No more 'whipping post'

3 P&Z members resign in protest

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Three members of the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission—including the chairman and vice-chairman—have resigned with one saying she was tired of being the mayor's "whipping post."

Resigning following a short meeting on Monday were P and Z chairman Mike Callaghan, vice-chairman Mary Underwood and Martin Rose. Rose had been a member of the commission for eight years.

"I resigned because the mayor has a forum that those on P and Z don't and he uses it to lash out at people like us who volunteer their time," Underwood said.

"I don't think we should be his (Mayor Lloyd Davis) whipping post. I think it's wrong and I'm tired of it," she said, adding she was resigning in protest of recent council decisions.

Callaghan said he was resigning because of the mayor's philosophy of "I don't care."

In his letter of resignation to the mayor dated Sept. 1, Callaghan wrote: "The thing that upsets me is your complete disregard for the people of the village of Ruidoso."

"This is very apparent by your statement, 'I don't care about neighbor's objections,'" Callaghan wrote referring to a statement allegedly made by Davis at a village council meeting last month during which councilors overturned a decision and allowed a man to build a carport within one foot of his property line.

Contacted Tuesday night Davis said he did not remember making the statement. "I don't recall saying that," Davis said offering no other defense to that allegation.

He added that the council has upheld most P and Z decisions, saying that it was the will of the council and not his alone when the decisions were overturned.

"We've upheld 90 percent of what they've done," Davis contended although a majority of those appeals that come before the council regarding the 10-foot side lot line and 20-foot front lot line setback requirements have gone against the P and Z's decision.

Callaghan said that he did not understand the mayor's problems with the 1976 setback ordinance because Davis was one of the signers of it.

Callaghan added that he did not object to the overturning of the P and Z decisions. "I can attribute that to lack of knowledge," he wrote.

"I cannot serve under a mayor and council that do not care about the people they were elected to serve," Callaghan concluded in his letter.

Underwood said that Davis had created a lot of unnecessary controversy. "If he would just overrule them (the P and Z decisions) that would be one thing, but he rakes us over the coals every time," she said.

Davis countered that he didn't think that P and Z commissioners had made their desires known to the village council.

"I don't think any member of the P and Z has come to the council saying what they would like or that they want to work and cooperate with us."

"I don't think they told us what they'd like to do," Davis said.

Underwood, who had been on the planning commission for over a year, said she enjoyed her work for the most part. "I just wanted to do something for my community," she said, "and not be involved in controversy all the time."

Rose said he had been considering resigning from the commission for over a year, and that recent council decisions had influenced his decision to resign now.

"I certainly wouldn't want someone to build within one foot of my property," Rose said.

Adding that he would not have served on the commission so long if he hadn't "loved it," Rose said he was tired of it and was confident the remaining members, three of whom have been there only since July, would do a good job.

"The new young people, who are aggressive, should do just fine," he said.

Rose and Callaghan said they had hoped to see the new village master plan approved before they left the planning and zoning commission. The plan has been in the works for over 18 months.

The three who resigned on Monday bring to six the number who have resigned from P and Z since Davis was elected mayor in March.

Since that time village enforcement officer Paul Davis has also resigned.

District court in Carrizozo was the scene of the seating of two grand juries last week. A special grand jury was qualified on Monday and Tuesday to investigate the McKnight murders. The special grand jury will consist of 12 jury members and four alternates and will sit no longer than three months.

The seating of a standing grand jury was completed on Wednesday. The standing grand jury will consist of 12 jurors and 12 alternates and will be seated for three months.

Qualifying of a petit jury began this morning. The court plans to seat three panels of 36 members each to be rotated during the six month period it is empaneled.

The special grand jury to investigate the McKnight murders was in session Sept. 3. As with all grand juries, all proceedings are held in closed session.

Montez resigns

By RUTH HAMMOND

The town of Carrizozo accepted the resignation of police officer Adam Montez after an executive session lasting one hour and 44 minutes during the regular board of trustees meeting on Aug. 26.

One of the reasons listed on the letter of resignation was "no opportunity to move up the ladder." The resignation was dated Aug. 25 and was to become effective Aug. 29. Mayor Bob Hemphill noted that it was not the two weeks notice that is requested.

In other business, the board approved final payment to Pajo Technical Services and McCarty Construction for work on the Carrizozo Municipal Airport. Two conditions are to be met before the final payment is made: a hole

Much ado about $100

Commissioners OK funds for airport logo

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Commissioners have agreed to contribute $100 to be used for the Sierra Blanca airport logo contest. The decision to contribute the money came after a discussion at the Aug. 19 Lincoln County Commission meeting.

Commissioner Kenneth Nosker said, "I don't feel like it is a misuse of taxpayers money to help with the logo contest." He said the logo will be on signs leading to the new airport and that all artists in Lincoln County are welcome to enter the contest. When he asked for the money, Nosker said, "I would like to see Lincoln County put up the same as the other entities."

Chairman Bill Elliott asked county attorney Gary Mitchell if the county could legally use the taxpayer's money for the logo contest.

Mitchell said that money from the Lodger's Tax funds could be used. Elliott said he would agree to use the Lodger's Tax money but not if the money was to come from the general fund.

In other business, the department of finance and administration, local government division, granted final approval for the budget as adjusted. Adjustments are: general fund revenue from $2,012,834 to $2,462,782; increased senior citizens revenue from $112,397 to $127,797; adjusted debt service to agree to DFA records; and increased all fire funds as per memorandum.

The New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department sent a letter to advise the commissioners that the county assessor's office has been evaluated for this year and that the assessor has implemented an acceptable program for maintaining current and correct property values.

Commissioners noted that Lincoln County is one of the first counties to be certified and commended Lincoln County Assessor Marian Schlarb.

The board of directors of the Sun Valley Sanitation District sent a letter certifying a levy of eight decimal eight four mills (8.84) and directed the commissioners to levy this tax upon the assessed valuation of all taxable property within the boundaries of the Sun Valley Sanitation District, in addition to other taxes that may be levied. Commissioners gave approval contingent upon Mitchell researching it and if he found anything wrong to report at the next meeting.

An agreement between New Horizons Developmental Center and the Carrizozo

Health Center was approved. The standard agreement is for the health center to provide medical and dental services, including emergency care, consultation and necessary documentation, emergency dispensing of medications and staff training for New Horizons.

A request to close county road A-004 was received from Anthony E. Treat. The road review committee of Mack Bell, Leota Pflingsten, Bill Rawlins and alternate Peggy Holden will inspect the road and submit a report to the commissioners.

Phelps Anderson of the Diamond A Cattle Company agreed to lease the building east of the Pendergrass home in Tinnie to house the Lincoln County Hondo Ambulance.

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan submitted his department's statistical report for the first six months of the year. Highlights of his report were the forming of a new Tact Unit that will be capable of coping with potential terrorist groups which are on the rise world wide and a mobile crime lab and generator that will enable the investigator to take the crime lab to the scene of major crimes and have all the supplies and equipment to properly process the crime scene. The generator will provide 110 volt electricity for the crime lab and to light up the scene and for night time road blocks.

Benny Coker, mayor of Capitan, made a request for road work.

Nosker, on behalf of the SBAC, asked county clerk Fran Siddens to take the official minutes and do reports for the SBAC for an official record of the SBAC meetings. Elliott voted against adding these duties to the clerk. The motion passed with Nosker and A. W. Gnatkowski voting for the clerk to assume these duties. The meetings are usually in Ruidoso and the clerk or her deputy will receive mileage and per diem.

Lincoln County agreed to pay the Lincoln County

Heritage Trust $4,985 for advertising, publicizing and promotion of the McSween House Site Archaeological Dig in Lincoln. The money had been committed and will come from the Lodger's Tax fund.

The ordinance creating the Lincoln County Fair Board will go in effect on Sept. 9. Members appointed for one year, after drawing of names:

Hoot Gibson, Dee Proctor, Scott Shafer, and Ralph Dunlap, two years: Linda Ponder, Pete Gnatkowski, George Lightfoot, Cal Cowden and Preston Stone, three years: Lynn Willard, Inez Marrs, Denise Byrd, Harvey Martin and Mack Bell.

Lerry Bond a write-in candidate for sheriff

Lerry Bond, a Republican, is announcing his candidacy as a write-in candidate for Lincoln County Sheriff in the upcoming general election on Nov. 4.

Bond is a third generation ranching family of Lincoln County, presently operating his ranch in Lincoln County. He is married and has two children, is an elder of the Ancho Presbyterian Church, elected three terms as a member of the Lincoln County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Committee and past chairman. He is a member of the Carrizozo Rotary Club, organizer and leader of the Corona Junior Deputies for the youth, and a volunteer member of the Sheriff's Department Tact Team.

Bond is a graduate of Corona High School, attended New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, and graduated from the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy and is now serving as a certified New Mexico police officer. Bond has also attended numerous other law enforcement related schools and seminars, and is a member of the National Sheriff's Association.

Bond has worked continually for over four years with the Lincoln County Sheriff's office.

His reason for running is that many citizens of Lincoln County have expressed to him their concerns about the future of the sheriff's office. The two candidates presently running do not have experience in the sheriff's office, Bond notes.

One candidate is not certified as a law enforcement officer in New Mexico, nor has he ever worked for a New Mexico law enforcement agency. This candidate is from another state and has not been active in law enforcement for the past several years.

The other candidate retired a few years ago from law enforcement and likewise is not actively involved in law enforcement.

Bond, on the other hand, is

DA renews war over office space

By Ruth Hammond

District Judge Richard A. Parsons signed a writ of mandamus on Aug. 22 directed to the Lincoln County Commissioners that states: "Therefore you are hereby ordered to furnish the District Attorney with adequate office space and to cease and desist in your efforts to move the District Attorney from its current office located in the Lincoln County Courthouse at the southeast corner, to the A.S.C.S. office, and return this Writ with your certificate stating that you have done as commanded or show cause before this court on the 17th day of September, 1986, at the hour of 9:00 o'clock a.m. at the District Courthouse, County of Lincoln, Carrizozo, New Mexico, why you have not done so.

The office space being used by the district attorney in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo was the cause of a series of cases being filed in district court in July. A three-hour hearing was held on July 29 with District Judge Robert Doughty presiding. Judge Doughty found in favor of the county and set aside a temporary restraining order to delay the decision of the county commission which directed the district attorney to move from its present quarters.

During that hearing, it was explained that the office space being used by the DA was reserved for future expansion by the assessor's office. Lincoln County Assessor Marian Schlarb requested the additional space to provide private hearings with property owners. She said when all the employees are in the office there is not enough room for all of them. Many of the employees are out in the county re-assessing all property as required by the state and will be in the office at different times.

The writ of mandamus

'Trouble in Lincoln County' a Sertoma Club presentation

"Trouble in Lincoln County," a one-man dramatic presentation of the history of the Lincoln County War, will be presented at noon on Sept. 10 at Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso.

Sponsored by the Ruidoso Sertoma Club, the presentation is free and open to the public. Lunch will be available at a reasonable cost.

During the performance, Boyd Barrett portrays a number of characters and gives his audience an interesting overview of one of the most intriguing times in New Mexico history.

The presentation is made possible by grants from the Lincoln County Heritage Trust and the Institute of Museum Services.

Night Watchman

The first thing I noticed about the Incredible restaurant was the tremendous variety of offerings. They have everything it seems—prime rib, broiled T-bones and trout, pasta dishes and seafood.

Beginning our meal was a simple, yet tasty, green salad. Consisting of only lettuce leaves, a couple of slices of tomato and a slice of onion, my salad was topped with a sweet and spicy honey and poppy seed dressing.

My guests said the ranch and blue cheese dressings were also quite good.

For the main course one of my guests chose the grilled red snapper and the other the shrimp kabob, while I had the veal oscar.

Served on a bed of rice, the fresh, almost sweet tasting shrimp, were also accompanied by grilled onion, bell pepper and tomato.

The red snapper came with a baked potato and sour cream accompaniment. While I certainly wouldn't have thrown this catch back, the snapper was dry and could have used some spicing up.

Covered with a cream-colored bernaise sauce, the crab topped veal was served with asparagus and a baked potato. The tender veal had been sauted in a butter and wine sauce before meeting the bernaise.

Featuring Inglenook red and white house wines, Incredible offers a number of mostly domestic wines. For really special occasions there is Dom Peron champagne at over $100 a bottle.

Not being in that festive mood, we selected a California gerwurtztraminer. Dry and spicy it went well with both the fish and the veal.

The fresh banana slices and a rich golden pudding made the banana cream pie a savory dessert, without making it too sweet. A light, fluffy mousse with just a hint of rum also helped us end the meal.

Our waitress afforded us every consideration despite the crowd in the dining room that Saturday night. And, our young bus boy kept a close eye on our water glasses throughout the evening.

Without the high-priced champagne, but including tip, our dinner totaled $70.32.

Built on two levels, Incredible has a lounge and small dining area on top and a large wood paneled area with a sloping glass wall below. The noise level in the large area might be a little high for an intimate dinner, but we never had trouble hearing one another.

If you are planning on visiting Incredible on a weekend night, reservations are a must. We arrived about 7:15 p.m. without them and were told it would be almost a 2-hour wait.

The hostess, however, was able to seat us by 8 because of a cancellation. Our wait in the lounge went by quickly with live entertainment. — Rigo Chavez Incredible, about 4 miles north of Ruidoso at Alto Village on Highway 37, is open daily for dinner at 5 p.m. The lounge opens at 11:30 a.m. and serves salads and sandwiches for a light lunch. Most major credit cards are accepted.

All restaurants are reviewed anonymously with one or more guests to provide a broader sampling. All meals are paid for and restaurants receiving unfavorable reviews have been visited more than once.

is to be patched on the apron and the quality control test data is to be forwarded to Mr. Biscamp, airport engineer for the state of New Mexico transportation department, aviation division. It was announced that the quality control test data had been submitted documenting that the work has been substantially completed in accordance with the approved contract specifications.

A public hearing will be held during the Sept. 9 meeting for the transfer of ownership of a liquor license from Joaquin Ortiz to Jackie Martin.

Hemphill reported that the 3rd annual Fly-In was a great success. He announced that the plane coming the furthest distance was from Austin, TX and 28 airplanes were here. He said that calls were received from six pilots who could not get out of Albuquerque because of the rain and another call from a pilot who could not get out of Farmington because of the weather.

Hemphill reported that the Up With People show was attended by a full house of 400 on Saturday and 300 attended the Sunday performance. He said the welcome parade with rides on the fire trucks for cast members and the mini ranch tour gave cast members quite an experience. He said Carrizozo will stick in their minds.

Iron foreman Faustino Gallegos told the board that the fan broke on the back-hoe and flew off and went through the radiator. He said the parts have been ordered and the back-hoe will also need a new water pump.

Ruth Hammond reported on the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee.

The D-7 Caterpillar must be moved and needs to be appraised before it can be sold.

In response to a request about the street sweeper that had been owned by the town, it was announced that the street sweeper was sold in 1974 to Bud Payne after having been duly advertised and sold by bid. It was stated that the street sweeper was inoperable and the maintenance costs were rapidly exceeding the value of the street sweeper when the decision was made to sell it.

Poor turnout for election

Liquor on Sunday hailed by Downs restaurant owners

By RIGO CHAVEZ

By a more than 2-1 margin a small percentage of Ruidoso Downs voters approved an option that will allow restaurants to serve liquor on Sundays in the village.

A total of 86 voters cast their ballots, with 59 voting in favor and 27 voting against the measure in the special election on Friday, village clerk JoAnn Jenkins said.

According to voter registration records in the Lincoln County Clerk's office, there were 623 persons eligible to vote, only about 14 percent did.

Ruidoso Downs Mayor J. C. "Jake" Harris said that most voters in the village didn't seem to have much of an interest in the outcome of the election either way.

"It seemed pretty quiet on both sides," Harris said explaining the small turnout.

Bill Nunn of the Great American Land and Cattle Company restaurant, said the measure should help increase his Sunday night business by about 25 percent.

"Throughout the summer we have been at a disadvantage because restaurants in Ruidoso were selling liquor on Sundays," said Nunn, who along with Prime Time restaurant manager Bill Bertsch sponsored newspaper ads urging support for Sunday liquor sales.

Ruidoso Downs Trustee Conrad Buchanan said the ability of the two restaurants to sell liquor on Sundays could add an additional $12,000 to $15,000 in gross receipts taxes to village coffers.

"It will definitely help our tax base," Buchanan said.

Trustee J. L. Wilson agreed that it will make the village's restaurants more competitive. "We depend on the tourist industry, so we really needed this," he said.

Nunn said that on an average Sunday night this summer his restaurant would serve between 125 and 150 people.

"Of the 50 cars that would drive up about 10 would leave when the boys doing the valet parking would tell them that they couldn't have a drink with their meal," Nunn said.

David Morales, a Ruidoso Downs resident, said that the only opposition he had heard to Sunday sales was that it would increase the number of drunk drivers.

"I really couldn't see that because the liquor can only be served with the meal. People don't drink that much while they eat," Morales said adding that he had voted for the measure.

Nunn added that he will try to keep his restaurant open this winter and that Sunday liquor sales should help him do that.

The flow of alcoholic beverages on Sunday was halted in the village two years ago, when the village rejected a similar measure. According to state law it is up to an incorporated municipality or a "local option" whether to allow Sunday liquor sales by the drink.

Package sales are prohibited by New Mexico statute.

Miss Lincoln County to compete for fair title

ALBUQUERQUE — Seventeen-year-old Robyn Peralta of Capitan will represent Lincoln County in the 1987 New Mexico State Fair Queen Contest.

A daughter of Isidro and Patsy Peralta, the brunette, 5'2" contestant is sponsored by the Lincoln County Fair Association.

Miss Lincoln County is a senior at Capitan High School. She is involved with the Capitan Junior Rodeo and the Catholic Youth Organization.

The contestant was Capitan Junior Rodeo Club Queen for 1984-85 and is now Lincoln County Queen.

She said she plans to attend New Mexico State University following her high school graduation. She said she plans to study animal science.

An accomplished horsewoman, Peralta has been competing in rodeo for seven years. She rides the barrels and is a pole bender.

Peralta will be riding her 18-year-old Palomino, "Brammy," in the queen competition.

Queen contestants must be between 17- and 23-years-old, single, and never married nor have had any children. Candidates will be judged 50 percent on personality and 50 percent on horsemanship. They must be permanent residents of the counties they represent, and must be sponsored at the county level. If not selected for the title, a candidate may continue to compete at future New Mexico State Fairs as long as she meets all of the eligibility requirements.

Chrysler, Dodge dealer opens doors in Ruidoso

By RIGO CHAVEZ

It's always a challenge when you are the new kid on the block. It's even tougher when you are in an extremely competitive industry like automobiles.

Bob Pry, owner of High Country Motors, the new Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge dealership in Ruidoso is ready to meet that challenge.

"I think the growth potential for the area is good, contrary to current thought," said Pry, who with his partner Fred Ayoub began working on opening the dealership early this spring.

Pry noted that the first reaction of area car buyers has been excellent. "People started stopping by to look at cars even before we got the lot paved," he said.

Former owner of Airway Dodge in El Paso, the 50-year-old Pry has been selling automobiles for almost 20 years.

He said that he had always "poo-pooed" the idea that small, low overhead dealers could sell cars for less, but is finding it to be true in Ruidoso.

"At Airway we had a volume of about a million dollars a month, so this is the first really small dealership I've ever been involved with," Pry said.

This is also Pry's initiation into starting a dealership from scratch. He said it's taken much longer than he expected to get the business operational.

He offers a full parts and service department and said that everything is about "90 percent" in. "We just lack hooking up a couple of machines in the service department."

Before he even began to look for land or a building, Pry and Chrysler Corp. officials began testing the market—looking at population statistics in Lincoln County, existing dealerships, their volume and profitability.

They concluded based on that data and on other commercial aspects such as the planned Sierra Blanca Regional Airport and the opening of new Safeway and Wal-Mart stores, that the Ruidoso market was ripe.

He added that past studies have shown that Chrysler, when it enters a new market, will get a certain percentage of the auto market roughly equal to its share on a national level.

"There is a Chrysler base in the area, but there are also a lot of people who aren't totally familiar with what Chrysler has to offer," Pry said.

He and his two salesmen, Dave Strickland and Brent Haskins, hope to acquaint those unfamiliar with the Chrysler product.

The 1987 models are scheduled for nationwide delivery beginning later this month.

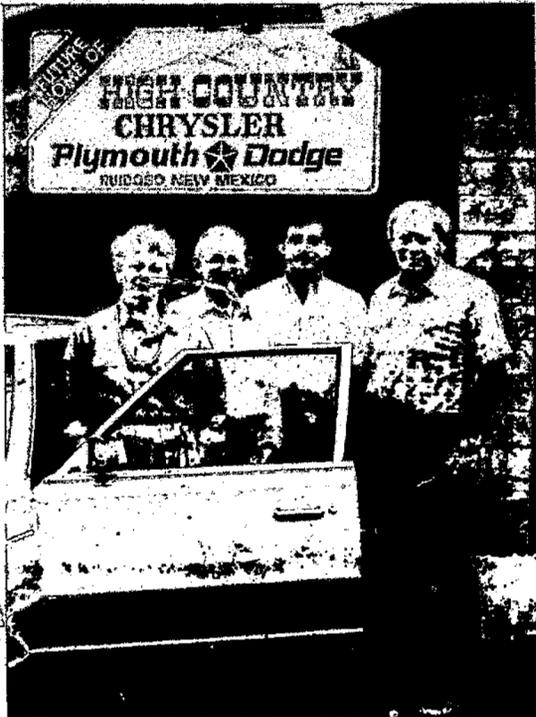

Pry is also anxiously awaiting the arrival of his first shipment of the Colt Vista, a Japanese-made four-wheel drive station wagon. He said he believes it will be "perfect" for the Lincoln County market.

Before the 87s arrive, however, Chrysler will enter the low financing contest started last week by General Motors when they announced 2.9 percent financing on 36-month loans.

Pry said his company will offer interest rates as low as 2.4 percent on 24-month financing contracts. And, they will continue rebates of up to $1,500 on certain models.

Rates of 3.6 percent on 36-month and 4.8 percent on 48-month loans will also be offered on some models, Pry said, noting that Chrysler's backlog of inventory was not as large as GM's.

So, with high hopes for a bright future, Pry, his wife Sherry and sons, Kevin, 11, and Michael, 9, are ready to make a go of it in Ruidoso.

signed by Judge Parsons states that the "board of county commissioners shall provide adequate quarters for the operation of the district attorney and provide necessary utilities and maintenance and service for the operation and upkeep of the district attorney facilities; the office space to which the district attorney's office has been asked to move to, the A.S.C.S. office, is located on the second floor of the annex of the Lincoln County Courthouse complex and does not provide access to handicapped persons; the removal of the DA's office to the A.S.C.S. office will violate the directive of the Governor's Executive Order 'Rights of the Disabled' as well as the policies established by the governor's committee on concerns of the handicapped; the removal of the DA's office to the A.S.C.S. office will violate the State of New Mexico Human Rights Act; and the removal of the DA's office from its current office space is arbitrary and capricious and without merit."

The county, through county attorney Gary C. Mitchell, filed a peremptory challenge to a district judge on Aug. 27 by challenging Richard A. Parsons, district judge, to proceed no further. This is the second challenge filed to disqualify Judge Parsons. A statement of disqualification and peremptory challenge to a district judge was filed on July 23 by Bill Elliott, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County, that stated that he believed that Judge Parsons cannot preside over the above entitled case with impartiality.

The commissioners filed a motion to dismiss and in the alternative to consolidate the matter with the cause numbers from July. The most recent case has a new case number.

In response to the writ of mandamus, the county states that the issue of handicapped persons has been discussed, adequate provisions for meeting with handicapped persons has been made by the commissioners on the first floor of the annex which is accessible by handicapped persons and, further, the entire Lincoln County Courthouse annex is in compliance with federal and state standards and has been heretofore approved.

Affirmative defenses by the county are that the board of commissioners assert that the matter has been previously litigated; the district attorney's office should be collaterally estopped in that the issues involved have been resolved (before Judge Doughty); the district attorney's office acts in bad faith, has abused process in that the district attorney's office has been advised in open court that it had a meeting room on the first floor of the annex which could be utilized by handicapped persons; and the board of commissioners asserts the affirmative defense that the district attorney's office acts again in bad faith in that it again brings another action when its first petition for a restraining order and permanent injunction was denied by the district court, and attempts to subvert the duties of the commissioners of the county of Lincoln by remaining in its present location when it has been directed to relocate to a separate location in the Lincoln County Courthouse.

David Smith, who has been on the commission for over a year, was chosen to replace Callaghan as chairman.

Pete Thompson, one of those recently appointed by Davis, was elected vice-chairman.

Davis said he did not know if he would have trouble finding replacements for those who resigned.

Village Councilor Dub Holt said he thought that the council might have trouble finding replacements.

"It's a thankless job at best and finding volunteers for these sorts of commissions is never easy because it takes a lot of time. Hours you don't get paid for," Holt said.

"It's time we (the councilors) got off our duffs and work with P and Z on the ordinance so we won't be in conflict all the time," Holt said adding that he was sorry to lose the three P and Z commissioners.

Commissioners OK $100..... from P. 1)

The county has filed a counter petition for ejectment and recovery for real property. It states that the district attorney has unlawfully withheld from the people of Lincoln County possession of the said office space and that the DA has failed and refused to relocate to the courthouse annex to the offices known as the A.S.C.S. office.

The counter petition also states that the people of Lincoln County, by and through its board of county commissioners, have had to incur attorney's fees and court costs in an attempt to remove the district attorney from that particular office and relocate him to the annex. New Mexico law provides that if the board of commissioners prevail, they shall recover damages.

The damages incurred will be set forth more particularly in court and include, but are not limited to, reasonable attorney's fees, costs for county personnel to have to aid in preparation for this lawsuit and court costs.

The counter suit states: "Wherefore, the Board of Commissioners pray for judgement as follows: 1. For recovery of possession and further pray that a Writ of Possession upon judgement be issued directing the sheriff of the County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico to deliver to the Board of Commissioners the northeast corner office of the Lincoln County Courthouse and to remove the District Attorney, his assistants and other personnel and equipment from that office and relocate them to the annex building located in the Lincoln County Courthouse complex. 2. For damages in an amount to be determined by the Court. 3. For such other and further relief as to the Court seems just and proper."

The placement of the DA's office on the first floor of the courthouse just around the corner from the district court is not the practice in other counties. Chavez County has the DA's office in a separate building other than the courthouse complex; Eddy County has the DA's office in a separate building at least one to two blocks away from the primary courthouse; and in Lea County, Dona Ana County, Otero County, Santa Fe County and Grant County the DA's office is on the top floor of the courthouse

Lincoln County Manager Suzanne Cox told the NEWS that the courthouse annex has been in compliance with federal requirements for handicapped access and the county has qualified for revenue sharing because of the compliance. She said that a first floor room in the annex is being renovated for a conference room for the use of the district attorney.

OPINION

THE Established Media have just ended their paeans of praise for the late Averell Harriman who died recently at the age of 91. Harriman was a railroad/banking tycoon who joined Roosevelt's New Deal because, as James Reston of the New York Times put it, "he regarded it (New Deal) as an essential crusade to modify and preserve the capitalist system." He was a former governor of New York, secretary of commerce, US ambassador to Great Britain and to the Soviet Union. It was his high regard for the Soviet system that triggers this response to the media's tribute upon his death.

HARRIMAN'S regard for the Soviets began with his friendship with Trotsky and his revolutionaries back in the 1920s. He was on friendly terms with every Soviet leader since 1920. One of his last demonstrations of faith in the Soviet system was his interview with the late Yuri Andropov. Like the present and living Soviet coddler, Armand Hammar, there was reason for Harriman's show of affection for the Soviet system.

HIS bank help finance the Bolshevik revolution, then it gave Lenin a loan to help him consolidate Communist power. Harriman, through his private bank, W. A. Harriman & Company, helped provide heavy industry for the Soviets. He played a role at Yalta, where our European allies in World War II were betrayed. He was behind a lend-lease transfer of $11 billion in American goods to the Soviets. He helped in turning US currency printing plates over to the Soviets so they could have unlimited US currency during the war. He supported our no-win policy in Vietnam, and campaigned for SALT agreements that gave the Soviet Union superiority in nuclear arms. He was, from the beginning, a close friend of such murderers as Stalin, Khrushchev, Brezhnev and Andropov. The Soviet Union owes him a great debt, the United States does not.

I was present at a convention in Washington, DC several years ago when Harriman was one of a long list of distinguished speakers. One of the rules of the American Platform Association is that any speaker addressing the group must answer questions from members. With television cameras from ABC, NBC and CBS grinding, Harriman was asked (from the floor a pointed question about his association with and affinity for the Soviets. Harriman became very angry and shouted to the man to "shut up!" without having attempting to answer the question. His rudeness shocked the audience. Next day, the exchange had been edited out of the evening news coverage of the convention. A pity, I thought, because its inclusion could have alerted the American public to dig deeper into the real nature of this man and his dedication to "preserve the capitalist system." My own discovery was that he was a total socialist in spite of his capitalist background, and found little to criticize in the Soviet mania for murder. For example, as when he forced, almost single-handed, a coalition government on Rumania which led to an almost immediate Communist takeover. More, perhaps, than any one man, he deserves credit for the destruction of Poland.

SO I was pleased when he died. Good riddance. And may Armand Hammar soon follow in his footsteps.

I have been told that I have an original Picasso hanging in my office at the Lincoln County News. Maybe so, but it looks like a third-graders' class assignment, and for 20 years I have been trying to figure out what the painting represents. It reminds me of a time when I was in Spain and heard the story about Pablo Picasso coming home to find a burglar at work in his chateau. The intruder escaped, but Picasso told police he could do a rough sketch of what the thief looked like. On the basis of Picasso's drawing, the police arrested a mother superior, the minister of finance, a washing machine, and the Eiffel Tower. Come by and have a shot at figuring out Picasso's message in this foolish piece of art.

LAST week I spent five glorious days in Texas helping celebrate the state's Susquicentennial, along with my 75th birthday, which friends jocularly referred to as my Hemisusquicentennial. Years ago when I was cutting my journalistic teeth in Ralls, TX a neighboring editor was Cecil O. Waggoner. He came up with a brilliant idea. Why not, he said, get into the "pre-blessed" food business? By buying pre-blessed food at the supermarket one wouldn't need to offer a blessing at each meal. This insures against getting a shoddy, inadequate blessing at your own table, as Cecil's food would be all prepared and pronounced by the best blessers money could buy. Pre-blessed food could save lots of time. People are always striving to save their valuable time so as to extend their leisure hours and make life happier. Time, you know, is also money. So, if pre-blessed food were served, imagine the time saved at civic club luncheons, dinners, breakfasts and banquets alone. By eliminating tedious dedication of lowly banquet food to high purposes, a full year of a man's life could be saved to be squandered on more fruitful pursuits—such as attending wine-tasting parties or listening to exhortations by our political saviors. Of course, this new food will cost more. You didn't expect to get blessed for nothing, did you?

Bob Bauman's book

WASHINGTON—Not too many years ago, on a talk show I was hosting on a Washington radio station other than the one I now appear on, one of my guests was a Congressman from Maryland. He was so well versed in parliamentary procedure and the rules of the House, where he'd been a page, and he had such an impressive instinct for the jugular, that he spent almost all of his time driving the Democratic majority up the wall. This included Speaker Tip O'Neill (D, MA) and Congressperson Bella Abzug, the Gentle Lady From New York, whom he was able to silence for a whole day when she violated a rule by personally attacking him.

This Congressman was so devastating in disturbing the opposite party's power structure that when I reached him by phone and introduced him to the audience, I said: "In some quarters, he is known as 'The Monster From The Eastern Shore.'"

Much to my surprise, instead of the usual snappy comeback, there was dead silence, which was so unlike the Honorable Robert Bauman. But he gradually recovered, and he was a stimulating guest. Months later, all over page one, I discovered why there was that shocked silence when I jested about "The Monster From The Eastern Shore." For years, Congressman Bauman had been what is known as a "Chicken Hawk" in purchasing sexual favors from young boys and visiting Washington's homosexual bars in his car—with the license plate reading "Member of Congress — 1."

After years of risking the health of his wife and children, as a closet child-molester, this "Gentleman From Maryland" reports that after his wife, Carol, learned about his pederastic play, an "attempt to resume sexual relations with her was rebuffed by her... I slowly began to realize this was a new Carol who confronted me."

Any man who will write this about his wife, whom he so despicably betrayed for so many years, can hardly be expected to refrain from similar treatment of less intimate associates. He reports—without identifying them—that Congress includes "the names of nine other members of the US House of Representatives and US Senate" whose names are on record with "a DC police squad known as the Juvenile Sex Exploitation Unit." With this, who in Congress is not suspect?

Moreover, Mr. Bauman reports that youngsters like the one that fingered him have named "high officials of the federal government, the District of Columbia govern-

Scattering money

SANTA FE — Some people like to read about money, while figures of any kind turn others off.

Unfortunately for that latter group, it's those numbers with the dollar signs in front of them that we sometimes have to turn to as a sort of map to tell us where we stand.

Just look at what can be learned by contrasting two figures: Last fiscal year (which ended on June 30), our state took in recurring revenues of $1.37 billion. During that same time, our legislature and our governor allowed us to assume recurring expenses of $1.39 billion. Rounded off, the "income" figure of those two is $20 million smaller than the "outgo" figure.

How did we manage to stay in business? Well, we lucked into some one-time-only payments of some size; we transferred some money out of our various savings accounts; and we speeded up collection on corporate income taxes, which simply means we spent that revenue earlier and will not find it there when we are searching for more income later.

But don't miss the point. The gap between what we can expect to take in on a regular and steady basis and what present law requires us to put out in the same way is around $20 million. Does that sound to you like good stewardship?

OVERSEERS: Have those who made the error of proceeding in that fashion in the year just past learned from their mistake and hastened to correct their error?

Not so you'd notice it. For the current year, this same cast of characters—members of the legislature first, followed by Toney Anaya, who signed their bills—have ordered expenditures of $1.449 billion. That's not only $79 million more than they ordered us to spend last year (though they already knew money was tight when they made these decisions), but it's also $20 million more than we expect our total income for this year to be.

Do they learn from their errors? Apparently not. Instead, they seem to prefer to compound them.

PHILOSOPHERS: Some of our citizens, when placing blame for this sort of continuing irresponsibility, may be tempted to take the easy way out. They will want to tie this can to the tail of Toney Anaya, and say, "We always knew he was one of those wild-eyed liberals, who want to spend, spend, spend." But let's take a little time here and be fair to everyone.

Those who keep a sharp eye on state government know Toney Anaya, though he occupies the top post, has not truly been in charge there for at least the last two years.

If he's not in charge, he hardly gets a major share of the blame.

On this point, it would appear, those who have to have the finger pointed at them are the legislators who allowed this kind of financial irresponsibility to come into being.

To be fair, we ought to howl about them considerably louder even than we do about Toney, because they told us, even as all this was going on, that they were fiscal conservatives. Remember, we're talking about times in which Republicans controlled the Senate and a coalition of conservative Democrats with Republicans ran things in the House.

Perhaps we should thank our lucky stars the spend, spend, spend gang weren't in charge; imagine what would have happened then. Instead, we've been had by those who told us piously they could be depended on watch over our interests.

Mandela, terrorist

EDITOR—The Reagan administration talks a good game against the spread of communism, but when the red chips are down, it seems to lose.

You don't need a better example than South Africa. The Reagan administration demands that the South African government legalize the African National Congress (ANC). It makes no difference that the ANC insists that the present South African government must be brought down by violence.

Nor does it seem to influence the matter for North Carolina's Senator, Jesse Helms, to point out that he has a list of 18 of the ANC's 30 member executive committee who have been identified as communists by our own Central Intelligence Agency.

Not only does the administration demand that the outlawed ANC be legalized, but it also demands that convicted terrorist, Nelson Mandela, be freed from prison. Back in the early 1960s Mandela was convicted and sentenced to life in prison for terrorist activities that he never even denied.

South Africa's president has offered Mandela a pardon if he will denounce violence as a means of gaining his political goals. Mandela steadfastly refuses.

Now, don't get the idea that Mandela was one of those placard carrying campus crazies that defiled the colleges back in the 1960s. That's not the way it was at all.

Writer Alan C. Brownfield provides a certain insight into the character of Mandela when he wrote in THE WASHINGTON INQUIRER, Aug. 8: "Mandela is not a 'political prisoner' but, is a terrorist. When he was arrested in 1962, police found in his possession 210,000 hand grenades, 48,000 land mines, 50 tons of high explosives, and plans of 107 buildings and installations that were to be blown up. The police also found a 23 page handwritten document entitled, 'How To Be a Good Communist!'"

That explains Mandela, and it pretty well explains the ANC, but how in the name of Joe McCarthy do you explain the actions of the Reagan administration?

RAYMOND C. WILSON, San Juan Bautista, CA.

No aid to Communists

EDITOR—United States aid has built the Soviet Union into a world power, and it has now begun the same process for Communist China. The tremendous assistance given the Kremlin has not deterred the USSR from traditional Communist barbarism. Nor is there any reason to believe that today's smiling Chinese will continue to smile at us once we have supplied them with industrial and military might.

The hard truth is that there is no such thing as a "good" Communist. No aid of any kind should ever be given to tyrants. Having been conned into helping Soviet Russia to ward off a supposed threat from China, the American people should know better than to allow themselves to be victimized by the same ruse to help Communist China.

MRS. MARJORIE MILLS, Stockton, CA.

Footnote to Chappaquiddick

EDITOR—Your OPINION column of Aug. 20 was so pertinent with respect to the performance of the bloated dissolute-looking Senior Senator from Massachusetts, Teddy-Boy Kennedy, in his questioning of Justice Rehnquist that I feel compelled to send you heartfelt thanks for what you said so well.

Those of us who lived through the days of the scandal of Chappaquiddick Island in 1969 remember well the equivocating of this fat darling of the amazing citizens of Massachusetts who worship at the Shrine of the Joseph Kennedy Dynasty, all these many years.

We can scarcely believe that he would have the consummate gall to think he can "con" the decent people of America into taking anything he says seriously. What a fool he made of himself before the entire national audience on TV.

May he be soundly defeated for any public office he seeks. We haven't forgotten Mary Jo Kopechne.

LULU H. BRAGHETTA, Sonoma, CA.

Another view

EDITOR—If you are correct in assessing the intentions of the media over the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, then I feel that the media's responsibility to the public they serve has sadly missed the mark. Personally, I do not believe that "shaming folks" is a particularly inspirational tactic. Guilt may or may not be the powerful persuasion you claim is motivating people to "reject military preparedness" and "to outlaw nuclear weapons." We are more likely to meet compunction like the Pharisees—with self-righteous anger rather than political action.

I strongly disagree with your opinion that the viewing of commemorative festivals in Japan causes us to forget Pearl Harbor. Those of us who continue to weep for atrocities on both sides remember against our own pain, our own losses, and our own dead. These memorials symbolize the horror, the suffering, and the victimization war brings to us all. I do not consider people who grieve "cry babies." My son is a career soldier in the US Army and our family supports a strong national defense program precisely because it ensures liberty and life.

PAM McARTHUR, Picocho.

'Boosting' the Japanese

EDITOR—I can't begin to compliment you enough for the OPINION column of Aug. 21/27 telling the truth about the A-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. And ditto the bombing of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese.

I am so sick and tired of our "boosting" the Japanese economy. I am clipping it and sending to Sen. Alan Cranston and Cong. Doug Hosco.

Taxes everywhere; no relief

EDITOR—On July 29, 1986 the Ruidoso City Council shot itself in the foot.

After much discussion to the contrary a one-half percent sales tax was passed on a 3 to 3 tie vote with Mayor Davis breaking the tie. The council majority would not accept the rationale that a one-quarter percent sales tax would accomplish the same objective—provide funds to purchase the local airport.

The council's attitude was to the effect that the taxpayers could share the entire tax burden through the 1/2 percent tax plan, whereas the city would have to cough up a few bucks to make up the difference under the 1/4 percent tax plan.

In fact, one councilman stated that the city would contribute funds "over his dead body."

With a certain increase in state taxes along with an increase in real estate taxes (already decided) the council has failed to gauge the general attitude of the voters towards more and more taxes.

Ruidoso's tax rate for general obligations is the highest in the state. Now, with the proposed additional 1/2 percent sales tax, Ruidoso will have another dubious honor — the highest sales tax in the state of New Mexico.

The city council made a serious error in refusing to compromise in the matter of a sales tax.

Now, it is up to the taxpayers to decide: should the administration, through fiscal restraints, do its share in providing funds to purchase the airport, or should the taxpayers be forced to "go it alone?"

This will be decided at the polls in December.

J. A. "AJ" JUNGE, Ruidoso.

ment, aides to the White House staff of Jimmy Carter as well as men well known in Washington military, business, and professional circles.

This catalogue of perversion in high places might be credible, if he had named names, with evidence. But for the unwary, this will serve to suggest that "almost everybody's doing it" — a slight variation of The Militant Sodomist Motto — "We Are Everywhere."

So is AIDS, folks. And so is incest; and that, too, has an organized lobby, with a goal of lowering the age of consent, because, as those in the Rene Guyon Society put it: "Sex Before Eight — Or Else It's Too Late."

Author Bauman's skill as an attorney is fully employed in his obvious goal to evoke sympathy — and, inevitably, to provoke national acceptance of sodomy and pederasty.

But for all he went through in the loss of job and family (His wife finally moved out along with the children), Mr. Bauman's penalty hardly compares to one of his former colleagues from Idaho. For Congressman George Hansen is presently an inmate of Petersburg, Virginia's federal prison for an offense that seems several leagues less serious than a Congressman who used his pay as a federal officer to purchase the bodies of young boys and in so doing subsidized male prostitution.

Repeatedly, Bauman suggests that the liberal Democrats, from Tip O'Neill to Jimmy Carter, were out to get him. He weaves a compelling yarn, some of which may be true. But since he drove his car with Congressman's plates into Washington's "meat rack" section, where he could buy boys, whatever malice was harbored by the Democrats was nothing compared to this man's abundant and recurrent helping himself to ill-fame.

He tries to apply that to some others, such as "Franklin D. Roosevelt's notoriously gay under-secretary of state," whom he names, and who is dead. One of the living whom Bauman names is a Massachusetts Democratic Congressman, whom he describes as "the witty liberal Barney Frank, (who) appears at Washington's annual Gay Pride Day in a tank top with his usual young companion and their picture appears in The Blade without comment."

This prose suggests that Congressman Frank is somehow inclined toward, or affiliated with NAM/BLA — the North American Man/Boy Love Association, the organized child molesters who were founded in Massachusetts.

When I reached Congressman Frank to ask about this, he replied without hesitation or any animosity: "The so-called 'young companion' is 28 years old. There is no romantic interest at all, but we had been playing volleyball, which is why I was wearing a tank top."

NEW BUSINESS OPENS—McMinn Feed will celebrate its grand opening, Saturday, Sept. 13. You will find dog, cat, rabbit, chicken, and all livestock feeds. Enrollment will determine Ruidoso school staff cuts

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Some Ruidoso Schools staff members may have to be cut if enrollment levels do not live up to expectations, school officials said this week.

The budget for the 1986-87 school year was worked out by the board of education and school administrators based on a projection of almost zero growth.

"If enrollment meets our projections we should be in good shape," Supt. Miller said on Tuesday, the first day of classes in the district.

"If we lose four or five students we'll still be OK. If we lost 30 or 40 then we will have to start looking for cuts," Miller said adding that there were some other staff cuts that could be made before any teachers were laid off.

Schools officials would be turning in preliminary numbers at the end of the day on Tuesday, but final enrollment figures would not be in until the end of the week because Ruidoso Middle School will not start classes until Friday.

Miller added that if pre-registration figures at Nob Hill Elementary come true there is a possibility that there would be more than 30 children per classroom.

This could cause staffing and space problems at the school.

"If we have 30 kids on our list normally there would be five that don't show up," Miller said. "We'll just have to wait and see."

Work is set to begin this month on five additional classrooms at Nob Hill. The construction is part of the building package approved this spring when voters passed a $2.6 million bond issue.

School officials had estimated a total enrollment of 1,806 students in the district, a increase of five or 28 percent more than in 1985-86.

Forty-one more pupils were expected in kindergarten through 6th grade, with 29 fewer in grades 7 through 12 and seven fewer in special education.

Pupil/teacher ratios were also expected to rise in kindergarten through 3rd grade. The district had projected 21.25 student per kindergarten teacher, up from 17.5. While in the first through the 3rd grade the ratio would go up just slightly to 25.75 from 25.25.

Ratios in grades 4th through 6th would remain the same at about 25-to-1 while in grades 7 through 12 they would actually decline to 17.75-to-1 from 19-to-1.

Although Miller refused to speculate on just which positions might be eliminated if enrollment does in fact decline, staff members other than teachers include administrators, teacher's aides, custodians and secretaries.

and 1st grade both exceed the 1987-88 levels prescribed by the New Mexico School Reform Act passed by the state legislature. The act sets a limit of 20-to-1 at both grades.

Miller said that no major curriculum changes would be made this year in the district. He said administrators were preparing to ask the board to increase graduation requirements by a single credit to 23.

"That credit would be a requirement for 9th graders and would probably be in one of the basic subjects like math or English. We feel students have had too many elective choices," Miller said.

He added that he does not expect the so-called "no pass/no play rule," which was also mandated by the legislature, to have much of an effect on students in extra-curricular activities.

Miller said the schools had much the same requirements last year as the no pass/no play rule, which says that students must maintain a 2.0 grade point average.

"Last year they were allowed to fail one class, but they still had to maintain a 2.0," he said.

Because the law only requires a 2.0 semester average, theoretically a student playing football could play the entire season and still be flunking.

"The coach and the principals would not allow that to happen. If a student is having trouble because of missing school to play, then he or she would be cut," Miller said.

Ruidoso Centennial Banquet Sept. 11

Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor, Mayor Protem Jerry Shaw and State Rep. Ben Hall are just a few of the celebrity waiters who will be serving at the Ruidoso Centennial Banquet on Sept. 11 at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Greeters, the banquet will feature a total of 20 celebrity waiters, Susan Jeffers said.

Jeffers, who is coordinating the event for the greeters, said there will also be entertainment by the Out of the Hand Band and a style show featuring vintage clothing.

"We wanted the fashions to go with the centennial theme," Jeffers said. Ruidoso is celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding this year.

Ruidoso artist Teri Sodd will be on hand to draw charcoal and watercolor caricatures of those attending.

"We want to have it sort of like a three-ring circus, with something going on all the time," Jeffers said adding that more entertainment is being lined up.

The waiters, who also include Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr., Sheriff Tom Sullivan and White Mountain Elementary School Principal Karen Tillman, will have a chance to collect tips for their favorite charities. The tip money will be divided equally between the charities and the greeters.

Waiters will serve a New York steak, baked potato, green beans, a salad and bread.

Tickets for the event are $18 per person and may be reserved by calling the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce. Diners can also request the waiter of their choice.

Money raised will go to greeters' projects such as a planned reception for the new

Lincoln County

'Long Ago'

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Leader, Devoted to the Best Interests of Lincoln County and the Development of Its Resources, White Oaks, Lincoln County, N.M., Saturday, Jan. 4, 1890. Wm. Caffrey, Editor & Proprietor.

To our readers, one and all, we doff our hat, wishing you a Happy New Year, with God's benison on you and yours.

We may not be wise but we can be merry over the good things enjoyed by the people of White Oaks, Lincoln County. Yes, verily, the whole Territory of New Mexico during the year '89, for as we had faith in all her many promises as to what it would do for us in 1890, hence we say be merry, old and young, for Providence has dealt kindly by us, and saving and excepting a few cuffs once in a while to remind us of our short comings and that we be but puny mortals after all, we be wise as well as merry if we lay aside our cares and say, "we devoutly thank Thee, good Lord, for what Thou hath done for us in the past—do as well by us if not better, in the future. Give us a railroad to White Oaks so that we can sell our coal and our iron, our marble; never mind the gold, we'll take care of that. Stop the mouths of chronic grumblers who wouldn't work if they could. Gladden the hearts of our town lot owners so that they may smile again as in days of yore.

tion by providing us with the desired and craved for pabulum. We are the architect and builder of news, not the creator of material.

Life is a panoramic scene, first illumined by a flattering, yet uncertain light, then veiled by what seems to be, and oftentimes prove portentous. The lights indicate health and happiness—the gloom, disease and death. And how much do the words, disease, death, convey? Suffering on the part of the dying—lasting, everlasting pain to and with the bereft.

Our Postmistress, Mrs. Timoney, was recently called to visit her daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Wilson, living in Provo, Utah, which point she reached on her daughter's 23rd birthday. Mrs. Wilson died from blood poisoning, Dec. 27th, and was laid away Sunday the 29th.

The deceased was the wife of Wm. D. Wilson, well known in Utah as a mining superintendent and expert. She left one child, a little girl, 6 years old.

After the funeral, Mrs. T. went from Provo to Salt Lake City to visit her eldest daughter, Mrs. Louise V. Hanks, who had recently been confined. On her arrival in Salt Lake City she found her little grandson, Chas. Craig Hanks aged 3 years, sick with diphtheria. After suffering a week from the insidious disease, despite the best medical skill, grandma's pet died on the 7th inst.

Mrs. Timoney is now on her way home, accompanied by her little grand-daughter and will reach here Monday or Tuesday—with but little light environing her heart, but a couple of very dark clouds which we sincerely hope time and circumstances may soon lift and let the sunlight in.

Immunization clinic in Capitan and Carrizozo

A special immunization clinic will be held at Capitan and Carrizozo schools for students on Friday. This is a one time only clinic and parents must be with their child or shots will not be given. Clinic times on Sept. 5: Capitan from 9 a.m. to noon. Carrizozo 1 to 4 p.m.

TANDEM TAKE-OFFS from the Carrizozo Municipal Airport after the Fly-In on Aug. 23 made this unusual picture possible.

There will be no other immunizations given at the Corona, Capitan and Hondo schools until a new nurse is working in the Carrizozo office in the courthouse. Immunizations are given in the county suboffice in Ruidoso every Monday from 9 to 11:30 and from 1 to 2 p.m. No appointments are necessary.

Immunizations are given at the Carrizozo health office the third Tuesday of each month from 9 to 11:30 a.m. No appointments are necessary. The Carrizozo health office features a cancer screening clinic Sept. 9. This clinic is for men and women. Call 648-2412 for an appointment. A family planning clinic is held once a month. This clinic is by appointment only. A well-child clinic will be held in Carrizozo on Sept. 18, by appointment only. WIC is for pregnant women, breast-feeding women and infants up to one year. The age limit is restricted to one year old children at present. Possibly in October the age limit will be higher. Please call 648-2412 in Carrizozo or 258-3252 in Ruidoso for more information or appointments.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

The confidence of the people of White Oaks in the future of our town was never more forcibly illustrated since its settlement in the fall of 1879, than it has been during the past year. Steady improvement has been the order of the day despite hard times and the disappointment incidental to the failure of Locke & Co. in building the White Oaks & El Paso R.R. Many more brick and stone buildings, for business and residence purposes, would have been erected, but on the whole, our growth has been more of a steady and permanent character, indicative, on the part of the builders, the "I mean to stay" idea that so forcibly impresses itself on the mind of the stranger who visits our town. For intelligence, and as a moral and law abiding people we challenge comparison with any of the older communities of the Eastern states.

1889 died hard on Tuesday.
1890 came in smiling Wednesday.

Ed. Homan has returned from Tularosa, and proposes spending the Winter with us. Welcome.

Sheriff Nowlin and his chief deputy, Capt. Roberts, spent a couple of days in camp this week. Whether they came to see Slight or Parker, we know not. They saw both of them, however.

We are pleased to learn that the reports touching the injuries received by S. W. Lloyd through his wagon upset last week, were much exaggerated. No bones were broken, but the concussion caused the unbalancing of his mental faculties which threaten a long period of illness.

Everybody should take the Leader, the only paper in the U.S. that published the opinion of the Supreme Court of White Oaks, (Judge Collier presiding,) (which decided that in calling a man a S. of a B. it simply signifies that he was a "mean cuss")

13 YEARS OF BUSINESS TO THE AREA

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

2.3 inches of good rain complimented this area last week. It has been very cool and nice since with some sunshine.

Another month has ended and with it a record as Smokey Bear Museum had 9,102 registered visitors for August. The week from Aug. 25-31 had 1,444. A group of 14 from the University Tower Retirement Center in Las Cruces enjoyed Smokey's home there Aug. 26. New hours at the Smokey Bear Museum start Sept. 6. They are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Capitan Fire Softball team won 2nd in the tournament and 5th in the league. They desire to express their special thanks to Elizabeth for keeping score all season for them.

Lovely talented Mari Kim is a senior in our high school and is a Rotary Exchange Student from Canada. She lives in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sanchez and family. They appreciate and enjoy her.

Supt. and Mrs. Hayes have a young man from Germany who is a foreign student in their home. I have not learned his name. The report is that they love and enjoy him and all of the students in Capitan like him too.

Tawyna Reynolds and Delana Smith have the opportunity to ride in the Albuquerque Parade with the Miss Cinderella Pageant winners Saturday, Sept. 6.

I wish the following citizens Happy Birthday with good health and many more to Ruth Stokes, Aug. 29; Sonya Wood, Sept. 8; Bartley McDonough, Sept. 9; Lois Coons, Sept. 11; Tommy Reynolds, Sept. 1 and Richard Pine, Sept. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenezon of Seminole, FL arrived Tuesday via plane to Albuquerque where their daughter Sherry and her husband Dr. Rouleau met them and brought them to their home in Capitan where they are guests for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Annaratone of El Paso, TX were last weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Annaratone of Capitan.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lee of Lincoln became happy grandparents Wednesday, Aug. 27, when their daughter Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, became proud happy parents of a son born in Ruidoso hospital and weighed 8 lbs. Laura graduated from Capitan.

The Tigers looked great Friday afternoon defeating Eunice 26 to 0. Keep it up, Tigers.

It was good to see all of the college kids who were home for Labor Day. Now they all go back to college to start the real studies and longer stays away from home. Study hard and make us all proud.

Richard Farnsworth was in Lincoln again. Him and his grandson Chris and friend Nita Brooks were guests of Gary and Suzie Mortons. It was Mr. Farnsworth birthday. He was 66 years young. I do wish him many more healthy and happy birthdays.

Howard and Maxine Wright; Jim, Linda, Kimberly and Justin Wright and Melinda Strickland spent Friday through Monday in Lubbock, TX attending the Kidd family reunion in which 65 attended at the KOA Campground in Lubbock. Her mother Elsie Kidd was unable to attend but is doing OK.

The Greatest Duck Races were held at Deming, NM Aug. 28-29. Dorothy Payne and Eileen Serna won first place both days in the Horseshoe Pitching Tournament. Saturday they won a big beautiful trophy and $190 each. There were 42 teams. Sunday there were 23 teams and first place was $45 each. It was a two grand elimination. Dorothy and Eileen were undefeated both days.

Alice Booky to receive FFA award

Alice Booky of Hondo has been nominated and is expected to receive the American Farmer degree, the highest degree awarded by the National FFA Organization. The award is based on outstanding agricultural production, processing and service records, and demonstrated leadership. Booky will be one of 735 members receiving the award at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO, Nov. 13-15.

Only one in 600 of the 430,000 FFA members have advanced through Chapter and State Farmer degrees to earn this national award.

Booky, daughter of Ernest and Cecilia Booky, is currently a student at New Mexico State University majoring in agricultural business finance. She earned the degree on the basis of diversified livestock production. She has just completed serving a term as state FFA treasurer where she participated in various leadership activities.

She was a member of the Hondo chapter and her vocational agriculture instructor and FFA adviser is Jerry Burchett.

GABRIELLA GOMEZ, a sophomore at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, has been promoted to the rank of cadet captain and assigned duty as a squadron commander. She is the first female cadet to be appointed a squadron commander in the history of NMMI. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gomez of Glencoe.

Each degree winner receives a gold American Farmer key and an expense-paid trip to the National Convention.

More than 20,000 FFA members will attend the student-run 59th FFA convention, making it the largest annual youth convention in the nation. They will see the American Farmer degrees awarded, hear several nationally known speakers and witness the installation of the six new national FFA officers.

Ruidoso set for 3 days of mule races

Three days of mule racing will begin at Ruidoso Downs Racetrack on Sept. 12.

The races are sponsored by the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skimmers and will feature 12 races each day at the track. Billed as the "world's fastest mules," the animals will run from 220 yards to 870 yards with a 1 1/4-mile pony express race with three mules, mule skimmers president Dave McMath said.

"They are faster than most people think," said McMath. "They run only two or three seconds slower than horses in the quarter mile."

McMath, who said he was drawn to mule racing "just like a magnet," said the mule races have been held at Ruidoso Downs seven of the past eight years. The races had to be moved to Sunland Park last year because of the track expansion in Ruidoso.

In addition to the regular races, there will be events for mini-mules (those 32 inches and under) and a balloon bust. For the balloon bust two balloons are tied around each jockey's belt and then the jockeys try to pop the balloon. The last jockey with an unbroken balloon wins.

Some 250 mules from seven different states including California, New Mexico, Missouri and Texas are expected for the races that begin

Tigers over Eunice 26-0

By BART McDONOUGH

The Capitan Tigers, hampered by numerous penalties, held the Eunice Cardinals scoreless last Friday night on their way to a 26-0 victory.

Eunice kicked off to the Tigers. The Capitan receiver handed the ball off to Troy Padilla who sailed down the west sideline for 85 yards and the Tigers first TD of the season. Mike Lunn converted and Capitan was up front by 7.

Anthony Sanchez recovered a Cardinal fumble on the ensuing kickoff. At this point the Cardinal coach came out to talk to his team. He threatened to put in the junior varsity if the varsity didn't settle down. The Tigers were forced to punt and Eunice took over on its own 20 yard line. A nice 35 yard run back of a Cardinal punt by Kerry Clements later in the quarter was nullified by a penalty.

Capitan began the 2nd quarter on the Cardinal 40. Eckland ran up the middle for 7. Ronnie Sanchez pitched out to Eldridge who got the 1st down. Eckland then ripped up the middle for the Tigers second tally. Capitan's pass attempt for the conversion was no good. The score now stood Tigers 13, Eunice 0.

The Capitan kickoff went all the way to the Cardinal 2 yard line. It was finally piked up for an 8 yard return to the 10. Mike Lunn recovered a Cardinal fumble on 2nd down and the Tigers were in business 10 yards from pay dirt. Ronnie Sanchez passed on 1st down to Clements for the touchdown. Lunn kicked the PAT and the Tigers lead was extended to 20-0.

Later in the quarter a nice run by Eckland was called back because of a penalty. Another penalty nullified a 33 yard pass play. Sanchez to Will Griggs. John Parker got in a nice 40 yard punt and Anthony Sanchez a hard-hitting solo tackle before the half ended.

Eunice began the 2nd half on its own 26 yard line. Clay Layher got in a nice tackle just before Eunice made its first 1st down on a 15 yard pass play. Eunice coughed up the ball once again and the Tigers were in business near midfield.

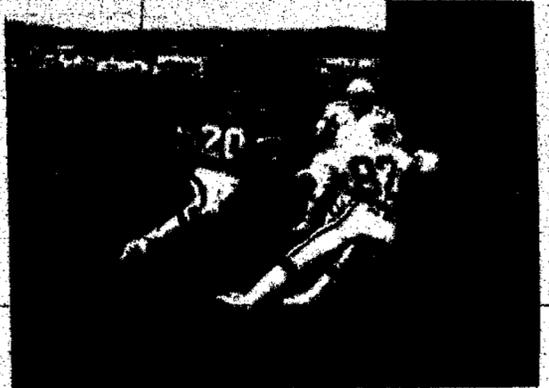

The Tigers picked up a 1st down just before Troy Padilla reported into the game as quarterback. Padilla had trouble on his first series of downs. Good news soon came when Mike Shanks recovered a Cardinal fumble on the Eunice 15. Eckland got the TD, but alas, another penalty. Padilla got 8 yards and moments later fired one to Jay Eldridge for the score. Lunn missed the extra point and the final score, 26-0, was now posted on the scoreboard. A 25 yard pass interception by Ronnie Sanchez and fine plays by Eldridge and Eckland were also featured in this quarter.

A few seconds into the 4th quarter found the Tigers threatening once again on the Cardinal 3 yard line after a 22 yard pass completion to Eldridge. The Tigers were unable to cash in and Eunice took over near the goal line. The Cardinals got a 1st down and then turned over the ball when Greg Smith recovered a fumble.

A 17 yard pass play to John Parker would have put the ball on the Eunice 7 yard line. Another penalty stopped this Tiger threat. Both teams exchanged punts and the game ended with the Tigers on their own 12 yard line.

Capitan travels to Tatum Sept. 5 for a 7:30 p.m. game with the Coyotes.

WILL THESE CARDINALS - stop Capitan's Jay Eldridge? They had trouble all afternoon doing anything with the Tigers. Capitan blanked Eunice 26-0. It's Capitan at Tatum Sept. 5 for a 7:30 p.m. fracas.

SHAKE, RATTLE, & ROLL - Try and stop me says an unidentified Capitan ballcarrier in 26-0 Tiger victory over Eunice. Other Tigers are John Parker (80), Kerry Clements (22), and Jeremy McCarty (74).

Cardinals defeat Quemado

Corona Cardinals opened their 1986 season with a decisive 51-24 victory over Quemado.

Tommy Mulkey demonstrated his all-around ability by rushing for 206 yards in 21 carries and scoring four touchdowns on the ground. He also contributed to the other scores by passing to Eric Wetzel for 6 points and catching TD passes from quarterback Travis Lightfoot and freshman Shane Owen.

Coaches G. Ray Johnson and Jamie Widner were happy with their team's performance. "We think they played real well after three weeks practice," Widner said, adding that everyone went out to play a good game.

Corona will meet El Paso Jesus Chapel Friday at 7 p.m. in Corona.

TOMMY MULKEY (11), chosen Cardinal of the Week, takes off for another gain during the Corona-Quemado game Friday. Corona trounced the Eagles 51-24.

Grizzly girls sweep Bears

The Carrizozo Grizzly (high school) volleyball season got off to a successful start Saturday morning as the JV and Varsity girls swept by the visiting Cloudfcroft Bears.

Coach Ron Becker's JV squad got the ball rolling as they coasted to 15-2 and 15-2 scores over their opponents.

The varsity, not to be outdone and behind the booming serves of Kristi Askew and Marcella Sandoval beat the Bears three straight games by the scores of 15-7, 15-13 and 15-6.

Next action for the girls will be Thursday, Sept. 11 at home against the Vaughn Aguilas. JV team will get things going with a 6 p.m. starting time slated. On Saturday, Sept. 13 the girls will travel to Hondo with Jr. High and varsity team scheduled to see action. Action starts at 10 a.m.

CHEERING THE Cardinals on to victory during the season opener last Friday were Kim Worley, Traci Kelley, Beverly Bell and Tina Aaron.

Melrose spoils Grizzly season opener 58-0

The Melrose Buffaloes scored in every quarter last Saturday night and lit up the scoreboard for 58 points in the season opener for Melrose and Carrizozo—final score was Melrose 58, Carrizozo 0.

Coach Mel Holland made the trip to Melrose with only 17 players on the Grizzly squad—which included five freshmen and one eighth grader. By the end of the third quarter Holland was down to 15 able-bodied players after two of his starters were injured.

Carrizozo hung tough for almost three quarters but were finally overcome by the much improved Melrose squad, which number 38.

Melrose scored three times in first half as the result of three long runs by Buffalo backs. Score at end of first quarter was 14-0. Half-time score was Melrose 20, Carrizozo 0.

Carrizozo had a chance to get back into the game just one-minute and 46 seconds in to the third quarter. Junior running-back Richard Guevara broke loose on a 76 yard scamper for an apparent Grizzly score, but an illegal block call nullified the potential six-pointer.

Melrose scored twice more in the third quarter and three more times in final stanza to make final score 58-0.

Injury report finds the Grizzlies hurting as defensive-end Benji Herrera is probably out for the season with dislocated shoulder. Defensive-back/wide-receiver Frankie Gallegos (sprained neck and slight concussion) might be able to go this week.

Carrizozo will host the Hatch Bears Friday night (tomorrow) in its' home opener—game time 7:30 p.m. at Laabs Field.

"You're right, we should have used real cotton instead of polyester."

GRIZZLY running back Richard Guevara picks up good yardage as full-back John Saucedo makes nice block. Melrose defeated Carrizozo 58-0.

QUARTERBACK Tommy Escamilla is about to be brought down by a host of Melrose players in season opener for both squads.

BUT I CAN SEE NO REASON TO VERBALLY DISSECT THE TOPIC TO THE POINT OF NAUSEA. SURELY THERE MUST BE SOMETHING ELSE OF INTEREST? (signed: not straightfaced, just bored)

The advice columnist

Ever so often someone makes the mistake of asking me for advice about the singles world. Most of the time I say I don't know anything, which is true. However, once in a while my ego gets inflated, and I try to answer some of the more heartrending questions. Because I want to pep up your day, I'll share:

(1) MY BOYFRIEND IS THE WORLD'S BIGGEST TIGHTWAD. ALTHOUGH HE MAKES PLENTY OF MONEY, HE NEVER SPENDS A DIME WITHOUT FLINCHING AND WE NEVER GO ANYPLACE EXCEPT TO HIS HOUSE. HOWEVER, I HATE TO GIVE HIM UP BECAUSE HE IS OTHERWISE QUITE ROMANTIC. WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST? (signed: Cheap Date)

Dear Ms. Inexpensive: Honors for the world's biggest tightwad belong to the gentleman who would make his girlfriend arrive one hour early to an unheated gymnasium in order to avoid the volunteer collecting a 50-cent entry fee to square dance lessons.

Since your beau has the positive attribute of romantic expertise, my advice is not to dump the skinflint immediately. Instead, while he's standing in bank deposit lines, you should be searching for someone who will treat you in the manner in which you would like to be treated.

(2) I HAVE A SINGLE GIRLFRIEND WHO IS A REAL LIVE WIRE. HOWEVER WHEN WE GO TO ANY TYPE OF SOLO FUNCTION, SHE THROWS HERSELF AT EVERY MALE IN SIGHT. I AM RATHER SHY AND THIS TYPE OF BEHAVIOR EMBARRASSES ME IMMENSELY. BUT I HATE TO SAY ANYTHING BECAUSE SHE IS THE ONLY FRIEND I HAVE WHO WILL ACCOMPANY ME TO

SINGLE'S ACTIVITIES AND I AM AFRAID TO GO ALONE. WHAT SHOULD I DO? (signed: Party Popper)

Dear Moves More Slowly: You and your friend sound like a great combination. Without her, you might be tempted to sit in a corner and hide. This way, "Live Wire" draws all the sundries in your general direction, and a certain percentage probably prefer a companion who isn't quite so aggressive. This means you get the benefit of her exuberance and don't have to do so much of the "dirty" work.

(3) WHY IS IT ALL MEN ALWAYS WANT TO TALK ABOUT SEX ON A DATE, EVEN IF IT'S A FIRST DATE? FRANKLY, I FIND THE SUBJECT A REAL TURN-OFF. WHETHER OR NOT I INDULGE IN THIS PRIVATE MATTER IS MY OWN BUSINESS, WHICH THEY MAY FIND OUT ABOUT IF ALL GOES WELL.

Dear Yawning: I posed this question recently to a bachelor friend of mine. His response was, "Men have three topics of conversation: business, sex and sports. When they go out in the evening, it is to forget about work, which takes care of that topic. Since most women don't know anything about sports, it eliminates another subject. Therefore that leaves sex..."

My bachelor friend finds this very logical, and it actually does make some sense. I have taken up reading newspaper sports section headlines. It helps.

NEWSGATHERING
 I have four and two daughters. Fourteen years now they have observed their mom at work with a weekly newspaper—writing, taking pictures, developing film, printing pictures. Someday when all my children have left the nest perhaps I can learn more of this adventuresome profession that continues to fascinate me.
 The work of most newspaper writers keeps them in contact with humanity in all its forms. In my 34 years in this field, 1986 has been the most interesting—internationally, statewide but mostly locally.
 Powerful and famous people argue international issues. A scientist discovers a new disease. A child is bitten by a dog. Journalism is the profession of recording events that may interest the public.
 All the world will be interested in the doings of the well known. Probably only the people of one community will be interested in the injured child. Journalism is worldwide, but news covered by a weekly newspaper may be of interest only to the county and subscribers from all over the nation.
 Men and women involved in newsgathering meet many kinds of people, work unusual hours and under conditions that are sometimes very trying.

fort to get access to public records. The reporter described what it was like one week at the county offices in Espanola.
 The reporter's troubles started on a Monday when a copy of the county commissioners minutes was requested. The county manager was on vacation. This was followed by a wild goose chase to locate the keys to the filing cabinets. Finally late Tuesday someone, somehow got that locked file open.
 The SUN reporter concluded: "Perhaps the county could spring for an extra key to keep in the office in the event someone ever has to get into it again and all those folks are on vacation."
 Lincoln County News readers (and those who claim they don't read the NEWS) have noticed the problems I have encountered in attempting to get accurate information from the Carrizozo Police Department. The release of basic information has been blocked by the town's head official.
 Newspaper reporters in other towns continue to read their police department blotter daily for a source of articles about local police activity. Tuesday at 2 p.m. is the Carrizozo City Hall scheduled time for the police clerk to give me news releases. She wasn't there.

plying that the town officials were to much too handle.)
 They read the "By The Way" column where I explained the situation. Many people know that although the NEWS does not carry "Police Beat" I still continue to check the town's police blotter, or what city hall calls a blotter.
 One NEWS reader said, "A lot of s-t happens in Carrizozo."
 Not according to records at the police department. The radio calls recorded at the sheriff's department say otherwise.
 The police clerk at city hall wonders why I still check the public records in her office. "They (NEWS) took you off the Police Beat," she says, puzzled.
CAN WE TALK?
 Shortly after the absence of the Police Beat in the NEWS, the mayor allowed the police clerk to give the NEWS several Xerox copies of complaint reports. Among them, an anonymous DWI and careless driving (dismissed because the vehicle was not in motion); several under investigation, or what city hall considers investigation.
 Most of the complaint reports lacked names. Scissors were used to cut off the bottom portions of each and every report available to the NEWS. I got around that by returning to the department days later and requesting to see the "public record," where the "original" was filed complete, or what city hall considers original or complete.
 The following week I try again. It's a small town I have an idea of what has happened in the community. I had also checked the county radio log. Two police officers on the force (the chief was on vacation) had not turned in any reports. I got the same story—nothing happened.

 The clerk remembers there is one I can have. This is the informative details I can pass on to the public: complainant—Officer Montez; (nature) of complaint, speeder, serial number, 1109; complainant's address, Police Dept., Carrizozo, NM; phone number, 648-2351; location of offense, intersection 380 and 54, Carrizozo, NM; reported by Officer Montez; received by Officer Montez; time and date, 9:06 p.m. 8-14-86; officer assigned, Officer Montez and Gomez; reported, view.
 Then the police clerk takes the scissors and cuts off the bottom portion and hands it to me. I see the mayor later and I show him the report. "Nothing wrong with it," he says.
 In other cases that same week the police clerk refused to give me the names of four adults who were jailed. She says I should wait until the judge holds courts. Officer Chris Gomez who overhears the conversation agrees and adds that the charges on the men could change (be amended) before the court date comes.
 The NEWS will not carry a police public record column until the department releases accurate, basic information. My police reporting troubles began July 7 when the mayor denied my request of the identity of the human bitten victim, an adult. The incident later revealed that it was related to a July 5 incident which was under investigation, Carrizozo style.

Astronaut is keynote speaker

Alamogordo-New Mexico astronaut, Major Sidney Gutierrez, USAF, will be the keynote speaker at the dedication of the Astronaut Memorial Garden at the International Space Hall of Fame on Sept. 27 in Alamogordo.
 Born and raised in Albuquerque, Gutierrez is a distinguished graduate of the United States Air Force Academy with a degree in aeronautical engineering. He was selected as an astronaut candidate by NASA in May of 1984 and completed a year of training and evaluation in June, 1985 that qualified him for assignment as a pilot on future space shuttle flight crews. He is presently involved in shuttle flight software verification in the Systems Avionics Integration Laboratory.

NOTHING HAPPENED

Reporters are usually seen where the news is happening. A cub reporter (beginner) is not likely to come back with facts and details that an experienced reporter would. News stories are often likely to be uncomplimentary to the person involved.
 Newspapermen have what is called a "nose for news." There are stories within the profession about reporters who lack this asset. One story recalls the cub reporter who was sent to cover a public meeting. He returned to inform his editor "there was no story," because the meeting hall had burned down and the speaker and several persons in the audience were injured.
 Getting the facts accurately is an important requirement of reporting. Public records are good sources—usually.

LAST STRAW

In protest and to point out the ridiculous manner in which Carrizozo town officials handle their police business I quit (by choice) compiling the "Police Beat." Inaccurate incident writing and improper filing was the focus of my talk at the council meeting where I made the announcement.
 NEWS readers who wish to remain anonymous, for personal and business reasons, who appreciated the police column have voiced their opinion. One person asked, "Did they scare you off?" (Jokingly im-

OPENNESS

A three-part series in the Albuquerque Journal by David H. Morrissey was of special interest to one small town reporter, me. The series detailed laws mandating open meetings, public records and abuses that have occurred.
 I was a teacher substitute recently (high school civics). While the class worked on its assignment I thumbed through their brand new textbook, "American Government" (The republic in action). My eyes stopped on Chapter 5, Personal

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE

GENERAL OBLIGATION SCHOOL BONDS CAPITAN MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 28 LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO SERIES OCTOBER 15, 1986

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Education of the Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, Lincoln County, New Mexico, constituting the Governing Body of Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, Lincoln County, New Mexico, will on the 29th day of September, 1986, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P.M., Prevaling Mountain Time, in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, Lincoln County, New Mexico, open the same for the purchase of its General Obligation School Bonds, Series October 15, 1986, in the principal amount of $225,000.

Consisting of bonds, fully registered as to principal and interest, numbered consecutively, being each in the denomination of $5000 or integral multiple thereof.

Bearing interest payable July 15, 1987 and semi-annually thereafter on the 15th days of January and July in each year, and maturing in regular order of maturity on July 15th in each of the designated years, all as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Maturity, Amount. 1991 $50,000, 1992 50,000, 1993 50,000, 1994 50,000, 1995 50,000, 2000 250,000.

Bonds of this series are not callable prior to their maturity.

Principal and interest are payable at the office of the registrar and paying agent, Sunwest Bank of Albuquerque, N.A., Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The bonds were authorized at a regular election held within the district on or after July 5, 1985 for the purpose of erecting, furnishing, remodeling and making additions to school buildings and purchasing and providing school equipment.

Said bonds will constitute the general obligation bonds of the District, payable from general tax levies assessed on the taxable property within the district, but not exceeding the amount of limitation as to the rate or amount.

It is permissible to bid different or split rates of interest provided that the interest rate specified more than one interest rate for each maturity: (2) said interest rates shall be only in multiples of one-eighth of one percent (1/8%) or one-hundredth of one cent (1/100th); (3) the difference between the maximum and minimum interest rates shall not exceed two percent (2%); the maximum net effective interest rate permitted for this issue is twelve percent (12%) per annum.

Bidders are requested to submit a bid specifying (a) the lowest rate of interest and premium, (b) the lowest rate of interest and no premium, (c) the lowest rate of interest and no premium and no bid fee, or (d) the lowest rate of interest and no premium and no bid fee and no bid fee. The bidder who purchases said bonds at par, or at a price above par, shall be deemed to have accepted the terms of the bonds as set forth in the "PROPOSALS FOR PURCHASE OF GENERAL OBLIGATION SCHOOL BONDS OF THE CAPITAN MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 28," and addressed to THOMAS TRUST, Secretary of the Board of Education, Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, P.O. Box 274, Capitan, New Mexico 88316.

Said bonds will be awarded to the highest and best bidder considering the lowest rate of interest and the lowest premium offered, if any, and subject to the right of the Board of Education to reject any and all bids and to accept the lowest bid or bids. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of the delivery. The bonds will not be sold or delivered until the accrued interest, nor shall any commission be allowed or paid on the sale of such bonds. The District reserves the privilege of waiving any irregularity or informality in the bids.

All bids shall be sealed and made on the official bid form, and the bid of the State of New Mexico shall be accepted, if the bid is accompanied by a deposit of two percent (2%) of the principal amount of the bonds, $4,500, either in cash or by check or by certified check, or by a solvent commercial bank or trust company doing business in the State of New Mexico, and the bid shall be returned if the bid is not accepted, if the successful bidder shall fail or neglect to complete the purchase of said bonds within the time specified in the acceptance of the bid, or within ten (10) days after the date of the bid, or if the bid is not accepted, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited to the District, and in that event the Board of Education may accept the bid of the one making the next best bid, or if all bids are rejected, the Board of Education shall reevaluate said bonds for sale in the same manner as provided in the original advertisement. If there be two or more equal bids and such bids are the best bids received (as to rate of interest and no premium or interest), the Board of Education shall determine which bid shall be accepted; provided, that said bidder or any party interested in the bonds of the State of New Mexico at private sale and without advertisement.

The Board of Education will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein provided for the receipt of the bids. Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at Albuquerque, New Mexico, or wherever the successful bidder may be located, within sixty (60) days of the date of the bid. If for any reason delivery cannot be made within sixty (60) days, the successful bidder shall have the right to purchase the bonds at the price specified in the bid, or to purchase the bonds at the price specified in the bid, or to purchase the bonds at the price specified in the bid, or to purchase the bonds at the price specified in the bid, or to purchase the bonds at the price specified in the bid.

The successful bidder shall make final payment for said bonds with Federal Reserve Funds or other funds acceptable to the issuer for immediate and unconditional credit to the account of the issuer.

The legality of the bonds will be additionally approved by Kegel, Feltz, Glass & Morrow, P.C., Attorneys at Law, Santa Fe, New Mexico, whose unqualified approving opinion, together with the printed bonds and a complete transcript of the legal proceedings including a certificate stating that no litigation affecting the validity of the bonds is pending, will be furnished to the purchaser without charge. The legal opinion will be printed on the bonds at the expense of the District.

Lincoln County Sheriff Six month report

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan submitted his department's six-month statistical report to the Lincoln County Commissioners at the Aug. 19 meeting. Some of the accomplishments listed:

The sheriff's department has recently created a Tact Unit within the department. This unit is being trained by Deputy Rex Skellett who has had prior experience and is knowledgeable of this type of operation. The unit has been trained in repelling off high objects, buildings, etc., and in hostage situations. The unit is capable of coping with potential terrorist groups which are on the increase worldwide.

Sullivan told the commissioners, "We never want any of these situations to occur, but if it were to happen, we must be prepared. The unit will be utilized for all types of rescue operations." He also said the deputies volunteer for assignment to the unit and contribute extra time and effort to the program.

The department has a mobile crime lab that has been set up in a camper trailer that was confiscated as a result of a narcotic seizure. This will allow the investigator to take the crime lab to the scene of all major crimes and have all the supplies and equipment to properly process the crime scene. In conjunction with this lab an electric generator was confiscated on another narcotic seizure which allows the investigators to have 110 volt electricity at the crime scene. Flood lights have been made on portable stands to light up the scene and for night time road blocks.

Sullivan stressed that this has been accomplished with very little extra expense to the county as the major expense was offset with confiscation of the equipment as a result of narcotic seizures. He said the additions are a tremendous asset to the sheriff's department.

The dollar amounts of narcotics confiscated is down, however, Sullivan said. "Narcotics cases and arrests are up, because our efforts were directed toward the persons selling and dealing drugs. An undercover operation netted 49 persons and 97 narcotic related charges being filed. This undercover operation resulted in the largest narcotic bust ever in Lincoln County."

The department has built an 18-pen animal shelter at Fort Stanton. The shelter provides excellent indoor protection as well as an outdoor run for each pen allowing segregation of animals. There is a separate shelter for quarantine of sick animals, animals suspected of having rabies, etc. In addition, an animal pit close by the shelter allows for immediate disposal of dead animals.

The six-month report for the sheriff's department: 150 arrests, 117 citations, 1,403 traffic stops, 1,063 calls handled, 536 civil papers served, 699 of-fense reports, 261 cases cleared, 122 cases active for a 46 percent solve ratio, 71 accidents, 211 animal calls, 118 training sessions, 332 hours in court, 90 narcotic cases, $5,036 in narcotics seized, $97,231 in property reported stolen, $48,733 in stolen property recovered for a 50 percent recovery rate, 14 extrajudicials, vehicles were driven 172,959 miles in county and 8,701 miles out of county, 15,010 gallons of gas were used and total vehicle expense was $24,776.

Dispatch statistics: three fatal wrecks, 22 wrecks with injuries, 148 ambulance calls, 80 wrecker calls, 32 fire calls, 21,215 phone calls, 36,379 radio calls, 14,504 teletype messages, 3,633 walk-ins, five hours of training and two schools attended.

Jail statistics: 2,671 man days, 7,959 meals served, 28 Camp Sierra Blanca prisoners, 24 juvenile prisoners, 166 alien prisoners and 130 local prisoners.

Freedom, and a quote by Justice Hugo Black: "Since the earliest days philosophers have dreamed of a country where the mind and spirit of man would be free; where there would be no limits of inquiry; where men would be free to explore the unknown and to challenge the most deeply rooted belief... Our First Amendment was a bold effort to adopt this principle."

The passage should be required reading for Carrizozo's mayor and those who, by necessity, must do his bidding—or else.
