Fort Stanton Workers Vote on Three Issues

FORT STANTON—Employees at the Hospital and Training School were voting this week to determine their collective bargaining position before state authorities who oversee New Mexico's mental patient care facilities.
The 119 Fort Stanton workers eligible to vote joined more than 600 employees at the Las Vegas Medical Center in pushing for the election that was officially sanctioned by the State Personnel Office early this month.
Among the ballot options was to drop a Washington, DC-based international union and a choice to join an independent New Mexico bargaining association.

At issue was the discontent expressed both by Fort Stanton and Las Vegas workers with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (UBC), the union that has represented New Mexico state hospital workers for over a decade.
Heading requests by workers at both state hospitals, the State Personnel Office called the election with three options on the ballot:
1) —Representation by the New Mexico Health Care Workers Association, an independent organization recently formed by state hospital employees to represent their fellow workers.

2) —Retention of the UBC to continue to represent state hospital employees.
3) —A "no representation" option if the workers desire no collective bargaining representation whatsoever.
Employees at Fort Stanton were voting this week by secret mail ballots due in Santa Fe by Nov. 24 while Las Vegas workers will vote in a regular ballot box election Nov. 23 and 24.
Results will be announced by election judge Kennis Ray Berard of the State Personnel Office in Santa Fe Nov. 25.

N. M. Farm Bureau Enters Battle for Lincoln County Water Rights

The board of directors of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau has voted to enter a water case involving the Rio Ruidoso and the Rio Hondo in Lincoln County.
During its quarterly board meeting in Albuquerque, the board agreed to assist the Ruidoso/Hondo Water Defense Fund in efforts to fend off an attempt by the Mescalero Apache Tribe to obtain additional water from the river systems.

The Tribe is seeking an additional 14,000 acre feet of water in advance of adjudication of water rights in the area based on a lengthy case titled Lewis vs US.
Ranchers, farmers and other groups in the area contempt such an allotment would seriously impair future agricultural production and economic-growth.

In passing the motion the board indicated that it had no intention of interfering with historic use of water by the Mescaleros but was concerned with the level of the current request which estimates put at 91 percent of the average flow of the Rio Ruidoso.

In voting to join the action the board agreed to participate financially and to provide staff and technical assistance to the water users in the Ruidoso area.
A hearing will be held Nov. 24 in Roswell to examine the various issues in the case.

C'zozo Community Profile Has Current Information

The Carrizozo community profile was brought up to date when Carol Selleck, research program officer with the economic development and tourism department of the state of New Mexico, was in Carrizozo to get the current information. She arrived at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport on Monday from Santa Fe.
Hal Sims, chairman of the Carrizozo economic development committee, Woody Schlegel and Ruth Hammond met with Selleck to help provide the needed information for the update.
Selleck said that 2,500 copies of the profile will be published to be used to send in response to queries about New Mexico. Copies of the profile will also be available for the Carrizozo economic development committee to use to send with letters about the community.

The profile will include a narrative about Carrizozo giving information about the town, industrial park, growth potential, climate and surrounding area.
Facts to be included in the profile: environment, population, labor force, government, taxes, financial institutions, housing, medical, education, communications, utilities, community facilities, public recreational facilities, state and national parks, community events, industrial park, economic base, transportation and shipping and a list of ad-resses and phone number for additional information.

Selleck said the profiles should be ready in January.

Capitan School Board Election Scheduled

By BART McDONOUGH
A nice crowd was on hand as President James McDaniel gavelled the November meeting of the Capitan Board of Education to order on Nov. 18.
The board adopted a formal resolution calling for the transfer of certain property between the Capitan Schools and the US Forestry Service.
It appears that the senior class will not go to Mazatlan, Mexico as originally planned. A committee will report back to the Board at its December meeting.
Coach Blane Miller reported that he will be going back to college to take the subjects needed for his certification.
The Board of Education adopted a resolution calling for a regular school district election on the 3rd day of February, 1987 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Two positions will be filled at-large, each for a four year term. Voter registration books maintained by the County Clerk will be closed at 5 p.m. on Dec. 23, 1986. Declarations of Candidacy should be filed on Dec. 16 (one day only) at the office of the County Clerk in Carrizozo between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Mr. Joe Salazar, Chairman of the Board of the Sacred Heart Church Council, appeared before the Board to make a complaint against an unnamed Capitan teacher. After meeting in executive session Mr. Salazar was informed that the Board wants signed statements. What allegedly has happened needs to have happened during current school year in the classroom. It can not be second hand knowledge.
President McDaniel informed those present that the Board of Education has the duty to represent everyone in the district.

Architect Jim French reported on the situation in the building where the 3rd grade is located. The Board will have to come up with something like $40,000 if the situation is to be corrected.
It was decided that any make up days because of bad weather will be made up on days beginning May 25.
A general discussion took place regarding discipline on school busses. Roger Garner and other bus drivers were

James Sanchez Appointed to State Board of Education

Governor Toney Anaya has appointed educator J. James Sanchez of Lincoln to the State Board of Education, District 8, (Chavez, Lincoln, Eddy, DeBaca and Torrance Counties). He will be replacing James Shuler of Carlsbad.

Sanchez is not only a 20 year veteran of the education field having worked as a teacher, counselor and vocational education director, but has served in other public service capacities such as the Board of Trustees of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital and the Home Health Care Board of Lincoln County. Currently a college advisor at New Mexico Military Institute, Sanchez ranches in Lincoln County and resides in historic Lincoln town. His wife, Lynda, is also involved in education. She teaches Spanish and history and is a writer.
"Public Service has always been a major part of my life," claims Sanchez. "I am honored by the many people throughout the state as well as District 8 who have supported my appointment."
Sanchez believes that because education is a major portion of our state budget we need to be concerned and continue our quest to attract and keep qualified teachers. We talk about lawyers, doctors, engineers and scientists being very important to our society, however we often forget that significant element, the person who instructs these individuals to become that doctor, lawyer or engineer—our teachers! Without excellence in our schools we can not have excellence in our society and mediocrity will prevail. We should provide challenging programs for our young people with well-balanced curriculum that encompass academic and vocational offerings. We need to establish priorities, streamline curriculum and eliminate waste!

As a member of the State Board of Education Sanchez hopes to work on these and other aspects of educational reform, as well as creating a positive working relationship with the State Legislature and the Governor.

Christmas Decorations Will Adorn C'zozo Soon

Scott Shafer, chairman of the Carrizozo Christmas decoration committee announced at the Nov. 12 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting that the Christmas decorations have been delivered. They will be put up after Thanksgiving to give the town a holiday look.
Shafer said the business people in Carrizozo have given an excellent response and have donated more than $1,700 for the decorations. He said more donations are expected. Total cost of the six large fixtures and two streamers was $2,700.
The decorations come with a five-year guarantee and are supposed to withstand 75-mile-per-hour winds. The 4-foot by 8-foot decorations are lighted and will be placed on telephone poles with night lights. One streamer will be placed at each end of town. Otero County Electric Co-op has agreed to install the decorations for the town after Thanksgiving.
Shafer said the company has guaranteed the same prices for another six months in case the town wants to buy more decorations. He said there are only poles enough for a few more decorations until more poles would be installed.
The Christmas decorations will be a welcome addition to the town and should last for several years if they are not vandalized.

'Make An Effort' to be in American Sale Futurity

SUNLAND PARK, NM—Jacqueline Spencer's Make An Effort should be the one to beat as Sunland Park Racetrack presents the $117,500 All American Sale Futurity as the highlight on Nov. 23 program. Make An Effort will face off against nine other talented foes over the local 400-yard course for the winner's share of almost $60,000.

Post time for Sunday's card is the regular 12:30 p.m. with the track's gates opening at 11 a.m.

Although Make An Effort has earned over $90,000 this season, the gelding has yet to win a major race. The Sale Futurity should be a legitimate chance to solve that problem. From nine starts this season, Make An Effort has won four times, finished second once, and third twice— including the Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Once Is Not Enough!

PRESIDENT REAGAN has told the American people that his secret arms shipments to Iran were to improve relations, not to ransom US hostages. He also said the shipments could fit into a small cargo plane and that amount of arms would not affect the outcome of the Iran-Iraq war. He also told one reporter in response to a question as to whether he had stopped arms shipments to Iran, "I told you the truth once."

Now, starting with the last question first, when was the once that the president told the American public the truth? It is difficult to know if it was when he said the shipments were not sent to ransom prisoners, or if it was when he said the shipments could fit into a small cargo plane or when he said that the amount of arms sent would not affect the outcome of the Iran-Iraq war or if it was when he said, "I told you the truth once."

As to the amount of arms fitting in a small cargo plane not being enough to affect the outcome of a war: Seems it would be foolish for anyone who survived World War II to say that anything carried in the belly of a plane could not affect the outcome of the war. It would be especially foolish for anyone living in New Mexico to say that. The residents of the Carrizozo area were a mere 35 miles or so from the first explosion of the atomic bomb in July 1945. And in case you didn't know, the nuclear bomb of the Little Boy type that was detonated over Hiroshima, Japan, on Aug. 6, 1945 was 10 feet long, 28 inches wide, weighed 9,000 pounds, and had a yield equal to 20,000 tons of TNT. The nuclear bomb of the Fat Man type which was detonated over Nagasaki, Japan, on Aug. 9, 1945 was 128 inches long by 60 inches wide, weighed 10,000 pounds and had a yield equal to 20,000 tons of TNT. It would not only be foolish but it would be asinine to say that either of these two small amounts of arms, which could be and were carried in a plane, had no effect on the outcome of the war.

Ransoming hostages is another matter. While we won't try to disprove his statements, we will say that the evidence is very damaging. There has been speculation for some time that the hostages were not being released just to prove that terrorists are good guys. Stories of the Tooth Fairy, the Easter Bunny and Santa Claus are all plausible but the "terrorist-turned-altruistic" who will decide that it is time to alone and make amends by releasing American hostages for their own good is just not realistic.

Terrorists do not tuck their tail between their legs and run for the high country any more than they pass out candy to the little children. Terrorism is the use of terror and intimidation to gain one's political objectives. Terrorism is oppression, tyranny, anarchy, revolution, bolshevism, nihilism, violence, destruction, sabotage, intimidation, agitation and fear. It is everything the United States government should be against. And we really thought our government was against terrorism until this spate of news slaps us in the face that the president had been conducting relations with Iran for 18 months and had sent "small amounts" of weapons to Iran to improve relations. All this was done in secret and supposedly for our own good. All this done even though there was an embargo against shipping arms to Iran.

As the saying goes, "What a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive..." It seems that Reagan has accomplished the weaving of a very intricate, insolent, injudicious, insipid and inadvisable web and then he has the audacious, asinine, assumption that we will believe him when he says, "But it was not a trade." It is reasonable to assume that our nation will meet with and negotiate with any faction in an effort to promote peace through the world. It is also reasonable to assume that all dealings, even though they are conducted in private, will not jeopardize our beliefs and standings with our own conscience as well as with other nations trying to follow our lead.

Terrorism is not and will never be a 'Role Model' to follow. It is inconceivable that anyone could enjoy terrorism. A terrorist's life is one of hatred, hostility, animosity, bitterness, malice, revulsion, and with it comes the urge to revolt against anything and everything. Terrorists should not be liked, they should not be tolerated in a free country, they should not be condoned and their actions should not be condoned at any time by any person. We believe that agreeing to their demands and submissively letting the terrorists set the rules by which we should live is a form of condoning terrorist actions.

Does this new policy by our government mean that we should change our life styles and set a future precedent for hostage trade-offs? Will it include allowing a teacher to be held hostage in exchange for good grades, or holding a law officer hostage in exchange for protection while committing a crime, or holding the newspaper editor hostage until he prints what you want to read, or holding the governor hostage in exchange for a pardon for a prisoner?

Perhaps Reagan's name should be changed to Robespierre, the incorruptible, whose name has become, through legend, synonymous with the Reign of Terror: a period in the French Revolution. In September 1793 the French National Convention decreed terror as the policy of the government. The Terror to them was but a thorough, though possibly radical, means for establishing peace within the country.

Reagan's policy is definitely radical. Whether it will establish peace within the country remains to be seen. Seems like the first thing Reagan needs to do is try and make peace in his own cabinet and then try and convince the public that terrorism is not as bad as it is made out to be. Don't know about you but it will take several lifetimes to convince us. We feel that any person who is not against terrorism not only has the right to leave the United States but they should leave the United States and go to live where terrorism is practiced and enjoyed by all.

Guess Who's Back— And Then Throw Up

NEW YORK— There are many Americans who believe that no desecration of the Statue of Liberty could possibly exceed last summer's importation of 400 Elvis-imitators, together with festivities suggesting Las Vegas East.

They are wrong. For on the stage of Manhattan's venerable Radio City Music Hall, there is currently a large replica of this nationally cherished statue. But Miss Liberty's torch has been replaced with a huge candelabrum. And that, of course, is the signal of what comes on, in a Rolls Royce painted with Stars and Stripes. Skyrockets explode in the background, and thirty-six of the famed Rockettes salute this wildly attired man by orchestrated kicking of their long, lovely limbs.

Out of that Rolls rolls The Great Fruit himself: Mr. Showmanship, the clothes horse of such gross and startling attire as to suggest Ming The Merciless as a Mummer. He has a gigantic, toothy smirk, which looks as if it were welded on. His glistening bicuspidas are flashed at the audience with such relish as to suggest that this is a commercial for CLUTCH, in which "your firmly-held dentures can cope with even the toughest Tbone!"

The calibre of his purported keyboard wizardry is evident in his ability to play the Minute Waltz in 57 seconds. And at age 67, Wladziu Valentino Liberace is still able to evoke shrieks of mirthful delight from the thousands of little old ladies (of both sexes) who crowd his concerts to capacity.

He has mastered the slobbery art of Mass Gigofo. It is a teasing, homespun, cornpone series of titillating titterings and giggly innuendo. This is blended with music from pianos which are as wildly festooned as his costumes.

Liberace is an institution, however grotesque, as he tries to caricature himself. He has been the spawner of a thousand jokes, most of them off-color — and a new addition to the national phraseology: "I cried all the way to the bank!"

As memory serves, this came after his London debut, which caught the attention of Cassandra. This was the pseudonym of one of the most devastating of all the columnists who wrote for London's huge daily newspapers.

Cassandra, blithely ignoring Britain's terrifying libel law, subjected Liberace to one of the most scathing reviews in English history. As I recall, Cassandra utilized no less than 43 adjectives — all of them uncomplimentary — which he string together in his review of Liberace's performance. As I recall, his review went something like this:

sniggering, snivelling, smuggling, slinking, strutting, stomach-turning, slippery, slushy, sissified, syrupy, soft-soaping, sybaritic, spurious, silly, soggy, smirking, shameless, scurrilous, scabrous, scandalous, strange and strident sham. "This sartorial scalawag and scamp; this scatological schlemiel and pseudo-sensuous sensationist. This senseless, shallow, shiftless, snide, smutty and specious schlock artist."

Liberace, on reading this, filed suit — which litigation this newspaper reported with glee. It also happily paid all damages, since its name and Cassandra's were publicized extensively and worldwide. And the offending edition, with a reportedly increased press run, sold out.

Liberace, having cried all the way to the bank, was happy. The newspaper and Cassandra were both happy. And all Britain was highly entertained.

This bizarre and colorful clown has now written his fourth book, entitled The Wonderful Private World of Liberace. Those who have the kind of imaginative taste to suppose that this could be "wonderful" may wonder about Liberace's confession that he lost his virginity 50 years ago — to a woman!

He even identifies this female as a Milwaukee night club performer, billed as "Miss Bea Haven," reports Time magazine, which also reports that Liberace advises, "Say it fast!";

But Time also notes that Liberace makes no mention at all of the sensational 1982 Palmomy law suit filed by his former companion-chaufer-bodyguard, which was dismissed in 1984.

Liberace still hurls cutesy one-liners at his adulatory audience — who scream with laughter — and then join him in singing "You Made Me Loved You."

What if the world were blown up in a nuclear doomsday, and five centuries from now interplanetary explorers found no evidence of man other than one videotape of Liberace?

"NOW, HUBBLE—WHAT'S THIS NONSENSE ABOUT A RAISE?"

Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

Remains To Be Seen

SANTA FE—The new Carruthers administration is getting off to a good start, at least in respect to the quality of the people the governor-elect is choosing to fill key positions in government.

What remains to be seen is how analytical the new chief executive and those he chooses really are. At this point in the history of state government, it's going to be that ability to look at the mass of problems to be faced and pick out those that must be solved first that will make the difference between success and failure.

For instance, one problem that sticks out of the stack as some of us see it has yet to be discussed in any meaningful way here. That is the tough times that are ahead for smaller rural counties in the state, and how Santa Fe can help to solve some of their dilemmas.

TOUGH TIMES: New Mexico happens to be one of the states in the union that has been most affected by all three of the major problems presently facing the nation—a mining depression, the farm crisis and an oil bust. Despite the good words out of such sources as the White House, our state is in an almost total economic depression.

To make that condition worse, just before Congress folded up its tents and went home this year, it cut the amount of help it has been giving counties and municipalities in the revenue-sharing program by a billion bucks.

That's a severe blow to those organs of government that have counted on this as one source of needed funds.

Combine that with declines in land values that will eventually cut tax yields sharply, and what you get is a tough decision by county governments especially that some services are going to have to be sacrificed.

Even after that painful conclusion is reached, the next question is even tougher: What services get curtailed, and what stay the same or thereabouts? Where can residents give a little without being too inconvenienced?

SOME PROPOSALS: There are people who believe this crunch will eventually lead to our combining some of the services of municipalities and counties, especially in those areas which include within county lines a town of some size and substance. But here in New Mexico, we have more counties of which that condition is not true than of those where it prevails.

And that combining, though it sounds attractive, turns out to be a lot more difficult than it sounds at first. Especially true in that regard is the area of law enforcement, where counties have elected sheriffs and municipalities have appointed police chiefs. Just that one point makes the approach to law enforcement about as different as night and day.

In the last analysis, it may instead be counties sharing law enforcement with other counties as a solution to this problem, just as they may decide to share such things as county attorneys and maybe even computer people and management.

Santa Fe will undoubtedly help in every way possible to facilitate such savings in local government, to whatever extent it can. As for looking to the capital city for lots of money with which to solve the problem, however, that would simply raise unrealistic expectations. No one can give what he does not have, and almost every new buck state government can manage to raise is going to have to go to the purpose of keeping state government in business.

At just this moment, Garrey Carruthers is coming to understand how true that statement is.

Drug Smuggling Big Business

Drug smuggling is big business in New Mexico. In terms of money it amounts to many millions of dollars each year. Air smuggling is one of the most common ways of bringing illegal drugs into the country. New Mexico is an attractive area because of our open spaces.

Citizens should be aware of planes that are landing on private land, highways, and other isolated areas. If this is observed, a person should attempt to get the aircraft numbers off the plane and keep a record of it. Another thing citizens should watch for is the ground crew, large trucks and vans and several people out in remote areas.

State Crime Stoppers is offering up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of anyone caught air smuggling as a result of a Crime Stoppers tip. If you have such information or information about any serious crime, call State Crime Stoppers toll-free 1-800-432-6983. You don't have to give your name and you could earn a cash reward.

JOHN HEMPHILL OF CARRIZOZO is congratulated by Coby Shorter (right), National FFA Secretary, on his achievement of the American Farmer degree. The degree was awarded in a ceremony at the 59th National FFA Convention, held in Kansas City, Missouri, November 13-15, 1986.

Convention Highlights

Carrizozo FFA Trip to Kansas City

The Carrizozo chapter of the Future Farmers of America went to Kansas City, MO last week, Nov. 10-16, to attend the National FFA Convention. The convention is an annual event that over 20,000 vocational agriculture students and FFA members attend. National judging contests and National FFA Convention sessions are held to promote the FFA and to honor high achievers. Among the high FFA achievers this year was Carrizozo graduate and past chapter president, John Hemphill. John walked across the national stage this year to receive the American Farmer Degree, the highest award that a FFA student can attain.

Brown, Donna Gattis, Bob Hemphill, Judy Hemphill and John Hemphill.

The Carrizozo kids that went got the opportunity to visit the Ford assembly line stationed in Kansas City, got to visit the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, and had the opportunity to attend the largest youth convention held anywhere in the United States. They also got the chance to meet students from all over the US.

The Carrizozo chapter thanks all of the people who made it possible for us to go - the Carrizozo FFA Alumni Chapter, Carrizozo Municipal Schools, year-round supporters of the FFA, and a very special group of people, our parents.

ELABORATE VERBIAGE
Literacy expert Jonathan Kozol wants readable newspapers. Kozol appealed to the newspaper industry not to forget the millions who are unable to read.

Kozol said that, according to readability studies, "about 30 percent of all adults cannot understand the journalistic substance of most daily papers."

"As many as 15 percent find it impossible to read at all."

He suggested working journalists "scrutinize their prose to see if simple stories are not sometimes rendered needlessly opaque by overly elaborate verbiage!"

How's that again? Where's my Webster?

RICHEST ARTIST
Pablo Picasso, who died in 1973, left his wife about $40 million. Picasso, the richest artist of the 20th century married Jacqueline Picasso when she was a 28-year-old divorcee. The artist's second and last wife died in October of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Her age was listed at 60.

Jacqueline Picasso, who never stopped grieving over the 1973 death of her husband was found by her maid in a castle in southern France. The castle was adored with the artist's works.

A pistol was found by her side. Doctors said she was sick and suffering severe depression.

TAKES BRIBES
A Florida heart doctor gets patients healthy the old-fashioned way - he bribes them. Dr. A. Zachariah takes 5 percent off his bills if a patient lowers cholesterol levels, 5 percent for lower blood pressure and 10 percent for quitting smoking.

More than 100 of the 400 patients in his Fort Lauderdale practice have won discounts.

Zachariah, 37, is a 5-foot-10-inch, 168-pound man who eats rice, fish, chicken and vegetables - all low in cholesterol - and walks for exercise. He teaches at the University of Miami and is chairman of the cardiovascular laboratory at Holy Cross Hospital.

HOT XMAS GIFT
The first day of sales 320,000 ounces of American Eagle coins were ordered. The gold coin is the USA's first gold currency since 1933.

The US Mint is selling to only 25 of the world's largest dealers. They sell to smaller dealers, banks and brokerages, which sell to us.

The Eagle coin features Miss Liberty on one side and eagles on the other. The mint hopes to sell 2.2 million ounces of Eagles a year.

COLORFUL FIRES
I have often wondered how to treat dry pine cones to burn in a fireplace and produce various colors. According to one recipe it is done by mixing one pound of chemical to each gallon of water, using a plastic or non-metal container. Leave the cones weighted down, in the solution for 10 to 30 minutes. Dry on newspapers or by hanging.

The chemicals and the colors they produce are: iron sulfate (blue-green); salt (orange); copper sulfate (blue, green to turquoise); potassium or muriate of potash (pink); copper nitrate (emerald); lithium or strontium (bright red); copper chloride or barium nitrate (blue); potassium chloride or lithium chloride (purple); and borax (bright green).

The question is: where are those chemical available?

BABBING BEARS
After Teddy Ruxpin (the talking bear from World of Wonder Inc.) became a hit last Christmas, toymakers took notice. Established toymakers, such as Hasbro and Coleco and others will introduce many cuddle, high-tech talking toys this holiday season.

'Wrinkles' a talking dog by Coleco, responds to touch with 1,000 random phrases, laughs when tickled and says, "Don't be mad" when you raise your voice.

'Bibgo Bear' and 'Montgomery Monkey' by Hasbro each has a vocabulary of 400 words, thanks you when hugged and laughs when tickled.

Postmasters Meet

The annual meeting of the Lincoln County Postmaster's Association was to meet at the home of Louise Babers, retired, in San Patricio. It was to be held in her beautiful yard but disagreeable weather forced a change of plans. The meeting place was changed to St. Jude's Community Center near Mrs. Babers home.

A large crowd assembled at the announced time. A group of 2nd-4th grade children from the Hondo Schools, dressed in their beautiful Mexican fiesta costumes, entertained the postmasters and guests dancing a number of authentic fiesta dances. The main dancers were directed by Mrs. Zinn.

Attracting much attention was a display of post office memorabilia collected by Louise Baber, Mary L. Joiner, also a retiree, and Ellen Fay Womack, who selected and arranged the historical articles for the display.

More than 50 postmasters, clerks, relief personnel, retirees, and guests enjoyed a superb Mexican buffet dinner prepared by host postmaster Amelía Candelaria. Other postmasters and co-hosts, Louise Babers and Mary L. Joiner contributed salads and desserts.

Following the dinner the meeting was called to order by president Patsy Racher. Secretary-treasurer reports were read and approved. Several postmasters gave brief reports on the State and National NAPUS Conventions. All agreed that the conventions are well worth the time and effort expended to attend. Officers for next year were nominated from the floor and all were elected by acclamation.

New officers are: president, Della Bonnell; vice president, Mary Wilson; secretary-treasurer, Betty Lou Joiner. A number of State Officers attended this meeting including: Wayne Hancock, State NAPUS Chapter president; Mary Williamson, Postal Service Representative; Shirlene Filtzer, Editor The Chaparral Postmaster.

Among those present from the MSC Office in Roswell were: Mr. Earl Phillips, Mrs. Pendergrass, and Mrs. Tempero. Mr. Ken Primrose, retired, and wife from Roswell were guests. Twelve of the Lincoln County's 14 postmasters were in attendance. Alto postmaster Mary Wilson, and Fort Stanton postmaster Betty Lou Joiner volunteered to host the Postmaster's Association in 1987, the time and place to be decided at a later date. We extend a hearty "Thank You" to host Amelía Candelaria and co-hosts Louise Babers and Mary L. Joiner and all others who helped in making this such an outstanding meeting of postal people.

ON MY OWN

By Pat Kite

For Your Own Good

Today I bought a lovely floral dress.

"I don't like it," says a kid. "Why not?" I ask, miffed. "It's got too many flowers," the kid says.

"I like flowers," I state. "It makes you look like wallpaper," the kid says.

This is not the same kid who used to come up, kiss me, then begin counting pimples, one . . . two . . . three . . .

This is not the same kid who walked up one day, stared at my lazy single person poochy stomach, and asked if I was pregnant, therefore setting off an immediate exercise regime.

This is not the same kid who casually mentioned, just after I had given myself a facial, that while I was at it, I also ought to do something about my "chicken elbows."

The very next day I defrosted a chicken and looked at its elbows. You want to be depressed? Try it some time.

One of the problems with single parenting four daughters is they pick on you, a little pick here, a little pick there, here a pick, there a pick, everywhere a pick, pick.

If I had a husband, I could run to him, have him wrap his arms around me, have him say "there, there, now" and tell me I was the most beautiful woman in the world. (Note: after you've been single a while, you forget that husbands are sometimes sleeping, watching football, or playing poker when you need them, and you develop a sort of fantasy-land Alan Alda.)

Not having a husband, instead I have to keep saying, "Don't talk to your mother that way," "Shut your mouth," and "Why don't you go live with your father and pick on him for a while?"

"We're not picking on you," a kid says, laughing. "We're doing this for your own good."

"What's good about your sister telling me that my new dress makes me look like wallpaper?" I ask. "She said that?"

"She did." "The dress doesn't make you look like wallpaper?" "Good," I say, waiting for a compliment.

Instead the kid says, "It makes you look like you did when you were married."

They really know how to hit below the belt, these modern young people. When I was married, I wore housedresses and spent a lot of time eliminating toilet bowl ring. As a reentry working woman, I occasionally think I succeed in looking rather chic.

"I don't think the dress is quite that bad," I protest.

The kid shrugs, "Next time, don't ask," she says.

The problem is, I don't ask. But they tell me anyhow.

TIME-SAVING TIPS THE MILDEW MENACE

The invasion is on, and it may be coming to your home. It's the mildew menace, the scourge of many an American bathroom. The best defense—a good offense, say homemaking experts.

A good way to ward off mildew growth is to open the bathroom window. Mildew flourishes where conditions are warm and damp. Fresh, moving air and regular cleaning of all bathroom surfaces help keep it under control. If mildew has invaded your home, you can fight back. For tile, shower stalls and under shower doors, or grout around sinks or tubs, use an instant mildew stain remover, such as Tilex. Spray it on and mildew stains should begin to disappear on contact. Wait until stains disappear (about 4 minutes), and rinse thoroughly.

If your bathroom is windowless be sure your exhaust fan really does push air up and out. During very hot weather, consider using a fan to blow steam air out of the bathroom when it's unoccupied.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Very little sun last week with light drizzle and ice with thin traces of dry snow. Winds, fog and cold. Some days 24 to 39 degrees the entire day.

The Capitan city hall has new office hours. They open at 8 a.m. and remain open until 4:30 p.m.

There were 400 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum and State Park from Nov. 10-16. On the 11th, Joe Dan Womack, who now lives in Wright Wood, CA, was here visiting his mother and enjoyed this tour as well.

The first junior high basketball game was held Tuesday afternoon.

Bingo is still doing good. Their blackout game is going to be worth $150 and their checkerboard game is going to be worth $70. Join them for lots of fun.

There were lots of hunters again this last weekend. We will miss them when the season ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Anderson visited Charles and Ann Rhoades in Alamogordo and enjoyed lunch with them last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Theford are good neighbors and friends and we do enjoy them. Their new barn is nearly finished.

Eloy Chavez of Port Arthur, TX visited his brothers and other relatives last week.

Angis Marie Trujillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marguerito Trujillo, graduated from our high school last May and left in June for Causon City, Philippines as a foreign exchange student. She is studying languages in college. She loves it there and is doing well. She meets important people and is happy in her studies. She talks to her parents often. I wish her complete joy and happiness there with everything and may succeed hers always.

Renita Trujillo, also a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marguerito Trujillo, is attending Eastern New Mexico for nursing in Roswell. She will graduate as nurse in May 1987. That is great. We are so proud of her too.

Dorothy Spies entered the Ruidoso hospital Nov. 18 and is very ill. I wish you a good recovery, Dorothy.

Mr. and Mrs. Roman Maes of Lincoln are at this time living in an apartment in Roswell for the duration of treatments that is necessary for Mrs. Maes to regain her health. My prayers and good wishes are for her good recovery.

Belle Wilson also of Lincoln, who is located in Roswell due to her ill health, has been in the hospital there with pneumonia. Keep fighting, Belle, you will win. Get well and strong.

Juanita Calderon formerly Juanita Benevitez of Lincoln, whose home was in Albuquerque, was killed there last week when a semi truck ran into her car. Graveside services were held in Lincoln Cemetery last Friday.

Louis Vigil, son of Francis Vigil of Capitan, who resided in Denver, CO passed away from a heart attack last week. All of his sisters were here and some still are with his mother News has been scarce this week. I guess everyone enjoyed the comforts of their warm homes. Friends, neighbors and citizens if you have news, let me know. I really work hard to get every item.

Capitan School Notes

Teacher/Advisor Mark Daugherty took six of his Ag students to the 59th National Future Farmers of America Convention in Kansas City last week. These six students were Johnna Patterson, Travis Frey, Sarah Dockery, Rachel Lacy, Chris Shanks, and Adrian Morris. Over 21,000 members and guests attended the convention.

The Capitan group traveled with FFA groups from Cliff and Artesia. They toured the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, the Kansas City Stockyards, and a Ford Motor Company Plant. These students also attended the American Royal Livestock Show and Rodeo. Some of their convention activities included listening to motivational type speakers and attending leadership workshops. There were talent shows to attend also. FHA advisor Laura Jones is taking the following students to the FHA Convention in Oklahoma City Nov. 20 - 23: Kim Huey, Greg Smith, Henrietta Griego, April LaMay, Paulina Montes, Sonya Sanchez, Teresa Burgess, Brenda Griego, Gina Griego, Colleen Knips, Sheila Montoya, and Cindy Castillo.

The Tigerettes traveled to Albuquerque Nov. 13 to play in the State Volleyball Tournament. They were defeated in their first game three games to one by Sandia Prep thus ending their volleyball season. Coach Bill MacVeigh praised Kateri Sanchez, Colynn Washburn, and Danielle Riska for their fine play in the tournament. Short Notes: The Fall Sports Banquet is scheduled for Dec. 1 in the Multi-purpose Building. The time is 6:30 p.m. This event is sponsored by the Tiger Booster Club. School will be dismissed for the Thanksgiving break on Nov. 26 at 12:40 p.m. The semester final tests are scheduled for Dec. 18 and 19. Report cards go out on Jan. 8. The Christmas break will be Dec. 19 (12:30 p.m.) - Jan. 5.

Second Chance Hunt Scheduled

By BEN HANSON

Did you manage to bag a deer this year? If the answer to this question is no, don't be too hasty in getting rid of your old deer license. Unsuccessful hunters have one final opportunity to get a deer. The Game Department has set up two deer entry permit hunts that will be held at the end of January.

The C-7 hunt will be held in the Hondo Valley on January 31 and February 1. There will be up to 300 permits available for this hunt.

The C-8 hunt will be held in the Pecos Valley also on January 31 and February 1. There will be up to 500 permits available for this hunt.

There have been problems in these two areas with deer getting into hay fields and apple orchards so the hunts are designed to reduce the deer herd. Therefore the bag limit will be one antlerless deer for both hunts.

These are second chance hunts, so in order to participate, hunters must have a regular deer license with the carcass tag still attached. Anyone who got a deer during the bow, muzzleloader or rifle season is not eligible to participate in these hunts. In addition to the regular deer license, a $3.25 special season deer tag will be required.

Anyone interested in applying for the C-7 and C-8 deer entry permit hunts needs to pick up application form X from any license vendor or Game Department office. Forms may be mailed in or delivered to any Game Department office. The deadline to apply is December 3, 1986. There will be a $3.00 non-refundable application fee. The drawing will be held on January 7, 1987.

Hunters will be required to check in and check out in person. The hunts will be run much like the antelope season with each hunter assigned to a specific ranch. Assignments will be made at the check in station.

So, if you were unlucky during the regular season, this is your last chance. And, remember to apply early to avoid this last minute rush.

Weather Slows First Deer Hunt

An anticipated weekend snow storm apparently changed the minds of many hunters who had planned to hunt during the first 1986 rifle deer season Saturday and Sunday. Hunter pressure and success was generally light except in the northeast part of the state, and the hunt was marred by one accident in which a hunter lost part of one foot.

A record number of hunters with licenses for the two-day hunt appeared last week in Department of Game and Fish offices in Albuquerque, Las Cruces and Roswell to change their licenses to another hunt period. Many changed their licenses to the D-2 hunt, which started Wednesday (Nov. 12) and ran through Sunday. The final rifle season for deer is Nov. 19-25.

The greatest hunter pressure and success was reported in the northeast area, despite heavy winds Saturday that created unfavorable hunting conditions. By Sunday, the winds had calmed, but temperatures were still cold around the area, said Joanna P. Lackley, northeast area supervisor. She said 15 of 60 hunters checked near Johnson Mesa outside Raton had taken bucks. In the White's Peak area, a popular hunting area, pressure was moderate to heavy, and officers reported average success. In the Las Vegas/Mora area, hunter pressure was light to moderate, as was the harvest. Hunter pressure was very heavy in the Pecos Wilderness, but success was light.

Officers in the southwest area said the three days prior to the hunt were extremely busy in the game department office. Hunters said the weather forecast was for snow and other unfavorable hunting conditions. Bob Sawyer, conservation officer at Glenwood Hatchery, was called out during the hunt to investigate the killing of a Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep. Al Garcia, Gallup, was charged with illegal killing of the bighorn. He is to appear next week before Catron County Magistrate Allan Tackman, Reserve. Sawyer said the hunter told him he thought the animal was a deer.

Pressure in the southeast area was "lighter than usual—down 25 to 30 percent," said Ron Porter, area supervisor. By Saturday afternoon, winds had dried the roads from the previous day's rain and snow, but hunters were anticipating a continuation of that weather pattern. "We answered a number of calls for trespass violations," Porter said. Citations were also written to hunters who failed to tag their deer and for shooting after hours, as well as other routine violations.

Larry Padilla, Los Lunas, hunting on the Lovelace Ranch near Corona, was riding with a loaded .270 caliber rifle on the tailgate of a pickup when the firearm discharged. He lost part of one foot and was taken to Albuquerque for treatment.

Frequent violations during deer season include killing does instead of bucks, trespass on private land, shooting the deer for a friend, and failure to tag an otherwise legal animal.

Lincoln County

'Long Ago'

By Ruth Hammond

The Lincoln County Leader, Devoted to the Best Interests of Lincoln County and the Development of Its Resources, published in White Oaks, Lincoln County, N.M.,

Saturday, July 26, 1890
After July 1st next, silver will cease altogether to be money, and will become again a commercial commodity, the same as wheat, corn and cotton.—Deming Headlight.

Is that so Mr. Headlight? Well you just keep your weather eye open and you will see that this prophesy—like many others of the past—only brands you as a partizan false prophet.

Local Roundups
Mrs. Geo. B. Barber paid a visit to White Oaks this week.

The round-up on the Carrizozo range commenced the 18th inst.

The South Homestake mill is continually dropping its stamps on good ore, which is being taken from the 250 foot level of the mine.

Sankey, (Sam Denn) writes from Silverton, Col., that he is not dead but liveth further, that dying is or will be the last thing he'll think of. We accept his apology.

Mr. J. Ozanne is erecting and now has nearly completed, a building to serve as a storehouse and mill for grinding corn for feed. Mr. Ozanne is an energetic and always busy man.

Messrs. Calboon, Frye, Metcalfe and Folsom, capitalists of Albuquerque, passed through town Monday, en route to Roswell, where they go to establish a bank. This is just as it should be; White Oaks will be the next to fall in line.

We have a burro choir in town, and they wake the echoes with their melodious music. It makes the music better by interposing a few rocks and clubs occasionally and employing the dogs to join in the chorus with ye small boy.—Ah! this is fun alive.

Our editor is away this week, and we boys are having a jolly time. The typo, the errand boy, the devil and all are kicking up jack—if our artist was not out of town, we would have had an illustrated edition. But our ammunition was short; hence, we sent our artist on a fishing picnic. If anything is noticed unusual in the Leader this week, just charge it to the boys. If there are to be any muscular objections, please notify the acting editor a day or two in advance; he will make necessary arrangements with the typo and devil, and then sail in.

Senior Class Supper to be Spaghetti

The Carrizozo senior class will hold an Italian supper in the school cafeteria on Friday, Nov. 21 from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

The dinner will include spaghetti, salad bar, garlic bread and dessert. All proceeds from the dinner will be used for the senior class trip. Sponsor of the senior class is Mariann Patterson.

DEER HUNTERS—Hunting in the Capitan area last weekend were the following hunters: (l.to r.), Don Hyden, Denver, Tom Miksch, Bosque Farms, and Mark Miksch, Albuquerque. The final deer hunt is scheduled for Nov. 19 through Nov. 25.

Corona FFA

Motivated By Kansas City Trip

Crisp, cold and invigorating! This describes what the Corona FFA members experienced at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, MO.

Delegates were selected through a point system set up by the chapter. All members earned points for their participation in various FFA activities, beginning with the July meeting. The six members with the most points by November 4, traveled to the big city for four days of inspirational speeches and motivational workshops. They also rubbed shoulders with approximately 18,000 FFA members from across the nation.

Advisor Jamie Widner and wife Robin, drove a bus to Kansas City with the six members: Beverly Bell, Julie Furgason, Tye Lightfoot, Michael Pounds, Emmett Sultemeier, and Tina Aaron.

Although the temperature dropped to five degrees, it didn't slow down the energy and excitement that filled the convention center. The members were motivated by famous people such as Bruce Jenner, John Schneider and Susan Forte, Vo. Ag teacher and finalist for the Teacher in Space Program. They were also inspired by the retiring addresses of the six national FFA officers.

It was indeed an honor for the Corona members to watch one of their own, Marvin Pounds, Corona Chapter member and New Mexico FFA Secretary, perform a solo guitar act on stage during the National Talent Review.

The vast sea of blue and gold jackets was an awesome sight and the members felt proud to represent the Corona Chapter and the New Mexico Association.

In other FFA news, the Corona Chapter had a record setting Blue and Gold Sausage sale. The total number of cases sold was 25, breaking the old record of 14 cases sold in one sale.

The Corona Chapter also had a very successful wood cut. Members, with the help of some of the Corona FFA Alumni, cut and stacked 10 cords of wood. The wood will be sold and picked up by the Melrose FFA Alumni.

Selling LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS subscriptions was another fund raising activity. The profit from these activities was used to pay expenses for the trip to the National FFA Convention.

Now the Corona FFA Chapter is preparing to host and compete in the District I Leadership Contests to be held December 3, beginning at 2:30 p.m. The following members will be competing: Tina Aaron-Greenhand Public Speaking, and Greenhand Creed; Randy Lesley-Greenhand Creed and Greenhand Quiz; Emmett Sultemeier-Greenhand Public Speaking; Shane Owen-Greenhand Quiz; Jason Gibbs and Beverly Bell-Chapter Farmer Prepared Public Speaking; Travis Lightfoot, Sandra Copeland, and Kim Worley-Extemporaneous Public Speaking.

Corona will also field a Greenhand Parliamentary Procedure Team including

Miss Aaron, Owen, Sultemeier, Lesley, Dan Bell, J.J. Young and Tye Lightfoot. Corona's Chapter Farmer Parliament

Leta Sharp invited Cedar Temple Pythian Sisters to the Sharp Ranch Tuesday for a Veterans Day brunch. Guests included Vernell Beagles and J.L. Rogers of Roswell and Patsy Tubbs. Members paid annual dues and planned a Christmas party for Dec. 15 at the home of Edna Robinson.

Jerry Sharp and Bill Mike Hefner left that morning for Kansas City and the Royal Stock Show.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Keelin were in Alamogordo the first of the week to see their doctors and Mrs. Keelin missed the meeting. Mrs. Robinson reported that her son-in-law, Lee Barley, Fort Collins, CO, had undergone thoracic surgery that morning and was thought to be in satisfactory condition in intensive care. Lee Shumate came from Roswell for the day and enjoyed Mrs. Robinson's report on Grand Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Downing, Sacramento, CA, stopped briefly with friends Monday. They were accompanied by her daughter, Donna Wohlfert, who is with the United Missionary Fellowship in Chihuahua, Mexico. Mr. Downing is a retired minister but is still active in the work. They had visited in Albuquerque with his sister, Irene, and would see his sister, Mildred, in Alamogordo before going on to Chihuahua to remain with Donna until January. They will present black light Christmas programs in five churches during the holidays.

Mrs. Charles Porter was called to Stanley this week by the death Monday of a sister-in-law, Mary Dennison.

Linda Sharp, a student at EINMU, was elated when her lamb from the Sharp Ranch here was named Grand Champin Hamp breed at the Kansas City Royal Stock Show. It sold for $3.20 per pound. Bill Mike Hefner had his lamb in the sale. Linda's calf placed 10th.

Nell Ruth Fahr, Castro Valley, CA, is spending a month with her mother, Edna Tracey, who has been ill, but is now feeling better.

Hondo Valley News

By PAM McARTHUR

Pre-holiday sale of baked goods and White elephant items will take place Saturday, Nov. 22, at 9 a.m., sponsored by the Tinnie Baptist Church. It will be held in the Fellowship Hall at Tinnie. A green chili dinner is to be served beginning at 11:30 a.m. for a nominal donation of $3 per plate. Everyone is invited to come.

Enrolled in Kim Herrera Castro's dance classes are the following children: Tony Arhuleta, Rowena Baca, Dwan Chavez, Iris Chavez, Jennifer Chavez, Shirley Chavez, Nancy Corona, Michele Grisby, Chris Gutierrez, Lisa Gutierrez, Adam Herrera, Amber Herrera, Brandi Herrera, Fermin Herrera, Tommy Lucero, William Lucero, Michael Maez, Desirae Maldonado, Valerie Maldonado, Vineta Montano, Codi Montes, Teresa Montez, Jessica Nosker, Celenece Prudencio, and Paul Sanchez. The adult dance class begins at 1:15 on Saturday afternoon in the Hondo School cafeteria.

The Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce sponsored an informational meeting last week to educate the community about the economic effects that can be anticipated if the Mescalero Apache Tribe is granted their claim to 18,000 acre feet of water in the area. Speakers included Dr. Tom Barr, Director of New Mexico Water Resources Research Institute, Herbert A. Becker, Assistant US Attorney and Attorney Richard Sims of Santa Fe, an expert in hydrology.

Chavez County Commissioners heard Gail Hopkins, Picoche, explain the position of the Water Defense Association. At that meeting the decision was made to join the lawsuit against the claim due to the concern of the overall economic affect on Chavez County should the level of the artesian water basin drastically drop.

Appearing also on the KBIM-TV "New Mexico Today" program, Friday, were Gail and another member of the Water Defense Association, Jennie Ortiz of Roswell. Jennie cited the fact the future wells to be developed in the region will have to be deeper, and therefore more expensive, if the claim is granted. She said this will be a factor that future investors in our area will consider. Gail stressed the devastation to regional wildlife and to the tourist attraction of the Hondo Valley due to the loss of its aesthetic tradition and value. The program moderator, Sharon Bell, told viewers she had also invited the Mescalero Tribe to share their position but that the Indians had declined to appear.

Visiting with McArthurs Sunday afternoon were Bart and Marcie Oglesby, of Roswell, and their twins Heather and Barton. Bart, a member of the Bishop's Task Force on Alcoholism, was guest speaker at Holy Mount Episcopal Church, Ruidoso, that morning. His topic was "Alcohol Awareness." Called the Family Disease because no member of the family is untouched by its damage, alcoholism is a progressive illness which ultimately leads to death if untreated. One of every four persons in our society is affected physically, spiritually and psychologically by chemical-substance abuse. The good news is there is professional help available, and a high success rate of recovery. The book Under the Influence by Dr. James R. Millam and Katherine Ketcham is a practical guide to the myths and realities of alcoholism.

The full moon reminds me of all the fun we had as teenagers taking hayrides, listening to the wind in naked trees and singing "Shine on, Shine on Harvest Moon," while the horses plodded along. Wonder whatever happened to that grand tradition? It was a wonderful time to cuddle in the straw under jackets and quilts on cold evenings... come to think of it, maybe that's what happened.

Peace.

Take Care Buying Turkey

It's time to buy your family's Thanksgiving turkey. As you peer into the frozen food chest at the supermarket, the number and variety of turkeys can be confusing, if not overwhelming.

There are toms, hens, self-basters, self-timers, roasts, rolls and parts — almost enough to make a shopper want to buy a ham.

A little head counting and some first-grade math could make your turkey purchase a little easier, says Sue Bodkin, Extension program leader for home economics and community development at New Mexico State University. The main thing you need to know are how many you plan to serve and how many leftovers you'd like to have, says Ms. Bodkin.

Generally, a turkey weighing more than 12 pounds will give you about two servings per pound. Plan on just a little over one serving per pound if the turkey weighs less than 12 pounds.

According to Ms. Bodkin, smaller birds have a greater proportion of bone and more waste. Boneless turkey roasts will give you three or four servings per pound.

For some people, leftover turkey sandwiches are the biggest treat of the holiday season. Ms. Bodkin advises that you buy a larger turkey if you and your family fit into this category.

Prices will vary according to the type of turkey you select. Although there is usually a choice between turkey hens and toms, about the only difference most people can notice is the price. Tom turkeys are priced lower per pound.

Expect to pay between 10 to 20 cents more per pound for turkeys equipped with timers, self-basting qualities or other gadgetry, Ms. Bodkin warns. Prepackaged turkey roasts or rolls will cost the most, but have little or no waste.

Before buying your turkey, look at the store's freezer. A thermometer should be in plain view and the temperature in the freezer case should be no higher than 0 degrees F.

In addition, look on the back wall of the freezer for the load line. The merchandise should be stored below that line.

Finally, make sure the turkey's wrapper is not broken or torn. A damaged wrapper could cause freezer burn or contamination of the turkey, Ms. Bodkin says.

Ramblings

By Rosalie Dunlap

We have had the gamut of weather from 3 1/2 inches of rain, sleet, fog, cloudy and freezing to cloudy and warm.

There are a lot of hunters in the area. The weather has been more cooperative this past weekend.

Juanita Benavidez Caulderon was laid to rest in the Lincoln cemetery Saturday. Mrs. Caulderon was killed in a car accident when a truck struck and turned over onto her car. Our sincerest sympathies to her sons and other family members.

Congratulations are in order for two Lincolnites. Walter Henn was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Lincoln County Lodgers tax committee. James Sanchez has been appointed by Gov. Tony Anaya to the State Education Board.

The flu bug has hit several residents of the Lincoln area.

For those who might be interested church is held at San Juan Catholic Church every Saturday afternoon at 4:45

The Episcopal church holds services every 2nd and 4th Thursday usually at the home of Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap. Everyone is welcome to both church services.

Two Ruidoso residents involved in SADD (Students Against Drinking) were interviewed on Channel 7, Albuquerque, last week. They were attending a statewide meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. David McGray of Nogal have returned from a trip show to Pepper Tree Gallery near Los Angeles. The show is sponsored by the host of the New Newlywed Game. They also visited Nevada City, then on to a Cowboy Art Show at Phoenix, AZ.

The Lincoln County Farm & Livestock Bureau directors met recently and elected new officers for the coming year. They are James McDaniels, president; Gene Parker, vice president; Shirley Goodloe, secretary (re-elected); Harvey Bonnell, treasurer, (re-elected). Plans for the coming year were also discussed.

The NARFE organization of Lincoln County also re-elected new officers for the coming year at a meeting held at the First Christian Church in Ruidoso. New officers are Lem Clark, (Ruidoso) president; John Chappel, vice president; Francis Shaw, (Capitan) treasurer; Dorothy Mixon, (Ruidoso) secretary.

All members who are working or retired federal employees are invited to join the group. The group meets the 2nd Tuesday of every month at the First Christian Church, Hull Road, at 10 a.m.

A good size group of water users are planning to attend the pre-trial hearing in Roswell Nov. 24. It behooves all of us to let our voices be heard.

The Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Council met in Lincoln last week. The group met at the Visitors Center where Gary and Dee Miller showed the slides on Lincoln County War and Ft. Stanton. Following the slide show they convened to the Wortley Hotel for their business meeting and program. Phyllis Zumwalt presented a program on "How to Write Letters to Your Congressmen and other Government Officials." I would like to thank Betty Shrecongost for filling in for me so I could attend the NARFE meeting with Ralph in Ruidoso.

Ralph and I wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving holiday.
