating that it is the intent of the county to enter into a contract with the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District for administration of the county's Community Development Block Grant. The $25,000 grant is for the preservation of historical sites in the Fort Stanton area. —The county received a notification of grant award from the Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging. —A road review committee was appointed to inspect a road in Agua Fria Estates Subdivision and a road near the R. A. Canning Ranch. Members are Mack Bell, Leota Pflingsten and Bill Rawlins with Martha Thiedt as alternate. —Bonito Fire Chief Howard Puckett requested partial or total help in building an addition to the Alto Fire Station to house a rescue unit. Puckett said the Bonito fire station has housed the county ambulance since 1978 at no cost to the county.

Elliott reminded Puckett that the county owns both the fire stations and the ambulances. Commissioner Kenneth Nosker made a motion that the county loan the money for the addition at no interest for two years. The estimate Puckett presented for the addition will be $7,378.29. The fire department has about $2,000 and will need $5,000. The motion passed after Puckett said he would accept the loan. The Bonito Fire Dept. must make the request for the loan in writing before the commission will loan the money.

—Leota Pflingsten was appointed to the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board.

—Robert Finley was appointed to the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee after Lydia Krupicka resigned.

—Commissioners agreed to not be members of the New Mexico Association of Counties for the 1986-87 fiscal year. The county offices of clerk, treasurer and assessor will be members of the affiliates.

—A budget increase for annual audit services in the amount of $4,860 was approved. The June 30 annual audit of the county is 45 percent complete and the $4,860 was for professional fees to date. The State Auditor had requested that Lincoln County have an early audit which is less than four months after the last audit.

—Commissioners approved an agreement for electrical services for the Glencoe-Palo Verde Fire District.

—Lincoln County Fair Assn. officers Mack Bell, Hoot Gibson and Linda Ponder requested help with liability insurance coverage. This will be continued at the next meeting.

—The county will enter into a joint powers agreement with the Lincoln County Humane Society and contribute $3,000 to the organization.

—Commissioners approved the purchase of eight vehicles on the state contract. One vehicle will be for the assessor's office, two vehicles for the road department, one for Zia Senior Citizens Center, and four for the sheriff's department.

The four vehicles for the sheriff's department will replace four vehicles with more than 81,000 miles each and will cost less than three vehicles did last year that were purchased by bid.

—Ellen Anderson, director for the Hospital Emergency Lifeline Program (HELP), explained how the program works. Homebound persons, having the lifeline installed in their home will be able to push a button on a pendant around their neck to summon help when needed.

Anderson said to be fair she has designated the units according to population with Ruidoso being allotted 26, three for Hondo, and 13 for the Capitan, Carrizozo and Corona area. There are seven people on the waiting list in the Capitan-Carrizozo-Corona area even though there are 14 not being used in the Ruidoso area.

Principal's death called a suicide

Jack K. Smith Jr., 37, was pronounced dead at 3:40 p.m. on March 30 by medical examiner Gail Hopkins. Death was the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Lincoln County Chief Deputy Charles Cox said that Smith was last seen alive on Saturday afternoon. Smith had been principal of the Hondo School.

In car accident—

3 die, 2 injured

By LINDA CALDWELL
Three members of a Texas family were killed in a one car accident last Saturday on US Highway 54 just south of Tecalote Peak.

Dead are a 21-year-old male, a 20-year-old female and an 18-year-old female who was reportedly about four months pregnant.

Injured in the accident were a 16-year-old male and an 8-to-10-month-old baby boy who sustained lacerations. They were taken to Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital where they remained in satisfactory condition as of Tuesday. No indication was given as to when they would be released.

According to New Mexico

State Highway Patrolman Bart Skelton, the 1979 Monte Carlo was southbound when it left the roadway at mile marker 155. Apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, the vehicle overturned approximately four times before coming to rest about 381 feet from the point where it left the highway. Four of the five travelers were thrown from the car. None were wearing seat belts.

Officer Skelton commented that the use of seat belts in this particular accident would have improved the chances of survival. "The car was airborne two different times for a pretty good distance, and it was turning at the same time; when those people came out the windows

(the doors remained intact) the car rolled over them." The baby received severe lacerations as the result of being thrown into a barbed wire fence.

The relatives were reportedly traveling from their home in Cactus, Texas, north of Amarillo, to visit relatives in El Paso for the Easter holiday.

New education laws bring radical change

CAPITAN—The Capitan Board of Education met Thursday night and approved the 1986-87 school calendar as amended.

Aug. 18 will be an in-service day for teachers. The first actual day of school will be Aug. 19. The last day of school will be May 22, 1987. Good Friday will be a school holiday, the Presidents Day on Feb. 16 will not. School will be dismissed for the Christmas break at the end of the school day on Dec. 19. Classes will resume Jan. 5. Spring break will be the week of March 23-27, 1987.

Architect Jim French reported on his preliminary planning for the new athletic facility, which includes some long range ideas. Proposed is a six-lane track which could be expanded to eight lanes. The angle of the new football field works out well with the angle of the sun during football season. This football field would feature 70-foot light poles with a cluster of 10 lights.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

LOST PUPPY on southside of town, 4 months old. Shaggy, black, white around eyes. Answers by the name of Chango, wearing red collar. $5 reward offered, ph. 648-2349 before 1 p.m. 11p-3

The fans would be kept at a distance and not able to mingle with the players. Approximately $650,000 is available for this project.

A policy on the disease AIDS was tabled until the April 10 meeting. Board members wanted more time to study this situation.

A bid by the accounting firm Nulf, Jones of Ruidoso was rejected by the board. There will be a call for new bids to audit the school financial records for the 1985-86 school year. This must be completed by Nov. 1.

The school is still seeking a buyer for its auto painting brush. No action was taken to establish a rodeo club.

Those present learned that next year's freshman class will need 23 credits in order to graduate. All students will have to pass a competency test before receiving a diploma. High school students will be taking five English courses. Driver education will be offered but not for credit. Also beginning next year students missing more than 10 classes in a semester will not receive credit for that class.

The board adopted a public meetings policy. Notice of regular meetings will be made by written notice published in a newspaper of general circulation in the school district at least three days prior to the meeting; or by posting a written notice in the office of the superintendent and US Post Office three days prior to such meeting; and by announcing a meeting at a previous such meeting. Special meetings generally follow the same guidelines with 24 hours being sufficient notice.

1.7.7 states—"The records of the board of education shall be kept in the office of the superintendent of schools and THEY ARE PUBLIC."

1.8.4 Handling of Complaints—a. All complaints shall be channeled through the superintendent and if necessary to the board of education. b. If the complaint is to be considered by the board then it shall be a written, signed statement or the individual shall appear before the board in a regular or special meeting. c. Investigations of complaints shall be handled by the superintendent and his staff and the matter reported back to the board.

Dan Hitchcock, school nurse, resigned and will be replaced by Jim Ann Rasco effective March 24.

School officials said that Architect French's blueprints are available for public inspection.

The piano was invented by an Italian harpsichord maker called Bartolomeo Cristofori, to remedy the harpsichord's inability to play soft, "piano" in Italian, and loud "forte."

VITAL LINK

I am an avid believer of crime prevention programs. To reduce crime people need to get involved, be alert and realize that there is crime in the community.

But we bury our heads in the sand and think it is only going to happen to someone else.

It is hard to become enthused about Neighborhood Watch Programs and crime prevention when our town police commissioner is displeased with county law enforcement policies.

It would be very beneficial to the citizens of Carrizozo having the cooperation of the Town Police and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept. working together for crime prevention in Carrizozo.

Police and deputies working together are a vital link in fighting crime.

CAN WE TALK?

At the recent town meeting (March 25) the hall was packed with bowling fans. After Bill Lynch, rec center manager, finished his business the crowd headed for the bowling lanes.

Earlier in the meeting Mayor Hemphill had trustees add Christy Beltran to their agenda. The young man did not show up. Perhaps the town hall parking was all taken up by bowlers.

According to the taped conversation of the meeting trustees present gave their reports later in the evening. Police commissioner, Eddie O'Brien, claims that the county is "bird dogging" Christy Beltran. O'Brien wants the council's backing in resolving the problem, which I gather to be that a "particular county officer" is bird dogging customers of three local bars. O'Brien is the owner of one.

A member of the audience spoke up: "I believe all law enforcement officers ought to work together." It was suggested that the council invite the sheriff and his chief deputy to a council meeting to discuss the so-called problem.

WHOLE HEARTILY

O'Brien: "I whole-heartily agree with you. There should be good communications between Sheriff Dept. and city; however, patrolling our town and parked where someone used to have a station; sit there by the hour and watch across the street is one thing; sit over across from Outpost is another, and sit behind LaMay's tanks out there watching mine—that's not patrolling our streets."

Hemphill said the matter would best be discussed at the next public meeting. "Mean time, watch out your window," he told O'Brien.

HOW COME?

Former mayor, Harold Garcia, present at the last public meeting, addressed several comments and questions to the council. Among them: "What were the circumstances for the fire chief of Carrizozo to request assistance at a fire from a county officer?"

Without pausing for an answer he continued: "Maybe that's why they got him patrolling here, because everytime something happens...I know the school does this a lot when something happens over there, they request a state officer or county officer, and why aren't people requesting our own officers?"

Chief of Police C. A. Morales explained that his officer was at the fire scene but that the county officer in question was a certified arson investigator.

Public meetings are very educational. More local residents should attend them. Our town meeting agenda has a section called "audience participation." Newsmen are paid to ask the hard questions, but that shouldn't stop citizens from seeking answers. Next meeting: April 8 at 6 p.m.

WORTH REPEATING

The Reagans put on a cheerful front publicly, but in private both were hurt by recent activities of their two youngest children. Friends say the autobiographical novel by daughter Patti, portraying a pair of coldly ambitious parents, distressed them even more than son Ron's dancing in his underwear on television. Carrizozo Schools

Honor graduates named; school 'reforms' cited

The Carrizozo Board of Education announced that Kenny Crenshaw will be the valedictorian and James Thomas Guevara will be salutatorian for the 1986 graduating class.

The announcement was made at the March 18 regular meeting of the board.

In other business, school superintendent Dennis Sidebottom explained changes that must be made because of Senate Bill 106 which was passed by the legislature this year. SB 106 is known as the school reform bill.

Next year will be the last year for Carrizozo teachers to have playground, bus and cafeteria duty. After next year the work must be done by non-teachers. Beginning next year, the Pledge of Allegiance will be said in each classroom. Other changes will be staffing patterns, graduation requirements, assessment tests, and remediation programs.

Bids received for construction of the Science-Computer Lab were more than the original estimate of $71,500. Jim Vorenberg of Alley-Connell-Strain & Assoc. of Roswell negotiated with the board to save money and deleted $6,566, and their total contract price of $89,934 was accepted. Construction will begin immediately. Vorenberg said it should take only three months for construction instead of the 150 days called for in bid specifications. The extra money for the building addition will come from the Bond Building Fund that had been earmarked for computers. The computers were obtained with a grant.

Sidebottom announced that the Lincoln County Commissioners had denied a request to open the road to the vo-ag barn because it was not in a legally platted subdivision.

Two bids were received for the annual audit. The bid of $4,896 from Azar and Associates of Albuquerque was accepted.

The request for a new school bus for Mr. Roper was approved.

No announcements were made after an executive session for personnel.

Ernest V. Joiner

● "IT is mutual cowardice that keeps us in peace. Were one half of mankind brave and one half cowards the brave would be always beating the cowards. Were all brave we would lead a very uneasy life: all would be continually fighting. But being all cowards, we go on very well."—Samuel Johnson in "Boswell's Life."

● A FULL moon is out and the Great Peace March is on. Last week in Los Angeles a few hundred assorted nuclear nuthings began a highly-publicized 8½-month pilgrimage on foot to Washington, DC, a distance of 3,235 miles. The ordeal is to "educate" the world of the dangers of nuclear arms. They hoped to enter Washington 5,000 strong. By the time they reached Barstow, CA, 120 miles from the glorious beginning of a New Day for Peace and Paralogics, they became stalled in the cold Mohave Desert due to a lack of money. They expected to survive by selling their anti-nuclear puling to people along the route. By trumpeting the doomsday prophesy of nuclear disaster, purblind folks would donate money, food, clothing, medicine and moral support to the self-appointed saviors of mankind.

● AFTER four days of enroute panhandling, hundreds dropped out, disillusioned that their great sacrifice to save the world evoked little public support. But all was not lost. Enthusiasm of the remaining hot-footers was regenerated by a gift of $60,000 from an organization of maitoids calling themselves the Greater Peace March for Nuclear Disarmament, staffed by some well-heeled Hate America First musards. The infusion of money will take the crusade as far as Las Vegas. That may be the end of the line for the protesters, now numbering only a couple of hundred. At Las Vegas, we may find out how deep are the pockets of the peace movement. If no more money is forthcoming, the peaceniks may tuck their tails and return sore-footed to a world of reality.

● WHY so little public support for these zealots? After 20 years of hysterics over impending nuclear destruction of the world, Americans are beginning to lose confidence in predictions of Armageddon around the corner. Too, in a showdown with madmen like Col. M. Khadafy, to whom would a sensible person turn for protection—to a trained army with nuclear weapons or to a cluster of nincompoops with sore feet?

● ONE person has been swayed by the Great Peace Debacle. George Ramirez, 11, has designed a billboard in Albuquerque that appeals to the illiterate. His wisdom is published in the Albuquerque Journal: "It's not right to have everybody having wars," said the 4th grader. "I think we should try to convince presidents to talk together. I would have a meeting of all the people from the world and talk with them about peace." Zounds! Why hasn't somebody thought of that before. For his design of a billboard, and for his sagacity and understanding, he has been enriched by $50 worth of art supplies from peace purveyors. George may now seek an audience with Comrade Gorbachev, after which he may be elevated to admiral and placed in charge of the Sixth Fleet. George, shake hands with the late Samantha.

● PROBABLY time to coincide with the Great Peace March, the Albuquerque Peace Center and its assorted minions will begin monitoring shipments of nuclear weapons to their storage sites in New Mexico. They propose to stop the arms race through public education, says Lisa Fink of APC. "People wanting to participate in the activities can call 873-3546 or 268-9557 (in Albuquerque)," Fink said. I urge you to call immediately and put Armageddon on hold.

● RESPONDING to the prevailing poppycock, Panjandrum for Peace Toney Anaya, governor of New Mexico, chose Good Friday to declare New Mexico a sanctuary for refugees "fleeing persecution" in Central America. The procedure for sanctuary appears to be that some peacenik will ask if the illegal alien is fleeing persecuting and if he says "yes" he's home free. Not all illegal aliens are from Central America. The immigration and naturalization service finds that some are terrorists from Libya, bearing explosive greetings from Colonel K. Some are KGB agents from the Soviet bloc. But they all say they're fleeing persecution in Central America. The governor, who is currently under investigation by federal authorities for corruption in government, is hereby elevated to Patron Saint by our divers and diversified peace propagandists who hold America responsible for all the ills of the world.

● PLANNED, perhaps, to coincide with the Great Peace March to abolish nuclear weapons, the Albuquerque Journal began a series of articles on New Mexico's high visibility in the manufacture and storing of nuclear weapons. Sunday's final episode warns readers that there are six New Mexico sites that are likely targets for Soviet missiles in case of a nuclear war. This announcement should generate more bucks for the Great Peace March. I feel comfortable that Lincoln County is among the six "Soviet targets."

● IT is small wonder the Great Peace March gets little public support. Americans are getting weary of anti-nuclear cries of "wolf!" Since the 1970s, doomsayers have daily predicted nuclear Armageddon. Columnist Charles Krauthammer, in a recent article, recalls the great nuclear freeze debate in 1982 when Rep. Barbara Mikulski anguished on the floor of the House, "I support the freeze because I do not want to die." Poor baby. Rep. Edward Markey lamented "We are coming ever so closer to the brink of nuclear annihilation." Sob. Rep. James Weaver ruminated that "it is clear as anything we are going to have Armageddon at any moment." Wolf, Wolf!

● THIS apocalyptic fever cannot forever be sustained. This is why, perhaps, Americans are disappointed that the wolf never seems to be where he's supposed to be. Therefore, they are switching their apocalyptic fervor to an equally high-pitched crusade against booze and tobacco. This makes more sense. At least, booze and tobacco have killed a lot of people whereas nuclear weapons have not, aside from that blessed one that ended World War II in Japan.

● DOOMSAYERS are immortal. They have plagued us since the dawn of history. Krauthammer points out that the Millerites, now Seventh-day Adventists, predicted the end of the world on March 21, 1843. Apparently, it didn't happen. So they re-set the date for Oct. 22, 1844. Nothing, so they gave up. In Arkansas a few years ago a religious cult leader led his flock to a mountaintop to await the end of the world, but not before giving

WATCH OVER WASHINGTON—

Reagan drops Buchanan bomb on the 'useful idiots'

By LES KINSOLVING
WASHINGTON—According to The Washington Post: "167 religious leaders charged that 'exaggeration, misinformation and outright falsehood form the heart of the Reagan administration's case against Nicaragua.'"

Who is in the lead of these "leaders?" And who is pictured right out there in front of their Washington demonstration? Why, it's the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, who has for years been such a Kremlin Delight that a number of his own parishioners have noted that Coffin's Riverside Church in Manhattan is known as the "Communist Cathedral."

While this all-too-familiar corps of Clergy-Blame-America-Firsters was carrying on their bizarre demonstration, other Useful Idiots (as Lenin so accurately predicted) were carrying on Congressionally.

In the lead on Capital Hill was Maryland Representative Michael ("Managua Mike") Barnes, who is surely the Sandinistas' Best Friend in the House of Representatives (and who is running for the Senate.)

The Reagan administration is, according to Barnes, "using red-baiting tactics like we haven't seen in this city since Spiro Agnew was vice-president."

The term "red-baiting," notes managing editor Wes Pruden of The Washington Times, was leveled at those who suggested that Alger Hiss was a traitor, which he surely as hell was!

Pruden also noted Congressman Barnes' ineptitude about Agnew. For this later discredited vice-president did not direct his most celebrated barb ("nattering nabobs of negativism") against reds but against elitists in the press and on Capitol Hill—elitist left-wing propagandists like Miss Mary McGrory, a syndicated columnist who is somehow able to find humor in the worldwide "red tide" reaching into south Texas. (Can we imagine Miss Mary if Texas were suddenly invaded by a Marxist Mexico?)

Finally at long last, President Reagan has unleashed Pat Buchanan, his Director of Communications, who has begun to communicate again. It came too late to save the President's $100 million "contra aid package" in its first formal vote from the Barnes-led last hurrah of retiring House Speaker Tip O'Neill, a long-time Sandinista apologist (for reasons unmentioned by even dedicated but gentlemanly foe Minority Leader Robert Michel.)

Buchanan is a former syndicated newspaper columnist and radio-TV personality (he was the nemesis of liberal fall guy Tom Braden.). He opened with a guest column which The Washington Post published—and then tried to pan with the lightweight polemics of its ex-editorial page editor, Philip Geyelin.

Buchanan, the much-missed maharajah of the Meat Axe School of Political Commentary, noted, among other things, the following:

+ "Whether Central

America follows Southeast Asia, Afghanistan and Angola as the next appendage of Soviet Empire is a question to which the Democratic Party in Congress now holds the answer... To the routinized liberal plety, 'This conflict does not lend itself to a military solution,' Moscow responded in 1985 with $350 million in tanks, armored vehicles and helicopter gunships. Daniel Ortega and Fidel Castro are going for a 'military solution.'

+ "Bedrolls and bandages are inadequate substitutes for surface to air missiles in combating the same Hind helicopters that have made a slaughterhouse of Afghanistan."

Emerging from Nicaragua with 1,200 dead and wounded, one contra commander bitterly echoed President Reagan: 'We will not go back to fight and die for freedom unless America—sometime Arsenal of Democracy—gives us the weapons to fight and win.'

INSIDE THE CAPITOL—

Electronic news: more entertainment, less fact

By FRED McCAFFREY
SANTA FE—Unfortunately for electronic journalism, reality in the world doesn't divide itself up neatly into "sound bytes."

In case you're not familiar with that phrase, it refers to those short takes we get on radio or television news, where we hear or see someone in the public eye personally giving us a few words on the topic being discussed. Almost always, as you might suspect, those brief comments have been carved out of a much longer piece of audio or video tape.

It's a standard method of procedure now, so much so that we are supposed to take it for granted that the few seconds of contact we have with the person on the tape somehow gives us the very gist of the supposedly important subject being considered.

But is the real heart of the subject what we get?

LITIGATION: The question is generated at just this time because many of us in the capitol press corps have been covering the long and complicated trial of John Ramming, former Toney Anaya aide, and Pete Mondragon, onetime expender of the state's disaster-relief funds.

Almost daily during that time we have heard or seen news broadcasts on which one or two brief excerpts from the testimony given that day are presented as though they encapsulated neatly everything that had been said on the stand.

It strikes one who has paid close attention to the tours of testimony that day that they seldom managed to do that as neatly as broadcasters would like us to believe.

The basic problem is that life just doesn't work out quite so neatly, and the electronic journalists who like to pretend it does are doing just that—pretending.

DRAMATICS: What is even more worrisome to those of us who believe superficial knowledge of a topic may be more dangerous than knowledge in depths is that we know television and radio stations have always been fixated on the simple-minded notion that the one with the largest audience is, eo ipso, demonstrably superior to all other stations in the market. We furthermore know that local stations have few ways for generating larger audiences except by changing and improving on their news.

That introduces a whole new element into news coverage. Call it "drama" if you will, though some of us prefer the word "hype." It means that stations, in their demand for larger audiences so they can charge higher rates, may be just slightly tempted to play the news in certain ways that will make it seem to be more than it really is.

Notice all the "production" television network news now gets, and you'll know what we mean. Each year we get more and more dressing and less and less salad on these shows, bigger and brighter costumes and less content in the people who are so dressed up.

BORING: We who bring you our words printed on this inexpensive newspaper may often be drabby and not at all inclined to stir your emotions. Still, it is a fact that we give you more and deeper stuff, and allow you to do your choosing of the significant bits.

That's because we are fortunate enough to be a little freer in the way we operate. Did you ever read of a news reporter being summarily fired because he or she did not cause the subscription revenue of the paper to go up?

Okay, so we don't have the impact of pictures and sound. We still are your best and most reliable source for the hard facts, which matter a whole more than the fluff.

'Progress is not an accident'

EDITOR—I note an article concerning the proposed airport in the Ft. Stanton pasture wherein certain individuals object to it. One Mr. Scribner in particular. In 1968, on June 17, we had a terrific flood in the Rio Ruidoso area, along with Eagle Creek and became a national disaster area. It was my influence that killed the flood control dam on Eagle Creek, and as a result Mr. Scribner said it was a terrible mistake, and that the proposed dam would have held the flood waters. It is my hope that he has learned that in making such a statement he should have examined the records before committing himself.

I personally had our Geological Survey measure the stream, and 17,400 sec. ft. poured down this stream, for over five hours. That amounts to about 7000 acre feet; the dam held 3200 acre feet as proposed. And the spillway was woefully inadequate. In 1941 over 50,000 acre feet poured down this stream in a 10-day period, or less.

We have a fairly nice recreational area in the making. A great deal of the boom and bust was brought about by our oil cartel creating a false scarcity of oil, and Texas and New Mexico are now both paying the price. Our good Texas friends, among others, are paying about 80 percent of our taxes in Lincoln County, and it is they who will bear the brunt of the cost of the airport.

Not too long ago many people stated a race track wouldn't go here. It would be a farce, they said. The answer is we boast the world's richest horse race, and have barely scratched the surface. It took the ingenuity of an individual, Mr. Robert O. Anderson, to open the Apache Ski Run. And that didn't hurt our area in the least. A bunch of citizens and bureaucrats teamed up and denied them adequate parking space at one time. That appeared to be an act wherein we cut off our nose to spite our face. Is progress so painful as all that?

Where were all our stalwart citizens who object to the airport when the Ft. Stanton land were up for grabs at $2.50 per acre, and being administered by the GSA? I sent and obtained a copy of the GSA Handbook containing the Administrative Act of 1949, as Amended, shoved it under their noses, and the lands passed back into the department where they belonged. The GSA is equipped to administer ONLY those lands occupied by buildings. The cost to me, a five-cent stamp. The Handbook they sent me for free. Oh dear!

Yes, we farmers salvaged Eagle Creek waters through Senator Chavez and the 240 acre feet dam at Alto has done wonders: Cost $35,000, but look at the tax roll it created! Our Congressional delegations at the time envisioned Ft. Stanton becoming a science foundation, tied into Holloman, with a junior college coup led with a consolidated high school second to none. What a terrible thought!

Someone wrote years ago that progress is not an accident, but a necessity. It is a part of nature.

JIM TULLY,
Ruidoso Downs.

On trade and aid with Communist nations

EDITOR—The American taxpayer is directly harmed by aid and trade with Communist nations in three ways. He has to pay for the whole scheme out of his hard-earned tax dollars. He has to carry an additional tax burden for a bloated defense budget to allegedly defend our nation against the strengthened Communist enemy. He is in greater danger of losing his freedom to the very enemy he is forced to support.

But perhaps the greatest tragedy of all is that the millions of oppressed people in Communist countries do not stand a chance of throwing off the yoke of their enslavement as long as aid and trade policies continue. If we stopped financing Communism, these people would eventually free themselves and thereby participate in truly beneficial trade with the United States.

This is why a bill introduced by Congressman Philip Crane, HR 97, is so important. This bill would prohibit all extensions of credit, credit guarantees, investment guarantees, or grants by any agency of the US government to Communist countries.

Another bill, HR 1345, also introduced by Congressman Crane, would require the president to report to Congress on a quarterly basis all loans, guarantees, credits and grants to Communist countries made directly by the US government or indirectly through an international agency in which the United States is a member.

Congressman Norman Shumway has co-sponsored both bills. He is the only Congressman in Northern California to have done so. You might want to write your own Congressman to ask why he is not supporting both of these bills.

ED SHELLNBARGER,
Herald, CA.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Now, for $100 million . . .

EDITOR—President Reagan wants Congress to give $100 million for military aid to the Nicaraguan Contras so that they can defeat the communist supported Sandinistas who now run Nicaragua.

The Sandinistas are communist backed by both the Cubans and the Soviets. President Reagan seems certain that the Contras are not only very much against communism, but that they are very pro-American as well.

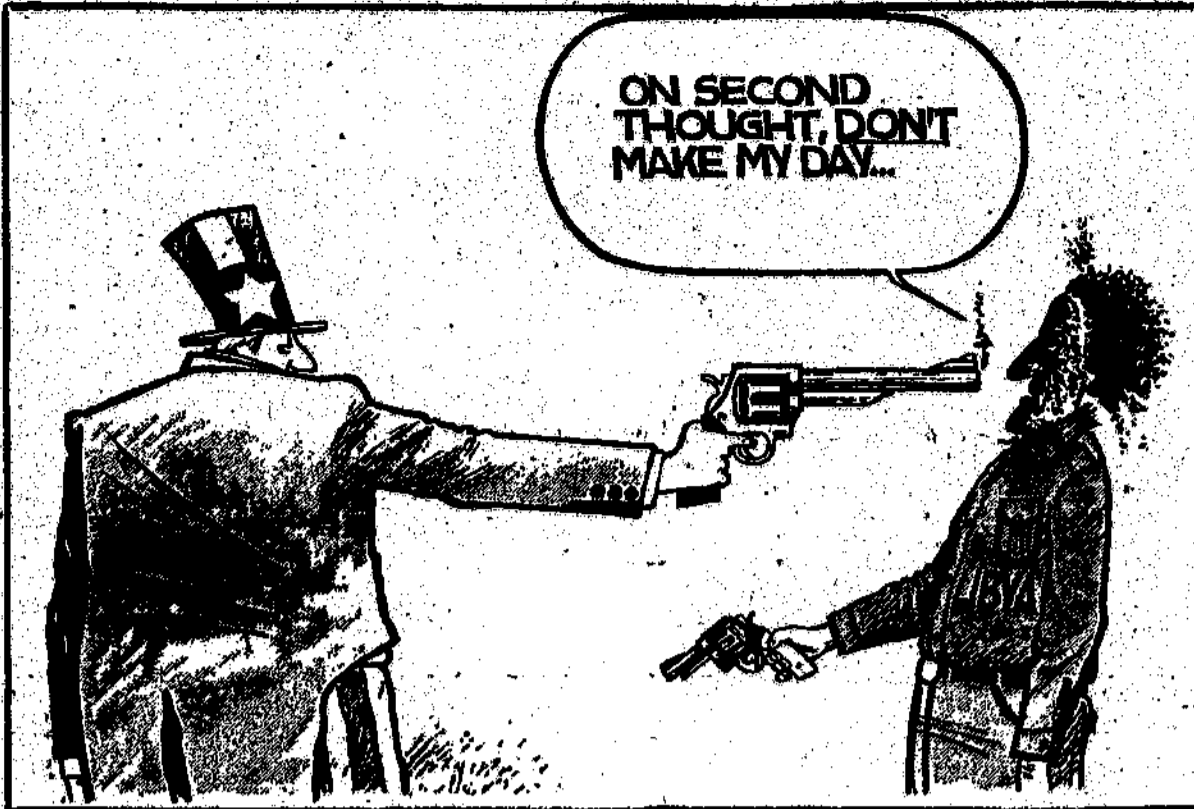

You may recall that Nicaragua had an anti-communist president, Anastasio Somoza, who was not only very much against communism, but, he was a West Point graduate who was very supportive of the US.

The Carter administration forced him to abdicate in favor of the Sandinistas. Somoza was assassinated in Paraguay a few months later.

Now, for $100 million, President Reagan apparently believes that we can once again have an anti-communist, pro-American administration back in control of Nicaragua.

It sort of reminds you of the guy whose wife solved all his problems that he wouldn't have had if he hadn't got married.

San Juan Bautista, CA

EDITORIAL—

Goodbye to Southern Pacific

The merger of Southern Pacific with the Santa Fe Railroad, and the removal of the headquarters from San Francisco to Chicago, could deal a blow to the Southwest, and to Lincoln County.

The merger, under negotiation for years, is imminent. Under terms of the merger, the Southern Pacific will disappear behind the logos of the Santa Fe. There is widespread belief that the Santa Fe will drop its southern route through El Paso and Carrizozo, in favor of a shorter line through Belen, NM, leaving Lincoln County and its vast area without rail service.

Southern Pacific has been an outstanding contributor to the economy of Lincoln County through its payroll and taxes. In spite of the fact that this county is no longer a source of freight revenue for the railroad, it has maintained an interest in the community and its activities over the years.

It is useless to speculate upon "what might have been," but if there had been a more aggressive approach to industrial development in Lincoln County over the past 20 years, there may have been some excuse for the Santa Fe to maintain the Southern Pacific line through here.

So, a giant is dying. It will be remembered that this colorful and impressive enterprise is largely responsible for development of the West and Southwest. "Vade in pace."

Drugs cloud local scene

Many people are amazed to discover that even in a resort mountain community such as Ruidoso, away from the hustle and bustle of the big city, illicit drugs are readily available to those who wish them.

The real crime is that drug pushers are indiscriminate as to whom they sell.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $500 for information that leads to the arrest and indictment or magistrate court bind over of any person or persons known to be involved in the trafficking of illicit drugs.

Persons calling Crime Stoppers are not required to identify themselves and are issued a code number which is used for the payment of rewards. However, if a caller does not wish to remain anonymous and testifies at the trial, the reward will be doubled.

The Crime Stoppers phone number is 257-4545. Persons can dial day or night, even on weekends, and an operator will take their call.

Questions McCarthy status

EDITOR—Let me first say that, all in all, I am in your camp 95 percent of the time. However, your article of 2-20-86 has caused me some embarrassment in that I champion you to my friends and I quote:

"History has largely vindicated McCarthy." Pray, where have you come upon this precious bit of information? If you say that you have forgiven the "cheap shots," the undue misery that man caused many good people, I can understand. We are all allowed to have our own opinions. But to come out and say that history has vindicated this man is something that I contest.

Nowhere has any of that come out to my knowledge. Of course, the media has been severely critical of McCarthy and often color the picture so badly that no one can tell what the hell really happened. On the other hand, I have tried to follow all recent writings on this subject but have never read or heard of any true vindication of this hateful man.

On the other hand, I would say he was an opportunist of the worst type trying to stay in the limelight for his own reason without caring who he lied about or to.

This is my first real disagreement with you in reading you for about two years. Please recind this statement or in some way prove it.

As for the rest of your crusade all I can say is: Keep up the good work!

EDGAR ROSS,
San Francisco

away all their possessions. There must have been some pretty mad people up there when extinction eluded them.

● SOME people just can't stand the thought of not being blown to hell. They must have an end to this world. This was predicted, if history serves me right, when the English invented the longbow. Doomsayers predicted the end of the world when gunpowder was invented, and when dynamite was invented, and when poison gas was invented, and when biological warfare was invented, and when the Gatling gun was invented, and when the repeating rifle was invented. Now, after a thousand years of embarrassing miscalculations, the same crowd is heralding the end of the world by nuclear weapons.

● APOCALYPTIC prophesy seems to be the only "fine art" that can generate end-of-the-world hysteria, and do so without there being a single successful obliteration of the planet. Yet the blatherings of these mentally ill-equipped loonies will always be taken seriously by large numbers of people. My best to the Great Peace Marchers. As for me, I'm on a new kick. I'm going to pour me a beaker of Jack Daniels, light up my pipe, thank God for the White Sands Missile Range next door, unfasten my seat belt, and careen into the sunset.

From The Coach—

Four years ago I thought Anthony Serna, Robert Conners, Kenneth Crenshaw and James Guevara had the potential. It just took four years of hard work and a belief between coach and players that makes sports something special.

This unlikely group plus an addition two years later (Gabriel Chavez), got close enough as juniors to feel the hurt when your potential isn't reached. They remembered and with the addition of Tommy Escamilla, Frankie Gallegos, Richard Guevara, Tom Giordano, Robert Guevara and John Saucedo their goal became crystal clear. Nothing but a state tournament berth would do.

It began with Cloudercroft, the home wrecker from the year before, and ended with Cloudercroft in the regional tournament. In both cases Carrizozo remembered and celebrated the coming of age as a basketball team. . . In between these two games the team traveled to Floyd and the Smokey Bear tournaments, growing as they went.

The maturity happened in February with five games left and four of them on the road. Carrizozo needed them all! It took a team effort that hasn't been seen for some time.

Capitan, Mountainair, Corona, Ft. Sumner and Vaughn (in 3 overtimes) all came up a little short as the nature of this team surfaced. Determination and a never say die attitude took the Grizzlies to Albuquerque . . . where they played inspired ball only to come up a little short . . . the Logan Longhorns put an end to the year, but, not the thoughts all these boys will remember the rest of their lives.

Boy, am I proud of all of you . . . Thanks! I'll never forget.

Ron Becker

FIVE GRIZZLY SENIORS that led Carrizozo to its first state tournament berth in 45 years (clockwise starting at left), Gabriel Chavez, James Guevara, coach Ron Becker, Kenneth Crenshaw, Anthony Serna and Robert Conners.

Capitan News

Weather gave its variety this last week with cold wind, ending with sunshine and good warm days for the Easter holidays.

There were 1162 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum March 24-30. A biology class from the University of Texas in Austin, consisting of one professor, one teaching assistant and 12 students were traveling through southern New Mexico and enjoyed the park and the museum, March 24. Three people on bicycles from Connecticut, traveling across the US, stopped by Saturday. It is great to have all of these guests.

Doris Coker and Esther Otero of Capitan each won a $25 certificate given by the Corriente CowBelles.

Local CowBelles meeting will be held April 10, Fair Building, at 11 a.m. Anyone welcome to come.

The Motor Vehicle Dept. (license bureau) in Capitan is on a trial basis. Dona Runnels, who has been helping with MVD for three years, is going to try to work MVD transactions in with her regular work. This will be evaluated at the end of six weeks and, if feasible, Dona will continue doing the work. If there is too much work for one person, the village will again hire a part-time person for 12 hours a week. With Dona doing the MVD, it is open anytime that the city hall is open. Dona will appreciate your patience in trying to fit everything in. Good luck, Dona, I have faith in you. I know you can do it with grace.

Congratulations to the Tiger Track Team for making a good showing at the Alfalfa Relays in Hagerman. We discovered a lot of young talent in our track team. Voters face tax levy in Corona Voters in Corona School District will be asked to approve a property tax levy in the amount of $2 per $1000 taxable valuation in the Capital Improvements Senate Bill 9 2-Mill Levy election on Tuesday, April 8.

Property owners within the district are already paying the tax, but because of the way SB 9 was designed to provide funding for school maintenance, voters must re-approve the levy every three years.

The bill is meant to provide funds for local school districts whereby capital improvements can be made. According to Supt. John Clem, money is needed to improve the heating system, refinish the hardwood gym floor, upgrade sidewalks and grounds, and work on playgrounds to remove safety hazards. In the past, monies from the Capital Improvements SB 9 have been used to install carpet, repair and build sidewalks (making some buildings more accessible to handicapped persons), insulate buildings, and upgrade teaching equipment.

Dr. Clem emphasized how important the passage of the mill levy is to Corona School District. "Only one of our buildings is less than 20 years old, making repairs and maintenance an absolute necessity," he said. Clem added that Corona School District has no bonded indebtedness as do many other districts.

Voters may go to the poll at Corona Village Hall between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m., April 8.

Wyoming was the first state to allow women to vote.

'Lincoln County Long Ago'

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Lincoln Independent, published at Lincoln, Lincoln County, New Mexico, every Friday, James Kibbes, Ed. and Pub.

Friday, Nov. 22, 1889
New Mexico Mines and Miners
A. Radcliffe was in town from Water Canon the first of the week showing a heavy ball of gold, in malgamate, taken out of 100 pounds of rock from the Oro Fine Mine with that home-made stamp mill of his. Mr. Radcliffe undoubtedly has a bonanza in this mine and he intends to hold on. — Socorro Advertiser.

Johnson Brown is exhibiting some very rich samples of silver from the Mingo claim at San Pedro.

Two furnaces at San Pedro started up and will run a few days to clean up all ore in the bins. After this is done the bins are to be enlarged, and in about twenty days the entire plant will be started up with a rush that will make San Pedro hum all winter.

The Silver Bell lead mine, thirty miles west of Tularosa, has been sold to New York people for $200,000.

Personal Personals
Sam Bithers came to town the other day and got so drunk he couldn't hit the ground with his hat. He's a hog.

Tom Norton, of the Fee-Jee ranch, got drunk last Saturday night and proved to everybody on the creek that he didn't have sense enough to blow hot soup. The attention of the community is called to the facts that Luke Gallagher is a midnight wood thief, and No. 6 shot just fits him.

When Major Krampton comes to town again and visits this office, he is hereby requested to bring his own cuspidore with him. Our office is sometimes not clean, but we don't run a hog pen or a sheep dip vat.

Joe Goodwell went down the river after ducks during the recent cold snap, and fell in the water. He was out late and when he got back the dome of his pants had frozen as hard as a board and he had to amputate himself from his clothes with an ice pick. Next time, Joe, you'd better take a bass-burner with you.

The Local Budget

Dr. Wm. S. Block has been here several times lately attending to patients and branding some of our people with the well known "block" brand. Said brand is generally placed on the upper left arm, and is considered necessary just now merely as a "precautionary measure."

Unkind slur at Lincoln in the White Oaks Leader: "Jas. R. Brent, against whom no man can truthfully say anything derogatory save that he is a Democrat and lives at Lincoln, was White Oaks' guest several days this week. While here he purchased from Weed the span of carriage horses formerly owned by Jno. McMurchy.

Personal Paragraphs

Charlie Wingfield was here from Ruidoso again last Saturday. But he didn't bring the election returns with him.

S. S. Terrell left for White Oaks Wednesday to attend the proceedings of the master in chancery in the case of DeLaney vs. Terrell.

Hon. Frank Lesnet got back from Cruces last Thursday, accompanied by Johnnie Lenton, who came to prove up on a desert land claim which he has taken up on the Rio Felix.

We Should Remark

That it's astonishing how some people can keep up such big fires on such diminutive wood piles.

That it's a wise man who knoweth his own wood pile. That people who monkey with the buzz saw should not kick if they get the worst of it.

That it's a wise turkey that knows what time of year to roost high.

There Was No Back Window, and the Knife was Sharp

On last Saturday night Genobeba Griego, who lives at Farmerville, one of the suburbs of our city, started from home in company with Samuel Farmer, a young neighbor, to attend a dance at another neighbor's house. But Mr. Farmer didn't care much about dancing and soon left, returning to Griego's house. Mrs. Griego had not gone to the dance either. Griego, not understanding why his friend had so soon left, concluded to return home also. But when he got there the door was locked, and his wife refused to open it. Griego concluded to go in anyway, so he forced the lock, and holding the door with one hand, he reached inside and grabbed a convenient butcher knife, which had just been sharpened that day for the purpose of killing hogs; then he struck a match. As the light flared up, young Farmer, who happened to be in the room, made a spring for Griego, and the two men clinched and fell to the floor, Farmer on top. Griego then commenced to get in his work with the sharp butcher knife, and stabbed Farmer twice. Farmer then broke away, ran out of the room, and tried to get into another house; this he failed to do, and Griego followed him and gave him another savage cut.

Farmer then escaped and Griego went to the Justice of the Peace, who, by the way, is his father-in-law, and gave himself up. Farmer has three pretty bad cuts, one in the back, one through his arm and one in the side. It was thought for a time that the latter wound would prove fatal, but at last accounts he seems to be doing well and gradually improving. On Monday Griego was brought before Justice Cordoba, (his father-in-law) for a preliminary trial. After a full examination of the case, the prisoner was discharged from custody, the Justice of the Peace doubtless thinking it a case of "justifiable homicide"—or something of that sort.

Eddy Echoes

From the Argus, Nov. 9th. We are building a brick town. Some canal outfits from Eddy have gone to the upper ditch.

Nothing has been heard from Hade Walling, the man who shot the Mexican last week.

Louis Horn, the butcher at Eddy's farm, died Thursday morning and was buried Friday. Two days before his death he was in apparently good health, but a sudden attack of rheumatism caused the lockjaw, and his decease followed speedily.

When Eddy people go to El Paso there is nothing too good for them. They are dined and wined and whiskied and beered and otherwise feted, and when they come home they look like the old time cattle king who used to go to Chicago to blow his wealth. Were an Eddy citizen esteemed as much at home as he is in El Paso, he would have one ceaseless round of dissipation without a cent of expense to himself.

We stop the press to announce another thing in favor of Eddy: On Tuesday night, at ten o'clock, a man pulled out a bottle of whiskey at the Eddy house and offered it in succession to six different men, and not one of them would touch it. This is proof sufficient that the efforts of the short-haired female temperance lecturer will never be needed in this town. Let us all rejoice with exceeding great joyce.

US ARMY
WHITE SANDS
MISSILE RANGE
NEW MEXICO 88002

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

Name of the Proposed Action

XM135 Binary Chemical Warhead Simulants

PROPOSED ACTION:

The Department of the Army proposes to conduct flight tests at White Sands Missile Range (WSMR), New Mexico, of the Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS) with a warhead having a payload of Binary Chemical Simulants. The Binary Chemical Warhead (BCW) concept utilizes two different types of agents which are contained in two separate compartments of the warhead section. The tactical BCW will not be tested at WSMR. All BCW testing at WSMR will use a nonlethal Acid Base Simulant (ABS) consisting of phosphoric acid and bromophenol blue in one compartment; and a mixture of piperidine, diethylamine and denatured 200 proof ethanol, in the other compartment. The two agents are mixed during flight by special design features of the system and at a predetermined point along the trajectory, the warhead section is cut open to release and disperse the mixed chemicals over the target.

The MLRS-BCW will be launched from two existing WSMR MLRS launch sites: BRILLO and Launch Complex (LC-33). Launches from LC-33 will utilize four existing impact areas along a flight corridor 25 km long. Launches from BRILLO will impact in the vicinity of Northeast (NE-50) and Minnow Sites within the 50-mile area of WSMR.

A total of 62 system tests are currently planned during the Validation Phase starting in July 1986 with completion anticipated by December 1989. The follow-on Maturation Phase will be developed on the basis of the test objectives addressed and achieved during the Validation Phase.

PURPOSE OF ACTION:

The purpose of the proposed action is to determine the ability of the MLRS to deliver a BCW to its intended target and to initiate the necessary sequence of events that must take place to mix and disperse the chemicals.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED:

1. Project location. Primary consideration was given to conduct the MLRS-BCW program using existing flight test corridors within WSMR that would not impact on the environmental setting of the White Sands pupfish (Cyprinodon ularosa), a State of New Mexico listed endangered species. All existing MLRS launch and impact sites were evaluated and the proposed site was found to be the one best suited to achieve all the program objectives and eliminate any significant threat to the White Sands pupfish.

2. Simulants. Two other simulants were considered but rejected by WSMR due to their toxic effects. The ABS was determined best suited to meet the program objectives while posing no significant impact on the environment.

3. No action. Not a viable alternative.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSEQUENCES: Potential environmental consequences are briefly summarized as follows:

1. Water Quality and Supply. Ground water in the proposed areas is nonpotable, highly saline, and is within a closed basin with no migration beyond the WSMR boundary. The proposed action will have no significant impact on WSMR water quality or supply.

2. Geology and Soils. No new construction will be required. Only existing sites will be used. Therefore, the proposed action will have no significant impact on geology and soils.

3. Air Quality. The operation of the MLRS-BCW will result in release of nonlethal, although hazardous, chemicals into the environment; they are mitigated by their relatively short duration (i.e., volatility), and small quantities used, or as in the case of the nonvolatile phosphoric acid being absorbed directly as a fertilizer. Furthermore, these materials will break down into simpler compounds that will dissipate rapidly.

4. Ecological Resources. Any potential impact on the environmental setting of the various species of wildlife and fish that make their habitat within the WSMR boundaries has been minimized and possibly eliminated by the selection of impacts and flight paths determined, by empirical data available, to present a safe separation distance from the environmental setting of these species. Specifically addressed are those potential impacts on the White Sands pupfish. Given the precautions taken in the setting up of this program, no significant impacts should occur.

5. Cultural Resources. The MLRS-BCW program will have no significant impact on cultural resources.

6. Socioeconomic Resources. The MLRS-BCW program will have no significant impact on the socioeconomic conditions of the surrounding areas.

CONCLUSION:

The proposed action will not significantly affect the environmental conditions that exist at WSMR. Any potential threat to the quality of the human environment will be circumvented by control measures inherent to missile testing at WSMR.

Based on the considerations contained herein and the foregoing conclusions, an Environmental Impact Statement is not required. This Finding of No Significant Impact is hereby submitted for the proposed action.

Point of Contact

Colonel Robert G. Ferrari, Director of Installation Support Directorate, is the responsible official for the proposed action at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico. An environmental assessment that discusses the impact of the proposed action has been completed and is available for public reading in the Environmental Offices located in Building 1749 on WSMR. All interested agencies, groups, and persons not in agreement with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Commander, WSMR, within 15 days of this notice. Address all correspondence in reference to this notice to:

POLICE BEAT

By P. E. CHAVEZ

March 26

10:25 a.m. Janie Spencer, owner of the Crossroads Motel, 102 N. Central Ave. called the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept. (LCS) to report that a subject had left without paying. Officer Richard Baker was dispatched to the motel where he learned that the subject had headed south on a Honda motorcycle with Oklahoma license plates. Baker looked around town with negative results. Spencer later spotted the subject at the Zozo Food Mart and requested her lodging fee which was promptly paid. She called police to advise them that the case could be closed.

March 27

6:45 p.m. Cheryl Sparks, H Ave., called LCS in reference to a wound on her son's leg believed to have been the result of a dog bite. Baker responded to the call and proceeded to track down the dog that had bitten the boy the previous day. Eventually the animal was traced to the James R. Askew residence where Baker was told that the dog belonged to Joseph Candelaria. The owner was advised to keep the dog under surveillance for 15 days. Baker reportedly asked Candelaria if the dog has been vaccinated for rabies.

March 29

7:35 p.m. Faye Garcia called LCS to report a disturbance. When Officer Adam Montez arrived at the rear of Jonnie's Outpost Bar, 415 Central, he observed two minors running from the area with a box. As a result of the call, Montez cited three juveniles with possession of alcohol. In addition one of the minors was also cited for possession of marijuana under one ounce. A fourth juvenile was to be cited for parties to a crime and parole violation. Evidence confiscated included one bong with residue; a case of Budweiser cans and an ice chest. (A bong is slang for drug paraphernalia.) The youths were referred to juvenile authorities.

March 31

8 a.m. Town clerk Carol Schlarb upon arriving for work found at the town hall door a cardboard box containing four newborn kittens. She turned the abandoned animals over to police clerk Rosemary Gallegos, who made every effort to find a surrogate mother cat for the kittens. who still had remains of umbilical cords still attached. Gallegos attempted to feed the weak kittens with an eye dropper. Unable to find a home for the orphaned kittens she turned them over to police who disposed of them.

12:55 p.m. Harold Garcia, owner of Jonnie's Outpost Bar, told Chief of Police C. A. Morales that beer had been stolen from his storage room in back of the building. Garcia told Morales that on March 29 at approximately 7:35 p.m. two minors had been seen running from the rear of the bar carrying beer. Police records state that the storage room door was open.

Old Lincoln Town

By ROSALIE DUNLAP
Tony and Maggie Leyla celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary March 23 at their home. Friends and neighbors enjoyed a dinner of roast turkey, and visiting.

Congratulations to Ron Becker for his award as Coach of the Year of the Class A division. The Beckers have also repainted their house a 'still' blue.

Edward Penfield is out in his yard working with his flowers. Everyone enjoy his yard so much in the summer. It is nice seeing him up and about after his illness.

Lincolntown is enjoying its new water system. John Weber and Mr. Burstellu of Santa Fe along with James Waide, the contractor of Roswell and water board members Maunida Perry, Edward Penfield, Ralph Dunlap, and Mathew Borowski inspected the new well and tank Wednesday and it was accepted.

Lincoln was a busy town over the Easter weekend. The town was so pretty with all the forsythia blooms at their peak.

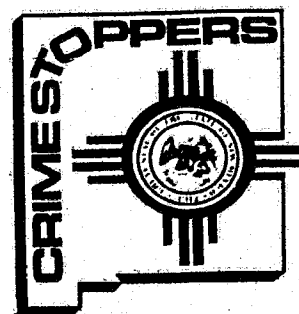

With tourist season starting on Monday night guest cook program came to an end last week, ending with a full house. The mystery dishwasher was Jack Russell a week ago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fremo, Capitan and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Sanchez of Glencoe are parents of baby boys.

The Jones Construction Company is moving right along with widening the road area at Double Crossing.

Our sympathies to Edith Stoneman on the death of her grandson in Roswell.

Also to the family of Polly Prichard, formerly of Ruidoso.
