VOLUME 81, NUMBER 5 CARRIZOZO, NM 88301 JANUARY 30, 1986 ESTABLISHED 1905

Drug dealers nabbed in raid

By RUTH HAMMOND
The Lincoln County Sheriff's Department began an undercover operation in July 1985 that ended early Saturday morning, January 24 with the arrest of more than 20 suspects. "GET EM", the name of the operation, was "Very Successful," according to Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan. An undercover agent spent approximately $4,800 to purchase drugs from defendants during the seven month operation. Narcotics officers from Las Cruces Metro and the Roswell Police Department assisted in the undercover operation. Sullivan said, "If the department had more funds, we could have made numerous other cases as they are definitely out there. This was proven by information obtained during the undercover operation which will continue to operate."

Sealed indictments for 30 individuals were obtained during Friday's session of the Grand Jury. The early morning surprise raid was scheduled for 5:30 Saturday. Law enforcement officers met at the Ruidoso sub-office at 5 a.m. for a final briefing before 38 officers from eight different departments were divided into 13 teams to make their 'hits'.

Sullivan, Chief Deputy Charlie Cox and Assistant District Attorney Harry Wilcox, Jr. gave the final instructions. Assisting the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department with the raid were the Ruidoso Police Department, Ruidoso Downs Police Department, Capitan Police Department, New Mexico State Police, Roswell Police Department, Las Cruces Metro Narcotics Unit and the 12th Judicial District Attorney's Office.

The sub-office was transformed into a 'booking station' by the time the first suspects were brought in to be fingerprinted, photographed and booked before being transported to the county jail in Carrizozo. A yellow Carrizozo school bus was used as a 'paddy wagon' to transport the prisoners.

Some of the officers remained at the scenes to 'freeze' the area while search warrants were being signed. Prior to the raid, $40,000 in narcotics was seized, approximately 22 burglaries were cleared and several larceny cases were cleared. In addition, two fugitives from justice were apprehended, approximately $25,000 worth of stolen property was seized, two cases were cleared in Otero County and information was obtained that resulted in murder charges being filed on one defendant, Mitchell Hinz. The murder occurred in Dallas.

The undercover operation resulted in 92 charges being filed against 47 defendants. The department plans to seize six vehicles in relation to the drug operation.

Sullivan also said the main supplier to the Ruidoso school students was one of the suspects that was arrested. A total of 23 suspects and one juvenile had been arrested in connection with the raid.

Seventeen of the suspects were arraigned in district court on Monday. Arrested and charged during and after the raid.

-William Stengel, 26, Ruidoso, charged with two counts of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, bond set at $50,000.

-Rua Carrell, 25, Ruidoso Downs, charged with two counts of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, bond set at $50,000.

-Kelly Junge, 26, Ruidoso, charged with distribution of a controlled substance, bond set at $50,000.

-Raul Polaco, 19, Hondo, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Shaun Childress, 18, Ruidoso, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Dolly Curtis, 22, Alamogordo, charged with three counts of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, and one count of distribution of a controlled substance-psilocybin, bond set at $100,000.

-Mark Robison, Tularosa, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000. -Paul Saenz, 25, Bent, charged with distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, bond set at $100,000.

-Gary Taylor, 24, Alamogordo, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Michael McClellan, 20, Ruidoso, charged with two counts of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, bond set at $50,000.

-Joel Walker, 20, Tularosa, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Mike Shipman, 18, Capitan, failure to appear.

-Andrea Chavez, 18, Ruidoso, charged with two counts of conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Kurt Hesse, 19, Ruidoso, charged with one count of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, and one count of conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Josephine Rue, 18, Ruidoso Downs, charged with two counts of conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

-Jonathan Junge, 24, Ruidoso, charged with two counts of conspiracy, one count of distribution of a controlled substance-marijuana, one count of trafficking, and one count of distribution of controlled substance-methamphetamine, bond set at $100,000.

-Adrian Maldonado, 20, Ruidoso, charged with two counts of distribution of controlled substance-psilocybin, bond set at $100,000.

-Lucas Polaco, 23, Hondo, charged with one count of possession of marijuana less than one ounce and two counts of possession of paraphernalia, bond set at $1,000.

-Duane Shannon, 30, Ruidoso, charged with conspiracy, bond set at $50,000.

Domenici 'visit' in Ruidoso

"A Visit with Sen. Pete Domenici" will be held Sunday, Feb. 16, from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Although the meeting is sponsored by the Republican Party of Lincoln County, all citizens are encouraged to attend, according to Jack Page, acting county chairman.

Domenici will be present at a no-host champagne buffet in the North Forty dining room.

Page said that the senator would make a short speech and then be available for discussion with constituents.

Further information is available form Page at 346-4050 or the Cree Meadows dining room office at 257-9186.

RC&D to meet in Tulie

The South Central Mountain RC&D council will meet this coming Tuesday, Feb. 4 at the C & C Restaurant in Tularosa, 4 blocks east of the Y on highway 70 - going toward Ruidoso.

The group will conduct business at 10:30 a.m. After lunch Chris Zamora, State Forestry Department, will show a slide talk about Christmas tree farming in New Mexico.

The group will then tour the Jack Cates Christmas tree farm in Tularosa. Everyone is invited to attend this meeting. For further information call the RC&D office in Carrizozo, 648-2941.

PFK to meet

Medical hazards of drug abuse, smoking, and marijuana will be studied in depth during a presentation by Barbara Langley and Charlie Cox of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dept.

This program will be held on Thursday, Feb. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Carrizozo school's conference room as a part of the regular People For Kids meeting.

Information on the effects of drugs on specific parts of the body will be discussed and descriptive booklets distributed to those attending.

Parents, youth, and all interested persons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be provided.

Before . . . PARKING LOT at the Ruidoso sub-office was filled with squad cars and would give the impression there was a law enforcement convention going on before the raid.

During . . . A 'booking station' was set up in the Ruidoso sub-office by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department to process the suspects.

After . . . THE PADDY WAGON — a yellow school bus, is being loaded with suspects for transportation to the county jail in Carrizozo after being booked at the Ruidoso sub-station Saturday morning after the raid.

COUNTY COMMISSION—

Denies health office request

By RUTH HAMMOND

Lincoln County Commissioners held four executive sessions during the Jan. 21 meeting. The executive sessions lasted a total of three hours and 36 minutes. The first executive session was a personnel matter lasting one hour and 16 minutes, the second executive session was for the consideration of audit proposals and lasted one hour and 17 minutes. The third executive session for personnel with Sheriff Tom Sullivan was only four minutes and the last executive session at the end of the meeting was for litigation and was 59 minutes long.

Business conducted during the three hours and 46 minutes of open session:

—Action was tabled on the request made by Bill Stephenson to close a portion of county road C-001 that crosses the I Bar X Ranch.

—A letter of congratulations was presented to the Bonita Volunteer Fire Department on their Silver Anniversary. Lester P. Lanelli, president of the board of directors, and Yvonne Lanelli, secretary, accepted the letter for BVFD Fire Chief Howard Fucket.

—A request was received from Jerry Carroll, Oscuro, to amend the Lincoln County ordinance on solid waste. County Attorney Steve Sanders explained the wording used in the ordinance. It was discovered that the original instead of the amended copy had been filed with the county clerk's office.

—Robert J. Carson, District Manager of the New Mexico Health office told the commission that the two exam rooms and office that are being used as a health office in Ruidoso are not large enough. He requested permission to talk to realtors in Ruidoso about possible office space.

Commissioner Kenneth Nosker asked if Carson was asking the county to fund the leasing of larger office space in Ruidoso. When Carson said yes, Nosker said he had no objection with the county providing the same money amount as is now being provided for utilities, maintenance and upkeep. Carson was told the health office would have to find the funds somewhere else.

—Carson presented the annual report for the Lincoln County Health office for the period from July 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985.

—Audit proposal was accepted from Don Wingfield of Roswell.

—The official holiday calendar, same as the state uses, was approved for the county.

—A resolution was approved that supports the expansion of the Emergency Medical Services Fund Act to utilize a percentage of money to be received from fees, licenses, penalties and taxes attributable to life, casualty and title insurance business. If the EMS Fund Act is approved by the state legislature, the EMS will receive the same type funding as fire districts have.

—A resolution was approved providing for circumstances under which Lincoln County road and maintenance equipment may be used on private roads and lands. The equipment may be used if the use is necessary to alleviate or prevent a life threatening or livestock threatening condition caused by the elements individually but not limited to fire, wind, floods, or snow; or if the county is responsible for damage to the private road or property. In the event the county is responsible for damage to the private road or property, no work will be done that is not necessary to repair such damage.

—Approved a resolution requesting assistance of the New Mexico Congressional Delegation to obtain funding for improvements on US Highway 70.

—Approved the replat of Lots 4 and 5, Raven Ridge Sub-division.

—Approved the agreement with Rilee and Associates as bonding advisors in the event there is a hospital bond issue.

—Approved the agreement with Modrall Firm as bonding attorneys.

—Complied with the New Mexico Clean Indoor Air Act by designating specific smoking areas in the courthouse. No smoking areas are posted.

—Approved the cooperative agreement to reconstruct Carrizo Canyon Road in Ruidoso subject to an amendment that Ruidoso be responsible for matching funds. Ruidoso had agreed at an earlier meeting to do the work, pay the matching funds, and then to annex Carrizo Canyon Road.

Outfitters plead guilty to lion charges

SANTA FE, NM — Two Albuquerque men pleaded guilty Jan. 6 in Albuquerque federal court to a reduced charge of transporting cougars into New Mexico for what authorities contend were guaranteed-kill hunts. Sentencing of John Elwell and John Beck is scheduled for Feb. 21.

The two plead guilty to the misdemeanor charge of transporting a mountain lion from Texas to New Mexico on Feb. 14, 1984. They and a third man were each indicted by a federal grand jury Oct. 29 on two felony counts.

Beck and Elwell were employed by ABC Outfitters in Albuquerque. They were indicted on charges they purchased mountain lions in other states, transported them to New Mexico and released them for hunters to kill. Charges are still pending against Bob Wilmet, Carrizozo, who was indicted in a separate case. Four mountain lions were involved.

The felony charges resulted from a two-year undercover investigation by the Department of Game and Fish and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The investigation was multi-purpose: to resolve rumors circulating in southern New Mexico that mountain lions were being imported into Carlsbad Caverns National Park; to determine if canned hunts were being conducted; to determine what impact imported animals may have on native wildlife and on state wildlife management; and to identify those responsible for any illicit importations.

Financial aid is available

The month of January is a critical time for students to start applying for summer and fall financial aid, according to the director of the largest private scholarship search firm in the country.

Numerous private grants and scholarships, sponsored by corporations, trade and civic groups and private foundations are available this year, according to the director. It has been estimated that one-fourth of all financial aid comes from the private sector and in a number of cases is not based on parents' financial data as much as student activities and interests. A major qualification is a student's selected major with a number of new scholarships available in computer programming, business, law, health and communications. The Scholarship Bank provides each student with 65 sources of directly relevant financial aid from a data base of over 25,000 scholarships. The search includes not only major, but geographic desires, age, religion, type of aid sought (internships, grants, scholarships), and parent's employer, union or military background. Student applicants can receive free a publication on "How to Play Grantsmanship" with out obligation. Interested students should send a stamped, self addressed envelope to Scholarship Bank, 4626 N. Grand, Covina, CA 91724.

TIME TRAVELERS

Zia Senior Citizens of Carrizozo toured the New Mexico Museum of Natural History on Saturday, Jan. 18. Carrizozo Rotary Club sponsored the trip.

Visitors to the new museum travel through time in New Mexico and the Southwest as they tour the museum's exhibits. The exhibit halls reconstruct selected environments from 4.5 billion years of history. They allow visitors to explore the origin of the Earth, the origin of life, the seas that covered New Mexico, the colonization of the land, the age of dinosaurs, the ice ages when mammoths walked the plains of New Mexico, and finally, our present-day "Land of Enchantment."

Each exhibit hall displays the animals, plants, rocks, and minerals of various time periods in New Mexico's history. Large murals, reconstructed models, and electronic exhibits provide information about the processes responsible for the great changes in our state. The exhibit environments include dinosaurs, a reconstructed cave, and an erupting volcano. Dynamic exhibits allow visitors to view the movements of the continents for 600 million years of earth history.

The Carrizozo group who visited the museum were: Fabian Valderama, James Thornton, Beulah Moore, Amy Barton, Liz MacVeigh, Dorothy Forsythe, Barbara Ward, Halimae Robinson, John Jiron and Bob Bohks, who is secretary-treasurer of Rotary Club.

TRAVELING EXHIBIT

The Museum's traveling exhibit, "Then and Now: Selections From New Mexico Natural History," will bring the Museum's educational program to at least 30 communities throughout New Mexico as part of an effort to serve the entire state. The exhibit that opened at the New Mexico State Fair consists of a very life-like mechanical dinosaur and a display of fossils and rocks that delight young people and old alike and a display of photos that tell the story of six major time periods in New Mexico's natural history. A video presentation tells the story of the New Mexico Museum of Natural History and briefly describes what is in store for visitors.

As an added service, schools in many host communities are treated to a special educational program by a member of the Museum's staff who brings fossils, rocks, and other specimens to tell the story of New Mexico Natural History.

If your community is not on the traveling exhibit schedule this year, call Dr. Jeff Gottfried at the Museum (841-8836) for consideration in next year's schedule.

LIBRARY EVENT

The Carrizozo Municipal School library sponsored this year's first RIF (Reading is Fundamental) distribution last Monday, January 27.

The student's participating and receiving books are in kindergarten through 4th grade. The distributions were conducted in each classroom and refreshments were served.

There will be two more distributions later this year. The RIF project is funded by the federal government and local school district. The purpose is to provide books to children and to further acquaint them with reading.

LEGISLATURE VISITORS

Thursday, Jan. 23 Zia Senior Citizens from centers in Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona traveled together to Santa Fe to observe the legislators in action.

Those attending were Amy Barton, Oralla Najjar, Barbara Ward, Beulah Moore - all of Carrizozo; Lucy Padilla, Lucy Montes, and Lucy Griego of Capitan; Romanita Chavez and Ollie D. Wade of Corona.

They found the visit extremely informative. In coming years perhaps other senior citizens will make plans to go to Santa Fe to see how the legislative session is conducted.

BUDGET CUTS

Community members of Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona should be aware that all three senior citizen centers accept contributions to help supplement their funding. In view of impending budget cuts (federal and state) the centers appreciate contributions and suggestions on fund raisers.

Senior citizens from the three towns have been active in raising money for their centers. They would like the public to continue to help them in their efforts.

Also if anyone has a piano to donate to the Carrizozo center the seniors citizens would be able to provide their own music for their dances and parties.

HIGH WINDS in the early morning hours of Jan. 22 lifted this storage shed up and over a six foot fence before dropping the shed between a car and the airport terminal building at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport. Ralph and Dorothy Forsythe, airport managers, found only a few scratches on the car.

Corona students will be tested

Corona High School has made Feb. 25 available for testing students with the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB). This test is made available to high school students as a service of the United States Department of Defense. There is no cost to the school or to the student.

The ASVAB consists of 10 separate tests which are given during a three-hour time period, at the high school. As a result of this test series, the student and the school will learn which of four vocational areas could be considered a strong contender for future jobs. The four vocational areas are mechanical and crafts, business and clerical, electronics and electrical and health, social and technology. In addition to these vocational areas, the ASVAB gives indications of strength or weakness in academic ability, verbal (English skills) and math (arithmetic).

These skills are especially important for those students who expect to attend a two-year college, a four-year college or post-secondary vocational training. For those students who plan to apply for acceptance in any of the United States military services, their scores on this test series can be used toward admission requirements.

Parents should urge their high school student to sign up for the ASVAB and to be present on the day of the test. Parents who wish to know about their son's or daughter's test results should contact the high school for further information.

Scholarship Agriculture

Scholarship recipient

LYNN GALLACHER, animal science major, was one of six recipients in New Mexico State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics to receive a Moorman's Manufacturing Company Scholarship. Gallacher is the daughter of William and Joy Gallacher of Carrizozo.

Corona

Warm days and cold nights were the rule last week with the high 57 degrees on the 20th and the low 12 on the 26th.

The Corona Extension Club met Thursday in the school recreation room. Denise Byrd and Myrle West were coffee hostesses. Outgoing president Byrd installed officers for the coming year: president Sandy Hendricks, vice president Dorinda Gaston, secretary Crystal Lueras and treasurer Margaret Lightfoot. The program was on Pretty Punch demonstrated by Nettie Fleming of Weed. The next meeting will feature a program on knitting given by Mrs. Lightfoot.

A baby shower was given Saturday in honor of Mrs. Denise Hill in the Johnson home on the Ranney Ranch, hosted by Esther Johnson and co-hosted by Dorothy Bagley. Mrs. Hill is the wife of State Police Officer Mike Hill.

Jessica Bennett, Roswell, spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Owen.

The Bobby Carrolls and Tod's young friend, Roswell, spent the weekend with the Davidsons.

Elbert Owen was called to Roswell last week by the death of a sister, Margaret Liston.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Hayden Hill, Roswell, Mrs. Rita Muniz and Mrs. Lucille Sevono, Santa Rosa, and Mrs. Cleotilde Romero, Fort Sumner.

Spending the weekend in Cedarvale with Nora Smith and Pauline McCloud were Madeline and Terry Shannon and their daughter, Jackie, Sutherland, Nebraska, Shirley and Bill Dix and children, Bloomfield, and Bonnie and James Lackey and children, Aztec.

Dick Wiegert was taken by ambulance to the Ruidoso hospital Monday.

Michael Rodriguez of Gallup High School has been named a United States National Award Winner in honor roll by the United States Achievement Academy. Michael is the grandson of Wanda and Curtis Duke of Gallup and the great grandson of Mrs. Ida Pate of Corona.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dudley were in El Paso last weekend to receive an award from the Border States Library Association.

Dolly Smith has completed an 18 month TVI computer course and has taken a position as computer specialist with Keers Coating. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith, is a graduate of 1983 CHS and attended NMSU for one year.

Walter Garfield and Melvin Yancey are justly proud of their old fashioned Bluegrass album just released. It was recorded and mixed at the Goldust Studios in Las Cruces. Garfield plays guitar and mandolin, Yancey base guitar and banjo, Olin James fiddle, with Debbie Moore doing backup vocal. Kathryn Garfield did the photography and album design. The album was produced by Garfield, Yancey and Emmett Brooks. Congratulations.

Services were held at Weed Friday afternoon for William Leon Smith who succumbed Wednesday to cancer. Mr. Smith, 50, was a 1953 graduate of Corona High School and a graduate of Highlands University. He had served the Weed school for 29 years as teacher, coach and then as principal.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife Merle of the family home, one son, Philip Smith, Carlbad, one daughter, Debbie, and her husband Troy Hinton, one grandson, Lee Hinton, Hobbs, his mother, Nora Smith, Cedarvale, one brother, Frank Smith, Conchas, and two sisters, Pauline McCloud, Cedarvale, and Madeline Shannon, Sutherland, Nebraska.

$500 DONATION to the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department was presented by the Southern Pacific Transportation Company. Mayor Harold Garcia (center) accepts the check from SP Trainmaster C. A. Bishop III (left) and SP Safety Officer Steve F. Abeyta. Bishop said, "The Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department responded to right-of-way grass fires eight times last year. That is a big benefit to us."

SANTA ROSA, NM — Burglary is a serious matter in New Mexico. You, the consumers pay for the loss through increased insurance premiums and higher prices in the stores. Police need the assistance of all citizens to help cut this type of crime.

During the months of November and December, the Smart Mart Fine Station, located on Coronado West in Santa Rosa, NM, was burglarized four (4) times during that period. In each instance entry was gained through a rear window. Once inside, the burglars took cash and stock, and there was also extensive vandalism done inside. The burglars made their getaway through their point of entry.

This week State Crime Stoppers is offering up to $1,000.00 for information that leads to the arrest and indictment of the offender or offenders in this case. If you have such information, call State Crime Stoppers toll free at 1-800-432-6933, or your local Crime Stoppers.

OPINION

Ernest V. Joiner

PERHAPS you read a recent news story that the US Immigration and Naturalization Service apprehended almost 1,250,000 illegal aliens last year as they attempted to cross US borders. The INS admits that they are able to catch only about one in 10, which means that in 1985 alone more than 10 million of these suckers came to roost inside the US, doing God only knows what. Not bad for only one year's crop!

LAST weekend in El Paso, Texas, INS officials invited 250 known illegal aliens by letter to attend and enjoy a free West Texas barbecue and a chance to win a Ford Bronco and other prizes. Although INS expected 25 to show up for the free vittles and other goodies, 50 showed up. They were promptly arrested and deported. Lawyers who specialize in aiding illegals called the INS "sting," "un-American" and "perfectly deceitful." How quaint that it is un-American and deceitful to return illegals to their proper country!

I HAD my first confrontation with illegal aliens last week when two of them appeared at my back door. Although I never understood where the two came from originally, I understand enough Spanish to know they were seeking food, which I declined to provide. After the fellows departed, I was seized by brilliant hindsight: here's what I wish I had advised them to do.

FIRST, I should have directed them to the nearest Methodist Church, or any other of the 295 US churches providing illegal sanctuary to illegal aliens. I should have told them that the church will give them food, clothing, shelter, and a chance to meet people who idolize and respect them. The only warning I should have issued was for them to tell the nice folks at the church that they faced jail or execution should they be returned to their own country. "You don't have to prove you would be persecuted in your country," I should assure them. "All you need to do is just say so. These folks won't believe much of anything a fellow US citizen tells them, but they won't doubt whatever you choose to tell them."

CHURCHES know that it is a criminal offense under federal law to harbor and assist an illegal alien by offering sanctuary. They don't seem to care about such things as federal law. Instead, they worry about a "Higher Authority" and humanitarianism and kinky consciences—a condition they won't reverse until the aliens have taken over their country, at which time they will forget "higher authority" long enough to demand federal protection from the interlopers. To make sure the federal government, through the INS, minds its own business while sanctuary churches save their consciences, they have sued the US government for multi-millions of dollars. The suit sets out that the US government has unconstitutionally interfered with the churches' religious right to defy the law of the land. Try that on for rationality!

NEXT, I should have advised the two illegals to request the church of their choice to transport them to such cities as San Francisco and Berkeley, CA, two of many cities that have passed resolutions offering sanctuary to illegal aliens and are pledged not to cooperate with federal authorities who might seek to arrest and deport them. There, they will be assisted in finding jobs, suitable housing, tax-supported schools where their children will be educated, not in English, but in their native tongue. They will also be assisted in filling out applications for welfare to assure a steady income, the better to enjoy The Land of The Free and The Home of The Brave. Explain to them that the key word in all this is the word "free."

ACTUALLY, illegals don't have to travel to San Francisco or Berkeley. Those who are enchanted with New Mexico will be deliriously happy to learn that city fathers in Santa Fe, wiping sanctimonious tears from their beclouded eyes, have declared Santa Fe as a "sanctuary city" for the undesirables of El Salvador and Guatemala. Illegals are urged to call Santa Fe City Hall and request that a taxi be dispatched to relocate them to this new reservation. Just tell them Ole Joiner sent you so they can have a band-at city limits to properly welcome you to your new home.

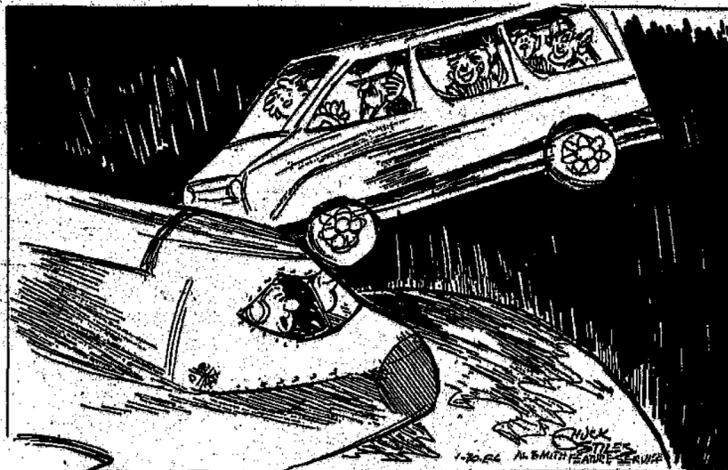

IF all this is the kind of business the church wants to be in, then let us all help out. Refer all illegals to sanctuary churches, a roster of which is available from any cell of the Peace Movement. Assure them the church will clothe, feed, love, cherish—and open their treasuries to them in a gesture of brotherhood.

IF the church is interested in morals, there is a happy one here. Once the church treasury is looted they will fall on their bankrupt behinds. Perhaps then churches will realize that their existence depends upon obedience to the laws of one of the few countries where such divisive idiocy is suffered to exist.

INCREDIBLY, a 1983 lawsuit demanding $24 billion for "wrongful detention" of 120,000 Japanese-Americans during World War II has been reinstated by a US Court of Appeals judge in Washington. There is no use explaining further to the American people, to Congress or to the courts that removing these people from the West Coast was done in wartime as a measure of national security. There is no use pointing out the truth of the matter—that they weren't required to enter a camp, but merely to evacuate the West Coast War Zone. Thousands left voluntarily to find work in states away from the zone. Others chose to remain in the camps. The only ones actually detained were criminals, and those who supported the Emperor of Japan, and demanded to be returned to fight against America. But there's no use in reciting evidence that has been shown so many times before. This country wants to give these people $24 billion that we don't even have. So give them the money, and to hell with them.

ONCE this monkey is off our collective backs, we can entertain similar demands from the Indians who got a bad deal. And the Mexicans, who got a bad deal. And the blacks, who got a bad deal. And the Chinese, who got a bad deal. Everybody who ever got a bad deal is entitled to a ton of money, right? Right. Don't forget that Abraham Lincoln imprisoned thousands of political enemies without benefit of trial, and their descendants should be given money. Lincoln shut down 300 newspapers, violating the constitution's freedom of press section. The press needs to be compensated. General Sherman introduced terrorism into modern warfare during the Civil War, and every Southerner has as good a case for compensation as the Japanese-Americans. There is not a man alive who has not, at some time, suffered a punctuation of his civil rights. Round these maudlins up and cover them in money! Give rein to your humanitarian instincts—give the store away!

AT the risk of ruining someone's day, may I mention that the Senate and House of the New Mexico Legislature is now controlled by Republicans—for the first time in 56 years? And does that account for the unseasonal weather we've been having?

ABC successfully threatened on programming by the Kremlin

WASHINGTON — If you thought that freedom of the press extended to the so-called American Broadcasting Company, think again.

ABC's proposed miniseries called "AMERIKA" tells the story of life in the United States a decade after a bloodless coup by KGB agents.

This is hardly an unrealistic possibility, especially given the behavior of ABC officials — and the other networks — when it was learned that this proposed series had offended the Kremlin.

The Soviets, it seems, are very easily offended. They also expressed objection to those two great muscular money-makers of Sylvester Stallone: "Rocky IV" and "Rambo II". This unusual international development would have been merely bizarre, except for the manner in which these Kremlin thugs tried to push around and censor American entertainment.

The Kremlin summoned ABC's bureau chief, Walter Rogers.

According to ABC News Vice President David Burke: "They made it clear to Walt how unfortunate it would be if the relations that ABC News had in Moscow diminished."

What was the effect of this incredible pressuring by the Soviets?

Branford Stoddard, President of ABC Entertainment, announced:

"We're reviewing everything connected with the program. Such Soviet criticism will not stop us doing the program. But we do not live in an insular world. It is only responsible that the Russian complaint be factored in."

In other words, dear reader, the so-called AMERICAN Broadcasting Company is going to take seriously the threats issued in Moscow.

At the instant ABC learned of this Kremlin threat made on its Moscow bureau chief, this network should have closed this bureau down and called upon all the other networks and news agencies to do the same. And ABC should have called on the US Department of State to deport everyone of those KGB agents who masquerade as newsmen in Washington.

Can we imagine the absolute firestorm if White House Spokesman Larry Speakes were to summon ABC White House correspondent Sam Donaldson to his office and say:

"If you continue asking questions that embarrass President Reagan, it will be unfortunate that your relations with this administration will diminish. You will find that nobody will tell you anything from now on; no one will return your phone calls. And in future news conferences, Sam, we're putting you back in the Siberia Section, with Sarah McClendon and Les Kinsolving."

That, of course, would never happen in the United States. But should it be allowed to happen overseas? Are our networks and other Big Media so desperate that they will pay the high cost of correspondents in Moscow — only to allow them to be journalistically castrated?

That miniseries AMERIKA was what ABC's Leonard Goldenson was referring to when he promised two of us, after an ABC shareholders meeting in New York, that ABC was planning a sequel to "The Day After."

This melodramatization of the effect of nuclear war on Lawrence, Kansas, evoked wide attention — as well as our request to ABC to tell the other side of the story.

This is what Goldenson promised. But the Kremlin objects. Good God! Have we reached the level of national humiliation where Gorbachev's goons can censor American TV?

Capital Cities Communication, which bought controlling interest in ABC last fall, is reportedly a corporation with vast media experience and a willingness to fight. Will Cap City sit still for orders issued by the Kremlin? Stay tuned.

Inside the Capitol

By FRED McCAFFREY

SANTA FE—As these words are written, all is calm at the New Mexico Legislature. By the time you read them, however, that will not be true.

That's a safe prediction. Fights never start in the opening hours of any session, when the boys and girls who make up Senate and House have just come back to town. For a little while, they love one another.

After that, it's only realistic to look for tempers to grow short and territorial imperatives to take over. Next step: legislative chaos.

After all, we've seen this same group perform before, and we know what they produce most effectively is discord. How could that help applying this year, when dollars are unbelievably short? After all, as every family knows, the bitterest fights always have to do with money.

FOURTH FLOOR: We started the current gathering with Governor Anaya once again trumpeting his belief in what he calls "progressive" political action. In practice, that seems merely to mean that he recommends expenditures that are wildly out of line with expected income.

He hasn't changed his views by a whit, though he has acted a little friendlier in early 1988 than he did at the same point in 1985.

And those who think differently from the governor are, unfortunately, equally set in their ways—which means conflict is inevitable.

Even before the session began, it was clear that these legislative-type people had set out to pare the budget down to bare bones, not by cutting out programs the state doesn't need, but by chopping away at all the activities of the state that offend their moral, ethical and—who knows?—esthetic principles.

They are not out to cut rationally; they are interested instead in redressing past slights or punishing agency heads they don't like personally.

Given those mind-sets, how could we avoid an eruption?

POTENTIAL: In itself, disagreement among these folks is not entirely bad. Our system, based on checks and balances, is inevitably at least partially adversarial. But the particular gang of strong-minded individuals presently in office in New Mexico appear to be more than ordinarily intent on crashing into one another without regard to consequences.

Senator Les Houston, for instance, undoubtedly the dominant member in the group, appears literally to thrive on contention. Far from being inclined to quiet diplomacy, he

Letters TO THE EDITOR

CONCERNED CITIZEN —

EDITOR—As a concerned citizen, I have opposed the replacement of the Ruidoso Municipal Airport for some years. I have written to my elected representatives at the local, state and federal level, with little result. It is a common perception, by the press, politicians and citizens, that a replacement airport is necessary and for many an absolute necessity.

In order to be better informed, I began to seriously study the pro and con of this issue. My studies to date, paint a considerably different picture, regarding this need for an expensive new airport, whether it is a safety issue, or for economic progress, or the betterment of the region.

I request that you or someone on your staff review this subject and the enclosed letters for newsworthy purposes. I believe there is a story here, and that the real facts should be disclosed. All enclosed letters are part of the public record and may be used as you see fit.

PARENTS OF AMERICA . . .

EDITOR—Since the primary right to educate resides with parents, I would like to ask our governing officials two questions: (1) Is it constitutional to tax its citizenry for public education? (2) Assuming the answer to the first question is yes, is it just to limit the distribution of this tax money to only the state schools?

With the cost of education constantly escalating, the private schools are being priced out of the educational field, and if positive changes aren't soon in coming, you will have exclusively state schools. With our children being forced to attend state schools, the school authorities can force any kind of a society that is their pleasure by what they teach our children, and they are doing it.

Our state schools today are anything but politically neutral. They continually push the extreme left liberal line on our children. We have already lost one generation of children to the propaganda of the far left. Let us not lose this generation.

One of the primary aims of our founding fathers in framing our constitution was to protect its citizenry from an oppressive national government. But our present exclusive distribution of tax funds to state schools enslaves rather than protects its people from an oppressive national government by forcing on them one particular political point of view.

Parents of America, if you aren't aroused to anger and action by the attempt of the liberal establishment to force upon you a secular humanist society, then you and your children deserve any fate that comes your way as a result of their action.

CORNELIUS U. MORGAN, Baltimore, MD

... DECIDE FOR YOURSELF —

EDITOR—Parents of America, decide for yourself what kind of a society your children will be reared in. Don't allow the social planners in the Department of Education in Washington to convert our society to a secular humanist society by the year 2000. In our state schools today, we are rapidly approaching that goal.

You middle class, who have been discriminated against since the inception of the public schools use your voting muscle in the '88 elections to bring about a revolution in the educational field. Vote out of office all those legislators both on the national and local levels who for years have been passionately committed to public education and have been the faithful pawns of the National Education Association and the social planners.

In a new day of education insist that the state either eject itself from the field of education or distributes its tax funds equally among all students both in the private and public sectors on a per pupil basis. After the state school authorities have set the standard of how much it costs to educate a child in the state schools, all parents who have declared their intentions to educate their children in a private school would receive a per child standard allotment from the state for that use.

Since the state school facilities belong to all the people and not the state, the state would have to share these facilities with the private sector. This could be done in a series of steps involving depletion and consolidation. With this plan you could have a realignment of the school facilities to accommodate both sectors.

CORNELIUS U. MORGAN, Baltimore, MD

IF WE KNEW HOW MUCH—

EDITOR—Over a decade ago, the Soviets were spending more than a hundred million dollars per year experimenting on "weather modification." (See, BULLETIN OF THE AMERICAN METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY, Jan. 1975).

That's right. The Russians spend big bucks experimenting on changing the weather. The US spends a lot of money trying to "modify" the weather, but apparently not nearly as much as the Russians.

In 1974, the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Oceans and International Environment held hearings on the subjects. A Professor Gordon J. MacDonald of Dartmouth University testified that modern warfare is changing rapidly, and he further testified: "As economic competition among advanced nations heightens, it may be to a country's advantage to insure a peaceful, natural environment for itself and a disturbed environment for its competitors."

Then on May-18, 1977, our government signed, "The Convention on the Prohibition of Military or Any Other Hostile Use of Environmental Modification Techniques," in Geneva.

What does all this mean? Well, it sounds like they have entered into a treaty agreement not to use the weather or "weather modification" as a weapon of war. And that was ten years ago.

How has the weather been these past ten years? One is reminded of an important Russian communist who once said, "Treaties like pie crusts, are made to be broken."

Anyhow, you've heard that old saying, "Everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it."

Well, apparently someone is doing something about it. It might scare hell out of all of us if we knew how much.

Soil conservationist meeting attended by six area citizens

New Mexico conservationists are urged to be constantly vigilant of trends and priorities of soil and water conservation programs at the Federal level.

Milton E. Meikelburg, immediate past president of the National Association of Conservation Districts, gave this advice to participants in the 38th Annual Meeting of the New Mexico Association of Conservation Districts in Albuquerque recently.

"Conservation district officials must develop a better understanding of the political process and pressures facing conservation legislation if we are to maintain viable conservation programs in each State and nationwide," Meikelburg said.

Over 125 conservationists, mostly district officials representing the State's 47 soil and water conservation districts attended the three-day meeting.

Soil and water conservation districts are political subdivisions of the State responsible by law for directing conservation programs within their boundaries.

Attending the meeting from this area were Bob Hemphill, Woody Schlegel, Gary Hightower, John and Vernelle Hightower, and Sue Stearns.

The Association elected a new slate of officers, including Quincey Cornelius, president, Farmington; George Hay, first vice president, Elida; Gretchen Sammis, second vice president, Cimarron; and Fred Romero, secretary-treasurer, Espanola.

Elected to office of the Association's Ladies Auxiliary were Myrtle Oliver, president, San Lorenzo; Charlotte Gage, vice-president, Pinon; Lavonna Bell, secretary, Weed; Myrtis Pfingsten, treasurer, Honda; and Fern Hay, historian, Elida. The group selected Marjorie Harrison of Silver City as their Women of the Year. Nora Belle Chilton of Mountainair received the "Women Honoring Women" award for her many years of service to the group.

Others receiving awards at the convention were Outstanding Farmer Tony Onsurez, Carlsbad

SWCD; Outstanding Rancher Gary Hightower, Carrizozo SWCD; and Outstanding District Supervisor Mike Casabonne, Pecos SWCD.

Evangelina S. Herrera of Silver City was named State winner of the 1985 NACD-Deutz Allis Environmental Conservation Education Award for the education program she has developed in her school, Carlsbad Soil and Water Conservation District was selected as State and Southwest Region Winner in the district category.

Otero SWCD is New Mexico's first-place winner in the 38th Annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program. Central Rio Grande Soil and Water Conservation District is runner-up. The winning districts were judged on their resource conservation achievements by an independent committee of agricultural leaders.

Otero's Outstanding Conservationist Ted Merrill of Chaparral and District Supervisor Robert Bell of Weed will represent the district on the grand prize tour, a vacation-study trip to the Wigwam resort and Goodyear Farm in Litchfield Park, AZ. Outstanding Conservationist with Central Rio Grande SWCD is Eric Weink of Albuquerque, who also received recognition for being selected as one of the ten finalists in the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation Awards Program.

Carlsbad SWCD was named Honor District in recognition of its continued excellence.

Jeff Lewis, field representative for the New Mexico Soil and Water Conservation Division in Las Cruces, received the President's Award for his many years of administrative assistance to districts.

The New Mexico Association of Conservation Districts, a private nonprofit organization, represents the State's districts to advance their cause and that of the thousands of individuals and groups they serve. It is operated by its member districts and is financed by the voluntary contributions of its members.

CARRIZOZO—

Police Report

Carrizozo police vehicles were driven 3,813 miles and 367 gallons of gas were used in December. Other December totals: The department made 107 calls, cleared 51 cases, issued 17 moving citations, had 57 case assignments, gave 23 verbal warnings, arrested five persons and assisted in one arrest. There were two non-injury accidents, 273 public appearances, all commercial buildings were checked and most houses. Two doors were found open.

The total of complaint reports that were investigated in December was 22. Seven remain active and 15 are closed.

The seven active cases: broken windows, car wreck with no injuries, three cords stolen wood, two vandalism cases, breaking and entering and trespass and breaking and entering.

The 15 closed cases: subject entering house, missing poly kart, argument, fight, BB gun shot, locate subject, missing horse, gas skip, subject left motel without paying, battery upon a peace officer and disorderly conduct, two disturbances, shoplifting and battery, alarm, and drunk driver.

Three criminal complaints were issued for battery, shoplifting, and parties to unlawful acts. The 17 traffic citations were issued for no financial responsibility, ten speeding, three stop sign, vehicle approaching or entering intersection, careless driving, and duty upon striking unattended vehicle.

hunts reasons to roll up his sleeves and jump in to whale the tar out of somebody. His position allows him to set the tone for a session, so his approach to life is of more than ordinary interest to us at the moment.

Those liberals who were once in power and now find themselves almost totally rejected, don't add much to the mix either. Apparently, the only way they know to express their dissatisfaction at being out of power is to lie out in the weeds and take potshots of everybody.

Given all these factors, it would take a miracle for amity and peace to be maintained for an entire 30-day session. It could happen, but it isn't likely.

We all know that miracles happen—if at all—seldom. It certainly isn't good policy to depend on the idea that we will get one when we need it.

Something for nothing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 —

Dairy farmers who anticipate submitting a bid to participate in the recently enacted milk production termination program should be advised that changes in the size and composition of their dairy herds may affect their eligibility for the program, Milton Hertz, Acting Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said today.

The Food Security Act of 1985 provides that participants in the program give information on the size and composition of their dairy herds during a base period and the size and composition of their dairy herds at the time they submit a bid.

Under the program, producers may enter into contracts with the government by submitting bids to dispose of their dairy herds and terminate any interest they have in the production of milk. Producers who submit acceptable bids and who meet program requirements will receive payments from the USDA.

STEAM IRONING

To fill the steam iron with water, try using an empty shampoo plastic bottle with a flip-top spout. Rinse the bottle thoroughly before using for this purpose.

BIRTHDAY CANDLES

Life Savers candles can be used to hold the candles in place on a birthday cake. Arrange the candles in a design on top of the cake and then insert the candles inside the candy holes.

HOT SALSA

Try chopping fresh jalapeno chile in your blender. Add plain water to the blender container and then sliced chile. When the chopping is done, drain off the water and add tomato sauce and onion salt.

SPLATTER COVERS

Punch an aluminum foil pie pan with holes. Turn it upside down on top of the frying pan. This keeps the grease splatters off the stove top and nearby counter. Toss the foil plate in the trash when food is cooked.

SAUSAGE TIP

Try frying two pork link sausages at the same time by spearing them on toothpicks. Use two toothpicks, one at each end. When sausages are brown on one side, turn them over together with an egg or pancake turner.

DAB OF FLOUR

Keep a covered sugar bowl filled with flour near the stove. It's easier than pulling out the large flour container when you need only a tablespoon or two.

Changes . . .

Our bank has enjoyed serving people in Lincoln County for over 65 years, over six decades of doing business with many families. We think back of the many changes and it reminds us of how long ago we began watching the Corona Cardinals, Capitan Tigers and Carrizozo Grizzlies compete on the courts. Long enough ago that basketball was played outside and if it was a windy day, once in a while a huge tumbleweed would come bouncing across the court.

The fine gyms we have now are appreciated and enjoyed by all citizens, young and old and they are made use of for many different school events. Our bank has always been a strong supporter of the school systems and from them we have seen emerge the leaders of our communities, individuals dedicated to making this a better place to live.

Change is all around us and in our banks we have noticed many changes, we have had to adjust and become accustomed to -- a computer world, some of our old methods have been discarded to make way for the new ones. But we still try to keep some things the same, friendliness, accommodation, appreciating our customers and extending a helping hand whenever possible. Please call on us at Carrizozo, Vaughn, Moriarty or Estancia . . . we would like to help.

The Lake Arthur Panthers visited the high country Jan. 24. The Capitan Varsity Boys defeated the Panthers 59-40. The Panthers stayed with the Tigers through the 1st quarter and then watched them pull away. John Parker found the hoop for 13 points followed by Troy Keller with 10. Capitan and Lake Arthur are in the same district along with Hondo, Cloudercroft, Weed, and Hagerman.

The Lady Panthers carry only a 5-man squad. The Tigerettes defeated Lake Arthur 38-31 when one of the Lady Panthers fouled out in overtime. Herd was the big gun for Capitan with 10 points.

The Tigerettes ran into quite a trauma last Saturday in Jal. The Varsity Girls were never in the game being defeated by the Lady Panthers 48-29. Jana Harris scored 13 points. Coach Woodward reports that Becky Huey had an excellent game in the following categories: offense, defense, rebounds and hustle.

Huey also scored 7 points. The Tigerettes won their game in Hagerman Tuesday night putting them at 4-0 in conference play. The varsity boys lost to the Bobcats. More information about these games next week.

Last week there was spring weather with warm, sunshiny days and cold nights.

Smokey Bear Museum had 256 registered visitors from Jan. 20-26. That is an excellent record for this time of year.

Once again the Lake Arthur Lady Panthers gave the Tigerettes a good game right to the wire. The Tigerettes finally succeeded in defeating the Panthers but was tough for a while. The Tigers defeated the Panthers by a large margin. Again, there was poor attendance at the games. Please everyone attend and help these fine young people with your support and your money at the gate. Our athletic program needs all the help it can get.

The Capitan Roundtable Club met at the lovely home of Angie Crowine, with Bessie Jones as hostess. Turkey, dressing and other goodies were enjoyed by 10 members. Maureen Sullivan was absent. Iris Crane, Betty Joiner and Angie Provine were guests. Frankie Tonn was voted unanimously an honorable member. Amolene McIntosh, vice president, presided at the meeting. Yearly dues were paid. Harriet McGinnis won one raffle and Betty Lou Joiner the other. Report was made by Mary Dean on Christmas presents taken to the Ruidoso Health Care Center. The next meeting will be at the home of Mary Dean, Feb. 20.

Welcome to a new business in Capitan, Joe Armstrong, started over one week ago in the Carpet and Upholstery cleaning business. We do wish him success for many years with us.

The Capitan Saw Shop has new hours, Mon., 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Tues., 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sat., 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Contract on the new library finished Monday according to schedule. A job well done.

Maxine Wright plans to go to Lubbock, Friday to help her mother Elsie Kidd, celebrate her 85th birthday Feb. 3. Happ Allens' birthday is Feb. 3 and he too will be 85 years. Kay Strickland joins me in wishing them both many, more very happy and healthy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Graen and daughter Karen of Carlsbad were last weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland and family.

Larry Moore of North Carolina, formerly a resident of Capitan, had a heart attack last Sunday and at this time is in intensive care there. I wish him a good recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Booher and baby daughter are now located in their new home in the subdivision on Highway 47.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronny Montes became the happy proud parents of a son born last week at the Ruidoso hospital weighing 7 lbs. 1 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Blane Miller became proud and happy parents of a daughter born Saturday night, Jan. 25, at the Ruidoso hospital.

The Robert Runnels crew were guests of the Jack Walthall's at the Siete Puertas Ranch on Superbowl Sunday. They all got together to cheer on the Chicago Bears to their first NFL Championship in 23 years. Dona was sure excited to see cousin Steve Fuller win a superbowl ring.

CAPITAN CITY COUNCIL—

Meeting called

By BARTLEY McDONOUGH
A special called meeting of the Capitan City Council was held, Friday evening, Jan. 24, at City Hall for the expressed purpose of selecting an engineering firm with reference to the new well. Council members were to rate the proposals from the following firms: Burton Engineers of Las Cruces, Wm. Matotan & Associates of Albuquerque, Dennis Engineering of Socorro, Andrews, Asbury of Albuquerque, and Atkins-Landfair of Roswell. Mayor Cummins added up the grades and Atkins-Landfair of Roswell received the highest rating. A motion was then made by Trustee Renfro to select this firm with which to negotiate. Trustee Coker seconded the motion which carried on a 2-1 vote. Trustee Beavers cast a negative vote. Trustee Coker stated that other engineers would be consulted if negotiations with Atkins-Landfair were not fruitful. Mayor Cummins informed those present that this was not a contract. He also stated that the firm of Atkins-Landfair had not been assigned any ties or contingencies to the well.

Trustee Coker stated that a second test of the well would be performed by a completely unbiased firm when the effluent credits are released. If the quantity and quality of the well are not high enough, the well will not be developed. Capitan citizens will go to the polls on March 4 and decide the answer to the following question: Shall the Village of Capitan, NM, be authorized to issue its general obligation bonds in an amount not exceeding $600,000 for the purpose of constructing and purchasing a system for supplying water for the Village. This would be added to the $593,000 already received in grants. The estimated assessed tax increase would be $25.31 per $1,000 assessed valuation going from $29.94 in 1984 to $55.25 in 1986.

Lemon law

Santa Fe — Last year, Governor Toney Anaya signed into law the Motor Vehicle Quality Assurance Act, more commonly known as the new car Lemon Law. The law went into effect January 1, 1986. The law only applies to new cars purchased after January 1, 1986. If you bought a 1986 model car before that date, the law does not apply to you. If your new car is a lemon, the law requires the manufacturer to give you a replacement car or refund your money less a reasonable use allowance. The law states that a car is a lemon if the shop can't repair a substantial defect after four tries or if the car spends thirty days in the repair shop during the first year of ownership. A very important aspect of the lemon law states that if the manufacturer has or sponsors an arbitration program that substantially complies with federal law and is fair and impartial, the consumer first must participate in the arbitration program before using the lemon law. In the arbitration program a consumer can still ask for a refund or replacement and is not bound by the arbitrators decision. If he is not satisfied he can still go to court using the lemon law. In order to determine if you have to go through arbitration, you can contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Divisions toll free number 1-800-432-2070. The law provides that the Attorney General may decide if an arbitration program meets federal law and is fair and impartial. The Attorney General's office is presently reviewing all the arbitration programs and will decide in the next several weeks whether these programs comply with the new law. If they do not, then the consumer does not have to participate in an arbitration program prior to seeking relief under the lemon law. If the consumer decides to use the lemon law, he must notify the manufacturer in writing. If the manufacturer does not provide a refund or replacement, the consumer can take the manufacturer to court and if successful, the manufacturer has to pay the consumer's attorney fees. Because the law only applies during the first year of ownership, the consumer must go to court within eighteen months from the date of purchase or within ninety days of the arbitration decision. Finally, the lemon law does not replace other existing state or federal consumer laws. It is designed to supplement them and offer the injured consumer added protection. Before deciding whether you wish to use the lemon law you should contact an attorney. For more information or to file a related complaint contact the Consumer Protection Division, Attorney General's Office, P. O. Drawer 1608, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87504-1508 or call toll free 1-800-432-2070.

WILDLIFE NEWS—

Hunting seasons continue

SANTA FE, NM — The new year doesn't put an end to current hunting seasons—some of which continue into March. Hunters should consult official proclamations for details, but here's a synopsis of seasons still open to hunters in 1986:
Perstian Ibex: Unlimited licenses are available through March 31 for the area outside the main Florida Mountains in the southwest. The bag limit is any two ibex. License fee is $28 for residents, $503 for nonresidents.
Cougars: Units in the north, east and southeast are open through March 31. Bag limit is one cougar, except for females with kittens, or any kitten less than a year old. License fee is $10.50 for residents, $51 for nonresidents.
Barbary Sheep: Hunters may purchase one license that is valid for two hunt periods. The B-2 hunt, covering much of the state, is open Jan. 4-28. The B-3 hunt is for west-central New Mexico and is open through March 31; best areas are the hills west of Los Lunas and the malpais south of Grants. Bag limit for either hunt is two sheep. Licenses cost $38 for residents, $303 for nonresidents.

Geese: Pacific Flyway seasons extend through Jan. 19 for light and dark geese. Central Flyway season for dark geese runs through Jan. 19, and light geese may be hunted through Feb. 28.
Ducks: Pacific Flyway season runs through Jan. 12. Central Flyway season runs through Jan. 5 in the north and Jan. 12 in the south. Dates are the same for coots, mpor hens and gallinules.
Sandhill Crane: Season is open through Jan. 28 in seven southeastern counties. Limit is three a day, six in possession.
Hunters must have a permit and a bird-hunting license.
Quail: Season runs through Feb. 16. Limit is 15 a day, 30 in possession.
Bird hunters need a small-game license ($9.50 for residents, $51 for nonresidents) or other applicable license. Waterfowl hunters must also have a federal 'STUDENT OF THE WEEK' for Carrizozo schools is Tim Baum. He was chosen by Mrs. Patterson because of his continual work in Science Fair projects. He was a regional winner last year. Tim is Jr. class president, a member of the student council, student senate and ski club. His hobby is skiing and his special interest is science. He is the son of Georgia Baum. Tim is living with Bill and Mary Hasenbuhler while he finishes his education in Carrizozo.

LINCOLN NATIONAL FOREST

ALAMOGORDO, NM—Fire danger on the Lincoln National Forest varies from low at the Guadalupe Ranger District near Carlsbad to moderate at the Smokey Bear and Cloudcroft Ranger Districts and high at the Mayhill Ranger District.

The Sacramento Mountains strongly affect Alamogordo's climate and also furnish a more variable climate within a few miles of the city. Winds originating in the Gulf of Mexico bring much of the moisture that falls in southeastern New Mexico. Because the mountains both retard these air currents and also rob them of their moisture, the average annual rainfall at stations on the eastern slope is half again as heavy as Alamogordo's on the leeward side. The mountains also tend to ward off many winter invasions of cold arctic air which sometimes sweep southward over the great plains and across the State's eastern section.

Three Rivers Campground located between Carrizozo and Tularosa east of US 54 is open all year. All other campgrounds on the Smokey Bear Ranger District near Ruidoso are closed. The winter fuelwood area is open. Information number for this district is (505) 257-4095.

All campgrounds on the Cloudcroft Ranger District are closed. Be alert for fallen rocks on US 82 east of Cloudcroft. Fuelwood areas Rim A and Rim B are open. Information number for this district is (505) 682-2551.

Deans List

GRINNELL, IA — Some 89 Grinnell College students have been named to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement during the first semester of the 1985-86 academic year.

Following are the names, the names of their parents, home addresses, and high schools of the Dean's List students, presented alphabetically by home towns within their respective states or other areas:

- NEW MEXICO
CAPITAN — Robert J. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Parker; graduate of Capitan High School.
FARMINGTON — Michelle M. Sandel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sandel of 716 Rosa St.; graduate of Farmington High School.
SOCORRO — Shane Ohline, daughter of Prof. R. Wayne Ohline of 1214 North Dr.; graduate of Socorro High School.

David Stuart's "NEW MEXICO'S HERITAGE"

"Heaton Canyon — Archeology for Everyone"

Archeologists call it the Vidal Site. Ironically, it lies beneath a modern trash dump in Heaton Canyon north of Gallup. About 100 years ago Anasazi farmers built many small pueblos on surrounding hillsides before creating an immense kiva—Heaton Canyon's architectural masterpiece.

I've never been to Heaton Canyon and that's a mistake. Arlette Miller, a student in my evening class, "Ancient Man in New Mexico", recently wrote a gem of a paper about the Vidal Site. Arlette is typical of the "new breed" of students coming to university—adults who bring as much to the classroom as they receive.

So, through her paper and subsequent conversations Arlette filled me in on some very fascinating doings in local archeology. For nine years the Archeological Society of New Mexico has run a summer field school at Heaton Canyon. There, ordinary folks can pursue their dream to learn excavation technique each morning, followed by afternoon laboratory and seminars. Four hours of college credit can be arranged through UNM's Gallup Branch and the Archeological Society's field instructors are highly skilled. This summer people like Arlette will again go to Heaton Canyon from June 28 to July 25. If you want to try your hand at a professional quality program for amateur archeologists write the Archeological Society of New Mexico at P. O. Box 3485, Albuquerque, NM 87110.

Heaton Canyon itself went through several phases of growth and development in prehistoric times. First, pit-house dwellers of the 8th and 9th Centuries A.D. dug their scattered homes into the canyon's hillsides and farmed small pockets of bottomland. These sites are modest and life was hard.

Wild plant foods supplemented the pit-house dweller's small harvests of corn, beans, and squash. The area around Gallup provided Indian rice grass, tansy mustard, yucca, pinon, juniper berries, and pigweed seeds. The tiny pigweed seeds are particularly high in protein.

Later, in the 10th and 11th Centuries, a number of small masonry roomblocks were built in the area. Gallup was one of the early breadbaskets of the Anasazi farmer's whose settlements exploded in an orgy of growth during the early 13th Century.

By A.D. 1050 more than 10,000 small Anasazi villages dotted the scrubby San Juan Basin and Chaco Canyon became the hub of a vast economic and political network. For a time the Gallup area faded in economic importance and Chacoan Society depended heavily on larger settlements to the north, along highway 666.

Sometime about A.D. 1000, the Great Kiva at Heaton Canyon was carved from the rocky soil. Roughly 50 feet in diameter and six feet deep, the huge religious chamber had a surface area of nearly 2000 square feet—the size of a handsome modern home! More than 250 tons of dry, rocky soil were laboriously loosened by wooden digging sticks then removed with cottonwood scoops.

Cottonwood scoops, each roughly two feet long and 10 inches wide, served as "shovels" during the heyday of the Chaco-farmers. It would have taken more than 100 thousand scoopsful of rocky soil to prepare the shell of the Great Kiva. The huge hole was then lined with rough sandstone blocks and roofed with timbers cut from nearby mountains.

Archeologists have argued for years over just why a number of these outsized kivas were built during Anasazi times. Many, like the one at Heaton Canyon and the famous Casa Rinconada at Chaco Canyon, are set off by themselves and don't seem to belong to any one pueblo. They may have been gathering places for small settlements scattered over many square miles or served to unite Anasazi people in religious ways now lost in the mists of time.

The kiva at Heaton Canyon was probably little used for some years in the late A.D. 1000's. Then about A.D. 1150, at the very end of the Chacoan period, folks returned to re-roof the kiva and refurbish part of the masonry interior.

Very few artifacts have been found in the kiva. Unlike television fantasies of archeological digs, most sites grudgingly yield up only scientific facts and little treasure. Still, for those like Arlette Miller who yearn to pursue field archeology if only for a few weeks each year, programs like the supervised dig at Heaton Canyon are the real thing.

Everyone benefits from the Vidal Site project. A piece of the past is retrieved without random pothunting, folks like Arlette can pursue their passions, and some will go on to make real contributions to southwestern archeology — or to teach their Professors something new.

+EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Stuart is the author of "Glimpses of the Ancient Southwest" and teaches at the University of New Mexico.

Corona Sports

Corona boys had a slow first half against Hondo Saturday night but managed to pull out 25 points in the last quarter to hand the Eagles a 62-48 loss. Travis Lightfoot put in a good night's work with 23 points while Marvin Founds and Steve Copeland each contributed 12.

Corona girls came on strong and delivered an impressive 46-17 performance in their game at Hondo. The Cardinals held the opposition to only one basket from the floor during the entire second half. Waynette Lindsey was high scorer with 18 points and Denise Lightfoot followed with 13.

The earth's surface holds 324 million cubic miles of water. Another 2 million cubic miles lie underground, and 3,000 cubic miles of water are suspended in the atmosphere.

CAUSE NO. CV 85-63

AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE, Plaintiff, vs. LOVINGTON PUBLISHING CO., INC., Defendants.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION

This matter having come on before the Court this 9th day of January, 1986, and the Court having been fully advised of the premises herein, it is hereby ordered that the Notice of Foreclosure Sale be published for four successive weeks in the Lincoln County News, a newspaper of general circulation in Lincoln County, New Mexico.

RICHARD A. PARSONS, Judge 12th District

STATE OF NEW MEXICO) COUNTY OF LINCOLN)

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

LOVINGTON PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC., and all other interested persons are hereby notified that on February 28, 1986 between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and the setting of the sun of the same day, at the courthouse door located at Central Ave. in the City of Carrizozo, County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, I, the undersigned, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the following real property (the "Property"):

The southerly portion of Lot 3, Block BB, SLEEPY HOLLOW SUBDIVISION, Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico, being more particularly described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a point on the East line of said Lot 3, which is 100.6 feet North of the Southwest corner of Lot 3; thence North along the West line of said Lot 3, 85.7 feet; thence South 100.0 fence; thence West 100.0 feet; thence North along the West line of said Lot 3, 65.7 feet; thence Northeasterly approximately 105.70 feet to the point of beginning, PLUS an easement for driveway from the Northerly line of the above described tract to Main road, being a strip of land 12 feet in width along the East side of said Lot 3.

Said Lot 3 being shown by plat of Sleepy Hollow Subdivision, filed in the office of the County Clerk and Ex-officio Recorder of Lincoln County, February 9, 1948.

This sale will be made to satisfy the debt evidenced by two promissory notes, the first being dated September 25, 1979 ("First Note") in the original principal sum of $32,000.00 executed by LOVINGTON PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC. as Maker to PIONEER SAVINGS AND LOAN as Payee secured by a Mortgage Deed ("First Mortgage") executed by Maker to Payee. This note and mortgage lien were transferred to AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE, El Paso, Texas on December 18, 1984. The second note was executed on July 17, 1984 ("Second Note") in the original principal sum of $77,459.75 and secured by a Mortgage Deed ("Second Mortgage") executed by W. H. GRAHAM in his individual capacity as President of LOVINGTON PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC., as Maker to AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

Due to the failure of LOVINGTON PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC. to pay the debts described above, AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE filed a lawsuit styled AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE V. LOVINGTON PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC., Cause No. CV-85-63, Div. III, Judge Robert M. Doughty, II, presiding. The nature of this suit was an action to collect sums due on the above-described promissory notes.

The property is to be sold pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Foreclosure entered on October 1, 1985. The judgment was in the amount of:

- 1) $30,943.58 - Amount unpaid on the First Note.
2) $3,359.40 - Interest on the First Note at the rate of 12.0 percent per annum from November 1, 1984 until September 28, 1985.
3) $79,417.76 - Amount unpaid on the Second Note.
4) $1,586.00 - Interest thereon at the rate of 10.0 percent per annum from July 17, 1985 until September 26, 1985.
5) $11,000.00 - Attorney's fees.
6) $67.00 - Court costs.
$115,353.74 - TOTAL JUDGMENT AMOUNT.

In addition, interest at the maximum legal rate accrues until the Total Judgment amount is paid in full.

Pursuant to the Order of Foreclosure, the mortgage and claim of lien held by AMERICAN BANK OF COMMERCE was ordered foreclosed and the Property sold by a Special Master. James R. Askew, Jr., Esq. was appointed Special Master for said sale.

Dated: January 8, 1986.

Feed your beef

Beef researchers have come up with a way to decide how much to increase cattle feed during cold weather says Barry Herd, Lincoln County Extension Agent for New Mexico State University.

Common sense tells you that you need to feed more during cold weather. But, many beef producers ask more technical questions. How much should you feed? What type of feed should you use? How cold does it need to be before you adjust the ration?

Since temperature and wind both affect the amount of cold stress the animal feels, both must be taken into account by calculating an effective temperature. Effective temperature is figured by taking the thermometer temperature in Fahrenheit and subtracting one degree for every mile per hour of wind speed. For every degree of effective temperature below 30 to 32 degrees increase feed by 1 percent.

For example Barry says, "what if a cow is eating 20 pounds of hay and the temperature drops to 20 degrees and the wind is blowing 13 miles per hour?"

First, subtract the speed of the wind in miles per hour, 13, from the thermometer temperature, 20 degrees (20 minus 13 = 7). Subtract this number from 32 degrees (32 minus 7 equal 25). So, the producer should increase the cow's hay intake by 25 percent. Since the cow was eating 20 pounds before the temperature dropped, the producer increases the intake by five pounds.

"One final point," Barry says, "There is more heat of digestion produced when cattle are fed high-roughage diets than when they are fed high-concentrate diets. Because of this, experienced feeders commonly increase the amount of roughage in the diet of cattle during cold periods rather than to increase concentrate or grain feeding."

USDA ANNOUNCES—

New reserve program

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today said farmers may begin in early March to volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the Conservation Reserve Program, a provision of the Food Security Act of 1985.

Highly erodible land that enters the Conservation Reserve Program will be ineligible for farming for 10 years and must instead be planted with permanent vegetative cover.

"The Conservation Reserve is one of the most important provisions of the 1985 farm bill," said Block. "The program will go a long way toward conserving America's eroding farmland for the future."

Up to 45 million acres may be enrolled in the reserve during the five-year period, 1986 through 1990. The yearly program acreage goals are at least 5 million for the 1986 crop year, 10 million or more each year 1987 through 1989, and 5 million or more for 1990, according to Block.

Program participants will receive annual rental payments, the amounts depending on the bids per acre and the number of acres under the 10-year contracts. Participants also will receive 50 percent of eligible costs of establishing trees or grass on the acreage placed in the reserve.

Rental payments will compensate farmers for retiring highly erodible cropland from crop production. The conservation payments will partly reimburse farmers for one-half the one-time costs of establishing vegetative cover.

Rental payments will be made annually as soon as practicable after October 1 of each calendar year. Cost-sharing payments will be made as soon as possible after individual participants report their conservation treatments are in place.

The total amount of rental payments for any fiscal year may not exceed $50,000 or its equivalent, if in-kind payments are made. There is no payment limit on cost-sharing for cover establishment.

"Farmers who decide to return land to production during the 10-year contract must repay the government, with interest, all of its cost for annual rental and for establishing cover," said Block. "In the event of national need, however, the Secretary of Agriculture may declare that any farmer who wants to return the land to production may do so without penalty."

The sign-up dates for the Conservation Reserve Program are expected to be announced soon. Farmers interested in participating in the program should contact their local office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Block said other USDA agencies also will administer the program. Technicians from USDA's Soil Conservation Service will help farmers determine if their land is eligible; the Extension Service will lead public information and education efforts; and the Forest Service will coordinate and provide technical assistance for tree planting.

State and local agencies also will lend assistance, he said. State forestry agencies will help prepare and approve trees planting plans. State wildlife agency representatives will serve on the conservation review groups to recommend and assist in determining the cover practice specifications necessary for wildlife enhancement. State conservation agencies will recommend and assist with erosion control requirements.

Local conservation districts will approve all plans.

Officers elected

LAS CRUCES — Katherine Pearson, Albuquerque, was recently elected president of the New Mexico 4-H Youth Development Foundation, while Butch Del Curto, Vaughn, was chosen as secretary-treasurer. The foundation provides financial support for 4-H member and leader programs in the state, according to Glenn Bartelt, Las Cruces, executive director of the New Mexico 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

4-H Foundation trustees, during the annual meeting, also selected February as the month when they will conduct their big fund-raising activity. Trustee support was given to the 4-H Cookbook program. Those cookbooks are available now in most New Mexico counties.

"We are extremely happy to have these two state leaders as officers of the 4-H foundation," Bartelt says. Ms. Pearson has been a member of the Johnson and Lanphere law firm in Albuquerque since 1981, and is a graduate of the University of Miami Law School cum laude. She is a former Arizona 4-H club member, and has assisted the New Mexico 4-H program as a key leader in English horsemanship. She also served as assistant to the press secretary for Senator Barry Goldwater, Arizona.

Del Curto is president of the United New Mexico Bank of Vaughn, serves Vaughn as its mayor, and is a member of the school board there. He is secretary-treasurer of the Vaughn Rotary Club.

Inside the Outdoors

By BEN HANSON

The Department of Game and Fish recently completed aerial deer surveys in the southeastern part of the state and the results contain some good news for hunters.

The surveys were conducted by helicopter in the Sacramento, White and Capitan Mountains as well as the Pinon and Carrizozo areas. The good news from the surveys is the excellent fawn crop. The fawn crop is a comparison of the number of does counted to the number of fawns counted. This year the fawn crops ranged from a low of 55 fawns per 100 does in the Carrizozo area, which is very good, to a high of 85 fawns to 100 does in the Capitan Mountains, which is excellent.

According to Southeast Area Game Management Specialist, Mike Bell, this is the second year in a row that fawn crops have been higher than normal. He attributes this to the above average amount of rainfall we have had in the southeastern part of the state over the past two years. According to Bell, "More precipitation leads to increased browse production from plants and better nutrition for adult does. If the does are in better shape it results in increased reproduction and higher fawn survival."

Another piece of good news for hunters is the number of bucks counted during the surveys. All areas had good buck to doe ratios with the highest in the Pinon area, 15 bucks per 100 does, and the lowest in the Capitan, 10 bucks per 100 does. The observers reported that almost all the bucks seen were large, mature animals. Game Manager, Mike Bell, also stated, "The actual buck to doe ratio is probably higher than this survey indicates. It is often difficult, and sometimes impossible, to pick the young bucks, such as spikes, out of a group of running deer from the helicopter. Surveys conducted by officers on the ground aided by binoculars or spotting scopes give a more accurate buck to doe ratio."

What does this survey mean to the hunters? It means with a high fawn crop there will be an abundant supply of young bucks, spikes and forkhorns, in the field next year. It also means that there are plenty of big, trophy-sized bucks still out there.

The results of the aerial surveys will be combined with data collected through ground surveys, information gained on harvest from the card questionnaires and input from the public to help formulate the regulations for next year's big game seasons.

Right now it appears that the forecast for next year is a good one.
