

Ballots cast, new officials elected

The Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo was filled with people as the election returns began to come in shortly after the polls closed at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Two of the races were too close to call until the final precinct called with their totals. The final results listed in this issue of the NEWS will be unofficial until the votes that were cast are canvassed by the Lincoln County Commission at 1 p.m. Friday. Republican candidates were the winners in Lincoln County except for the three races won by democrats at the county level. The three positions won by democrats were

District Magistrate Division I with Gerald Dean Jr. receiving 2,040 votes to Alfred Leroy Montes 1,976; County Commissioner District I with Ralph Dunlap receiving 2,403 votes to Dennis Nosker's 1,720 and

County Commission District II with John A. Hightower receiving 2,049 votes to J. O. Payne's 1,991. Incumbent Maurice Hobson was the winner of the race for State Representative

District 52 with a total of 4,053 to Steven Sanders 2,992 votes. Write-in candidate Patrick Vandergriff was not a determining factor in the race. District 52, with parts of the district in Lincoln, Sierra and Otero counties, has been a race that has been watched closely by the entire state. The overall count in Dist. 52 by county: Hobson 697, Sanders 435 in Lincoln County; Hobson 1,471, Sanders 870 in Otero County and Hobson 1,885, Sanders 1,687 in Sierra County.

A total of 4,498 people voted in Lincoln County for 65.3 percent of the total of registered voters, which is 6,891. Ruidoso precinct 11 had the lightest voter turnout with only 55.4 percent voting compared to 78.8 percent of the voters showing up at the Corona precinct. The absentee precinct had a return of 91.2 percent of the votes requested.

The republican sweep in Lincoln County began with more than 77 percent of the vote going to Joe Skeen in the race for US Representative Dist. 2. Skeen received 3,308 votes while his opponent Mike Rannels received 985 votes.

The republican team of Carruthers/Stahl continued the sweep with 3,049 votes for governor/lt. governor to democrat team Powell/Luna's 1,211 votes received in Lincoln County.

Ben Hall, running unopposed for State Representative District 56, was declared the winner as was Richard T. Knowles, running unopposed for State Representative District 57. One precinct in Lincoln County is in district 57 and five percent are in district 56.

Republican candidate Don Samuels was the winner in the three-way race that had been waged for sheriff of Lincoln County. Samuels received more than half the vote, 2,085 compared to Jim Nesmith's 1,052 and write-in Lerry Dan Bond's 994 votes.

Other results:

District Magistrate Division II: Jim Wheeler 2,824, unopposed; County Commissioner District III: William Lon Karn, 2,683, Jim Wooldridge 1,351; County Clerk: Fran Siddens 2,937, Colleta Elliott 1,127; County Treasurer: Shirley Ann Goodloe 2,663, Barbara Ann Langley 1,448; County Assessor: Marian L. Schlarb 2,810, unopposed; Probate Judge: John Watt Page 2,106, Lee J. Martin 1,688.

Lincoln County voters approved ten of the 11 constitutional amendments with amendment number 7 barely squeaking by with one vote against for the proposed expansion of the state school board. County voters also voted against the educational capital improvements bond, 1,530 against and 1,312 for.

Notes of interest

The Red Tag Chile Cook-Off scheduled for last Sunday at the Frontier Motel in Carrizozo was rained out. The event will be rescheduled.

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 12 to avoid a conflict with Veteran's Day on Tuesday. Chamber business will include membership dues and new officers.

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees will hold only one meeting during November instead of the regular meetings on the second and fourth Tuesdays. The one meeting will be held Nov. 18 at 6 p.m. in city hall.

Gov. Anaya does honors

The groundbreaking at the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport officially began the construction phase of the building of the new regional airport on Fort Stanton mesa.

The groundbreaking ceremony was held Oct. 31 with Governor Toney Anaya turning the first shovel of dirt on the project that he and others have worked to achieve.

The airport on the mesa has been little more than a dream for two decades. That dream is becoming a reality with actual construction to begin immediately.

Governor Anaya told the crowd present that he would like to be in one of the first airplanes to land at the airport next November.

After the groundbreaking ceremony held on Fort Stanton mesa, a luncheon was held at Cree Meadows to celebrate the event.

GOVERNOR TONEY ANAYA (left) and Kenneth Nosker, chairman of the SBAC, made speeches at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport held Oct. 31 on Fort Stanton mesa. The ceremony officially began the construction of the project that began as a dream in the 1960s. The governor said he would like to be one of the first to land at the new airport next November.

Travel & Leisure magazine

Carrizozo gets international publicity

Carrizozo is one of many communities featured in a colorful 24-page advertising section of New Mexico to be distributed in December to millions of US and Canadian residents.

The new marketing program will involve several magazines and direct mail targeted at frequent travelers.

The section will be specially bound with the December issue of popular Travel & Leisure magazine so that it can be pulled out easily and used for later reference.

Travel & Leisure is among the top travel magazines in the world. Its circulation is 1.1 million with an estimated readership of 3.3 million.

The same section will also be inserted in December issues of Southwest Spirit, the magazine of Southwest Airlines; TranStar magazine, the magazine of TranStar Airlines; and Travel Agent magazine. It also will be mailed to 27,500 US travel agents and 200,000 targeted American Express Card holders.

Total readership is projected to be 4.5 million people. Some 10,000 additional copies of the section will be printed for selected distribution from Santa Fe by the state Economic Development and Tourism Department.

"This is the largest single promotion that this department has ever done," Larry Adcock, Economic Development and Tourism Secretary. "It's a promotion that hits every corner of our state and tells of special activities and other points of interest in many of our communities. Those who know us tend to like us, and this is going to introduce us as we are to a large, key population," says Adcock.

Rather detailed sketches of many communities are preceded in the section by a one-page introduction that tells of the state's history and general character.

The introduction says of New Mexico: "The people are as diverse as the geography: cowboys and stockbrokers, Indian dancers and opera singers, winerowers and atom splitters. It has been home to Billy the Kid and Kit Carson, a haven for Georgia O'Keeffe and D.H. Lawrence, a movie set for Mary Pickford and Robert Redford."

"All told, we'll wind up paying 13 cents per reader for one of the most attractive sections that you could get anywhere," says Adcock. "Widely accepted marketing projections tell us we can reasonably expect 7 percent of the total projected 4.5 million readers to visit New Mexico and stay here an average of two days. Each visitor will spend about $80 per day. That translates into a $25 million injection into our state's economy."

The section includes 31 color photographs. Subjects range from flickering farolitos at Christmas time to race horses straining for a lead as they dash away from post time.

For the promotion, New Mexico is divided into seven segments. Text, photographs and a color locator map highlight each area's attractions and distinguishing appeal.

Chambers of commerce, convention bureaus, and other tourism-related offices from throughout the state are listed at the end of the section.

"The reader will be able to call our state office for more information, but he can also call directly to just about any community that stirs his interest," says Adcock. "That way we can have literally scores of people working on followup promotions."

State Tourism Director Ed Jungbluth expects followup calls for months.

"This piece is going to millions of monied travelers," says Jungbluth. "We anticipate an early response from people who are still planning their winter vacations. The place will introduce many people to New Mexico's extraordinary blend of outstanding skiing conditions and mild climate."

"We'll also present ourselves to those folks who are beginning their plans for next spring and summer. This promotion allows us to give the reader a reasonably thorough tour of New Mexico at a price that he just can't beat. Having gotten the introductory tour, we're confident thousands will want to get the real thing," says Jungbluth.

Carrizozo is mentioned prominently in the promotional section.

The text says: "You can spend time in Roswell, a city of substantial homes on treelined streets, or in Carrizozo, where Main Street still echoes with the sound of boot heels. This is truly a region of contrast in its geography, people, plants and animals."

"Carrizozo is another Western ranching town, where many of the turn-of-the-century buildings still are along the main street. Just west of town is Valley of Fires State Park, a river of lava with trails, camping and picnic areas."

Ruidoso, Capitan and Lincoln are among other area communities mentioned.

C'zozo enrollment down

Carrizozo Superintendent of Schools Dennis Sidebottom informed members of the board during the October meeting that 40th day enrollment stood at 286. This indicated a drop from approximately 345 three years ago; and with 84 in the high school (down from 139 only four years ago), enrollment shows "a dramatic decline in the number of high school students available for all programs" according to Sidebottom. He further explained that the lower enrollment translated in a loss of $48,784 in state funds from what had originally been budgeted for this year. However, the loss is partially due to the state's lowered remuneration per student from $1601.24; the reduction was caused by reduced state revenue from the oil and gas industries. "The bottom line," said Sidebottom, "is that we need to make sure that we're able to meet our payroll and other utility and insurance expenses; and so that means that we must not spend any discretionary money for any reason until we find out what kind of a winter we're going to have and what some of our fixed costs are going to be." Sidebottom strongly suggested to the board that only payroll and contractual expenses be met and added that the district could probably absorb the loss as long as it didn't indulge in discretionary spending.

Included in the superintendent's report was the recent meeting with state legislators at Cloudcroft. At that meeting, school representatives notified lawmakers of their extreme displeasure concerning the State officials, seeking to increase the impact of relatively few advertising dollars available statewide, have created a cooperative fund with communities throughout the state. It was that fund that was tapped, after review and approval of the state Economic Development and Tourism Board, for the upcoming promotion.

The total cost of the promotion, which was coordinated by the state's advertising agency, Epstein Communications, is $558,000.

"Using standard projections, we calculate that along with the total $25 million injection to the state's economy, we will see $5 returned in state and local taxes for every $1 invested in the promotion," says Adcock.

"We're going to see benefits from this project, and we're going to see them statewide," he says.

Travel & Leisure's December issue will be on sale late this month.

Renovation at Space Hall

The second floor of the International Space Hall of Fame will be closed to visitors for the next two months while staff members continue construction on the latest in a series of new galleries at the museum.

Scheduled for completion on January 10, 1987, the gallery's debut will coincide with New Mexico's 75th Anniversary.

should be made in the final legislation. Among the specific changes mentioned by Sidebottom were the exclusion of "unreasonable requirements for participation in extra-curricular activities." The superintendent felt that the local district should determine those requirements. Sidebottom said that the legislators had agreed to send written reactions to each school represented at the meeting.

Other items announced included that State Accreditation visit on Nov. 5-6, the installation of the satellite TV system with phone hookup enabling interaction with teachers and computers elsewhere, and a lengthy report on the SDI public hearing in Socorro and its effect on Carrizozo Schools (see related story).

Under the Student Instruction segment of the agenda, home economics teacher Jodie Heckendorn summarized for board members the sex education and childbirth curriculum. Sidebottom then discussed improved CTBS scores for grades three, five, and eight. Total battery scores for all three grades were 70 while the state hovered at 57. Sidebottom cautioned that scores probably would not go any higher: "A lot of our scores are in the 70th percentile, and when you get into the 70th percentile, very few people in the state are scoring better than you are. Of course, you need to keep striving for that score to be in the 90's, but that's pretty difficult. . . We're going to work hard to keep the scores high, but . . . I want everybody to know that to get them much higher is going to be very difficult."

Teacher residency was the topic of a discussion led by Chamber of Commerce member Woody Schlegel. Schlegel said that members of the community had approached him and asked that he go before the board to see if teachers could be required to live in the district. Discussion took into account the fact that Carrizozo businesses need every available customer, but at the same time, the board needs to get the best teachers possible without regard to where they live. No action was taken on the issue.

In routine matters, the board considered and adopted overtime and public service leave policies. The 2 mill levy will expire in February and voters will again be asked to pass a levy. It would maintain the current level of taxes.

Sidebottom praised the staff for their work on financial reports; the auditor found no exceptions this year and was pleased with the record keeping.

Mike Gaines reported on the number of students transported and the condition of school vehicles. He commented that all vehicles are accumulating mileage and the district will see more maintenance costs in the future. Sidebottom added that because of fiscal cutbacks, the district has not judiciously replaced vehicles as they were needed. "We are going to wake up one morning and need a whole new fleet," he said, and suggested that the board begin to search for ways, perhaps leasing, to provide school vehicles in the future.

The board dispensed with routine financial business and briefly discussed Carrizozo's hosting of the New Mexico School Board Association Region VII dinner meeting in April before adjourning.

ON MY OWN

By Pat Kite

Don't frighten the horses

I'm watching at the train station trying to avoid watching an age 20-ish male and female who happen to be standing there necking. Ever so often, in the midst of their smoochy kissing, the man sort of squeezes her rump, squeeze, squeeze. Presumably he is making certain that all the other waiter's-in-line thoroughly realize the extent of their affection.

Perhaps I should pay a quarter or so to watch? Certainly the scene sure as heck beats out "Sixteen's Company," or whatever it is my kids are forever watching on boob-tube rerun.

Anyhow, I get on crowded train, sit down, and get the view of the seat in front of me. In it are two mid-30-ish women. They begin necking. Ever so often, in the middle of their smoochy caresses, the gal on the left murmurs sweet nothings into the ear of the gal on the right.

I wonder whether I should throw up.

My kids have told me I'm disgustingly old fashioned. That I have to learn acceptance of other people's life styles. Well, I've come a long way, but I still hold with noted wit, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who reputedly stated, "I don't care what people do, as long as they don't do it in the middle of the street and frighten the horses."

When people insist on demonstrating hot and heavy manipulations at train stations, airports, bus depots, street corners, public beaches and similar sites, this particular pony annoyedly wonders what jollies they get out of it?

Certainly there are enough bedrooms, closets and culverts in this world for all kinds of activities, and if I want to watch public sex I'll go to the movies, and I seldom go to the movies.

There was once a dinosaur day when necking was done (1) in a car, (2) on a porch swing, (3) in the living room whenever you could get the rest of house inhabitants to go to the kitchen for a glass of lemonade.

There's certainly nothing askew about romance, and there certainly ought to be more love of every kind in this overstrifed world.

But when I have guests, and my dopey miniature male puppy get enamoured, in the middle of the living room, with the leg of my much larger female collie, I put them both in the back yard.

And I think that people who persist in necking in public places belong there too.

PSYCHOLOGY

Pamper yourself. That's right, go ahead and be good to yourself. Start with a long, relaxing bubble bath. Wash and condition your hair and give yourself a facial. Relax with a bracing cup of hot tea as you dry your hair. Try to set aside one night a week for your beauty regimen. You may look and feel like a million!

Stallion site is practical choice

The economy in and around Carrizozo could improve drastically if the decision-makers would decide to locate the "Star Wars" site at Stallion. Of the three sites being considered in the White Sands Missile Range, the Stallion site is the only one that would benefit New Mexico 100 percent. The other two sites within WSMR, one at Orogrande and the other northwest of the NASA White Sands Test Facility, would use New Mexico's air and water but the money (paychecks and taxes) would go to El Paso. According to our maps, El Paso is in Texas and money spent there does not benefit New Mexico and the New Mexico tax base.

The Stallion site needs to receive top priority because the location is centrally located. Businesses as far away as Alamogordo, Albuquerque, Roswell and Ruidoso would profit from workers living in the different communities in the area. Needed sales taxes and gross receipt taxes would go into New Mexico coffers. During a time when the state is facing a fiscal crisis due to the energy situation, it would seem that our elected officials would want to support a location that would benefit ALL of New Mexico. As it is, if one of the other sites is chosen, New Mexico will stand to lose billions of dollars in revenues, taxes, etc.

The project is being located at White Sands Missile Range (WSMR) in consideration of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union. The purpose of the project will be to test and evaluate the potential propagation of a ground based free electron laser beam through the atmosphere to desired diagnostic targets without significant reductions in the beams's quality and energy levels. Successful results from these tests would be used to develop laser technologies for potential use in future defense systems. These and other similar experiments are essential to insure defense against enemy missiles and warheads during emergency situations, thereby assuring the nation's security.

The technicalities of the project will be handled by the scientists and those in charge. More important decisions, such as where the project should be located, will be made next month. Comments will be accepted from the public until the deadline on Nov. 18. After that date, all input will be used to revise the draft environmental impact statement (EIS) and a final EIS will be published in December. The Department of Defense will use the final EIS and other inputs when a final decision is made on the project.

Members of the Carrizozo Economic Development Committee are actively working to contact elected officials and ask their support in promoting the Stallion Site. Mayor Bob Hemphill has agreed to write letters and ask for support. The Lincoln County Commissioners will be asked for their support at their meeting on Friday. All interested persons need to contact their elected officials and ask for their support if they are interested in helping bring this boom to the economy to our area. Written comments may also be sent to the US Army Corps of Engineers, Ft. Worth District, Box 17300, Ft. Worth, TX 76102-0300, ATTN: SWFPL-R.

Carrizozo would have much to gain if the Stallion site is chosen. The school system, already ranked as one of the best in the nation, could increase enrollment by 120 students with no fiscal impact to the district, according to school superintendent Dennis Sidebottom. The Carrizozo school received the President's Award for Academic Excellence in 1984, just one of a few to receive the noted award. In addition to good schools, Carrizozo has a low tax base, low utility rates, a lower basic cost of living than other areas, lower housing costs and it is a safe environment for children.

The proposed project would begin in early 1987 and be completed within two to three years. It is estimated that 500 to 2,500 personnel would be required during the low power construction phase and 250 to 500 workers would be employed during the operational phase. The project will be conducted in two phases, a low power phase and a high power phase. Approximately 280 tests would be expected to be conducted in a typical year and 840 tests would be the maximum number that could be conducted.

The battle over the location of the "Star Wars" site will increase in the next 12 days. Darth Vader and Luke Skywalker will not be involved in this "Star Wars" battle, but the economy of the area might depend on whether you and those you know are willing to take the time to contact your elected officials and ask their support in promoting the Stallion site for the "Star Wars" location.

Watch Over

WASHINGTON

Les Kinsolving

NEW HAVEN, CT — The Executive Committee of Yale University, meeting behind closed doors, has rescinded a two-year probation it had imposed on Wayne Dick, a junior who is an economics major.

Mr. Dick had dared to satirize Yale's annual "GLAD" — which means "Gay Lesbian Awareness Days." Dick was aware of this and posted posters all over campus advertising "BAD" — for "Bestiality Awareness Days."

The posters advertised such events as a lecture on "The Beast Within," dealing with Russia's Catherine The Great.

Yale's organized sodomists were enraged by this satire and filed a complaint. They declared that Dick's satire was "harrassment." They also charged that it would not have been tolerated if it had been directed toward black or Jewish students.

This attempt to equate being black or Jewish with sex deviancy — along with Yale's punishment of a student for exercising his First Amendment rights — backfired.

For Yale found itself strongly denounced in all quarters of the media, from Nat Henthoff of the ultra-liberal Wage Voice in Manhattan to conservative columnist Jeffrey Hart, a Professor of English at Dartmouth University in New Hampshire.

The Yale Executive Committee, comprised of 13 faculty and students, gave no reason for this reversal. But the Dean of Yale Law School, Guido Calabresi, who testified on behalf of Dick, said he noted that Dick's protest was protected under an eleven-year-old university regulation governing free speech. So did Yale's new President, Benno Schmidt, former professor of Constitutional law at Columbia University in New York.

Mr. Dick was represented at the hearing by Yale Professor Emeritus of History C. Vann Woodward. Dr. Woodward was chairman of the committee that wrote this regulation governing free speech. He said: "Certainly, I don't agree with his ideas, but they all come under the protection of free speech. Yale is known nationally for proclaiming free speech. I would be embarrassed if we violated it."

But Carrie Costello, a 1986 graduate, was outraged by Yale's decision to uphold Dick's right to free speech — or freedom of the press: "You might think this is a fine point of free speech, but what he did was express a very bigoted opinion with intent to intimidate."

If these allegedly intimidated Yale Sodomists stage their Buggery and Lesbian promotion on the Yale campus again, Dick and like-minded devotees of the great satirist Jonathan Swift should be ready with new posters. For "Gay Lesbian Awareness Day" (or GLAD) at Yale this year could be effectively countered with "NERD" — which means "Necrophilia Educational Revival Days."

This could feature recordings of famed Harvard Professor — and satirist — Tom Lehrer, who was never banned or punished at Harvard, despite his satirical singing about "The Necrophilia who fulfilled a lifetime ambition when he was elected coroner."

There could also be announcements of a physiology symposium on "Corpses Never Complain About Necrophilia — A Victimless Crime."

And Louisiana's exceptionally colorful Governor Edward Edwards could be a featured lecturer on his classic statement last year: "The only way they'll ever get me is if they catch me in bed with a dead girl, or a live boy."

Finally, there could be a rally to protest US Armed Forces "bigotry" in refusing to recruit necrophiliacs for the Graves Registration Command. The following year, if the sodomists persist in promoting their sex deviancy, Dick could organize "The Yale Fellowship of Foot Fetishists."

Yale's Sodomy Lobby has surely manifested marked intolerance of other deviant sexual orientation, as if buggery were any less detestable than bestiality.

But tolerance of free speech is no more the long suit of the Sodomy Lobby than their tolerance of other sexual orientations. Not long ago, the Philadelphia Sodomy Lobby denounced five of us who are on the air as "homophobic" — a word they made up, which really means "fear of mankind."

One of the five was talk show host Mary Mason, who has referred to these people in the vernacular. They filed a complaint about me with the Federal Communications Commission. I was happy to learn that the FCC devoted two pages, single-spaced, to turning down — and effectively demolishing — this argument, as well as their appeal to this turnaround. These, remember, are the militants who demand tolerance of themselves but want to deny it to any of their critics.

Youth exchange program applications due Nov. 18

WASHINGTON — High Schools across New Mexico are currently being invited to participate in the fourth year of the Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange Program which allows American students from all 50 states and the District of Columbia to spend a full academic year in Germany with a host family. Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) announced today.

Under the program, which is funded by the United States Congress and the West German Bundestag and administered by the United States Information Agency, specially selected high school students travel to West Germany under the auspices of Youth For Understanding (YFU) International Exchange, AFS International/Intercultural Programs (EIL). A similar number of German youths come to the United States for a year. In the first three years of the program, nearly 1,600 American and German students received Congress-Bundestag scholarships.

"This program has proven to be an excellent vehicle for several of New Mexico's outstanding students to gain a broader perspective of the world," Bingaman noted in announcing the start of the 1987 program. "The program also benefits high schools as student interest in international relations increases."

All high school principals in New Mexico have been invited through a Congressional letter to choose two students from their school to be considered for the scholarships to be awarded in New Mexico. The postmark deadline for submission of applications is Nov. 18, 1986.

Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—There's one thing we need from those we elected last Tuesday, and we need it very badly. It's a working government.

In this case, the opposite of working government is the kind with which our state has been afflicted for the last four years. It is a posturing government.

We get one of those whenever the people who set the tone—who are, in this case, the leaders of the administrative and legislative branches are more interested in how things look to the citizens than they are in genuine accomplishment.

PROGNOSIS: Will we get that this time, or will we have at the top in those two of the three branches of state government more of the kind of leaders who worry only about how they are being perceived? At this stage, of course, it's too early to be sure of that.

There were times during the campaign which has just come to its climax when it looked like Ray Powell, the Democratic candidate for governor, might be planning to give us what might be called a "studying" government. Coming out of years as a part of the military-industrial complex, he seemed much addicted to having a study made on almost every topic before taking a firm stand on it.

As for the Republican candidate, Garrey Carruthers, it was hard to say. He wasn't willing to share his plans with us while he ran. He clearly preferred to show his hand only after the votes had been counted.

You can be sure, however, that there is not one of us who took the trouble to go to the polls this week who wasn't doing so because he or she felt we might be making a choice that could give us something better than we have had.

SHARING THE BLAME: Governor Toney Anaya is such an easy target that it sometimes seems as though everything even a little bit insulting that's said about state government is aimed at him alone.

That isn't so. Even given the fact that he has not been an answer to every citizen's dreams as our chief executive, there is plenty of blame as well for many of those he named to high office in his administration, and for those who have been running things in our state Legislature as well. In the case of both Senate and House, but especially the Senate, petty egotism and perpetual jealousy have gotten in the way of true accomplishment as much as the Governor's distracted attempt to get himself into the history books.

SIMPLICITIES: What we need at this point in our history is some lowly, downhome virtue. We need people who will put their time and effort into doing the job they were elected to do, instead of making their whole aim in life the creation of a good personal-relations image.

If those we chose this year can learn one simple principle of the public-relations man's art, we will all be better off. It is that the best way to be given credit for having done a good job is quite simply to do it.

They probably won't listen, but if they did, here's what a lot of us would tell them: Buckle down to finding some real and lasting solutions to the multitude of problems New Mexico is facing, and your name will surely go into the history books. Concentrate on being a big shot instead, and history will almost certainly ignore you.

All we are really asking of these people is that they do the jobs they told us they wanted to do when they began begging us to elect them.

Jerry Sanchez is engineering intern

Mr. Jerry R. Sanchez is a GS-05 Electronics Engineer within the Development Branch of the Computer Science Division at Holloman Air Force Base. Jerry maintains the HP-1000 computer operating systems for Test Group. He integrates newly-acquired peripherals into existing systems and acts as a technical advisor for the buildup of new computer systems. He is currently heavily involved with the acceptance testing of 18 new tape drives and controller cards worth one-quarter of a million dollars. He assisted in the development of the acceptance test software which is needed to verify the acceptable operation of the new equipment. As a technical advisor, Jerry works closely with the maintenance personnel to solve hardware and/or software problems that are beyond the capability of the user or maintenance contractor. Jerry assists in the modification, checkout, and documentation of utility software, used within Test Group.

Jerry was born in Ruidoso, NM. He grew up in San Patricio, NM, and graduated from Hondo High School in 1978. He completed his academic education at New Mexico State University where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering Technology, in 1983. He is currently an Engineering Intern and is working toward being certified in the state of New Mexico as a Professional Engineer.

Jerry is single and, when not working, enjoys playing basketball and hunting mule deer (in season). He is looking forward to being an assistant coach to the Little League baseball team.

LISA COFFEY, DAUGHTER of O.B. and Kay Coffey of Tucumcari, and Borde Hale Williams, son of Dub and Kathryn Williams of Ruidoso, plan a Thanksgiving wedding in Tucumcari. Borde is a graduate of Ruidoso High School and ENMU. He is a coach and teaches at Texico. The couple plans to live in Texico after the Nov. 27 wedding.

Hondo Valley News

By PAM McARTHUR

Mr. Chris Clements and Miss Tammy Parker were united in holy matrimony Sunday, Oct. 26. The outdoor ceremony took place on the picturesque Big Bend Ranch at Presidio, TX, where Mr. Clements was working. With the entire wedding party on horseback, including the minister, friends and family witnessed the couple make their vows of lifelong, loving commitment to one another. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clements, Picacho, were accompanied to the wedding by Chris' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Teague, Roswell.

Upon counseling young friends of his about to be married, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, the German theologian, remarked, "Your love will not sustain your marriage; rather your marriage will sustain your love."

Crystal Proctor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Proctor, Tinnie, celebrated her 4th birthday on Oct. 31. Crystal was a real Halloween treat for her mama and daddy.

Kim Herrera Castro is offering dance lessons in ballet, tap, and jazz for ages 4 to adult, every Saturday afternoon from 2-5 in the Hondo School Cafeteria. Cost is $20 per student, and students may take all classes for that one fee. Anyone wishing to enroll may go to the school on Saturdays or call Kathy Herrera at 653-4411.

Kim Castro is a professional dance instructor in Roswell and a member of a performing company. Her training includes 14 years with the Minnie Wright Studio, two years with the Dallas Ballet and a year with Ballet West. She also studied with prominent dance instructors, Maria Talchicof and George Skibini. Auditioning for the San Francisco Ballet in 1981, Kim ranked top 10 among 100 students. Her parents were born and raised in the Hondo Valley. She's pleased to present this opportunity. If there is interest shown by the community, she will start a Jazzercise class for adults.

The Country Store, San Patricio, is now open for business. At the former Alta's Gift Shop location on Highway 70, the store opens at 7 a.m. daily and offers groceries and other convenience shopping items.

Will Griggs and Kerry Clements, Picacho, played in the Capitan high school football game, Saturday, Nov. 1. Their efforts were part of the talent that made the Tigers District 1A Champs. Way to go, guys! Now let's take State.

Lincoln Town

Ramblings

By Rosalie Dunlap

It has been raining hard here in Lincoln Sunday night and Monday. There is water everywhere. And it is a mixed blessing—with the cotton farmer and ranchers wishing it would have come a little later.

Ben Hall, state representative of Ruidoso; Gary Miller of the Lincoln Heritage Trust, Jack Rigney, Monument manager of Lincoln State Monument and Betty Shrecengost, president of Lincoln Historic Review Board, attended the National Preservation Conference held in Kansas City recently. They all attended various seminars and tours. We are expecting to hear more from them in the future.

Our deputy sheriff, Barry Hale, spent a few days in the Ruidoso hospital last week. Take care of yourself, Barry.

Several from the Lincoln area attended the Sierra Blanca airport ground breaking and luncheon last week. What a beautiful view there is from the site! It was a beautiful fall day, with a fairly strong breeze, and friends and neighbors all had a good time visiting.

Rosina Lockes sister, Bessie Pendergost, Tulsa, OK, is visiting her for a few days.

Sharon Daughtery also visited her daughter, Leslie Osborn of Guyman, OK, and mother, Inez Gunn at Logan, NM.

Snooks McDaniels of Carrizozo stopped by last week. He was getting all the voting machines of Lincoln County in working order for the election Nov. 4.

Inez Marrs, Phyllis Zumwalt, Jan LaRue, and Debbie Bird met at the home of Rosalie Dunlap last Tuesday. They were working on the program for the Lincoln County Council which will meet in Lincoln November 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Zamora Sr. visited in Roswell for a few days last week.

Jon Amastae, El Paso, Julia Reidy, Margaret Reidy and son Joy of Albuquerque, and Ruth Penfield of Roswell have been recent visitors of the Ralph Dunlaps.

I hope everyone is sending their protest participation form on the water rights into the state engineers.

Remember they have to be in by Nov. 17 and you must attend the meeting in Roswell Nov. 24. Watch your newspaper for further information or contact your representatives in each area. The Bonita River area representative is Fred Pfingsten.

I hope everyone voted Nov. 4 in spite of the weather. Every vote counts. As Ben Hall of Ruidoso can attest too. Congratulations to all the winners.

PSYCHOLOGY

Holiday entertaining can be jollier than you may think. You don't have to worry about providing soft drinks for youngsters and non-drinkers, stronger stuff for others if you turn to tea. Tea can be an excellent base for punch because it combines so well with fruit juices and other flavorings. It can make for some fascinating combinations and is easy to prepare whatever the quantity you need. That way you can sip away with family and friends while you relax and enjoy the holiday spirit: tea.

Tigers capture district title

The Capitan Tigers won the District 1A championship Saturday with an impressive 35-0 win over the Grizzlies of Carrizozo.

Capitan, Cloudcroft and Reserve all finished the season with identical (2-1) records—point spreads over the season gave Capitan the championship with Cloudcroft finishing second.

This sets up a match between the Tigers and Tatum in opening play-off action this Friday night (at Coyote Stadium in Tatum—kickoff at 7:30 pm.)—since the last time the two schools played in post-season activity was in Capitan in the mid-50s.

Capitan jumped out to an early lead when Jay Eldridge returned a Grizzly punt for a 73 yard TD with 4:59 left in the opening period. Another potential six-pointer for the Tigers was nullified on a holding penalty (on a pass from Padilla to Griggs).

Eldridge added another six-pointer at 4:09 at the second period on a one-yard plunge to make it 12-0 Tigers—and four plays later added a two-point safety when Escamilla of Carrizozo was downed in the end zone by the Tiger defense.

First half scoring was concluded when Eldridge again went in for a score—this time from 13-yards out behind a great block from full-back Doug Eckland. The Eldridge 'show' continued when he ran in the 2-point PAT for a 22-0 Tiger lead at halftime.

The second half began in the same fashion as Eldridge broke loose on a long 62-yard run for his fourth TD of the afternoon—28-0 Capitan with only 1:04 gone in the third period.

Capitan closed out the scoring when line-backer Mike Lunn intercepted an errant Grizzly pass and returned it for score at the 8:38 mark in third-period. Lunn also added the PAT kick for the final 35-0 score.

Another return of an intercepted pass for an apparent TD by Capitan's Martin was nullified on a penalty.

Both teams traded interceptions in final stanza and played to a scoreless period. Smith and Gallegos had interceptions for the Tigers, while Tommy Escamilla and Dennis Vega each had one for the Grizzlies.

Tigerettes win 5A

The Capitan Tigerette volleyball team is the District 5A champion. Capitan won the championship Saturday at the district tournament in Cloudcroft.

The Tigerettes defeated Hagerman in three games to advance to the championship game with Cloudcroft. The Lady Bears took the first two games from Capitan but the Tigerettes came storming back to win the next 3 games and the championship.

Coach Bill MacVeigh stated: "The kids showed a lot of character to come back from 2 games down and win 3 in a row." The Tigerettes placed Colynn Washburn, Brenda Griego, and Marnie McDaniel on the All District Team. Coach MacVeigh also praised Kateri Sanchez, Chantille Points, and Stacey Cox for their fine play at the tournament.

The Region D Tournament will be played in Capitan this Saturday, Nov. 8. All action is in the new gym. Cloudcroft meets District 3A champ Ft. Sumner at 1 p.m. This game will be followed by Capitan vs Vaughn at 3 p.m. The championship game is at 7 p.m. There will be no 3rd place game. Capitan will automatically be in the state tournament if they win the first game against Vaughn.

Capitan C of C

Chamber of Commerce notes from the Nov. 3 meeting: Entry forms for the Christmas lighting contest may be picked up at B&L Pizza, Smokey Bear Restaurant, or C-C Natural Gas. The judging will be Dec. 28 beginning at 7 p.m. The judges will be announced later.

The Chamber still has a number of Smokey Bear Medallions for sale. These make handsome Christmas gifts.

Mayor Benny Coker appeared before the chamber and pointed out the many fine points of the Village of Capitan and the Capitan area. Coker announced a new business moving to the area.

Thursday night bingo continues to be popular at the fair building in Capitan. Kay Strickland is the new bingo manager. Norman Renfro is the new assistant manager.

This area received from two to five inches of good steady rain Saturday and Sunday. It varied in different parts of our village. Last night, Sunday, after sundown, we did get two inches of snow by 9 p.m. Monday, it continued to rain. This is the type of rains we received in 1930 through 1932. Then, the water was close to the surface. Wells were strong in 1933, the weather started to change.

Smokey Bear Museum had 3,084 registered visitors in the month of October.

The New Mexico Smokey Bear State Park will have new winter hours beginning Nov. 10. They will open at 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. daily.

Mayor Coker has just returned from Nashville, TN, where he attended the National Rural Water Users Annual Conference. Mayor Coker is the President of the New Mexico Rural Water Users Association. At the Nashville meeting, water issues from all over the nation are brought forth and discussed.

Congratulations Tigers! 35-0 against Carrizozo and a District Championship in volleyball. Way to go!!

The school carnival last Friday night at the school was a huge success. I really believe all of the school age children and their parents attended.

Our postmaster and the clerks, Maxine Wright, Sonna Keller and Bonnie Rogers attended the Lincoln County Postmasters meeting in San Patricio last Sunday. They reported a very nice meeting.

A very nice electric sign welcomes everyone to "Glen-neth's Kitchen."

Dr. Byron Taylor of Longview, TX, bagged a big pretty brown colored bear on Friday while hunting with Runnels Outfitters. The 'ole bear got in a rough canyon and it took several hours for Byron to walk to the tree. He flew back home a proud and happy fellow.

A bridal shower was given at the foyer of the multipurpose building at school last Sunday honoring Rodney Dean and Charis Lane. They are planning their marriage for Nov. 22.

Guests in Betty Hobbs home last weekend were her daughter, Wynell, husband Ronnie and son Lee Kenemore from Maljamar, NM - also her daughter Velma Cadell and friend Stanley Hair, and Mrs. Lorrrie Hair and two children all from El Paso.

Betty Hobbs was in Alamogordo and Tularosa this weekend visiting her brother Leroy Sidwell and wife Mickie.

Alton and Pauline Whittaker attended the ground breaking of the Sierra Blanca Airport last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Sr., Capitan, also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hobbs went to Abernathy and Hale Center, TX, Thursday and returned Friday. They reported it was beautiful there with the roses still blooming.

Alexandra Margareth was born Oct. 12, 1986 to Maria Garcia and Marc Thompson at Calgary, Ontario. She weighed 6 lbs. 13 1/2 ozs. Her sister Marisa is delighted.

Keith Cox, son of Joyce and Kenny Cox, is recuperating from pneumonia with which he was ill for two weeks. He expects to be back in school soon. I wish you a good recovery, Keith.

4-H County Council

The Lincoln County 4-H Council met Saturday, Oct. 26 in Corona. The main item of discussion at the meeting was the election of new council officers. A total of 10 applications were read by Tammy Sulmeyer, outgoing council secretary, but of these 10 applicants, only six went on to become Lincoln County 4-H officers.

The new council officers, and the club they represent are as follows:

- Sandra Copeland, president, Corona 4-H.
  - Warren Russell, vice president, Capitan 4-H.
  - Kelly Rogers, secretary, Capitan 4-H.
  - Lisa Hightower, treasurer, Carrizozo 4-H.
  - Leah Patterson, reporter, Carrizozo 4-H.
  - Jamie Patterson, parliamentarian, Carrizozo 4-H.
- Another important item of council business discussed at the annual October meeting was the annual Lincoln County 4-H Awards Banquet. This year the banquet will be held at the Corona High School Auditorium on Dec. 7. The ceremonies, which will include officer installation, presentation of awards, and a slide show given by the outgoing council officers, will begin at 3 p.m. with the banquet immediately following.

CAPITAN GOBLINS—These spooks-from parts unknown-dropped in at the Capitán Halloween-Carnival.

HUH? THIS SMALL Halloween witch was surprised by other ghostly characters at the Carrizozo school Halloween carnival held Oct. 31. The young lady is Jennifer Culley, daughter of Cindy Culley and granddaughter of W.J. and Shirley Culley, all of Carrizozo.

CULPRITS NABBED and forced to serve their time in jail at the Carrizozo School Carnival were these suspicious looking characters. The 'Kangaroo Court' was a popular feature of the carnival.

WAILING WOMAN.
The PFK Halloween carnival had in attendance many monsters, vampires and a ghost here and there. La Llorona was no where in sight, at least not inside the gym where the carnival was held.
If you think you hear La Llorona late on a winter's night, go and check for her footprints in the snow. According to reliable reports, you also are likely to find marks left by her dragging chains. Those claiming to have seen her say that she sobs uncontrollably and rattles chains which she carries as a symbol of her crime.

Writer Marc Simmons in his article, "La Llorona Mourns Universally" that hundreds of people claim to have seen or heard of the wailing woman and each village and town appears to have a different legend about her misadventures. She is not confined to small, out-of-the-way places either. Simmons says that sober-minded adults, both Hispanic and Anglo, have told him of personal encounters with La Llorona late at night on the streets of Santa Fe.
Practically all versions of the legend hold that La Llorona represents the soul of a woman who killed her child, either through neglect or some violent act of murder. After the terrible deed, the mother suffered acute remorse and set out to wander the streets at night, calling for her lost child.
Simmons says that La Llorona appears in many shapes and forms. Some descriptions have her dressed in black with long hair and finger-nails and a skeleton's face. (A poster that represented the wailing woman mysteriously disappeared from the PFK Halloween carnival. Three Carrizozo art students completed the art work in time to hang at the carnival. One student created a boney hand. Another student colored her robe brown. A third student gave the lady yellow eyes.)

La Llorona is reported to walk the street after midnight, her cries sounding like the moan of steam whistle—shrill and mournful.
Occasionally she knocks on doors, calling to the people inside and asking if anyone has seen her child. If you should receive one of these night visits, it is recommended that you not open the door.

LOVELY TEDDY
People of all ages find comfort with a Teddy Bear at their side. Many do not know the origins of the "Teddy Bear."
On November 18, 1902 Morris Michtom and his wife saw a cartoon in the Washington Evening Star. It showed President Theodore Roosevelt sparing the life of a female bear with cubs while on a hunting trip. Teddy's kindness inspired the Michtoms, toy makers, to name their new brown bear toy the "Teddy Bear" which they introduced successfully on the market.

FAIRY TALES
"Witches poisoning princesses, giants falling off beanstalks, wolves terrorizing pigs . . . and you complain about violence on TV!" Junior tells his mother as she finishes reading him his bedtime stories.

FOOD HISTORY
Are you older or younger than a Hostess Twinkie? Hostess Twinkies debut in 1930 comforts the nation during the depths of the Great Depression.

One hundred years of food history includes:
1890 - Dr. Thomas Bremwell Welch introduces Dr. Welch's Unfermented Wine for use in church services. Rechristened Welch's Grape Juice, it is introduced nationwide at the 1893 World's Fair.
1895 - Milton S. Hershey invents the Hershey bar.
1904 - Hot dogs are introduced at the St. Louis World's Fair. George J. French introduces prepared mustard the same year.
1919 - Food chemist Joseph Cohen develops gelatin from a substance contained in bone, cartilage, and tendons.
1929 - Grocery stores begin marketing prepared baby foods.
1933 - Canned beer is introduced in New Jersey.
Mid-1940s - Swanson frozen dinners are introduced. The first offering is a November favorite - turkey.
1948 - The first McDonald's hamburgers are sold by brothers Maurice and Richard McDonald at their drive-in restaurant in San Bernardino, CA.
1956 - Colonel Harland Sanders franchises his method of frying chicken under pressure in vegetable shortening with a blend of eleven herbs and spices.
1969 - Yogurt makers for the home are introduced.
1974 - A Gallup Poll reveals that Americans favorite food is pizza.
1980 - A US government survey finds French fried potatoes are the nations most-consumed vegetable.
Opps! Back to the 1930s - Miles Laboratories introduces Alka-Seltzer, soon to become a traditional digestive aid.

User Fee Required In Lincoln Forest in '87

A $5.25 user fee will be required of hunters, fishermen and trappers using public lands in south-central New Mexico starting April 1, 1987. The State Game Commission took the action, permitted under the federal Sikes Act, at its Oct. 24 meeting.
Proceeds from this special fee are estimated to be $200,000 a year and must be used for habitat improvement in the area, under federal law. A similar special-use fee has been required in the Valle Vidal region of the Carson National Forest for the last year; several projects to improve habitat there have begun. New Mexico is the first western state to utilize this source of habitat improvement funding.

The fee is required on regional lands managed by the US Forest Service and the US Bureau of Land Management, and on state school trust lands. The validation will be available from license vendors and from Department of Game and Fish offices. The law does not provide for a similar fee from other recreational users, such as hikers and bird-watchers.
Covered under the new requirement are state game units 29, 30, 34, 36 and 37. This includes the Lincoln National Forest lands in the Guadalupe, Capitan, Jicarilla and Sacramento mountains and other BLM and state lands in the same units.
The fee will be charged only once per person during each license year.

Roads are closed in area

Several roads are closed as a result of up to four inches of rain which fell on parts of the forest over the weekend. Additional roads may be closed to prevent damage to the roadbed and soil erosion.
The four roads closed to date include the Tucson Mountain Road, FR 82; the North Base Road, FR 616, on the north side of the Capitan Mountains; the Zinker Canyon Road, FR 5680; Atkinson Meadow Road, west from the Sunspot Highway.
The roads will be reopened when conditions allow. The public is asked to exercise extreme caution when traveling any forest roads, and to check with officials before traveling on the forest.

Three Rivers Campground is open, Cedar Creek is open for day use only. Side roads and trails are muddy due to recent rains. Hunting season starts this weekend, Nov. 8-9, 12-16, and 19-25. Hunters are asked to notify family or friends of their destination or location. Hunters are warned that there are no mechanized or motorized vehicles allowed in the wilderness areas, travel is limited to hiking and horseback trails. Christmas tree applications are available at the Smokey Bear District Range office and the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce. There will be two cutting areas this year; one near Ancho, and the other near Glencoe. Temperatures range from nighttime lows in the low-30s to daytime highs in the low-40s. All fuelwood areas except Ancho, will close on November 30. At the present time, fuelwood area roads are inaccessible due to recent rains. Please check with the Ranger Station for any road closures. Information number for this District is 257-4085.

Fishing Changes to Take Effect in '87

Changes in the state's fishing regulations will begin April 1, 1987, and will be in effect through March 31, 1989. The State Game Commission voted Oct. 24 to change the statewide trout limit to eight trout or salmon a day, with 16 in possession. Commissioners changed catch-and-release trout waters and split bass limits on Elephant Butte and Caballo Lakes, and established a minimum size on black bass at Ute Lake. They also decided to open Santa Cruz Lake to fishing all year, but to prohibit ice fishing there.
License fees remain the same: Residents pay $8.50 for warm-water fishing per year, or $14 with the trout validation. Children under 12 fish for free.
A summary of regulations for 1987-89 follows. Anglers should consult the official fishing proclamation, available from license vendors and offices of the Department of Game and Fish in early 1987 for details.

The Lincoln County Leader, Devoted to the Best Interests of Lincoln County and the Development of Its Resources, published in White Oaks, Lincoln County, Saturday, June 6, 1890. Wm. Caffrey, Editor & Proprietor.

Last Sunday, too late for church but just in time for meeting, a Scotch lassie, without even a kilt on, arrived at the Carrizo Hotel. Mrs. Gallagher was captivated at it's appearance and pronounced it a bonnie lass, and having much a duds' onhand the little one soon looked better albeit the purple hue on it's countenance, caused of course by being chilled before being dressed, has scarcely worn off yet. We hope the bairn may long live and become as good a cook as it's mother and grandmother.

Saturday, June 14, 1890 Statehood

It is now apparent that New Mexico will become a State of the American Union, July 4, 1891.

Fort Stanton Mail Route On Oct. 15, 1880, service seven times a week and return was established on star route No. 67, 152, from Socorro to Fort Stanton, in Lincoln county, via White Oaks. The western terminus of the route was subsequently changed to Carthage, and recently to San Antonio, on the main line of the Atcheson Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

This daily mail route has for ten years supplied several of the chief towns of Lincoln county with admirable mail facilities; at present the route supplies White Oaks, one of principal towns of that county, with a population of 900, and with outlying population of several hundred miners, ranchmen, cattle and owners, who trade at White Oaks and obtain their mail there.

Eighteen miles south of White Oaks is the town of Nogal, with a population of about 300, and an outside population of several hundred, and thirteen miles further it ends at Fort Stanton, one of the most important military posts in the southwest. At the latter office several hundred people receive their mail. Stanton is also the distributing office for a large area of country, containing at least 2,000 people. The people are well served and are satisfied with the location of the route.

Local Roundups For the best 5 cent cigar in White Oaks go to the post office.

Reber, who used to run a soda water pop factory here, is now superintendent of a big concern of like character in Pueblo, Col.

We learn that Jas. A. Alcock has retired from the management of the Carrizozo ranch and that W. C. McDonald will temporarily fill the vacancy.

ICE CREAM. The ladies of the M.E. Church will give a Social at Bonnell's Hall, this Friday evening the 13th inst. All are cordially invited to attend. Ice cream and cake 35 cent per couple.

Gov. Chase writes from his Vermont home that his wife's condition is not improving. She cannot feed herself and has no control of her inner organism. Every one here who knew the lady will grieve on hearing this.

Jas. Kibbee, editor of the Lincoln Independent and Boniface of the Stanton Hotel at the shiretown, paid White Oaks a flying visit this week. He is a genial little cuss whom it is a pleasure to swap lies with.

Wm. Gallagher and Jno. Gaylord are prospecting near Jose Vegas place with promising chances at a depth of 54 feet. It shows silver and gold in paying quantities.

The White Oaks R.R. With reference to the El Paso-White Oaks road the New Mexican has some private information only part of which can now be made public, and which would seem to indicate that a brighter day for this enterprise is now not far off. As for White Oaks and it's people they have now done their full share and more toward straightening out the complications long surrounding this undertaking and it rests solely with the people of El Paso to do the balance. If they want to bring the coal fields of White Oaks and the mines thereabout within El Paso's reach they know how, or at least many of the leading citizens there do. They must make the next move.

Local Roundups On the 18th inst., there arrived in this town a daughter to Mrs. Gus. Sieber. We bid the young lady welcome and congratulate the parents.

$25 REWARD For information that will convict party meddling with W.O.M.&M. Co.'s pipe lines or springs. E. W. Parker.

The South Homestake Mill started up this week on another run, with good ore as the prophesy of a golden harvest. We like this kind of music and the owners are deserving the results.

Johnson, the Irish Jew, of Lincoln, was in town on Tuesday, his first visit in four years. He expressed surprise at the growth of our town since his last visit.

Misses Jamie and Morris Parker, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Parker of this place, returned to their home last Sunday, after an absence of several months attending school at Colorado Springs, Col. These young men are most favorably known by their residence with us for several years, and their manly bearing and gentlemanly deportment have won them many friends. We congratulate the family and community on this accession to White Oaks domestic and social life, and extend to the young gentlemen a hearty welcome.

Local Roundups E.R. Cline was last week the recipient of a nice present which no one but his wife would or could have given him—a bouncing boy, the image of his pap. Cline did nothing all day but kiss the mother and little one, and congratulate himself. In the latter exercise we desire to take a hand.

News Note

Marine Pfc. Gary R. Fannon, son of Pamela K. and Lloyd H. Fannon Jr. of Ruidoso, recently deployed to the Northern Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier USS Constellation homeported in San Diego.

During the two-month cruise, Fannon will make port visits to Vancouver, British Columbia, Anchorage, Alaska; and Seattle.

A 1985 graduate of Ruidoso High School, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1985.

BREAD BAKING BASICS... AN UPDATE

The Integral Ingredients
Many of the best cooks have never attempted homemade bread. Misconceptions about yeast baking prevent them from taking this rewarding culinary plunge.
Contrary to the belief that yeast baking is tricky, unpredictable, and requires the experience of a seasoned baker, bread doughs consistently withstand the abuse of novice hands.
Below is a primer on the basic ingredients of breads and the role they play in yeast baking.
• Fleischmann's Yeast (compressed, regular active dry or RapidRise): Yeast makes dough rise and imparts a light texture and a fine crumb. Compressed and regular active dry yeasts can be used interchangeably. One package of dry yeast equals one scant tablespoon (2 1/2 tsp.) from the jar, or one 0.6-ounce cake.
• Flour: Wheat flour is used in bread baking because it contains a protein that forms a structure called gluten. Gluten traps the gas bubbles and makes the dough rise. Whole wheat and rye flours have less gluten than all-purpose white, and are best used in combination with white flour.
• Liquids: Milk and water are the most common liquids in yeast doughs. When dissolving yeast directly in warm water, the temperature should be 105-115°F. When dry yeast is mixed with other dry ingredients, liquids can be 120-130°F.
• Sugar: Yeast feeds on sugar, producing the gas that causes the dough to rise. White or brown sugar, molasses, corn syrup or honey can be used.
• Salt: Salt controls the action of the yeast, tempering the rising time, and develops the flavor of the baked bread.
• Fat: Butter and other fats help tenderize the dough, for a soft crumb.
• Eggs: May be added for extra nutrition and a richer firmer loaf.
• Other Ingredients: Herbs, spices, nuts and fruits add variety to a whole spectrum of breads. They do slow rising time, so use sparingly.
• Utensils: You probably have everything you need already, except for maybe a thermometer which can be used for other cooking as well. Be sure to distinguish a liquid measuring cup from the dry variety.
