Hospital name change is approved

County Commissioners voted late Tuesday night to recommend a route for the Sierra Blanca Airport access road that will vary somewhat from the present Fort Stanton Road. The vote came after commissioners heard testimony from Bohannon-Huston Inc., engineers for the airport road project, on Tuesday afternoon. Commissioners agreed to recess the County Commissioners meeting until after the public involvement meeting Tuesday night at Alto in order to get public input concerning the road. Bohannon-Huston representatives recommended the alternate route and presented their reasons to the public on Tuesday night.

Commissioner Kenneth Nosker reported on the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport committee meeting held Oct. 16; commissioners were informed that the airport could be operational as early as Feb., 1988. In other business, the commission was ordered to make a change in the State Debt Service Rate due to an error in the estimation of property values in Bernalillo County. Commissioners had no choice but to raise the rate from $0.750 to $0.920 per $1000 of net taxable value. According to County Attorney Gary Mitchell, these taxes are used for education and commissioners had to impose the higher rate if schools in the county are to receive state funds. Representatives from Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital presented a proposal for new laboratory equipment. All procedures for obtaining bids had been followed and the proposal approved by the hospital board. A bid for approximately $74,400 had been accepted, but disbursement of mill levy funds must come through county commissioners. Commissioners approved the expenditure. Pinky Jones, Chairman of the Hospital Board of Directors, told commissioners that the board had discussed changing the hospital's name to Lincoln County Medical Center. It was the feeling of board members that the new name would reflect a facility ready to serve residents of the entire county rather than one locale. Commissioners approved the name change. In other business, the commissioners rejected all bids submitted for base course estimated at 17,000 cu. yards to be used on Cedar Creek, Eagle Creek and Ruidoso areas. Commissioners agreed to clarify bid specifications and to re-let bids.

Commissioners proclaimed Oct. 30 to be Lincoln County Hunger Day and urged citizens to help the needy of the county by participating in activities sponsored by the Lincoln County Food Bank.

Rust Tractor was awarded the bid for leasing of a backhoe, motor grader and crawler tractor.

Commissioners approved an office space lease agreement with the US Government. Office space is in the County Courthouse and is currently being used by the Soil Conservation Service. Rent was raised to $100 per month.

Barbara Ward, Director of the Area Agency on Aging, asked commissioners to approve contracts between the New Mexico State Agency on Aging and the Lincoln County Commissioners. The first contract was for the purchase of an eight-passenger mini-van to be used in the Capitan area while the second contract concerned the renovation of the Carrizozo Senior Citizens Center. Commissioners approved the contracts.

Timothy Worrall of Lone Tree Builders asked county maintenance on Capitan Gap Road and an adjoining Forest Road could be ameliorated before next summer. Discussion revealed that the roads in question are maintained cooperatively by the Forest Service and the county. Commissioners verified that the road is due for maintenance but warned that because of weather-damaged road condi-

Bidding process discussed—

SBAC plans continue-groundbreaking nears

Ground breaking ceremonies for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport could be held as early as next week as plans continue for preliminary earthwork to begin on the Fort Stanton Mesa site in January 1987.

Bids and the bidding process for contractors at the new airport were discussed extensively during the airport commission's regular meeting last week.

Steve Sanders, who serves as legal counsel to the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC), said that he and airport administrator Fred Heckman had discussed a number of ways to pre-qualify bidders "because we don't want to get stuck with someone who can't complete their contract."

The SBAC decided that the best way to assure that those bidding could complete the contract would be to draw up an objective list of criteria and evaluate the bidders before the bids were opened.

Sanders also recommended a strict adherence to bonding requirements.

A preliminary construction schedule submitted by Heckman calls for bids on more than $6 million in site preparation work to be opened and awarded by Dec. 18.

"It's hard to express how happy I feel at this moment," SBAC chairman Ken Nosker said. "We've worked so long and so hard on this project for so many years. It is just so great to finally be ready to advertise for bids."

Consulting engineer Earl Cook said that bids would be placed beginning this week in both local newspapers and national construction publications if the Federal Aviation Administration completed its review of the bid documents.

Conrad Buchanan, who represents Ruidoso Downs on the SBAC, said he would like to be able to give special consideration to local contractors and local workers.

"This should benefit the local people and help put some of them to work," Buchanan said.

The other commissioners agreed that preference should be given to Lincoln County residents, but questioned if there would be any local contractors with enough resources to bid on the project.

"There is very little room for error on the earthwork, we need someone with enough resources to come in and get it completed in 180 days, Heckman told the commission.

According to the schedule the work would begin on Jan. 26, 1987 and be completed on July 15.

Plans call for actual paving work to begin on June 15 with completion by Nov. 15, 1987, and closing of the existing Ruidoso Municipal Airport on Dec. 1.

In order for this to happen, Heckman said for the second part of construction must be in place by March 15, 1987.

"This means that the village of Ruidoso must come up with the $2.6 million for the current airport or at least some plan for paying the FAA," Heckman added.

In order to begin construction, the SBAC authorized Cook to seek a temporary permit for water from the State Engineer's Office. The transfer of water rights to the airport site is not yet complete and a hearing has been set for Nov. 5 in Santa Fe for the State Engineer to hear protests on the transfer.

Cook was also authorized to begin equipping the well with a pump so that if any of the contractors did not buy water from the SBAC they could.

At the start of the meeting, commission member Tim Morris announced that the winner of the logo contest had been chosen.

Jeanie Morriss, who chaired the logo judging panel, introduced Roma Eckland of Ruidoso, the designer of the winning logo.

Eckland's design featured a view of Sierra Blanca Peak with the sun behind it and pine trees in the foreground bordered by the words "Sierra Blanca Regional Airport."

She will receive a $500 prize for her winning entry.

The SBAC approved the purchase order for the logo prize along with $31.68 for County Clerk Fran Siddens for travel expenses, $6,053.42 for Heckman, $312.22 for Morris for travel expenses to Dallas and $250 for the State Engineer's Office for the water rights filing fee.

The commission adjourned into executive session to discuss the water rights case.

COURTEOUS POSTAL CLERK—Mrs. Donna Keller, Capitan postal clerk, was presented an Image Maker Award Oct. 9 in a brief ceremony at the Capitan Post Office. Twelve out of some 600 employees were selected to receive this award. Above, (l. to r.), Maxine Wright, postmaster, Mrs. Keller, and Earl Phillips with the Roswell MSC.

Corona superintendents' retirement announced at school board meeting

Corona Board of Education President Ernest Copeland announced the decision by Supt. John Clem not to return to Corona Schools next year.

The announcement came during the regular board meeting last week after parents continued to voice their dissatisfaction with the school. Clem responded to complaints by expressing his frustration with the situation brought about by limited funds and teachers available.

"There's just so much you can do with what you've got to do with," Clem said, "but we've still got five teachers and out of that five teachers you've got to teach everything and that's what we're trying to do."

As for parental interference in the education process, Clem commented, "I found here in the community there are more people who know more about selecting staff than I've been able to find with three graduate degrees and 37 years of experience."

Clem chastised parents for their complaining, call it "a bunch of garbage" and added, "Well, I've endured just about as much of it as I can stand."

Clem concluded his remarks by reminding those present that everyone needs to work together and to help the teachers.

Copeland then announced Clem's decision to retire at the end of the school year, adding that the board will strive to continue to make Corona a good school. A discussion ensued wherein parents and board members tried to discover ways to solve the district's problems.

In other business, Clem announced the school had received accreditation from the state through 1987. Elementary head teacher Betty Ann Bell reported that she felt the week long state fair vacation was a good idea and asked the board to consider making the recess an annual part of the calendar. She also reported that the three-day kindergarten week and seventh period, teacher preparation hour were working out very well.

Representatives of the board staff asked the board to help them by wiping out an $850 deficit. Students were confident that they could operate on a balanced budget if the board would take care of the long-standing debt. Clem reported that other schools do financially assist the yearbook. The board agreed to transfer the money from line item 10.713, equipment under Capital Outlay to 2.300, purchased services.

In his continuing efforts to store surplus meat, Clem informed the board that freezer arrangements previously made would have to be changed. After discussion, the general consensus of the board was that Clem should investigate leasing or renting the equipment or storing the meat at a meat processing plant.

The board discussed the needs assessment form to be used with member Milton Romans suggesting that the administration be included on the form. The board voted to adopt the form as is; Romans opposed.

The board agreed to offer for sale several old typewriters; it is no longer economically feasible to maintain the machines. The school will keep proceeds from the sale.

Clem suggested to the board that the district become a designated entity where students visas could be issued to aliens. The board unanimously voted for the measure.

Capitan to receive $92,755 in grant $$

Thursday evening, Oct. 16, the Capitan Board of Education gave the Capitan Senior Class permission to go to Mazatlan, Mexico on their senior trip next May. The seniors will spend 4 days in Mazatlan and a total of two days traveling. Graduation is May 16 and the senior trip would be from May 26 to June 1. These seniors need to make $5,000 in order to finance the trip.

Carol Turner will replace Diane Newsom as an aide in special education. Mrs. Turner brings considerable experience in this field from Wyoming.

Supt. Leonard Hays reported that the enrollment for the 1st 40 days of school stood at 481. This is four short of the projected 485 figure and will cause a loss of $16,554.00 in revenue. Hays stated that New Mexico Schools could expect a 10 percent to 15 percent cut in school funding during the month of January.

The "Board" accepted the school personnel handbook as amended. A request to transport non-school enrolled children on school buses was denied.

Architect Jim French

reported that he attended a meeting of the State Highway Commission on Sept. 18 and obtained $92,755.00 in grant money for related work on the new sports complex. This is 60 percent of the cost of the work. The school will have to come up with the other 40 percent. French has also come up with $60,000 for heating a certain part of the elementary school. The school will need to furnish $30,000.

R&R Fence Company of Ruidoso Downs was selected to do some fencing work. This is for a building on the north side of Hwy 380. This building is included in the trade with the US Forestry Service.

A disciplinary problem was settled to the satisfaction of the parties involved. A teacher termination policy was also approved.

The board of education also approved the following: 16 FHA students to attend a convention in Oklahoma City Nov. 20-23. Six or seven students to attend a FFA convention in Kansas City Nov. 11-16.

The next stated meeting of the Capitan Board of Education is scheduled for Nov. 13, 7 p.m., in the board room located in the old elementary building.

PENNY FOR POWELL: The wife of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ray Powell was in Ruidoso Tuesday night stumping for her husband. Telling supporters not to worry about recent polls which show Powell trailing Republican Garry Carruthers, Mrs. Powell said her husband's campaign was right on the track.

Food Bank sponsors—

'Hunger Day' Oct. 30

In an effort to increase awareness of the plight of the hungry in the area, the Lincoln County Food Bank is sponsoring Lincoln County Hunger Day on Oct. 30.

Organizers have asked local restaurants, grocery stores and service clubs to make donations or conduct food drives in order to stock the food bank for the winter. "The number of needy people usually increases during the fall and winter after the track closes," said food bank board chairman Phyllis Boverie.

"If this winter is like last winter with only a little snow, then we could see the need increase even more," she said.

The food bank, located in the state Human Services Office at 419 Mechem Drive in Ruidoso, caters to the temporarily unemployed and others in emergency situations. It is not meant to be a long term solution to an individual's problems.

Those seeking aid from the food bank are encouraged to apply for food stamps or other state aid if their needs extend for more than a few weeks.

"But, it takes up to 10 weeks for people seeking food stamps to finally get them and in the meantime they have to eat and in many cases feed their families too," Boverie said.

Some Lincoln County residents must travel to Alamogordo to fill out food stamp applications and just getting an appointment with a case worker can take six weeks, Boverie said.

Earlier this week the Lincoln County Commission issued a proclamation observing Lincoln County Hunger Day. The town of Carrizozo has done the same and the other villages in the county will be asked to do so as well.

"We want to increase the awareness of the problem of the hungry in addition to trying to raise money and collect food," said Rigo Chavez, a food bank board member.

"The food bank only began organizing late this summer and some people who could be benefiting from it still don't know it exists," he added.

Grocery stores will be asked to place donation containers at check-out stands and restaurants will be asked to donate 10 cents for every meal served on Oct. 30.

The Ministerial Alliance has been very supportive of the food bank and this month the seventh and eighth grade youth at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church are collecting food.

The food bank has distributed more than a thousand pounds of potatoes and some 50 food baskets since July.

The potatoes, donated by a produce company in Ruidoso Downs, were distributed to persons receiving surplus commodities from the federal government at sites in Carrizozo, Ruidoso Downs, San Patricio and Corona.

Person wanting more information on the Lincoln County Food Bank can contact Phyllis Boverie at 257-6949.

On Saturday there will be a walk from St. Jude's to the Old San Patricio Church beginning at 10:30 a.m. This is the second year for the walk, which is about 9/10 of a mile and ends with a Mass at the old church.

Steve Keller:

New administrator at R-HVH

By RIGO CHAVEZ

Convenience and friendliness, in addition to good health care, will continue to be the key to profitability in rural hospitals in the future, the newly appointed Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital administrator said.

Steve Keller, 35, who was recently chosen to replace Ken Moore, who left for a hospital in Delta, CO, said he will work to update the current hospital.

"The smaller hospitals can give more intimate care," Keller said. "We will never be able to offer all the specialties of a large city hospital, but in the things we do offer we give as good care if not better."

He noted that recent changes in federal regulations have made all hospitals more frugal. Also, that these regulations, which allocate only a certain preset amount for Medicare and Medicaid funded treatment, have hit rural hospitals much harder.

"The larger hospitals have more to fall back on with ambulatory care centers and other high volume services that smaller hospitals don't have," he said.

Keller comes to Ruidoso from the 95-bed Mercy Hospital in Tiffin, OH. He had served as director of nursing services at Mercy for the past four years.

Keller, who will formally assume the helm at the hospital on Nov. 10, was in Ruidoso last week to attend a Southwest Community Health Services conference at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Southwest manages the county-owned Ruidoso hospital.

He said his first priority when he takes over will be looking for a new director of nursing, Katie Wickware, who had been in charge of nursing, left several weeks ago.

Keller would like to see the facility get a coat of fresh paint and other minor renovations to improve its look. "Fixing it up inside will be a real plus," Keller said.

More open lines of communication between the hospital and the Lincoln County community are another goal for the new administrator. Keller said the hospital will be offering more educational programs to the area as well as furnishing speakers to religious, service and civic organizations.

"The hospital belongs to the people, so we need to be in touch with the public."

Keller added that while interviewing and visiting the Ruidoso community earlier this month he had heard many positive comments about the physicians, the nurses and the general care at the hospital.

"All that was very encouraging," said the Albuquerque born Keller, adding he has always considered New Mexico his home.

One of the things he will miss most about Ohio is the opportunity to teach courses at Tiffin University.

Although Keller said he "loved teaching," he said he is ready to meet the challenges of administering the Ruidoso hospital.

He has a bachelor's degree in nursing from Bluffton College in Ohio and is working on his master's degree in hospital administration from Columbia Pacific University. He was enrolled in the master's program in Toledo, OH.

Keller had worked for several years as an industrial hygienist for Union Carbide and it was there that he gained his first taste of administrative work. He became the head of the industrial hygiene department at a Union Carbide plant.

He said he is looking forward to moving his family—his wife Susan and children, Jason, 12, Matt, 11, and Laura, 8—to Ruidoso. "We both agree it's a beautiful place to raise the children," he said adding that his wife is expecting another child soon.

Magazine dubs 'Downs' as Ruidoso's 'poor cousin'

An ordinance establishing permits and penalties for excavation that damages village streets was approved for publication by the Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees Monday night.

The new ordinance would charge $200 for a permit to cut the paved streets and is based on the one used by Ruidoso, village clerk JoAnn Jenkins explained. The ordinance must be published and a public hearing must be held before it can be adopted by the village.

"We've got to protect our streets," said Trustee Conrad Buchanan as he proposed a $300 penalty for anyone who made a cut without a permit.

"We want to be able to hem these people in so they just don't run wild," Buchanan added.

The public hearing on the proposed ordinance will be at the next meeting on Oct. 27.

After a discussion on sewer and paving projects, the trustees decided to proceed with two more paving projects even though the streets may have to be cut to add sewer lines later.

"You might say we put the cart before the horse," said village administrator Charles Robinson. "The problem is that we have the money for the paving, but not the sewer."

The trustees approved paving in the Los Lomas subdivision of a section about 6,000 feet long and 21 feet wide. Robinson said the estimated cost would be $50,000 for the project.

A change order for the current paving project to include some 321 feet of Spring Road was also approved. The cost for this project, about $16,000, will be shared by the county.

Just before the trustees adjourned into executive session to discuss pending litigation, Buchanan asked the village clerk to send a letter to Texas Monthly, which mentioned Ruidoso Downs in an article on former Texas Gov. John Connally.

Buchanan quoted from the article, saying "Triple Crown (condos) was not built in fashionable Ruidoso, but in its poor cousin, Ruidoso Downs."

"I think that's a real slam to Ruidoso Downs," Buchanan said and the other trustees agreed.

"It makes it sound like they built them in a slum alley," Trustee LaVerne Cole said.

Buchanan said the reason he was concerned was because of the effects such an article could have on potential investors.

"Chino has done more to hurt the real estate market than any other thing," Mayor J.C. "Jake" Harris said, referring to the current water suit that could take a substantial amount of the flow of the Rio Ruidoso if the Mesalero's claims are upheld.

The Other Side

Wendell China, President of the Mescalero Apache Tribe, responds to the recent accounts and statements regarding the Tribe's water claim in the Rio Hondo stream system.

As usual the Tribe suffers from one-sided and partial accounts which are designed to indirectly support the office of the State Engineer and attempt to intimidate the State Judge who is hearing the case. The misinformation provided by the personnel of the State Engineer, Steve Reynolds' office, is misleading to say the least. It is also designed to incite opposition against the Tribe.

At a hearing on August 27 and 28, 1986, in Roswell, New Mexico, an expert for the United States testified that sufficient water exists in the Rio Hondo stream system to meet the Tribe's water needs and the needs of the great majority of non-Indian users.

Most of the water claimed by the Tribe in the Rio Ruidoso and Rio Hondo stream system would be diverted from the Rio Ruidoso in the winter and spring snow melt before downstream irrigators need the water. The Tribe has proposed storage facilities that would save water which is now unused and lost. The downstream water users should be glad that they have used for years and years, unrented water rightfully and legally belonging to the Tribe since 1852.

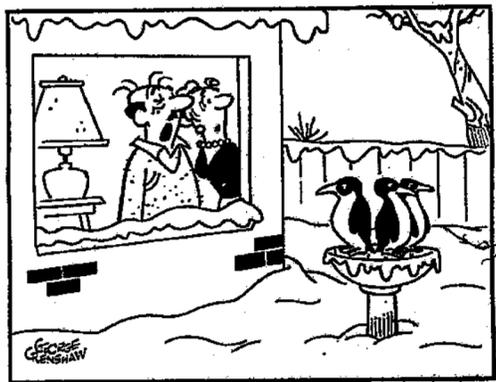

The Rio Ruidoso gains water from the surrounding watershed and from groundwater after it leaves the Reservation's eastern boundary. Approximately 7/8th of the watershed is below the Reservation boundary and adds water to the stream system which is not claimed by the Tribe.

The comments by the State Engineer's Office regarding average monthly diversion proposed by the Tribe at the Reservation boundary are misleading because most of the watershed is beyond the boundary, most of the proposed diversion on the Reservation would occur during months in which the water is presently unused, and much of the water there is zero impact on downstream users.

The downstream water users must certainly understand that the Tribe is not the only user to have an effect on the downstream but no one has raised a furor about the Village of Ruidoso's use of water and the impact it has on downstream water users. In addition, there are many businesses which utilize water such as car washes, and corporate farms in Hondo Valley would also impact on the downstream water users. Complaints should be directed to all water users who impact on the use of water downstream and not only the Tribe.

The tribe has been a defendant since 1977 and the United States a defendant since 1978 in the water case filed by the State of New Mexico against all water claimants in the Pecos stream system. The Tribe has agreed to a judicial procedure which would permit all defendants and water claimants in the system to present any and all objections to the Tribe's water rights before the Court. The Tribe is working in cooperation with the State and the United States to provide notice to all downstream claimants.

The Tribe has been dragged into Court by the State of New Mexico as a defendant and it does not intend to sit idly by, no matter how loud and great the "howl" against its water claim. The Tribe will protect and defend with all vigor and diligence, its rightful and legal claim to the water in the Rio Hondo system and put it to appropriate use for the best interest of the Tribe and its Members for the present and future generations of Mescalero Apache people to come.

New York Times exposes — but still honors W. Duranty

WASHINGTON—The New York Times, to its great credit, on September 24 published TV critic John Corry's admission that "Walter Duranty, The Times Moscow correspondent in the early 1930s, who also won a Pulitzer Prize, wrote that there was no famine. The documentary offers evidence that Mr. Duranty, in private conversations, believed the famine had left 10 million dead."

The famine which Mr. Corry was writing about is the Ukrainian holocaust. As Corry reports: "The Soviet Union systematically, purposely, starved seven million Ukrainians to death in 1932 and '33. Corry also notes: "In fact, the figure of seven million is extrapolated from unreliable Soviet census data; and other estimates say the number of Ukrainians dead was higher. Two things are, however, indisputable: a state-sponsored cataclysm struck; the world either chose to ignore, or did not know, what happened."

Corry was reviewing the film "Harvest of Despair," produced through the cooperation of Harvard University's Ukrainian Institute and the National Film Board of Canada. Corry noted that although this film won an Oscar nomination and a number of film festival awards, "the three major networks rejected it, and so did several public television stations, including New York's WNET."

"'Harvest of Despair,' presumably, was too controversial," he concluded.

Corry also noted that the Soviet Government denies this catastrophe ever happened. "When Brian Mulroney, now the Canadian Prime Minister, mentioned the famine in a speech in 1983, for example, the Soviet Embassy in Canada filed a formal protest. It said Mulroney's speech was a '100 percent lie.'" Corry also noted: "Public television's contributions to the argument, meanwhile, is to suggest, the historical record aside, that the Soviet Union may have a point."

Public Broadcasting, instead of running this prize-winning documentary as a feature, surrounded it with a panel discussion, in which Christopher Hitchens of that Kremlin delight called The Nation magazine, tried his best to discredit Ukrainians. Worse than Hitchens, even, were such Public Broadcasting notations as in their tax-exempt, ad-heavy magazine Dial, which noted that this prize-winning film, which was relegated to William Buckley's Firing Line, "claims" that there were millions of Ukrainians starved to death.

What would have been the reaction if the TV series "Holocaust" had been described by any such magazine as a "claim that Germans murdered millions of Jews from 1933 to 1945?"

New York Times writer John Corry also had the courage and decency to report the following: "The (Ukrainian) famine was very nearly a blank page in world journalism and letters. The documentary notes that British writer Malcolm Muggeridge, who we see in an interview... (Mr. Duranty, he says, 'was the biggest liar of any journalist I have ever met')... wrote some accurate stories (of this famine) for The Manchester Guardian."

And Corry goes on to note: "The notion that the famine was commented on widely outside the Soviet Union, however, is not true. History books on the period still do not reflect the magnitude of the disaster. 'Harvest of Despair' indicates that the Ukrainian famine represented and still does represent what may have been one of the world's greatest examples of distorted news."

I salute The New York Times for publishing this — and the courage of John Corry in writing it.

I very much wish I could also salute the publisher of The New York Times, the enormously courteous and congenial Arthur (Punch) Sulzberger and his right-hand man, Sydney Gruson. But I cannot, in view of their stubborn and outrageous refusal to remove the photograph of this monumental liar, Walter Duranty, from The New York Times hallway of fame, where there are framed photographs and citations of all 53 Times Pulitzer winners. (Duranty also won the Lenin Prize, understandably.)

Gruson, during a telephone interview, said: "It was Duranty's prize, not The Times's."

I said: "It was Janet Cook's prize that The Washington Post had the decency to send back. Why can't you at least repudiate the prize given to this New York Times liar?"

To which Gruson replied: "We won't engage in any kangaroo court after the fact, so you can hang him."

"Wrong, Sydney!" I shot back. "I want, as a New York Times shareholder, for you and Punch to have the decency to unhang him." But Gruson of The Times adamantly refused.

Hence we have the incredible situation whereby The Times admits in writing that its Moscow correspondent, Walter Duranty, was a monumental liar; but Sydney Gruson says they "can't" turn his picture to the wall or take it down.

What should happen is that all the other Times Pulitzer winners ought really to ask that their pictures be removed from this New York Times Hall of Shame.

But we haven't heard of any of them expressing any such concern about their being in proximity to this New York Times liar. Many of these Pulitzer Prize winners, by striking contrast, were simply horrified by Richard's Nixon's lying about Watergate — where nobody drowned and not even one person starved to death.

SANTA FE—The one thing we can count on this year is a change at the top in state government. But below that level, it's another story.

It's easy these days to concentrate attention on that race for the governor's job, where we are closer to having a horse race between the two candidates than we have been in many a year. It's also gratifying that both of the men making that run have much to recommend them as candidates; it's highly likely that either would make an efficient and effective governor.

But we shouldn't fail to do some thinking about what the makeup of the Legislature will look like. That fact will have much to do with how much our new governor is able to get accomplished.

THE SENATE: In the so-called "senior" body of the Legislature, the Senate, there is only one member up for reelection this year. He's Carlos Cisneros in District 6, which is in Taos, Mora and Santa Fe counties. He was named to his present post when El Comanche Gonzalez resigned shortly before he was found guilty of rape. Cisneros is in a tight race with Republican Celestino Romero, who is an alumnus of the state's House of Representatives.

With the exception of this district, therefore, the Senate will be unchanged in make-up this coming year. That gives cause to wonder how efficiently it will work, for or against the new administration's

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Delighted . . .

EDITOR—I purchased one of your papers last week and was delighted to read about all the community activities that you covered in your newspaper. I was in Carrizozo for the District IV New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs 64th annual convention Oct. 17-18. Your article about the convention was well written. I was elated to find that there are some newspapers that still care about recognizing volunteers and their efforts. They are vital to the development of a community.

I applaud you and hope that you continue to recognize your community leaders in the volunteer effort. You won't be sorry!

Questions sanctions . . .

EDITOR—According to the New American magazine, South Africa has positioned herself to survive sanctions from the West for many years. What Americans should be made aware of is what our sanctions will do to the United States.

The US is dependent on South Africa for rare metals, used in the fabrication of high-performance and high-temperature steels. We need these minerals to plate sophisticated ball-bearings and to make parts for jet engines. And we also need free use of the shopping lane around the Cape of Good Hope at the southern tip of the African continent.

If we cut ourselves off from South Africa, we will harm our own nation immeasurably. Such strategic metals as manganese, cobalt, titanium, chromium, tantalum and the platinum group metals—all of which the US must import, and all of which are currently obtained almost completely from South Africa.

Congress should be imposing sanctions on Communist nations that erect walls around their borders to keep people captive, not on South Africa that has a problem with so many blacks entering its territory to find jobs and a better life.

MRS. MARJORIE MILLS, Stockton, CA.

More on sanctions . . .

DEAR EDITOR—With Coca Cola Company leading the way, the US Congress and much of the corporate world is putting the economic screws to South Africa, a country that has always tried to be America's friend.

On Aug. 15, the US Senate voted overwhelmingly to impose economic sanctions on South Africa. Earlier, on June 18, the House passed its version of the Act, an Act designed to force American industry out of South Africa. The Acts are presently being reconciled, according to report.

The Act is reportedly designed to force some 230 American companies to withdraw their investment from South Africa under penalty of fines up to $500,000. Private citizens could be jailed for up to five years.

Senator Malcolm Wallop (R-WY) attempted to attach an amendment to the Act that read in part, "the provisions applicable to South Africa under this Act shall be equally applicable to the Soviet Union."

It is well established that the Soviets are backing South African terrorists. They also back the Nicaraguan Sandinistas. The long drawn out war in Afghanistan has been described as Soviet genocide.

We Americans finance a multi-billion dollar defense program to defend America from the Soviet Union.

So, what happened to Senator Wallop's amendment to treat the Soviets the same way we treat South Africa?

It never had a chance in Congress. Wallop's amendment was shot down just as surely as the Korean airliner 007.

RAYMOND C. WILSON, San Juan Bautista, CA.

Foolish policies . . .

EDITOR—Did you know that the recent wheat sales to the Soviet Union will cost the US taxpayers $52 million.

The administration seems to be trying to convince the American public that its whole concern is for the American farmer. In its rhetoric we are told if we do not sell them the wheat, other countries will - leaving the poor farmer destitute.

The Soviet Union, as far as I have been able to determine has never paid one penny for anything that it has "purchased" from us.

The Soviets give the Export-Import Bank an I.O.U. and the taxpayers support the Bank and no money comes from the Soviets.

We are not only giving them the grain, but also paying them to take it.

We need to worry about their buying from another country. Other countries require payment from them, cash on the barrelhead.

There is nothing surprising or unusual about Ronald Reagan giving wheat to the Soviets. He is doing it because (1) his administration agreed to do it and (2) the United States has come to the Soviet's rescue whenever their system is about to collapse.

The President himself admits that the farm price support program is a failure, and yet after six years in office, all that he has done is to continue to talk vaguely about eliminating it. So as to dispose of the surplus created by this costly and obsolete program, and to win support for the election of Senate Republicans, he chose to subsidize grain sales to the Soviets. The gangsters in the Kremlin must be laughing at a system that spawns such foolish policies.

ON MY OWN

By Pat Kite

Give us this day our daily work

The alarm shrills at five a.m. dark and you stumble out of bed. On goes blue suit, white blouse, efficiency shoes and enough makeup to make you look like you're actually alive. Then you scoop up sleeping kid, haul kid to the car in ice morning air, drop him, her, off at the babysitter's, all the while feeling like Torquemada with gullit.

You arrive at the office in time to meet your boss's ulcer.

You manage to seem busy, sometimes you are, and you try not to listen to rumors of impending layoffs. On half-hour lunch break you curse budget brown-bag tuna fish sandwiches and wonder why the cafeteria can't put coffee in the coffee. You want to go to sleep, make every attempt to look alert, and when you stare out the window remember long-ago "homemaker" days when an afternoon nap was routine.

The car doesn't start, rush hour traffic makes it stall, you pick up the kid at the sitters. The kid is coming down with a cold. He, she, isn't happy with babysitter, school, or Mommy being "there" instead of "here."

You stir up stew, administer aspirin, tell yourself you're not naturally grouchy, just tired. You want somebody to rub your back, say kind words, sympathize. Instead you watch a sitcom rerun and flop into unmade bed at 9 p.m. Alone, alone, alone.

Someplace across town a guy has put on blue suit, white shirt, efficiency shoes and strangulating tie. It's dark outside and all he can think of is "If I have to go to work in that zoo one more day, I'm going to leap out the nonwindow windows."

But he's got child support to pay, the rent on his studio apartment is more than the monthly payments he used to make on comfortable suburban house, and he really can't run off to the Casbah because he doesn't have Casbah skills.

So he puffs steam with the guys, plays corporate games, remembers back, while eating gravy over cadaver at the company cafeteria, to the "really great" tuna fish sandwiches his wife used to pack.

The gas tank is on almost-empty, nobody reminded him to fill it. Some lunk has had a flat tire on the bridge and traffic is backed up for miles. He arrives home only to discover he's out of t.v. dinners. Darn!

It's Thursday. The apartment is like a morgue. The kids used to look so happy when he walked in the door. Even the wife, back in better days, used to give him a welcoming smile. Now silence, silence, silence, no support system.

He'll get to see the kids on Saturday. Maybe they'll go to the zoo, again. With any luck his ex-wife won't start complaining, again.

"Surely I deserve better than this," he thinks, taking out

Ramblings

Oops, when I goof I do it proper. My apologies to Ceil and Tom Chaffins for having your last name wrong. The perils of being a news correspondent.

Lincoln County lost a dear friend in the passing of Albert Roberts. Albert was associated for many years with the Ritter Oil Co. of El Paso.

A good crowd heard Ted Brown, Hurst, TX on his program, "The Black Grandchildren of John Chisum," in spite of our inclement weather.

The program, sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society, was held at the Vistors Center.

Brown gave several episodes in his life involving not only his family, but also with a grandson, and a granddaughter, whom he knew in Texas. The two were two of several children born to Bob and Medd Jones. From all accounts, the great-grandchildren are all well educated and very successful.

Also the new officers for the coming year were introduced. They are Bill Allen, president; Ralph Dunlap, vice president; Harriet McGinnis, treasurer; and Dan Swearingin, newsletter editor; Nora Henn, historian.

Also recognized were the outgoing officers Lynda Sanchez, president; Bill Allen, vice president; Cleis and Jerry Jordan, newsletter; and Nora Henn, Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap, and Harriet McGinnis for their involvement.

Harriet McGinnis has been in the hospital in Albuquerque with a heart condition. If they can get her medication stabilized, she will be home this week.

The Lincoln County DAR group met at the Worllet Hotel Thursday. More on this next week.

The Worllet was humming over the weekend, being filled to capacity patrons were those who came from Texas, Albuquerque and other areas to attend the Historical Society and other just to enjoy Old Lincoln town.

Everyone had the extra bonus of our first cold wintry snow storm.

Reports were that the Sierra Blanca Ski Run had only six inches of snow.

proposals.

This, after all, is the body in which we have watched Republicans, almost in a majority there, throw in with a couple of Democrats to form a coalition and give the best job in the place, that of president pro tempore, to a Democrat, Les Houston.

He later switched parties, and the Republicans were able to work as an actual majority in the senate for the first time since 1931.

That sounded good for the GOP, except for the fact that Houston teed off some of his conferees; and they took the step of voting with the Democrats to oust him from office and give the pro tem's job back to veteran Senate Ike Smalley.

When this same cast of characters come back in 1987, look for Houston to try to get his position back. He has been quoted as saying of that job, "It belongs to me or to nobody. If Republicans don't support me for it, I'd rather see it go to a Democrat."

THE HOUSE: Over on the other side of the capitol, all House members are up for election again, as they are every two years.

Here, we've had a coalition of Republicans with conservative Democrats in power. Word from around the state suggests that may be dissolving, and that Democrats may end up in control on a straight party-line vote next year. That's fine if the governor is also a Democrat, but if not, we could see considerable tugging to and fro as a result of the mismatch.

As of this moment, it could very well be that we get a Republican on the fourth floor of the Roundhouse, who has to learn to get along with two houses of the Legislature dominated by the opposition party.

All of this, of course, depends on the mood the people are in when they go to the polls. At one point this year, it would have been safe to bet they'd throw out anybody who is an incumbent, but as the election draws near, that doesn't seem nearly so likely.

Ruidoso Valley chamber scraps $25,000 promotion

A public relations/television news story planned for production this fall has been scrapped entirely by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Advertising Committee.

The newswrap, which would have cost $25,000 to produce and would have been sent to more than 100 TV stations, was to feature the handicapped ski program and races at Ski Apache.

Harry Georgeades, owner of the Bull Ring restaurant and an ad committee member, said he thought the money could be better spent trying to penetrate the Albuquerque market with public relations and advertising.

Committee chairman Robert Boverie said that the bulk of the money would be spent on the winter campaign to attract more Albuquerque skiers.

"I'm not sure that a news story on handicapped skiers would attract that much attention if it were played say in Chicago," Georgeades said in moving to do away with the newswrap.

Boverie said he would inform the village's ad company, Epstein Communications, and would ask them to come up with a plan on spending the $25,000 in the next week to 10 days for the committee's consideration.

Epstein had originally suggested that the newswrap feature the All American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, but the committee decided to postpone the production and feature winter sports instead.

The committee also discussed ways of helping Albuquerque motorists find Ruidoso. "People coming from Albuquerque really have trouble finding the turnoff to Ruidoso, so they miss this beautiful area," said Tena Hall.

Among the options discussed to help travelers find their way to the community were local billboards.

Chamber director John Jeffers suggested that the committee also consider placing maps showing how to get here from El Paso at airport car rental offices.

"The women from Crume had trouble getting directions at the El Paso airport and ended up going through Las Cruces," Jeffers said. Crume is the village's public relations firm from Irving, Tx.

In other business the committee approved the payment of bills for Aspenfest newspaper and TV Guide ads that ran in south and west Texas. The ads totaled $3,928.02.

Also approved were:
 -ads for the Wurstfest that will run next Sunday in El Paso, Midland/Odessa and Lubbock newspapers;
 -$49,875 for winter promotion in radio, newspaper and magazine ads;

-$74,686 for the spring and summer ad campaign;
 -$10,615 to promote Ruidoso as a site for small and mid-sized meetings and conventions;

-$11,299 for an ad in the December issue of Travel and Leisure magazine; and
 -$35,000 for public relations services for Crume.

CARRIZOZO HIGH SCHOOL civics students got a first-hand look at government in action as they observed the county commissioners last Tuesday during the monthly County Commissioners meeting. The students are in Mrs. Joan Holborn's class, and they continued their observations Tuesday evening at the Carrizozo School Board meeting.

Corona news

Members of Preceptor Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi continued their interesting program schedule with the October meeting held in the school library. Senior citizens were special guests. President June Tyree introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Earl Nunn, and his wife, Cora Lee, of Santa Fe. Mr. Nunn is a volunteer with AARP and is a coordinator with AARP and AER, Association of Education Retirees. He stressed the importance of volunteerism today and answered questions before and after his talk.

The Nunnns have many links with the Corona area through friendships with the L. Parkers and their sons, with Aubrey and Eula Thomson, Corbin and Ada Hester and others. He was superintendent of schools in Springer, Alamogordo, and Las Cruces where he retired. He was then executive director of the Assn. of School Administrators and retired a year ago from that position.

Mrs. Nunn is a native of Dalhart and remembers her uncle, Seward Eison, speaking of his homestead days when he filed on land in the Jenkins Ranch.

Mr. Nunn came to the Mt. Dora area with his parents and four brothers when he was two. He graduated from high school and began teaching in a one room school in 1937 without benefit of college. He never attended a regular college semester but obtained his MS in ten summers. He did graduate work at Columbia. He traced the progress of education through the years leading to consolidation into the present 88 school districts. In 1921 there were 121 school districts in Union County alone. He talked of the school sales tax and PILT which made possible free textbooks. Corona is fortunate to have a railroad and two pipelines as a tax base. Mr. Nunn stated that education is an adaptable institution but cannot be 'all things to all people. It is not a fix for all social ills.

The sorority served coffee, punch and an assortment of cookies and cake. The November meeting will be a trip to the Albuquerque Museum to view the Mayan exhibit. These artifacts were assembled by Albuquerque volunteers and have been on tour for two years.

Members of Cedar Temple No. 26, Pythian sisters, were house guests of Mrs. Joe Atkinson during the Grand Temple Session held Oct. 9-11 in Belen. Virginia Tate, Grand Chief, presided. Hazel West, Houston, Supreme Junior was present. The Knights of Pythias, marking their 100th year, invited the Temples to a dinner on Thursday evening.

Fred Hefner, Supreme Representative, reported on the Supreme Temple meeting in Kansas City. Eleanor Gorman, Missouri, is the new Supreme Chief. Her theme is Fan the Flame. She will preside in Montreal, Canada in 1988, the Pythian sister Centennial year. Pauline McCloud was elected Grand Senior and will be installed as Grand Chief next year in Deming. Attending from Corona were Mrs. McCloud, Leta Sharp, Edna Robinson, Grand Representative, and Geraldine Perkins. Sherrill Bradford drove to Belen from El Paso through the rains Friday evening.

Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Perkins attended the homecoming breakfast Saturday when Maia chapter of Mortar Board was honored for 50 years on the UNM campus. Mrs. Perkins was one of seven charter members present.

Elbert Owen was in Roswell Thursday to attend funeral services for a sister, Myrtle Phillips.

Jack Livingston, Baton Rouge, LA, was here last week to deliver his calves and to do other ranch work. He reports the recent death of his uncle, Ross Richardson, Roswell. Interment was in Delta, CO.

Pastor Patrice Humphreys attended a Synod meeting in Phoenix last weekend.

Myrtle Davidson, Juanita Owen and Katie Sultemeier are hosting the luncheon for the Crown CowBelle meeting, Thursday, Nov. 6 in the Sultemeier home. Members are urged to attend this important meeting for the election of officers and to forget their covered dishes.

Bread will retain its original quality for two to three months if left in the wrapper and stored in the home freezer.

Cards drop Roy 45-33

Corona moved one step closer to a District title when they jumped out to an early lead and held on for a 45-33 win over Roy last Friday.

Perennial Cardinal powerhouses Tommy Mulkey and Travis Lightfoot put 243 yards rushing and four TD's on the record book. Lightfoot passed for two touchdowns while Mulkey connected for another; Eric Wetzel caught a 25 yard toss for another six points. Lightfoot, Mulkey, Wetzel, and Chad Brown caught passes for a total of 155 yards in the air.

Corona's offense clicked early with the Cardinals going ahead 18-6 in the first period. With a 32-13 half-time score, Roy managed to make some changes and even things up in the second half. The Longhorns accumulated 185 yards rushing on 33 carries and were 9 of 27 for 206 yards in the air. Corona, with 155 passing and 243 on the ground, totaled 398 yards.

The district shoot-out will be this Friday at 7:30 p.m. when the Cardinals meet Vaughn. Both are 3-0 in district play.

Tiger sports

Capitan 23, Cloudfcroft 14

By BART McDONOUGH

Jay Eldridge led the Tigers to a 23-14 victory over the Cloudfcroft Bears Oct. 17 in Cloudfcroft, overcoming six Tiger fumbles along the way. Mike Lynn put the Tigers on the scoreboard three minutes into the game with a 34 yard field goal. This was set up by a 60 yard punt return by Kerry Clements. The Bears scored with 1:18 left in the 1st quarter after a fumble had given them the ball on the Tiger 11 yard line. McCarty made several key tackles for the Tigers in this quarter. Moments into the second quarter Capitan began a drive on the Bear's 26 yard line after a fumble recovery by Julian Romero. Eckland got 6 and 4 yards. Eldridge 7. before Capitan turned the ball over on another fumble. Cloudfcroft began a drive from its own 23 yard line culminating in a touchdown with six and a half minutes left in the half. Gafney of the Bears set up his own touchdown with a nice scamper. Cloudfcroft enjoyed a 14-3 advantage over the Tigers at this point. The Tiger overcame another fumble in this quarter when Parker intercepted a pass. Capitan began a drive on its own 32 yard line. Ronnie Sanchez passed to Parker for a 1st down. Eldridge got 8 yards, a face mask penalty against the Bears, several more short gainers and finally the TD by Eldridge with 27 seconds left in the half.

Capitan passed to Eckland for 2 points and both teams went to the locker rooms with Cloudfcroft up 14-11. To begin the second half the Tigers were penalized 15 yards for returning late to the field. Eldridge looked good in the 3rd quarter. Greg Smith got a key hit, Parker a beautiful punt, but neither team was able to score. Moments into the 4th quarter Jay Eldridge took off on a 66 yard ramble to pay dirt changing directions 5 times along the way. The conversion was no good and Capitan took the lead once again 17-14. Cloudfcroft took the ensuing kick off and began a drive from its own 26 yard line. Clay Guck got a nice tackle here. The Bears penetrated to the Tiger 48 before being thrown back to their own 40 yard line. Following the punt Capitan began its final touchdown drive from the Tiger 22 yard line. Eckland got 9 and then the 1st down. The Tigers recovered their own fumble and Eldridge got a 1st down near midfield. The Tigers were facing 2nd down and 21 when Eldridge shot 58 yards down the sideline for Capitan's final TD. The PAT was no good - Capitan 23, Cloudfcroft 14. Capitan took over on downs on the Bear's 24 yard line but was unable to score. The conference standings: Cloudfcroft 2-1, Capitan 1-1, Reserve 1-1, Carrizozo 0-1. Reserve visits Carrizozo this Friday at 7:30 p.m. while Capitan plays a non conference game at home against Santa Rosa Lions. Game time is 4 p.m. Both the Grizzlies and the Tigers finish their regular season December 1 with a 2 p.m. game in Capitan.

C'zozo sports

Bobcats 32, Grizzlies 8

The visiting Hagerman Bobcats scored on their first two possessions of the ballgame and coasted to a 32-8 victory over Carrizozo last Friday night. On the first play after opening kick-off Hagerman intercepted a Grizzly pass at the Carrizozo 31 yard line—after a 5-yard penalty on the Grizzlies, the visitors scored on their first play from scrimmage at the 10:48 mark of the first period. PAT was no good and score remained 6-0. Carrizozo received the ensuing kick-off and was forced to punt after four plays to their own 45 yard line. Hagerman promptly added another score on the next play and tacked on a 2-point PAT for a 14-0 lead with 8:00 still showing on the clock (first period). The Grizzlies tried to make a game of it by recovering a Hagerman fumble at the visitors' 31-yard line late in the first quarter. Senior Tommy Escamilla connected with sophomore Abe Padilla on a 6-yard pass for a Grizzly score and then found junior John Saucedo in the end-zone for a 2-point PAT to trim Hagerman's lead to 14-8 with 2:51 left in the 1st period. Hagerman answered with a TD on the first play of 2nd period and made good on PAT kick for 21-8 advantage. First half ended with same 21-8 Hagerman lead.

In the 2nd half Hagerman added a field-goal at the 5:34 mark in third period and a 24-8 lead after three quarters, while holding Carrizozo scoreless. Fourth quarter action found the 'Cats adding a TD at the 5:09 mark and finished the night's scoring when they scored a 2-point safety 1-minute later. Final score 32-8. Although losing their sixth game of the season Carrizozo keeps showing improvement every week. In Friday's game the passing combination of Tommy Escamilla and Abe Padilla connected on five pass play good for 126 yards. Padilla caught passes good for 9, 6, 24, 32 and 55 yards and 1-TD in his first start of the season at wide-receiver. Tom Giordano chipped in with three receptions good for 15 yards. Escamilla also had a good night rushing the ball and gained 90 yards on 24 carries. On defense Tommy Escamilla, Craig Collins, John Saucedo, Robert Guevara and Dennis Vega were in on their share of tackles during the hard-hitting contest. Collins also had a good game handling the snaps from his center position in his first start there. This Friday the Grizzlies will be playing their last home game of the year when they host the Reserve Mountaineers. Game time set for 7:30 p.m. (District game).

To the Voters of Lincoln and Otero Counties Carrizozo, Corona, Alto, Nogal, La Luz, Tularosa

Steven K. Sanders
 State Representative
 District 52

Let me talk to you about unnecessary tax increases and financial mismanagement in our state.

DID YOU KNOW THAT THE NEW MEXICO GENERAL FUND BUDGET has grown from $898,252,700.00 in 1981-82 to $1,410,239,500.00 in 1986, a 57% increase in spending in five years. DID YOU KNOW THAT THE General Fund Budget for 1986 is $175 million LARGER than the Budget for 1985-86. DID YOU KNOW THAT the number of high level Santa Fe BUREAUCRATS increased 33% in 4 years.

DID YOU KNOW THAT to fund these increases my opponent Maurice Hobson voted for and helped pass the LARGEST TAX INCREASE in this State's history . . . A tax increase that was sponsored by MR. HOBSON and GOVERNOR ANAYA that was UNJUSTIFIED, MISMANAGED, AND IS UNFAIR TO TAXPAYERS.

DID YOU KNOW THAT WHILE VOTING FOR THESE TAX INCREASES, MR. HOBSON ALSO VOTED TO DOUBLE HIS OWN LEGISLATIVE RETIREMENT.

YOUR INCOME TAXES were increased over 70% starting in July. YOUR GROSS RECEIPTS TAXES were increased between 10 to 20% depending on where you buy things (i.e. 1/2% in cities and 1% in counties). OUR PROPERTY TAXES were increased with assessed valuations going up 300% to 400% in some places.

In total, Mr. Hobson sponsored and voted for TAX INCREASES of $150,000,000.00 while voting to increase spending this year by $175,000,000.00. WHERE DID OUR MONEY GO?

Hobson voted to spend almost 1.5 million to buy land for a new office building for legislators. Who knows what the building and new furniture will cost, 10, 20, 30 million. Mr. Hobson also voted for an increase in the correction department budget. A budget which includes COLOR TV'S for PRISONERS.

Then came the second legislative session this year and Mr. Hobson again supported the Governor's tax increase by voting to repeal the food and medical rebates . . . A TAX INCREASE of $52,000,000.00 . . . A TAX INCREASE THAT IS UNFAIR TO THE CITIZENS OF NEW MEXICO, ESPECIALLY SENIORS.

Were the TAX INCREASES JUSTIFIED? NO. Were these tax increases needed to operate State Government? NO. Was there any attempt to control the growth of State Government? NO.

Do we need to raise taxes for new buildings for legislators and color tv's for prisoners? Was our tax money spent wisely? ABSOLUTELY NOT.

Was there any consideration of keeping the spending level the same this year as last? Not when Mr. Hobson can spend your money. REDUCED GOVERNMENT? Not when Mr. Hobson sits on the appropriations committee and is voting to spend more and more each year.

BETTER SERVICES? NO. Look at our roads, our veterans's center and public offices that were underfunded or closed. Look at our children and seniors programs that were cut back, while Hobson was voting to DOUBLE HIS RETIREMENT PAY. After 16 years of Mr. Hobson haven't we had enough.

WILL THE LEGISLATURE IMPOSE MORE TAX INCREASES IN 1987? The legislative committee Mr. Hobson sits on is already talking about more tax increases.

ISN'T IT TIME WE SAID NO TO MORE TAX INCREASES? Why can't we learn to live within our Revenues which are increasing without raising taxes?

WE NEED A CHANGE IN SANTA FE! If you agree, I would appreciate your vote on November 4, 1986.

ELECT STEVEN K. SANDERS STATE REPRESENTATIVE, DISTRICT 52

WORTH CLIPPING

This past week I was given a box of yellowed newspaper clippings that Birdie Walker considered worth saving. Birdie, who currently resides at a nursing home, is at least 100 years old. She and her husband lived in Carrizozo many years, managed the Lyric Theater and were active in the community.

Many of the clippings are not dated but appeared in the El Paso Times possibly in 1950, 1960 and 1970. Among the clippings are articles on citizenship, flag facts, walking for exercise and problems of the aging.

The rest of this column is comprised of samples of Birdie's various clippings.

CARRIZOZO OUTLOOK

Birdie clipped stories from the Lincoln County News and Carrizozo Outlook, as the NEWS was called in 1953.

Memories of Christmas in old White Oaks by Mrs. R.E. Lemon was among Birdie's collection. Lemon described the season during the horse and buggy era. The Lemon presentation was part of the program for Carrizozo Woman's Club meeting.

The same NEWS issue described how the Southern Pacific use "Audigage" to detect flaws in the rails. "Ultrasonic waves are now at work making the SP a safer railroad," J.W. Corbett, the railroad's vice president in charge of operations, said. The Audigage, weighing only 11 pounds, could be carried in a knapsack on the operator's back.

Another NEWS item told about Carrizozo Postmaster Roy Harmon and his news release from the postmaster general concerning substantial improvements in mail delivery services. The story said how the provisions of the new order would make home delivery services available for the first time to four million Americans.

"To get the new service it is only necessary that those living in the eligible areas ask their postmaster to provide it and a majority of those to be served must want the home service."

LOOKING AT LIFE

An article by Erich

CLERK

Brandeis caught the attention of Birdie's scissors. Writer Brandeis quoted from a pamphlet published by the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging. This is what Senator Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of the committee, says in the introduction:

"If youth must be served, age merits its own rewards. For it has served. And it is eager to continue serving. Our committee, in its studies of the aging, has found that our older persons do not ask to be served; they plead only to be allowed to serve. They ask for a chance to serve in industry, civic work and charitable efforts."

Brandeis concludes her article with: "Remember, all you folks who look upon your aged with condescension and impatience—there is only one way to avoid old age, and that is to die young. Treat those who are old today as you would want to be treated when your times comes!"

FILOSOFY AND FOOLISHNESS

It appears that Birdie's favorite clippings were those of Nat Campbell who compiled "Filosofy and Foolishness" for the El Paso Times: "If a woman is nothing but a rag, a bone and a hank of hair, a man is nothing but a brag, a groan and thankful of air."

Birdie clipped editorials, hints from Heloise and factographs. She saved a column "Quien Sabe?" which solved problems and answered questions.

Ernie Pyle, war correspondent was read by Birdie. Pyle's "Here's Your War" column clippings were worth saving to Birdie.

The opinion of G. C. Thostenson, MD in his column "To Your Good Health" was of interest in the Walker household. A reader wrote:

Dear Dr. Thostenson: Please explain the effects, good and bad, of kissing dogs on the mouth. Is it true that dog carry fewer germs in the mouth than humans? My wife claims so. Kindly print some facts on this. —T.M.

LAST LAUGH

"The Lone Ranger's girl is the reason he kisses his horse."

Birdie's clippings on a cartoon style writings on a cartoon brick wall are very amusing. Here are some more funny writings from Birdie's cartoon quips called "Graffiti": "Middle age is when a noisy joint is your knee."

"America—where juries are hung and killers sprung."

"Avoid water on the knee—don't hold babies in your lap."

"Work like a horse and everybody rides you."

"Women have changed in the last ten years—they're five years older."

Lincoln County 'Long Ago'

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Leader, Devoted to the Best Interests of Lincoln County and the Development of Its Resources, published in White Oaks, Lincoln County, N.M., Saturday, May 21, 1890. Wm. Caffrey, Editor & Proprietor.

Bob Littell left this week for Roswell, there to spend the summer. A better boy never left here or located there.

On Sunday last Dr. M. G. Paden very successfully performed a difficult operation upon Capt. A. W. Kempton for the relief of a long standing trouble. Dr. N.W. Lane and Dr. A.A. Bearup assisted. The Capt. lacked the old "Constellation" a few times during the administration of ether, &c., but otherwise behaved like an infant taking it's rest. Sunday night he rested well and has since progressed very rapidly toward a complete recovery. We hope to see him among us soon. White Oaks may well be proud of her young surgeon.

Saturday, June 6, 1890

It is reported that the cavalry force at Ft. Stanton will soon have to temporarily abandon that Post owing to an insufficiency of water there. But a few miles above and there is plenty of water, sufficient until the rainy season sets in which will fill the Bonito and tributary streams.

While F. Spilke was away to Roswell last week, some fiend entered his Jicarilla castle and took therefrom a saddle and bridle, bed clothing and his Grand Army suit.

Local Roundups

Ike Smith was prostrated on a sick bed this week but is recuperating.

Jas. A. Alcock returned Sunday from his trip to Kansas City and the Indian Territory. He reports seeing lots of rain on his trip. We saw none during his absence.

The sinking of the North Homestake well is being pushed with characteristic perseverance by the use of the Burleigh drill. The depth already attained is nearly 1,000 feet.

Paul Mayer, the livery stable prince of White Oaks, is putting an addition to his already large and commodious stable. He is evidently making preparations to care for the iron horses of the El Paso & White Oaks R.R., so they will not take cold in this high altitude when they reach the City of the Oaks in the "sweet by and bye." That is as it should be. Paul was always a good kind hearted boy, and we are glad to see that he is the same in prosperity that he was in the days of his early childhood.

Last Monday night four soldiers deserted from Ft.

Stanton, taking with them four mules and a buckboard. They wheeled to the R.R. without delay, and leaving their tin snout at Cathage took the cars (presumably lower berths on a Pullman) and spend to some distant point. There have been many desertions from Ft.

Stanton in the past but for style this beats the record.

YOUR VOTE IS CRUCIAL!

From 1979 to 1984 John Hightower proved his leadership capabilities to us as our County Commissioner. Let him do it again!

Let Him

- develop our natural resources in an orderly fashion.
- properly fund essential county facilities.
- keep taxes at a level that does not unfairly burden our citizens.
- defend and protect our water rights against acquisition.
- recognize and maintain the importance of our tourism and recreation revenues.
- continue to handle county funds with prudent financial responsibility.

Fair and Equal Representation for All Interests.

HIGHTOWER

for COMMISSIONER

Pd. for by the Committee to elect John Hightower for County Commissioner, Dist. III, T. Forraj, Treasurer.

I X. Peck, writes the following gag to the Mesilla Democrat:—"We understand that the White Oaks railroad, which has been built out ten miles from El Paso, will declare a dividend this year. The directors will now mow off the track and divide the hay."

Local Roundups
Next Friday will be Memorial Day.

Don't forget the Memorial sermon Sunday night.

Ed. Berry, one of the oldest and blackest citizens of Lincoln County, came up from Roswell this week.

Jake Siegler and Ike Smith started out on a pedler's wagon last Monday on ten days or two weeks trip.

May 30, 1868, was the first Memorial Day. It was ordered by Gen. John A. Logan, Commander in Chief of the G.A.R. The date of the Order was May 5, '68—General Orders No. 11.

We were assured about 60 days ago that dirt would fly all over the line the past 30 days.—Well, dirt has been flying all over the line the past 30 days, but Boreas was the contractor and the old blow-hard was never known to build a railroad.

We are frequently asked why we don't publish railroad news.—For the simple reason that there is no such news to publish. We hear much twaddle about the prospects, and sometimes see big-not-so's in newspapers touching the enterprise in which we are all so vitally interested, but until something reaches us wearing the resemblance of reason and probability the Leader will preserve the silence.

Saturday, May 31, 1890
What a Woman Can Do

She can come to a conclusion without the slightest trouble of reasoning on it, and no man can do that.

Six of them can talk at once and get along first rate, and no two men can do that.

She safely sticks fifty pins in her dress while he is getting one under his thumb nail.

She is as cool as a cucumber in a half dozen tight dresses and skirts, while a man will sweat and fume and growl in one loose shirt.

She can talk as sweet as peaches and cream to the woman she hates, while two men would be punching each other's heads before they exchanged ten words.

She can throw a stone with a curve that would be a fortune to a base ball pitcher.

She can say "No" in such a low voice that it means "Yes."

She can sharpen a lead pencil if you give her plenty of time and plenty of pencils.

She can dance all night in a pair of shoes two sizes too small for her and enjoy every minute of the time.

She can appreciate a kiss from her husband seventy years after the marriage ceremony is performed.

She can go to church and afterwards tell you what every woman in the congregation had on, and in rare instances can give you some faint idea of what the text was.

She can walk half the night with a colic baby in her arms without once expressing the desire of murdering the infant.

She can do more in a minute than a man can do in an hour, and do it better.

She can drive a man crazy in twenty-four hours and then bring him to paradise in two seconds by tickling him under the chin, and does not live that mortal son of Adam's misery who can do it.

Local Roundups
A chap named Leeper, a horse thief by profession, leaped from the custody of our officers, the other day.

John Wheaton, of Lincoln, made his many friends here happy last week by circulating a day among them.

JIM WOOLDRIDGE

for Lincoln County Commissioner

DISTRICT III

I believe I can do Lincoln County a good job. I'll be just as responsive to the people of the Corona area and the people of the Hondo valley area as I will to the people of the Ruidoso area.

I've got the common sense, mixed with lots of practical experience. You'll find I will be available to ALL the citizens of Lincoln County.

One thing. As an elected commissioner I will vote my conscious with the best possible knowledge I can gain from the best possible sources.
