Four new members named to planning and zoning

Four new Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission members were nominated by Mayor Lloyd Davis Jr. and approved by village councilors on Tuesday.

Appointed were Ellen Long, John White, Jess Stinson and J. D. James.

In announcing the appointment, Davis said there had been five residents who had expressed an interest in serving on the commission and he just chose the first four.

The nine-member planning commission has been at odds with Davis since he was elected in March. Since then six members have resigned.

When asked if it was difficult to find replacements for the four that resigned last month, Davis said, "They all called and said they wanted to serve. So, no it wasn't hard at all."

Long, who has lived in Ruidoso for more than three years, is called the plant care and had been a member of the Adult Recreation Board for the past three months.

"I thought I could do more for the village as a member of the planning and zoning board," she said, adding that she would like to see the village grow but not if it means losing it's charm.

"I don't want it to become like Vail," she said.

White, a retired family counselor, said he would like to see zoning laws applied evenly to everyone. "I feel rather strongly about having good, strong zoning laws," he said.

"I think even enforcement would upgrade the town," added White, a 12-year Ruidoso resident.

Stinson said he had studied zoning laws when he lived in Lubbock, TX, and feels that his background in building and real estate will help him with his duties on the P and Z.

A real estate agent, Stinson added that he expects to work well with the mayor and village council. "We should get along real well," he said.

James also echoed Stinson's feeling on working with the village council. "The controversy is all in the past," said James, who ran for the mayor's office in the last election.

"I'm going in with a positive attitude. I think that as a team—the commission, the council, the mayor and village administrators—will all be able to work together," James said.

Long also said she believed she would be able to get along well with the mayor and the council. "We may not always agree on everything, but we should on most," she said.

In other business at the meeting on Tuesday, the council approved the expenditure of village funds for a float in the Aspenfest parade on Oct. 4. Village manager Jim Hine estimated it would cost $450 to build a float.

"I think we ought to have a load of mules right in front of us and have the people try and figure out which one the council is," Councilor Dub Holt quipped.

1,000 bikers expected for Golden Aspen Rally

Moto-Guzzis, Ninjas and Kawasakis all around in Ruidoso this weekend as the 17th annual Golden Aspen Rally gets underway with over 1,000 participants expected to attend.

Flo Maul and Connie Brown, co-chairmen of the rally which this year celebrates Ruidoso's centennial, said 699 motorcyclists had pre-registered for the four-day rally that began Wednesday.

"We expect another 400, who did not register," Brown said.

Among activities planned for the event, headquartered at Carrizo Lodge, is a trade show featuring motorcycles and touring accessories. More than 70 exhibitors are showing their wares.

All sorts of motorcycles runs, contests and shows are also planned. Participants will have a chance to win a Harley-Davidson FXRT Dresser Motorcycle donated by Harley Davidson of El Paso, the rally association, and pin-striped by Steve Cox.

"We attract all ages from all around the country," Brown said as she pointed to an Iowa license plate. More than 2,000 spectators are also expected.

The oldest driver, the youngest passenger, the best dressed couple and the club traveling the longest distance will be among those honored with awards on Saturday.

Also on Saturday, a motorcycle parade will begin at the Safeway on Mechem drive at 10 a.m. The parade will proceed along Mechem to Suddearth and along Suddearth to the third stop light. One lane of the road will be closed along the route.

The motorcycle rally king and queen crowned on Friday will lead the parade, and the oldest cyclists will serve as marshals.

Plea for area blood donors

The Carrizozo Woman's Club needs every possible donor to come to the Woman's Club building in Carrizozo tomorrow (Friday) between 2 and 6 p.m. to donate blood.

United Blood Services (UBS) will have a mobile team here from El Paso to collect the blood. UBS is a division of Blood Systems, Inc., a non-profit corporation, and provides blood and blood products for Southern New Mexico and West Texas.

More than 750,000 people depend on UBS and volunteer blood donors for blood and blood components they may need. UBS is dedicated to ensuring that blood will be available to anyone needing it, whether or not they donate.

All blood provided by UBS comes from volunteer donors as there are no paid donors.

Because the blood is freely given by volunteer donors there is no charge for blood to anyone whether they have been a donor or not. UBS does charge a processing fee for each unit used. The fee reflects the actual cost of collecting, testing, processing and delivering the unit of blood for patient use.

More than 100 donations are needed each day to meet the blood needs of patients in this area. Betty Richards, donor resources specialist for UBS, said that the Alamogordo area does meet its daily needs but that the Ruidoso area does not.

Donating blood tomorrow at the Woman's Club will help ensure that blood is available when needed in this area. It is estimated that 60 percent of the population will need blood or blood products sometime during their lives. Richards stressed that support is needed in the community by donors and by encouraging others to donate.

"There is absolutely no danger of contracting AIDS from donating blood," Richards told the NEWS.

UBS uses only sterile equipment and disposable needles. This and other procedures, eliminates the possibility of contracting any infectious disease through the donating process.

Donating blood is easy and

Carrizozo schools face money cut

By RUTH HAMMOND

Carrizozo schools face the possible loss of $26,000 or more this year due to a drop in enrollment. A sample enrollment taken on Sept. 16 showed Carrizozo's enrollment to be down seven students from the number projected for this year. School superintendent Dennis Sidebottom told the board of education at the Sept. 16 meeting that the sample enrollment was for fiscal consideration only. The actual count of full time students will be taken on the 40th day of school, which will be Oct. 15.

"We are in better shape than most schools," Sidebottom told the board as he quoted figures of other schools in the state that will lose thousands of dollars because of lower enrollments.

During the board meeting, a visit was made to the elementary building to the new "Writing to Read" lab. The new program is just beginning for students in kindergarten and 1st grade.

Board members were given a demonstration of the program by 1st grade teacher Glenda Moore and kindergarten teacher Larue Wetzel.

In other business, the board approved the employment of Arlene Marcus to teach high school language arts.

—approved a new teacher termination policy that will conform with Senate Bill 106. The policy is intended specifically to cover decisions by the board to reemploy or terminate certified school instructors who have three or more consecutive years of service with the district when their existing contracts expire.

Its specific purpose is to help ensure that any decisions to terminate such employees comply with Section 22-10-14C, New Mexico Statutes Annotated, as enacted in 1986.

—Sidebottom announced the plans to complete the science lab.

—The board agreed to hold public hearings on the discipline policies for the school. Senate Bill 106 requires that public hearings be held. Notices will be posted before the public hearings.

—Sidebottom explained the assertive discipline policy being used in the elementary school.

—the board adopted a new reduction in force policy to conform with SB106.

Blood...

many donors find it a painless and heartwarming experience. The actual donation takes only 10 minutes. The first step is a brief interview where one will be asked about his medical history and current health. Next, temperature, blood pressure, pulse and blood hemoglobin level are checked. Then the donor will relax in a comfortable chair while a technician draws a unit of blood (approximately one pint).

After the donation, the blood goes to the blood center laboratory for typing and testing to ensure patient safety. It is then labeled, stored at the proper refrigerated temperature, and distributed to area hospitals.

Richards said that contrary to popular belief, the type needed most often is also the most common type. The most common blood type is O-positive. Blood type O-negative is called "the universal donor" because it is compatible with all blood types. O-negative is often used in an emergency transfusion when there is not enough time to do a blood typing test.

Sue Stearns, president of the Carrizozo Woman's Club, encourages every possible donor to help make this blood drive a success.

Democratic women to hold meeting

Democratic candidates for federal, state and local offices will abound when the New Mexico Democratic Women gather for their fall meeting at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26 and 27.

Coleta Elliott, president of the Democratic Women of Lincoln County and one of the organizers of the meeting, said that Casey Luna, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, will be among candidates attending.

Election '86 is the theme for the meeting that will feature a keynote address by state party chairman Sam Pick. Pick, who is also mayor of Santa Fe, will speak at a 6:30 p.m. banquet on Saturday.

The convention will begin at 4 p.m. on Friday with registration, followed by a business meeting and a reception for the group's executive officers at 7 p.m. Cost for the reception is $3.50. Registration for all activities at the 2-day convention is $40.

At 8 a.m. Saturday there will be a breakfast followed by a business meeting at 10 a.m. and a noon luncheon featuring Art Trujillo, a member of the Democratic National Committee, as speaker.

Tickets for the banquet that will feature a prime rib dinner are $20 and can be purchased by calling Elliott at 257-4455.

Bates Witt heads the 'Spirit'

Bates Witt, owner of Chancellor's men's store in Ruidoso, was elected president of the Spirit of Ruidoso on Monday.

Witt, along with Chester Stone, who was elected vice-president, Jean Stillman, who was chosen secretary and Roy Crocker, elected treasurer, will lead the civic organization through September 1987.

New steering committee members were also chosen. They are Tony Wilcoxon, Anita Smith, Kyan Kirby, James Hobbs and Tracey Freeman. Outgoing president Teri Sodd will also serve one year on the steering committee.

Sodd thanked Spirit members for their dedication and hard work over the past year. "It has been fun working with you," she said offering her support to the new officers in the future.

Among the activities discussed at the meeting were the barbershop quartet festival on Oct. 11 at Ruidoso Middle School, and the Aspenfest parade, chile cookoff, art fair, and marching band contest set for Oct. 4 weekend.

Spending $170,000 for advertising gets complicated

The chairman of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce advertising committee, which is charged with spending over $170,000 in Lodger's Tax and state matching funds, said that in the future minutes will be taken at committee meetings.

Robert Boverie, ad committee chairman, said it had just never occurred to him that minutes should be taken.

"I do think it's a good idea though and will see that someone is there to take minutes in the future," Boverie said on Monday.

"After all, we are spending tax money, and minutes will leave a trail for people who take over after the current committee."

The Lincoln County NEWS raised the question following a meeting of the advertising committee on Friday.

Bob Epstein of Epstein Communications and Cynthia Sutton of Crume Public Relations, the agencies handling Ruidoso's promotion and advertising, both made presentations at the meeting.

Boverie and Carla Trapp-Beasley were the only committee members present so no official action could be taken.

Dan Kelly, and ex-officio member representing the Lodger's Tax Committee, also attended, but committee members Pat Breedlove, Kevin Clear, Harry Georgeades, Tina Hall and Karen Moore were absent.

"If we had had to approve specific expenditures, we wouldn't have been able to do it because we didn't have a quorum," Boverie said.

Earlier this year, the advertising committee disputed a bill from an Albuquerque firm for $2,800 in creative work.

Part of the problem involving the bill and the company, DBG&H, was that no one on the committee could remember exactly what had been agreed to. And, there were no minutes of any of the meetings to help refresh their memories.

Dick Shaw, a member of the committee when the bill was discussed in May, raised the question of why minutes were not kept at the meetings, but no action was taken by Bill Hirschfeld, who was committee chairman at the time, and who is currently president of the chamber of commerce.

At last Friday's meeting Epstein presented the committee with a budget for allocating advertising dollars for winter and summer campaigns.

Thousands of dollars were shifted around based on the presentation, and because no minutes were taken the committee will have to rely on Epstein to make sure the monies are correctly allocated.

The theme for the winter advertising will be "So You Want to Learn to Ski" and will feature a man dressed in western-style clothing carrying a pair of skis.

About $50,000 will be spent on newspaper, magazine and radio advertising to promote Ruidoso's skiing in El Paso, Midland, Odessa, Albuquerque and Dallas.

Boverie questioned a proposal to advertise on the radio in Abilene and Wichita Falls, TX. After a brief discussion it was decided to reallocate those monies to TV Gude advertising in Dallas and southern and western Texas.

Preliminary approval was also given to place an ad in the December issue of Travel and Leisure magazine. The magazine will feature a special section on New Mexico.

The ad will cost about $11,000 and Epstein said he thought the money spent would be well worth it.

"It is the number one travel magazine in the country," Epstein said, adding that Ruidoso's ad will include a response card so those interested can get more information by contacting the chamber of commerce.

In other business, the committee discussed:

—the summer advertising budget, which has about $65,000 allocated to it, and will include newspaper, radio, magazine and billboard ads;

—a proposal to spend $10,000 to promote Ruidoso as a place for meetings and conventions. "Meetings and conventions need to be looked at because five years down the road, they may be your main business," Epstein told the committee;

—a public relations plan presented by Sutton and Carole Hedden of Crume Public Relations; and —a "news" promotion film to be made on the subject of the handicapped ski program and the ski races at Ski Apache.

Feds will not prosecute Helena McCoy for drugs

By RIGO CHAVEZ

A Ruidoso woman arrested more than four months ago on drug smuggling and conspiracy charges was to go free today after federal authorities decided not to prosecute.

Helena McCoy, 45, who has been held by US Marshals in Louisville, KY, since her arrest May 2 in Las Cruces, was supposed to meet her husband this weekend in Boston and attend a family wedding in Maine.

Assistant US Attorney Alexander Taft Jr. said his office had chosen not to prosecute McCoy partly because the charges stemmed from activities that occurred as far back as 1978.

"All of her direct involvement could have been outside the statute (of limitations), but if she was associated with any of the co-defendants after that, then all her activities were still within the statute," Taft said in an interview from his Louisville home Tuesday night.

"It was right on the cusp. We decided that under the circumstances it was in the best interest of justice to release her."

Taft said that McCoy was the only one of 31 persons named in a federal indictment that was being held without bail solely on the charges in that April indictment.

US Magistrate John Darden of Las Cruces had decided that because McCoy had left the country when she faced similar charges before she was a flight risk, and ordered her held without bail.

Taft said papers authorizing McCoy's release were to be signed Wednesday. The only thing that could delay her release was getting in touch with the presiding federal judge in the case, who was out of town.

"We were confident she was innocent," said her elated husband, Denys McCoy, after hearing of her possible release on Monday.

"All they had was hearsay evidence. But, I guess sometimes your past associations do come back to haunt you," he said.

The indictment named Mrs. McCoy in three counts. She was charged with conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute cocaine and marijuana between 1978 and 1985, conspiracy to import marijuana from Jamaica during those same years, and aiding and abetting the importation of marijuana from Jamaica in 1981.

Taft said the investigation conducted by federal authorities had shown that McCoy was possibly involved only in the marijuana smuggling. "She didn't participate with Randal Garrett," the alleged king pin of the smuggling ring, Taft said.

He said that another reason he had decided to release McCoy was because there is a possibility that the trial that was supposed to begin on Tuesday may be delayed.

"The judge had said that if any of the defendants were not ready to go to trial that day, he would entertain a motion to continue," Taft said. "So, she could have been held for several months more without ever coming to trial."

Before she was arrested last May, McCoy had said that she thought all her federal drug problems were behind her, that they had all been taken care of when she entered a guilty plea in a previous case.

"She was supposed to be protected from all similar charges," her husband said.

McCoy, a 17-year Ruidoso resident, had just begun serving probation on a Texas marijuana conviction when she was arrested on the Kentucky

Lincoln County 'Long Ago'

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Leader, Devoted to the Best Interests of Lincoln County and the Development of Its Resources, published in White Oaks, Lincoln County, N.M., Saturday, March 15, 1890.

White Oaks is a town of about 1,200 people, and is situated on Sec. 36, Town 6, Range 13 east, in the western part of Lincoln County, New Mexico. At the last general election there were cast in the town, 292 votes, while the Registration was 345. During the year 1898 there was expended in various improvements upwards of $200,000. The distance from Carthage, on the A.T.&S.F.R.R., 84 miles; 103 miles from Socorro; on the main line, 153 miles from El Paso, Texas, and 40 from Lincoln, the County seat.

White Oaks is the largest town in the county, and the seat of an important supply trade. It is finely situated in a valley, among the spurs of the Carizo range, at an elevation of 6,470 feet above sea level. It has two religious organizations, Methodist and Congregationalist, a large and prosperous public school, and an Academy; two weekly newspapers supply mental pabulum; The various social and charitable organizations are Knights of Pythias, Young Men's Benevolent Association; 75 strong; Free Masons, with a Hall in course of construction; Grand Army of the Republic and its auxiliary, the W.R.C., are strong and having purchased a lot will soon erect a Hall of their own thereon; the Athletic Club, which meets regularly in Athletic Hall.

Our mines are working satisfactorily, and we have one 20 stamp gold mill in operation, also 2 Huntington Centrifugal mills and a 10 stamp gold mill.

The great Homestake Gold Mines are one mile N.W. of the centre of the town, and around them are a dozen rich mines, less developed. Almost adjoining the town on the S.E. are inexhaustible mines of coal, varying from bituminous to semianthracite. From four to seven miles N.W. of the town, in the Lone Mountain region, are extensive bodies of magnetic iron ores of excellent quality and high grade. Twenty miles south and southwest lie the silver lead mines of the Bonita mining district, the rich gold mines of the Nogal mining district, the Parson's Camp and the copper (silver bearing) mines of the "west side"—the town is abundantly supplied with water; wood is abundant in the foot hills, and timber in the mountain ranges.

The population of the county was 5,000 in 1885, now about 8,000. The towns other than White Oaks, are Lincoln, San Patricio, Picacho, Weed, Dowlin's Mill, Galena, Roswell, Seven Rivers, Three Rivers, Bonito, Nogal, Parsons and Lookout.

Mines were first discovered in the county in 1869. Nothing was done in the way of mining until 1879. Because of lack of capital and distance from communications, the mining industry languished until 1884. Now the product of Nogal and White Oaks districts is an important part of the total gold production of the Territory of New Mexico and the prospect is that production will be trebled in 1889.

The heat is not great in Summer, nor is the cold excessive or long continued in winter.

Our people are refined, cultivated, open, hospitable, and sincere. No one coming to cast his lot with us need fear the lack of society, inasmuch as it is acceptable and pleasing as any that he left behind. Strangers are welcome, more than welcome, if they come to settle among us.

Local Roundups
Locals have been scarce this week.

This has been the dullest week for locals in our experience.

Next Monday will be Saint Patrick's Day in the Morning.

We are authorized to announce that the public school will continue for a period extending indefinitely into the future with Mrs. Rudiselle as teacher.

Frank Tatti, one of White Oaks best boys, went to Socorro this week and there, by appointment, met a newly arrived Switzer girl and wedded her. The happy couple are domiciled here.

Saturday, March 22, 1890

Local Roundups
A slight fall of snow on Thursday night.

The Homestake Mills are running on good ore and the prospects for their mines are bright. May the greatest success attend them.

Sunday evening next, pastor Lane will speak on the claims of the working men of the United States. All are cordially invited.

We are indebted to our friend Jack Forsyth for a pretty sprig of Shamrock received by him on St. Patrick's Day from Belfast, Ireland.

The new Congregational Church is completed and services were held in the new edifice last Sunday morning and night. The congregation at night was large and especially interesting.

Were it not for legal advertisements which the Leader is carrying and must be published consecutively, we would not issue a paper this week because of confinement to bed and room and no assistance in our mechanical department. We have done the best we possibly could this week and hope that by next week we will regain our wonted health.

There will be a dime sociable held at the Congregational Church this Friday evening to which everybody is invited! A general good time is expected, as each lady will take some kind of bonnet and trimmings, also needle and thread, and the gentlemen will have the pleasure of trimming the bonnets. After they are all trimmed, competent judges will decide as to whom the prize shall be given for the best taste displayed as well as the best bonnet booby prize.

A diamond tie tack will also be given away.

Coleta Elliott, chairman of the Democratic women's group, said the men's ring is worth more than $1,100 and the women's about $900.

"We are going to make the ball as much fun this year as it was last year," she said.

The 5th grade winners of a poster contest promoting the ball were announced on Wednesday. Maria Valenzuela in Jody Eldridge's 5th grade class at Capitan was the winner of a $50 US Savings Bond.

The New Barbara Mickulski

WASHINGTON—One morning in the early 1960s the wire services carried the brief but poignant news that one of Hollywood's studios was planning to produce a full-length film on the life of St. Paul — with Frank Sinatra in the title role.

I remember, as a parish priest, writing this studio about my interested reaction to such casting, which, I wrote, should be altogether acceptable — just as long as they cast Zsa Zsa Gabor as the Virgin Mary. To my knowledge, this proposed movie about St. Paul never appeared.

Meanwhile, can you imagine Bella Abzug playing the role of Mother Teresa? If you can't, then you ought to take a look at the United States Senate race in Maryland, where the Democratic nominee is The New Barbara Mickulski, packaged by David Doak.

Mr. Doak is one of those political media magicians. He has managed, for a lot of money, to take Baltimore's Baby Bella Abzug — also known as "The Screech" — and make her come on as gentle as either Grandma Moses or Whistler's Mother.

One of these TV commercials has The Screech as a soft-spoken, friendly lady from Baltimore's Harbor District, which has also undergone a marvelous renovation.

This is liable to leave some of Battling Barb's fight fans wondering: "Barbara, We Hardly Know Ya." But, after all, the State of Maryland as a whole is a lot bigger than the Congressional District, which has been repeatedly sending this loud noise to Congress.

It may, of course, be wondered how long Miss Mickulski will be able to maintain this unprecedented image, if she is elected to the Senate. That august body remembers, for example, a phenomenon known as "The Six Year Sprouting of Senator Sunday School's Wings."

"Senator Sunday School" was the Senator From Idaho, the Honorable Frank Church. Senator Church was a red-hot liberal from Stanford, who represented one of the nation's most conservative states. But once every six years, at the beginning of the election year, out sprouted the Senator's wings. Suddenly he became a Fourteen Karat Hawk. He emphasized his opposition to gun control and his adoration of Idaho's great isolationist, Senator William Borah.

That fooled enough of the people enough of the time so that they kept reelecting this undeniable charming bamboozler, until the Reagan landslide of 1980. Then, a genuine conservative Idaho Congressman named Steve Symms sent Frank Church in to retirement.

Maryland is another land of political enchantment. For dozens of years, Maryland has been sending to the House and then to the Senate, a charming fellow from Frederick who is, actually and technically, a Republican, though he never let on.

If you can find one campaign brochure, lapel button, ad or commercial in which now retiring Senator "Charming Charlie" Mathias ever actually admitted he is a Republican, please photostat it and send it to me. It is a collector's item.

In doing a feature story on The New Barbara Mickulski, Washington Times reporter Stephanie Nall quoted one Democrat, who is pleading for anonymity, as saying: "It's a whole new election-year Barbara. She's lost weight, changed her hair style, wears nicer clothes, doesn't scream and agrees with President Reagan. Isn't it a miracle what media consultants can do?"

This new image may also have accounted for Miss Mickulski's uncharacteristic running away from one last chance to debate her principal rivals for the Democratic nomination. Given the goading she might well have received from "Managua Mike" Barnes, the Congressman from Nicaragua, or retiring governor Harry Hughes, Barbara's handlers were shrewd to keep her away. For all that, New Barbara Image might have disintegrated with the same horrifying rapidity as Lot's wife when she looked back at Sodom, or Eurycleia when Orpheus looked back at her when she emerged from the underworld.

Let us at the same time pay credit where it is due. Anyone who can drive Managua Mike Barnes out of Congress surely has helped the Republic to survive.

Testimonial, coattails

SANTA FE—A few words, if you please, on the subject of coattails and testimonials.

The coattails reference should not be read to indicate that this turning into a column on tailoring.

That particular idea, when turned into the political verb, "to coattail," means to get one's self elected to office wholly or partially because of the electoral popularity of another candidate appearing on the same ballot.

To coattail, Republicans, for example, love to run at the same time as Ronald Reagan, because they believe his continuing popularity will happily rub off on those whose names are on the same ballot line his is.

But does that work when the buddy of established popularity, the "connection" the coattailer depends on throw votes his or her way, is not on the ticket at the same time?

PRESENT EXAMPLES: It's hard to demonstrate that it does.

Nobody in New Mexico, for instance, doubts the popularity of Bruce King, as man and as candidate. But that affection for the ex-governor didn't protect his brother Don or his nephew David from going down to defeat when they ran even as Bruce was at the height of his powers.

It will be interesting to see whether those testimonial television spots Pete Domenici has made for Garrey Carruthers have a happier result for the latter candidate.

Carruthers clearly hopes they will. He has said publicly that, if this is what it takes to get there, he doesn't mind being swept into office "on the coattails of Ronald Reagan and Pete Domenici."

That can't literally happen, since neither of the two will be on the ballot with Carruthers and the other Republicans this year, but at least Pete has given the man whose name will lead the ballot for their common party a sweeping testimonial.

THE NUMBERS: Will that help Carruthers? Well, there's nobody who believes it will hurt him.

In point of fact, most candidates for office depend very much on testimonial advertising, the kind in which one friend tells another friend, "I'm going to vote for so-and-so, and I hope you will too."

Whether that is done on a one-on-one basis or on the much more public one of the television tube, it's the sort of word-of-mouth advertising which probably has the largest effect on the outcome of elections.

Those who think Domenici may have gone a little overboard in this particular instance will admit one of the things that offends them about his performance is fear that it may make a large difference when the votes are counted.

LOCAL CUSTOMS: Here in New Mexico, we have long practiced a kind of politics in which those who have much in-

Letters TO THE EDITOR

How to lose the easy way

Editor—On 9-15-86 Alamogordo's voters decided to increase their sales tax by one-quarter percent. The funds will be used to renovate the city's aging water system.

Apparently it was not politically feasible that the cost of water services be upgraded from time to time to provide funds necessary for the maintenance of the water system. Just let matters go and then dump the problem on the voters. 106 voters decided the election.

During the past five years Ruidoso's water rates were studied and upgraded with the result that our water system's condition was changed from desperate to much improved. Alamogordo's need for water improvement funds was a high priority; however, many voters (who stayed at home) were opposed to the new tax. It is a pitiful situation when decisions which affect all of us for many years are made by a limited few because of a small voter turnout. Only 24.5 percent of the eligible voters voted in the Alamogordo election. Rule by the majority? What a laugh.

In Ruidoso we have experienced low voter turnouts many times in the past. Less than 30 percent of the qualified voters have exercised their franchise to vote. This is serious. Small groups, whether they be pro or con on matters in question, can easily control an election as long as voters are apathetic.

These small groups, with organization and political savvy, can place 60 to 80 percent of their constituents in the voting booth. The other side, with apathy well in hand, will represent 15 to 20 percent of the voters. The result—the "otherside" (minority) wins the election because too many voters stayed at home.

Voting goes hand-in-hand with the right to criticize.

J. A. "AL" JUNGE, Ruidoso.

Where are the protestors?

EDITOR—Where are those martyrs to the cause of world justice and tranquility? Where are the Jane Fonda's, the Joan Baez's, and other members of the so-called "peace movement"? Where are the anti-Vietnam war protestors?

Recently nearly 500 Afghan villagers including men, women, and children and the elderly were slaughtered in one hamlet. They were suspected by the Soviets of harboring freedom fighters.

The Soviets are using heavy bombers and helicopter gunships to level entire villages. Delicate and primitive irrigation systems are being systematically destroyed. Crops are burned to the ground and starvation is rampant in a tiny, helpless country which was a threat to no one!

The Soviets drop mines from the air which look like toys. They don't explode until they are picked up, usually by some unsuspecting child. Hundreds of children have had hands and faces mutilated.

In spite of treaties to the contrary, there are numerous indications that the Soviets have used poison gas to terrorize and destroy Afghan civilians.

If America were engaged in a tiny fraction of this type of behavior, you would have millions demonstrating against us the world over. There is a My Lai Massacre in Afghanistan every day of the week!

The magnitude of suffering is so immense that words can no longer describe it.

But where are the protestors? Where are the "peace movement" demonstrators? In their eyes is there a double standard for world behavior, one for the US and a different one for the Communist and Marxist countries?

Congratulations to Robyn Peralta who did a fine job of representing Lincoln County at the State Fair this last week. The schedule was hectic and the competition keen with Miss Santa Fe County, Monique Swisher, coming out the eventual winner. Only after being at the actual contest can one appreciate how tough a job this actually is. Thank you, Robyn, for all of your hard work, and please know that we all are very proud of you.

Patsy Peralta and Dona Runnels were in Albuquerque for the past week helping Robyn with the State Fair contest. Isidro flew in from California on Friday where he had been attending a telephone school.

There will be a Masonic workshop Sunday, Sept. 28, at 1 p.m. in the Masonic Lodge Hall in Ruidoso.

All signed a birthday card for Frankie Tonn, an honorary member whose birthday was Sept. 22. Mary Dean won the raffle. Rolls, turkey and dressing prepared by Nancy Humble, Hattie's granddaughter, and other dishes of food brought in by the members was enjoyed by all.

Writ orders special trustee election

By NORMAN ASHLEY and RIGO CHAVEZ

A writ of mandamus has been issued by District Judge Sandra Grisham ordering the Village of Ruidoso Downs to hold a special election to increase the number of trustees from five to seven or to show cause for not calling an election.

The writ, drafted by Ruidoso attorney Gary Mitchell on behalf of 18 Ruidoso Downs residents, is in response to the trustees failure to call an election as requested in a petition presented to the village on June 9. Grisham signed the writ on Sept. 19.

A total of 109 people signed the petition and New Mexico statutes state that a referendum must be called when at least 5 percent of the voters petition for it.

According to county records there are 623 registered voters in Ruidoso Downs, so 31 valid signatures were required.

Judge Grisham's writ directs the village clerk, Joann Jenkins, to verify the signatures and if there are enough for the trustees to adopt an election resolution within 10 days and hold an election within 90 days, as required by state statute.

Should trustees decide not to call for an election, the writ directs them to appear in court on Oct. 1 at 10:30 a.m. in Ruidoso. At that time they must tell why they refuse to comply with the writ.

Jenkins said Monday that she has already verified the signatures and told the board she had done so at a meeting on June 23.

"I sent a letter to that effect to Mitchell and gave a copy to the mayor and each of the trustees," Jenkins said, "but I'm afraid that I didn't certify the letter to the attorney."

As of Wednesday morning, none of the people named in the writ—the trustees, the clerk or the mayor—had been served with it.

Village attorney Richard Hawthorne, however, said he had received a copy, but it was unsigned.

A large crowd gathered Monday night at the regular meeting of the board expecting fluence in their particular communities are asked to put out the word among their friends that they personally intend to support a specific candidate on election day. Sometimes perhaps a few dollars may even change hands to reimburse the one whose views are respected for delivering this message.

All that is a sort of localized "testimonial advertising," of the kind Domenici and others are spending a whole lot of money to have delivered to us.

Writ orders election...

the writ to be served. Several said they were disappointed when no one showed up to serve it and when it was not discussed in public.

Claud Walker, one of 16 who pitched in to retain Mitchell to file the writ, said that he didn't think the village had acted right when it rejected the original petition.

"I'm just not pleased with what we have now," Walker said on Tuesday. "I wanted something done."

Another one of the petitioners, Dorothy Bermudez, said the action was directed at Mayor J. O. "Jake" Harris and not the other trustees.

"He (Harris) seems to be doing things only for his own interest," she said. "And, I don't think it's right."

"We'd like to have another election, one where the people decide, not some judge," Bermudez said referring to Judge Richard Parsons' decision that declared Harris the winner over write-in candidate C. L. "Bones" Wright.

"I think Bones Wright is a good man and I think he should have been mayor," said another of the petitioners, who asked that her name not be used.

Harris said that he was not surprised by the writ, and he too expected to be served with it on Monday night.

"I really don't know what they have in mind. It's the same thing they tried before," the mayor said.

"It's still the same petition and it's invalid," Harris said, adding that it was the opinion of both the village attorney and an attorney for the New Mexico Municipal League that the petition was invalid.

Hawthorne told the trustees that the petition was not valid because it called for a change in the number of members in the governing body, including the mayor, instead of in addition to the mayor as required by statute.

Trustee Jackie Branum said that she had heard a group had gotten together and retained Mitchell, but didn't expect the writ.

"I just assumed that the time had run out," she said.

Branum noted that no action was taken at Monday's meeting because no one has been officially served yet.

"Once we are served I guess the next step will be to decide whether we want to comply with it and call an election or fight it," she said, refusing to speculate on what the board would decide.

"We'll just have to take a vote," Branum said.

If an election is held and the voters approve a change from a five- to seven-member body, the terms of all the current members would expire within 120 days of the election canvass.

State statutes then require that an election be held to elect the required number of trustees.

Mitchell said that Judge Grisham will probably have to decide if the village has to call an election, and if the election should include the mayor.

"We are only trying to see that things are done right," Mitchell concluded.

Listed as petitioners on the writ were Albert M. Richardson, William E. Taylor, Rick L. Scott, Beulah E. Griego, Dorothy B. Bermudez, Leland D. Perry, Virginia Daniels, James M. Furth, George Stallings, Calvin F. Scott, David L. Scott, Neva E. Walker, S. Claud Walker, Jack Orin, Veronica Orin and Judy A. Beavers.

The Village of Ruidoso Downs, Harris, trustees Conrad Buchanan, LaVerne Cole, Branum, J. L. Wilson and clerk Jenkins are the respondents.

ON MY OWN

Symbols of success

I have just learned, to my absolute dismay, that if I don't have a BMW in the driveway, carry a Gucci purse and have a beau who wears a Rolex, then I haven't "arrived."

The above, according to an authority, are the "symbols of success," none of which I own. Along with the none which are a Cuisinart, Wolfe Range and a sub-zero freezer, which don't even ring a knowledge bell, except they sound like places along the highway where my car manages to achieve a flat tire.

It is emotionally difficult for me to accept that after all these years of struggle, I have not succeeded in being a yuppie. Nor even a yuppet.

Not only don't I have a beau who wears a Rolex, I don't have a beau. My watch, aside from the wonderful $2 Timex bought at a garage sale, is an ancient "made in Switzerland" that my ex-spouse bought in Europe while we were visiting courtesy of the US Army.

He wanted to buy me a really expensive watch, but I said "No, my dearest precious, we can't afford it, we're saving for the future." Which all goes to show what you know when you're young and don't pay attention to Zsa-Zsa Gabor.

My purse, a Gucci non-look-alike, has no label whatsoever. I bought it at the flea market because it was four different colors leather sewn together and I felt in the mood for something different and exciting. I also figured that as absentminded as I am, a purse as splochy as this one would stand out any place I put it, therefore it wouldn't be misplaced as often as I usually misplace purses.

By now, although my no-name purse looks like it has a disease and should be put out of its misery, I have gotten attached to it.

Like the car currently in my driveway, which has 163,250 miles on it. Right now it's refusing to start again because I put gas in it, which upsets its fuel pump system or something. However it also refuses to run without gas, so we just had a noisy driveway discussion.

"I'm going to replace you with a BMW!" I kept shrieking, hoping the noise would jiggle into place whatever was bothering it.

A relative of mine once had a BMW, he spent a great deal of time worrying about its safety.

One thing about my car, I can leave it on the street with the keys in the ignition and a big sign saying "Take me home and love me," and nobody would steal it.

It's been denied by shopping carts, people backing up in supermarkets, people backing up anywhere, and by now if they've looked at the interior, they'd leave a donation.

"Many people are interested in their self-image," the authority stresses, throwing in the words "artistic feelings" and "sensitivity."

TIP CLIPS

IN PLACE OF

No buttermilk for baking? Use one tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice plus enough fresh milk to make one cup of sour milk. Let stand 5 minutes before using.

BE PREPARED

Before baking, assemble all the ingredients and equipment you will need. This insures that you will have the ingredients at your fingertips and not be caught by surprise when a recipe calls for something you don't have or can't substitute.

FLAVORED DRIPPINGS

Make a grid of carrot and celery sticks, then place a roast or whole chicken on it. The vegetables will flavor the pan drippings.

POTATO TOPPING

Crumble extra cooked bacon. Use as topping for mashed potatoes, refried beans or any casserole.

CORNSILK REMOVAL

To remove cornsilk use a new toothbrush, purchased especially for this purpose. Brush downward on the cob of corn.

2 indicted: marijuana and child molesting

Two men were indicted in separate cases recently by a Lincoln County grand jury, one on child molestation charges and the other on drug charges.

Theodore G. Christian, 60, of Las Cruces was indicted on a single count of criminal sexual contact with a minor following a March 7 incident involving a 14-year-old girl. The alleged molestation occurred while the girl was visiting Christian in Ruidoso. He has been released from the Lincoln County Jail on $20,000 bond.

Jose de Jesus Luevano, 24, of Amarillo, TX was still being held on $25,000 bond on a charge of possession of marijuana, a fourth degree felony. Assistant District Attorney Harry Wilcox Jr. said that Luevano was arrested on US Highway 54 just south of Carrizozo on Aug. 26 following a routine traffic stop by Bart Skelton and Max Watson of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office. "It was a routine roadblock to check licenses and registration. They asked to search the car and that's when they found the four pounds of alleged marijuana on the back seat," Wilcox said.

He said the marijuana would have a street value of about $6,000.

Sylvia Meraz, a passenger in Luevano's 1980 Chrysler Cordoba, was also arrested on possession charges.

Wilcox said she had been released on her own recognizance and that her case will not be presented to the grand jury until later this month. Meraz did post a $25,000 appearance bond.

'Employ the Handicapped Week'

Handicapped programs benefit the employer and employee

"People at Work" is the theme for National Employ the Handicapped Week, Oct. 5-11.

According to Harold Russell, chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, the observance has three objectives: (1) to express appreciation to employers who have established outstanding programs and records of hiring people with disabilities; (2) to encourage those employers who have not hired a worker with a disability to look at the abilities, not disabilities; (3) to salute the achievement of people with disabilities who are contributing to their communities and to society through their jobs.

People with disabilities continue to make gains as employees, supervisors and entrepreneurs. Employers have found they have workers of high caliber when they hire persons with disabilities.

There are a number of studies which show that workers with disabilities have records that are equal to or higher than persons without disabilities. These records include job performance, safety, time and attendance.

Some of the programs, operated under public and private cooperative agreements can aid in opening up job opportunities for people with disabilities are:

—Handicapped Assistance Loan Programs administered by the Small Business Administration (SBA) allows people with disabilities and sheltered workshops that employ persons with disabilities to apply for low-interest loans to set up businesses or to expand existing ones.

—Job Training Programs, administered by the United States Labor Department and operated by the states includes the Job Training Partnership Act program (JTPA) which serves about 1.2 million people with disabilities and economic disadvantages. Eight national nonprofit organizations are conducting programs to train and find jobs for people with disabilities. Under JTPA, a youth with disabilities, defined as a "family of one" is eligible for training regardless of family income.

—Since 1968, the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) and the United States Department of Labor have jointly sponsored a national program designed to enable persons with intellectual disabilities to join society's mainstream. Since the ARC's On-the-Job Training Project's inception over 35,000 persons with intellectual disabilities have shown thousands of employers throughout the country that they can do a variety of jobs.

The project operates through an agreement between the ARC-OJT Project and an employer. The employer agrees to provide a worker with an intellectual disability with 320 hours of intensive on-the-job training. In order to offset any additional costs associated with training a person with an intellectual disability, the ARC-OJT Project agrees to reimburse the employer a portion of the individual's entry wage.

Specifically, the ARC-OJT Project reimburses the employer 50 percent of the individual's entry wage for the first 160 hours of employment and 25 percent of the individual's entry wage for an additional 160 hours. The project is coordinated at the local level by a network of regional offices located throughout the country.

—Projects With Industry (PWI), presently funded by the United States Department of Labor and Education, is a direct response to the need of people with disabilities for actual work experience and a work history. PWI is composed of three major components: a link to the private sector; a training site and a source of trainees. An advisory council works with business and industry and trainees are certified by the state vocational rehabilitation agency. The companies involved range from large corporations to small businesses. —Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC). Employers who hire qualified individuals with disabilities referred by a state agency will soon be eligible to receive a Targeted Job Tax Credit once again. The program is administered by the United States Department of Employment and Training Administration and the US Treasury Department.

POLITICAL REWARDS

A famous politician was rescued from drowning by three young lads.

"I will give you anything you want," he promised his rescuers gratefully.

"I'll take a bicycle, sir," the first lad said.

"I would like a motor bike," added the second boy.

"Sir, if it's all the same to you, I'd like a military funeral!"

"A military funeral . . . Why?" asked the famous politician.

"Because," the boy said, "when my paw finds out whose life I saved, he'll sure kill me!"

WRITE STUFF

Carrizozo's PFK each year sponsors a spelling bee. The teachers help prepare the students. At home parents drill their children for the big event.

On Sept. 7, 1956 this is what Paul Baker, editor of Lincoln County News and Carrizozo Outlook, had to say in his column, Along the Way: "This is only a printers's gripe but we would like to see our schools place more emphasis on (1) reading (2) spelling and (3) word division. Anyone who works with the printed word (and many do at one time or another during their lifetime) knows how important it is to read readily, spell correctly and be able to divide words properly. Practice in reading out loud teaches proper pronunciation, which in turn is a big asset in spelling and in word division. There is a right way and a wrong way to divide words."

TEXAS FEVER

According to the July New Mexico Business Journal, Ruidoso has something far rarer than oil in Texas: mountains. What really makes Ruidoso the resort of choice is Ruidoso Downs racetrack. Once in Ruidoso the track fans look around and consider the mountain property for potential profit.

"The Texans, God bless'em have made this town," said Daniel A. Storm, Ruidoso News columnist.

Storm, 76, stated in a recent Ruidoso News story that

SUPPORT PFK

"Walk into a successful school," says US Secretary of Education William J. Bennett, "and you will find discipline, good teachers, high expectations and parental and community involvement."

Woman's World magazine in a survey of education authorities, discovered that most good schools have several key factors in common. Among them is support from parents and the community.

Tigers stall Hagerman 8-7

By BART McDONOUGH

The Capitan Tigers held off a last minute threat by the Hagerman Bobcats Friday night to win a close one, 8-7. This was homecoming, and the Bobcats played a tough game for their fans.

Greg Smith looked good as the 1st quarter ended in a scoreless tie.

The 2nd quarter opened with Eckland stopping a Bob-yards. The Tigers did get a 1st down when the Bobcats roughed the kicker. Capitan could not move the ball and punted. Ronald Joiner got in a good hit before the half ended in a scoreless tie.

Hagerman crowned its homecoming queen and then paraded her around the track in front of the many Capitan fans.

Hagerman scored with 5:58 left in the 3rd quarter. The line when time ran out.

Coach Woodward named Greg Smith offensive player and Ronald Joiner defensive player of the game.

Capitan returns home, Friday, Sept. 26, for homecoming against Springer. All the Tigers should be in good physical shape for this game.

Both teams come into this game with 3-1 records. Both losses are to Tatum. Springer has victories over Questa, Hagerman, and Dulce while the Tigers have defeated Eunice, Texico, and Hagerman. The homecoming game is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Capitan fans should remember the Tigerette Volleyball Tournament all day this Saturday in Capitan.

Tiger Boosters elect officers

Members of the Capitan Tiger Booster Club met Sept. 23 and elected the following officers: president, Don Eckland; vice-president, Kenneth Huey; recording secretary, Daylene Huey; press secretary, Bartley McDonough; and treasurer, Roma Eckland.

The club discussed the possibility of obtaining some type of marquee for advertising sports events.

A fundraiser was discussed. The boosters will sponsor a spaghetti dinner sometime in the near future. The club will also sponsor a sports banquet the latter part of November.

Look for the Tiger Boosters, who will be selling hot tamales and popcorn at Friday's homecoming game.

Booster club members learned that trophies will be awarded for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place at the Tigerette Invitational Volleyball Tournament, Sept. 27 in Capitan. Consolation and sportsmanship trophies will also be awarded. The coaches will select a 12-member all-tournament team.

Tiger booster windbreakers will be ordered in a few days. Due are: member, $10; family, $15; business, $25. Call Don Eckland at 258-4388 or 336-4986. Daylene Huey may also be contacted at 354-2246.

Club members were reminded of the homecoming bonfire and pep rally Thursday night behind Tiger Stadium. The time is 7 p.m.

Tiger Boosters meet the 3rd Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. at the school.

CARRIZOZO SPIKER Jamie Patterson does her thing in Saturday night action against the host Magdalena Steers as team-mates Marcia Hefker (27) and Karen Baroz stand guard. Magdalena defeated Carrizozo 3-0.

A CLOSE WIN—Quarterback Troy Padilla rambles against the Hagerman Bobcats during Friday's 8-7 Tiger win. In this week's AP poll, Capitan is rated number 2 in the state and Springer number 4 in Class A football. Capitan and Springer clash Sept. 26 in a homecoming game at Capitan. Game time is 4:30 p.m. cat drive by recovering a fumble on the Tiger 39 yard line. Both teams had a chance to move the ball but couldn't.

With 6:10 left in the half Capitan mounted a drive from its own 20. Eldridge got 6 yards and Anthony Sanchez the 1st down. Moments later Eldridge got another 1st down. Troy Padilla's nice gainer was nullified by a penalty. It was here that Jay Eldridge ran around left end and on to pay dirt. A penalty rubbed out this TD.

Padilla passed to Eckland for 11 yards which was still short of the 1st down by 8

Bobcats got in several nice gainers but were aided mainly by 2 big penalties. Hagerman 7, Capitan 0.

The Tigers took the kick off and began a drive from their own 35 yard line. Clements and Eldridge got a 1st down for the Tigers who eventually punted.

Hagerman got a 1st down before Eldridge recovered a fumble near midfield. The 3rd quarter ended at this point with Hagerman out front by 7.

The last quarter opened with Clements getting a 1st down, Eckland 8 yards, and Eldridge another 1st down. Clements ran 10 yards here for a touchdown. Another penalty. Moments later Greg Smith caught a deflected pass while laying on his stomach in the end zone. Clements got 2 points running around the right side of his line. Capitan 8, Hagerman 7, with 8 minutes left in the game.

Greg Smith recovered a Bobcat fumble later on but the Tigers were unable to take advantage. Hagerman began a desperation drive which stalled out on the Capitan 22 yard

Grizzlies fall to Bears; homecoming set for Friday

Estancia Bears broke open a close game in the 3rd quarter with two quick scores and raced to a 28-0 win over the Carrizozo Grizzlies Friday night.

A couple of fumble recoveries by John Saucedo and Frankie Gallegos in the first half and some good defensive effort kept the visiting Grizzlies in the game during 1st half action. Estancia led 8-0 at halftime on the strength of a TD and two-point conversion at the 9:06 mark of the second quarter after intercepting an errant Grizzly pass at the Carrizozo 20-yard line.

Estancia scored three plays after receiving the 2nd half kick and increased their advantage to 16-0 with 10:02 showing in the 3rd quarter. The Bears turned another Grizzly miscue, this time a fumble, into another score later on in the quarter, and upped their lead to 22-0 at the 6:30 mark of the 3rd quarter.

The host Bears closed out the night's scoring on a 61 yard run at the 1:49 mark in the last period.

Carrizozo's only scoring threat came with but five seconds left on the clock as Tommy Escamilla and Richard Guevara teamed up on a 36-yard pass play to the Estancia one-yard line. Carrizozo tried to get one more play off before the clock ran out, but failed.

Carrizozo has been preparing this week as they host this week's opponent, Anthony, TX, in the Grizzly homecoming. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. at Laabs Field.

Friday has been declared "Maroon and Silver Day" at CHS. The 1986 homecoming queen will be crowned during half-time ceremonies—candidates are senior Kari Askew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Askew, her escort will be Tommy Escamilla; senior Karen Baroz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baroz Sr, escorted by Frankie Gallegos; senior Theresa Guevara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Guevara, escorted by Brian Sanchez; and senior Jamie Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patterson, escorted by Jason Vipson.

Princesses selected by classes are: Lucy Vega, (freshman) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Vega, escorted by Dennis Vega; Cathy Najjar (sophomore) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Refugio Najjar, escorted by Richard Guevara; and Billie Jo Castillo (junior) escorted by Robert Guevara.

Other homecoming activities include the annual parade through downtown Carrizozo scheduled to start at 1 p.m. on Friday. A dance will cap off the evening, which will be held after the game.

Cardinals crush Mountainair 45-0

Corona whipped Mountainair 45-0 last Friday in the Cardinals first district game of the season.

Junior Tommy Mulkey rushed for 180 yards in 13 carries and scored four of the Cardinals' 7 touchdowns.

Travis Lightfoot rounded out the rushing with 95 yards in 6 carries; he was 2 for 3 in the passing department with Mulkey being on the receiving end of both completions. Lightfoot contributed 2 TDs and intercepted 2 passes, one on the Mustangs' goal line for a 71 yard runback.

Lee Land made the other Corona points when he intercepted a Mountainair pass and ran it in for the score.

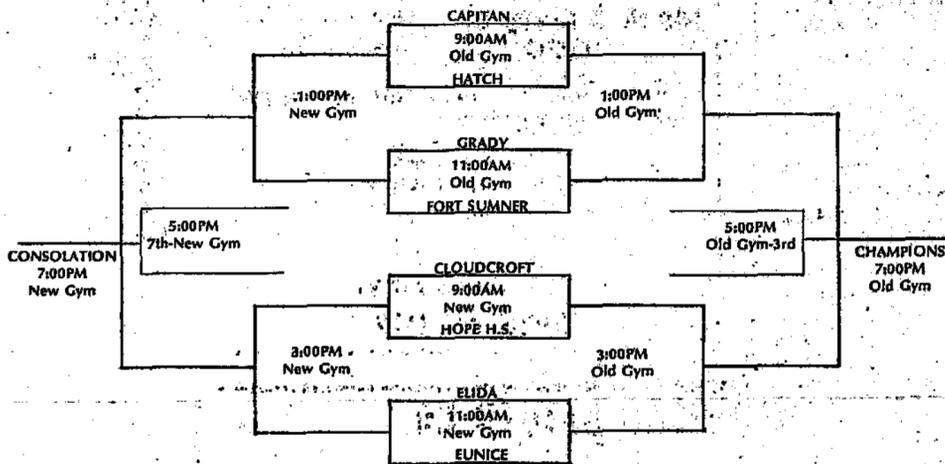

Corona coach Jamie Widner observed that Quemado beat Vaughn, the district powerhouse, in a contest last week and pointed out that Corona defeated Quemado 51-24 in the season opener. "I think we may have a good chance for a district play-off game," he said.

September is Wood Heating Month
Many people are saving money on their winter heating bills by using wood to heat their homes. America's forests are full of trees that are of little use for wood products because they are poorly formed or diseased. They are an excellent source of firewood to heat houses. The state forestry office can help you identify appropriate firewood.
While you're gathering wood, remember that dry, seasoned wood gives you the most energy for your heating dollar. An efficient woodburning appliance is also important.
September is Wood Energy Month, but any time can be appropriate for brushing up on woodburning safety. If you're considering installing a fireplace or stove, use this safety check list prepared by the Wood-Heating Alliance.
• Check fire and building codes for recommended installation procedures and clearance standards
• Make sure your fireplace or stove is installed properly
• If you install it yourself, follow manufacturer's instructions
• Have your unit inspected
• Check your chimney for cracks and obstructions
Heating with wood is economical if you do it safely. Wood can be nature's heat-warming gift.
Free Booklet
For a free booklet on woodburning, send a large self-addressed stamped envelope to WHA, #700, 1101 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington D.C. 20036.
