Cozzens Replaces Hays

At a special meeting of the Capitan Board of Education on Feb. 5 L. C. Cozzens was selected to replace departing superintendent Leonard Hays on a four month interim basis. Cozzens will help with the budget and the selection of a full time superintendent.

Cozzens is a 1940 graduate of Capitan High School. He served as the Portales School Superintendent for many years before his retirement a few years ago.

Sanchez is Named to Committees

James Sanchez (District 8, State Board of Education Member), has been named to key Education Committees including the Educational Standards, Indian Education and Text Book Committees. He was also appointed the Liaison between the State Board of Education and the New Mexico Activities Association. This is the organization that directs all extra-curricular and sports activities within the state.

Beginning a year of significant changes the New Mexico State Board of Education met recently in Santa Fe. Sanchez and other board members work closely with various legislative committees, the governor and others linked with Education. Sanchez believes the major issues facing the Board of Education

Road Improvements, More Office Space Needed

Requests for improvements of Lincoln County roads and bridges and shortages of office space occupied the major portion of business during the regular County Commissioners meeting on Tuesday.

District Highway Engineer Louis Medrano discussed a preliminary request to exchange funding from the Glencoe Bridge to the Picacho Bridge. Residents from the areas attested to the unsafe, deteriorated conditions on both bridges, and lengthy discussion of alternatives yielded no easy solutions. Commissioners finally agreed to direct Pajo Technical to estimate cost of replacing the Glencoe Bridge using salvage materials.

The Picacho Bridge is heavily used by commercial vehicles as well as residents and is the only acceptable supply route for area ranchers; about 70,000 lambs; 600,000 pounds of wool; and 500 calves are annually transported over the bridge in addition to feed and supplies. It is also a school bus route. Commissioners, hesitant to exchange funds and without funds to repair both bridges, passed a resolution requesting Congressman Joe Skeen's office to apply for emergency funding to replace the Picacho Bridge.

Guy Henley of Capitan also requested road improvements to a school bus route there; commissioners agreed to include the request in the school bus route program.

In other business, John Stowe, President of Valley Transit Mix, asked commissioners to lease approximately two acres in Ruidoso for use in his operation in connection with the Sierra Blanca Airport construction. The land is currently being leased by the Village of Ruidoso, but prior contact with Village officials indicated that an agreement could be reached. Commissioners directed the county attorney, county manager, and county engineer to do a feasibility study and determine a fair lease value.

Requests for additional office space were made by District Judge Richard Parsons and the Ruidoso Health Office. Comments by county employees and commissioners indicated that a crucial need exists for office space in several departments. Parsons said that an additional small courtroom is needed as well as storage area; he reminded commissioners that civil cases alone increased by 30 percent last year, and two full-time magistrate judges now hold court in Lincoln County. Commissioners passed a motion to have county architect Jim French study the entire courthouse complex and Lincoln County offices and assess how space can best be utilized in a long-range plan.

Ruidoso Health Office also asked for additional space, but commissioners agreed that offices should not be designated in a piecemeal fashion and again agreed that a long-range plan for efficient use of existing space should be developed.

Bids on a 1987 mini van for the senior citizens were opened. After studying the bids, Senior Citizen Director Barbara Ward asked the Board of Commissioners to table awarding of the bid until the vehicles could be inspected and considered more closely. Commissioners granted the request.

By statute, County Commissioners must appoint a Board of Registration in preparation to purge primary and general election lists. Commissioners appointed Dorothy Talley, Pat Hume, and Bill Elliott; alternates appointed were Louise Babers, Marcile Stewart, and Coleta Elliott.

Dr. Donald Lavash reported on progress of records management in Lincoln County and praised County Clerk Fran Siddens for her efforts in cataloging, indexing, and organizing county records.

Commissioners adopted an ordinance relating to the Lincoln County Special Assessment District No. 1 which authorizes the issuance of bonds. Complete copies of the ordinance are on file in the County Clerk's office for inspection during regular office hours.

Sheriff Don Samuels brought before the Board the present joint powers agreement for the care of prisoners. Current rates paid by Lincoln County municipalities range from $10 to $20 per day for prisoners housed in the county jail. Samuels said that most counties charge $50 per day, and that is a more realistic reflection of the cost. After discussion, Commissioners raised the cost to $37.50 per day, effective July 1.

Although county money was not involved, commissioners had to consider a budget adjustment request that increased the Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging contract amount by $8,559. The increase came from Federal Funds which can be used only to increase services and is the result of the negative impact the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Deficit Reduction Act had on the Older Americans Act. Commissioners approved the budget adjustment request.

In other business, Commissioners —resolved to support the Lodger's Tax Committee and Mr. Walter Henn in their efforts to develop and sponsor events in Lincoln County in observance of the US Constitution bicentennial —considered membership in New Mexico Association of Counties. The subject was tabled until further communication has been received from the Association

—signed letters of appreciation to several government agencies expressing gratitude for help during the recent snowstorm

—signed a letter to New Mexico State University inviting the institution to purchase range land in Lincoln County to replace the land that Sierra Blanca Airport took from the Experimental Ranch at Fort Stanton —approved an agreement to allow Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District to administer a $25,000 Community Development Block Grant to study the buildings at Fort Stanton. The study will determine how Fort Stanton structures can best be refurbished and used while keeping the site historically correct. Commissioners appointed a committee for the study consisting of Steve Massey (Southeast NM Economic Development District), Gary Miller (Lincoln County Heritage Trust), Ervin Aldaz (Fort Stanton), Ralph Dunlap (Lincoln County) and Johnson Stearns (at-large)

—approved the official 1987 holiday calendar

—in keeping with the national observance, declared March "Mental Retardation Month."

Ruidoso Downs Board Calls Special Election

The Ruidoso Downs Village Board of Trustees passed a resolution calling for a special election in their regular meeting Monday night. The long waited resolution is the result of a petition asking for an increase in the number of trustees from four to six.

The trustees were first petitioned many months ago but repeatedly appealed or contested the legal actions of a group of Ruidoso Downs residents. The petition, which in effect is a recall of the trustees, has been delayed so long that the terms of two of the current trustees will expire before an election can take place.

Resolution 87-2 which passed unanimously calls for an election to be held which would ask the voters, "Shall the village of Ruidoso Downs increase the number of village trustees from four to six?" If the voters are in favor of the change, the trustees would then have to set a date for a special election to elect six new trustees. The terms of the current trustees would expire.

Trustee Conrad Buchanan jokingly moved that the board oppose the resolution, but was quickly told by village clerk JoAnn Jenkins, that he must not value his life very much to suggest such an action. Trustee Jacquelyn Branum then moved that the board approve the resolution, and after a second from trustee LaVerne Cole, the measure passed without opposition. Mayor Jake Harris said, "I don't think we had any choice this time."

The board also passed resolution 87-3 which allows for a budget increase. Clerk JoAnn Jenkins said that the Department of Finance had suggested that the resolution be passed. "So that it doesn't look like we went over budget so much" she said.

The board also unanimously passed an amended Flood Damage Prevention ordinance before hearing a request from the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary for permission to use the village baseball park for this year's Arts & Crafts Fair. After discussing whether the village insurance would cover any injuries on the premises, and getting verbal approval for participants in the fair to park on the grounds overnight, the board consented to the request for the use of the facility for four days during the Labor Day weekend.

The trustees discussed the monthly police report. Trustee J.L. Wilson asked Police Chief Skip Hazel how police activities compared to those of a year ago. Chief Hazel said that reported incidents were down and attributed it to better coverage by the police force. "We're working a full force now, except that two officers are in school" said Hazel. He also said that the force would receive certification to use their new portable Intoximeter this week.

The board approved the monthly animal control report and was informed that a new animal control officer is now working 24 hours weekly. Trustees also approved the municipal court report, and expressed their appreciation for Judge Martin Valenzuela including information on the Community Service Program in the report.

The board also voted to advertise for bids on an unused vehicle owned by the village. Administrator Charles Robinson said that he didn't know if the car was worth asking for bids on. "But" Robinson said, "a village employee has expressed interest in buying it, so we had best ask for bids." The board then adjourned to executive session to discuss litigation.

Ruidoso Village Council

Approves Annexation

During the regular session Tuesday night, Feb. 10, the Ruidoso Village Council approved a recommendation from the Planning & Zoning Commission re: the annexation of 630 acres surrounding and including Moon Mountain, heard a report on Community Development Block Grant and State Disaster Funds, and agreed to make a final payment to Atkins Engineering for their services on the Eagle Creek Well Field.

The proposal for annexation of Moon Mountain was presented to the village by the State Land Management Office last November. At that time the council agreed to consider the proposal. Planning & Zoning was asked to review the request and during a meeting on Feb. 2 they decided to recommend that the annexation be granted with three stipulations.

The three stipulations are that:

1. The annexation agreement require any development to conform to village design standards and subdivision regulations.

2. That the proposed annexation petition not be acted on until the new master plan and zoning ordinance is passed by the Village Council.

3. P & Z also asked that the Village Attorney provide a legal opinion on the proposed annexation.

The council reviewed their discussion of November 25, when they decided if they did annex the property the village would defer certain requirements for annexation until the time of development. The state, which owns the land, wants to eventually sell or develop the property, but asked that the requirement for drainage and land use studies be delayed until actual development is planned.

Council voted unanimously to accept the recommendations of P & Z. If the new master plan and zoning ordinance is passed within the next six weeks as is anticipated, the annexation could be completed by the middle of April.

Village manager Jim Hine reported that the Federal Government had approved a $275,000 grant for waste water treatment improvements, and asked the council to approve the agreement which it did. He also told the council that the village was still eligible for up to $250,000 in State Disaster Funds if they could continue to prove expenditures arising out of the flood in June, 1986.

Mr. Hine also reported that negotiations had been completed for the re-financing of bonds issued for the installation of sewer lines in the Ponderosa Heights Subdivision. The bonds were originally issued at 11.625% interest and were later re-negotiated to 10% interest. "We can now sell these bonds at 7% interest," said Hine, "which will save the village approximately $1,150,000 over the 20 year life of the bonds."

Police Chief Richard Swenor told the council that negotiations were under way with Ruidoso Tax Service, for that business to take over operation of the Topsy Taxi

Service. Swenor said that the pick-up service for persons too drunk to drive has been a success so far, at least as far as calls for the service. "We are running a little short of contributions," he said. "Laura Ashley has spent many hours trying to get donations but there are more people using the service than are donating."

Village Engineer Mike Davalos told the council that he had sent a request to the State Highway Office for 559 feet of guard rail and 100 posts to install along Warrior Drive and on Camelot Mountain. He said that the Highway Commission would still have to approve the sale of the used guard rails, but that he didn't foresee any problems. The used railing will cost about $380.00 compared to $3700.00 for new railing.

The council then went into executive session for over an hour. After resuming regular session the council agreed to

$25,000 Obtained For Master Plan on P&Z

Those present at the Capitan City Council meeting Monday night learned that they will begin paying for the exact amount of water used. A $5 fee will start appearing on delinquent accounts.

The new Motor Vehicle Department clerk will have her office opened twice a week. These two days could be either Tuesdays and Wednesdays, or Wednesdays and Thursdays. It was mentioned that it might be wise to have it open on Friday for the Ft. Stanton people.

Mayor Benny Coker announced that $25,000 had been obtained for a master plan on Planning and Zoning.

Mayor Coker explained that during the last major storm some village equipment was used to help folks out. Coker explained that this was not intended to interfere with private business. The mayor stated that school routes will be maintained. Some private roads may not be maintained.

Mayor Coker will have the specs on the livestock tap on the Pearson property recorded.

It was learned that Mrs. Keel and the Mayor will attend a management and budget seminar in Albuquerque later on in the month.

Capitan will contribute $500 for the AMICUS CURIE BRIEF on behalf of municipalities affected by the Texas vs New Mexico Water Lawsuit.

Cable TV came in for a short discussion. There are many who feel that some competition here would do a lot of good.

A trash pick up problem was worked out. Dr. Rouleau complimented Willie Hobbs.

and New Mexico concern the transfer of the office of Education from the Dept. of Education and meeting the Directives mandated by SB-106. The State Legislature is still working out technicalities to fully implement the Directives and Sanchez hopes that this can be done with the least possible disruption of services to our students. Additionally, the financial situation in the state has made it difficult to meet some of these mandates. Sanchez pointed out that Educators are now faced with a challenge to use innovative ideas as well as careful budgeting rather than requesting more funding to solve every problem.

Sanchez seeks to facilitate understanding of SB 106 as well as the development of innovative programs for District 8 (Lincoln, Chavez, Eddy, DeBaca, and Torrance Counties) by setting up future meetings with the local school boards and by obtaining input from concerned individuals regarding all aspects of education. He may be reached at 653-4821 (Lincoln) or 622-6250 (New Mexico Military Institute).

pay $216,670.71 to Atkins Engineering for services at the Eagle Creek Well Field. When Atkins found the water in Eagle Creek the council paid the firm $900,000. Atkins then said that if a bigger pump were installed that more water might be obtained if the state would grant a permit for additional water rights. The additional payment arises out of Atkins services for those improvements.

The council then informed the public that Village Manager Jim Hine had submitted a letter of resignation, and offered to provide consultation services to the village while his replacement is found. Councilor Ray Carpenter moved that the council accept Hine's intent to resign and have the Village Attorney draw up a contract for his consulting services. The contract would be subject to approval by the Mayor. Hine has been village manager since 1960.

Don Means is Named EMT for the Month of February

By DOROTHY GUCK

To be an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT), all that is needed is to have a big heart, a feeling of concern for your fellow man, and a desire to volunteer your time and effort for the help of others. No matter what walk of life, you can be trained to be an EMT, if you care enough to give of yourself.

More active EMT's are needed in Lincoln County, which has the reputation of being the best volunteer service in the state. The service had a mighty small beginning when Bill Miller, Johnny Johnson, Bud Payne, and Don Means were the first EMTs in the county. They used the station wagon of mortician Austin Wooten of Carrizozo as their ambulance. Their second vehicle was a Ford van which Bud and Don converted into an ambulance, furnishing their own equipment, and making runs without reimbursement.

One period they made 13 consecutive runs to El Paso, Roswell, and Albuquerque, as the county had no emergency hospital service.

Don Means has been chosen the EMT of the Month for his outstanding long time service to EMS. He was the middle one of seven children. Don was born in Roswell, but grew up in the Jicarillas and Carrizozo. After his army service in Korea, he returned to Carrizozo and in 1955 married his wife Joan, whose father ran the market where the Shop Rite store is located.

Don's first interest in medical service was sparked by being taken to help at the scene of an accident in the Malpais in 1943. He has never lost that wish to be of service. In 1971 he had the opportunity to take his first EMT training, "which was really just a First Aid course of 40 hours," he said. By 1973, the training hours were doubled and more procedures taught. The phenomenal progress in efficiency of service in EMS makes Don proud of his membership in this organization.

Today, Don works as Security Guard at Stallion from 2 p.m. to 1 a.m. The rest of the night until the next day's work he is on ambulance call, and on 24 hour call his off days of Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

He said, "I've had lots of calls to accidents on Hwy. 380. Once a car was tilted precariously in the Malpais with the driver pinned inside. We couldn't extricate him from the driver's side which hung out over space. It was a ticklish deal to finally save the man without pushing the car over the ledge."

"Another time we had to cut the top out of the car to extricate the victim. We used a tool that looks like a giant can opener."

Then Don went on to explain that since first starting his runs, he has always carried special tools to use in prying or cutting patients out of machines, buildings, or other confining places. "We may be the only ambulance service that carries such equipment," he said, "and that may be one reason our EMS is ranked the best in the state. In an emergency, we don't wait for wreckers or other aide. The immediate care of the patient is our chief concern."

"Occasionally we have babies born before we quite make it to the hospital. Sometimes our own lives or limbs are threatened trying to extricate an injured victim from a drunken brawl, when we are mistaken for an antagonist."

"Nothing is ever routine. I gave continuous CPR to a driver in a wrecked army transport truck as we took him to El Paso. It seemed every bone in his body was broken, and there wasn't much hope for him. But I never stopped trying. He survived. I met him again seven years later."

"One of the most satisfying experiences was when I gave CPR to a year old baby boy. Fourteen years later his folks brought him by to meet me. He looked at me with awe when his parents said, 'Here's the man who saved your life.' 'It was only my job,' I replied kinda embarrassed, but proud."

"The funniest experience I ever had was when a man wrecked his car out of Carrizozo. We had a time extricating him. He kept calling a woman's name, which we took to be his wife. We searched the wreck, and finally looked under the car. Sure enough, we could see the blond curly hair of a woman. We worked furiously but carefully. We finally brought out the head of a mannequin with a blond wig! His wife wasn't with him, but planned to join him later and had sent her extra wig with him."

The EMTs receive $10 an hour for each run they make, nothing for the volunteer hours on call, and pay for their training tuition. Expenses to the patients for ambulance care are set by the Transportation Commission, not by the EMS, and must be imposed.

A new class for EMT training will start August 11 at 6 p.m. at Carrizozo School. Classes will be every Tuesday and Thursday evening for 18 weeks, for 105 hours of learning. Anyone interested should contact Nancy J. Guck, Nogal, NM, phone 354-2741, between 7 and 10 in evenings.

O.E.S. Dignitaries Visit

By JANETTE BALDWIN

White daisies, roadrunners, and sand dollars were in abundance Jan 29 when Comet Chapter #29 Order of the Eastern Star hosted the official visit of the Worthy Grand Patron and Worthy Grand Patron Mary Francis Whitlock and Sam Brown. The daisy is their chosen flower, the roadrunner their fun symbol, and the sand dollar their symbol.

Anita Weber and Glenn Baldwin, Worthy Matron and Patron of Comet Chapter along with their other officers, exemplified the work of the order.

Other dignitaries introduced and warmly welcomed by Mrs. Weber and members were two past Grand Patrons, Elzie Thompson and Roy Hanson, both of Carlsbad. Hanson also serves as Worthy Patron of Carlsbad Chapter.

Grand officers present were: Jen Hanson, Associate Grand Matron, Carlsbad; Rodney Toon, Associate Grand Patron, Alamogordo; Maudie McCleary, Grand Chaplain, Anthony; Frances Brown, Grand, Esther, Santa Rosa; and Jim Ottino, Grand Sentinel, Truth or Consequences.

Members of the Order who serve as grand representatives were Elizabeth MacVeigh, Alabama and Frances Shaw, Maine, both from Comet #29 of Carrizozo; Jim Whitlock, Georgia, from Hatch, NM; and Mary Richardson, Arkansas.

Seventeen members of the Grand family were also present as were Connie and Don Carnahan, Alamo #11, Worthy Matron and Patron; and George Shannon, Worthy Patron of Ruidoso #65.

Mrs. Whitlock and Brown were presented with honorary memberships and roadrunner pins by the Worthy Matron and Patron. Also receiving honorary memberships were Frances Brown and Jim Whitlock. The two grand officers were also presented with wooden roadrunners hand carved by Jack Forrester. Comet Chapter also donated $150 to three of the Worthy Grand Patron and Patron chosen Grand Chapter Projects.

As the grand officers were presented in the east, Darla Dunaway sang two of their chosen songs. She was accompanied by Valda Watson, the chapter organist.

Inspiring talks were brought by Mrs. Whitlock and Brown and standing ovations were given.

Prior to the meeting, a covered dish dinner was held at the Carrizozo Masonic Hall. The tables were decorated with ceramic and wooden roadrunners; white vases of flowers also accented the table. The head table had garlands of white daisies and two roadrunners sitting atop pieces of Cholla wood.

During the dinner, Mrs. Weber presented Mrs. Whitlock with a monetary corsage and Baldwin presented a monetary boutonniere to Brown on behalf of the chapter.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments of sandwiches, cake, punch and coffee were served. The reception table, topped with a yellow cloth, was centered with a large sheet cake bearing the names of the Grand officers. A silver punch bowl and coffee servers were used along with two silver candelabra holding six yellow candles.

Agreement is Reached On Railroad Merger

CHICAGO—Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railway (SPSF) and The Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Company (DRGW) have reached a binding agreement relating to the proposed merger of Santa Fe Railway (ATSF) and Southern Pacific Transportation Company (SPT).

On Sept. 22, the two railroads had announced a non-binding memorandum of intent covering the settlement and announced their intentions to seek a definitive agreement. The agreement becomes effective if the proposed merger is consummated, and the agreement is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under the agreement, SPSF will grant DRGW an inclusive lease of some SPT routes, some trackage rights, and DRGW will receive ratemaking access to and from the Los Angeles area via Bakersfield, CA. As part of the agreement, DRGW has agreed to support the proposed SPSF merger, but has reserved the right to contest the settlement agreement SPSF has reached with the Union Pacific Railroad.

John J. Schmidt, chairman of Santa Fe Southern Pacific Corp. in Chicago, said, "This agreement and those previously announced with Union Pacific and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad have been designed to address adverse competitive impacts identified by the commission relating to our proposed merger. If the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) agrees to re-open the pending case, we will present evidence demonstrating how these agreements address those issues, and will enable us to achieve substantial cost savings and service improvements."

W.J. Holtman, chairman of DRGW, said, "Under this agreement, DRGW will be able to provide an additional competitive rail alternative to nearly all California rail users. This agreement should satisfy concerns shippers may have had about a lessening of competition in the Central Corridor."

A petition to re-open the merger case is pending before the ICC.

Some New Answers To The Welfare Problem

Faced with sharp cutbacks in federal revenue a growing number of states are coming up with innovative ideas of their own to solve their critical welfare problems. In many cases, the new programs are working better than the old federal approach of simply throwing money at the problems.

In Massachusetts, for example, more than 30,000 welfare recipients have been trained and placed in jobs through a program called Employment and Training Choices. It's aimed at supplying more workers for the state's new high-tech economy as well as helping people get off welfare and into remunerative jobs. The program also provides support services such as child care for mothers who must leave home for job-training. Thus far, about 86 percent of those who have gone through the program have found decent employment and remained off welfare. The $45 million a year program promises to save more in welfare outlays than it costs the state to operate.

The Massachusetts effort is the outgrowth of a study by the Welfare Prevention Task Force, a group of eight social experts commissioned in 1985 by the National Governor's Association. Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas, chairman of the association, said it was time to tackle what he called "deep and troubling changes in the fabric of American society." These, he said, include "a dramatic rise in the number of single-parent households, latchkey children, huge numbers of young women and children in poverty, millions of adults so illiterate they are unemployable, welfare dependency, teen pregnancy, school dropouts and alcohol and drug abuse."

Rather than passing the buck to the federal government, said Clinton, "we must face squarely our responsibility to make Americans more competitive from the ground up and to reverse this tide of lost human potential in those who have fallen through cracks . . ."

Delaware Governor Michael Castle, who headed the task force, warned that the new approach will be costly and time-consuming. But in the long run, he added, we will be better off to "spend state funds for prevention rather than to continue with the tremendous and endless costs of failure to solve our social problems." The task force approach is two-way: In return for welfare from the state, recipients should avail themselves of training and jobs provided with the state's help. But providing jobs alone is not enough. The governors want to attack four other "root problems": adult illiteracy, teen pregnancy, quitting school and drug and alcohol abuse.

Wisconsin now has a model program for locating school dropouts and offering them training that leads to decent jobs. And it encourages as many of them as it can to obtain, in the meantime, at least a high school equivalency diploma. California has established a number of "for-profit" educational clinics that work with dropouts and in-school prevention programs for potential dropouts. Florida has a $90 million "alternative education" program with much the same objectives, and similar statewide efforts are underway in Maryland, Tennessee and Virginia. Indeed, all around the nation, state and local authorities are tackling their welfare problems through self-help programs, which is what our Founding Fathers would have intended all along.

Skeen Says House Vote is Meaningless

WASHINGTON, DC—Congressman Joe Skeen, (R-NM), said even though the House finally had an opportunity to reject a pay raise for Congress, the vote was essentially meaningless. "The deadline for rejecting the pay raise was at midnight on Tuesday, not Wednesday afternoon. So basically we were given an opportunity to reject a pay raise that had already gone into effect, Skeen said.

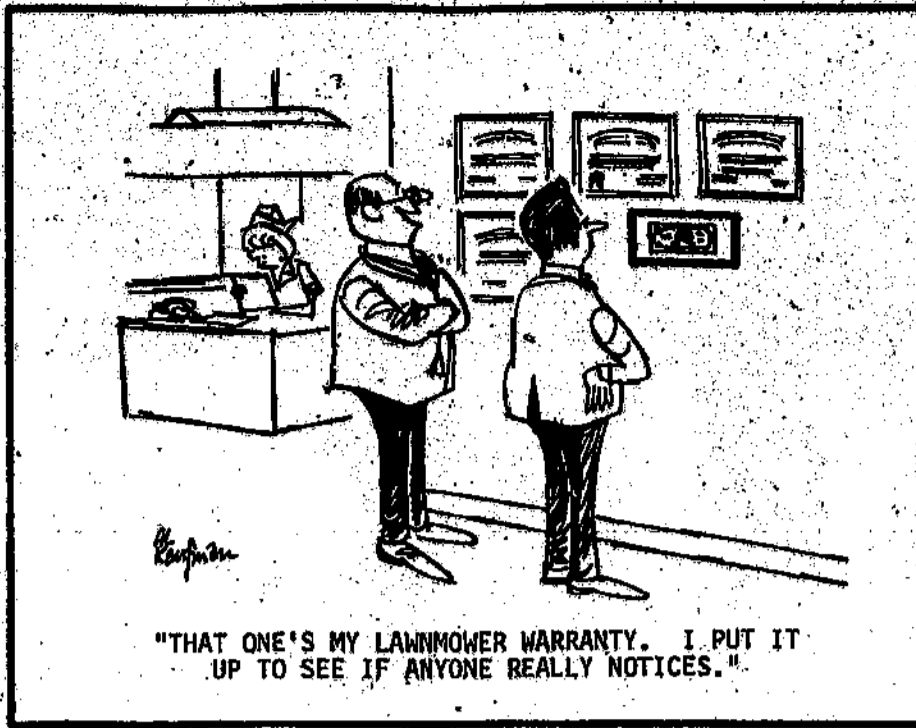

Skeen said the House should have been given a chance to vote on the pay raise before Tuesday, which was the deadline that was established months ago.

"I am strongly opposed to any increase in Congressional pay and I will continue to fight to reverse this unwarranted raise. It is not only a poor time for Congress to consider raising its pay but most importantly I do not believe Congress deserves a raise," Skeen said.

In December, a federal commission recommended to President Reagan that salaries for members of congress be increased from the current level of $77,400 to $125,000. However, Reagan proposed that congressional pay be increased to $89,500.

The pay increase would be implemented automatically unless both the House and Senate rejected the raise before midnight, Feb. 3, 1987.

A Few Predictions

SANTA FE—It's tough to predict what a 60-day session of the Legislature will do, but let's have a shot at some of the issues the group is facing.

THE BUDGET: Main aim of any meeting of the House and Senate is to come up with an act that appropriates the money to be spent during the fiscal year that begins the first of next July. To accomplish that fact, two budgets are prepared for the Legislature's consideration. One comes from the governor's office, to represent the views of the administration, and the other is put together by the Legislative Finance Committee, to represent the views of the lawmakers. Of the two, the former is usually the more generous.

That's true this year, though when a new governor takes over, his first-year budget is not as meaningful as it might be, simply because he hasn't been in office long enough to have learned much of anything.

In most years, the bill that finally passes the Legislature is closer to the proposal from the LFC than the one from the governor. This year, that doesn't look like what's going to happen. Look for the lawmakers to be more generous this year—which means higher taxes for us all.

A LOTTERY: This is probably the session in which we get one of these, as a way of raising that extra money the Legislature may be on the point of spending.

What we will end up with, if the Legislature does indeed decide to go this route, may be something other than a simple, straightforward lottery. It is likely to be somehow connected with what goes on at the state's racetracks, as a way of keeping track owners happy.

This could still go down to defeat, but it looks from here as though the votes are there for passage.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION: A committee worked all during the interim since the last session on this topic. The bill it turned out, however, isn't the thing that's liable to get on to the books.

Instead, what we will probably produce is a new measure, prepared by the attorneys and the insurance companies that are involved in this issue, with some input from labor and others who may be said to speak for employees.

The hand behind the final act will probably be that of House Speaker Ray Sanchez, who is anxious to get a bill that is a little more lenient toward working people than the interim committee wanted to be. He is guiding the various parties to such a measure through their paces, and is insistent that they get a bill drawn they can agree on, to prevent bloodshed.

INTERSTATE BANKING: This is not a measure that is important directly to every citizen in the state, but it sure has the bankers exercised. If it passes, as it looks now as though it will, some of them may get richer by selling their stock to large, now almost-nationwide banking establishments.

Actually, New Mexico's banks probably aren't as attractive to such outsiders as some might wish. Still, stockholders want to be able to find out by getting the change made in the laws.

Save this column if you want, and we'll see when the session closes how many of these predictions have substance to them.

Domenici Meets IRS Head on W-4 Forms

Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) met recently with Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Lawrence Gibbs to reiterate his call for a simplification of the new W-4 forms.

Commissioner Gibbs told Domenici he has instructed the IRS to devise a shorter, less complicated form as an alternative to the W-4 that was mailed out earlier this month. The W-4 was redesigned as part of the 1986 Tax Reform Bill.

Gibbs cautioned, however, that because the form will be shorter it probably will not be as accurate as the long form W-4 in matching withholding to tax liability.

"People will have a choice of whether they want to fill out the complex W-4 or the simpler one. I think that just having the option will put a lot of people's minds at ease," Domenici said.

Domenici wrote Commissioner Gibbs on Jan. 23, 1987, asking that the new W-4 forms be recalled and replaced with a simpler process.

COMPETING FOR TOMORROW'S SCIENCE

Two of New Mexico's outstanding young people are competing among a group of 40 teenagers in the National Science Talent Search in Washington, D.C., early this year.

Two New Mexican winners chosen from 40 students across the nation! There is only one word to describe it: Outstanding! Page Sebring of Albuquerque and Steve Pearl of Grants have reason to be quite proud. As important, every New Mexican has reason to be proud. This is the first time in the 46-year history of the talent search that New Mexico has had two winners.

Page and Steve are among our best and brightest. Their selection is a clear indication of the dedication, talent, and quality education each received. Their selection also signals to me the value in continuing the active pursuit of progressive scientific research projects for our state and our young people.

Basic science has led to discoveries and innovations that profoundly affect all of our lives daily.

As a state, New Mexico is already a national science center. We need to continue to add to that. We need to concentrate on attracting research and development projects to the Land of Enchantment to broaden our economic base, expand our educational curriculum, and to challenge our best and brightest.

I found it appropriate that the announcement of the contestants in the National Science Talent Search coincided with the President's authorization of a major physics project called the Superconducting Supercollider (SSC).

The SSC will be the most advanced scientific research project ever. It will be the centerpiece of an international research effort in high energy physics and will maintain the preeminence of the U.S.

in the world of basic science research.

Competition is already stiff. States and cities across the nation want this project located in their area. At last count there were 18 states investigating about 30 different sites. We in New Mexico have done our preliminary homework. We are prepared to participate in this competition.

The Superconducting Supercollider will cost between $4 to $6 billion to build. During construction it will employ about 4,500 people and when in operation about 2,500. It is also expected to host about 500 visiting scientists at any given time. It will have an annual operating budget of several hundred million dollars. Jobs and dollars are the reason for this stiff competition.

The scope of the project is mammoth. The SSC will consist of a tunnel 10 feet in diameter built in the shape of a ring or oval, 52 miles around. Inside the tunnel, a beam of protons will whirl around picking up speed, then collide with other proton beams.

These collisions, 20 times more powerful than are possible at any other facility, will enable scientists to probe the very essence of what atoms are, and what matter is. What this really does is to help us understand the universal forces of nature.

A group of New Mexico experts, headed by Dr. Laurence Lattman, President of New Mexico Tech, conducted a year-long $100,000 preliminary evaluation. They looked at which sites would be best for this project. Evaluation was based upon setting, environmental considerations, geology and tunneling, community resources, utilities (power & water), man-made disturbances, and climate.

The preliminary evaluation studied sites near Deming, Las Cruces, and one outside of Albuquerque in the Estancia valley. Dr. Lattman's evaluation showed that the site in Estancia valley would be the most competitive for various reasons, including its proximity to a big city.

But our competition won't be cheap. It will cost the state $350,000 to complete the geologic evaluation of the Estancia site. It will cost at least another $500,000 to prepare a competitive proposal to encourage placement of the SSC in New Mexico.

That is a great deal of money for a state that has incurred the loss of its uranium & potash mining, and its oil and natural gas industries.

But it is not a great deal of money compared to what some other states are spending.

Unfortunately, we have no guarantee that New Mexico will win the project placement competition, even if we spend nearly $1 million to pursue the SSC.

But, as we have all come to know, there are no guarantees about a lot of things in life. We must take risks to get ahead.

One thing we are sure of is -- it generally takes money to make money. I believe we need to spend the money to pursue this project as an investment in our future.

New Mexico has every justification to press for the SSC's location in our state. We must aggressively compete for this project.

The Superconducting Supercollider was conceived by physicists in July of 1982. A year later the Department of Energy High Energy Physics Advisory Panel recommended research and development on the SSC as highest priority. Preliminary research was begun in October of that year.

President Reagan's decision on Friday, January 30th, to move ahead with the SSC, is another step toward our scientific progress. This is America saying we are and will continue to be on the cutting edge of science.

Like our bright young New Mexicans headed to Washington, D.C., to compete in the National Science Talent Search, pursuit of the SSC gives New Mexico a chance to say, we are and we will continue to be aggressive players in America's scientific future.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

GOP Roots

EDITOR—Traditional republicans (small r) trace their roots back to George Washington and his Farewell Address. The press labeled those who revered its beliefs and principles as "isolationists."

In his Farewell Address, the retiring first president warned against excessive use of the nation's credit. Isolationist are still warning; administrations are still overspending.

Washington foresaw a danger in factionalism, a danger that agitators would split the republic into warring factions, using internal strife to further their own schemes.

He understood that in time of heated passions, people allow leaders to adopt laws and policies that would be rejected in calmer times.

Washington feared foreign influences, labeling it a "baneful foe" to the republic. He saw danger in showing favoritism among foreign nations; he warned that such favoritism could easily provide betrayal of our own nation.

On foreign policy, Washington instructed, "the great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations, is, in extending our commercial relations to have as little political connection as possible."

He further insisted, "It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliance with any portion of the foreign world."

Our first president saw religion and morality as "indispensable supports" of good government; that there could be no morality without religion.

He proclaimed that the age old maxim was no less applicable in public affairs than in private affairs; that maxim being, "Honesty is always the best policy."

Isolationists reverse the tenets laid down in Washington's Farewell Address. The label "isolationist" carries a certain negative ring. Had the press chosen to label them Washingtonians, it could have changed the course of history.

Regardless, happy birthday, Mr. President. The nation could sure use another like you.

NEW MEXICO ROUND-UP

Immediately appropriates the money to keep the Veterans Center operating. specialties—green chile cheeseburgers.

Estancia will get its new high school and Moriarty will continue its school building boom, thanks to local voters.

In Estancia, voters approved a $930,000 bond issue that will be used to construct a new high school and convert the present one into a middle school. The vote was 429 for, 56 against.

Voters in Moriarty approved a $1.8 million bond issue, 449 to 146. Several additions to the Moriarty schools are planned using this money.

Both schools will be eligible for critical capital outlay funds from this year's legislature, and both school have applications ready to submit.

Nordisk Films, based in Copenhagen, Denmark will be producing a film in Lordsburg beginning about the middle of March according to a company spokesman. The fictional picture "Times Out" will be directed by Jon Carlsen assisted by Bo Christensen as production director and Colleen Garrett as the American Production supervisor.

The New Mexico Motor Vehicle Division reminds motorists who are on the staggered registration program and whose registrations expire in February, to renew their registrations by Friday, Feb. 27, 1967.

The Department mailed out 61,830 registration renewal notices statewide to motorists who are due to register in February. All motorists are encouraged to use the convenient mail order program by returning the form and a check or money order for total fee shown in the self-addressed return envelope. Mail-in deadline for motorists on the staggered system is Feb. 20. Individuals in question as to their expiration date are encouraged to visually examine their license plate decal or their current Certificate of Registration.

Motorists who have not received a renewal notice, or have any questions regarding registration, may call the Santa Fe central office at 827-2255. Avoid standing in line at your local motor vehicles office, register early by mail.

During the recent statewide snow storm many motorists were stranded in Vaughn including a bus load of young men and women from Arizona, who were put up in Vaughn at the Town Hall a couple of nights as there were no rooms in the motels.

Some of the local ranchers also had trouble feeding their livestock. Vaughn has had bad snowstorms previously but it had been almost 30 years since there had been a storm such as the recent one. The previous one was in 1959 when the blizzard was like the one recently throughout the state.

Encino and Duran were two of the towns in Torrance County which were helped with hay for the cattle who were unable to be fed during the severe blizzard throughout the state.

Three New Mexico National Guard helicopters were there to deliver hay to the starving cattle and sheep which had not been fed in several days as it was not possible to get through with the feed to the ranches.

Helping to deliver the hay in the helicopters and semi's were Brahm Hindi Jr, Jamil Hindi, Joseph, Alex and Ednen Hindi Jr, from Duran.

Several other ranchers from the two towns also helped and all said this was the worst blizzard they had seen in many years.

Gov. Garrey Carruthers signed his first bill Thursday,

Business Journal Endorses Newspaper Advertising

The February 1967 issue of the New Mexico Business Journal has an article about "effective advertising is a matter of choosing the right medium for your audience."

The article states that advertising can be done with the randomness of an atomic bomb or the precision of an assassin's rifle. It further states that not everyone can afford network television spots and not everyone needs network television spots.

The NEWS has its own unique advantages in that the regular readers of the NEWS live in three of the ten top media markets in New Mexico. Readers of the NEWS shop in Albuquerque, (Bernalillo County) Alamogordo (Otero County), Roswell (Chaves County), and in other places in these counties.

According to the article in NM Business Journal, newspaper are one of the oldest advertising media and they remain one of the best. Newspapers offer an immediate one-day reach; quick changes in copy, art and sizes; short closing dates; and geographic flexibility.

The Business Journal definitely says that promotional vehicles, such as coupons, are best offered in newspapers.

In addition to this, the NEWS offers substantially lower rates for ads that are on a continuous schedule. Call the NEWS office at 648-2333 for more information.

Getting Back to Basics

When I graduated from high school in Silver City in 1961 half of my class was missing.

We had started out four years before as freshman 121 strong. But in 1961 only 62 of us got our diplomas. Fifty nine others had dropped out along the way.

While I didn't realize it then, what was happening was a tragedy. It meant that 59 of my former classmates were not getting the diploma they perhaps needed to hold even menial jobs. Fifty-nine of them were not getting the basic skills so necessary for competing in this very competitive world we live in today.

What I was seeing without realizing it was a basic skills crisis, which existed not only then, but still exists, not just in New Mexico, where three out of every 10 of our high school students drop out before graduating from high school, but nationwide.

Large numbers of our children today are without the essential ability to effectively read, write, and do arithmetic -- without the basic skills to compete. And this fact raises a serious problem for the ability of this country to prosper economically and to compete internationally.

This lack of basic skills spawns a whole host of ills. It puts more people on welfare, because half of all men and women on the welfare rolls come from the bottom 20 percent of our population as measured by an ability to read, write, and cipher.

Teenage pregnancies and out-of-wedlock births very often go hand-in-hand with a lack of basic skills. Three of every five unwed parents rank in the bottom 20 percent in skill levels.

And crime takes often tragic common cause with an absence of basic skills. Most inmates in our prisons can trace their incarceration back to a lack of basic skills.

But perhaps most tragic of all, this lack of the basics tends to propagate itself. Mothers with the most skills to impart tend to have the fewest children. Mothers low on the skill ladder tend to have the greatest number of children.

The cycle perpetuates itself from generation to generation.

The good news is that all of this is correctable and preventable. We have the will and the wherewithal in our state and in the country to cut into this lack of basic skills. I am very hopeful in the coming session of Congress to introduce legislation that will help develop support and funding for basic skills programs. Other legislators are equally intent on attacking the problem. I think we can beat this public enemy.

Our country is still the largest economy in the world -- by far. We have done more things for more people than any society in history. We invented individual opportunity. We have housed, educated, employed, cared for, and enriched more people than any other society past or present.

We can and must continue to do this. Half of our graduating class need not be missing.

BLAME SOMEONE ELSE
According to the list in 'Chase's Annual Events' Friday, Feb. 13 is Blame Someone Else Day, a time to share responsibility and guilt for the mess you're in.

Almost every day, week and month of the year observes something or other. Some are legitimate causes, such as American Heart Month and Black History Month, both in February.

Many are in jest. Jan. 4 was Trivia Day for those who know all sorts of facts or have doctorates in uselessology; Swap-A-Brown-Bag-Lunch-Day was Jan. 28.

Want a reason to celebrate? Coming up is National Pig Day (March 1) to give the pig credit for its rightful place as one of man's most intellectual, useful domesticated animals. And don't forget National Goof-Off Day on March 22.

DIET DAZE

Wife: "Last night I dreamed I ate a five-pound marshmallow!"

CLASSIFIED SECTION

Of all the ways to tell people about a garage sale (yard sale, rummage sale) the best is the local newspaper's classified or want ad section. Your first step should be to find out the classified deadlines. Make sure the ad contains three essential elements: date or dates of sale, time of sale, and the address. Once you've composed your ad deliver it personally to the newspaper office.

Advertising is the most important step in conducting a garage sale. Your objective should be to tell as many people as possible about your sale.

COST CONSCIOUS

Most people attend garage sales for one primary reason - to get a bargain. Make prices easy to spot with big stick-on price tags. For easier browsing classify items by kind. Have a mirror available for customers who want to try on clothes.

Garage sales are a good way for families to make extra cash and clean out the attic at the same time. You'll need at least three weeks' time for collecting your items for sale, deciding on a sale date and place, preparing and placing your ad, pricing your items and getting the necessary supplies for holding an efficient sale.

JOINT ENTERPRISE

Consider the possibility of holding a garage sale as a joint enterprise with your neighbors, friends or a community club. You could try color-coding the price tags. Collect the tags at the cash box for each item sold, then add up each color share at the end of the sale.

Have sufficient change available. Supply paper sacks and boxes for people who buy several items. Keep paper and pencil handy to figure multiple purchases. Be prepared at least two hours before the time set for the start of the sale.

TENSE TEENS

Peer pressure dictates what teens wear, how they study and whether they drink, says a teenage magazine readers' survey. Of 337 respondents, 90 percent say they experience peer pressure; 80 percent give in to it at least once a week even when they know they're doing wrong; 60 percent pressure others; less than 50 percent try to stop pressure.

VALENTINE PARTY

Here is an idea for party favors at a gathering on Valenline's Day for a small group of children: Cover a box with white paper, and paste a large red heart to each of its four sides. Place the box in the center of the table. Prepare a small bundle of candy and nuts for each guest. Tie with red yarn and place in the box, extending the yarn to each of the guests' place settings.

Attach a red heart with the guest's name on it and the following verse: "I have a secret that's very sweet. Just pull the string and I'll give you a treat." Lay a square of paper over the top of the box so the surprise can't be seen until time for refreshments.

The Nations largest scholarship pageant program for young ladies is coordinating an official preliminary pageant for Lincoln County. It will be held May 2, 1987 at Elks Lodge in Ruidoso. The winners will represent Lincoln County at the Cinderella State Pageant to be staged at the Hilton Inn in Albuquerque, NM, June 18-21, 1987.

To qualify as a contestant, the Cinderella girl must be between the ages of 3 to 17 as of the local pageant date. The four divisions are Tots 3-6 years of age, Mini Miss, 7-9, Miss 10-12, and Teens, 13-17.

Young ladies participating will be interviewed, and compete in sportswear and party dress presentation. For Teens, sportswear and formal wear. There will be an optional talent competition for contestants wishing to compete for the overall title and talent. For the Tots, the talent competition consist of an on stage interview.

Titles to be won are Cinderella Overall, Cinderella Beauty, Talent, and Photogenic in all four divisions. Local prizes to be given to the Overall Winners, in all four divisions, is a $75 Scholarship Entry Fee to attend the state pageant, sponsored by the Lincoln County Director, crown, banner and trophy. The Beauty, Talent and Photogenic Winners, in all four divisions, will be awarded a $75 Scholarship Entry Fee, sponsored by the Cinderella State Staff, banner and trophy. Prizes at state level consist of a Caribbean Cruise for all four state overall winners, a $500 John Robert Powers Modeling Scholarship, entry fee scholarship to attend the international pageant, which will be held in Miami, Florida in August, and many more prizes. From state to international: at international level over a million dollars in scholarship funds and other prizes will be given.

To enter the Lincoln County Preliminary Pageant, there will be a pre-registration to be held on February 24, 1987, from 6 to 7 p.m. at Elks Lodge in Ruidoso. At this registration, and others to be held, the staff train the modeling procedures to contestants who enter. For more information call Lincoln County Director at 653-4239 (nights) or 258-3292.

Wedding Planned

Tiger sports

The Capitan varsity boys defeated Hondo Friday evening 82-44. The Tigers could well have saved some of this scoring for the following evening when it was needed. Ronnie Sanchez led the way with 13 points, Doug Eckland had 12 points and John Parker 10 points. The Tigerettes downed the Lady Eagles 62-31.

Ft. Sumner came to town Saturday in its expensive activity bus and took charge. The Foxes jumped out to a 31-11 advantage at halftime and coasted to a 63-49 victory. Ronnie Sanchez found the hoop for 17 points. Doug Eckland again scored in double figures with 13 points. Gonzales was the big gun for the Foxes with 22 points. John Parker was 5 for 5 at the free throw line along with 2 field goals (good for 9 pts.)

The Vixens defeated the Tigerettes 48-39. Katherine Sanchez was held to nine points.

In a JV game Ft. Sumner edged Capitan 57-56. Some of the Tigers seeing action included Lee Payne, Johnny Castillo, Travis Frey, Anthony Sanchez, Tino Gallegos and Warren Russell. Gallegos led the way with 17 points followed by Russell with 12.

In some junior high action Ruidoso handled Capitan 34-13. Aaron Russell had 5 points followed by Sean Seay with 4 points.

In another JV game Dexter defeated Capitan 54-48. Warren Russell led Capitan with 11 points. Tino Gallegos helped out with 10 points.

Corona Basketball

Corona basketball teams returned last Friday with disappointing losses at Fort Sumner. In the boys action, Corona got into foul trouble as Travis Lightfoot, Tomrty Mulkey and Michael Founds fouled out; the Cards took a 74-35 defeat.

Earlier in the evening, Corona girls were unable to make up a 22-4 first quarter deficit and fell to a 64-38 loss. Fort Sumner was able to contain Corona top scorer Denise Lightfoot during that first quarter; Mary Romero and Beverly Bell were able to put the four points on the board. Lightfoot tallied 26 points in the remaining three quarters to continue as the leading Cardinal scorer.

Corona boys competed in the Bean Valley Conference Tournament at Mountainair Jan. 28-31 and managed a 59-47 win over Sandia Prep in the first round. Travis Lightfoot was high point man with 29; Tommy Mulkey and Eric Wetzel each contributed 10. The Cardinals didn't fare so well in games against Magdalena (86-46) and Vaughn (60-49). Lightfoot again led the Cardinals in both of those contests.

Corona met Vaughn on Jan. 26 and the Cardinal girls overpowered and outscored the Aguilas in every quarter to take a 47-29 win. Lightfoot pitched in 28 points.

The boys got off to a slow start in their game, putting only eight on the board to Vaughn's 16 in the first period. The Cardinals warmed up during the next time frame and came off the court at half-time with only a three-point deficit. However, the Cardinals managed only seven points in the third quarter while Vaughn racked up a 13 point lead. Corona put 24 points on the scoreboard - 12 at the free throw line - during the final period. Lightfoot accumulated 23 points to earn high score honors. Mulkey had 17.

The Cardinals and the Grizzlies meet for a Valentine's Day Lincoln County shootout in Carrizozo this

LOVE THEN AND NOW

Men have died for it, women have fled for it, millions have sighed for it: it's love, the most popular game of chance—and skill in history—and quite a history it's had.

THEN: Consider the ancient Greeks. They spent ten years fighting over Helen of Troy. In India, a dramatic symbol of the love of a Maharajah for his queen is the Taj Mahal.

NOW: Today, modern Americans can "express" their love overnight or over long distances with the gift of a Passionate Heart. It's a colorful heart-shaped tin decorated with a delicate passion flower motif and housing a bottle of exotic La Grande Passion liqueur and a recipe book/gift card. It's available through wine and liquor stores or by calling, toll-free, 1-800-CHEERUP. That gift service delivers anywhere in the U.S. in four to six days or overnight for an extra charge. Perhaps the "tropical paradise" flavor of the passion fruit, married as it is to a fine French Armagnac by the creators of the classic Grand Marnier Liqueur, will help you and your beloved feel like a maharajah and his queen.

NO. 87-PB-02
DIV. III

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF FRED W. HENSLEY SR., Deceased.

PETITION FOR FORMAL PROBATE OF WILL AND APPOINTMENT OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE

Petitioner, LOTTIE O. HENSLEY, states:

1. Petitioner is the surviving spouse of the Decedent, is the sole beneficiary of the decedent's Last Will and Testament and is named Executor of the decedent's Estate. Accordingly, Petitioner should be appointed as Personal Representative of the decedent's estate, and, is therefore, an interested person as defined by the laws of this state.

2. FRED W. HENSLEY, SR. died on December 23, 1986 at the age of 92 years. At the time of his death the decedent was domiciled in Lincoln County, New Mexico, thus venue resides in this Court. The names and addresses of the spouse, children, heirs and devisees of the decedent, so far as known or ascertainable with reasonable diligence by the applicant are:

Name	Address	Relationship to Decedent
Lottie O. Hensley	Star Route Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346	Wife
Don C. Hensley	1303 Hall Drive Roswell, NM 88201	Son
Vernon O. Hensley	383 E. Stewart Drive, #805 Pueblo West, CO 81007	Son
Bill M. Hensley	169 Lakeshore Drive Wayland, MS 01778	Son
Genevieve Yeater	P.O. Box 64 Alto, NM 88312	Daughter
Fred W. Hensley	Star Route Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346	Son
John R. Hensley	304 N.W. Ave I Seminole, TX 79360	Son

3. No personal representative of the decedent has been appointed in New Mexico or elsewhere.

4. Petitioner has not received a demand for notice and is not aware of any demand for notice of any probate or appointment proceeding concerning the decedent filed in New Mexico or elsewhere.

5. Petitioner requests an order as to the testacy of the decedent in relation to the original of the Last Will and Testament of the decedent executed on April 26, 1976 which will accompany and is filed with this Petition and has not heretofore been offered for informal probate. Petitioner requests an order determining the heirs of the decedent.

6. Petitioner believes the will to have been validly executed.

7. After the exercise of reasonable diligence, the Petitioner is unaware of any instrument revoking the will and believes that the instrument which is the subject of the petition is the decedent's Last Will and Testament.

8. The time for commencement of a formal testacy and appointment proceeding has not expired because three years or less have passed since the decedent's death.

9. The Petitioner is nominated in the Last Will and Testament of the decedent as the personal representative, without bond, in an unsupervised administration, is not disqualified to serve as a personal representative of the decedent, and is, therefore, entitled to be appointed personal representative.

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that the Court fix a time and place of hearing; that notice be given to all interested persons as provided by the laws of this state; that, after notice and hearing, the Court enter its order formally probating said will; that the Court enter its order determining the heirs of the decedent; that Petitioner be formally appointed as the personal representative, without bond, in an unsupervised administration; that letters testamentary be issued to Petitioner and for such other and further relief as may be proper.
