Big game meetings scheduled

The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish has changed its timetable for preparing regulations for next year's big game seasons.

The new regulations for the 1987-88 seasons will be adopted by the State Game Commission on Sept. 25 and 26. In order to gain public input and recommendations for the new regulations a meeting will be held in Alamogordo at 7 p.m. on Aug. 13 at the Alamogordo Civic Center on First and Florida.

The department is interested in hearing from everyone, so all sportsmen and concerned citizens are urged to attend and participate in this meeting.

For further information call the game department office in Roswell, 624-6135.

Grand jury selection to begin Aug. 25

Qualifying for the grand jury that will investigate the McKnight murders will begin Aug. 25. Summons have been sent to 150 Lincoln County residents in preparation of the qualifying.

The first 75 summons were mailed July 30. Those people are to appear Aug. 25. The second 75 summons were mailed Aug. 5. These people are to appear in district court Aug. 27.

The grand jury is being called in response to an order by the state supreme court on July 2 that a grand jury would be impaneled within 60 days to investigate the McKnight murders.

The McKnights were found murdered in their home near Picacho on Nov. 15, 1984. The petition for a grand jury was filed by Terri Bussey, sister of Mrs. McKnight.

Selection of names for the grand jury is made from the jury master file in the county clerk's office. The jury master file is a list of registered voters. Names for jurors are selected at random by the computer. This selection is made only on a request from the courts. County clerk personnel must have a court order to run a list of names for jury selection from the jury master wheel.

Humane Society raising funds

The Humane Society of Lincoln County is continuing its efforts to raise $50,000 to build and maintain an animal shelter in Ruidoso.

A sign showing a thermometer has been erected in School House Park on Sudderth Drive and will mark the progress of the fund drive.

Haynsworth stressed the need for a place to house lost or unwanted animals in Ruidoso. "Right now you have to drive 30 miles out to Fort Stanton to claim your pet," she said.

Persons wishing to contribute can send donations to: The Animal Shelter Building Fund, P.O. Box 2832, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Supreme court rules for the attorney general

By RUTH HAMMOND

The most recent petition concerning the McKnight murder investigation was heard in the State Supreme Court early Wednesday.

Thomas P. "Cotton" McKnight, former Lincoln County Commissioner, and his wife Judy were found murdered in their home near Picacho in November 1984.

The investigations into the homicides and the ongoing disagreements between the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office has led to this latest court hearing.

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan and Terri Bussey, sister of Judy McKnight, filed a petition in district court in Alamogordo on July 25. District Judge Sandra A. Grisham issued a writ of mandamus in the proceeding and ordered that a "show cause" hearing be held on Aug. 5.

In turn, the attorney general's office filed a writ of superintending control petition asking that the supreme court take control and order Grisham to dismiss proceedings in district court.

The hearing held by the supreme court Aug. 6 granted the attorney general's writ and ordered that any additional matters in the grand jury proceedings be directed to District Judge Richard Parson and his court.

Qualifying for the grand jury that will investigate the McKnight murders will begin Aug. 25.

PONY EXPRESS WINNERS. Kerry Clements (right) and David Cunningham were winners of the Pony Express race Saturday with a record time of 1:52:58.

Bruhaha over winners

Pony Express race ends without the mail

By RUTH HAMMOND

The winner of the Pony Express race set a record time but finished the race without the traditional mail.

Clements-Cunningham of Picacho were declared official winners and the Hindi Arabian team came in second, even though neither team was carrying mail the last half of the race.

The 40-mile race started at 8:04 a.m. Saturday at Double Crossing, west of Lincoln. It ended less than two hours later when Kerry Clements made the winning ride across the finish line in White Oaks.

Seven minutes later, the Hindi horse was walked across the line with the help of several men. Winner of last year's race, the Arabian fell about a quarter of a mile from the finish line and had to be helped up. The horse had glazed eyes, a sweaty body and was staggering when he was helped across the finish line. The rider immediately removed the saddle and the horse was taken out in a field where more than 10 men could not keep the 1,000 pound animal on his feet.

Gallons of water were poured on the horse and ice was held on his back, sides, belly, legs and neck in an effort to help him regain circulation. Holly Dietz, a third year veterinary medicine student at Colorado State at Fort Collins, CO and a friend of the Hindi family, kept a vigil by the downed horse and worked with him until he was able to stand on his own. Dietz then walked the eight-year-old horse for more than two hours, giving him water sparingly and monitoring his movements.

The crowd was visibly shaken by the condition of the horse. When contacted on Tuesday, Hindi said the horse was sick for a day, but he is fine now. He said the only thing that saved the horse was the help of all the nice people.

Meanwhile, back at the race, the Mascarenas Arabian team came in 3rd with two hours, two minutes and six seconds. Shortly after that the disagreement began that included a protest about the mail not being carried and what clothing constituted western wear.

The first two teams were told by the judge at the midway point, where the horses and riders are changed, to go on without the mail. This brought the first protest citing rule No. 11: Each rider must carry letters given to him at start of race and must have them in their possession at all times, and will be delivered to the Pony Express Committee.

The next protest cited rule No. 3: A western style saddle must be used, riders must dress in western wear. (jeans, western shirt, hat, etc.) The Mascarenas rider said his adjustable cap had a western scene on it that made it western wear.

The first decision by the judges was that the teams would be taken as they crossed the finish line. Yells from the crowd about following the rules brought the statement, "If we went by the rules the whole bunch would be disqualified."

At that time a meeting was held with the officials and a petition was circulated asking people if the rules should be followed.

The official decision announced at 12:55 was "regardless of the petition, why should the riders be penalized? And the results would stand the way the horses came in."

1st place—Cunningham-Clements of Picacho with 1:52:58; 2nd place, Hindi Arabians, 1:59:55; 3rd place, Mascarenas Arabians, 2:02:06.

Now they tell him

Man's house partly on public right-of-way

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Saying they needed a legal opinion, Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission members postponed action on a request for a variance by a man whose plot showed one corner of his home was on a public right-of-way.

Commissioner Mary Underwood said she thought a legal opinion was needed because the man, Wendel King, had obtained a building permit before on the same property and nothing was said about the encroachment.

"We should get an opinion from the village attorney before we ask him to do anything," said Underwood.

King said he had moved a trailer on to the property at 130 Spruce St. in 1973 and that same year he had added a deck. It is the deck which plot plans show extends onto the right-of-way for Spruce Street.

King, who said he lives in El Paso and only uses the home on weekends, added that correcting the problem was "rapidly approaching exceeding the cost of the addition."

Commissioner chairman

Mike Callaghan said King needed to get a vacation of right-of-way from the village in order to clear up the problem. "At 50 cents per square foot, we are talking about $50 to buy the land, plus more surveying charges, plus an attorney's fee," said Callaghan.

"Now that this had come to our attention we need to get it cleared up because if we don't we could be held liable

Street paving project to begin on Aug. 12

The Carrizozo street paving project will officially begin on Aug. 12 when the bid is awarded for engineering services. The engineer is to provide engineering, design and inspection services for the paving project.

The paving project is being funded by a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) of $231,000 and the town is using $25,000 from the special infrastructure money that voters agreed should be used for streets.

Hubert Qunitana, executive director for the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development

District (SNMEDD), has been hired to be administrator for the paving project.

There were 22 engineering proposals received by the town. Quintana, Mayor Bob Hemphill and the citizens advisory committee reviewed each proposal and scored them according to pre-set guidelines set by the CDBG. Mary Chaves and Ruth Hammond were present from the citizens advisory committee. Paul Baca was unable to attend.

It was possible for each proposal to receive a score of 110. Factors for award/evaluation criteria: technical approach and understanding of problem, 30 points; work management plan, 15 points; experience of proposed personnel, 20 points; corporate experience, 20 points; familiarity with local context, 10 points; and cost, 15 points.

Four proposals are being considered. The final decision will be made by the Aug. 12 town council meeting.

The project schedule calls for 120 days for performance of design and engineering and 120 days for construction. The first engineering phase will end in December, the construction will begin early in 1987 (weather permitting) and the streets will be paved by mid-summer 1987.

ANIMAL CONTROL IN CARRIZOZO will become a reality with the animal control truck now in operation. Mayor Bob Hemphill gives the keys to Chief of Police C. A. "Choncho" Morales as police officer Chris Gomez watches. The truck was donated to the town by Lincoln County. Waste Control of New Mexico had the truck painted and a broken window replaced.

Entertainment

The Night Watchman

Los Amigos, which in Spanish means "the friends," certainly lived up to its name on a recent lunchtime visit.

Newly opened by the Perez family, Los Amigos offers a full menu of Mexican food with a small complement of American dishes, such as hamburgers. The Perez's also have a restaurant in Carlsbad.

Although part of the reason for the fast, friendly service could have been the rather sparse noon crowd, it was flawless.

We were immediately escorted to a booth by our waiter, who gave us menus and brought water.

After taking our order, he returned promptly with salsa and a plate of tortilla chips.

Rich with tomatoes, onions, and spices, the salsa actually tasted a little sweet either due to the onions or the tomatoes, I'm not sure which. Flavorful, it could have had more bite for my taste.

Our waiter also brought us two large glasses of iced tea, which were filled periodically at no additional charge. Los Amigos does not have a beer and wine license.

The menu was packed with a large variety of Mexican dishes. It included everything from huevos rancheros at $4.95 to fajitas at $6.50 and a Los Amigos Special with steak at $10.95. Also, a wide range of appetizers that averaged $2.50.

My companion ordered the enchiladas, flat corn tortillas covered with meat and red chile sauce. I had the stuffed sopapilla. Both dishes came with Spanish rice and refried beans.

Cooked to a crisp, the sopapilla was not really stuffed, it was sort of folded over the meat filling. The hamburger filling was just that with no perceptible spices added. In a word, bland.

The sopapilla was topped with sour cream, lettuce and tomatoes, which when supplemented with salsa from the chips made a tasty dish.

My companion said her enchiladas, with their cheese and smooth chile sauce, were just right.

The refried beans and rice were standard fare, although the rice was a little dry it still had a tomatoey flavor.

During the meal, the waiter checked to see if everything was going well and was always there with the iced tea refills. There was no twiddling our thumbs waiting for the tab either.

Our meal including tip came to $13.11, but as we were leaving the cashier told us they planned to add luncheon specials like burritos for $3.50. —Rigo Chavez

At 2705 Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso, Los Amigos is open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for lunch and 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. for dinner.

All restaurants are reviewed anonymously with one or more guests to provide a broader sampling. All meals are paid for and restaurants receiving unfavorable reviews have been visited more than once.

COME ON, HOMBRES. Members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Greeters were on hand to help with the opening of a new men's store in the Altic complex on Mechem Drive in Ruidoso. Hombre features designers such as Alexander Julian. Mayor Pro-tem Jerry Shaw (center) did the ribbon cutting honors. On Shaw's right are store owner Susan Ruch and assistant manager Ginny Pollock.

Annual Aspenfest schedules variety of entertainment

Ruidoso will observe the changing of the seasons with its annual Aspenfest celebration, which this year will be built around the theme "A Century of Fun in Ruidoso."

The Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally begins Sept. 24 at Carrizo Lodge. Awards will be given for the oldest bike, the oldest rider, the largest uniformed club, best dressed couple and the youngest rider, among others.

Rally participants can also compete in a drawing for a Harley-Davidson FXRT Dresser Motorcycle donated by Barnett Harley-Davidson of El Paso and the Golden Aspen Rally Association of Ruidoso.

"Godfather" Mike and Linda Sanici of Hurst, TX will be masters of ceremony for the rally that ends Sept. 27.

The Aspenfest Ball will be

Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The following weekend, Oct. 4-5, the celebration will continue with the Aspenfest Parade at 11 a.m., followed by a street festival and the New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff on Oct. 4.

The cookoff will continue all day at the Tall Pines RV Park in Ruidoso. Blue grass music will be featured at the park throughout the day on Saturday too.

Horton Stadium will host a marching band contest on Oct. 4 beginning at 1 p.m.

Parade organizer Nancy Radziewicz said she is still looking for someone 100 years or older to be the parade's grand marshal.

"I think it would be nice to tie that in with our centennial celebration," Radziewicz said. She said marching bands and other groups from around the state have been asked to participate. These include a group of Albuquerque Shriners who play bagpipes.

"I'd like to get input from the community as to what they want," she added.

Also on Oct. 4-5, a Volksmarch walk to promote good health, a ski swap, an arts and craft show and the White Mountain Challenge Cup, bicycle hill climb, are scheduled.

Other events to be held in conjunction with the Aspenfest celebration are the Ruidoso Harmony Festival on Oct. 11 at 8 p.m. at the Ruidoso Middle School, a German Wurstfest Oct. 17-19, a square dance jamboree on Oct. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at Carrizo Lodge and a Halloween Carnival on Oct. 31 at Mountain Air Cabins.

For additional information on Aspenfest call Nancy Radziewicz at 257-4031 or the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395.

Students report on Boys, Girls State

CORONA—Several Girls and Boys State participants presented reports to American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary last week in Corona.

Those who attended the 39th annual experience in government were Beverly Bell, Wyanette Lindsey, Eric Wetzel and Danny Cordova (all from Corona) and Patrick Madrid and Edwin Aragon of Vaughn.

Each participant reported on his individual experiences, with the girls detailing city and county political activities at NMMI in Roswell. The boys, meanwhile, participated in similar activities at Socorro.

Cordova learned the importance of every vote as he won the primary election for county treasurer, then lost the general election by five votes.

Womens Spiritual Renewal Conference

The First Baptist Church of Capitan is sponsoring a Womens Spiritual Conference Sept. 26-27 at the Bonita Park Nazarine Campground. Pat Stone of Lubbock, TX will be ministering.

For more information call 354-2726 or 354-2246.

Lindsey reported that she was elected to a position on her city council while Bell ran in her Yucca City mayoral race. She lost but was appointed manager of chamber of commerce and was elected county clerk. She also served as clerk to probate judge and county commissioners.

The daily schedule included an opening service, "For God and Country"; a classroom session where the political process was studied; afternoon guest speakers from government, including Gov. Tonye Anaya; campaigning and elections. The week's activities also included a talent show and impressive opening and closing ceremonies.

All participants agreed that the experience was an excellent opportunity to learn about the American government processes.

'George M' is in Alamogordo

The Alamogordo Music theater is presenting "George M," the story of George M. Cohan, writer of many songs and producer of Broadway shows during the early part of the 1900s.

This musical is presented at 8 p.m. on Aug. 8-9 at the Alamogordo Civic Center. Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for students and children.

Songs included are "Over There," "Mary," "Give My Regards to Broadway" and "You're a Grand Old Flag." "George M" is the 60th production for the Alamogordo Music Theater.

Ruidoso plans extensive advertising promotions

Production of a news video extolling the virtues of Ruidoso has been postponed by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Advertising Committee.

Saying they didn't want to rush the production of the 2-minute video, which will cost about $23,000 to produce and promote, the committee voted to delay it until a budget for the year is worked out.

"We don't want to start spending money we don't have yet," said committee chairman Robert Boverie.

Rod Adamson of the Ruidoso Lodger's Tax Committee, which provides about half of the advertising budget, said that the proposed budget for the 1986-87 fiscal year had not been approved by line item by the village council.

Epstein Communications, the committee's ad agency, wanted to start production of the video this week. They sought to use as a news "hook" the All American Futurity.

Once produced, the video would be distributed to 125 television stations throughout the country that could use either 90 seconds or the full two minutes.

Kevin Clear, an ad committee member, said he was still in favor of the news video,

"I just think we need to wait and make sure it's done right."

The committee also discussed a proposed contract with Epstein, but held off approval until another meeting later this month.

Action was taken on a proposal to bring 20 tour operators from Japan, Hong Kong and Singapore in for a familiarization tour of the area. The operators will arrive Sept. 23 and stay overnight.

The committee will begin gathering information on Ruidoso for inclusion in a special section of "Travel and Leisure" magazine's December issue. The special section will include 24 pages on New Mexico tourist attractions.

Finally, the committee members discussed having a market survey done to determine what Ruidoso's image is.

The research would be done by a university marketing department and Boverie suggested that the committee use Eddy Dry of the University of New Mexico Anderson Schools of Management. Dry did a similar survey for Ski New Mexico in March.

Gamble, Brotherton continue seminars

By MICHELLE DeBERGE

Two different watercolor classes, taught by Danny Gamble, of Canyon, TX and Naomi Brotherton, of Dallas, are being offered this week at Carrizo Lodge.

Gamble paints landscapes with opaque watercolor. He works from dark to light for overlay detail and uses traditional techniques to accomplish a soft mood.

One of Gamble's current students said, "He has a heart so big, is wonderful patient, and does terrific work."

Gamble, with a bachelor of arts degree in education, taught art at a junior high school, a high school, and a college in Amarillo, TX.

Currently, Gamble exhibits 20 to 25 shows a year and teaches workshops throughout the Southwest.

He had planned to be a professional baseball player, but changed his mind after an elementary art course in college. He has been a freelance artist since 1973.

The Artisan's Shop in Ruidoso displays his work, as do five other galleries in New Mexico and one in Texas.

Brotherton is teaching watercolor painting of landscapes, still life, and floral arrangements. Her seminar helps to develop the students' understanding of transparent watercolor layers. Her workshop will be this week and the week of Aug. 11-15.

Brotherton began painting at the age of 14 and studied with Edgar Whitney. She later graduated from Baylor University and was a commercial artist for 20 years.

"The challenge of making the white paper work through the transparent pigment interested me in college," said Brotherton.

For the past 24 years she has taught in Dallas, and 20 years at Carrizo Lodge. She currently teaches classes at Artisan's Studio-Gallery in Dallas and at the Rue-Art Center in DeSoto, TX.

Published in 1981, the book "Watercolor in Watercolor" was based on her work.

Brotherton is listed in "Who's Who in American Art," "Who's Who of American Women" and "Notable Women of Texas."

'Up With People' is coming to Carrizozo

The international cast of "Up With People" will return to Carrizozo with its new hit show, "Beat of the Future," for two performances later this month.

Shows are scheduled for 7 p.m., Aug. 23 and 24, in the old gym at Carrizozo High School.

The advance team of Ann Hovendon, Ireland, and Karen Muse, Indiana, arrived in Carrizozo last week to begin preparations for the show and make arrangements for host homes for the cast.

Host families are needed for the 110 cast members. Anyone interested is asked to call Karen or Ann at 648-2347.

A parade is planned for Aug. 21 when the cast arrives. There will be a potluck dinner for the cast and community on Aug. 22.

later," Callaghan added. King said that it seemed unreasonable to him that he have to bear the cost of getting the matter resolved.

"It's a problem of economics," King said. "If it's going to cost that much, I'll just take it (the deck) off. I'll just board it up."

"I'm disappointed, frustrated, upset and angry. This makes Ruidoso less enjoyable for me."

Commission member Pete Thompson said he thought the situation was the village's problem. "He was permitted before when he built the deck. It wasn't his fault—he did everything he was asked to do."

Saying he felt bad about the situation, commissioner David Smith said he thought the commission "should do everything we can to expedite it."

Thompson added that the matter should be resolved as soon as possible so that the commission would know what to do about similar problems in the future.

"You don't want to make people mad over bureaucratic mish-mash, so we need to get it cleared up," Thompson said.

In other business, the commission:

—approved a request for an eight-space trailer court in the Airport Tracts Subdivision for Albert Shaw;

—approved a 10-foot-8-inch rear lot line variance for a new deck and existing mobile home for Wendell L. Walker in the Wingfield Homestead Subdivision. Smith said that because the mobile home was there before the lot line setback requirements went into effect in 1976, the commission had to grant the variance;

—heard a report from Sandy Hall, zoning enforcement officer, that the new master plan was being delayed in part because of short handedness in the Planning and Zoning Office and a delay in getting legal opinions from the village attorney.

CDBG grants deadline is upped to Aug. 15

A representative of the Southeastern Economic Development District was in Ruidoso Tuesday to discuss requirements for applications for Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) and New Mexico Community Assistance (NMCA) grants.

Steve Massey told Ruidoso village Councilors and audience members at the public hearing that about $6.8 million in CDBG monies from the US Department of Housing and Urban Development were available for 1987.

Of the $6.8 million, Massey said 15 percent was allocated for cities under 3,000 population and another 15 percent was earmarked for communities to develop new jobs.

He said only cities and counties can apply for the grants and any non-profit organizations seeking monies must be sponsored by a local government.

Massey said the deadline for applications was Aug. 15. Charlotte Jarratt, who is one of the organizers of the Meal Care program for the elderly, said she thought the deadline was too soon for her or anyone else interested in getting a grant.

"I just don't see how we can get everything we need together in time," she said adding that she planned on trying to submit a proposal anyway.

Massey said the deadline for the grants had been moved up from past years. "This program could fall under the Gramm-Rudman axe so they wanted to get things going as quickly as possible."

CDBG monies are for slum removal, must benefit low or middle income families or improve the health and safety of the community.

The NMCA grants can be used for programs brought about by rapid growth in an area or by the loss of a tax base, such as a large employer.

There are six categories under which CDBG funds can be applied for: These are infrastructure, housing rehabilitation and repair, public service buildings such as senior citizens centers, economic development, emergency funds and planning.

Massey said the planning grant was limited to a maximum of $25,000.

Dunlaps in car accident

Ralph Dunlap and his wife Rosalie were on their way back to Lincoln from Colorado Springs when they were involved in a one-car accident in Wagon Mound. They were taken to the hospital in Las Vegas.

Rosalie suffered back disc rupture and is having some stomach discomfort; Ralph suffered a mild concussion. Rosalie is still in the hospital; however, they hope to transfer her to a local hospital this week.

Referendum petition would stay .5 percent tax hike

By RIGGO CHAVEZ

RUIDOSO—Voters circulating a petition to bring a recently approved Ruidoso tax hike to referendum don't think they will have much trouble getting enough signatures.

Petitions requesting a public referendum on the .5 percent gross receipts tax hike were supposed to be ready for distribution on Wednesday.

The Ruidoso Village Council in a 4-to-3 vote approved the tax increase last week.

Al Junge, a former Ruidoso Village councilor, said he had prepared a petition and would be taking it to village clerk Leon Eggleston for approval Wednesday morning.

Junge said he would be meeting with several businessmen and other Ruidosoans later Wednesday to distribute the petitions, which must be signed by 125 voters to bring the tax increase to a vote.

"I don't think we'll have much of a problem getting people to sign it," he said adding that he hoped to have copies of the petition at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce office on Sudderth Drive and the Ruidoso Library.

"I had a number of people who came to me and asked me to start a petition," Junge said. "I can't take credit as the instigator."

Eggleston has said that the soonest an election on the question could be held is Dec. 22. Petitioners have until Aug. 28 to gather signatures.

"They have to get 5 percent of the registered voters in the last election," Eggleston explained.

The tax increase, which will carry Ruidoso's gross receipts taxes to 6.5 percent, the highest in the state, was approved to pay for revenue bonds the village would like to issue to buy the current Ruidoso airport site.

Some $550,000 in new revenues is expected to be raised by the tax each year. The airport site has been appraised at $2.6 million.

"My motive in starting the petition is not to get the half percent thrown out, but to force the council to listen. I agreed with Victor Alonso that the tax increase should be limited to a quarter percent, and the council should find other ways of paying for the airport," Junge said.

Councilors Alonso, Dub Holt and Elmer Pirelli cast the dissenting votes on the motion to approve the .5 percent tax increase.

Councilor Ray Dean Carpenter made the motion and councilors Jerry Shaw and Larry Simon supported it with the mayor breaking the tie.

"I think that the council was sort of arrogant in going ahead and passing this," Junge added.

The mayor and several of the councilors said that while they hoped a referendum could be avoided they expected it.

Eggleston said that if the tax increase is rejected by the voters a new tax cannot be enacted until next year and collections could not begin until July 1, 1987.

If Ruidosoans vote in favor of the tax increase, the village could start collecting it on Jan. 1, 1987.

OPINION

● ANYONE who thought the Wild West was dead, or that White Oaks, New Mexico, is a ghost town, or that man can't revert to the Neanderthal at the drop of a whiskey bottle, didn't attend the 18th annual Lincoln County Pony Express run held there the weekend of Aug. 1-2. The "run" was imaginatively flawed when the Pony Express riders, who were to carry on horseback the special post-marked letters from Lincoln to White Oaks, were not sworn in as required by postal regulations, and did not qualify as mail carriers. Explainable, Your Honor, considering that three-fourths of the celebrants were so drunk they couldn't lie on the floor without holding on. The party got off to a rousing start when some of the Pony Express mail was lost, which may cause some concern in the US Post Office Department. But everybody was having fun. Fist-fights broke out sporadically, much to the merriment of less-than-sober attendees. The New Mexico Attorney General contributed to the fun by sending the New Mexico State Police to apprehend three upright citizens for operating a Calcutta game. It is reported that about $18,000 in bet money was confiscated, and that the district attorney will be filing appropriate charges against them today. Meanwhile, back at the saloon, a bawdyhouse-bred broad rode her horse into the saloon, scattering drinkees, overturning tables and spilling costly booze. She miscalculated on exiting, and was properly cold-cocked when she failed to lower her head enough to avoid contact with the top of the door sill. She may recover. Another gentleman of exuberance, if not restraint, fired six shots from a revolver into the air, killing no ducks in the process. An unidentified cowboy rode his horse onto the dance floor and in an esemplastic display of savoir faire, spurred his mount into an occupied wheelchair, dumping an elderly cash customer onto the floor. There were other amusements in progress along the White Oaks Midway, but, after all, this is a family newspaper. All in all, this was the most interesting Pony Express Extravaganza ever staged. And probably the last.

● BY now most readers know that the Lincoln County News has obtained a private investigator to help uncover crime news that Carrizozo's city hall sweeps neatly under the rug. We could trust no local person to do this job, because just about everybody is related to everybody else by blood or marriage, which would compromise his judgment. So we brought in an outsider who has no ties to the community. He has no children to be intimidated, owes no bills that can't be paid, has no mortgage that can be called, no relatives on the city or county payroll, and has no desire to make any lasting friendships. That's the man we have to ferret out the news. He doesn't give a damn where the chips fall, and neither do we. There is too much lawlessness in the area and too much falsification of public records at city hall for any one man to get all the facts straight. But he gets the facts straighter than anyone can by reading the sketchy arrest records that are carefully censored and edited before being offered as a public record—if they are ever offered at all.

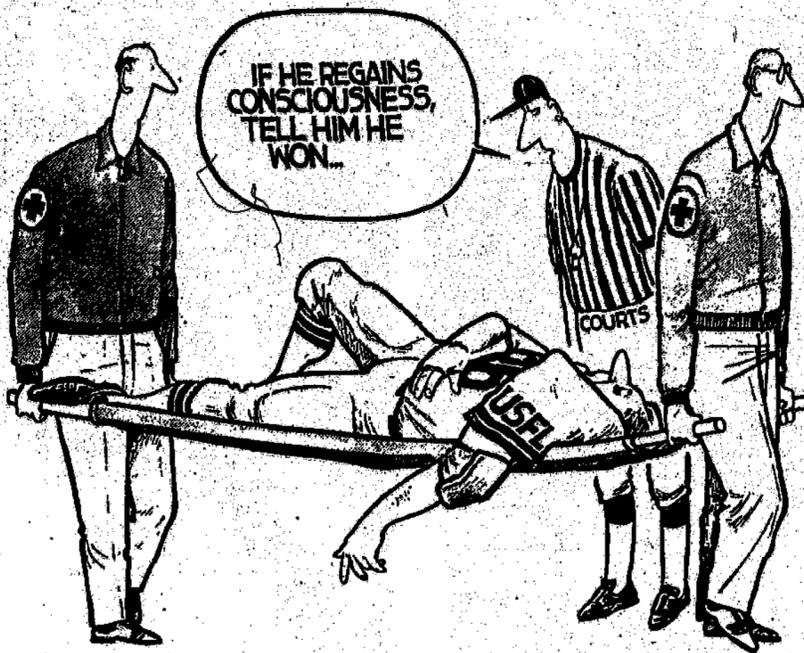

● NATURALLY, everyone wants to know who this person is so he can be run out of town, beaten up, or otherwise silenced. Many have called the NEWS for the person's identity. Please conserve your energy. You will never know. He wouldn't be worth a dime to us if just one person found out. It wouldn't be good for his health, either. The only way to get rid of him is for enough people to urge city hall to end its secrecy and compile full and complete records that are open to the public.

● THE same people who want the investigator's name revealed are calling to find out who writes our news stories. Who writes our news stories is none of their business. Legally and ethically, I am responsible for every word written in the Lincoln County News. I am not going to subject our reporters and contributors to abuse by those who may resent, for whatever reason, stories that appear in these columns. Anyone who feels he has some right to know who wrote a particular story should ask me. Then I can remind him in person that the reporter's identity is privileged and therefore none of his business.

● A small posse is out to find the person who wrote the story about Dino Baca trashing a car belonging to Teresita Chavez—just after the "official record" at city hall had been doctored to get him off the hook for the offense. Poor Polly Chavez has been subjected to outrageous abuse after being accused of writing that story—one that I wrote myself. But the posse wants somebody's hide, even if it happens to be that of an innocent person. I suggest posse members put away the rope, water their horses, and seek forgiveness of their sin. Leave it lay, boys.

● WE are also having trouble with letters to the editor. The letters department is a service we offer readers to air their views. Rules for letter writers are published on the editorial page (page 4) of each issue. Please read the rules before writing a letter. Not doing so may result in your letter not being published. Remember, we publish no third-person letters. If you write a letter to Ruth Hammond, it is not a letter to the editor—it is a letter to Ruth Hammond, and will not be published. Be sure to sign your correct name, indicate your address and phone number. Letters received without these three items will not be published. If your letter is not published, it is not because we are "chicken" or oppose your views; playing politics or conspiring to silence you. It is because you have not followed the rules. The rules may not mean anything in local politics, but rules mean something around here.

● IT is apparent that Democrats (and some Republicans) will not rest until every foot of US soil comes under federal ownership and control. Half the land mass of the United States is now owned by

Hollow victory

How many United States Football League games did you watch last year? Do you care if you never see one again?

If you don't care — and that's a strong possibility if you're not a USFL player or team owner — then you'll be glad to hear that a New York jury did nothing to help the young league survive. The jurors handed the USFL a moral victory in its antitrust lawsuit against the National Football League. Yes, the NFL is a monopoly, they said. And the NFL unfairly tried to gain a competitive edge over the USFL. But for the life of them, they couldn't see how the USFL suffered damages. The struggling league, which has lost nearly $200 million since it started three years ago, wound up with a $3 award. That may be its death sentence.

The USFL had asked for $1.89 billion, or at the least, a chance to air their games on one of the major networks. They certainly had a reason to believe they might prevail. This is a country with a historic hatred of business monopolies. Our courts did, after all, break up Ma Bell. But the jurors apparently didn't see the USFL as real competition. When its teams flopped, they refused to rescue the league with court action. The ruling made the NFL look bad. It confirmed that the USFL is irrelevant.

Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—The view of what are our state's major problems has to be very different for a resident of Albuquerque than it is for anyone from any other part of the state.

That's why we badly some correction in the make-up of that new organization inspired by our two US Senators that is called New Mexico First.

This group is described in its charter as hoping to "provide a vehicle by which the people of New Mexico can come together to address some of our problems in a unified way." That's certainly a laudable aim. What worries some of us who don't live within a few blocks of Coronado Center, though, is whether a group with 10 members out of 21 from the state's largest city will list problems in the same order we would.

TOP PROBLEM: Just take the question of unemployment, for example. At this moment, we are told, it stands at a highly frightening 9.7 percent for the state as whole.

It isn't nearly that bad in booming Bernalillo County, though, so those who seldom leave that part of the state are very little touched by it. In fact, the low level of unemployment there is made up for by a much higher level in some other parts of the state which are, at present at least, very lightly represented in this new do-good aggregation.

It's tough to say, but we aren't really all in this battle together. Some parts of New Mexico are much more deeply involved than the Duke City is or ever has been.

CORRECTION: One way to counterbalance the high percent of Albuquerqueans in the group at the start would be for New Mexicans from those parts sometime referred to in official documents as "the balance of the state" to enroll in droves. Annual dues is $50, and we will continue to remind people outside Bernalillo County now and then that we need lots of them in the organization.

We will also remind its leaders that holding meetings only in Albuquerque is not the way to go either. Those who come together to do what Senators Domenici and Bingaman hoped would get done have to have some experience of the economic and political climate outside the area that can be surveyed from the Petroleum Club in downtown Albuquerque.

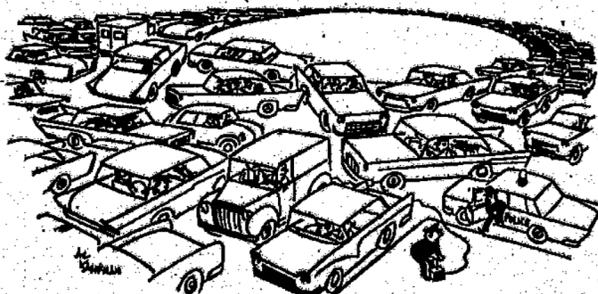

"Statewide" is a word that

New Mexicans ought to hear used a lot more than we do. It doesn't just mean encompassing all shades of views from the west slope of the Sandias as far down as maybe Peralta.

THE GAP: One of the major difficulties in getting legislation enacted and other forward motions taken in the near future in New Mexico is the growing divergence between the economic interests of the state's largest city and all the rest of us. That won't be overcome without considerable sensitiveness on both sides to the interests of the other.

Those of us who don't live in the Duke City already feel that we make many adjustments because of decisions made by or on account of Albuquerque residents alone. We'd like to see our needs getting at least equal consideration whenever this group or any other is talking heavy talk about the shape of New Mexico's future.

Those big-city folks, we know from experience, will require more than one reminder that we matter too.

"HOLD IT, O'LEARY; THERE MUST BE A BETTER WAY!"

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Taxation without representation

EDITOR—On July 29 the Ruidoso Council passed an additional one-half percent sales tax by a split vote with Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. casting the deciding vote. The new sales tax will be effective 1-1-87.

Ruidoso now boasts the highest sales tax in New Mexico, as of 1-1-87. The purpose of the new tax is to pay for the value of our present airport, as its appraisal of $2.6 million will go towards the construction of the Sierra Blanca Airport.

A lot of time was consumed listening to pros and cons with the council sorely divided on the main issue and the outcome of the 3 to 3 vote.

It was pointed out that the proposed tax increase could be reduced to one-quarter tax with the difference to be made up from city funds. With a payroll increasing 35 percent in the last four years it was apparent that the local government should participate in the matter. It was also pointed out that the increase in city payrolls had not visibly improved or added any services to its citizens.

Councilman Alonzo backed the one-quarter plan with facts developed by a study that was well presented to the council. Other councilmen would not accept his proposal and lobbied for the larger tax, which was eventually passed on a split vote.

Passage of the new tax was flawed in that no attention was given to the effect the new tax would have on the elderly retired persons who make up a goodly portion of our permanent population.

Although the council has known for over a year of the impending airport disposition and tax problem, the matter has been apparently kept under wraps — with little publicity — and no public meetings.

The council meeting of July 29 was well attended by local businessmen and others; however, where were the elderly, the retired living on social security? They were simply forgotten.

After all, business is business!

J. A. "AL" JUNGE, Ruidoso.

EDITOR—I have just read the New Mexico State Constitution for the 4th time and no where in it can I find that a convicted felon has the right to an appeal bond.

So, if you don't like the practice of our courts to permit this, hand write a letter to: Justices of the Supreme Court, Box 848, Santa Fe, NM 87503.

Religion in South Africa

EDITOR—Davis W. Balsiger, who recently headed a fact-finding mission to South Africa, says that South Africa is the most Christian nation in the world.

The government supports prayer in schools and religious freedom. Abortion is illegal; newsstand pornography is illegal; over 70 percent of the total population claims to be Christian; the South African Airlines (government-owned) provides Gospel messages and hymns in its in-flight stereo in both English and Afrikaans for the benefit of passengers.

According to Mr. Balsiger, one finds prayer in school at all levels, abundant Christian broadcasting, a high level of church attendance and open exercise of religious freedom.

OPINION (from P. 4)

government—federal, state, county or city. The federal government alone owns land equal to all states east of the Mississippi River, plus Texas. The latest push to place more land under federal control comes from Rep. Bill Richardson, D-NM, who has just received House approval of a bill to place 378,000 acres of land near Grants, NM under federal control. A national monument would consume all but 178,000 acres, which will be placed in wilderness status. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-NM, is objecting, but not loud enough.

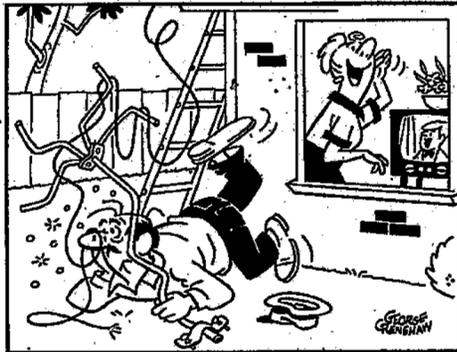

●WHICH is worse, racial segregation (apartheid), or slavery, mass murder and genocide? US Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-NM, is demanding stiff economic and political sanctions against the South African government because of its racial segregation policies. He does not advocate sanctions against the Soviet Union for its years of murder, torture and genocide in Afghanistan, or for the Soviet enslavement of 280 million of its own people. Bro. Bingaman bleeds profusely for the Marxist-backed guerillas (African National Congress) in South Africa. But he bleeds not for the disfranchisement of 85 percent of the black African voters by Marxist regimes in other parts of Africa. He is not concerned at the suspension of the constitution in Lesotho; at dictatorships in Tanzania and Malawi, or at a Marxist coup in Nigeria. He is unruffled at genocide campaigns in Burundi, Equatorial Guinea, Ethiopia and Uganda, all of which are black ruled. Yet, somehow, even if it means war, the restrooms in Pretoria must be racially integrated. Unless the senator is illiterate, he knows all about the atrocities going on elsewhere that makes his precious apartheid resemble a royal wedding feast.

●BINGAMAN is practicing anti-white racism. He knows that in the last two years Botha's South Africa has ended more discriminatory legislation than his predecessors did in the preceding 76 years of South Africa's existence. As a result, a Gallup Poll in the Johannesburg newspaper "Rapport" found that 67 percent of whites now favor powersharing with blacks. That isn't fast enough for Bingaman. He wants his way in South Africa, right now.

●IT took the United States 300 years to achieve some degree of racial integration when only 12 percent of its present-day population is black. How long would it have taken if the United States were it 87 percent black, as is the case in South Africa? If we laud ourselves for ending apartheid in 300 years, why (unless we really want a Marxist South Africa) can't we permit them another two years to meet OUR standard of conduct? It is time this hypocrisy ends, and with it the meddling in the internal affairs of a sovereign nation that poses no threat to the security of our country. Just who do we think we are to impose our overblown moral posture upon any or every nation on earth? Sen. Bingaman and his fellow hypocrites deserve the scorn of every good American.

TOMAHAWKING. Trisha Kennedy of Tucson, AZ practices her tomahawk throw at the Southern Rocky Mountain Rendezvous being held in Eagle Creek Canyon this week. Kennedy, who is attending the rendezvous with 21 family members and friends from Tucson, won second place in the card shoot with her 1850s-style muzzle-loader rifle on Tuesday.

By the way

By P.E. Chavez

Monday when a young couple bought a paper, sat in the couch and eagerly browsed through the latest issue of the NEWS, looking for a house to rent.

The NEWS often has people stopping in to inquire about our area and the town. Some are passing by, others like the couple are here to make their home.

Ruth Hammond, NEWS staffer, was helpful to the couple. In addition to handing them the NEWS issue, Ruth told them where the real estate offices were located in town in an effort to find a place for the couple.

It was recently that I told the town council that the NEWS office was sort of a chamber of commerce to people coming through or to town. The council had been looking for a person to appoint to the Lodger's Tax Committee. The council was wise to appoint our very own Ruth Hammond.

AIM TO PLEASE

Last week's NEWS informed readers that Carrizozo Coffee Cup Cafe has begun serving pork marinated in red chile. . . that Zozo Food Mart had a Pony Express Special sale . . . that Four Winds is remodeling and will feature pit barbecue and a pizza parlor. The News classified ads included varied assortment of services and wares available in Carrizozo. Other ads: King Food, A & I Auto, Lions Carnival, Episcopal Church, Shop Rite had an insert.

I was in the NEWS office

WOOLING VOTES

Lincoln County political candidates are given a campaign guide. Wooling candidates with eats is apparently not a no-no in New Mexico.

In Minneapolis a politician was accused of wooling senior citizens by serving them Twinkles and Kool-aid.

A judge dismissed charges and warned George Belair, who was defeated to a city council position, "If you run again, don't give away anything."

The snack cakes and punch allegedly served by Belair cost $31. Belair lost to incumbent Walter Dzedzic, who filed the complaint in Hennepin County.

Belair was indicted by a grand jury on charges of violating the state's Fair Campaign Practices Act, which prohibits candidates from providing meat, drink, or other entertainment or provisions. The charge carries a maximum penalty of up to 90 days in jail and a $700 fine.

Minnesota state law requires the county attorney to investigate complaints of alleged violations of the campaign practices act and requires the evidence be presented to the grand jury. The law was written in 1893, according to the county attorney's office.

ADVANCE TEAM

Ann Hovenden, Ireland and Karen Muse of Indiana are staying with Phil and Bunty Richardson in Nogal. The two are promoting "Up with People" and the Aug. 23-24 shows in the old school gym.

Ann was at the NEWS, accompanied by UNM's Scott Shafer, bank president. Shafer's cousin, Linda Gibson, is chairman of the project which finds host homes for the cast during their visit to Carrizozo.

VISITS FAMILIES

Charlotta Martínez of Car-

rizzo spent four weeks in July in California visiting her daughters and sons and their families.

In Huntington Beach she visited with daughter Rose Dingwall and Rose's son, Jimmy; daughter Mela Arce and Mela's daughters, Cheiri and Debbie.

In San Jose, Carlotta visited with a son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Candido Martinez and son Roberto Martinez. A side trip to Albany, OR took Carlotta to the home of son and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Martinez.

FOR YOUR INFO

Carrizozo teens and their parents are not really sure what curfew hours local youth should now follow. The firehouse siren goes off at 9:30 p.m. every evening but 10:30 p.m. is the actual current curfew.

Aug. 12 is the town's meeting when the council and interested citizens will discuss a proposed curfew: 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. (Town meetings begin at 6 p.m., in case you are interested.)

WHY IS IT

Why is it? A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised bed, in advertised pajamas, he will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor, have a breakfast of advertised juice, cereal and toast (toasted in an advertised appliance), put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch.

He will ride to work in an advertised car, smoke advertised cigarettes and write with an advertised pen. Yet this man hesitates to advertise, saying that advertising does not pay.

Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under he will advertise it for sale.

Jarrett attends conference

Charlotte Jarrett represented the Ruidoso Federated Women's Club at the national Free Enterprise

Conference in Washington, DC last month.

The conference, sponsored by the 500,000-member General Federation of Women's Clubs, was designed to teach participants a better understanding of the private enterprise system in America, as well as lobbying techniques.

Speakers at the conference included Rep. Willis Gradison Jr. (R-OH), Sen. Dan Quayle (R-IN) and Jane Fawcett-Hoover of Proctor and Gamble, which co-sponsored the three-day conference.

Women's club members of all 50 states attended and considered an action program to review and respond to legislative issues affecting private enterprise at the state, local and federal levels.

Among the projects considered for New Mexico are voter registration drives, good citizenship essay contests and a handbook on New Mexico government for the schools.

The conference was July 19-22.

Bridges may be repaired rather than rebuilt

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Village officials agreed to look at repairing and improving two bridges in Ruidoso's Upper Canyon area rather than replacing them.

Several Upper Canyon residents and business owners had expressed opposition to the plan to replace the bridges because of detours and the design of the new bridges.

Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr. said during a village council workshop on Tuesday that what needed to be done first was to see if the funding allocated by the state highway department could be used to repair and improve the bridges.

Davis directed village engineer Mike Davalos to talk to state officials and see if the funding was tied to replacement.

Bill Rawlins, owner of the guest cabins near the first bridge in the Upper Canyon, listed four deficiencies of the current bridge; a narrow approach on one side, a weak guard rail, a center column that catches debris and no pedestrian crossing.

Rawlins proposed realigning the bridge, putting up concrete guard rails, removing the old center column and building a footbridge for pedestrians.

"These proposals would resolve the problem of cars having to yield because the approach to the bridge is so narrow," Rawlins said.

He added that if the bridge were just improved it would eliminate the need for detours and new right-of-way purchases.

Ruidoso received $583,500 in state monies for replacement of five bridges. In addition to the two crossings in the Upper Canyon money has also been allocated for building new bridges on Reese Drive, Hart Avenue and Paradise Canyon Road.

Councillor Victor Alonso said he didn't want to see the Upper Canyon bridges replaced if they were sound and if the new bridges "wouldn't do all that much to improve things." Davalos did add that it was not the bridge structure itself that was weak, rather it was the footings that were showing signs of deterioration.

The engineer said that more money would have to be spent on design because H. W. Lochner, the bridge engineers from Santa Fe, had already completed plans on all five river crossings.

Village manager Jim Hine noted that because the money for the bridges, about $100,000 for each crossing, was coming from the state the designs would have to meet state specifications.

The council agreed that work should continue on the other three crossings and on a drainage project on Center Street for which the village received a $60,500 state grant

Parade winners

It was warmer than usual Sunday in Lincoln, but an excellent parade more than made up for the discomfort. It even started on time.

Parade Chairman James Sanchez presented trophies and kudos to the following:

Sweepstakes—Hoof and Wheel Driver Association from Carlsbad. There were a number of units in this group.

Best Float, McSween d/g archaeologists; Best Mounted Male Rider, Peg Pfingsten of Lincoln; Best Mounted Female Rider, Katherine Sanchez of Lincoln; Best Antique Auto, Manuel Hernandez, driving a 1931 blue Chevrolet; Best Frontier Man, a man was picked but could not be located; Best Frontier Woman, Mrs. Gnafkowski and children. A sign on her sheep indicated there is one black sheep in every family; Best Frontier Group, Sacramento Mountain Men; Best Mounted Group, Chavez County Sheriff's Posse; Best Entry—Royalty, Donna Peso, Miss Mescalero; Best Commercial Entry, Sagebrush Village, Hobbs; Best Band, Juan Baca and Family, accompanied by Jesse Cervantes; Best Single Entry, Trolley car pulled by Belgian horses; Special recognition, Lone Tree Bible Ranch, Polaco baby buggy trio.

Parade judges were Ann Buffington, Agatha Long and Jim McDaniel.

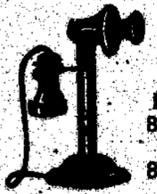

THEY MEAN BUSINESS. This awesome group is known as the Mountain Men. They are all colonels in the Army of New Mexico Territorial Militia.

ON MY OWN

By Pat Kite

The wedding bouquet

This evening I caught half a wedding bouquet. It's the first wedding bouquet I've ever caught, I didn't intend to catch it, but now that I have, it scares me to death.

It started out innocently enough when the bride approached the reception room staircase, ribboned roses and carnations in hand. "Hurry up, everybody," a bridesmaid called out.

The young single women in the audience hurried over. It had been a beautiful wedding, the groom handsome in black tux, the bride radiant in purest white, and it made hope blossom that unmarried guests could find such happiness too.

Among those that hurried to the staircase was my daughter. "Oh, no," I thought. "She's too young. Much too young."

Like any parent who feels that marriage vows came too early in their own life, and especially the single parent who knows the trauma of divorce as "penalty" for having made the wrong youthful choice, we are often not too enthused about our children showing the same lack of judgment. It's not that we don't want them to get married. Most of us do. "But wait a bit," we caution.

So, when I saw my daughter eagerly awaiting the "next married" bouquet, I superstitiously wandered over to the staircase, thinking I could sort of "accidentally" deflect the flowers if they came in her direction.

The bride lobbed the roses and carnations high into the air. The surrounding crowd, both laughing and serious, reached out for it.

In the audience was a single-again mother with grown children. She leaped over everybody to try and grab the flowers. Instead of catching the entire bouquet, she caught the top part. The rest bounced off her hand, bounced across everybody's outstretched hands, and landed at my feet. I kept waiting for someone to pick it up. Instead everybody said "Congratulations" and looked at me until I picked it up.

The half a bouquet now sits on my kitchen counter staring at me. I stare back at it, mentally arguing that I was married already and once was enough. After 11 years of singlehood, the thought of marriage has become terrifying.

I've gotten used to being single. I have friends, work, hobbies which are enjoyable, and which I don't want to change. I have had habits which don't bother me, but might annoy the heck out of someone else. It took me a long time to adjust to being a solo person and a longer time to attain harmony. I don't want to give it up for the unknown, and marriage certainly is an unknown.

I keep telling myself catching a wedding bouquet doesn't mean anything. Just because my father was superstitious, doesn't mean I have to be.

But why now? And why me? Is it worse luck to throw it out? Can I give it away? How long does the spell last? Foolishness. On the other hand, maybe I'd better buy a new dress, just in case . . .

Lincoln County

'Long Ago'

By Ruth Hammond

The Lincoln Republican, James J. Dolan, Editor, Friday, July 22, 1892.

Mr. Guyse was in town last week, he is a good democrat, and when himself is considered a reasonable man, and as usual he carried a loaded pistol, under his shirt in the back part of his pants, unfortunately Mr. Guyse on his trial before our Justice of the Peace claimed that he carried his deadly weapon on instructions received from a Justice of the Peace of Picacho, the Justice of the Peace of Picacho, having given such unwarranted advice to Mr. Guyse should now certainly come to Mr. Guyse's relief and settle the fine imposed on him by our Justice Mr. Cordova.

A big strike in the American mine at Nogal.

The Local Budget Miss Edith Lesnet has been quite sick, but is fast recovering.

Mr. Emile Fritz came up from his ranch Sunday, and spent a few in town.

C. W. Wingfield, who has joined the army of candidates, spent a few hours in the metropolis this week.

The latest horrible cure for a disease is that wise men have decided that limburger cheese will cure the dyspepsia if eaten often.

Friday, July 29, 1892

A suggestion to the people of Lincoln county: It would be wise to give a little attention to public affairs, as well as private affairs.

There is very serious trouble brewing at the Mescalero Indian Agency, and Col. Whelan, of Fort Stanton, was asked for his advice—and, as usual, honest and sincere in all his duties, he said he could give none until he heard all sides, and he has mentioned a day for that purpose.

We have been glad to note the significant developments in the North Homestead and Lady Godiva mines at White Oaks. The North Homestead has been the steadiest producer in Lincoln county, and as the original discovery has been at all times an object of special interest to our people.

Fortunes are being made by many a New Mexican these times out of sheep and alfalfa or both,—though it won't do to mix them too closely. Not a few citizens are cleaning up $10,000 a year from their alfalfa fields, and there are scores of men in the territory whose annual wool clip brings them in from $5,000 to $30,000 yearly. Young man, go thou and do likewise. Quit panting after the gay life of the city, but pull your freight to some well watered valley or sunny mountain side, and prosperity, good health and real happiness will not be long in finding you.

Why Is It That—
Bees never store honey where it is light?

The moth has a fur jacket and the butterfly none?

Leaves will attract dew, when boards, sticks and stones will not?

A squirrel comes down a tree head first and a cat tail first?

Corn on the ear is never found with an uneven number of rows?

Fish, flies and caterpillars may be frozen solid and still retain life?

A horse always gets up fore parts first and a cow directly the opposite?

A horsefly will live for hours after the head has been pinched off?

The dragon fly can devour its own body and the head still live? —Golden Days.

Electricity is never visible except when it comes in the form of zigzag lightning?

Friday, Aug. 5, 1892

The Local Budget William Fritz, of the Spring Ranch passed through town Monday on his way to White Oaks, with a load of fruit.

Wm. Norman, is having an addition built to his house and the lot enclosed by a picket fence. This is one of the prettiest locations in town and with the improvements constantly being made it will soon be one of the most attractive places in Lincoln.

The rainy season is long in coming, or is it that that rain must "fall on the just and unjust" and that there are none of the just here.

The New Mexican says: "The Santa Fe railroad has made a 1-cent fare for people who desire to attend the Territorial Fair to be held in Albuquerque during September next. The Santa Fe railroad manages to do the right thing at the right time very often."

Friday, Aug. 26, 1892

To The Voters

of Lincoln County In connection with other qualifications required by law, to cast a legal vote at the coming November election for county and territorial officers, the person offering to vote must have paid his poll tax on or before September 8th, 1892, as shown by the following provision:

Sec. 4, Chapter 77, Acts of 1891. Sec. 4. That it shall be illegal for any person to vote or attempt to vote at any election who has not paid his poll tax for the current year, and said payment must be made in case of a general election, at least sixty days previous to such election day.

The Local Budget W. F. Blanchard is surveying in the Park and in the neighborhood of White Oaks, this week.

Geo. Sena is attending the Territorial Convention at Las Vegas.

Bonifacio Baca has moved his family from his ranch to Lincoln. He is acting as deputy for Mr. Sena during the absence of the latter.

The enquiry is made, and very pertinently, why is there no money for a public school in this district? Six hundred dollars have been paid for licenses, there has been no school for eight months, and still it is said there is no money for a school. What use has been made of the money is what the people want to know.

The Territorial Fair will open on the 12th of this month. The managers urge that this county shall be well represented, and say very truly Lincoln county cannot afford not to send specimens of her mineral, agricultural and horticultural products. Let something be done. The expense is trivial beside the advantage to be derived from such an exhibit.

Everybody is Going To The Albuquerque Fair.

Ozanne & Co. will take you to Carthage over their US Mail line at the following rates:

From Lincoln or Stanton to Carthage and return, $15.00

From Nogal to Carthage and return, $13.50

From White Oaks to Carthage and return, $12.00

Special rate to commence September 6th—return ticket good until September 28th '92.

Any party desiring to send anything from Lincoln county to be exhibited at the Fair, such exhibit will be carried and returned FREE over the stage line; but all such exhibits must be delivered on or before September 1st, '92. All who desire to go should register as early as possible. No seats considered engaged until paid for.

Rate on Santa Fe RR one cent per mile. OZANNE & CO.

Police Beat

By P. E. CHAVEZ

July 27 at 1:30 a.m. Carrizozo town policeman Adam Montez was dispatched to Carrizozo Health Center to assist a woman having trouble breathing.

David Allen Vermillion, 31, Carrizozo, driving a 1964 GMC red pickup truck, was making a left hand turn onto 11th Street off E Avenue. According to the July 29 accident report prepared by Officer Chris Gomez, Vermillion was struck on the left side of his vehicle by an 1982 black Ford pickup driven by Kelli Vigil, 21, Carrizozo.

Municipal Court Judge S.M. Ortiz has dismissed a traffic citation issued to Vigil in the two-car collision. The citation was dismissed Thursday night, July 31, when Ortiz found that Gomez had entered the incorrect municipal violation code number on the citation.

According to an incident report dated July 31, Chief of Police C.A. Morales called his police clerk at approximately 4 p.m. by CB radio to tell her to call his residence and find out the source of the smoke observed coming from the vicinity of his (Morales) home. A relative answered the clerk's telephone call, went outside and noticed a small trailer behind a neighbor's house. Morales advised the clerk to call the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, which had been alerted of the fire already. The trailer was on the property of Lucinda Silva.

Incident reports not available to the NEWS but logged at the Sheriff's Department radio log: Aug. 2, 2:36 a.m., a person is beating on the door at the Nike Tavern. Owner Eddie O'Brien requests a town police officer. Gomez responded . . . July 31, 9:06 p.m., the afternoon fire on the Silva property is checked . . . A juvenile reports that a father is beating his child . . . a resident requests an officer's assistance in getting a man out of her yard.

After failing several field sobriety tests on Aug. 2, Loyd W. McClanahan was arrested at 3:05 a.m. by Montez on charges of DWI and careless WARD/LESLIE REUNION: One hundred descendants and relatives of John C. and Namantha Vashti Ward attended the 10th annual family reunion and picnic at White Oaks school on July 26.

CHRISTOPHER TORRES

Christopher Torres of Mescalero died suddenly, Sunday, Aug. 3, in the PHS Hospital, Mescalero.

Christopher was born Jan. 3, 1936 in the Holloman Air Force Base Hospital.

Survivors include his parents, Marty Torres and Sandra Pebeashy; brother, Elwin Pebeashy Jr.; grandparents, Angela Balatche and Clifford Chee Sr., all of Mescalero.

Mass of the Angels was said at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 6, in St. Joseph's Parish Hall, with Father Justin officiating. Burial followed in the Mescalero Cemetery.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Only very hot and dry weather, ending in a trace of rain late into Sunday night.

The wonders of our national symbol "Smokey Bear" is shown here in Capitan at "The Smokey Bear Museum" and the New Mexico State Park by the love of all the visitors enjoying their tours as they vacation. His history is read and questions asked daily, and they visit his grave. For the month of July there were 9,265 registered visitors therein. The first three days of August there were 1,016. We appreciate that, and to know "he" stands for the "Prevention of Forest Fires," and that people realize it. We welcome everyone with open arms.

This last weekend many of our citizens attended the Pony Express and Rodeo in White Oaks. Traffic here was very active due to the Old Lincoln Days in Lincoln. The eating establishments were very busy.

Robert and Dona Runnels attended the annual convention of the New Mexico Council of Outfitters and Guides at Paradise Hills Country Club in Albuquerque on Aug. 1. Robert, who is vice-president of the organization, attended the directors meeting on July 31. Dr. Red Duke of the University of Texas at Houston was guest speaker. It was attended by gubernatorial candidate Gary Carruthers and land commissioner candidate Bill Humphries.

Dona and Robert also attended the Safari Club International meeting on Saturday. They are both certified scorers for 5CL.

Ernest Vernon Abeyta, who was born and raised in Capitan and now lives in Albuquerque, pay attention: A cousin of yours, whom you visited in British Columbia one summer, is now living in Milan, NM 87021. Alice A. Bill, Box 3016, desires your address, which I do not have. Therefore, this is my way of contact. I hope this helps you both.

The Perez family wishes to announce the opening of their second restaurant, 2705 Sudderth Drive, "Los Amigos Restaurant" in Ruidoso. Flora Perez, formerly Flora Trujillo and a graduate of Capitan High School, wishes to invite everyone to go in and try their Mexican specialties. Flora is the oldest daughter of Hilario and Josephine Trujillo. We are glad and happy to know she and her family are here where we can enjoy the gourmets' delight. May you have continued success.

Willie and Wayne Hobbs celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, Aug. 3. I wish them many more very happy and healthy years together.

One hundred twenty-eight attended the Hobbs family reunion at White Oaks last weekend. Everyone had a good time. May there be many more such happy reunions.

Johnny Annaratone, formerly of Capitan and now of El Paso, and Miss Rita Gonzales of El Paso were married July 19. They will reside in their own home in El Paso. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Annaratone of Capitan. I wish this couple many years of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland and family attended the wedding of Clay Strickland in Hobbs last Friday night. Also visited with Terry's dad, Bill Strickland. The Ken Greens of Carlsbad, daughter Kathy and granddaughter Angle visited with the Terry Stricklands Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Payne and family attended the Pony Express and Rodeo at White Oaks last Saturday. The report is that there was an exceptionally large crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Neier and their granddaughter Tiana Joe of Butte, MT are visiting her sister Millie, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muse and family for a few days. They had been in Tucson, AZ and reported that it is cool here compared to Arizona.

Ruth and Ferny Stokes, accompanied by their three grandchildren and friend Scott of Norwalk, CA are spending three weeks in their home here, visiting relatives and friends.

Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap were injured in a one-car accident near Wagon Mound last week and both are hospitalized in a Raton hospital. Rosalie has a back injury and Ralph also was seriously injured. I wish them both a good recovery.

Mandi Grimm, 10-year-old daughter of Jim and Kay Grimm, former residents of Capitan, now in Missouri, became ill on a Saturday and died on the following Tuesday of a brain tumor. Her sister, Heidi Montes, resides in Capitan.

THE MAIL ARRIVED. This Pony Express rider brought the mail through but was not the first rider across the finish line.

Free Meal reservations no longer required

It will no longer be necessary for senior citizens who want to participate in the Meal Care program to make reservations in advance, organizers announced recently.

Charlotte Jarratt, who is on the Meal Care committee, said that a number of people have said they would attend the meals on Mondays and Fridays at 11:30 a.m. if they didn't have to make reservations in advance.

"So we are going to try it this way through the month of August," she said.

Those who want to make reservations are encouraged to continue doing so.

The menu for the meals, which cost $2.50, is as follows:

- Aug. 8—Chicken fried steak, green beans, rice and gravy, and chocolate mousse;
- Aug. 11—Chicken fingers, mashed potatoes, mixed vegetables, and lemon pie;
- Aug. 15—Smothered pork chops, baked spinach, German noodles and fruit cobbler;
- Aug. 18—Stuffed green peppers, macaroni and cheese,

fried okra and banana cake;

Aug. 22—Fried fish, stuffed tomatoes, au gratin potatoes and orange cake;

Aug. 25—Meatloaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, broccoli and bread pudding;

Aug. 29—Beef pot roast with carrots and potatoes, green beans and apple pie.

To reserve a space at the meal call the adult Recreation Center in Ruidoso at 257-4565.

HINDI'S ARABIAN was revived through the work of many people pouring water on the horse. The ice (right front) was put on the horse to help it regain circulation.

Grandparents, good students recognized

"Grandparent Day," during which all grandparents accompanied by a child will be admitted free, has been set for Thursday, Aug. 7, at Fantasy Mountain amusement park in Ruidoso Downs.

Children will also receive a $2.50 discount on a $5 admission ticket on that day.

Smokey Stover, who is in charge of special promotions at the park, said the Ruidoso Care Center and senior citizens center will be participating in the event.

He said transportation would be provided to and from the park from the senior citizens center near the library in Ruidoso.

Also planned for the park is a "Scholarship Day" to honor local students on Aug. 9. On that day three to five students in grades 1 through 5 will be given free season passes to the park.

In addition, students will get a dollar off admission for each "A" on their final report card.

"We think it's a good idea to honor these students and encourage them," Stover said. He added that it is hoped they can continue honoring students beginning with the coming school year.

Other special events scheduled at the park include a talent show on Aug. 16, "Family Carload Day" on Aug. 17 and a jazz concert on Sept. 13. The talent show will be for youngsters 5 to 15 and will begin at 7 p.m. on Aug. 16. Participants can compete in three categories, vocalist, instrumentalist and other, for a first prize of $10 and a second prize of $5 in each category.

There is a $5 registration fee for individuals and $15 for groups of three or more. Talent show registration forms can be picked up at the park.

On "Family Carload Day" all family members will be admitted to the park at half price.

The jazz concert is being produced in cooperation with the Ruidoso Hospital Foundation.

For information on any of the planned events call Stover at 258-3000 or Mae Porter at 378-8007.

Capitan Chamber of Commerce results

Vice-President Norman Renfro presided over the Aug. 4 meeting of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber donated $30 to the "hard luck animal fund" at this week's Lincoln County Fair.

Chamber of Commerce bingo was discussed. Some nice pots are being won every Thursday night at the Fair Building in Capitan.

It was reported that Smokey Bear Medallions are selling well at the Smokey Bear Museum. To buy a set, write P.O. Box 441, Capitan, NM 88316. This unique set of three medallions sells for $50.

The chamber's sign east of Capitan was completed around July 1. Those merchants who have not paid for their space are urged to do so as soon as possible.

The next scheduled meeting of the chamber is Sept. 8. The 11:30 a.m. meeting will be at B & L Pizza.

Miss Teen completes her reign

Miss Teen of New Mexico 1985, Miss Waynette Lindsey, relinquished her title July 27 during the 1986 state pageant when Stephanie Tucker of Farmington became the new Miss Teen.

The pageant, held in Grants, concluded a busy year of activities for the ranch girl. As Miss Teen New Mexico, she rode in the Otero County and Torrance County Fair parades, and she also rode in the NM State Fair Rodeo Grand Entry. As a participant in the national pageant last October, Lindsey raised more than $4300 for the March of Dimes and received a $1700 scholarship for that effort. She was recognized at Ruidoso Downs with a race named in her honor and has participated in the South Dakota, Texas, and Florida Miss Teen pageants as a staff member.

Lindsey has a brother, Mike. She is the daughter of Helen Kay and Wayne Lindsey. The family resides on a ranch near Claunch, NM.

*NEWS BRIEF***
Journal of Pododontics advises that toothpicks are not as harmless as they seem. Eye and ear injuries are common in children, but adults (especially denture-wearers) are more likely to swallow their toothpicks, often with fatal results. Keep toothpicks out of children's reach and make them clearly visible in food preparations.

SHASTA BASTA PLEASE YA!

Cool...sparkling...refreshing... Shasta sodas and mixers are perfect for your every mood and attitude. You'll find a different flavor to savor every day of the week. Stop on Cherry Cola while you watch TV. Get a Cola when you're not and thirsty. Enjoy a Cola with you cuddle up with the latest Warner Bros. cartoon support from a tall mug of Root Beer while you study. Or sample the delightful taste of Strawberry while you plan the next big project at work. Shasta has an array of flavors that other leading soda manufacturers only dream about. And Shasta costs less...too! Come in today and take home six-pack cans or 2-liter bottles of your favorites. Shasta...please ya!
