To Be Awarded Dec. 18

Sierra Blanca Regional Airport Bids to be Opened Dec. 3

The Sierra Blanca Airport Commission met in regular session on Nov. 20 and announced that bids for PAC 1, the first portion of Phase 1 of the building of the regional airport, will be opened on Dec. 3. A special meeting will be held for the bid opening.

Project engineer Earl Cook said that once the bids are opened he will review and tabulate the bids and make his recommendation at the Dec. 18 meeting. SBAC attorney Steve Sanders told the committee they would be limited to the lowest bid.

In other business, the commission discussed water rights and pending litigation during an executive session. After the executive session, members agreed to lease water for construction of the regional airport from Betty Schreengost until litigation over the water rights is settled.

Members also agreed to send a check for $999,999 to the New Mexico State University for the Fort Stanton mesa site. SBAC had received a check for $999,999 from the federal government.

Commission chairman Kenneth Nosker said that he thought SBAC should send a check for one million dollars since that was the agreed price for the site on the mesa. Administrator Fred Heckman said that the SBAC should send only the $999,999 that was received because the project was to be fully funded. He also said there was a possibility the contract was being left open for the one dollar remaining.

A discussion was held concerning the gross receipts tax increase that will be decided in an election on Dec. 18.

C'zozo School District to Ask for Mill Levy Extension

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo Board of Education will conduct an election on Feb. 3 for the purpose of electing two members to the board and for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the district the question of whether or not a property tax should be imposed for the purpose of capital improvements in the district.

The public school capital improvements tax question will ask voters to continue the two-mill levy. According to Dennis Sidebottom, school superintendent, taxes will not be raised, but will continue the current effort that is scheduled to end this year.

Sidebottom also said that the two-mill levy has generated more through capital outlay projects simply because the school district would not qualify for capital outlay if the two-mill levy were not being assessed.

Voters will be asked to approve the two-mill levy for the purpose of erecting, remodeling, making additions to, providing equipment for or furnishing school buildings, purchasing or improving public school grounds, and maintenance of public school grounds, exclusive of salary expenses of employees of the district.

Sidebottom said that if the two-mill levy passes, the district will try to spend most of it on general maintenance.

The resolution and proclamation of the school board election was approved and signed at the Nov. 18 school board meeting.

The election will include the filling of two seats on the school board. The seats that expire are being held by Wally Ferguson, president of the current school board, and Nat Palomarez, member of the school board.

Any resident of the Carrizozo school district who is a qualified elector of the state of New Mexico who desires to become a candidate for the school board should file a declaration of candidacy with the Lincoln County Clerk on Dec. 16 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The last date for voters to register for the school board election is Dec. 23 at 5 p.m.

In other business, the board considered a contagious disease policy for staff members, and adopted a procedure for reporting of known or suspected use of drugs or alcohol or abuse of students.

Sidebottom reported that the State Department of Education Accreditation Board has visited Carrizozo schools on Nov. 5, 6, and 7. The purpose of the visit was to determine if Carrizozo schools are meeting state standards

THE LINCOLN COUNTY ADMINISTRATION building is receiving moisture barrier on the sides and roof and will receive a new stucco job because the original plans did not include a moisture seal. Leakage problems have plagued the building since it was built in 1982. Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates, Inc. were the architects for the building.

Tom Anderson Named as R.C. & D. Coordinator

On Oct. 1, 1986, Tom Anderson assumed the position and responsibility of "Coordinator" of the South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Area. This assignment by the US Soil Conservation Service, is in addition to his responsibility as Coordinator of the El Llano Estacado RC&D Area which covers seven counties in northeastern New Mexico.

Anderson has made two week-long trips to the beautiful South Central Mountain Area since the first, visiting with RC&D Council Officers, Jim Hiles, Shirley Goodloe, Tony Genta, and Sue Stearns, as well as public officials and agency people in Corona, Carrizozo, Alamogordo, Cloudcroft, Weed, Bent and Hondo. It is evident and very gratifying to find that the people of the Area know RC&D as a peoples program, he said. The RC&D is governed by 27 voluntary sponsoring entities including Soil and Water Conservation Districts, County

Commissions, Municipalities, special districts and organizations, and State agencies. According to Anderson, the basic objective of the RC&D, as set forth in their constitution is to (provide for) "the orderly development, improvement, conservation and utilization of natural resources of the Area, thereby increasing income and expanding the employment and economic opportunities for the people."

This objective has been, and can only be, attained with involvement of local people in planning, defining needs and opportunities, submitting project measure proposals for RC&D assistance, and working together for successful implementation. The major categories of activities that the Council provides assistance on are (1) Human Resources, Education and Economic Development, (2) Recreation, Tourism and Historical Preservation, (3) Land and Water, (4) Agriculture and Forestry, and (5) Transportation and Communications. Requests for assistance on these, or other resource related projects and activities can be made at anytime by contacting the Sponsoring Organizations, USDA and County Extension personnel, or the RC&D offices in Carrizozo or Tucumcari.

The RC&D Council will provide free assistance in evaluating adopted project measures, identifying sources of possible technical and financial assistance, and in planning and implementation thereof. In some cases, the federal RC&D Program can provide financial assistance, both as cost-share grants and as loans, for planning and installation of land and water related activities.

RC&D Council meetings are held every eight weeks at locations selected by the Council. These meetings are open to the public and all services of the RC&D Council and assisting agencies are available on a non-discrimination basis.

The next meeting of the Council will be held in Otero County, but the exact date has not been set because of several conflicting meetings.

Thanksgiving Affirmation

Here is a holiday that commemorates no hero, celebrates no battlefield. No lobby is behind it, no group, or sect or party. Christmas cannot dim it nor July 4th steal its glory. And all Americans love it with a quiet and intense affection that is reserved for no other day of the year.

What makes Thanksgiving different? What makes it beloved? What makes it real?

Perhaps the answer is simple: Thanksgiving is an affirmation. It is our heart's testimony to a deeply held conviction — the conviction that these things we call free and decent and American did not just happen to us. We did not get them because we were wiser, or more clever, or even luckier.

This conviction is the sum of many beliefs and experiences. The belief in the dignity of every human being. The belief in a real right and wrong. The belief in decency and honesty and integrity. The belief in a responsibility, under God to our fellow man, wherever he may be.

For these beliefs, and the American way of life, Thanksgiving Day is our joyous affirmation to a kind Providence for His blessings and guidance.

Naval Prep School Grad

Navy Seaman Apprentice Adrien Sanchez, son of Anthony L. and Patricia Sanchez of 505 H Ave., Carrizozo, NM, was graduated from the Naval Academy Preparatory School.

During the year-long course at the Naval and Training Center, Newport, RI, Sanchez has been prepared for entry into the U.S. Naval Academy.

His studies included English, mathematics, the sciences, plus general military subjects and participated in an extensive physical fitness program.

A 1985 graduate of Carrizozo High School, he joined the Navy Reserve in August 1985.

THE DOLL HOUSE RETURNED to the Zia Senior Citizen's Center in Carrizozo and will be raffled again this year. Ralph Forsythe of Carrizozo won the doll house last year and donated it back to the center. Raffle tickets are a dollar and the drawing will be held Dec. 12. All proceeds go to the center.

BUD & DOROTHY - Dorothy and Bud Payne of Carrizozo participated in the fourth annual Hacienda Horseshoe Pitchers Extravaganza Nov. 9-13 in Las Vegas, NV. Dorothy won $300 by placing 2nd in Class H. Bud won $400 by placing 1st in Class J. Eileen Serna and Gary Lovelace also entered the competition and placed high enough to have their entry fee refunded.

Skeen Nominates for Academies

WASHINGTON, DC — Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM, today announced he has nominated 40 young men and women for appointments to the United States military academies.

"This year's nominating process was extremely difficult because of the outstanding caliber of young men and women who applied for academy appointments. I am proud to have an opportunity to assist these nominees pursue an outstanding education and a career in the military," Skeen said.

The nominations are based on recommendations made by the Academy Review Board which interviewed all academy applicant's who reside in the Second Congressional District of New Mexico. The Review Board made its selections based on several factors, including each applicant's academic achievements, participation in community and extracurricular activities, leadership potential and personal recommendations.

Final appointments to the military academies will now come from the list of nominees. Those appointed will enter the academies in July of 1987.

Those nominated to the US Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado; are: Ryan Farmer, Las Cruces; Sean Plack, Las Cruces; Ashley Grandy, Clovis; Wendy Hart, High Rolls; Joseph Ortiz, Las Cruces; Edward Ochoa, Las Cruces; Randall Rierson, Las Cruces; Art Romero, Las Cruces; Ronald Sanders, Roswell; and Shad Stockton, Las Cruces.

Nominations for the US Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, are: Patricia Alba, Las Cruces; Billy Clark, Artesia; Tabitha Clark, Roswell; Derek Coffman, Roswell; Julie Farley, Las Cruces; Edmund Figueroa, Las Cruces; Paul Gray, Chaparral; Paul Grimm,

Zoo to You

A mobile unit of the Rio Grande Zoo in Albuquerque brought an exhibit of exotic animals to Corona Schools. Students enjoyed seeing a poisonous marine frog, a talking myna bird, a kestral falcon, a bush baby from Africa, a South American dago, and a five foot boa constrictor with 300 pairs of ribs! Zoo guides answered questions about the animals and showed two slide programs entitled: A Cold Blooded World to grades K-2 and Vanishing Reptiles to grades 3-6.

Students and teachers enjoyed this educational exhibit sponsored by the Phelps Dodge Corporation.

and if the school is creditable. The Accreditation Board praised the district on 41 items and requested changes be made in four areas before June. Changes to be made are: Revise the home ec curriculum to reflect the declining enrollment, fill in ruts and rough spots on the playground, adopt a public inspection of records act, and make improvements to the weight room.

—The board considered items to include in the examination of school records policy. This will be brought before the board at the Dec. 16 meeting.

—Sidebottom explained a Drug Dog program that is available for the school district. He said that Tularosa, Ruidoso and Alamogordo are enrolled in the program. The agency with the dogs will contract for services with the school and bring the dogs to the school where the dogs can find drugs or alcohol. The school board agreed to schedule a demonstration at a school board meeting and consider the program at that time.

—The board approved a change in the school policy concerning electives and correspondence courses.

—Kim April was hired as coach for junior high girls' basketball.

—The board accepted the resignation from Stella Montoya. Sidebottom told the board that Polly Chavez has been a substitute teacher in art and is a "pretty good artist in her own right and doing a good job."

—The state school boards convention will be held Dec. 5 and 6 at the Sheraton Hotel in Albuquerque.

Science Olympiad Offers Competition in Science

SOCORRO — Is your high schooler a whiz at science? Then check into the Science Olympiad, the nation's fastest growing, most exciting science competition. Over 100,000 students from 3,000 schools participate in the event.

The first Science Olympiad to be held in New Mexico is scheduled for March 7, 1987, on the New Mexico Tech campus in Socorro. Tech is sponsoring the annual competition.

Teams of up to 15 students from grades 9 through 12 compete in individual and team events chosen from the fields of biology, earth science, chemistry, physics, computers, and technology.

The competitions follow the format of popular board games, TV shows, and olympic events. New Mexico's first competition features events such as "Water, Water Everywhere," "Titration Race," and "Name that Organism." Most events are team competitions which require group planning and cooperation.

First, second, and third place olympic-style medals are awarded for each event. The winning team from the state tournament can compete in the national Olympiad in June.

To help teachers and students prepare for the tournament, an orientation seminar for science teachers who will serve as coaches is scheduled for Jan. 17, according to Dr. Waldemere Bejnar, director of the Science Olympiad.

Bejnar has taught geology at New Mexico Highlands University and New Mexico Tech. He is professor emeritus at Highlands.

"Since this is the first year for the Olympiad in New Mexico, the tournament is limited to ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders," says Bejnar. "We hope to expand to other grade levels in future tournaments."

Bejnar also hopes to establish regional competitions in the years ahead. "This year, we'll accept the first 20 teams from different schools that apply for the Olympiad."

For further information about the Olympiad, write to Dr. Waldemere Bejnar, Campus Box R, New Mexico Tech, Socorro, NM 87801.

People for Kids to Meet Dec. 4

People For Kids will meet on Thursday, Dec. 4, 1986 at 7 p.m. in the Carrizozo Schools Conference Room. All parents and interested persons are encouraged to attend and help plan activities, programs, and speakers for the coming months.

November PFK business included a review of a most successful Halloween Carnival. New PFK members joining at the carnival were presented with attractive membership cards designed and donated by Peter Aguilar and much appreciated by PFK!

Also contributing to the success of the PFK Halloween activities were the following businesses and individuals who purchased walking signs: Tommy's Barber Shop, Family Pharmacy, J.G. Moore Agency, Taste Freez, Ned's

Should You Inspect Your Christmas Lights?

We're here to Help

Now that the holiday season is fast approaching, make sure you have done everything possible to have a safe holiday by inspecting all of your holiday lighting. Never assume that your holiday lighting is all right. Make it a standard practice to inspect all lighting each year.

Carefully check all of your lighting for worn or decayed insulation and for cracked or broken bulbs and receptacles. Inspect the electrical connection. When it comes to holiday lighting, if in doubt — throw it out. It is much better to replace old or worn holiday lighting than to take a chance of spoiling the season with an accident.

4-H Awards Banquet

By BART McDONOUGH

Capitan 4-H Leader Willa Stone and her 4-H "people" put on an interesting awards banquet, Friday evening, Nov. 21, at the fair building in Capitan. A finger lickin hamburger supper and everything that goes with it was enjoyed by a crowd of over 50 4-H patrons.

The awards included: 6 year pins, Tonya Payton, Warren Russell, and Justin Washburn; 5 year pins, Sarah Dockery, Jay Eldridge and Jennifer Eldridge; 4 year pin, Aaron Russell; 3 year pins, Kelli Rogers, Kelley Witter, and Rachel Lacy; 2 year pins, Kyle Traylor, and Scott Irion; 1 year pins, Melissa Dark, Troy Stone, Danielle Townsend, Jeremy Turner, Michelle Payton, Tycie Traylor, and Tracey Stone; junior leader pins, Sarah Dockery, Tonya Payton and Kelli Rogers.

Officer pins were presented to the following: president, Warren Russell; vice president, Guy Payne; secretary, Kelli Rogers; treasurer, Chris Shanks, and reporter, Bryan Parker.

Some adults, who help the club to be the success it is, were presented with leader mugs. These people are: Betty Russell, vet science II, Preston Stone, horse judging, Wendy Witter, horse and horsemanship, Candy Trujillo, rabbits, Ann Dark, Fun with 4-H Foods, and Good for You, Idy Eldridge, This is 4-H, Karen and Buddy Payton, Rodeo, Hollis Fuchs, Hunter Safety, Howard Polk, Braiding, JoAnn Washburn, Vet science I, Willa Stone, Junior Leadership, 4-H Agent, Sid Gordon, and County Home Economist, Charlotte Hill were also recognized.

A few of the 4-H accomplishments during the past year include: Wool team took 1st at state, several members served as legislative pages in Santa Fe, operated a concession stand at the Lincoln County Fair, sent representatives to the state fair in Albuquerque and the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell. Justin Washburn traveled to Washington, DC and represented the Capitan 4-H Club.

4-H Leader Willa Stone announced that some of the awards will actually be presented at the Lincoln County 4-H Awards Banquet on December 7. This banquet will be in Corona at 3 p.m.

EASY AS PIE

A Christmas tree ornament party last Saturday kicked off the holiday season for many of the women participating. This year I was ready or so I thought. Early in October my plan for making 12 tiny wreaths took shape. I carefully cut 192 circles from various shades of soft material. Easy as pie I told myself.

Circumstances beyond my control caused the 3-inch circles to remain untouched in a box in my crowded unfinished projects closet.

Saturday at 8 a.m., the day of the ornament party, I machine gathered the 192 circles. Then son number 3 and I proceeded to place one cotton ball in each of 192 circles. This was to be followed by pulling the gathering threads on 192 circles and enclosing the 192 cotton balls. Easy as pie I told son number 3.

The next step involved stringing 16 'puffs' on a string, tying into a wreath shape, attaching a holder, adding a tiny red ribbon bow and a tiny bell on top of the bow. Easy as pie I told son number 3 again and son number 4 who asked if he could help.

At noon I gave the boys hot dogs on cold buns and gulped one down for energy. Then it was back to the cotton balls and gathered circles. The party was to start at 2 p.m. Easy as pie I told the boys as they played catch with a 'puff.'

One tiny wreath was constructed by 1:30 p.m. One hundred seventy-six puffs waited to be strung into 11 more wreaths.

I still needed to shampoo and curl my hair, fix my face and find something to wear. The boys wanted dessert (pie in particular). Dirty dishes and laundry were piled high. Cotton balls and snipped gathering threads littered the kitchen and living room.

Twenty minutes to 2 p.m. I called an ornament party participant to relay the message that something had come up and I would not be able to join her and the others.

I fixed myself a cold hot dog and thought about all those creative tree ornaments at the party, the scrumptious goodies to be served and the delightful company I missed.

Next year I will be smarter . . . I will begin my 12 tree ornament decorations in July. Easy as pie.

AT DAY'S END

Birdie Walker clipped and saved the following item. I share it with column readers:

Is anybody happier because you passed this way?

Does anyone remember that you spoke to him today?

The day is almost over, and its tolling time is through.

Is there anyone to utter a kindly word of you?

Can you say tonight, in parting with the day that's slipping fast, that you helped a single brother of the many that you passed?

Is a single heart rejoicing over what you did or said?

Does the man whose hopes were fading, now with courage look ahead?

Did you waste the day, or lose it? Was it well or sorely spent?

Did you leave a trail of kindness, or a scar of discontent?

As you close your eyes in slumber, do you think that God will say:

"You have earned one more tomorrow by the work you did today?"

THANKSGIVING PRAYER

Give us, Lord, a bit of sun, a bit of work and a bit of fun. Give us in all the struggle and sputter, our daily bread and a bit of butter.

Give us health, our keep to make, and a bit to spare for others' sake.

Give us, Lord, a chance to be our goodly best, brave, wise and free.

Our goodly best for ourself and others, all men learn to live as brothers.

Tularosa Basin Holiday Show

The second Annual Tularosa Basin Holiday Show will open to the public with a reception at The Gallery La Luz on Sunday, November 30 from 1 to 5 p.m. This is a juried show open to all artists and artisans within 100 mile of La Luz. All works are for sale in the categories of fine art, folk art, sculpture, collectibles and crafts.

A special feature this year will be evening hours on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday December 11, 12, and 13. These days the Gallery will be open from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. During these three days the Gallery will sponsor a Kiddy Korner for children's shopping offering gifts for $10. and under.

The Gallery La Luz is a non-profit cooperative gallery in the village of La Luz just north of Alamogordo. Due to construction, an alternate route to the Gallery is to take route 545 east from US 70. Turn right in the center of La Luz and the Gallery is located about 1/2 mile on the right. The Gallery is open every day from 1:30 to 5 p.m. The Holiday Show will run through December 31.

Certified Nail Technicians

Terri Smith and Patty Saucedo attended a 'Lady Finger' clinic at the Holiday Inn in Alamogordo on Nov. 11. They are now both certified nail technicians.

Surveys show 90 percent of the tires on the road are underinflated.

A NEWS EDITORIAL

Property Taxes & Valuation Notices

Property taxes are things that people gripe about, pay and usually gripe about some more. This year though, there seem to be more gripes than usual and we decided to try and find out if there is a reason why so many people are unhappy about their property taxes.

The process for assessing property is handled by the Lincoln County Assessor's office which is located in the Lincoln County courthouse in Carrizozo. Numerous employees have been trained to assess property and report their findings to the assessor. This year, the employees have been working extra hard because they were required, as was every county in the state, to bring property values up to the 1980 values. This has not been done for quite some time and meant changing all values because values for land were at the 1972 level and buildings, etc. were at the 1975 values.

Just changing or bringing the values up eight years on land and five years on buildings, etc. was going to bring a change in valuations. This past spring the assessor's office sent 'Notices of Valuation' to property owners. While these 'Notices of Valuation' did not contain a bill, they did contain very important information that property owners should have read and considered before filing away. Several people have said they didn't even look at the notices simply because they were printed with "This is Not a Bill."

Ignoring this important piece of mail has cost property owners not only in Lincoln County but all over the state. One prominent person said, "I just assumed that it would be the same and I didn't bother to look at it until after I received my tax bill and then it was too late." He found out that the notice of valuation had very important information on it. One of the things it had was a change of classification from grazing land to subdivision. It would have been the same if it had been changed from grazing land to irrigated or miscellaneous, because once a classification is changed, the amount of taxes will change but the property owner will not know how much the change is until about the first of September when the tax bill is delivered.

Property owners need to be aware that property taxes are arrived at in a two-step process. The notice of valuation is sent to property owners sometime in January or February, and certainly before April 1. Property owners have 30 days from the date of the mailing in which to protest if they disagree with a valuation. This protest should be made in writing to the assessor's office. Not receiving a notice of valuation does not excuse any property owner from being responsible for making sure his property is valued correctly. A legal is run in the NEWS for three weeks usually in January telling property owners about the valuation process.

The notice of valuation has two pages. There are instructions on the back of both pages. These should be read. These notices should be kept from year to year with other important property papers and owners should compare notices of valuation from year to year to make sure there have been no drastic changes. If there have been any changes, that is the time to question it, not later when the tax bill arrives.

Property is classified in several categories: grazing, irrigated, subdivision, commercial, homesite, and miscellaneous. The homesite classification is any property outside a subdivision that has a residence on it. Miscellaneous covers everything else. Each classification is taxed at a different rate and any time classification of property changes, the taxes due on that property will change. In addition, any property classified as grazing land must also have the livestock listed such as cattle, sheep, swine, horses and goats. If the livestock being grazed belongs to someone other than the property owner, that information must be included on the back of the notice of valuation with the name of the livestock owner listed.

The re-evaluation of all property has been a major project for each and every county in the state. Not only were they required to bring the values of property up to 1980 values, they had to include improvements, etc. that might possibly have been omitted or had changed since the last valuation. The notice of valuation also includes a mobile home report for property owners owning a mobile home.

While the notice of valuation does not include a dollar amount of taxes due, it does list the value of the property and then lists the taxable value of the property which is one-third of the value. Any property owner who disagrees with the notice of valuation must contact the assessor's office within 30 days to file a protest.

Tax rates are an entirely different matter and tax rates are set by the state. Tax rates cannot be set until each and every county has sent in to Santa Fe their valuation for their entire county and only then can the state set the tax rate. The tax rate is then sent back to the county and the property assessed according to the valuation set and supposedly agreed upon by property owners when they do not file a protest and explain the situation. In many of these cases it amounts to talking to the assessor and getting the record straight. In others it will mean an official protest and as in the case of the prominent person mentioned earlier, he just paid the taxes assessed and said that next year he will read his notice of valuation. Perhaps we should all read our mail more carefully in the future. The property taxes we keep from being raised may be our own.

The Horrors of Senate Republican Defeat: Chairman Kennedy — and Pell

WASHINGTON — Recall, if you can stomach it, the unconscionable behavior of those two unrestrained hell-raisers, The Chap from Quiddick and Delaware's Holy Joe Biden, during last summer's unsavory "Rehnquistion."

Ask yourself if any of the alleged mudslinging ("Negative TV Spots") was as dirty as the treatment afforded to Justice Rehnquist by Teddy and Joe. And then contemplate, in the remembrance of this dark period in the history of the Senate, that the chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee will be given by the Democrats to one of these two tar bucket boys for at least two years. Senator Teddy has announced that he would prefer to head the Labor Committee. So any Supreme Court nominee will have to face the Delaware Demagogue.

If this is grim — and it surely is — please brace yourself for the new Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rhode Island's Clalborne Pell.

Senator Pell, whose constituency includes the huge US Navy facility at Newport, might surely be presumed to be somewhat acquainted with the history of the Navy, and the history of the United States. But, like Baltimore's Bellowing Barbara Mikulski, who flunked so badly and was elected as Maryland's junior Democratic senator despite her pronounced ignorance of foreign policy (in that TV station's snap quiz), Senator Pell is — well, not terribly bright. At one Senate hearing, for example, Pell attracted national attention by asking:

"Where is Guadalcanal?" As Washington Times columnist Wes Pruden put it so euphemistically:

"He is not always the first man in the Senate to figure out what is going on." Actually, Mr. Pruden is referring to the fact that on Capitol Hill, Senator Clalborne Pell is widely known as "Stillborn."

By the time that Senator Pell takes over, two months will have elapsed — and mercifully for the Reagan Administration. For otherwise, Chairman Pell might conduct a probe into the incredible absurdity of Bud McFarlane's Bible-Aud-Cake Mission to Iran — which ended in further humiliation of the United States, along with the near-resignation of Secretary of State George Shultz, who wasn't told about this secret diplomacy.

How on earth could McFarlane have allowed himself to become involved in so trying to influence Tehran's Moslem fanatics, with a Reagan autographed Bible and a piece of cake shaped like a key? Instead of achieving any of the assistance in obtaining the release of US hostages, which was the apparent purpose of this fool's errand, McFarlane and his party were jailed for five days and then booted out of the country. If it is really true that we have been trading arms to Iran for release of US hostages, this is a national disgrace.

When is the Reagan Administration going to learn the important difference between diplomacy and appeasement? When will they learn the uselessness of trying to negotiate with fanatics?

Senator Pell may not be the known the location of Guadacanal, but he does have some idea where Nicaragua is — and he has announced that he will be focusing on that area in forthcoming hearings. He will attempt to discredit the Nicaraguan Resistance, with the invaluable aid of his neighboring senator, John Kerry of the People's Republic of Massachusetts. Sen. Kerry will be remembered as having conducted an investigation of the Contras which, for unintended comedy, resembled the Keystone Kops on LSD.

-Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — There are two often conflicting tides running in state government at the moment, and it's going to be interesting to see which overcomes the other.

One of them, of course, is generated by the "ins" on their way out, and the other is generated by the "outs" on their way in.

The first is caused by efforts by the Anaya people and some others who are completing four-year terms in office to achieve certain things for which circumstances have made it "nor or never" time. Among them are these:

—To try to "freeze" positions held by their own favorites and supporters, so they can't be fired by the new Republican administration about to take power. (That's a lot of what that decision to reorganize the Department of Health and Environment one last time before departing was based on.)

—To hand out such contracts as can still be made to seem plausible to other buddies who many not be favored positions when Garrey Carruthers moves into the governor's chair. (There was one such recently for the strange face amount of $4998.99 — just $1.02 below the figure that would have required that the project go out to bid to find the best supplier.)

—And to push projects they want to get adopted before the passage of time sweeps them from office. (One of those went down to defeat last week when the board of Economic Development and Tourism voted to scrap an Anaya proposal they thought wouldn't work. What's more, they performed this insult in Moriarty, the Anaya hometown.)

NEWCOMERS: Meanwhile, on the third floor of the Roundhouse, just one floor

down from Anaya's office, the Carruthers people are concentrating, as they should, on learning as many facts as possible about the government we have in place at this time.

Their major instrument in achieving that end is the naming of what they call "transition teams," to go into every major governmental agency and take a look at how it is operating.

A better name for these groups, chosen with great care, might be "investigative teams," because that is what they really are. They have been sent out to dig into what's really going on, so that the Republicans, taking power at the top here after many years out of office, will not face any surprising and unprovided-for explosions during their first months on the job.

PEOPLE: Operations of this kind are only as good as the people assigned to them. So far, those named for Carruthers by Maralyn Budke, his chief aide, and Russell Autrey, who is heading up the transition, have been the kind of sharp-eyed questioners who will bring home lots of the sort of information that will be needed. They include names like Tom Hoover, a former legislator; Harris Hartz, who used to head the Governor's Organized Crime Commission; Al Uffon, who knows as much about water law as anyone around; and Joe Mercer, who ran well in the Republican primary for the governor's job this year.

To put it simply, the Carruthers folks aren't just accepting from their predecessors some vague statements about the state of the state. They're taking the trouble to go out and find the hard facts for themselves.

Grand Juries; Grand Duties!

By RUTH HAMMOND

Harlan F. Stone, the late Chief Justice of the United States, said, "Jury service is one of the highest duties of citizenship, for by it the citizen participates in the administration of justice between man and man, and between government and individual."

Being summoned for grand jury duty can be not only a new experience for an individual, it can cause a certain amount of apprehension among those people who know the prospective juror. They don't know what the juror can do or say about the trial or hearing or matter being brought before the grand jury.

Grand jury duty can bring an avalanche of questions as to what the duties of the juror are and exactly what a grand jury does.

Grand juries are impaneled for a period of three months unless the circumstances, in the opinion of the presiding judge, require the jurors to serve for a longer or shorter period and depending on the subject matter under inquiry.

A grand jury is composed of twelve citizens who have qualified as required by law, and who have been selected at random by the district court from the voter registration rolls of the county for which a grand jury is impaneled.

Grand juries may be convened by two different methods as provided in the state constitution. A grand jury may be convened upon order of a judge of court empowered to try and determine cases of capital, felonious or infamous crimes at such times when it shall be deemed necessary, or a grand jury shall be convened by the court upon the filing of a petition signed by not less than the lesser of 200 registered voters or five percent of the registered voters.

The grand jury becomes an independent branch of the judicial process and is composed of 12 jurors, however, any number of alternate grand jurors are usually selected and the district court may discharge or excuse members of the grand jury panel and substitute alternate grand jurors as necessary.

Generally, it is the duty of a grand jury to inquire into all criminal offenses committed or triable within the county. A hearing before a grand jury is not a judicial trial of an accused, but rather a judicial inquiry to determine whether there is "probable cause" for an accused to be formally charged with the commission of a specific crime or crimes, and be required to stand trial on such charge or charges.

The New Mexico State Constitution provides that no person shall be held to answer for a capital, felonious or infamous crime unless on indictment of a grand jury or information by a district attorney or attorney general.

An indictment, also called a True Bill, is a written accusation by a grand jury that charges a defendant with committing a criminal offense against the law of the State of New Mexico.

If an indictment is returned by the grand jury, the defendant will then be entitled to a trial by a jury before a petit jury on the charge or charges in the indictment. A petit jury is the trial jury which will determine the guilt or innocence of persons who are indicted by the grand jury.

Grand jurors by law must meet privately with only those persons before the grand jury who are necessary for the jury to carry out its investigations and functions. This means that when the grand jury is receiving evidence, only the 12 jury members, a court reporter, a witness, an interpreter if necessary, and a prosecutor from the staff of the district attorney or attorney general may be present.

After the grand jury has received the evidence presented, all aides to the grand jury must be excused from the grand jury's presence and the grand jury must carry out its deliberations completely in private and vote in private with no other persons present except for the 12 grand jury members.

Each witness who appears before the grand jury will generally be questioned by the district attorney or one of his assistants, however, individual grand jurors may also question witnesses concerning relevant or appropriate matters.

All procedures except deliberations of the grand jury must be taken down and reported verbatim and the notes or transcriptions certified by the court reporter or stenographer making them, with the notes or transcriptions being deposited with the district court clerk or other officer of the district court as directed by the district judge.

Each grand jury member before qualifying as a grand juror is required to take an oath that such juror will forever keep secret whatever evidence or testimony is presented before the grand jury and to keep secret all proceedings conducted while in session.

State law requires that the person or persons who are the target of a grand jury's investigation concerning possible criminal indictment, shall be notified of their target status and be given an opportunity to testify if they desire to do so.

The person who is a target of grand jury investigation may not be subpoenaed before the grand jury, except where it is found by the prosecuting attorney to be essential to the investigation.

As in all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall have the right to appear and defend himself in person, and by counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation.

Attorneys for a target witness or accused may be present in the grand jury room, however, the attorney for a target witness may be present only while the target witness is testifying and may advise the witness, but may not speak so that he can be heard by the grand jurors or otherwise participate in the proceedings.

The traditional role of the grand jury is to accuse, not to convict. An indictment, or true bill, by a grand jury does not even create a presumption of guilt, all that it charges must

Local Roundups
J.P.C. Langston, deputy sheriff, made a flying trip to the San Andreas and returned—last Monday night. He is a rustler.

The North Homestake mine has reached the 800 foot mark in sinking the shaft, and will crowd the depth to the 1,000 foot level as rapidly as possible.

Jim Currey was liberated from the pen last week. He had received a commutation of half his term of service for the killing of Foley.

The whole country is looking fresh, with its new coat of green. Grass is growing rapidly and stock improving faster than anticipated a few weeks since.

Ye Political pot boils just now. The temperature is rising; both parties claim they will win. The G.O.P. will come out a long ways ahead. Ta, Ta! Old Bourbon!

W.F. Henderson, late Judge of this judicial district, died in Arkansa last week. This will be a surprise to his many friends here, as he was in the prime of life and of strong physique, and so far as known was not afflicted with any disease save democracy, which he had in its direst form, but that is seldom fatal except morally.

Sheriff Nowlin arrived in town on Friday morning from El Paso and rolled on to Lincoln. If he had any news, he carried it in his grip-sack, for he didn't give us an atom. We like to see a fellow who goes abroad come back loaded, a little, anyway. That's the way we returned.

J. H. Huntington, of Silver City, a geologist and mining expert, is visiting this place for the purpose of looking into the geology of this section, and collecting mineral specimens, to gain an intelligent idea of this part of New Mexico.

The irrepressible Dick Cavanaugh struck town on Thursday morning, where he found many genial and congenial friends. He says he is not now connected with the "water wagon" but deals wholly in "straight goods."

Messrs. Bonnell and Comry returned from their fishing excursion on the Ruidoso river Monday night, and complain that they had a most enjoyable time. The only cause for complaining, was that they could not remain longer. Fishing? Well to be sure;—until you could not rest—away up into the hundreds. Then one of the pleasant features of the trip consisted in the meeting of a party of Boys in Blue, from Ft. Stanton, who treated our townsmen so hospitably that they nearly captured them—if not really, surely figuratively; and all together they had a royal time. Of course everyone whose good fortune has been to bring them in contact with the boys of Ft. Stanton, know they are a splendid and jolly crew—none better. We only wish we had been there.

F.O. Blood, for years a respected citizen of White Oaks, who has so since got married and in a nest of children, lives at San Marcial, where he holds a reputable and honorable position under the A.T.&S.F.R.R., and was a delegate to the Republican League Convention at Santa Fe. Fred was always a good boy and as his years increase the man seems to follow his rear and boy-hood to stretch out invitingly in his pathway. May he live to be a very old boy, is the hope of all who know him here in the days of yore.

There is no doubt now but that the New West Academy of White Oaks, will open its school year about October first. Those contemplating patronizing this institution should make their arrangements accordingly—especially those who live at a distance. There is no better school for boys and girls in the Territory.

Hot weather for this locality still continues. But compared to other sections, both east and west, this is a veritable elysium.

Ed Homan, one of the best boys who ever left White Oaks for Tularosa or any other point, is visiting our town this week.

Mr. U. Ozanne returned from a trip to Roswell, Monday night last, and reports everything in that section moving along in the line of progress. Mr. Ozanne is enthusiastic in description of the present condition and the future prospects of the Pecos Valley country.

It was held by some of our people that Seeds, of Iowa, recently appointed Judge of New Mexico, was assigned to take the place of Judge Whitemen. We have authority to state, that Mr. Seeds will preside at the next term of Court in this county, and was appointed Judge of this judicial district. He is not an old seed, being only 35 years of age.

Bingo Proceeds Taken

Robbery in Alamogordo

ALAMOGORDO, NM—The Department of Public Safety in Alamogordo is looking for two men in connection with the robbery of the assistant manager of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, located at 800 Oregon Ave.

Officers investigating the case say they have no leads at this time. According to the DPS report on the robbery, on Sunday, October 19, 1986, the assistant manager left the VFW shortly after 9:30 p.m. and went to his car with two bank bags. One of the bags contained an undetermined amount of cash and checks from the evening's bingo games.

Grand Juries...

be later proved before the trial jury, and then beyond a reasonable doubt.

To return a true bill or an indictment, eight grand jurors or more out of the 12 regular members of the grand jury must concur in their vote.

The performance of grand jury service is the fulfillment of a duty of citizenship. Conscientious service brings its own reward in the satisfaction of an important task well done.

There is no more valuable work that each citizen can perform in support of the judicial department of our state than the full and honest discharge of grand jury service.

The effectiveness of the democratic system is largely measured by the integrity, the intelligence and the effort of grand jurors who serve as grand jurors in our state.

The assistant manager told officers he was enroute to the bank to make a night deposit of those funds. Two men approached his car and specifically asked for the bingo bag. One of the men produced a long barreled, blue semi-automatic pistol, possibly .22 caliber of a BB gun.

The two men are described as being white males, 5 feet, 8 inches to 5 feet, 9 inches tall, both had slim builds, and both were possibly in their teens. The man with the pistol is described as having sandy, neck-length hair and a thin goatee beard. He was wearing faded jeans and a black or blue t-shirt.

Share Bears Project

Helps Needy Children

In an effort to raise $500,000 for underprivileged and needy children in West Texas and New Mexico, the Furr's Foundation has launched the Share Bear Christmas Campaign.

In the first two weeks of the campaign, the Share Bear project has raised $100,000—1/5 of the half million dollar goal.

The money is being raised through the sale of Share Bears in grocery stores that support the Furr's Foundation effort. Each Share Bear sells for $12.99 and $5 of the purchase price goes directly into the Share Bear Christmas Fund.

The Furr's Foundation, a philanthropic arm of Furr's Inc., will distribute the funds several days before Christmas. Share Bears are being sold in 44 cities and the $500,000 will be donated in those cities. Because the Share Bears are being offered for sale in Carrizozo, a percentage of the fund will be donated to worthy causes here.

Roland Hasenoehrl, president of Furr's, Inc. and co-director of the Share Bear Campaign, said, "We have a team of researchers studying the social organizations in each of our target cities. We will make a donation to the organization or organizations that appear to be in the most need. Our goal is to give a gift that never ends and that's why we want to help those who help kids."

By supporting children's organizations such as shelters for abused and neglected children, low-income day care centers, recreational programs, low-income health clinics and other projects, the Share Bear Christmas Campaign hopes to give kids a chance to grow up with both strong bodies and healthy minds.

"There are thousands of children in need," said Hasenoehrl, "and it takes a great deal of money to help. I know that we can raise a half million dollars with the help of the good folks in this community."

Various grocery stores are supporting the Furr's Foundation project by handling the sale of Share Bears. Each of the supporting stores has a large Share Bear display and information about the project. The employees wear buttons that say "Ask Me For The Bear Facts" and the store's weekly advertising includes news about the project.

Share Bear himself is a cuddly 24" tall, has honey-toned fur and is decked out in a jaunty red cap and scarf. Made from plush materials, the toy exceeds all government safety standards for stuffed toys.

According to Hasenoehrl, the initial introduction of the Share Bear Campaign has been phenomenal. "Share Bear has been on the market only a few weeks, and we've already raised $100,000," said Hasenoehrl. "As we get nearer to Christmas, I feel that sales will pick up. As more and more folks hear about our fund-raising project, I think Share Bear will become very popular. This is a golden opportunity to buy a gift for a child and to help a needy child at the same time. I'm convinced we will raise our $500,000.

A LOCAL RESIDENT discovers that the new high pressure, foam brush car wash system in Corona is great for removing all that mud from any part of his vehicle. The Corona Car Wash, located west of the Shell Station, is now open for business.

ON MY OWN

The Lawn Elves

This late afternoon I went out to mow the lawn and the lawn was already mowed.

Those of you with offspring who rush out with clippers as soon as planter-box geraniums grow 1/4-inch too long, will doubtless snap your fingers upon hearing of my good fortune and say "So what?"

However in this single parent household, where everybody is supposed to pitch in because "Mommy can't do it all herself," it has been my consistent experience that our dandelion-decorated front lawn could grow to waist high and the kids would say:

(1) I told you that I'd do it tomorrow. (Tomorrow, next century)

(2) I did it last time. It's my sister's turn. (Actually I did it last time, but that doesn't count)

(3) It looks o.k. to me. (It looks o.k. for an Amazon forest)

However not only was the lawn miraculously mowed, but all the clippings were swept up instead of waiting for a stiff wind to blow them onto my neighbor's property.

In astonishment, I went indoors and asked which wonderful kid had done the good deed. Each looked at me as if I had gone even more doty than usual and smirked. "Do you really think we would do something like that?"

When I was a kid, back in push-mower days, I used to mow the lawn for my folks. I did it because it got me out of helping with the housework. I also was permitted to go outside in T-shirt and shorts without Momma nagging that I was "indecently exposed." One never knew what fine fellows might be dragging down our well-traveled street and therefore, as an ambitious teenager, I once mowed the dried-up lawn three times in one summer week.

My daughters have never shared this practical philosophy. T-shirts and shorts to them are overdressed, and I have restricted bikini bathing suits to the beach. In addition, they couldn't possibly go out and mow the lawn until they put on full makeup, without which they consider themselves naked. This process takes half the day and so fires them out, that if I ask them to mow, I am accused of child abuse.

Therefore not even a curled mascara'd eyelash is ever twitched when I tell them our neighbors, with manicured lawns and clipped edges, will point to our patch of weeds and say, "Aha... you see, that's what happens when you don't have a man in the house." I tell my kids it's a matter of pride. "It doesn't bother our pride," they retort.

Gymnasiums they can go to. Health spas they can go to. Tumbling they can go to. Power mowers take too much strength and weaken them for exercise.

My lawn, as I write this is still mowed. I have peeked three times to make certain neatness hasn't gone away.

Somebody even watered the lawn afterward. It smells great, new-mown watered lawn.

I'm reminded of the story of "The Elves and the Shoemaker."

And sometimes I think my kids actually like me.

By Margaret Rench

I wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving, may Gods blessing be with you.

We awakened to one degree this morning. Sunday was 14 to 18 degrees throughout the day. We did have 3/10 of an inch of light rain then light snow and ice. Very little sun last week.

The Smokey Bear Museum will be closed Thanksgiving Day.

There were 453 registered visitors at Smokey Bear Museum from Nov. 17-23. Wednesday, Mr. Carlton H. Cannon from Helen, GA visited there. This is the town where the first Cabbage Patch Dolls were made. Mr. Cannon fought in the Capitan fire in 1950 and he remembers Smokey. The 19th there were 15 4th graders from the Moncano School in Albuquerque. The 23rd Fred Provine brought his girlfriend from Maine to enjoy it. That same day a very nice fan of Smokey Bear from Pennsylvania was in Sunday. A group of Cub Scouts, the Tigers from Ruidoso, visited the park and museum.

The trash will not be picked up Thanksgiving Day. They will do that Friday, Nov. 28.

There will be no bingo played Thursday due to Thanksgiving.

The Capitan School will turn out 12:45 p.m. for Thanksgiving and will take up Monday, Dec. 1.

The basketball season is just beginning. Everyone please try to attend as many games as possible to show your support for our fine young athletes. Go Tigers!

Robert Runnels had a deer hunting doctor from Louisiana who killed a really unusual buck. Some speculated that it was a cross between a mule deer and a reindeer. It wasn't a "Cactus buck" though.

Happy belated birthday to Lula Runnels whose day was Nov. 9. She was a beautiful 93 years young. Then these happy birthday wishes are for Curtis Payne and his daughter Tammie whose birthdays are Dec. 1; to Melinda Strickland Dec. 3; and Rhonda Reeves Dec. 4.

The Capitan Roundtable Club met at the home of Leota Pffingsten Nov. 20. Delicious ham and turkey served with other food brought in by members was enjoyed by members Mary Dean, Marie Edgar, Bessie Jones, Hattie Phillips, Amolene McIntosh, Frances Shaw and Alice Traylor. Guest was Nancy Humble. Members absent were Harriet McGinnis and Maureen Sullivan.

Cornhusk dolls with roundtable letters on them were favors. Amolene won the raffle. Amolene is vice president. She called the meeting to order and officers for 1987 were voted on as follows: Amolene McIntosh, president; Leota Pffingsten, vice president; Frances Shaw, secretary-treasurer; Mary Dean, historian; and Gladys Pew, reporter.

Names were drawn for exchange gifts for the Christmas meeting. Also names were drawn from Ruidoso Health Center by members to give a Christmas gift. The next meeting will be in the home of Frances Shaw on Dec. 18. Correspondence read were thank you cards from Harriet McGinnis and Winifred Cozzens.

SCENIC SIGN - This beautiful sign was installed last week in Capitan across from Randle Real Estate Investments. It is sponsored by the Corriente, CowBelles and lists many of the area ranchers and their brands.

Thanksgiving at Space Center

ALAMOGORDO—This Thanksgiving holiday the Space Center will be open for your enjoyment. Treat the family or your out-of-town guests to the exciting new OM-NIMAX film, "BEHOLD HAWAII" and its planetarium co-feature "THE STARS OF KAMEHAMEHA" at the Clyde W. Tombaugh Space Theater.

In addition, a large traveling exhibit of authentic Hawaiian artifacts and implements will be on display at the theater to enhance your understanding and enjoyment of the film.

And don't forget the latest exhibits and artifacts on display at the International Space Hall of Fame. A 20' by 20', 1/15 scale model of NASA's dual keel space station design is the newest display on the recently renovated fourth floor.

Tough Issues Tackled at Annual Meeting

Wolves, water and wilderness are three issues that will be in the forefront when delegates to the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau's Annual Meeting gather in Roswell Dec. 3-5 to develop official policy for the coming year.

The state's largest agricultural organization will consider more than 100 resolutions during the confab which is slated for the Sally Port Inn. Ranchers and farmers will make policy on proposals to reintroduce the Mexican Gray Wolf, add more federal wilderness area to the state and address numerous water issues boiling in the state.

One of the nation's leading agricultural economists, John K. Hosemann of the American Farm Bureau Federation will examine legislative and economic priorities of the country's largest farm and ranch organization. Hosemann speaks at 1:30 Wednesday, Dec. 3 in the Colt Room.

Other convention highlights include an address by Governor-elect Garrey Carruthers and a look at agriculture in the year 2000 by Dr. Lowell Catlett, a New Mexico State University economist. Carruthers will speak at 8:45 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 4 and Catlett at 1:15 that afternoon. Both events will take place in the Colt Room.

During the banquet at 7 p.m. Dec. 4, NM Farm Bureau president, William McIlhenny will present the citation for Distinguished Service to Agriculture and announce the selection of the Top Young Farmer/Rancher and Farm Bureau Family of the Year. Master of Ceremonies will be NMSU Dean of Agriculture, John Owens.

Hondo Valley News

By PAM McARTHUR

You know you have the flu when your head feels like the Carlsbad Caverns, your lungs like lava beds, and your throat like the staked plains. On his 49th birthday, I told Mae, "Don't kiss me, you'll catch it!"

Attending the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Club meeting Thursday, Nov. 20 were Phyllis Zumwalt (a co-hostess), Dorothy Talley, Louise Joiner, and Rowena Radcliff. The program by Frank and Mora Titworth included readings from the diary which Mora's mother, Mrs. Bill Ferguson, kept when she traveled by covered wagon to the ranch at Nogal, from June 20 to October 21, 1899. Mora shared family stories and showed items which her mother had carried from Kansas on the trip. One was an heirloom pitcher which had been used for making and keeping sour dough. Also at the meeting, club members heard a report by 4-H member

Chad Kaiser of Ruidoso. One of four students who made the summer trip to Washington for the Study in Citizenship, Chad told about his experiences. Eld Gordon, 4-H County Agent said there are approximately 350 4-H members in Lincoln County. He explained the symbols for 4-H, Head, Heart, Hands and Health.

These facts caught my attention recently. One of the first settlements of Chaves County was Missouri Plaza. Named for the men there who were freighters to Kansas City and St. Joseph, most of the villagers were Mexican families who had come from Valencio County. The town, about 15 miles west of Roswell on the Hondo River, was abandoned in the 1870s when upstream irrigation reduced the water needed for their use.

Last week I passed a wild turkey between San Patricio and Glencoe. He looked perplexed at the traffic. It was a switch because I am usually the one all the turkeys pass on Highway 70. Reminds me of a sign at the edge of Hondo, TX. Bill-board size and in bold print it says to motorists, "This is God's country. Please don't drive through it like hell!"

Mr. Robert O. Anderson, Picoacho, was selected to receive the American Petroleum Institute's highest award, the Gold Medal for distinguished achievement. It was presented during the second general session of the API's annual meeting in Houston, Nov. 11. Cited for his "noteworthy accomplishments to the petroleum industry," Mr. Anderson is the second member of his family to be so honored. His father, the late Hugo A. Anderson was the recipient of the API Gold Medal in 1969.

Hondo School will be closed for Thanksgiving holidays Nov. 27-28.

May our homes and hearts be glad with gratitude. Peace.

THINKING "THEIR TIME IS UP" Hercules (Tommy Mulkey) and Wilbur (Travis Lightfoot) settle up a debt while Mr. Quigley (Jason Gibbs) exclaims, "This is unbelievable!" upon finding the boys being held at gunpoint. The scene was from "Finders Creepers" presented by the junior and senior classes of Corona High School last Friday.

Jr.-Sr. Class Play

Finders Creepers

"Finders Creepers" by Donald Payton, an amusing 3-act mystery-comedy play, was presented by Corona juniors and seniors last Friday evening.

Travis Lightfoot played the spirited 13 year old Wilbur Maxwell while Tommy Mulkey was his pal, Hercules Nelson. The play centered on their "quiet" weekend with Hercules' Aunt Mary and Uncle Bob, played by Michelle Cope and Sharon Sanchez.

Other cast members included Julie Furgason as Celeste, Wilbur's girlfriend; Beverly Bell as Nina, Hercules' girlfriend; Kim Worley as Frankie, Celeste's younger sister. Uncle Bob's 75 year old grandmother was portrayed by a lively Tammy Sulstemer and 75 year old Mr. Quigley was Jason Gibbs. Tracie Proctor played his sister Madeline.

Danny Cordova as Dr. Brown, Eric Wetzel as lawyer Harry Shuster, Wanda Miller as the maid Daphne, and Lee Land as the caretaker rounded out the cast.

The play was directed by Corona High School teacher Joan Trotter. Richard Lightfoot assisted with makeup; stage hands were Alvie McKibben, Sandra Copeland and Chad Brown.

Ramblings

By Rosalie Dunlap

News will be short this week as we were gone and I lost my voice.

We had some snow and cold weather over the weekend again. Hopefully, we will have a nice Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap made a business trip to Las Cruces and Albuquerque last week. While in Las Cruces, they attended the NMSU Pioneers Annual Meeting and the NMSU-Yugoslavia basketball game.

Bob Dunlap, 84 years old, of T or C was laid to rest in T or C Friday. Some of the old timers will remember Bob when he worked for the NM Game and Fish Department. Among his survivors are a son, Joe Dunlap of Ruidoso and a daughter Mildred Anderson of Roswell. Ralph Dunlap of Lincoln was a cousin.

Everyone in Lincoln is getting ready for the holidays — either expecting company or going somewhere to visit family and friends.

A large number of Lincoln County residents attended the pre-trial water rights hearing in Roswell, Monday. After an overflow crowd show up at the Federal Building, the hearing was moved to the NMMI Pearson Auditorium.

Happy Thanksgiving to everyone!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing to receive comments on the use of helicopters and motorized vehicles to gather wild burros in the Three Rivers area of New Mexico will be held at 6:00 P.M., December 3, 1986, in the County Commission Room of the Otero County Courthouse. The Resource Management Plan for the White Sands Resource Area, adopted by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in October 1986, calls for removing the small herd of burros because it is not genetically viable. These animals will be made available to the public through adoption. Whenever helicopters or motorized vehicles are being considered for capturing wild horses or burros on public lands, a hearing is required under Public Laws 92-195 and 94-579. The Otero County Courthouse is located at the corner of 10th and New York Streets, in Alamogordo, NM.

Most Thanksgiving Food is American

Any of the traditional Thanksgiving foods are gifts the Americas gave to the world, says Jim Sais, Extension horticulturist for New Mexico State University.

The turkey is a native of the Americas. Early Spanish conquistadors found Indians feasting on turkeys. Spaniards called turkey pavo because its fanned tail resembled the peacock, or the pavo real.

One can easily start an argument at the table when asking which foods originated in the Americas, Sais says. One person might believe there is nothing more American than apples, while another is certain that Irish potatoes could not possibly have come from anywhere but Ireland.

However, both are wrong, says Sais. Many of our native foods were taken to Europe, where they became widely accepted, then made the long journey back to the New World.

Potatoes are a vegetable that did just that. They were introduced to England from South America, where they were highly valued by an Inca civilization centered in Peru. In Europe, potatoes gained in popularity and became a staple. The Irish were so dependent on potatoes that in 1846, a potato blight in Ireland caused a famine.

Corn was perhaps the most important food crop used by native Americans, notes Sais. The exact origin of corn is unknown, but it was grown extensively throughout the Americas. When Coronado came to New Mexico in 1542, he found it flourishing along the Rio Grande and carefully attended by Pueblo Indians. During his stay, Coronado relied heavily on the stored granaries in the pueblos to sustain his army.

Squanto, the famed Indian agriculturist was reported to have taught the early English colonists how to plant corn.

Pumpkins and squash were used throughout the United States by native American tribes. These cucurbits were commonly grown along with corn. They could be protected from freezing by stacking corn stalks, in teepee fashion, around the pumpkins. These crops were also dried for winter use. Seeds not needed for planting the next year were roasted and eaten, as well.

Of all the vegetable gifts from the New World to the Old World, none took as long to be appreciated as the tomato. After centuries of use in South America and Mexico, tomatoes were taken to Europe where they were grown only as a curiosity. Europeans were reluctant to eat tomatoes because they belong to the nightshade family, known for its poisonous qualities.

Sweet potatoes were grown and used as food by natives in the Americas hundreds of years before Columbus made his historic voyage.

Snap beans are also native to the Americas. Cliff dwellers in the Southwest grew beans for food thousands of years ago. Not only were green beans consumed in the green stage, they were also allowed to mature and were served as dry beans.

Cranberries are a part of almost every Thanksgiving meal. There are some varieties that are native to Europe, but the cranberry used commercially in this country is native to the eastern part of North America, says Sais.

The pineapple used to adorn holiday ham is also native to the Americas. Columbus discovered pineapple on one of his later voyages to the New World. In one of his journals he wrote of finding a fruit that resembled green pine cones, but had fragrant, sweet flesh. Pineapple was found growing in the Amazon Valley and was confined to tropical America.

The Jerusalem artichoke is native to North and South America. Discovered in 1605, it was eaten by Indians and was later taken to Europe. Although Jerusalem artichoke has never been an important food crop, it is gaining in popularity, notes Sais.

Many New Mexicans can hardly serve a meal without including chile. Chile and other members of the pepper family are native to South America, Central America and Mexico.

Regardless of your Thanksgiving menu, chances are good that more than one of the dishes will be gifts the Americas gave to the world.

Stir Frying—Quicker & Easier

Anyone who can slice, chop, stir and pour can be a great Oriental chef in minutes thanks to this "Classic Cantonese Stir-Fry" recipe and new bottled Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce. The hardest thing you have to do is decide whether to use beef, chicken or pork. The rest is a snap! What makes a good stir-fry great is the sauce. And, there's no measuring, mixing or thickening needed for this great tasting sauce because it's already been done for you. Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce is a delicious blend of naturally brewed soy sauce, sherry wine, garlic, oyster extract and other carefully selected seasonings that gives virtually everything you stir-fry an authentic Oriental flavor every time. Serve this classic with hot, fluffy rice and taste why stir-frying is becoming one of the most popular cooking methods in America.

CLASSIC CANTONESE STIR-FRY

- 3/4 pound boneless tender beef, lean pork or chicken
- 1 tablespoon Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- 2 small zucchini, cut crosswise into 1/4-inch slices
- 1 onion, chunked
- 12 cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1/4 cup Kikkoman Stir-Fry Sauce

Cut beef across grain into thin slices, then into slivers; coat with 1 tablespoon stir-fry sauce. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in hot wok or large skillet over high heat. Add beef and stir-fry 1 minute; remove. Heat remaining oil in same pan. Add zucchini and onion; stir-fry 4 minutes. Stir in beef, tomatoes and 1/4 cup stir-fry sauce. Cook and stir until meat and vegetables are coated with sauce and tomatoes are heated through. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.
