

Pay off Carrizo Canyon road

The Lincoln County Commissioner appointed Kenneth Nosker to serve in the county's interest on water boards and for any water related interests. The appointment was made at the regular Sept. 30 meeting.

In other business, three roads were closed, one road was opened, the Capitan Senior Citizens building red-tagged by the building inspector was discussed and commissioners proclaimed Oct. 5-11 as 'National Employ the Handicapped Week.'

—Commissioners approved the transfer of ownership of dispenser liquor license No. 368 from Samuel A. Diaz, d/b/a The Smoke House, 202 N. Bayard Street, Central, Grant County to Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club, Inc., and the location from Grant County to Alto, Lincoln County. There was no public input at the public hearing concerning the transfer.

—The low bid of $34,812.39 was accepted from Fidelity for Worker's Compensation Insurance. The insurance covers all county employees from Oct. 22, 1986 to June 30, 1987, less than a year.

—Commissioners agreed to pay $16,821.28 to pave the county's portion of East Spring Avenue south along East Avenue to "D" Street in Ruidoso Downs. The agreement included the stipulation that after the street is paved it will be deeded to Ruidoso Downs. The estimated cost, which includes curbing and gutter, is $45.71 per linear foot.

—County road A-004 was closed, commencing at the second cattleguard on Anthony E. Treat property and continuing through Treat property to cattleguard commencing the Odell Carruthers property, approximately 3½ miles.

—County road A-006 and part of A-004 from Treat headquarters to end of A-004 was closed.

—County road B-037 (2.7 miles in length) was closed. Also 3.3 miles on County Road b-) B-035 to beginning of Flying "W" Ranch road.

—The road north of the White Sands Missile Range Road north to the I. V. Withers place, approximately 1.25 miles was opened.

The three road closings and one road opening were made according to the recommendations by the road review committee of Mack Bell, Leola Pflingsten and W. J. Rawlins.

—Agreement was signed with The Humane Society of Lincoln County for the county to pay $3,000 to assist in the construction of a building for the Humane Society facility. The Humane Society agreed for a period of one year from the date of completion of the facility to provide a properly trained executive Level I Director, a clean, well kept, easy access shelter, meeting the set standards of the American Humane Association, veterinary guidance and care for sheltered animals, spaying and neutering for the sheltered animals, educational programs for the public and schools and a place that the public can adopt from.

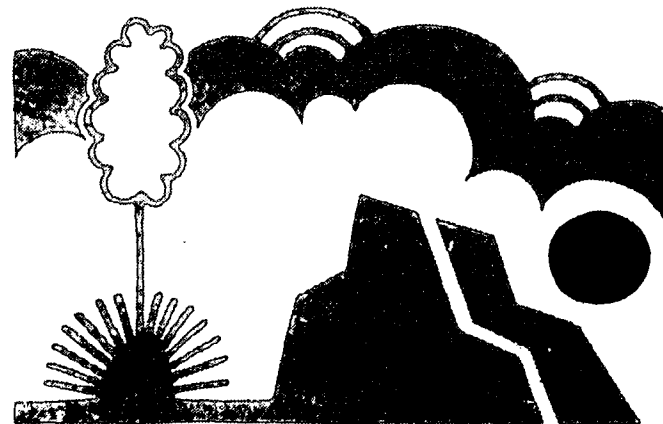

—The only proposal for two-way radio communication maintenance services was received from Radio Communications of Alamogordo. The contract of $972 a month was approved.

—A budget increase of $130,000 for a prior year bill to pay the Village of Ruidoso for work done on Carrizo Canyon Road (New Mexico State Highway Co-op agreement No. SP2-925) was approved. County Commission Chairman Bill Elliott said that a quit-claim deed for Carrizo Canyon will be sent to Ruidoso. The agreement made with Ruidoso on Sept. 16, 1985 was that Ruidoso would pay its share and then Ruidoso would accept the quit-claim deed for Carrizo Canyon Road.

—Walter Henn was appointed a member of the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee to replace Mr. Sterling Badger who has moved out of the county.

—The Senior Citizens building in Capitan was discussed. The building was red-tagged by the inspector because the wall studding was not adequate to support the addition being built on.

An additional $825 was needed by the center to repair the existing wall. The commissioners agreed to loan the center the $825 to continue the work.

FAA releases $2.5 million to SBAC

An additional $2.5 million has been received from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for construction of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, Sierra Blanca Airport Commissioners (SBAC) announced last week.

Tim Morris, Ruidoso's representative on the commission, told a special meeting of the Ruidoso Village Council last week that he and airport administrator Fred Heckman had secured the funds on Tuesday in Washington.

Most of the money comes from the FAA's Washington, DC, office and were funds that had not been expended for other projects in the fiscal year that ended on Tuesday.

"Heckman, Mayor (Lloyd) Davis and I were there most of the day waiting for the FAA to close out its books and see if we couldn't get some additional funding," Morris told the council on Wednesday.

The additional allocation brings the total funding for the airport to just under $5.85 million.

The FAA's Southwest regional office had already reformed the airport commission of a $2.5 million and $200,000 for fiscal 1986 and $200,000 for fiscal 1987. The state and local allocations for the two years total $584,989, Morris said.

Morris said that the additional funding still leaves the commission short of the $7.3 million to complete phase one and have an operational air field.

"It comes back to the funds from the existing airport," Morris said referring to the $2.6 million the village of Ruidoso must come up with if it wants to keep the 160-acre airport site.

"Once we get these monies, then more federal funding should follow," Morris concluded.

He said the SBAC should be ready to let bids for site preparation including earthwork, opening of ditches, and drainage work by Oct. 15.

Morris added that the additional monies make him optimistic that a functional airport could be ready by November 1987.

Heckman made a presentation to the council on the agreement which would allow the commission to borrow the value of the existing airport land from the Farmer's Home Administration (FmHA) for the village of Ruidoso.

The three-page agreement must be ratified by the villages of Ruidoso Downs, Capitan, the county and the Mescalero Apache tribe.

"It just approves that particular borrowing," Heckman said. "It (the agreement) is just a piece of housekeeping that helps us move forward so some idiot lawyer can't stop us later with questions."

Heckman said that the SBAC might also have to look at placing the land up as collateral for the loan because of the December referendum on the .5 percent sales tax increase the village is hoping to use for repayment.

Mayor Davis questioned Heckman as to the interest rate the village might be able to get on the loan. Heckman said that 6 1/8 percent would probably be the highest, but that the SBAC would negotiate the rate.

Davis said he had told FAA officials that the village would give them the money from the land receipts tax or sell the ground. "They want that money," he said.

WEEDS IN CARRIZOZO and an ordinance that requires weeds in town to be cut will be discussed at the Carrizozo town council meeting on Oct. 14 at 6 p.m. The proposed ordinance could limit the height of weeds allowed and include fines for not cutting weeds. Another possibility would be the town placing a lien on the property if the town has to pay to have the weeds cut. Interested persons should attend the meeting on Tuesday to voice their opinions.

C'zozo to apply for water grant

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees held a special meeting Tuesday to discuss applying for a 'Water Supply Construction Grant.' Grant money may be used for drilling wells, pressure valves, water line replacement, etc.

The deadline for applying for the grant is Nov. 3. A hearing will be held for public input on Oct. 14 at 6 p.m. at city hall in Carrizozo.

Mayor Bob Hemphill urged residents to attend the meeting to voice their opinions on what the town should include in its application for the grant.

Carrizozo will be eligible to apply for $200,000. If Carrizozo should receive a grant, matching funds of 25 percent will be required. These may come from money the town has or a future bond issue.

All applications will go before the state legislature in January.

Possible things to be included in the grant applications are (in no particular order): replacing a water storage tank that is more than 20 years old, construction of a new water treatment facility, pressure equalization (this would provide pressure on the higher side of town), new water lines from the wells to the storage tank, new water lines under the streets to be paved in the two new street paving projects and auto resets on the wells (lightning protectors.)

Claunch phones in possible future

Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone Cooperative and Mountain Bell are currently negotiating for release of the Claunch service area. The release could possibly clear the way for ENMR to extend phone service into that rural locale.

According to Robert Harris, ENMR Telephone General manager, no specific service area has yet been defined; when those boundaries are defined, the State Corporation Commission must approve them. David Duran of Mountain Bell's public relations department in Albuquerque concurred. "We are just having discussions at this time," he said. "It will rely very much on their (ENMR's) willingness to do it," he added, and time and cost considerations will weigh heavily in that decision. In Duran's opinion, it would be more practical for ENMR to serve the area because of the structure of a cooperative (as contrasted to the corporate structure of Mountain Bell). He added that Mountain Bell has no plans to extend service into the Claunch area.

Claunch residents saw phone service extended to nearby ranches last June by when ENMR completed a two-year $3.7 million project which expanded the co-op area to make it one of the largest in the country.

Bowl for Breath to help CF

Bowlers of all ages in Carrizozo are joining the team for Cystic Fibrosis by participating in the 1986 Bowl For Breath at the Carrizozo Recreation Center. Center Reyes/Hector Nava invite everyone to enter this fun and exciting event Nov. 7-16. Bowlers can win prizes ranging from T-shirts to VCRs, to a trip for two to Las Vegas Flamingo Hotel.

Gary Skidmore, nationally known professional bowler and resident of New Mexico, is the National Chairman of the 1986 Bowl For Breath and he urges everyone to join in the fight against cystic fibrosis. CF is America's number one genetic killer of children — taking more children's lives than muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and juvenile diabetes combined. Every five hours, a child is born with CF, and every eight hours, someone with cystic fibrosis dies. Approximately 30,000 people in the United States have cystic fibrosis. CF attacks the lungs and digestive systems of its victims, literally suffocating them. Over the years aggressive research is helping to improve and prolong the life of the CF child. At present, 50 percent of the children with cystic fibrosis will live in to their 20s... and 50 percent will die before they reach 21. There is no cure, so far.

It's easy to enter the Bowl

For Breath. Bowlers get sponsorship for the Carrizozo Recreation Center, then ask friends to sponsor them for 2 cents a pin. After three games bowled during the Bowl For Breath week, pledges are collected and sent to the Cystic Fibrosis Chapter in Albuquerque to be eligible for prizes.

Hundreds of New Mexicans will join thousands of other bowlers across the United States with special Bowl For Breath events at bowling centers nationwide. For more information, contact Valentine Reyes/Hector Nava.

Water group formed

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Residents from Ruidoso, Roswell, Ruidoso Downs, Hondo and Lincoln were out in force again on Sunday as they met to form a committee to fight water rights claims made by the Mescalero Apaches.

The meeting formalized the farmer's and rancher's organization and is called the Rio Hondo-Pecos Water Association.

The association will work to raise money to hire attorneys and expert witnesses to present their case in federal district court in Roswell in November and when the case comes to trial as early as March 1987.

"We need warm bodies so the judge and everyone knows that we are concerned about this thing," said Calvin Wesch referring to the Mescalero's claims that could take up to 91 percent of the summer flow from the Rio Ruidoso.

Appointed to an executive committee and accepted by acclamation by the more than 100 audience members were LaVerne Cole, Leonard McCutcheon, Ken Nosker, Gabriel Sanchez, Peter Hurd, Lloyd Davis Jr., Phelps Anderson, Phelps White, Tommy Perceet and William "Dub" Williams. Wesch said the committee members would guide the work of the water users association and try to contact an attorney to work on behalf of the group.

"You are all important though," Wesch said. "You all have to put your best foot forward."

Hurd, the artist and San Patricio resident who brought the Mescalero claims to the attention of many residents when he asked the State Engineer's office to make a presentation on the case, said the association will try to raise $125,000 and is approaching village governments, Roswell and individuals for the money. Wesch said the committee had talked to Roswell attorney Doug Perrin about helping with the case, but no formal offer had yet been made to Perrin.

After the committee names were presented to the audience several alternates were suggested by audience members. Executive committee alternates suggested were Gayle Thompkins, Ted Pflingsten and Kirby Culp.

These people as well as Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr. and Phelps White will be asked to serve on the executive committee. Wesch said Davis and White were the only ones who he presented who had not been contacted before the meeting.

Water users from the Rio Bonito were excluded from the committee because Hurd said there were too many "opposing factors in that area."

Following the meeting several audience members said they felt it was wrong to exclude the Bonito people.

WEEK BEHIND

This week I learned that last week was American Newspaper Week, which celebrated the anniversary of the first American newspaper, "Publick Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestick", published in Boston on Sept. 25, 1689.

Separate days of American Newspaper Week were designated as American Newspaper Carriers' Day; Printers' Day; Readers' Day and American Freedom of the Press Day.

It was a busy week. Last week was also Banned Books Week, to bring attention to the importance of freedom to read.

Did you know that last week's celebrations included Dried Fig Week? National Singles Week? National Good Neighbor Day helped to increase appreciation and understanding of our fellow man.

FIRST AMERICAN NEWSPAPER

But back to the first American newspaper.

The first newspaper published in the American colonies 'Publick Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestick', was issued in Boston in 1689 by Benjamin Harris, who had already been in trouble for bold publishing in England.

His Boston paper was suppressed after the first issue. After that no paper was attempted until John Campbell began his 'Boston News-Letter' in 1704. After that, other papers were attempted in Boston. One was the 'New England Courant', begun in 1721 by James Franklin, who employed his brother Benjamin in his shop.

PENNY PAPERS

In the early 1800s, the newspapers were chiefly political in both news and editorials and sold for six cents. This put them out of reach of the poorer classes of people.

When the penny papers were started in the 1830s, American had its first genuinely popular journalism. The first successful penny paper was the 'New York Sun', founded in 1833 by Benjamin H. Day. It was lively, gave more attention to news than politics. After the Civil War, the Sun came under the control of Charles A. Dana, a believer in independent journalism.

In 1835, James Gordon Bennett founded the 'New York Herald', which came to be considered by many people as the great representative American paper. In spite of his sensationalism, Bennett originated many new journalism techniques, and is regarded as one of the greatest of American editors.

REcuperATING

Carrizozo 8th grader Rebel Sandoval is recuperating in Albuquerque after bone surgery at Presbyterian Hospital. He will spend four weeks with his sister and family (Terry, Billy and their son Matthew) in Albuquerque.

Rebel, whose football season at Carrizozo was interrupted, has a tutor to help him with his school studies.

MALE MODELS

Modeling is the art of posing before a photographer or a painter as the subject of a picture, or before an audience in order to display new fashions.

Among Sunday's models at a local fashion show were four Carrizozo high school students, Tim Baum, Danny Cullley, Robert Guevara and Pete Narvaez. An important part of the fashion industry is the fashion show, where designers and manufacturers introduce their new styles.

The young men learned that modeling can be difficult and tiring work but fun. Modeling requires gracefulness and flexibility and is a stepping stone to other interesting fields like acting on stage and television. Some rock musicians and singers are former models and vice versa.

ANNUAL STAFF

Carrizozo Annual Staff and their advisor Joan Holborn were in charge of the fashion show which featured clothing from Bealls, The Cottage, Robins' Tuxedos and Squash Blossom all of Alamogordo.

Other annual staff members modeling clothes were Kristi Askew, Karen Baroz, Becky Silva, Judy Vega and Luanna Zamora and included Holborn. Patty Saucedo assisted with hairstyles on the girls models. Peggy Najar and Nancy LaFayette were in charge of make-up.

ANOTHER AWARD

Rita's Creative Hairstyles has another award at her shop. A 2nd place trophy was received by Rita for her entry in the Ladies Masters Competition, part of the activities at the 40th annual trade show. The event was held at the Holiday Inn de Las Cruces this past weekend.

Gisele Duncan served as Rita's model for the artistic two-phase contest which included two comb outs, day and evening.

Rita, member of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association (NHCA) is a member of the Lincoln-Otero Affiliate No. 12.

The October trade show included nail, make-up and mens creative cutting and styling demonstrations. Several guest artists made presentations. Professionals of the hairdressing and cosmetology field found the technical advise at the trade show to be invaluable help in keeping up with the latest innovations of the hair fashion industry.

Cost overrun

Plagues Dam project

Ruidoso Village Councilors again balked at paying added engineering fees only this time it was $174,000 for work done on the cost overrun plagued Grinstone Canyon Dam project.

Fred Burns, representing Boyle Engineering, said the money was due Sergeant, Hauskins and Beckwith, a geology consultant used on the dam to do inspection and material testing.

"We've paid them $82,000, but they have run outside the budget substantially for the additional testing and geotechnical work they did during the construction phase," Burns told the council at their meeting Tuesday night.

In response to a question from Councilor Dub Holt as to who authorized the work, Burns responded, "No one."

"This is like a pregnancy where we're trying to find out who the papa is," Holt said adding that he thought the village had spent over $1 million in engineering costs already.

Regardless of the cost, Burns said, the village had derived a benefit from the services the consultants performed.

Noting that if the geologists sued to recover the money, the village would be included in the suit, village attorney John Underwood asked that he, Burns and village manager Jim Hine be allowed to negotiate with the firm on a settlement.

"If we received some benefit, then we should pay them something," Underwood said.

"The council did authorize the negotiation, but instructed Underwood to report back before any deal were struck.

Following the discussion, Burns told the Lincoln County News that engineering costs for the dam were well under $1 million.

He said the design work had totaled about $296,000 and the administration and engineering during construction about $257,000.

He admitted the additional $174,000 represented a substantial amount of money when compared to the total. "Yes, it is a big chunk," Burns said refusing to answer any other questions about the geological work.

Before discussing the cost overrun, Burns told the council that the dam would be completed within two weeks. All that was lacking was a little earth work and clean up, he said.

Burns told the council that Boyle Engineering would like to donate a plaque and participate in a dedication ceremony when the dam is filled in November.

Originally Burns had been asked to Tuesday nights meeting to present a report on the council's request that additional outlets valves be added to the dam.

Burns said he didn't recommend the valves that would have cost an additional $100,000 to install.

"Frankly, I'm sort of shocked that (the valves) weren't a part of it in the first place," said Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr.

Burns said that the valves, which would help prevent bad tasting water during inversions, were originally included, but were later cut to save money.

"The ability to discriminate between that which is true and that which is false is one of the last attainments of the human mind." — J. Fenimore Cooper

● THERE is media sound and fury over the Reagan Administration's alleged use of "disinformation" to undermine the stability of Col. Gadhafi's Libyan government. Disinformation is the planting of false or inaccurate propaganda to disconcert and destabilize a political regime, thus hastening overthrow of the regime. In this case, Reagan is charged with planting propaganda that would lead Gadhafi and the people of Libya to believe that the United States is planning military operations against the Libyan dictator. The charge may or may not be true. If true, so what? Disinformation tactics are as old as mankind. Throughout history disinformation has been an accepted tool of politics, diplomacy and warfare. Every nation (and probably every person) on earth is, or has been practicing the art of disinformation as a matter of policy.

● FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt was a master of disinformation. For example, he used the media to convince the American people that as long as he was president their sons would not be sent to war. At the same time, he was secretly engaged in deceptions to bring the US into war against Hitler Germany at a time when the American people were adamantly in favor of neutrality. And at the same time, he was personally engaged in forcing the Japanese into attacking Pearl Harbor. Not even Prince Machiavelli, a master of political deception, could hold a candle to the likes of FDR, who personally engineered the Russian takeover of half of Europe at the end of World War II, thereby setting the stage for World War III.

● DID the alleged "reverend" Jesse Jackson practice disinformation when he claimed, falsely, to have held Martin Luther King Jr. in his arms following the assassination, thus claiming King's leadership of the civil rights movement? Has the mayor of Carrizozo practiced disinformation by concealing crime news in order to attract investors, curry political support from friends and relatives of lawbreakers, and set the stage for his election to the New Mexico Legislature—by virtue of an "outstanding" record that does not exist? Did not the campaign promises of Gov. Toney Anaya, none of which have come to pass, constitute a policy of disinformation that successfully worked to elect him to office? Is it disinformation when a man tells his wife he was out of town on business when, in fact, he was shackled up with his mistress at a motel?

● DISINFORMATION, which can also be described as a policy of lies, deceptions and falsity, are responsible for Allied victory in World War II. At the beginning of that war a meeting was held in Westminster, England. A plaque at the meeting place bore the words of Sir Garnet Wolseley, a former commander-in-chief of the British army, who wrote in "The Soldier's Handbook" in 1869:

● "WE are bred up to feel it a disgrace ever to succeed by falsehood. . . we will keep hammering along with the conviction that honesty is the best policy, and that truth always wins in the long run. These pretty little sentiments do well for a child's copy book, but a man who acts on them had better sheathe his sword forever."

● TO which Winston Churchill added at the Teheran Conference this classic epigram: "In war-time, truth is so precious that she should always be attended by a bodyguard of lies." These are war-times, even though the shooting has hardly begun.

● TRUTH is the end of all, and often painfully arrived at. It has taken us more than four decades to begin unraveling the tissue of lies that won that war. It may take another hundred years to discover the ultimate truth that was achieved by lies, deception—and disinformation.

● MY judgment is that every person, government agency, political entity and corporation practices disinformation—because it works. If Moammar Gadhafi had been deposed by Reagan's disinformation, the world would have been better off and Reagan would have been an international hero instead of a punching bag for a special breed of disinformationists—journalists.

● NEXT week's column will deal with how the media practices its own brand of disinformation, in just one specific case, that of Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, who came under fire for telling a truth which he was forced to recant in favor of a more palatable and publicly acceptable falsehood.

Watch Over WASHINGTON

Les Kinsolving

WASHINGTON — Three United States Senators — including Chairman Barry Goldwater of the Subcommittee on Communications — have joined 57 members of the House of Representatives in asking for an investigation of the tax-subsidized Public Broadcasting System.

In a letter to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting — which receives three million taxpayers' dollars every week — Arizona Senator Goldwater, along with Senators Nancy Landon Kassebaum of Kansas and Paul Trible of Virginia, all Republicans, asked the Corporation to "take swift action, because the reputation of public broadcasting is at stake."

The Senators' letter asks for a prompt independent study "to determine whether Public Broadcasting programming policies have effectively created a forum for propaganda for one side or the other of the political spectrum."

Senator Goldwater's subcommittee oversees Public Broadcasting. He and his colleagues in the Senate and House took action after WETA-TV, a public broadcasting station in northern Virginia, produced a $3.5 million anti-American pro-Ghadafi series called "The Africans," which is scheduled for airing from October 7 to December 2.

Funding for this series was provided by PBS, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, publisher Walter Annenberg (a close friend of President Reagan) and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

National Endowment Chairman Lynne Cheney, wife of Congressman Richard Cheney (R-WY), charged that WETA violated its grant agreement with the Endowment by producing a "ludicrous" one-sided attack on the West. Cheney also deplored one of the series' segments which salutes Libya's Muammar Gadhafi.

The series is narrated by a University of Michigan professor from Africa named Ali Al'Amin Mazrui, who is the sole commentator, and who blames the West for a wide assortment of African evils — including the US manufacture of guns which Liberians use in a massacre of their governmental leaders.

Ward Chamberlain, WETA's president, defends the series as "provocative and unique." But L. Brent Bozell of the National Conservative Foundation has called on the National Endowment for the Humanities to force WETA to refund the entire $615,000 grant, whose terms were violated.

Regarding the grant made by the National Endowment for the Humanities, Chairman Cheney says: "I've given serious consideration to whether we ought to seek a return of our funds but have decided that's not the most responsible course of action. I'd be hiring lawyers paid for by the taxpayers to try to get taxpayer money back from an organization that would probably use taxpayer money to hire its own lawyers."

Can you IMAGINE the furor in the Big Media if it were discovered that any defense contractor had so violated the terms of a defense contract as Mrs. Cheney charges that Public Broadcasting has violated its contract?

How would Big Media react to, say, Secretary of the Navy John Lehman issuing a statement that while it is true that a defense contractor violated the contract and did not produce what was called for, nevertheless it is just too much trouble to take any action to recover the $615,000 of the taxpayers' dollars?

Do the citizens of Wyoming — who elected Mrs. Cheney's husband to the only Wyoming seat in the House of Representatives — not care very much about Mrs. Cheney's nonchalant abandonment of more than half a million taxpayer dollars?

Meanwhile, Public Broadcasting, after years of producing one far-left or pro-Soviet feature after another, is apparently feeling the national heat. For Public Broadcasting offered its 313 TV affiliates a special edition of William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" — a two-hour telecast on September 24 of the prize-winning film, "Harvest of Despair." This film, jointly sponsored by Harvard University's Ukrainian Institute and the Canadian Film Board, is a massively documented description of the Soviet government's deliberate starvation of between five and 10 million Ukrainians in 1932 and 1933.

Reports of this genocide brutality were repeatedly denied by The New York Times Moscow correspondent Walter Duranty, who was awarded both the Pulitzer and Lenin

Winning Ways With Wine

An increasing number of Americans are saying "Si" to wines from Italy. To determine the best Italian wine for your next occasion, remember:

White wines such as Pinot Grigio, Frascati, Gavi and Verdicchio are generally light and usually accompany fish and white meats, such as poultry. Red wines such as Valpolicella, Chianti and Barolo are stronger and served with red meats.

Remember to serve the Italian whites chilled and the reds at cool room temperature. Serve each in glasses large enough to let the wine's full bouquet and flavor develop. Taste the wine carefully; notice its color, its scent, its flavor, and the pleasant, lingering taste it leaves behind when you swallow it.

Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — They work so hard to get the job, and then they don't know what to do with it.

That, unfortunately, has often been the history of New Mexico's governors. They wear themselves out campaigning, demonstrating high degrees of skill as candidates that, in the last analysis, have nothing at all to do with functioning as the state's chief executive. As often as not, they probably get chosen for all the wrong reasons, rather than the right ones.

FATIGUE: They also come off that vigorous and enervating experience called campaigning physically and psychically spent. That's understandable, and it would be acceptable as well, except for the fact that the winner has to put together a government within less than 60 days after the election is over.

This year, whichever man wins will be starting from absolutely no previous experience—hence from scratch. No matter what they may boast about in their past lives, in which each claims to have been something of a leader of men, neither of these guys has ever worked inside the real state government—that is, at least not in a full-time, on-the-payroll capacity. It's hard to see how any amount of experience in a university, at the federal level or in a great weapons lab can really be equal to that.

To put it crudely, during the first few months of 1987, it's going to be Amateur Night on the fourth floor of our state capital.

CLEAR-HEADEDNESS: What's bad about that is that this year, more than ever before in recent memory, we need the man who has to make most of the decisions to make them both rapidly and well. We can hardly spare the time for any on-the-job training for the chief executive who has to face

New Mexico's current set of basic problems.

There is a fear here that the "veterans," in both state government and the Legislature, may take advantage of this newcomer in ways he will live to regret.

The main reason this column, and a very few other citizens around the state, have been asking for more than the ordinary amount of detailed material from these two candidates during the campaign is that they just won't have time to make up a program after they get elected. Unless they have been doing an extraordinary amount of long-term planning even as they campaigned—and there is no evidence to suggest either has—they are going to start, not from ground zero on January 1, but from a pit they will have to make their way up out of.

THE PLAN: Garrey Carruthers, of course, had very little motive for giving us any details that would have put us off him while he has been asking for our vote. His play was just to keep all Republicans on his side and count on the disgust generated in Democrats and independents to drive enough of them into the polling place to vote for him.

Ray Powell might have been expected to take more of the role of the man on the pro, but he appears to have been too occupied with building and rebuilding his campaign organization.

As a consequence, we haven't gotten much feel of what either of these men will be up to if he chooses him.

In either case, about the main reason to single out one over the other appears to be some sort of act of faith. It would be much better if we didn't have to fire blind.

Jeff Bingaman Washington Letter

Juan Romero's Problem

Juan Romero wants to work, but there's a problem.

A friend told him about a job opening downtown, but Juan's native tongue is Spanish, and English doesn't come that easy to him. He probably wouldn't get the job because — he can't read the job application.

Juan isn't blind, dyslexic, or mentally incapable. It's just that he can't read English.

Juan Romero is a hypothetical case, but he has many real-life counterparts, and his story could just as easily be told about a John Smith, a Chin Lee or a Marvin Begay. They share a common disadvantage: illiteracy. Twenty-one million Americans share it.

Americans whose native tongue is not English are hit harder by the problem of illiteracy than any other part of our population. While 13 percent of U.S. adults are estimated to be functionally illiterate, between 41 and 54 percent of American adults whose native tongue is not English don't know how to read or write the language.

Like the present drug epidemic, this is a problem we simply cannot ignore. We cannot afford as a nation for large segments of our population to be unable to read and write.

A trained workforce depends upon having a literate population. Corporations can't easily train employees to use new equipment if they are illiterate, if they can't read manuals, if they can't read instructions, if they can't learn to adapt to the new technologies now dominating the workplace.

Despite the serious repercussions, it is apparent by looking at the alarming statistics of illiteracy in our state and in our country that this problem is not being adequately addressed. In

New Mexico one person in five is functionally illiterate — and if you are Hispanic or Indian the ratios are higher still.

In an effort to attack this national malady, I recently introduced the English Proficiency Act. It would combat the problem by calling for more effective use of existing resources within the Department of Education to lower the high illiteracy levels among adults of limited English proficiency. It would also establish a clearinghouse to gather and disseminate information about effective ways of teaching English to these Americans.

Fighting illiteracy is not without a price, but its cost is far lower than the cost of ignorance. The English Proficiency Act would earmark up to $10 million a year in grants to community-based organizations — far less than we are now paying for the child welfare costs, unemployment compensation, high crime, and poverty caused by illiteracy.

Aside from these real dollar costs, there are unquantifiable economic, social, and personal costs. It is a problem that keeps millions from exercising their civic rights. It is a problem that cripples the productivity of the national workforce. And, perhaps most sadly, it is a problem that is often passed down to the next generation. Parents with limited English proficiency tend not to be fully involved in their children's education — are often unable to be — increasing the risk of low educational attainment and high dropout rates.

It is my hope that the Congress will address this issue with the intensity it deserves. It is a problem that not only affects Juan, John, Chin, and Marvin, but all of us.

Heart attack victim

Prompt action saves life

It began as a fairly routine September Saturday for Billy Knox. He got up about 6 and went into shower as he prepared to go to Win, Place and Show, the Ruidoso liquor store where he works.

Turning on the water in the bathtub and adjusting the shower spray is the last thing Knox remembers about Sept. 13. Soon after, he suffered a heart attack and lost consciousness.

Sandy Knox was asleep in the bedroom of the couple's Wingfield Street home and she does recall hearing her husband fall.

"I was sound asleep, so it's really a miracle that I heard him and woke up," she said.

Entering the bathroom she saw her husband lying face down in the tub. "His face was in the water because the tub doesn't drain that well, but he was still gasping for air."

Mrs. Knox was able to raise his head above the water as she called her 13-year-old daughter, Nikki for help.

Nikki phoned the police and in a matter of minutes officer James McBride followed by officers Dave Perkins and Evelyn McKinney were at the Knox home to administer CPR.

The officers administered the first aid techniques that "probably saved his life," said Knox's doctor, James Hopper.

"If it hadn't been for them he probably wouldn't be here talking to you today," said Hopper last Thursday.

Tim Simmerman, one of the emergency medical technicians (EMTs) who attended Knox, said that without the Advanced Cardiac Life Support system used by the paramedics saving Knox would probably have been impossible.

Knox's story was very fitting for EMT Week, which was designated Sept. 20-27 to increase the awareness of the importance of emergency medical attention.

"The officers got my heart going again, but they lost me three times at home before they got me stabilized," Knox said.

Paramedics used electrically charged paddles to "jump start" Knox's heart before moving him to the emergency room at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

"It only takes four minutes of the heart not beating regularly to cause permanent brain damage," Simmerman said. "Without the cardiac equipment it would have been next to impossible to get his heart going again that quickly."

Knox spent six days in the intensive care unit as doctors Hopper and Lance Kirkegaard closely monitored his progress.

Knox was scheduled to be released from the hospital on Friday, but will be under the care of a nurse for the next two weeks. He will have to have heart medication administered intravenously twice a day.

Hopper said that it is recommended that families get CPR training if one member of the family has heart problems.

"Forty to 60 percent of the people who get basic CPR immediately survive," Hopper said. "It's those first minutes that are the most important."

Sandy Knox said she and her husband had discussed taking CPR training several times since Knox's first attack in 1973.

"In this case, it wouldn't have helped because of the position he was in when he fell," Mrs. Knox said.

Knox was very complimentary to all those who attended him—the police officers, the paramedics, the doctors and the nurses.

"Even the food here was good," Knox said.

He will have to take it a little slower than usual while he is recovering, but he said he would like to remain active in community affairs, especially the Ruidoso Little Theatre.

"I'll go back to work as soon as they say I'm ready," said Knox, who played Victor Velasco in the Little Theatre's recent production of "Barefoot in the Park."

ON MY OWN

By Pat Kite

My neighbor, who would otherwise be a wonderful person, is an awful person because he mops his garage floor after his wife scrubs it.

This contrast with my own housekeeping methods got so aggravating that when giving a baby shower for a friend, I decided not to do the usual "count the ribbons and see how many kids you'll have" routine. Instead I instituted a "game" called "Who was the most thorough home cleaning person you ever met in your life and why?" Each person wrote down her candidate for "Ms. UltraScrub" on a separate unsigned piece of paper. These were collected, read aloud, and then voted upon. The person who came up with the best candidate won a prize.

You might think of your own "Ms. UltraScrub" before you read the following list, just to see if you can beat it:

(1) cleaned the bottom of the kitty food tray.

(2) cleaned tops of books on bookshelf.

(3) cleaned top of refrigerator.

(4) cleaned under the kitchen table.

(5) cleaned inside the grooves of the bathroom window.

(6) cleaned inside the furnace closet.

(7) cleaned between the sofa cushion.

(8) cleans door knobs.

(9) spends regular afternoons cleaning the gunk out of Tupperware lid creases.

(10) hourly polishing of chrome on bathroom faucets to prevent water spots.

(11) with four people in the family, rinsed down shower and floor after each use so moisture spots didn't mark the tile.

(12) bleached patio once a week.

(13) cleaned behind the refrigerator.

(14) cleaned the floor molding corners with Q-tips.

(15) If bedspread falls on the floor, she washes it immediately.

(16) Dishes being fully washed before being put in dishwasher. (two women mentioned this, one adding that her "Ms. UltraScrub" also washed them when they came out of the dishwasher.)

(17) Taking cups away from people to wash them before people have finished drinking whatever is in cup.

(18) Cleaning a basement using Q-tips for the corners.

(19) The woman who sweeps her dirt-packed front lawn space daily. (my suggestion)

(20) Cleaning the curl-ques of wrought-iron banisters, miniblinds, chandelier, plant leaves, tops of picture frames hanging on the wall.

(21) cleans under piano, baseboard corners, behind headboards of large, large beds, vent above stove.

(22) cleans off dirt on her pet's feet, dirt in the flower pot, cleans her garbage pail, heating vents, gunk inside her toilet tanks and cleans used Brillo pads.

After we collected and began reading our "Ms. UltraScrub" nomination aloud, ever so often one of the party guests would be heard to mumble, "But that's not so strange, I do that..." I even mumbled it once myself.

But you want to know the prize winner? Here it is, just as the party goer wrote it:

"My mother once told me about a sick friend confined to bed who was more worried about the dust accumulating on her bed spring coils than she was about her illness."

The nominator's award was two new washcloths, and if you haven't done your bed spring coils in a while, remember, somebody out there cares.

was given several free. Now that's New Mexico hospitality!

The history of our state can be told in the story of its rivers. A new chapter in that story opened Sunday evening at the public meeting attended by area residents and water rights owners. They formed the Ruidoso Hondo Pecos Water Association and a meeting was scheduled later this month of the regional committee that will plan the group's strategy. Contributions are encouraged from all persons concerned about the future of the local rivers. From Ruidoso to Roswell, including the neighboring Bonita Valley, anyone able to donate time or resources is asked to call one of these people: Gabriel Sanchez at 653-4461; Calvin Wesch at 376-4736; Peg Pfingsten at 653-4362; or Michael Hurd at 653-4331.

As the neblina (fog) veiled the valley and hid the hills, we warmed up the fireplace after its summer reprieve. The first fire of the year reminds us of the earth's ability to provide the warmth when life grows cold. It is almost a sacramental act, watching the flames and welcoming the memories they invoke.

The toucan's bill is larger than its body.

DONATES MONEY—Tom Kent, owner/operator of Cochera Restaurant in Ruidoso, has donated the coins from the wishing well to the Capitan Zia Senior Citizens. Shown enjoying a delicious dinner are, (l-r) Floyd Danielson, Linda Padilla, Virginia Danielson, Mr. Kent, Frank Miller, Naimi Miller and Lois Aldrich.

Last week the North Homestake struck at its lower level, 640 feet deep, richer free milling gold than that rich property ever before produced. This is encouraging, and carries out the theory that the deeper Baxter Mountain is plerced the richer the gold output.

Messers Ulrick and Grumbles have completed their contract with J.W. Nobouins in opening out water for his ranch and garden about 11 miles from town, and both of those gentlemen are now taking a much needed rest.

There are whisperings of a new deal at Parsons City in the near future. The matter has not yet shaped itself sufficient to be in a presentable condition before the public—only kapeyer eye out Mary, and ye'll see the evidence of progress beyond doubt in this deserving camp.

Messers Huber and Cornsbruch of Bonito City, opened up in more than one instance, excellent ore in doing the assessment work on their claims on the Bonito. The ore runs well in silver and lead, and is very desirable for fluxing purposes and in good demand by the smelters. A little more vim in opening such properties in this section would well and richly repay the proprietors for there is ample market near by with remunerative prices.

Our pioneer prospector, Jno. E. Wilson, who was one of the first owners and the first to develop the South Homestake Mine of this town, now well known both in this Territory and the East, one of the two gold mines now being constantly worked here, has at last found in his property east of the South Homestake, a valuable body of fine, rich gold ore that bids fair to equal and possible rival any hitherto found in this locality. He has been prospecting for months and the beautiful specimens bro't to town this week, literally blazing with fine gold, tells the story to the satisfaction of all, and sho'd the extent of the ore body be found after more development to contain as it now bids fair to, this will be the richest strike in this locality for many months. The character of the quartz is crystallized and fine grained, more like that of California quartz than is usually found in this section. The country rock is lime, iron and porphyry, or metamorphosed rock and the lead is a fissure, well defined. Mr. Wilson is now well advanced in years and this property, should it prove as valuable as it now promises, will, added to what he already has, make him comfortable and independent of attacks of poverty the balance of his life, and will add to the wealth of town and country.—Mr. W. and the community are to be congratulated on the prospects for the immediate future of this locality. No estimate of the value of this ore body can be safely made at this writing, but as the work progresses the readers of the Leader will be informed, as they have a right to be, of the facts.

Last week a charter was filed with the Territorial Treasurer for the White Oaks Mining and Milling Company. Capital stock, $20,000. Principal place of business, St. Louis, Mo. Names of directors, Thos. Howard, Erastus Wells, Edwin Schuster, Thos. J. Scott, Rolla Wells. Object—Milling, smelting, reducing, crushing, and refining ore and minerals and buying, selling, leading, handling and operating mining property.

Local Roundups
Saturday, April 25, 1890
Col. Heman returned home on Friday morning, too late to be interviewed. We learn, however, that he expresses confidence that dirt will fly on our railroad in 30 days.

Peter Reid and Ed. Kelley returned to town on Friday of last week from a brief visit to Parsons City. They report the city of great expectations as calmly waiting for something to turn up.

Weed set a good example the other day. He raked and swept up all the street rubbish in front of his store. Everyone on the Avenue took the cue and followed suit, and now White Oaks Avenue is as clean and inviting as any boulevard.

Huber, Cornsbruch & Co., are reported as having struck a very promising body of natural silver on the Bonito, and the probabilities are that new life will be infused in this camp through this new find.

The South Homestake Mill shut down last week after a satisfactory run of several weeks, for a clean-up and repairs. The mine is being thoroughly prospected at present, and we may look for a good report from it ere long.

What this camp needs is more mines opened and developed to add their golden harvest to those now being continuously worked.

A young lawyer, who had been instructed that when a witness declared that he was this or that, it was essential that he should be made to tell when and for what reason he became so, thus utilized his instruction, when trying his first case with a witness that he had under examination:

"Are you a married man?" he asked.

"No sir, I'm a bachelor," was the answer.

"Then sir," said the young attorney, in a stern voice, "will you please tell this court how long you have been a bachelor, and the circumstances that influenced you to become one?"

It is stated on good authority that since electricity has been adopted on street railways between 30,000 and 50,000 horses have been thrown out of employment as motor power; and thereby the interests of horse breeders have been damaged. While we sympathize with the pockets of the horse breeders we rejoice that such a large number of poor, abused horses have been relegated to fields of activity less laborious and join with the thousands who have witnessed the suffering of the poor creatures. We are also glad that a superior motor power has been discovered and will rejoice when not a horse will be employed on a street railway.

In no way can you bring an important matter before a community better than through a local paper. No enterprise in the community is more worthy of a liberal support.

Because of the moon's tidal drag, days are increasing irregularly at the average rate of about a millisecond per century. Some of course, seem to have increased by much more than that.

To The Voters of LINCOLN COUNTY

STEVEN K. SANDERS
STATE REPRESENTATIVE - DISTRICT 52 CANDIDATE
(Carrizozo, Corona, Alto)

DEAR VOTERS:

RE: Roads, Water and Seniors

Many people have expressed their concern about the condition of the streets and bridges (or lack thereof) in this area. Steve Sanders is committed to working with the city and county to aid them in securing extra money from the state for improvements to our roads and bridges. We simply do not have enough tax base in this county to have the quality of roads that other counties have.

We were SHOCKED to learn two reasons why many roads are in the poor state of repair. First, our State Highway Department has experienced almost no growth in the last five years, having grown only 5% for the period July 1982 to July 1987. Obviously, roads have not been a priority of our current legislature.

Second, we learned that in year's past, many areas of this State have received millions of dollars directly from the state legislature to aid in improving their roads. However, this part of Lincoln County has received no such special assistance. These moneys do not come from the State General Fund, but from severance tax bond revenues. To give an example of the sums expended in the last 4 years and the places it went just read on:

ROAD PROJECTS		1984
600,000.	Texaco port of entry	7,000,000.	Highway 44
2,000,000.	Santa Fe	1,200,000.	Highway 39

3,500,000.	N.M. 170	200,000.	Arlisco Street
	Leguna	900,000.	State Road 39

Clearly, millions of dollars are provided each year for specific community and county projects all over this state. If STEVE SANDERS is elected, he will work to make sure LINCOLN COUNTY receives its fair share.

WATER AND SEWER PROJECTS

Like road projects, the legislature also appropriates millions of dollars to small communities to aid in improving their water and sewer systems.

1984 SEWER AND WATER PROJECTS		1985 SEWER AND WATER PROJECTS
150,000.	Belen	100,000.	Los Lunas
500,000.	Cloudcroft	2,000,000.	Albuquerque
200,000.	Clovis	1,500,000.	Las Cruces

1,500,000.	Albuquerque	2,000,000.	Albuquerque
87,000.	Sunland Park
187,500.	Tortuga

Again, millions of dollars spent all over the state. The people need help here to improve their sewer and water systems. STEVE SANDERS will work to provide that help.

SENIOR CITIZENS

As with roads and water projects, the state legislature has been generous in aiding in the building or improvement of Senior Centers across the State. Eunice, Hobbs, Jemez, Raton, Gallup, Socorro, Roswell, Edgewood, Torrance, Belen, Portales, Penasco, Bloomfield, Clovis, Reserve, Taos and the Navajo, Apache and Pueblo Indians have received direct appropriations from our State Legislature. Again this should not be confused with the regular moneys appropriated to the highway department, Environmental department of Agency on Aging, which were then granted to Senior Centers based on grant applications. These special appropriations were over and above those departments main budgets and were designed to directly aid a community or county. We have received some money, appropriated to each departments general budget, but, we believe it is time that LINCOLN COUNTY received its share of the direct appropriations to help improve its roads, water projects and Senior Centers. To date we have received no such money for this part of our county.

STEVE SANDERS believes that our Seniors deserve a good place where they can dance, prepare and serve meals and work on recreational activities. He will work hard to accomplish this goal.

If you believe as we do that LINCOLN COUNTY deserves as much help from the state as other areas of the state then please vote for STEVEN SANDERS FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE. We need a State Representative who will work for ALL LINCOLN COUNTY.

Change to a State Representative who really cares about the people!

Paid for by friends of Steve Sanders. Katherine Fandy, Chairman. This Candidate's Treasurer.

Tiger sports

The Capitan Tigers traveled to Dexter Oct. 3 and were defeated by a tough Demon team 31-6.

A touchdown by Dexter at the end of the 1st quarter was nullified by a holding penalty. Moments later Sosa went around right end for the tally. The PAT was no good and Dexter led 6-0 with 11:33 left in the half.

The Tigers completed passes to Smith, Eldridge, and Parker but eventually had to punt. The Demons began a drive on the 22 yard line which was capped by a 50 yard pass play for Dexter's second touchdown. The Demon's run attempt failed and the point spread now increased to 12 points.

Mike Lunn intercepted a pass near the end of the half. Dexter got a big play here on an 87 yard pass interception for a TD which was called back on a penalty. The Tigers set up for a field goal attempt but time on the clock ran out. Dexter left the field and after some indecision by the officials was called back. It was here that Mike Lunn rolled out to his right and passed to Kerry Clements for Capitan's only TD of the evening. A pass attempt for 2 points was no good. The score at halftime -

Dexter 12, Capitan 6. The Blue Pride Band put on quite a show at halftime.

Eldridge and Parker looked good for the Tigers but Capitan couldn't cash in. The Demons scored again with 5:37 left in the 3rd quarter when Betancourt went 24 yards to pay dirt. Betancourt (32) was a thorn in the Tiger's side all evening long. Dexter 18, Capitan 6.

Clements took the ensuing kick off and sailed all the way to Dexter's 25 yard line. A 5 yard penalty nullified this fine run back.

A 32 yard pass play near the end of the 3rd quarter accounts for the 4th Demon touchdown. The Tiger defensive line looked good at times in the 4th quarter. Eckland fighting for short yardage and a 47 yard punt by Parker caused many to believe that the Tigers were a better team than the score indicated.

Dexter's final TD and lone conversion came with 2:40 left in the game. The scoreboard now showed Dexter ahead of Capitan by a 31-6 score.

Eldridge intercepted a pass near the end of the game but time ran out.

The Tiger travel west Oct. 10 for a 3 p.m. encounter with the Reserve Mountaineers. This is Capitan's first district game of the season.

Bears vs Grizzlies Friday

Carrizozo's Grizzly football team will go after its initial win of the season this Friday, as they host the cloudcroft Bears; game time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Laabs Field. Coach Mel Holland's squad is coming off a 21-9 setback to Anthony, Tx. on September 26. (The Grizzlies had an open date last week).

Carrizozo played its best game of the year against the Texas team and actually led twice during the game. A TD pass from Tommy Escamilla to teammate John Saucedo gave the Grizzlies an early 6-0 lead in the opening drive of the game.

Anthony countered with its own score in the same period to go ahead 7-6 after making good on the PAT, but Carrizozo regained the lead late in the second period on the strength of Tommy Escamilla's 45 yard field-goal—good for a 9-7 Grizzly lead at half-time.

Anthony eventually came back and added two scores in the second half to win the game 21-9. One of the scores came after blocking an attempted punt by Carrizozo and recovered by Anthony at the Grizzly 5 yard-line.

Carrizozo will have four more tries to get on the win column (counting tomorrow's game). Following Cloudcroft on the schedule will be home games against Hagerman on October 17, and Reserve on October 24; and the season finale at Capitan on November 1.

IN VOLLEYBALL ACTION

The Carrizozo girls traveled to Capitan last Thursday with the JV and varsity teams garnering wins over the Tigers. Capitan's Jr. High team opened the evenings' action by defeating the Carrizozo Jr. High 2 games to 1.

Carrizozo's JV team responded by dropping the Tiger JV in two straight games, 15-11 and 15-12. In an action filled match the Grizzlies varsity edged the Tigers 3 games to 1 by the scores of 15-3, 6-15, 17-15 and 15-13.

Carrizozo's JV team returned to Capitan on Saturday morning and competed in a four team round-robin against Cloudcroft, Dexter and host Capitan.

The all-sophomore team consisting of Johnna Gibson, D'rese Aguilar, Diana Najaf, Leah Patterson and Marcia Hefker, came in 1st with a perfect 3-0 mark. In first-round action C'zozo defeated Capitan 15-11 and 15-4. The Grizzlies followed that by dropping Cloudcroft by the scores of 15-1 and 15-10. C'zozo concluded their days work by beating Dexter 15-1 and 15-6.

Order of finish in the round-robin was: 1st—Carrizozo 3-0; 2nd—Cloudcroft 2-1; 3rd—Capitan 1-2; and 4th—Dexter 0-3.

Meanwhile back at the old home court the rest of the Carrizozo teams were entertaining the Magdalena Steers. Magdalena's Jr. High and JV teams took home wins over the host Grizzlies.

The Carrizozo varsity avenged an earlier season loss to the Steers by edging in a close match 3 games to 2.

Ft. Sumner invaded the Grizzly den on Tuesday night and swept all three matches, which included the Jr. High, JV, and varsity teams. Varsity scores were 15-8, 15-12 and 15-8 in a three game sweep by the visiting Vikings.

Next action for the Grizzly girls will be Saturday when they travel to Vaughn, with both JV and varsity slated to see action. On Tuesday, Oct. 14 the Jr. High, JV and varsity will travel to Mountainair to do battle with the Mustangs.

TIGER DEFENSE stops a Demon play during the October 3 game in Dexter.

Corona lost a 34-27 squeaker last week as the East Fork Eagles put 7 points on the board during the last seconds of the game. Corona scored first in the see-saw affair, but the Eagles were quick to come back. The score was tied 14-14 at the half.

Even though the scoreboard tally indicated a close game, Corona assistant coach Jamie Widner commented, "We beat them all over the field - except on the scoreboard." Corona rolled up a total of 504 offensive yards to East Fork's 410. Tommy Mulkey and Travis Lightfoot contributed 322 on the ground with each managing to score once.

The duo performed well in the passing department as well, including tosses to one another for a pair of TD's in the air. Eric Wetzel completed a pass for 22 to round out the 182 yard tally in the air.

The Cardinals looked alert as Mulkey and Lightfoot received seven passes between them and intercepted two each. Younger brother Tye Lightfoot and Lee Land also worked on the receiving end to add their 28 yards.

"We changed some things after last week's game," said Widner, "and we think we're in good shape for our district game this week." The Cardinals meet New Mexico School for the Deaf in Santa Fe at 1 p.m. Saturday. Corona stands 1-0 in district play after trouncing Mountainair 45-0 on Sept. 19.

Psychology
Days when you're not at work may provide just the right time to indulge yourself a little. Afternoon tea in a posh hotel can be the latest rage. You can do the same thing at home. It's a gracious way of entertaining, and it can also be inexpensive. Perhaps more importantly, it can be an easy party to prepare. So call up your best friends, bake a few fine cakes and cookies, and give yourself and your friends an entertaining and relaxing treat around a cozy hearth. A pleasant that may revitalize you all for whatever work lies ahead.
