

Continue to Wrestle Road Problems

Lincoln County residents, disgusted with county road conditions, again confronted the Board of County Commissioners at last Tuesday's regular scheduled meeting. Corona area residents Clint Leary Sulstemeier attested to the poor condition of the Transwestern Road as did other citizens from that part of Lincoln County. They suggested that equipment stay in the area; commissioners agreed that equipment and an operator would considerably help the situation there. Commissioners, County Road Supt. Earl Krieg, and residents referred to the map, with the Board agreeing to do what it could to see that roads, especially school bus routes, are being properly maintained. Chairman John Hightower thanked the residents, adding, "Sometimes we don't know a road is bad unless you come tell us, so we appreciate you bringing it to our attention." A number of Cedar Creek residents also addressed the Board, with commissioners noting their complete awareness of that road's condition. Several citizens reminded commissioners that they have been passed over in the past and money for the project had been lost. Commissioner Bill Karn assured those present that co-op funds have been allocated and must be used on Cedar Creek Road in order to avoid jeopardizing other state highway co-op funds. According to Karn, work is to begin this spring. A representative of Cedar Creek Owners Association, Paul McClendon, presented a list of requests, including an appeal for asphalt paving. "It seems to us that you are throwing good money after bad," McClendon told the commission. "The type of roads you are proposing don't hold up," he added, and continued by saying the group he represents suggests nothing less than asphalt paving. Attorney Gary Mitchell informed McClendon that the commissioners are bound by a contract with the state, and they cannot change that contract. Mitchell suggested that the residents address the State Highway Commission if they want a change in the contract.

After explaining the history and procedure of state highway co-op funding, County Manager Suzanne Cox agreed to provide minutes of meetings and other documents that might contain pertinent information to the Cedar Creek Cabin Owners Association.

In another county road matter, Joe Shain of Pajo Technical Services presented his report on the Glencoe Bridge replacement as requested at the last Commissioners meeting. Estimated cost for a 16 foot bridge, using available beams, is $79,000. Commissioners suggested that a 12 foot bridge would be adequate there, and Shain estimated a 25 percent savings on a narrower bridge. Commissioners took no action, agreeing to wait until the State Highway Department makes a determination on what it will do. Commissioners noted that possibly the Glencoe Bridge could be included in the Off-Systems Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program. They signed an agreement with the State Highway Department allowing the Picacho Bridge to be let to contract under that program. In the last meeting, commissioners had resolved to write to Congressman Joe Skeen's office requesting emergency funding for replacement of the Picacho Bridge.

Other business included resolutions dealing with interest rates and administrative costs of the Alto Paving Assessment District, with attorneys Steve Sanders and Duane Brown and underwriter Cy Rilee offering explanations of the final phases of the bond issue. Commissioners also passed Resolution 75-41 which would allow $3,421,300 in Alto paving funds to be put into the county budget to be used for that project.

Commissioners approved a Notification of Grant Award from Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging and an amendment returning funds for the 1986-87 contract year to the '85-86 level. Other business pertaining to senior citizens concerned the bid on a mini-van. Discussion revealed that specs on previous bids were not as specific as they perhaps should have been. Commissioners agreed to reject all bids and call for new bids with more exact specifications.

Sheriff Department officials requested the Commission to reconsider the Joint Powers Agreement approved at the last meeting. Commissioners previously approved a $37.50 per day charge to municipalities for housing and care of prisoners in the County Jail, but after further investigation, the department requested that the charge be reduced to $25 for all villages except Ruidoso Downs. Because of the nature of that village's local police force duties, the fee charged would be $10. Commissioners agreed to rescind the previous agreement and approved a new one with the recommended changes.

Bonito Fire Department was given approval of its pension plan qualification record to be submitted to the state in compliance with the Volunteer Firefighters Retirement Act.

Commissioners again discussed leasing approximately two acres to Valley Transit Mix. They directed the county manager to put the lease to bid because it will be

Fifth Annual

Judging Contest March 14

FFA Invitational

The Fifth Annual Carrizozo Invitational Judging Contest will be held March 14, 1987 at Carrizozo High School. There will be contests in the following areas: Livestock, Horses, Entomology, Farm Management, Crops, Meats, Agricultural Mechanics, Wildlife, Land, and Wool. Over 1000 students representing 35 FFA Chapters and 134-H Clubs will be represented. The Carrizozo Invitational is one of the largest of its kind in New Mexico.

All FFA Contests are a natural outgrowth of the instructional program. The contests help make classes more interesting and encourage the development of special skills. Contests help develop: (1) technical knowledge, (2) ability to make sound judgments, (3) ability to defend decisions, and (4) the ability to be a gracious winner or, a good loser.

Agricultural Mechanics — This contests consist of arc welding, electrical wiring, and trouble shooting small gasoline engines, basic problem solving questions, as well as tool identification and uses.

Farm Management — This area deals with principles of record keeping and accounting, tax regulations, crop machinery and livestock management practices, agricultural economics, agricultural law and land, labor and capital management.

Livestock — Knowledge of breed characteristics, ability to rank classes of animals, ability to give verbal reasons for animal placement.

Meats — Grading carcasses for yield and quality, identifying wholesale and retail cuts of beef, pork and lamb, and making decisions based on visual comparisons.

Horses — The ability to rank classes of animals, defend the placings, and have basic knowledge of the different breeds.

Entomology — The ability to identify and classify insects and a general knowledge of pesticides and their uses.

Crops — Analyzing crop samples for abnormalities as well as identifying over 150 crop, plant and weed samples.

Wildlife — Demonstrating basic knowledge of different game animals and their habitats through identification and problem solving techniques.

Land — Students learn to identify soil samples that will be productive as well as learning to identify different land characteristics to classify land according to its best use.

Wool — Students learn to appraise wool for quality and yield as well as place classes and defend their placing by giving oral reasons. Students actually place a grade on the fineness and usefulness of the fibers within the fleeces.

The Carrizozo FFA Invitational Contest is co-hosted by Carrizozo Members and Alumni Members from Carrizozo and the surrounding area. Everyone is invited to attend.

Low Bid on New Field Is $139,000 Over Budget

By BART McDONOUGH

The Capitan Board of Education met Feb. 26 and learned that the lowest bid for the new track and football field had come in at approximately $139,000 over the budget. A number of possibilities are available as to what should be done about this situation. The Board was to meet March 4 and make some decisions. Superintendent Hays informed the Board that a decision notice had been received from the US Forestry Service. A property transfer could take place near the end of March. A Hobart mixer will be ordered for the school cafeteria. The price of this mixer is $5,027.25. It was learned that the life expectancy of such a unit is 16 years. It is impossible to get parts for the old mixer.

New interim superintendent L.C. Cozzens will be asked to come up with a policy and guidelines for cheerleader and activity sponsorship. This is necessary as there are those other than school personnel who would like to be sponsors.

There are four days at the present time to be made up because of bad weather. It was decided that three of the four days will be made up on spring break days.

Certificates of election were presented to incoming board members Hollis Fuchs and Kenneth Cox.

The New Mexico Legislature recently provided a $2,200 "raise" for teachers but did not fund this. This will cost the Capitan Schools something like $74,000.00. It was learned that if funds fall short, two things might happen: 1.) A reduction of force (in plain English-some teachers might get fired). 2.) The teachers might have their salaries reduced.

Domenici Reacts to Official Designation of Orogrande

It's official. Orogrande, NM today was named the site of the Free Electron Laser program.

"I'm delighted that we are moving forward on this project. It has such promise for our nation and for southern New Mexico," Senator Domenici said.

General James Abrahamson, head of the Strategic Defense Initiative, made the announcement that Orogrande has been officially selected for the Ground-Based Free Electron Laser, Technology Integration Experiment (GBFEL-TIE).

Work on the project, which could total as much as $3 billion over the next ten years, is expected to begin as soon as an award is made for the construction contractor. That award is expected in the next few weeks.

The Orogrande site, which was recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers, won out over two other sites: North of NASA, and the Stallion Site.

Domenici toured all three sites with General Abrahamson in early January.

"In addition to the site selection, the Army has also announced a set of meetings will be held in local communities to stimulate the participation of small businesses. "I encourage all interested parties to attend these meetings because they will help our business leaders learn how to attract business and get involved in the project which can bode well for the local economies," Domenici said.

The meetings announced by the Army will be held in Las Cruces, Alamogordo, and El Paso, on Saturday, March 21, 1987.

Carrizozo Woman's Club Hosts Performance

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo Woman's Club hosted a one-man dramatic presentation by Boyd Barrett on Feb. 10. The fast moving play "Trouble in Lincoln County" is based on the Lincoln County War and the last days of Billy the Kid. Barrett is sponsored by the New Mexico Humanities Council and performs all over the state through schools and civic organizations. He was introduced by Joan Weaver, Carrizozo history teacher. Refreshments were served to guests and members after the presentation.

During the business session held after the performance, the Woman's Club voted to give a $250 scholarship this year. Members agreed to have a bakeless bake sale and give donations received to the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce for Christmas decorations for the town. Lucy Rickman presented the February Woman of the Month Margaret Stearns. The Community Improvement Project was discussed. The street sign project was approved. The committee to investigate a possible "Welcome Wagon" service will be Linda Gibson, Debbie King and Phyllis Schlegel. Committee members Sue Stearns, Lucy Rickman and Peggy Najer were appointed to discuss with the town council solutions to the vandalism problem. The date for the trip to visit Girl's Ranch was tentatively set for March 28-29, to be discussed further at March meeting.

INTERVENTION STRATEGIES

Presentations during the regional in-service at Cloudcroft schools for area teachers, aides and administrators included a session on substance abuse.

Linda Hawthorne of Ruidoso talked about the observable characteristics that most substance abusers exhibit and what educators are legally required to do if they suspect a student of abuse.

Children can and do become destructively dependent on any drug which alters experience pleasurable. Hawthorne pointed out that alcohol is the drug of choice in New Mexico and that the death rate in this state is twice that of any other state.

Death among those age 11 through 24 is directly attributed to alcohol and THC (tetrahydrocannabinol, active ingredient of marijuana.)

Other comments that Hawthorne made:

"Marijuana is a gateway drug to other chemicals. Plant growing is an active underground agricultural activity... Drug slang terms date quickly... Children who smoke tobacco cigarettes are at a greater risk for introduction to marijuana and alcohol... some parents get defensive about their children."

Parents should be honest with themselves and realize that it could happen to one of their children.

DON'T COVER UP

Father: "I can't deal with this now. I have to go to work."

Mother: "Don't you know how mad your father would be if he found out about this? I won't tell him this time."

Teacher: "I'm not marking you absent, but please try to come to class once in a while."

Police: "I'll let you go this time."

"Enabling" is a term used by drug treatment facilities. By failing to insist that children suffer the natural consequences of their drug use, adults enable them to continue.

For example:

A 14-year-old boy comes home drunk on a school night and throws up on the living room rug. His father is not home, but is expected soon. His mother is stunned. She cleans up the rug and the boy and gets him to bed before his father shows up.

"Don't you know how mad your father would be if he knew about this?" she asks him. In the morning, when the boy is too hung over to go to school, his mother calls the attendance office, "My son is sick," she explains.

A 15-year-old girl is ordered to appear in court to answer charges that she was selling marijuana at her school. Her mother intercepts the letter, does not confront her and appears in court herself, saying she has put her daughter in treatment. In fact, the girl is at that moment getting stoned at school.

ENABLING ALLOWS ABUSE

Treatment personnel say this kind of behavior goes on every day at home, in school and in the community, by people who only want to help. They don't understand that they're hurting instead.

Other example of enabling:

A 12-year-old, sixth grade girl rarely appears for her science class after lunch because she is high, often hiding in the restroom with friends. She is failing. The teacher talks to her; "You ought to be coming to class. You're going to get yourself in trouble. I like you, so I'm not marking you absent, but you might think about showing up once in a while." The child receives a grade of A."

Roads . . .

in excess of $2500 and is not to another government entity.

Commissioners agreed that the county should request 1/2 of its yearly dues already paid to the New Mexico Association of Counties to be returned and membership again considered at the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Commissioners approved the treasurer's report and praised County Treasurer Shirley Goodloe for the accurate and informative report. Goodloe commented that she was pleased to be working with a good staff and feels that their efforts and increased computer use will continue to improve efficiency.

Immunize Infants Now!

The first case of whooping cough in New Mexico in 1987 has been diagnosed. Pertussis, known as whooping cough, is on the rise. There were 15 cases diagnosed in 1985 and 29 cases diagnosed in 1986. The time to stop this deadly disease is now!

Routine immunization against pertussis in infancy has been generally practiced in the United States for the past several decades. The effectiveness of the immunization program was reflected in the decrease of cases and deaths from whooping cough. Now the threats is rising because of a decrease in immunizations.

Infants under one year of age quite often die from whooping cough. Nearly all deaths from whooping cough occur in infants. The recommended age for infants to receive the immunization is two months, followed by another immunization at four months and six months with booster doses being administered at 18 months and another at four to six years of age. Pertussis vaccine is generally given together with diphtheria and tetanus, giving the common name of DPT shots. These diseases can become extinct if the vaccine is administered properly. Of the 44 cases reported in the past two years, 71 percent were not vaccinated or were inadequately vaccinated.

DPT vaccines are readily available and parents and family members should consider having their children immunized in an effort to eliminate these diseases.

Whooping cough (pertussis) can lead to brain damage or death in infants. Diphtheria can cause severe damage to the respiratory system and can actually result in suffocation. It can cause heart irregularities or heart failure as well as nervous system damage. About ten percent of all diphtheria cases end in death.

Tetanus is caused by a toxin released by certain bacteria that is often present in dust or dirt. Tetanus organisms can enter the body through a cut or wound and once in the body the organisms can produce a powerful toxin which affects the nervous system. Once a person has tetanus, they have only a 20 to 40 percent chance of survival.

Immunizations have proven they are effective but they only work if the immunizations are given. For more information contact your private physician or the local health office.

DARS Observe History

The regular monthly meeting of Sierra Blanca Chapter of the United States Daughters of the American Revolution was held Feb. 12 in the home of Mrs. Walter Rawley of Ruidoso. Lunch was enjoyed at Rumours Restaurant.

Mrs. Marge Bodwell, National Advisory Council, Women's Education, Washington, DC, gave an inspiring report to the members.

Mrs. Fred Pfingsten showed a video tape, a historical review of "Old Lincoln" and the excavation of the McSween House that was carried on last summer. The tape was made by Eastern University of Portales. Mrs. Pfingsten was the narrator.

Mrs. Herbert L. Traylor, chairman of D.A.R. American history Month, gave thoughts to think about the United States Constitution.

As the Daughters of the American Revolution observe American history Month, they urge us to read the Declaration of Independence which was adopted on July 4, 1776.

Let's remind us all that it is our duty as citizens of this country to vote and be involved and knowledgeable about daily issues that affect our national welfare.

Let's ask each of us "What does the constitution mean to you?" The Preamble to the constitution - "We the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America." Let's study this important document.

The Constitutional Convention was held in Philadelphia from May 25 through September 17, 1787 to revise the Articles of Confederation. Let's remind ourselves that the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States of America is on September 17, 1987.

—Alice Traylor.

INTERIM SUPERINTENDENT—L. C. Cozzens is serving as interim superintendent for the Capitan Schools until June 30. A new superintendent, when selected, should take over on July 1. Cozzens is a 1940 graduate of Capitan High School. He taught and coached in Lovington for 10 years. Cozzens served the Dora Schools for 6 years as superintendent. L.C. then moved to Portales where he was business manager for three years and superintendent for 17 years. He retired on June 30, 1985. Cozzens stated "It is an exciting challenge to come back where I want to school. I never dreamed I would do it."

Free Program

Sixty-one years ago on March 16, Dr. Robert Goddard launched the first liquid fuel rocket and became known as the "Father of modern rocketry." To celebrate this moment in space history, the Space Center is sponsoring a FREE after-school program for area youngsters on Monday, March 16.

"Goddard's Day" activities will begin at 3:30 p.m.

with a model rocket launch in the Tombaugh Space Theater parking lot. A film about the famed scientist, who did much of his research here in New Mexico, and a "hands-on" workshop about the principles of rocketry will complete the program. The activity is designed for all grade levels. For more information on "Goddard's Day", call 437-2840.

Unrest In The Evil Empire

In the huge, state-run GUM department store on Red Square in Moscow, sales of government-approved sportswear bearing the word "Lenin" in Cyrillic letters are disappointingly slow. The hottest items among Moscow teenagers these days are T-shirts emblazoned with the unauthorized slogan, "I love New York!" Also, says Soviet emigre Vladimir Voinovich, Russian youths who should be singing hymns to the motherland with words like "vast is the country of my birth," are going around chanting the ditty, "Rasputin, Rasputin, Greatest Russian love machine..."

These and other examples of ideological deviation, some humorous, some serious, are cited by Voinovich in his new book The Anti-Soviet Soviet Union (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, New York, NY 323 pages, $19.95). The author, a dissident Soviet writer before emigrating to West Germany, says the Kremlin's paranoia and brainwashing tactics have a way of backfiring, especially among Russia's younger generation. In his own case, he was forced to write glorifying Lenin in kindergarten and songs about Stalin in the first grade. When family money problems forced him to quit school, collective-farm bosses and factory foremen were his teachers. The lessons continued in the Red Army. Soldiers stationed in Poland were told all the local women worked for the CIA. Army indoctrination texts warned that stray dogs wandering about on the base could be equipped with enemy cameras. And so it went.

Voinovich describes his battles as a writer with Glasnost, the Soviet censorship institution, as a no-win contest - for both sides. "Oral and written instructions direct editors and censors to seek out not only ordinary subtexts, but also what are classified as 'uncontrollable subtexts'" that might endanger national security. The worst errors are those labelled "political," a term that can include "nearly anything," says Voinovich.

In a concluding chapter, entitled "End of an Era," the author dismisses Mikhail Gorbachev's campaign against corruption and alcoholism as hopeless. "No serious changes... are genuinely possible," he says, "without giving people more freedom." And in melancholy metaphor of Soviet life, Voinovich likens the existence of ordinary citizens to that of beetles swimming in "an iron barrel half full of water, long since stagnant, whose level (is) nearly constant due to the alteration of sunny and rainy days." The alternating cold and heat from outside, he says, frighten most Soviets who, for want of knowing freedom, sadly end up in the barrel.

Except, perhaps, for those rebellious teenagers with their unauthorized T-shirts and disapproved songs mocking "Big Brother."

Skeen Says Orogrande Site Will Benefit New Mexico

WASHINGTON, DC—Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM, said today's selection of the Orogrande site as the location for a multi-billion dollar laser research project will have a tremendous economic impact on southern New Mexico. "The opportunities for New Mexico to benefit from this project are enormous. The construction of this facility will create several thousand jobs and should offer significant contracting opportunities for New Mexico businesses," Skeen said. Skeen added that efforts are already underway to assist area businesses obtain part of the work involved in constructing the laser facility. On March 21, briefings will be held in Alamogordo and Las Cruces to provide businesses with information on the project. "There is going to be a great deal of work created by the project. These briefings will be an excellent way to ensure area businesses can compete for the work that will take place at Orogrande," Skeen said. The Orogrande site is located southwest of Alamogordo, New Mexico on the White Sands Missile Range. Air Force Lt. General James Abrahamson, director of the Strategic Defense Initiative Organization, made the final decision on selecting the Orogrande site for the Ground Base Free Electron Laser Project. The research project is an integral part of the "Star Wars" program. Abrahamson, who telephoned Skeen regarding his decision, based the selection of the Orogrande site on recommendation made in an environmental impact statement that was compiled by the US Army Corps of Engineers.

NM In Economic Slump

SANTA FE—It's possible the biggest mistake New Mexicans make is to let legislators get to this town uninstructed. I have too much respect for the economic astuteness of our citizens to believe they would willingly have our lawmakers carry on in their name as the big spenders have done again this year. New Mexico is in an economic slump such as we have not seen since the Great Depression. How do our legislators respond to that fact? They want state government to have more money to spend next fiscal year than it has spent in any single year since our history began.

Cutting back is an idea they do not seem able to comprehend. THE PUMP: Some argue in favor of pumping more money into the general economy in the form of state spending. That might be a good idea, except for one thing: To accomplish that, action must be taken to raise all our taxes, and the end result of that is to take more money out of the state's economy.

Thus, while some people in state government, principally the "big" find their bank accounts expanding, those of us who are ordinary citizens, or sheep, simply are giving the privilege of paying for the increases. But that sad thought doesn't appear to have touched the hearts of any of the legislators currently gathered here. They are authorizing spending as though it were funded by Monopoly money.

House Bill 2, which is always the year's biggest spending measure, would cause us to put out $60 million more next year than current taxes are likely to produce, at least in the form in which that bill was sent over to the Senate.

Since the Senate, now considering that omnibus measure, had already passed bills that would authorize spending another $59 million before even looking at HB2, you could say we citizens were $119 million in the hole just for starters.

That is our hole, after all—or at least it will become a hole in all our bank accounts for the current year. Eleven years without a decrease in governmental spending may be some kind of record, especially for an oil-producing state. Most of those, unlike New Mexico, are cutting back, anywhere from 10 to 16 percent per year.

By FRED McCAFFREY

As I said at the beginning, maybe what we need is a direct pipeline from your living room to your legislators' offices. If they could hear the citizens I hear on the subject of tax increases, there is no way they could even be considering the spending measures that are getting enacted this year. If you'd like to speak up, there's still time. Write or phone to give your lawmaker your views. If they don't stop going the way they are, we will all be done a serious financial injury.

when the Legislature passes the tax increases necessary to pay for its extravaganzas. HIGH LIVERS: Some of the members of this and other Legislatures are known for being relatively unwilling to throw money around, at least when they are at home. But that's their money. Somehow, when they get to the capital city, they forget that attitude and never stop finding ways to up the amount the state has spent in the past. If they manage to do that again in 1987, that will be the eleventh time in a row we have had a bigger appropriation for the coming year than the one

Bill Will Encourage Reclamation of Abandoned Mines

WASHINGTON—Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) today introduced a bill that will give tax relief to New Mexico landowners who clean-up and reclaim abandoned mine lands. Bingaman's bill would amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. Under a recent IRS memorandum, the total cost-share payments made by the state to the landowners to clean-up and reclaim abandoned mine lands would be taxable as income to the landowners. The Senator's measure would exclude from gross income certain reclamation payments and economic benefits, the source of which is the Abandoned Mine Land Fund.

Bingaman's bill is particularly important to New Mexico. The state has received between $1.5 to 2 million each year from the Abandoned Mine Land Fund since its inception in 1978. Last year, New Mexico spent approximately $2 million in these reclamation and clean-up activities. The program has helped reclaim 35 coal mine sites and reclaimed 1,087 acres throughout the state. About one-third of the counties in the state are directly affected by the program.

"I believe that if the Internal Revenue Service interprets the code to mean that reclamation costs are taxable as income this will have a severe and adverse affect on the abandoned mine reclamation programs," Bingaman said. "By taxing the reclamation funds as income to the landowners, the landowners will lose any incentive to participate in the program. In the long run, it is the public that will be harmed."

Under the abandoned mine land program, the states and the federal government earmark funds for reclamation work needed to eliminate threats to public safety and health.

Bingaman's bill is being referred to the Senate Finance Committee.

WASHINGTON UPDATE

from Senator Pete Domenici

THE CASE OF CAROL-ANN HUTZEL & CATASTROPHIC ILLNESS

It was the Spring of 1983, Carol Ann Hutzel fell ill with a virus. That virus destroyed the muscles of her heart.

When contacted a couple of days ago, Carol Hutzel was on her way out the door to a job interview. The catastrophic health problems faced by this brave 32-year-old woman over the past four years tells us a lot about what's right and what's wrong about our medical system.

Does the name Carol Hutzel ring a bell with you? Maybe you remember when the media in Albuquerque covered the fund drive to help pay for her heart transplant.

That fund drive was necessary because she had no health insurance that covered heart transplants. The insurance company considered the operation to be experimental.

And no one was sure if Carol would live long enough to go through the lengthy application process for Medicaid.

When a donor heart suddenly became available, the heart transplant was performed. Within four hours of the surgery, the hospital administration told Carol's mother and sister to produce the remainder of the deposit. The money required was $38,500, money that the family did not have.

The lengthy illness did more than deplete her family's savings. In Carol's own words, "I feared that my family would lose their home in an effort to keep me alive."

In four years Carol has racked up more than a quarter of a million dollars in medical bills. During the two and one-half years following the transplant, she lived in constant fear that she would be denied medical treatment and would die because of her inability to pay her bills.

At one point when a specific medication was needed to keep her body from rejecting the new heart, the hospital refused to issue the drug without payment, and her health insurance would not pay for the drug. It was only after media attention that Blue-Cross agreed to pay for the medication.

Carol is currently living on a Social Security Disability income of $377 monthly. If she earns an additional $75 per month, she will lose the assistance she receives from the Special Medical Needs Program of New Mexico.

She is now eligible for Medicare because she has been disabled for more than two years. If she becomes gainfully employed, she will eventually lose her Medicare benefits. She is unsure what Blue Cross will pay if she loses her Medicare. And her medical history precludes her from seeking another insurance company.

Traumas like Carol Hutzel's cause severe financial and emotional strain on innocent families. By the same token, the blame cannot be cast upon governmental agencies and hospital administrators attempting to treat everyone fairly.

The case of Carol Ann Hutzel drives home the undeniable, unforgivable, and woeful inadequacies of our nation's supplemental funding programs in the cases of catastrophic illnesses.

The individuals who endure these catastrophic illnesses are twice stricken; once, when they experience the illness, and, again, when the huge bill arrives.

These are the facts about catastrophic illness: between 1.5 and 3.4 percent of our population will suffer catastrophic health expenses in any year, depending on how they are counted. The situation among the elderly is even worse. Between 3.4 percent and 8 percent of older Americans face catastrophic health expenses annually; Medicare only covers about one-half of the health care expenses of the elderly.

In 1979, I cosponsored a bill to safeguard our citizens from extraordinary health care costs. In retrospect, much of what was proposed in that bill remains solid today. The bill proposed to expand the Medicare program to cover catastrophic health costs for the elderly. It proposed safeguards for the needy through the Medicaid program and for the uninsurable through State risk pools. It built upon existing employer-provided health insurance to pay for catastrophic costs for workers.

Those principles remain sound today. We need to build upon current programs like Medicare and Medicaid, employer-provided insurance, and the private insurance industry. Each has made important contributions to health care in America. We should not tear down an existing and successful structure.

We must also recognize the larger concerns that frame this issue. If we expand Medicare, we must keep the trust fund solvent. We can't increase Medicaid without examining its effect on state and federal finances. We can't require so much of private employers that it costs jobs in the state or aggravates our export problems.

With all of those concerns in mind, I still see a great opportunity to improve the health and financial well-being of Americans who are unfortunate enough to suffer from catastrophic illness. Several of my Senate colleagues and I are working on a catastrophic health insurance bill to protect Americans from the worst of these circumstances.

This bill will address the high costs of catastrophic illnesses in two ways. For the over 65 age group and the disabled like Carol Hutzel, it will limit the expenses the recipient must pay through the existing Medicare program. For Americans under age 65, it will piggy-back on existing systems of health insurance. For example, individuals who can't get regular health insurance because of existing medical conditions would be able to participate in state risk pools. It will change rules on medigap insurance to encourage insurers to move into areas the federal government does not cover.

We have come too far in the field of medical science and research to abandon life-saving techniques because those in need of the treatment cannot afford them.

America's health service is and will continue to be the best in the world. It is costly. It requires new equipment. Our medical experts must continue to use their God-given talents to help people who suffer from a catastrophic illness.

If it were not for these technologies and the experts who have developed and apply them, no hope would exist for someone suffering the incredible malady that struck Carol Hutzel. Carol will be allowed a trial work period, without losing her benefits. Carol's job interview came about as a result of our February 11th hearing in Albuquerque on catastrophic health.

Good luck to Carol Hutzel! She has inspired us with her courage and her experiences have educated many of us about where reform is needed.

The Annual Miss Fiesta pageant will be held April 11 sponsored by the Sierra County Junior Women's Club. Miss Fiesta will be the official hostess for the 1987 Truth or Consequences Fiesta to be held May 1-3.

Summer is fast approaching and the first big "Waterfest" event of 1987 will be the Santa Rosa Open - Bass Tournament.

The word has been out for several months on the bass tournament and there should be a great turnout for the first ever tournament.

Manufacturers and dealers of fishing tackle, rods, and reels have responded favorably to requests for merchandise items that will be used for door prizes.

Cash prizes will also be awarded. Actual cash amounts is still pending. Cash prizes will be publicized as soon as sponsors and estimated entries are available.

The Pentagon was set to announce Tuesday the location of a $1. billion defense laser project at White Sands Missile Range.

The director of the Strategic Defense Initiative, Lt. Gen. James Abrahamson, is expected to announce formally that the project will be built at Orogrande, between Alamogordo and El Paso.

Two other sites, one near Las Cruces and the other at Stallion Site, are also under consideration. The Army recommended the Orogrande site, mainly because it would cause less disruption to other activities on the missile range.

"Everybody expects it to go to Orogrande," said a senate aide who has followed the issue closely. "The Army has had a very strong preference all along for Orogrande and (so has) the Air Force."

The base commanders at both the Army missile range and neighboring Holloman Air Force Base favored the Orogrande site on the grounds it would not interfere with other base operations.

There were some 480,000 sheep and lambs in New Mexico as of Jan. 1, down 9 percent from the Jan. 1, 1986, estimate of 525,000 head, said the US Department of Agriculture.

A major portion of the decrease was sheep and lambs on feed, which at 30,000 head was down 65 percent from Jan. 1, 1986, said the department's agricultural statistics service.

Stock sheep increased 2 percent to 450,000 head, agency officials said in a news release.

Freddy Montoya, 22, of Capitan, was arrested on Feb. 24 and charged with a sex related incident. Lincoln County Sheriff Deputy Charley Engleking placed Montoya under arrest on a warrant issued by Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean Jr.

The warrant was issued in reference to an alleged incident that happened in mid-December in Carrizozo. Montoya made his first appearance before Judge Dean at 3:30 p.m. Feb. 24 and is being held in the Lincoln County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, no ten percent. Jail under $30,000 bond with no 10 percent, according to Samuels.

Jacqueline E. Spencer of Alto, together with Dr. Erin Bigler and Robert Scott Draker, has founded the Heartland League Rehabilitation Institute in Dripping Springs, TX.

The newly formed institute is to develop and provide research for innovative treatment programs for emotionally disturbed and neurologically impaired or head injured individuals.

An Equestrian Center is being developed in Dripping Springs, TX, for therapeutic horseback riding.

Therapeutic riding programs provide an innovative approach of incorporating traditional counseling therapies, physical therapy, cognitive therapy and independent living and learning skills into an individual's overall treatment or rehabilitation plan.

The Heartland League

therapeutic riding center plans to provide programs for adults and children with multiple disabilities that include neurological impairments and mental disorders.

Secretary of Energy John Herrington has assured Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) that the Department of Energy has not compiled a short list of proposed Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) sites.

"Secretary Herrington assured me today that the Department of Energy has no such list and no preferred site. New Mexico is very much in the running for the SSC project," Domenici said.

The secretary's answer came in response to Domenici's question regarding such an alleged list. Herrington appeared before the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee earlier

"The Secretary also reported to us that there is no truth to the rumor that there is a link between the SSC site selection and the selection for a nuclear waste disposal site, now under consideration by the Energy Department," Domenici added.

Speaking on behalf of New Mexico's "outstanding national labs, educational system, and private business atmosphere," Domenici told Herrington that New Mexico is the ideal place for basing that project.

The senator followed up by telling Herrington many scientists, educators, and business people in New Mexico are very excited about the project, and will be working hard to ensure that the project is based in the state.

Jeff Bingaman Washington Letter

Time to Repair the Roof

Thinking of New Mexico's economy, I am reminded of what John F. Kennedy once said: "The time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining."

New Mexico has no lack of sunshine. That's the good news. The bad news is that there are some problems with our roof, economically speaking. And we need to be about the business of repairing it.

The state's unemployment rate is now at 9.2 percent. This isn't a figure to be proud of, but it is a rate that would be much higher if it wasn't for government spending in our state.

But our growing dependence on government spending is also pushing us toward a position of being a one-industry state. And since government spending is declining, that is an extremely risky position.

The fact that we don't have more non-government jobs illustrates increasingly the U.S.'s failure to compete in international trade.

This failure has taken its toll in a number of New Mexico industries, notably copper, potash, uranium, and semi-conductors.

The once vigorous New Mexico uranium industry is now virtually non-existent.

Domestic copper production is at an all time low. There has been a 50 percent drop in U.S. employment and a 25 percent loss in production, while foreign production -- much of it financed by U.S. backed international financing -- is at an all time high.

The domestic potash industry is also in deep trouble. In the potash mines of Carlsbad, which have in the past accounted for more than 80 percent of domestic production, employment has dropped one-third and production has fallen sharply.

Last year was the worst in the history of the semiconductor industry. Semiconductor companies in Albuquerque -- particularly Intel and Signetics -- were hard hit. Sandia Labs, which has a major semiconductor research and development facility, has also suffered. Nationally, employment in the industry last year dropped 19 percent -- by 54,000 workers. Among them were an estimated 200 layoffs in New Mexico. Perhaps even more disturbing, 2,200 new jobs were not created as a result of failed plant expansion in Albuquerque. Operating losses in the latest quarter for which figures are available were running at a rate of more than $700 million nationwide.

We also see how our trade policy -- or lack of it -- affects us when we go to the gas station. Though you and I may enjoy paying less at the gas pump, our oil and gas industry is paying a disastrously steep price for the declining gas prices. Employment in the industry in New Mexico has fallen from 13,200 to 9,000.

What can we do to reverse these down trends?

First, we need to recognize that we do have a serious problem. Then we must act: admit that our domestic deficit is at the root of many of our trade problems; find ways to increase the productivity of our industries; restructure our tax laws to encourage productive investment; and vigorously enforce our trade laws.

I have introduced or cosponsored legislation in many of these areas, and I am confident that the 100th Congress will pass a comprehensive trade bill. But there is another area that needs to be addressed if we are going to successfully meet this challenge. And that area is education.

We as a nation must see to it that our citizens -- particularly our children -- have the skills and education necessary to compete in today's and tomorrow's world. We must make it a national priority to see to it that Americans are qualified for more than just service-oriented jobs. Educating and training do cost money, but they are investments we cannot avoid if we are to compete successfully in the new world trade market.

If we fail to meet this challenge it is not just our miners, our oil and gas workers, or workers in our semiconductor industries who will suffer -- we will all pay the price.

period buzzer, then stampeded to the 42-30 win.
Lightfoot took high point honors with 19 while teammates Beverly Bell, Traci Kelley, Mary Romero, Julie Furgason, and Tina Aaron each contributed two. At eight apiece, Mountainair's Lovern Romero, Dana Granger, Herrera tied for high point while Tonya Aragon put in five.

The Cardinals closed the season with an 8 to 12 record and 2-5 district play. "We had a tough schedule," commented Coach G. Ray Johnson. "A couple of our players didn't return this year, and that hurt us, too; but Cliff - which is second in Class A - and Estancia, Elida, Animas, and Weed are all very good teams. We got educated," he added, noting that the girls saw some different defenses and sometimes didn't adjust well. With only two seniors - Beverly Bell and Kim Worley - departing, Johnson expects a more experienced and educated team next year.

Corona Junior High Cardinals hosted the Bean Valley Conference last Saturday in a season finale and lost a heart-breaker to Vaughn, 33-33, to take second place at the tournament.

The young Cardinals posted a 5-4 season, losing two games to Vaughn by only a basket and coming off one point shy in a squeaker to Fort Sumner.

"They were good" commented Coach Jimmie Widner. The team included high scorer Randy Leely and leading rebounder Shane Owen. "J.J. Young improved tremendously," added Widner, "and Ernest Sulzmeier had a real good individual performance (in BVC competition last Saturday)". Widner's lament is that the quartet will move to varsity play next year, leaving 7th and 8th graders Garrett Marshall and Les Owen. "They played well, too," said Widner, "but with only one sixth grader moving up, we may not be able to have a junior high team," observed the coach.

Tiger sports

In an exciting game played Feb. 28 in Capitan, Weed edged by Capitan 55-44 and won the District 5A championship. The Lady Tigers held a three point advantage at halftime but Weed came back strong in the second half.

Three minutes into the 3rd quarter the scoreboard showed Weed on top 35-29.

With 4:10 left in the game the score was notched at 49-49. A basket by Katherine Sanchez put Capitan ahead 51-49 with 2:47 left. At 1:25 Weed took a 53-51 advantage. With 5 seconds left in the game Katherine Sanchez went to the free throw line with Capitan behind 2 points. Sanchez sunk both free throws which should have tied the score. This was not to be as a Lady Tiger was detected stepping into the lane before she was supposed to. Weed got the ball and ran out the clock. Weed took 1st place and Capitan 2nd place.

Death of Col. Wynkoop

On Friday night of last week, Col. Ed. Wynkoop passed into a dreamless sleep and on the Sabbath following he was laid away in his windowless home.

Saturday, September 20, 1891.
Mr. Ross, whom the Las Vegas Optic sent here some weeks ago to write up his impressions of this section of New Mexico's vineyard, filled his commission well and in doing so got "stuck" and has located here. This week, in consideration of $2,181 he purchased all the personal property belonging to the Jicarilla Mining & Water Co., embracing well boring machinery, boiler, engine, building, &c. He also gobbled up 16 placer claims. The next day he bought 750 feet of the Miners Retreat placer claim, for which he paid $2,000.

$100.00 Reward

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Last week there were lots of cloudy days and little wind, from 7 to 10 degrees at night, some days in the 30's, just warm enough to melt some. Our area is still white and the Capitan Mountains are white. There was no wind during the snowstorm at all and the snow is melting. The trees have just now shed the last of the snow and ice. That was excellent moisture and it should help everything. The elm tree budded during that time. This damp, very wet cold, truly does penetrate.

There were 929 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum during the month of February.

Due to the snowstorm the February meeting of the Roundtable Club was held on the 26th at the home of Mary Dean. After a delicious meal the president, Amolene McIntosh, conducted the business meeting. Roll call was answered by nine members. Absent were Maureen Sullivan and Harriet McGinnis. Guests were Eleanor Service and Nancy Humble, Harriet McGinnis who now lives in Big Springs, TX, resigned from the club. We were all sorry to lose her. She was made honorary member. Gladys Pew's birthday was observed by the club singing the Happy Birthday song and by lovely cards from the members. Leota Pfingsten won the raffle. The afternoon was spent visiting. The March meeting will be at the home of Gladys Pew, March 19.

The FFA Judging teams went to Hatch, NM, last Saturday. Capitan won the Sweepstakes Award.

Happy Birthday to Sandy Lightfoot, March 4 with many more following.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Payne of Carrizozo were guests of their son, Curtis Payne and family while enroute from Roswell.

Howard Wright underwent triple by-pass heart surgery at the Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque, Feb. 26 and is doing O.K. His wife, Maxine, has remained with him. Keep up the good work, Howard. Our prayers are with you constantly for a very good and complete recovery.

Wayne Hobbs was taken to Ruidoso for his check-up and was found to be doing O.K. Do keep that good report going. We are counting on you. Everyone cares, Wayne.

Vicki Ramirez, of Ft. Stanton, who reached her 30th birthday, Feb. 25, is in the Miss America Pre-teen Pageant. Two weeks ago she was in an Albuquerque workshop and luncheon. Her brother Jerry Ramirez will reach his 11th year March 20. Happy birthday Jerry.

Manuel Ramirez is now S/Sgt. in the Army in El Paso, TX. He is at this time in school in San Diego, CA. He graduated from the Capitan school. He and his brother and sister mentioned are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ramirez of Ft. Stanton.

Pauline Whittaker was taken via our ambulance to the Ruidoso hospital last Friday. Please know, Pauline, all of us are pulling for you. Get well soon and fast.

We again have been saddened by the death of another old-timer of our community though she has lived in Roswell for the last several years. Juanita Montoya passed away suddenly and unexpectedly in Roswell, Feb. 25 and was laid to rest in the Capitan cemetery Saturday, with all of her family and friends attending. She was a precious lady and loved by everyone. We have missed not seeing her as of old but our memories have remained and she knew that.

Curry Powder Creates An Unusual Rice Salad

The rice salad pictured above has several advantages over ordinary salads: it can be prepared ahead of serving. It can be served at room temperature (making it table to potluck suppers). And it has the lovely scent and exotic flavor of an Indian curry. The curry powder, a blend of many spices, is sauteed first in oil to smooth and mellow the spices before adding minced onion and lemon juice to the dressing.

- RAINBOW RICE SALAD WITH CURRY
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
  - 1/4 cup water
  - 1/4 cup vegetable oil
  - 2 teaspoons curry powder
  - 1/8 teaspoon salt
  - 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
  - 2 tablespoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
  - 3 cups hot cooked white rice (unprocessed)
  - 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed
  - 1-1/4 cups cherry tomatoes, quartered
  - 1 cup peeled cucumber cut in 1-inch chunks

In a small bowl combine onion and water; set aside for 10 minutes to soften. In a small skillet over medium-low heat heat oil until hot. Add curry powder, salt and black pepper; stir until curry is golden, 1 to 2 minutes. Stir in onion and lemon juice. In a large bowl combine rice, peas, tomatoes, cucumber and curry mixture. Serve warm or chilled on lettuce leaves, if desired.
YIELD: 6 portions about 5-1/2 cups
