Fire truck bids received; airport charges approved

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo board of trustees opened bids for the new fire truck at the April 28 meeting. Monarch Equipment Inc. of Belen submitted a bid of $104,489.33 and Thunderbird Fire Safety Equipment of Albuquerque submitted a bid of $105,763.

The bids were taken under advisement and will be reviewed by Carrizozo fire chief Albert Najjar. Approval from the state fire marshal must be obtained before the bid may be awarded at the May 12 meeting.

In other business, Carrizozo Airport Committee Chairman Dale Goad received permission from councillors for the airport committee to begin charging an optional tie-down fee for planes at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport.

Goad said the municipal airport is becoming more popular and charging a minimal fee will become necessary. The airport committee will draft a proposal for the charges of possibly $2 per night or $15 per month tie-down fee.

—Resolution 87-6 was approved for a special election to be held June 23 with voters to decide if Sunday liquor sales by the drink will be allowed in the city limits of Carrizozo. The special election has been called due to a petition being signed by the required number of registered voters asking for the election.

—Resolution 87-7 was approved for non-residents to use the voting machine instead of paper ballots.

—Joint powers agreement with the New Mexico Criminal Justice Resource Council was approved. Dues are $2,000 per year. The NMCJRC provides training, manuals, etc. for the Carrizozo police department.

—Trustee Linda Haller reported that the annual clean-up day was a success. She said that 48 youngsters and 28 adults participated in the activities on April 25. Councillors expressed thanks to everyone who helped in the effort to beautify Carrizozo.

Waste Control for providing the dumpster, Roy's Gift Gallery for donating ice cream cones to participating youngsters, Val Reyes for soft drinks and facilities at the Rec Center and for cash donations from local residents. The youngsters also received bowling passes and swimming pool passes for their help. Haller and Trustee Albert Baca were co-chairman for Clean-up Day.

—A letter was received from Woody Schlegel requesting withdrawal of the variance request he had submitted to place three mobile homes on two lots in McDonald addition, block 35, lots 5 and 6. The letter stated that he will now only place one mobile home per lot.

—Action was tabled on the business registration application submitted by Woody Schlegel. The application included lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 of block 35 in the McDonald addition (6th and B Avenue).

—Mayor Bob Hemphill reported on the progress of the street paving grant. He had a letter from the state highway department requesting changes at the intersection of 13th Street and Highway 54 and the intersection of 3rd Street and Highway 380.

—Hemphill announced that Lava Loop will become a cul de sac and only non-grant funds may be used on that street.

—John Northrop was hired as part time police officer for one week and to fill in for emergencies only.

—Notification of Carrizozo receiving the beautification grant from the state highway department was received. The grant of $966.93 includes $425 for a youth (age 16-25) to work this summer and $541.93 for purchasing specified items.

—The joint powers agreement for the beautification grant was signed.

—The application the town made for the Water Supply Construction Grant was returned as the state is no longer participating in the grant program. Future applications must be for loans.

—The week of May 10-16 was proclaimed 'Small Business Week.'

—Brochures for the special election to be held May 19 asking for general obligation water bonds in the amount of $150,000 were presented. The brochures explain the water situation in Carrizozo, the need for the project and the cost and tax rates that are estimated for the project.

Councillors agreed to speak to various civic groups to tell of the election, answer questions, and distribute the brochures.

—The award was made to De'Aun Willoughby, Melrose, for the annual audit for the amount of $2,600. The audit is for the 1986-87 fiscal year.

—An executive session was held for 24 minutes to discuss personnel.

It is well known in New Mexico, having performed in cities and communities throughout the state.

These dancers have also received national recognition in such diverse places and occasions as the Festival of Arts in Tucson, the National Folk Festival in Nashville, TN, the Hemisfair in San Antonio, TX, and a festival at Disneyland.

This year's Fiesta is titled La Fiesta del Arco Iris (The Fiesta of the Rainbow). A new dance this year is La Bruja, The Witch. A couple of the old favorites include El Jarabe Tapatio, The Mexican Hat Dance and Jesusita en Chihuahua, The Heel and Toe Dance.

The Woman of the Year will be revealed at a tea to honor her at a later date. Candidates for Woman of the Year have previously been selected as Woman of the Month by the Woman's Club.

The name of the scholarship recipient will be revealed at graduation.

IT FINALLY HAPPENS—The property swap between the Capitan Schools and the US Forestry Service, originally initiated in 1978, was consummated April 28 with a brief ceremony in Capitan. The school received 6.26 acres of land and a building south of the playground. The Forestry Service received 4.4 acres of land and a building across from the school on Hwy 380. Shown here, l. to r., Paul Gordon, retired ranger who initiated the swap; Steve Sams, District Ranger on the Smokey Bear District; Jim Abbot, Forest supervisor; school board president James McDaniel and Interim superintendent L.C. Cozzens.

Escapes, murderers touch off a manhunt

Friday night four prisoners escaped from Alamogordo jail, armed and dangerous. Authorities were also on the lookout for the murderer of a Roswell woman, and for another sought for murder in Pinon.

Which is why local and county law enforcement personnel were quick to respond to a call from Glen Ellison, who told Sheriff Dispatcher Sandy Baca at about 8 p.m. he had seen a dark figure crawl under his north fence and walk toward the barn area.

City officers responded, but could not locate the suspect. Then Sgt. Duane Vinson of the sheriff's office arrived and an intense manhunt began.

Accent on Youth

Accent on Youth, a band and art program, will be presented in the Carrizozo School on May 7 at 7 p.m.

The beginning band will play first, followed by the Grizzly Band. The music portion of the program will be held in the old gym.

The art show will be held in the school cafeteria with artwork by high school students and youngsters in grades 1-4.

Unable to trace the man because of darkness, Vinson vowed to find him "if it takes all night." He and Ellison began the search with guns and flashlights. After 30 minutes of tracking, the men were convinced they knew where the man was hiding.

Vinson asked the dispatcher to notify Clovis Perry that his help was needed. Perry agreed to cut his yard fence and allow the patrol car through to continue the search. Deputy Larry Brinkley arrived from Nogal and took up a position near the Arnold Boyce place. The two-hour search ended when Clovis Perry, who had joined Ellison and the two deputies, called out, "Over here! I've got him."

Perry was found holding a flashlight and a gun on a man hidden under yucca and tumble weeds.

The prisoner appeared to be a Mexican National, not one of the escaped desperados or one of the murderers who are giving area police officers and residents the jitters.

The "prize" wasn't much, but Sheriff Don Samuels congratulated his men for a job well done. As for Clovis Perry, the sheriff noted that he rose to the occasion, "as good men always do."

DAN AND PAULA BURNETT

Welcome to Carrizozo

DAN BURNETT of Grants has been employed as the Carrizozo School superintendent for the 1987-88 school year. He has been assistant school superintendent in Grants for six years and was an elementary school principal for two years prior to that. He received his schooling at Eastern New Mexico University. After signing his contract on April 24 he said, "I hope to continue the same kind of quality and educational programs in Carrizozo that Dennis Sidebottom bequeathed to me." He and his wife Paula were attracted to the area by the natural surroundings. They plan to move to Carrizozo this summer in time for him to take the helm on July 1. Paula is an attorney with the 13th Judicial District at this time and will consider going into practice in Lincoln County.

Lucille King reports on special education

Lucille King, director of special education for Capitan schools, presented the program "Special Education in the Public School" at the April 27 meeting of the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) of Lincoln County. The quarterly meeting was held at New Horizons Development Center in Carrizozo.

LUCILLE KING of Capitan has been employed as the Corona School superintendent for the 1987-88 school year. She received her schooling at New Mexico State and earned her BS in 1969, M.A. in special education in 1976 and Ed.S. in school administration in 1983. She has been director of special education in Capitan since the 1983-84 school year. Her teaching career began in 1969 teaching elementary in Tularosa until 1976 when she started teaching special education there. Her family includes her husband Jack of 33 years, four grown children and five grandchildren. In her spare time she likes to read and write children's stories. She is preparing to take the reins of the Corona school district on July 1.

King's presentation included information about special education classes being held because not all students learn at the same rate. She said some students have behavioral problems, some students have communication problems and others have other determining factors for placement in a special education class. She also discussed legislation passed in 1973 concerning schooling for special education students.

After the presentation King answered questions and discussed with parents and grandparents various subjects surrounding the education of special education students.

King told the group that she will be leaving the Capitan school to become the school superintendent of Corona Schools in July.

The ARC business meeting was conducted by Phyllis Schlegel, president of the local chapter. She reported on the success of the first annual bowling tournament, a money-making project held on March 22 at the Carrizozo Rec Center.

The bowling tournament was held in conjunction with Mental Retardation month and MR Sunday, which was March 15. MR month is observed to promote public education concerning mental retardation, its prevention, cure and the welfare of this nation's mentally retarded citizens.

Schlegel expressed thanks to the Lincoln County Commission and the mayor of Carrizozo for proclaiming March as MR month. She also thanked the NEWS, radio stations, King's Food Mart, Roy's Gift Gallery, The Coffee Cup Cafe, Four Winds Restaurant, and the Carrizozo Rec Center for their support of MR month. Special bulletins were used by area churches on MR Sunday and Schlegel voiced her appreciation to these churches on behalf of the ARC.

Other business included a legislative report by Jenny Kelly, a membership report, plans to enter an auto with posters on it in the Smokey Bear Parade in Capitan on July 4, and a report on the fair share assessment by ARC/NM.

The fair share assessment based on the estimated buying power and population of the county has gone from $228 last year to $451 this year. Next year it is to be $644. Members agreed to pay this year with the stipulation that a letter be sent objecting to the increase to $644 next year.

Schlegel reported that a program on PBS in August will concern a young woman who is handicapped and learned to communicate by using a computer. The program is to air in August.

Kelly announced that Elmer Lovato and Joanna Gutierrez were contestants in the national ARC art contest. Winning artwork is to be published in the 1987 holiday card line and the 1988 calendar. The local contestants received trophies and a certificate of participation.

More than 500 entries were received from 35 states for the national competition. Artworks were judged on composition, artistic skill, choice of subject and imagination, without regard to geographic location, level of disability or age.

The winning artists spanned these variables and represented the positive artistic potential of many children and adults with mental retardation.

The next meeting of the local chapter will be held July 27 at New Horizons Development Center in Carrizozo at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

JACKIE RAWLINS, Achievement Awards Chairman of Lincoln County Federated Republican Women, presents "The First Ladies of New Mexico" to Corona Supt. John Clem. LCFRW President Inez Tanner looks on along with local member June Tyree.

Corona library receives book

As part of the Mamie Eisenhower Library Project (MELP), the Lincoln County Federated Republican Women has donated Eunice Kalloch and Ruth Hall's "The First Ladies of New Mexico" to the Corona School library.

The Library Project was established by the National Federation of Republican Women in 1961 as a community service in honor of the former First Lady to donate books to libraries and needy organizations across the country. The LCFRW has donated books to various organizations in the Lincoln County area.

Jackie Rawlins, achievement award chairman in Lincoln County, noted that the organization has achieved the Diamond Award during each of the last three years and has been recognized at the National Republican Women Convention. The presentation of a book to a library within the county is one of the requirements for the award.

The books donated through MELP are ones which portray the ideals and principles of Americanism, as well as those which are of special interest to groups such as senior Americans, children, veterans and minorities.

Everyone is invited to attend a ceremony on May 9 at 10 a.m. at the Ruidoso Downs Post Office where the cachet envelope can be purchased for $1. At 11 a.m. a booth will open at Ruidoso Downs Race Track where the envelopes may be purchased also.

OPINION

By now you know there are people dedicated to keeping the American public terrorized over the threat of nuclear disaster. Friday night the American Broadcasting Company televised a grim story of dangers inherent in US nuclear weapons factories. The story was larded with unsupported evidence that carelessness in old and out-dated factories is another Chernobyl waiting to happen. Stripped of the rhetoric (which must have delighted the Kremlin) the moral of the broadcast was—stop making nuclear weapons. Which is, in short, precisely what the Soviets want us to do.

The narrator, following the anti-nuclear line, caused us to recall the alleged "disaster" at Three Mile Island. When anti-nukes want to strike terror in the hearts of placid Americans, they bring up Three Mile Island. But they seldom mention that nobody got hurt at Three Mile Island. No deaths, no sickness, no contamination that wasn't contained. TMI was not a disaster, it was media hype.

Now I'll tell you about the worst nuclear accident ever to happen in the United States. It was largely ignored by the media and even by the anti-nukes themselves. It happened in New Mexico. Perhaps it was ignored because so many media honchos still don't know that New Mexico is part of the United States and has been since 1912. Anyway, it happened July 16, 1979 near the town of Church Rock, NM. One hundred million gallons of radioactive water containing uranium tailings spilled from a pond into the north arm of the Rio Puerco. Samples of the river water showed radioactivity 6,600 times the maximum standards for drinking water. What happened? Nothing. Nobody died. Nobody got sick. No animals suffered. Northern New Mexico did not turn into a radioactive wasteland. Since none of these things happened, the media and anti-nukes decided to ignore the whole incident because, perhaps, publicizing it would let Americans know that such accidents are not as horrible as their propaganda has led us to believe.

Sen. Ted Kennedy (D-Chappaquiddick) is pushing a bill to force all employers (at their own expense, of course) to provide health insurance for their employees. Sen. Jeff Bingaman (D-Spendthrift) has introduced a bill to have the federal government monitor the dietary habits of all Americans. Rep. Pat Schroeder (D-Higher Taxes) wants a federal law that guarantees four months of job leave to men or women upon birth or adoption of a child. Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Moscow) is sponsoring a bill that would raise the minimum wage to $4.65 an hour by 1990. Let's face it. All the Declaration of Independence calls for is the pursuit of happiness, not the deliverance of it. Having disposed of the ridiculous, give a hand to Rep. Charles Bennett (D-Florida) who has served honorably in Congress since 1948. While commanding Filipino guerrillas during World War II, Bennett contracted polio. Today he needs a leg brace and cane to walk. Over the years he has been sent disability checks amounting to more than $200,000. Bennett has returned all of them!

James Swan, a private citizen, personally paid off the entire national debt of the United States in 1793. Today, 250 million private citizens of the United States can't make a dent in the national debt. . . . If you ever wondered what a "mariachi" band means. Mariachi means marriage. So watch it. . . . When an Iraqi soldier dies in the war with Iran, his family gets about $7,000 in cash, a plot of land, and a new car. . . . America's lust for exercise, athletics and aerobic dancing has produced a new dimension in medicine—doctors who specialize in injuries caused by all this activity. What causes more bone fractures than any recreational sport? Aerobic dancing. . . . Mother's Day is coming up. The woman who in 1907 suggested Mother's Day, Anna Jarvis, had no children of her own. . . .

Speaker of the House Jim Wright of Texas appropriately chose April Fool's Day to televise his demand that congress be notified within 48 hours of any significant covert operations by the Reagan Administration's intelligence agencies, especially the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). In the first place, covert operations are none of Congress' business, other than for funding sources. Covert operations is the special province of the executive department, and the president is responsible for such operations. Covert operations are essential to the survival of this or any other country. In the second place, Congress cannot be trusted with a secret. It is a gaggle of loose-lipped and self-serving politicians, many of whom have close ties to the Communist party.

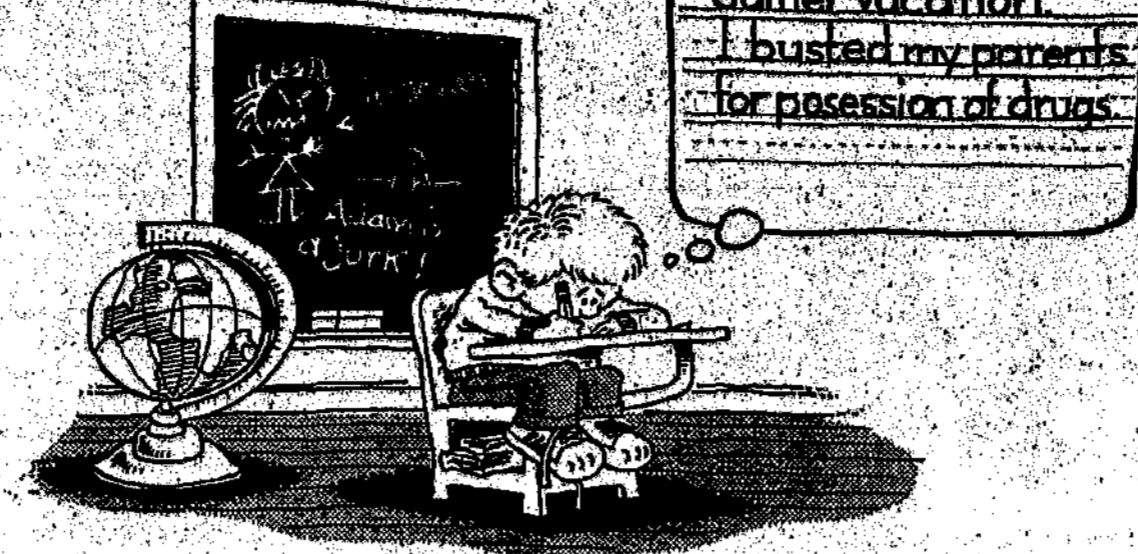

President Reagan understood all this, which is why Congress was not informed of the invasion of Grenada by US forces. Had Congress been informed of the Grenada invasion, our enemies would have known of it within 30 minutes. Then, instead of suffering minor US casualties, the operation would have been a bloodbath. It is unfortunate that Congress cannot be trusted with vital secrets. At the same time it is fortunate that the US Constitution gives the president power to make and implement foreign policy; that it designates him as the commander-in-chief of the armed forces; gives him authority to make treaties only with the consent of the senate—not the entire Congress. Covert operations must not be handled by the Ted Kennedy's, Alan Cranstons and Jim Wrights—none of whom questioned President John Kennedy's covert disaster at the Bay of Pigs or President Jimmy Carter's abortive attempt to rescue American hostages in the Middle East.

Classic revision of history

WASHINGTON — For more than two months now, my talk show on Baltimore radio station WFBR has featured an opening theme music, the overvoice of which has paid tribute to the fact that Maryland gave the United States its first President: John Hanson.

Now columnist Peter Kumpa of Baltimore's Evening Sun has written a column headlined: JOHN HANSON: THE FORGOTTEN "FIRST PRESIDENT" FROM MARYLAND

Mr Kumpa's headline, in this column subheaded "ON MARYLAND HISTORY" has the term "FIRST PRESIDENT" in quotation marks. And he proceeds to contend:

"Of course, Hansen was not the first President of the United States. A cursory reading of the Articles of Confederation shows no such position. In fact, it shows no such sovereign nation. While Article I of the Constitution states that 'The title of this confederacy shall be The United States of America,' the very next article spells out the reality: 'Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence.' Under Article III, the states agreed only to 'enter into a firm league of friendship with each other.

"Well into the body of Article IX, the position that Hanson held is described: 'The united states in congress assembled shall have authority . . . to appoint one of their number to preside, provided that no person shall be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years.' We use the lower case description of both the congress and the office of president, for that is precisely the manner of the text used in the parchment of the official Articles of Confederation now in the possession of the Library of Congress.

"In 1932, another wave of stories hit the press about the 'neglected' and 'forgotten' first president of the United States. There were enough of them that the State Department moved to make an official finding. It found for Washington, not Hanson: 'Not only actually and really, but also in the most strict legal sense as well, George Washington was the first president of the United States.' Like a House Speaker, or a Senate President, Hanson ran a committee that handled the chores given to 'the united states congress assembled.'

Perhaps only the Evening Sun would venture to publish this pseudo-historical elevation of anything as staggeringly inept as the State Department to the level of the US Supreme Court. But would the Supreme Court be foolish enough to try to revise history in a manner which reduces the United States from a country to a collection of colonies for 11 years of its existence? (Why, for example, was Gen. George Washington's commission signed "John Hanson, President of the United States"?)

Under the Peter Kumpa-Evening Sun school of Historical Analysis, we really had no real and actual right to celebrate the Bicentennial of the United States in 1976. We should have done so this year, 1987. For according to Kumpa's Sunbeam, prior to 1787, there was no such country as the United States. It was nothing more than an East Coast United Nations.

Mr. Kumpa asserts: "A cursory reading of the Articles of Confederation shows no such position as president of the united states." Yet a more than cursory reading of Kumpa's column shows that in the very next paragraph he quotes Article IX, which includes the following: "The united states in congress assembled shall have the authority to appoint one of their number to preside, provided that no person shall be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years."

Just what is it that this president was president of? According to the Articles, he was president of what they quite clearly designate as the "united states."

Columnist Kumpa notes that there were only seven states present and that this title is in lower case—as if the absence of congressmen, or printer's choice, determines the existence or non-existence of a country.

Mr. Kumpa also contends that this was somehow NOT really or actually the United States because the Articles of Confederation note: "Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence." Did the signing of the Constitution DENY such freedom and independence to the various states? Having fought so hard for freedom from a King in London, did they, after only four years, mean to surrender freedom to 'a President in Philadelphia?

Dean Walter Lynwood Fleming of Vanderbilt University notes that the Treaty of Paris in 1783 recognized each of the united states as "free, sovereign and independent

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Students protest firing

EDITOR—The students of Mrs. Manning's classes want you all to know that we feel you have done us a great unjust in firing our teacher. She is by far the best special ed teacher we have ever had. she makes sure we study and learn. She also treats us with respect and understanding. Which is more than some of the teachers in your school system does. She cares what happens to us and she works hard to help us reach our goals in life. This is during school hours, and you can also depend on her help anytime you ask for it.

A teacher's private life should be left out of your decision as long as they do their jobs in the classroom. If you're going to drag up personal lives, look around you.

We hope you are all very proud and pleased with your decision, and we also hope your decision does not affect our future in anyway.

The students of Mrs. Manning: Peggy Barnes, Darlene Zamora, Julio Chavez, Richard Guevara, Alfred Medina, Jessie Gallegos, John Ballin, Michael Paul Lueras, Andrew Silva, Kim LaMay

God over-ruled

EDITOR—By man-made edict, the sins of Sodom and Gomorrah are no longer sins. Mind you, God did not say that. So far as we know, God has not changed his age-old stand against fornication, adultery, and perversion. True, some of His followers have gone astray, but His word has not changed.

The US Surgeon General, Dr. Everett Koop, has warned that as many as one hundred million people may die from AIDS by the year 2000. AIDS is perversion's cursed gift to a promiscuous world.

Dr. Koop recommends more sex education in our schools. Koop further recommends that sex education be extended down into the lower grades. Neither Dr. Koop, other government authorities, or for that matter, the nation's educators say much about teaching Christian morality.

No one is saying anything about enforcing God's laws regarding punishment for fornication, adultery and perversion. The idea seems to be to make such violations of God's law less hazardous to the sinner's health.

As Congress prepares to spend more millions on more sex education, one astute observer commented, "The United States government seems determined to make the world safe for sodomy."

RAYMOND C. WILSON, San Juan Bautista, CA.

City council could use 'glasnost' too

Glasnost, the Russian expression, is now appearing in the media when referring to a new openness in the Russian society. Compared to our American mores and customs this reflects a major change in Russian attitudes, if the change continues.

Are we always open and forthright in the way matters are discussed by our elected officials nationally and on the local level? —not by a LONG shot!

Recently the Ruidoso News castigated our council for calling for an excessive number of "closed" council meetings. At a following council meeting I explained THAT "closed" council meetings were important in the everyday operation of the city government as long as the rules covering closed meetings (New Mexico League Pocket Guide, pages 34-35) were explicitly followed.

During the regular council meeting of April 14, 1987, a proposal to consider the purchase of a building, known as the Rocky Mountain Builders Supply building, to be used as a civic center, was presented to the council. This was published agenda item.

After some discussion regarding the location of the proposed building, parking, asking price, and sundry matters, the real estate agent involved in the real estate listing of the property asked for an executive (closed) meeting to discuss the real estate proposal. This request was immediately granted to be held at the conclusion of the regular meeting the same night.

There are problems in connection with the request for the closed session and the granting of same. What is so secret that makes a closed meeting necessary? Surely the preliminary discussion here would not include any dark secrets which should be kept out of public view.

There are six reasons which allow for closed meetings under state law, Item 6 of the closed meetings rules allows "for the discussion of the purchase or acquisition of real property."

The property involved here had not been discussed previously and there were several negative facts brought out in the initial discussions, along with those of favorable nature. Since this was an initial discussion it is difficult to rationalize that the council would consider a "closed" meeting to further discuss the property and the asking price. There simply was no chance that any final decision could be made at this meeting. So, the meeting was a waste of time.

Why the secrecy? When the airport was debated several months ago it was pointed out that, as parcels of the old airport were sold as the result of a feasibility study, civic center facilities would be constructed on airport land. Sales of land could result in the city owning the remainder portion for its own use at zero. A civic center could be constructed on a well-planned basis with a large savings as compared to buying any existing facility simply "because we need it now"—making any other facility compatible to the needs of a civic center would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Speaking of rule 6 which covers "closed meetings" by the council, there is an inconsistency which should be pointed out. This rule allows for a "closed meeting" to discuss the "purchase or acquisition of real property." It goes on to say that "notice must be given in the same manner as for other meetings." Then, by contrast, it says "an open meeting may be closed by a majority vote of the quorum present!" So, who's on first? You cannot tell! Rule 6 is ambiguous and should be amended by the state legislature. You can't have the rule work both ways! Under present rules a council may run roughshod over their citizens and be within the law.

I would suggest that our city council take a look at the civic center in Carlsbad. This is a well planned, all-purpose facility built to accommodate multiple purpose use with simple provisions for expansion in future years. The trip to Carlsbad would be well worthwhile.

Let's keep our council meetings on an open basis except as a last resort—and within the proper interpretation of the law. The taxpayers are entitled to know what's going on. It's their money!

If the council would state a policy which would promise to build a civic center on airport land, a lot of time would be saved and the apparent wishes of the taxpayers would be carried out.

J.A. "AI" JUNGE, Ruidoso.

Some questions; any answers?

EDITOR—Last week I wrote to you of my concern regarding the mismanagement of county funds. I remember reading a statement by Commissioner Hightower in the paper that the problem the commissioners had was money and the lack of it in order to keep the county roads in repair. I want the taxpayers to know that the incident I am going to refer to was not done during the term of this commission, but was done under the same county manager and county attorney which advises and looks after the affairs of the commissioners.

1. Why didn't the county ask for bids on the construction of the Cedar Creek road project?
2. Why wasn't there a contract signed by Jack Lamay stating the amount for which he would construct the Cedar Creek road?
3. Why wasn't there a contract with Jack Lamay stating the time frame the road would be completed?
4. If there had been a contract would there have been a "budget overrun" of $115,489.09?
5. Even after spending $224,972.09, Jack Lamay still did not complete the construction of Cedar Creek road because there was no bid and no contract.
6. Over $30,000 was paid out by the county for heavy road equipment that was not being used. (I'm sure if this had come out of the contractor's pocket this wouldn't have happened.)
7. Now the taxpayers of Lincoln County will have to pay out another $100,000 in order to get our county road department to correct the mess that was left unfinished.
8. Who cut them up for lumber, and where is the money?

This may have been done during the last commission but it is up to this commission to see why the county attorney did not advise the commissioners to let bids and to have a contract on the project. The county attorney received $400 to $500 to sit in on a county commission meeting to give them legal advice. The county manager is there to help look after the affairs of the county for the commissioners, so why did we have a so-called "budget overrun" of three months without something being done?

So what happened?

AUDEAN FRANKLIN, Alto.

EDITOR—While we were selling ads in Carrizozo on April 21, it came to our attention that some of the businesses had been contacted over the phone by a firm claiming to be the Corona Annual Staff. As of now, Carrizozo is the only place we have been made aware of this problem.

If you have been contacted by a party who refused to leave a phone number or name, we ask that you contact us so that we may try to find out who the guilty party is. We do not know who these people are, nor do we have any affiliation with them.

We do encourage all businesses to purchase advertising space in our annual, but we ask that you verify who the party is to protect yourself and us. We apologize for any inconvenience that may arise from this difficulty, and ask for your patience and continued support.

Expensive goof-up

EDITOR—At a recent meeting of Lincoln County Commissioners I learned that a road that was supposed to be 24 feet wide came out 30 feet wide, and nobody knows who made the goof. I have worked for highway construction for 30 years and I never heard of anything this ridiculous.

At the same meeting, there was the on-going harassment of Sheriff Don Samuels and County Clerk Fran Sidens. If these two get that kind of help from their fellow county officials, they sure don't need enemies!

The people of Lincoln County should attend one or two of these meetings and see for themselves what is happening in (and to) the county.

E. NEIDERSTADT, Carrizozo.

—inside the Capitol

SANTA FE—Nobody can't doubt that New Mexico is a public-land state.

The federal government owns most of the state's surface area—more, in fact, than all private owners combined—and the state has little to most of the rest of it.

As a consequence, how public land is managed here, and who is in charge of that job, is of more than ordinary importance.

Most of that state-owned land is under the control of the office of the State Land Commissioner, who holds a job many New Mexicans are no more than vaguely aware of. Those who live outside cities, however, find this individual can often affect their lives and livelihoods most directly. His actions are also closely watched by such people as fishermen (fishpersons?) and hunters, not to say by environmentalists, who see themselves as more or less in charge of the entire universe.

HELPERS: The man who holds the Land Commissioner's job at the moment is Bill Humphries, the first Republican to be elected to the post in more than a generation. The fact that he is unique in that respect makes what he does in the job even more interesting than if he were just one more in a monotonous line of Democrats.

When Humphries recently named a board to advise him on how to run things at the land office, therefore, there was reason to scrutinize the names and qualifications of all those he has chosen.

They include these citizens: Bill Huey, who used to run our Game and Fish Department; Fred Schlicher, an independent oil and gas man; George Clark, an Albuquerque banker; Laura Threlk, a community activist; Tweett Blancett, former state legislator and current city manager in Aztec; Miguel Salazar, a radioactive waste-disposal expert from Los Alamos; Melba Hamby, Lea County tax assessor; Joe Bill Nunn, a cattle grower; Kristin Conniff, a horse breeder and conservationist; and Melvin Cordova, a Valencia County school administrator.

It would be tough to find 10 people who would make up more of a cross-section of New Mexico citizens. It must have taken Humphries all the time since he knew for sure he was elected to his present office to select them and talk them into serving.

CONFUSION: I have personally congratulated Bill H. on these choices, but as I did so, I let him know that one nagging worry on the point would not leave my mind.

If these people represent the rest of the inhabitants of the state as well as they appear to be, and if the rest of the inhabitants of the state seldom agree on anything having to do with the use of the public's land here, how in the world are the advisers going to agree on what to advise Bill? If they give off the same amount of static the rest of us do, Humphries may get lost in the static. You may want to remember these names, however, state those people, with the least of whom, we have a long and difficult road and of the two elements most essential to life in the arid Southwest. The only thing that ranks with land in that category is water.

states," whose sovereignty was "not surrendered, they asserted, under the Constitution."

"They" were the considerable number of American secessionists, who held that the union of 1787 "was really formed by a secession from the union of 1776-1787. . . . Assertions of the right and necessity of secession were frequent from the beginning. Various leaders in New England made threats of secession in 1803, on account of the purchase of Louisiana; and in 1812, because of the admission of Louisiana as a state."

The issue of secession was not settled by the Constitution. It was settled on June 2, 1863, in Galveston, Texas, by the surrender of the last of the Confederate armies under Gen. Edmund Kirby Smith. TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

The Town of Carrizozo, Lincoln County, New Mexico proposes to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the State of New Mexico to release Federal Funds under Title I of the Housing and community Development Act. of 1974 (PL 93-383) to be used for the following project:

STREET IMPROVEMENT PROJECT
PAVING 7,635 LINEAR FEET OF STREETS TO A FINISHED DRIVING SURFACE OF 24 FEET IN THE TOWN OF CARRIZOZO. SURFACE DRAINAGE FOR STORM RUN-OFF WILL BE PROVIDED AS A PART OF THE PROJECT ALONG THE AFFECTED STREETS.

TOWN OF CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO
ESTIMATED COST: $250,000

It has been determined that such requests for the release of fund will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of human environment and, accordingly the Town of Carrizozo has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the national Policy Act of 1969 (PL91-190).

The reasons for such a decision not to prepare such statement are as follows:

1. The streets identified for the improvement project presently exist within the Town Limits. The improvements will not substantially change the use or capacity of the streets.
2. The improvements are necessary for the health and safety of the residents of the Town. The improvements will not contribute to the growth of the area.
3. No negative effects are anticipated beyond the short term construction traffic, noise, and dust.

An Environmental Review Record for the project has been prepared by the Town of Carrizozo which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the Town of Carrizozo, City hall and is available to the public for examination and copy upon request between the hours of 8:30 am and 4:00 pm.

No further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted, prior to the request for the release of Federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Town to the Office of the Mayor. Such written comments should be received at the City Hall on or before May 11, 1987. All such comments so received will be considered and the Town will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the project prior to May 11, 1987.

REVOLUTIONIZED SEWING
Corona's Jonnie Bond and Martha Bond were among lucky people who won door prizes at an April 20 serger presentation held at Carrizozo High School home economics room. The two sewing enthusiasts and another door prize winner, Lori LaMay of Carrizozo, won sewing notions.

Because sewing is one of my hobbies I was interested in learning that Carrizozo F.H.A. was sponsoring the serger seminar. Dixie Heckendorn, co-owner of The Fabric Shop in Tucumanari, gave an excellent presentation on the serger, a machine that stitches, trims and overcasts in one step at almost twice the speed of a conventional sewing machine.

The serger, also called an overlock machine, sews up to 5,700 stitches per minute. A conventional machine sews 700 to 1,100 stitches per minute. Sergers have cutters (knife blades) that trim the seam allowance and overcasts in a knitting process. There are no bobbins. Lifting the presser foot is not necessary.

Although there are some garments that can be sewn entirely on a serger, most of the time a person will use a combination of a conventional machine and a serger. A conventional sewing machine is needed for top stitching, button holes and zippers.

SINCE EARLY 1900s
Dixie (mother of Jodie, Carrizozo home ec teacher) explained how 2, 3 and 4-thread sergers function and how stitches are formed. She demonstrated a serger on a T-shirt and a skirt finished with drawstring elastic.

Sergers have been used by ready-to-wear manufacturers since the early 1900s. In 1940, the Baby Lock was developed as the first serger for home use, but this is the first time I had seen one in person and in action. Nearly every sewing machine maker has developed a model for home use.

Sergers can produce beautiful patchwork. Unlined patched tops and tablecloths will be instantly finished because a serged seam is a finished seam. Lingerie and swimwear could be a breeze to make with a serger.

CONCHO CRAZE
In addition to introducing the serger, Dixie displayed a variety of sweatshirts decorated with conchos, nailheads, studs, beads, applique, iron-ons and glitter.

Sewing tips were given and many notions such as canned air, rotary cutter, cutting mat, and washable markers were demonstrated.

WINE COOLERS
Crack and wine coolers have taken the place of pot as top drugs tempting 10-year-olds, said a survey released this past weekend.

Weekly Reader magazine surveyed 500,000 4th graders about drugs and drinking and compared the results with its 1983 survey.

The first report showed 31 percent reported some or a lot of peer pressure to try marijuana. That pressure has dropped slightly to 25 percent.

But crack, a potent form of cocaine, is on the schoolage scene, say 24 percent of the 4th graders pressured to try it; 34 percent more have been tempted with wine coolers.

Hemphill gets new computer training

A Carrizozo teacher has been trained as an instructor for a new computer program created by a University of New Mexico professor.

Bob Hemphill of Carrizozo High School was selected to locally implement the "Nine Steps to Beginning Programming" by UNM special education professor Gary Adamson. The program teaches BASIC, a "plain English" computer language developed as an alternative to the FORTRAN language. It allows non-mathematicians to understand the principles of programming.

Currently, schools in Carrizozo, Gadsden, Hatch, Magdalena and the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped have signed up to participate.

Four years ago, peer pressure was strongest to try drugs and alcohol; this year, kids say TV prompts them most.

KEEP HEAT ON.
There may be good news in results that show healthier attitudes about drugs, says Terry Borton, editor-in-chief of Field Publications, which published Weekly Reader. He cites:

1) 37 percent say cigarettes are a drug; up from 20 percent.

2) 50 percent say beer, wine and liquor are drugs; up from 42 percent.

3) 55 percent say teaching kids about drugs in school helps them avoid drugs.

Reasons for progress, says Borton, is that virtually everyone—parents, schools, civic groups, businesses—have formed drug awareness programs.

And many are aimed at kids before they reach junior high school.

A new area of focus has been what the magazine and others call "gateway drugs," such as cigarettes and alcohol, which Borton says often lead kids to try others.

Borton advises groups to keep the heat on drugs because "it takes a long time to change attitudes and behaviors."

The capitan Zia Senior Citizens dinner was termed a success even though many were out of town. Now is the time everyone can help them as they are selling raffle tickets for $1 each on three beautiful paintings by Mollie Mason, beautifully framed which will enhance anyone's home. Do help them.

Graduation Day this year is Saturday, May 16, 8 pm at the school.

The Junior-Senior Prom was held last Saturday at Cree Meadows in Ruidoso. To this date the seniors have not decided where they will go on their trip.

Sheriff's arrest report; something for everybody

Paul Dino Baca, 21, was arrested by Carrizozo Police Chief C. A. Morales April 17 at Spider Park.

He was charged with battery on a female juvenile. After being held overnight in Lincoln County Jail for detoxification, he was released on $250 bond.

April 14, sheriff's deputies arrested Albert John Herrera, 25, in the Hondo Valley area. After detoxification, he was released to his parents.

Charles E. Farham, 47, Ruidoso, was arrested April 22 on charges of DWI, third offense, and reckless driving. Judge J.R. Wheeler sentenced him to 10 days in jail.

Billy R. Leese, 61, Ruidoso, on a court commitment by Judge Cupp, was arrested by Ruidoso Police for probation violation.

William Ray Null, 24, Texas, was turned over to a Lincoln County deputy April 27 on an extradition warrant. He was wanted in Lincoln County for distribution of marijuana.

Ernest C. Chavez, a Mexican national who touched off a manhunt in south Carrizozo Friday night, was arrested and turned over to the border patrol.

Gary H. Garland, 29, Alamogordo, was sentenced to spend 10 weekends in Lincoln County jail for DWI, first offense, by Judge Doughty.

On April 29 four aliens were arrested in Hondo Valley by sheriff's deputies and turned over to the border patrol. Jessie Romero, 22, Corona, was transported to the New Mexico State Hospital at Las Vegas for mental observation and treatment.

William Clark Billingsley, 18, was arrested in Artesia on a Lincoln County warrant for failure to appear in Judge Richard Parson's court on charges of distributing controlled substances. He is being held in Lincoln County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Bobby Wayne Baker, 36, Ruidoso, was arrested by the sheriff's department April 27 on charges of assault and disorderly conduct. Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean sentenced him to 35 days in jail.

Smokoey Roger Jon Davis, 30, Ruidoso, was returned to Carrizozo from the state penitentiary at Grants. He had been under a 60-day evaluation after being charged with four counts of forgery in Judge S.M. Ortiz's court.

The sheriff's office reported that two suspects are under investigation for the Saturday night robbery of the Nike Tavern.

REUBEN E. HOLMES
Reuben E. Holmes, of Ruidoso, died Friday, April 25, 1987 at his residence, following a lengthy illness.
Mr. Holmes was born Oct. 14, 1920 in Kremmling, CO, and was a member of the Fairview Baptist Church in Amarillo, TX. He retired in 1977 from the Texaco Refinery, Amarillo, as assistant superintendent of the plant, after 35 years of service. He was a member of the Audubon Society and the Jacques Cousteau Club. Survivors include his brother, Roger L. Holmes of Ruidoso.
A memorial service was held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 29, in the LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso, with Rev. Burdette Stampley and Rev. C. J. Hicks officiating.
Arrangements were by LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

More than 100 students of the Hondo Public Schools will participate in this gala of bright and talented dancing which celebrates traditional Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican culture.

Among the many visitors coming to the Valley for the Fiesta del Arco Iris are members of the Hi Neighbors travel group from Roswell. They have chartered a bus for the event.

A statement I heard recently at a board meeting went, "If this proposal isn't passed, I may as well pack up and leave now." Sort of reminded me of a childhood friend who always got her way in our neighborhood by saying, "I'm gonna take my paper dolls and go home."

Is it too cold yet to put out tomatoes? A nurseryman in Arizona cautioned me to never set out tomato plants until the ground is warm enough to sit upon. I'm afraid if I sit on the ground I may freeze more than my tomatoes.

Senator Pete Domenici has proposed a Pueblo Trail to promote tourism for the northern part of New Mexico. How about a Territorial Trail for the southeastern section of our state? We have a unique loop through the Hondo and Bonto Valleys either from Roswell to the east, the birthplace of modern rocketry, or from Alamogordo to the west where the Space Center is located. Here, history of another generation has been preserved for our children's children to see and experience. Lincoln County is a living memorial to the 62 year struggle for statehood. Along the rivers, the past lies seductively between two arms of the present and the future.

The location of the new airport in progress is certainly impressive. The "top of the world" feeling is much like the airport at Arequipa, Peru which is also on a mesa and at the foot of El Misti, the 18,000-ft. snow-capped volcano.

Speaking before an audience at New Mexico State University's College of Business Administration and Economics, Robert O. Anderson, Picoche, expressed his concern for the economic climate of our state due to declining oil and gas revenues.

The story crossed my desk recently of the old aunt who died while living with her niece's family. In order not to disturb her small children, the niece told them, "Auntie has gone to live with God." The children responded, "Oh."
