County budget

$600,000 must be cut from the budget, commissioners learn

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Lincoln County Commission met all day Tuesday with the regular meeting being conducted in the morning and a preliminary budget hearing lasting all afternoon.

Regular business included two reports from county attorney Gary Mitchell, one report concerned the results of an investigation by the state department of finance and administration (DFA) into the county's procedure for processing vouchers and the other report about the county manager's involvement in the Cedar Creek road project.

Mitchell read a DFA inter-office correspondence from Lupe Sanchez, assistant, to Lloyd J. Frost, director of the DFA.

After reading the correspondence, Mitchell said, "Hopefully, this matter is put to rest and we can get on with county government."

Mitchell also responded to public comment about the county manager's involvement in the Cedar Creek road project. Mitchell stated that it was a prior commission and a prior employee and that the county manager had advised against the commission doing the Cedar Creek road project the way they the commission planned.

Mitchell said he wanted to correct any misconceptions that the county manager was in favor of hiring the employee to do the project. Mitchell further stated, "The county manager advised against it. If we had followed her advice we (the county) wouldn't have lost that money."

Apparently the DFA will investigate the Cedar Creek road project and procedures involved.

In other business, Charlotte Jarratt reported on the Meal Care program in Ruidoso and made a request for $3,820 from the budget for the project.

Bid was accepted from Border Machine Company of El Paso for a used drum drive vibratory sheep foot roller with cab. The bid was in the amount of $47,250 with an allowance of $10,000 for a trade-in. The balance of $37,250 is to be paid in July for the used Bo-Mag 172.

A request to close Lincoln Street from Moore Avenue on the south to Hockradle Avenue on the north in Nogal townsite was received from H. F. Buckstaller. The present road review committee of Israel Miranda, Bill Rawlins, Mack Bell and alternate Leota Pflingsten will make a study of the road and present their recommendations to the commission.

Commissioner Bill Karn was elected as commission member representative for the association of counties.

Change order no. 2 for the Alto Paving Assessment District was approved. Reasons for the change order:

(1) Installation quantities varied from contractual to accommodate owner supplied material availabilities and on-site conditions. (2) culverts were previously installed by owner and needed repairs beyond the scope of contract terms.

—Joe Shain of Pajo Technical Services, Inc. reported on the Eagle Creek road project and the Alto Paving Assessment District paving project.

—An election by secret ballot was held for an elected official to be a member of the Association of Counties Board of Directors. Nominees were Fran Siddens and Bill Karn. Only the seven elected county officials were allowed to vote. The votes cast by the six elected officials present will be held by Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean Jr. and his secretary until Fran Siddens casts her vote. The results will be tallied by Judge Dean.

—An executive session was held for contract negotiations, litigation and personnel.

—After the executive session, commissioners agreed to ask approval of the state highway department to do staking on the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport access road. It was announced that part of the executive session was for contract negotiations with the engineer on the access road.

At the beginning of the preliminary budget hearing commission chairman John Hightower said, "We as commissioners have responsibilities and certain regulations to go by." He stated that the state requires that 5/12ths of the county operational budget be on hand at all times.

A review was made of estimated revenues before budget requests were considered. After the revenue review Hightower announced, "The maximum amount we can budget for the next fiscal year is $2,217,220."

Budget requests were received in the amount of $2,661,605. Hightower announced that more than $600,000 would have to be cut from the requests.

One problem with the proposed budget was the elimination of revenue sharing by the state. These funds had been previously designated for certain line items that will now have to come from the general fund.

Requests by department heads for salary increases for employees brought a discussion by commissioners with the probable conclusion that county employees will receive a 3 percent increase in salary. No official decision was made but is expected after another budget workshop session on the 19th.

Elected officials salaries are set by the state and reflected an increase of 7 percent over last year.

An increase of 21 percent over last year for salaries in the county manager's office were because the auditor had recommended that an additional employee be hired in that office. All salaries reflected a 3 percent increase.

An increase of 35 percent in salaries for the clerk's office include a request for an additional employee.

The assessor's office requested salary increases of 10 to 12 percent which will be reduced. The assessor's proposed budget included a 43 percent decrease in capital outlay.

Budget requests by the sheriff's department totaled $911,493 which is an increase of 56 percent from last year. Errors in typing reduced this amount by $50,971. The budget requests included capital outlay of $150,600 for 13 patrol vehicles, five new employees and an estimated increase in telephone and telegraph of 76 percent.

The sheriff proposes replacing the fleet of patrol cars from the standard high speed pursuit vehicles to smaller 4-wheel drive utility vehicles. His reasons were that the new units would have all terrain and all weather capability, the operating cost would be less, policies concerning high speed pursuits have been re-evaluated and that citizens have enthusiasm for the project.

His request for five new employees is to have 24-hour coverage in the county. The request for 13 new vehicles would be to replace eight of the present vehicles and provide five vehicles for the proposed positions.

The commissioners agreed that the law enforcement budget requests would have to be cut. The allowed amount of the budget would be $590,000 to $95,000 which is an increase of $7,000 to $12,000 from last year.

Commissioners and the sheriff will conduct a budget workshop on May 19 to help make cuts to bring the budget into the necessary figures.

Other proposed cuts in the budget will be in the areas of seminars, Lincoln County Preservation Board, predatory animal control, Lincoln County Fair and dues to the Southeastern Economic Development District.

LINCOLN COUNTY SHERIFF Don Samuels presented his budget requests during the preliminary budget hearing on May 5.

WRITING ITCH

According to a story in the magazine, American Heritage, the urge to create literature was as strong in the mid-1800s as it is today, but rejections were brutal and pay was even worse.

Writer Carol Sheppard in her story, "The Blighted Life of the Writer, Circa 1840," asks, How does the writing life in pre-Civil War America compare with that of the 1980s?

Sheppard writes that if you had picked up the New York literary newspaper "The New Mirror" on Saturday, Jan. 6, 1844, you would have read:

"The prices paid now to acceptable magazine-writers are very high, though the number of writers has increased so much that there are thousands who can get no article accepted. There are so many people, too, who, like the Ancient Mariner, are under dire compulsion to tell their tale—paid or not paid—that any periodical, with a good publisher and mender, may fill its pages, for nothing. A well-known editor once told me that he could make a very good living by the sums people were willing to pay to see themselves in print. The "cacoes scribendi" (writing itch) would doubtless support—does doubtless support—a good many periodicals."

BRAIN PRODUCTION

Sheppard writes that in those days unsolicited manuscripts, if printed, were not paid for. She says nevertheless, new authors maintained the stubborn notion that their labors ought to be worth something. In March 1855 Godey's Lady's Book became irritated about this assumption and reprinted some remarks by the editor of another magazine:

"We are constantly annoyed by young beginners sending us poetry and asking us to remit our usual price. We may add that we do not return poetry; those sending must keep a copy. One thing more while we are upon the subject. It is all folly for writers who have made no name to think of receiving payment, especially heavy payment, for their productions. An article may be fit to publish, without being entitled to compensation. A youngwriter should have a little modesty, and be thankful that he has the opportunity of displaying his talents before some half-million of readers, without asking more or less pay in addition. If he writes with unusual ability, he will be sought out, and his contributions solicited; and then will be time to put a price upon the production of his brain . . ."

TAKE NOTE

GOBBLEDYGOOK

NASA officials have won the first-place 1986 Doublespeak Award for the confusing and misleading language they used in their public statements about the astronauts killed in the tragic Challenger explosion.

The award is given annually by the National Council of Teachers of English to public figures who use language that is "grossly deceptive, evasive, euphemistic, confusing or self-contradictory."

NASA was singled out for referring to the coffins of the astronauts as "crew transfer containers"; describing their investigation into the Challenger rocket explosion as an "anomaly investigation"; and other gobbledygook.

Defense Department gobbledygook include:

"... a manually powered fastener-driving impact device" (hammer); "an emergency exit light" (flashlight); "a hexiform" (steel nut).

The great philosopher and writer Albert Camus said, while describing the responsibilities and obligations of a writer, "to clarify definitions in order to disintoxicate minds and calm fanaticisms."

Gobbledygook can be found just about anywhere. Have you attempted to read and understand the directions for installing a mini-blind (window shade)?

Help needed for cemetery clean-up work

Carrizozo Cub Scout Pack 153 has made Evergreen Cemetery its clean-up project for the summer.

Linda Brown and Barbara Langley are supervising the scouts in this project. They meet every Monday, 5 to 6 p.m., to work on the grounds.

But it is impossible for about 12 young boys and two or three adults to get everything cleaned up, according to Anna Belle Burrow. "We need men with chainsaws, mowers and tractors, and women who can pull weeds and use a hoe or rake," she said.

She said the scouts will plant flowers around the flagpole and in front of the entrance to the cemetery.

Those who wish to help in the project should call her at 642-2872.

Safety belt award for the Ralph Dunlaps

Safety belts work! According to Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap.

An article last August by Mrs. Dunlap described in detail the accident in which she and her husband were involved. She mentioned in the article that the safety belts they were wearing probably saved their lives, and definitely saved them from more serious injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap were honored at a luncheon recently at the Wirtley Hotel in Lincoln. After the luncheon, they were both awarded Safer New Mexico Now's "Saved by the Belt Award" by Suzanne Cox, Lincoln County manager. Also attending the presentation were several friends and Rocky Collier from Emergency Medical Services Region III in Clovis. They were presented the award "in recognition of wearing a safety belt when involved in a motor vehicle collision, thus avoiding serious injury or death."

Although Mrs. Dunlap suffered a broken back and Mr. Dunlap received a concussion, it is felt that had they not been wearing their safety belts, their injuries could have been much worse.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Dunlap receive award.

Football pro shares experience with Corona's athletic elite

Derwin Williams, New England Patriot wide receiver, entertained Corona athletes at the annual Cardinal Athletic Banquet last Saturday.

Williams who played on the Patriot team in last year's Super Bowl against the Chicago Bears, shared some of his experiences as a young athlete and exhorted the aspiring Corona sportsters to endure and achieve their full potential.

While being realistic in setting personal goals, Williams repeatedly told the gathering, "The sky is the limit!" He related that he had been "just a smalltown boy" from Brownwood, TX who endured setbacks, including four years of setting on the bench, to overcome the hardships and make the pros.

The banquet, hosted by the Corona Athletic Booster Club, honored Corona athletes Beverly Bell, Michele Cope, Danny Cordova, Elsa Jimenez, Travis Lightfoot, Tammy Sultemeier, Eric Wetzel, Kim Worley, Chad Brown, Sandra Copeland, Julie Furgason, Jason Gibbs, Teresa Jimenez, Lee Land, Wanda Miller, Tommy Mulkey, Traci Kelley, Denise Lightfoot, Tye Lightfoot, Sherry Porter, Michael Pounds, Mary Romero, Tina Aaron, Dan Bell, Randy Lesly, Shane Owen, Emmet Sultemeier, J.J. Young, Garrick Hobbs, Alethea Knight, James Miller, Les Owen, Nancy Riley, Tina Clements, Denise Garnand, Michele Hendricks, Randy Lucas, Garrett Marshall, Paul Miller and Callie Young.

Travis Lightfoot was named Mr. Football and best defensive player. Tommy Mulkey received the best of defense award, while lineman of the year honors went to Lee Land. Eric Wetzel, who played quarterback for the first time under Coach G. Ray Johnson's direction, was given most improved player award.

Coach Teresita Stewart named Elsa Jimenez most valuable volleyball player; Mary Romero took the "Best Hustle" award with "Most Improved" going to Julie Furgason.

Banquet to honor athletes

Carrizozo students who have participated in basketball and track at the Junior High and high school levels for the 1986-87 school year will be honored at a Spring Sports Banquet.

The event will be held Tuesday, May 12, 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Those attending may bring any two of the following dishes to be served: a meat dish, salad dish, vegetable dish or a dessert dish. The public is invited to attend this event, according to Ron Becker, athletic director.

In the basketball area, Lightfoot again took top honors with the Mr. Basketball title. Best defense went to Mulkey; Michael Pounds was most consistent, and upcoming freshman J.J. Young received most improved status.

In awarding the Miss Basketball title to sophomore Denise Lightfoot, Johnson said, "This girl is one of the best players in the state, folks; I've seen 'em, and Denise will be right up there with the best in the next two years."

Best defense went to Beverly Bell; Mary Romero got most consistent and Sandra Copeland received most improved recognition.

With six varsity Cardinals to compete in this weekend's state track meet, boys awards were too close to call. Eight of nine Corona girls will travel to Albuquerque for the meet, but Denise Lightfoot was the clear choice for high point honors.

Long-time Corona athletic booster Byron Yancey was awarded a Cardinal jacket and recognized for his many hours of work in Corona sports.

Ernest V. Joiner's

Speaker of the US House of Representatives (of Texas) appropriately chose April Fool's day to revise over CNN his ignorance of federal law things work. He demanded that congress be within 48 hours of any significant covert operation Reagan Administration, and that covert action be carried out as an instrument of US foreign policy.

Covert action is not the business of congress; it is the business of the president. Covert operations are to the survival of this or any other country, responsibility to initiate covert action lies with the president. Had a loose-lipped congress been informed of the invasion of Grenada our enemies would have had it within 30 minutes, and what was a $100 million operation would have been a $1 million operation. Wright and his fellow Democrat spendthrifts use of representatives want all aid to the fighters in Nicaragua dropped, and all covert operations in their behalf stopped. Wright and his last friends have absolute proof that the Santer government of Nicaragua is totally communist. Knowledge that, but still want rebel aid, demonstrate a better way of saying that Wright & Co. want a communist regime in Nicaragua?

Wright & Co. charge that President Reagan has violated federal law in the Iranian arms affair. What the arms sale to Iran and subsequent transfer to the contras is a covert operation within the purview of the president, not of the congress. When the president acted, if indeed he did (and I hope he did), he did not need the congress. The law requires him only to give "timely notice" but leaves to the president the discretion "timely." So what's the Democrat breaking the law is a crime, the majority of men are criminals and should be in jail. Every press fails to achieve a balanced annual budget, every violation of the law, and has been since 1975-1976 was approved in 1978. This law plainly beginning with fiscal year 1981, the total budget of the federal government shall not exceed its 1980 level. This section was again supported in 1980 P.L. 96-354. These words: "Congress reaffirms its commitment beginning with Fiscal Year 1981, the total outlays of the federal government shall not exceed 1980 receipts." Is that plain enough for a congressman to understand, digest and comply with?

At that time I was living in California. I called the congressman and he verified that the balanced budget exists. He explained, however, that no congressman is in the first place; it was only a sop to the people.

Wright is the person who pushed through a law of "covert action" that raised the pay of members from $77,400 to $89,500 per year without members to vote on the measure, since it might be a raise for constituents back home. Did they raise it? Would you raise the salary of a congressman who has increased government spending by $100 billion, doubled the national debt, increased by $250 billion—and for the seventh year in a row home for the holidays at Christmas? Perhaps what made them happy was that they were not in jail for committing a federal crime.

Are you beginning to understand why I have a disrespect for congressmen? Even with the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings balanced budget at the last congressional session—a needless and a piece of legislation, these liars and have violated practically every provision of the law since 1981. It makes me wonder majority of congressmen aren't conducting business from prison, where they obviously belong—where they want to send President Reagan for no law in his alleged furnishing arms and aid to the contras.

I would be a good gift to the American people self-serving criminals would confine their primary objective—getting re-elected. I feelings of Will Rogers when he said that he was gone to the US Military Academy at West Point. He was too proud to speak to a congressman. I am sympathetic to the assertion of Mark Twain he said, "Lies can be taught nearly as well as a congressman can." The great Henry Clay compared congressmen with hogs, saying: "A pig is a hog. You must take a stick and hit it on the snout." All this aside, I have nothing against them, except that I will never vote for another congressman.

I shall leave it to James F. Zangrilli of Oak Ridge to summarize my attitude toward US senators. In a letter to the editor, loudly South Africa's apartheid, call for total sanctions could lead us to war, all because blacks are not fully represented in South Africa's government. These same senators are silent in glaring absence of even one black person on a 100-member US Senate—in spite of the fact that 20 percent of our population is non-white. I suggest this evil be corrected immediately by the US Senate. South Africa's severest critics in the US are Kennedy and Lowell Weicker; plus 18 more congressmen. Prove their sincerity by resigning seats in favor of 20 black Americans. If their constant breast-beating over apartheid Africa, doesn't this seem fair? If they can't, they can prove to the world how simple it is to use political power in order to achieve racial justice!

Philadelphia's Memorial To AIDS Victims: Why No Memorial To Victims of Syphilis?

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's top domestic advisers are reportedly preparing to recommend a blue ribbon commission of experts to devise a strategy for dealing with AIDS.

The best part of this unconfirmed yet plausible report is that there is apparently strong White House resistance to repeating one of the more colossal blunders of the Center for Disease Control.

For when CDC called a national AIDS conference in Atlanta earlier this year, it made the terrible mistake of inviting representatives of the primary distributors of this killer epidemic: the militant sodomy lobby.

As might have been predicted, these creatures not only disrupted the conference. They railroaded a resolution against AIDS testing, which lethal insanity is exceeded only by their insistence on continuing their buggery — and demanding that everybody in society pay for it, not only in the billions and billions of dollars in research, but also in the billions it is going to cost for hospital care as well as the lost lives of the innocent who will die from AIDS which they have spread. (Reportedly the suggestion of including homosexuals in this proposed presidential commission evoked from one Senior White House official the reaction: "Over my dead body!" — very appropriate terminology in dealing with this epidemic.)

New law hailed by grandparents

The Grandparents Visitation Rights Bill was signed into law by Gov. Garrey Carruthers on March 17. House Bill 36 will allow (1) grandparents to petition for visitation privileges upon death, dissolution of marriage or legal separation; (2) an adoption of a minor child by a step-parent shall not terminate the biological grandparent of the minor child from receiving visitation rights; (3) also, several other points of legislation that will benefit the visitation rights for grandparents.

It is an emotional situation that grandparents face when not allowed to see their grandchildren. Know what your rights are as grandparents.

Anyone interested in joining with our organization, or wishing to form a chapter in their area, please contact Marilyn L. Schaefer, President G.A.I.N., Box 12882, Albuquerque, NM 87192-2882. Phone (505) 294-2699 in Albuquerque or Theresa Sandoval at (505) 294-2699 in T. or C.

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia's Fairmount Park, the militant sodomy lobby by won something of a Pyrrhic Victory.

They have erected a memorial to all those who have died of AIDS.

Only the memorial doesn't say this. The bronze plaque embedded in a large rock refers only to those who died in "the health crisis." This, explained the originator of the memorial, a Philadelphia decorator named Gary Ermelin, is because he is "worried about vandalism."

The Fairmount Park Commission voted unanimously to allow erection of this AIDS memorial just beneath Frederick Remington's famous cowboy statue. And Ermelin hailed this an example of "no bigotry."

But reaction in Philadelphia as a whole is by no means as enthusiastic. For the majority of the population does not appear to consider objection to sodomy as "bigotry."

WWDB radio talk show host Frank Feller asked why there is no Venereal Disease Memorial — a logical question, since syphilis took such prominent Americans as Scott Joplin and Al Capone, among others, who were surely as famous in their day as Rock Hudson and Liberace were in ours.

Other suggestions heard on the airwaves included the idea that such an AIDS memorial at least ought to have a teaching purpose — such as a large sculptured rump, with the wording: "Abandon Hope All Ye Who Enter Here — From Philadelphia, The City of Buggerly Love."

Inside the Capitol

SANTA FE—It doesn't take a lot to be an effective legislator in a state like ours. What's surprising is how few of those we elect to the position learn what those few things are.

If you'll accept the word of a man who has been observing New Mexico Legislatures since before the start of World War II, a very few characteristics mark every one of those who have been notably successful at this job.

RULE ONE: Basic to any effective work within the legislative process is a thorough grasp of how the system actually works. Maybe you think that's too obvious to mention, but many of those you send here to Santa Fe still spend a full term or two before comprehending how to make the committee system and parliamentary procedure work to their, and your, benefit.

Somehow nobody believes you can become a good carpenter without knowing the uses of the tools, but some people seem to think they can become lawmakers simply by using their instinct. They usually can't.

RULE TWO: It's not so much knowledge but judgment which, by its absence, defeats most legislators.

Most of them I have watched work over the long years go wrong mostly because they don't know when to be confrontational and when to be concessive.

Here too, the basic understanding isn't too tough to acquire, though many evidently have trouble practicing it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kudos for Mrs. Cox

EDITOR—We, the board of directors of the Lincoln County EMT Association, for weeks have been reading letters to the editor of the Lincoln County News that have been extremely insulting to our county manager, Mrs. Suzanne Cox. Let us tell you, Lincoln County citizens, about the Suzanne Cox we know. We would like to tell you what she means to us, personally, and to our organization.

We feel that emergency care in Lincoln County is of the high caliber that it is today because of her supportive attitude. We deal very closely with Mrs. Cox and know that she has a genuine concern for the degree of emergency medical care that the people of this county receive.

Even in the midst of her very busy schedule, she has always been there for Lincoln County EMTs. She finds time to attend our EMT meetings and we can always call her with our questions or concerns. She sees to it that our ambulances are never lacking in the best and most up to date supplies and equipment.

We have dealt with past county managers and know that this one is an asset to our county. We feel that it is a rare privilege to have a county manager such as Suzanne Cox, and we hope she will be affiliated with our county for many years.

We appreciate Suzanne Cox and all that she does for Lincoln County. You should, also.

County attorney hired without bid

EDITOR—This is another attempt to let citizens of Lincoln County know what is happening within the walls of the county commissioners office.

When the county commissioners hire an attorney to serve the county of Lincoln they are to place Bid No. 85-22 in each of our local papers to inform the public that these positions are available. Each applicant is to submit a resume.

The attorney must be familiar with the procedures and statutes of county government. Eighty percent of the selection process would be based on the three following factors:

1. Personal interviews
2. Experience
3. An evaluation of the resume with respect to county government

The question that concerns me after reviewing Gary Mitchell's resume and contract with the county is:

1. Why didn't other applicants who applied for the job receive "personal interviews" by the county commissioners?
2. Did Gary Mitchell have as much experience as the other applicants?
3. Did Gary Mitchell have as much experience in county government, or was he as familiar with the procedures and statutes of county government as the other applicants?
4. Why is there no record of Gary Mitchell's contract being accepted?
5. Why isn't the seal of the county clerk on his contract dated April 15, 1986, as there is on all other contracts?
6. If Gary Mitchell's contract was not voted upon in open session, and there is no seal from the county clerk, has he been working from April 15, 1986 through April 14, 1987 under an illegal contract?
7. If this is an illegal contract why did the present commissioners renew it?
8. Why weren't the services for county attorney put out to bid?

The questions I have asked can be answered by reading the minutes of the county commission meetings. They are open to anyone just for the asking in the county clerk's office.

AUDEAN FRANKLIN,
Alto.

Wild spending must stop

EDITOR—Our stupendous federal debt continues to grow. The interest on it is now one of the largest items in the budget. Unless this wild spending by congress is stopped, our country will go down the drain.

Senator Robert Dole has introduced Senate Bill 3 to make a constitutional amendment that the budget must be balanced each year, except in time of war. The bill has been referred to the judiciary committee. If it passes congress it must then be approved by the states. Many of the states have similar laws that work very well.

$500,000 of our tax money has been spent to find out why rats, monkeys and humans clench their teeth; nearly $27,000 was spent to study why criminals want to escape from prison; and there was funding for treadmills to exercise bored pregnant pigs. (Did they mean liberal congressmen?) This is just the tip of the iceberg. The Grace Commission has listed many more.

A balanced budget is crucial to the welfare of our country.

Please write your senators and your representative to demand passage of Senator Bob Dole's S.J. The liberal spenders in congress must be stopped!

Older Americans keep busy, fit, helpful

May has been designated Older Americans Month by the President, Lincoln County Commissioners and the Town of Carrizozo.

This year the Administration on Aging will be encouraging all communities to respond to older citizens by implementing the theme "Make Your Community Work for Older People."

The Zia Senior citizens began in 1978 and was originally sponsored by the American Legion. Then, the sponsorship moved to the Carrizozo Woman's Club, and in 1984 the sponsorship came under the County of Lincoln. The centers have always received support from the County of Lincoln as well as the three individual communities of Carrizozo, Corona and Capitan.

Programs are mandated to provide services to senior citizens age 60 and above. If a spouse is younger, they too receive the identical services. The centers act as a referral group, helping seniors find solutions to their problems with emphasis on "wellness," which includes exercise and proper nutrition.

There is a meals program in Carrizozo with a suggested donation of $1. However, a number of seniors participating in the program contribute more than that amount to help maintain the program and provide meals for those people who are designated low income.

"A misconception that needs airing is the fact that these programs are not charity," says Barbara Ward, director of Zia. "Our seniors in all three centers contribute to the programs in many different ways, such as volunteering their time to check on friends and neighbors; helping out with special transportation; contributing to fundraisers, and helping to sell tickets."

In all three communities, there are a number of individuals who are considered shut-ins and centers maintain constant contact with these seniors in an effort to keep them in their own home setting.

"We are deeply appreciative of the support we receive from the different organizations within those communities, as well as individuals who come into the centers to help," Mrs. Ward said.

The programs receive federal, state, and county dollars as well as assistance from the Village of Capitan and Corona and the Town of Carrizozo. Help is also given by the Eastern New Mexico Area Agency on Aging, the State Agency on Aging and the New Mexico Legislature.

As a result of all this assistance, physical improvements to the centers have been made. An addition to the Capitan Center in preparation for a meals program will be receiving funding sometime this year for kitchen equipment. Some necessary improvements have been made to the Corona Center as well as the Carrizozo Center.

With the designation of Older American Month, the centers are involved in Senior Olympics to take place May 27-30 at the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell. Centers have participated in this event for the last four years and they have been successful in representing their communities. Participants must be 55 or over to take part.

This year, Gold Medal winners will have the opportunity to attend National Olympics which takes place every four years.

"We are in the process of fundraising, and are having a Benefit Bowling Tournament on May 3 at the Carrizozo Recreation Center open to ages 14 and above with trophies to be presented to the winners," according to Mrs. Ward. "We are also planning a talent show and present the Senior Olympians to the general public."

A Soup Supper is set for Saturday, May 16, 6 pm, at the Carrizozo Recreation Center.

Individuals who are not taking advantage of these services are invited to come to their respective centers and find out what it's all about.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Last week, even though there were cold severe winds and cold nights, we received .6 of an inch of rain in the last two nights. That moisture was God's blessing for us.

Chuck and Patty Woodell are holding a jewelry wholesale at the El Paisano Restaurant, now underway. Why not check for graduation and Mother's Day gifts. Go early while the selection is good. I felt you should know about it.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce sends its thanks to the Capitan Roundtable Club and Capitan Senior Citizens for all the food on Clean-Up Day, and to everyone who participated. Also, this is extended to Village of Capitan for all its part, and for the equipment which was in steady use. Then there is a special thank you to the Boy Scouts who came Friday and did their part. The Chamber of Commerce is considering a Clean-Up Day in the fall. That is great. I join them in thanks and gratitude for everything.

Aggie Bucsek Kingston of the Capitan Saw Shop is the Capitan Chamber of Commerce president. Do tell her of your entries to the Smokey Stampede Parade which will be held July 4. Let's make this a big success.

The Capitan city clerk, Janet Keel attended the annual municipal clerks and finance seminar for two and one-half days last week in Santa Fe. She is doing a great job.

The Capitan Lady Tiger track team placed 1st at the District Track Meet in Artesia last weekend. The following Capitan girls have been qualified for the state meet in Albuquerque, May 8-9: Robyn Peralta, Katherine Sanchez, Gina Griego, Marlie McDaniel, Joy Misner, Tyana Trolinger, Kim Eckland, Lori Emberlin, LaShauna Tillotson, Malency Zumwalt, Nanette Boyd, Cindy Castillo and Lesley LaRue. The bus will leave Capitan at 6:30 a.m. Friday morning, May 8.

Dates to remember in the multipurpose building: May 11, Girl Scout awards at 7 p.m.; May 12, Sports Awards Banquet, 6:30 p.m.; May 14, Music Awards at 7 p.m.; May 16, Graduation at 5 p.m.

I would like to mention that the Hondo senior graduation is the same day, Saturday, May 16, at 7 p.m.

The Talent Show held at school May 4 was excellent, and enjoyed by a large crowd.

Rachel Lacy and Sherry Gowen attended the Junior Rodeo Association team roping in Gallup last weekend. There was snow there at that time. If you have donations or would like to help in any way to keep the association alive, come forward. A Farmington Ford dealer has given a new pickup fully-equipped on which raffle tickets are being sold for $10 each. Proceeds will go to the association. Someone will win. Do help them.

The Women's softball team has formed their leagues and are practicing now.

The Ruidoso Horse Races will start May 8. Horses are in and the traffic has picked up.

There were 2668 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum in the month of April. The first three days of May there were 244. Twelve visitors from many states Friday on the Christian Tours, Newton, CA.

This individual visited there and needs this information. Her address is (Mrs.) Billy Weatherman Glover, HC 75, Box 694, Andrews, TX, 79714-9002. She needs history for family tree. She tried to contact John Robinson and his sister but couldn't get an answer on the phone. Now if anyone can help, do a good deed and contact her. She desires knowledge of John Robinson's father, Lee, and John's mother, Ellie Bingham Robinson, who had a ranch in the Jicarillas where Lee had homesteaded after selling their homestead in Angus. They are buried in the Angus Cemetery. This lady would like to contact Lee or his siblings. Write her if you can.

Let me tell you something that should enlighten you. I learned Monday morning at the museum that a couple from Switzerland, G and M Pryor, retired, who visits the US and the northwest every year if possible. In 1982, they were here and visited the museum, read all about Smokey the Bear and took pictures. On their return home they talked to a friend in Germany who wrote a book on history of the Northwest States in US. It is a good-sized book, and in German. Just think of the good will that gives Europe. They have history of California, Arizona and New Mexico. They were going to Santa Fe. They love this state. They went to Lincoln.

Happy birthdays to Delana Smith who was 12 years old May 3 and to Lawyna Reynolds who was 8 on May 8. May you have a healthy and happy life.

The Cinderella Pageant held at the Elks Lodge in Ruidoso last weekend was a big success, with standing room only. The participants were from 8 months to 15 years, and all did a great job. The Elks donated the lodge and their wives served lunch.

The Nazarene parsonage on Lincoln and Second St. in Capitan has been taken down. Another historic point dismantled. Progress goes on, each change helps.

Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Otero announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Esther Otero, Capitan, to Brandy Flanagan, son of the late Dr. Flanagan, who was at Ft. Stanton for several years. The ceremony will take place at the home of Esther Otero, Monday, May 11, at 12 noon. A reception will follow. The couple will honeymoon in Hawaii.

Now this from Michelle A. Otero of whom I am so proud. Her message: This summer I will be working at Lone Tree Bible Ranch. I will be wrangling horses and be in charge of some trail rides and some overnights. I will be counseling with the children and witness to the children the glory of God. I will also be able to aid in white water rafting. The camp has so many different opportunities for children to learn how to be a Christian. It doesn't have to be a bunch of "cannons." You can be a Christian and have a lot of fun too. I will be working on donations this summer. I would like to inform Capitan, throughout the summer of the lives that get turned to God and how we all grow together working as a team.

The Lone Tree Bible Camp (Con't on P. 7)

John W. Poe

The man who led a reluctant Sheriff Garrett to Billy the Kid's hideout

By CHRIS HARKEY

John W. Poe is a legend in New Mexico. Cattleman, buffalo hunter, Deputy US marshal, sheriff, rancher, banker and merchant, he played a role in the killing of Billy the Kid. Poe's biography is contained in a book, "History of New Mexico," published in 1895 by Lewis Publishing Co. of Chicago. The author of this biography is unknown. The portion dealing with Billy the Kid has been excerpted from this book. Later in his life, Poe became president of the Bank of Roswell, NM where he was associated with Lea & Cosgrove, a mercantile company, and owned extensive ranch land in the upper Pecos valley.

The following portion of the biography deals with his role in the shooting death of Billy the Kid.

He (Poe) was also employed by the Canadian River Cattle Association to protect their interests, and he was instrumental in quelling the lawlessness that had made it almost unsafe to live in this section of the Territory. It was at a time when the notorious outlaw, "Billy, the Kid," and men of like character were operating in northern Texas and eastern New Mexico. It seemed as though they were lawproof. They would round up the cattle, run them off and sell them, and it seemed almost impossible to check them in their offenses.

The cattlemen were constantly on the watch to protect their own interests, and on entering the service of the Canadian River Cattle Association Mr. Poe was given almost unlimited authority to draw on the company for money to protect their property, for in the then existing state of affairs it had come to a time when they were forced to either destroy the gang of desperadoes or else abandon their business. They proposed to do the former if within their power.

To Mr. Poe is largely given the credit of accomplishing this work. He displayed a tireless energy in his attempts to secure and bring to punishment the desperadoes.

In the spring of 1881 he first met Pat Garrett, then Sheriff of Lincoln county, New Mexico, with whom he cooperated in suppressing the lawlessness of the country. At that time Lincoln county included what is now known by that name, also Eddy and Chaves counties. At the time of the killing of "Billy, the Kid," Mr. Poe made his headquarters at White Oaks, where lived an old man by the name of George Gwynn, who came to him one day with the information that "Billy, the Kid," was at Fort Sumner.

Mr. Poe replied that there must be a mistake; but Mr. Gwynn insisted that he was right, and his evident sincerity determined Mr. Poe to investigate the matter. Mounting a horse he rode to the home of Sheriff Garrett in Lincoln, to whom he stated the case. The sheriff did not put any faith in the story, but finally consented to go to Ft. Sumner and investigate the matter.

They rode to Roswell, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff McKinney, and on the 12th of July started for Fort Sumner, riding all night. The next day they lay concealed among the hills, and on the morning of the 14th arrived in the vicinity of the town, where the desperado was said to be in hiding.

As Mr. Poe was not acquainted in Fort Sumner it was decided that he should go into the town and reconnoitre while the others were to remain in the sand-hills until they could hear from him. If he could not obtain the desired information in Fort Sumner he was to ride seven miles to Sunnyside to see a Mr. Rudolph, carrying a note to that gentleman from Mr. Garrett.

He reached Fort Sumner at 1 o'clock on the 14th of July, but could learn nothing of the whereabouts of "the Kid." In his interview with Mr. Rudolph the latter became excited and nervous and denied that "the Kid" was anywhere in the vicinity of Fort Sumner, and said he believed about it as the Sheriff did.

Mr. Poe became more and more convinced that he was on the right track, and with the excuse that it was pleasanter to ride at night when it was cool, he left Mr. Rudolph and hastened back to Mr. Garrett, who was to meet him at an avenue of cottonwood trees, four miles from the fort. Mr. Poe related what Rudolph had said and done, and although the Sheriff had small faith in Mr. Poe's belief he at length consented to go to the house of a certain woman, where they thought the desperado might be found if in that neighborhood.

They rode to within a quarter of a mile of the fort, hitched their horses and crept themselves in a peach orchard back of the house, within twenty steps of the back door. There they remained from nine until eleven o'clock, but saw or heard nothing, and Mr. Garrett said that he believed it best to go back home, without letting the people know they had been in the town.

Mr. Poe replied that they had better go and see Pete Maxwell, a stock owner and dealer of Fort Sumner, who was supposed to be above reproach, and ask him if "Billy, the Kid," was in the neighborhood. They followed out this plan and on reaching

Then they flew to Albuquerque where they picked up their car and traveled to Idaho for a family reunion of their five children (four daughters and one son and their families). They will spend one month there. Andy Gallimore and family of Capitan will spend one week. Lots of happiness to all of them.

Maxwell's home the Sheriff proposed to go in, saying, "I am well acquainted with Maxwell and know where his bedroom is." Mr. Garrett then made his way toward the house, while Mr. Poe and Mr. McKinney sat on the steps outside.

It was a long adobe dwelling, with a gallery extending from end to end and a picket fence flush with the east end of the house which was on the street. Mr. Maxwell's room was in the east end. Mr. Garrett had been inside only a few minutes when Mr. Poe saw a man coming along the fence, barefooted, bareheaded and in his shirt sleeves. The fence concealed them and Mr. Poe supposed it was Maxwell or some of his friends.

game. Making all the pieces fit is what gives them their high, not reading their names in the newspapers.

For that reason, among others, good legislators do most of their work behind the scenes. If necessary, they are more than content to make another member look like a hero, while the people who really understand what goes on here know how all this came about. Hogs for headlines make bad operatives—and the kind of ego that leads a person to run for public office usually makes him or her a hog for headlines. Some learn to curb that desire, but others don't.

In the latter group are most of those who don't get sent back here when they come around asking you to elect them.

The man came within four feet before he saw them. As soon as he did so he jumped on the gallery, pulled out his pistol and cried, "Quien-es?"—a Spanish word for "Who is it?"

Mr. Poe answered, "Don't be afraid; there is no one here to hurt you."

He never dreamed that he was talking to the very man for whom they were searching, for he had never before seen the desperado.

The "Kid" stepped over the threshold, then putting his head outside the door, again asked, "Quien-es?" Mr. Poe moved toward him a second time and the "Kid" ran up to Maxwell's bed. The room was dark and he did not see the Sheriff. He went up, leaned over the bed and asked Maxwell who it was on the outside. Maxwell felt that something was going to happen and jumped out of bed.

About this time the "Kid" noticed the Sheriff and covered him with his pistol, and began backing off, saying, "Quien-es? Quien-es?" It was probably so dark that he could not distinguish Mr. Garrett. At all events he did not discharge his revolver; but the Sheriff did, the ball passing through the heart of the "Kid."

Mr. Garrett fired a second shot, not being able to see the effect of the first, and after waiting a few moments rushed for the door. They could not tell the effect of the shots, and fearing to enter the room in darkness lest they might meet the same fate of so many others at the hands of the ruffian, they placed a light on the windowsill so that it would shine into the room, and there they saw that the bullet had done its work; and he who had so often taken life, had now given up his own.

The next morning they sent for Rudolph, who was Justice of the Peace, and an inquest was held. The whole country rejoiced at the death of this notorious outlaw, who had killed so many others, and who had for so long terrorized the country.

Mr. Poe was given a large share of the credit, for although the Sheriff fired the shot it was largely through the relentless energy and search of Mr. Poe and the substantial aid and encouragement which he gave the Sheriff that he was at last taken.

Through the remainder of the year 1881 Mr. Poe continued his work of prosecuting cattle thieves, and a number of them were brought to justice through his efforts. Several were arrested and the trials set for the fall term of court. The ring-leader employed good counsel, secured a change of venue and was not convicted at the time, but others of the party secured their just punishment. This really broke up the outlawry existing in the country, and it was largely due to the fearlessness and undaunted courage of Mr. Poe. Thinking that the cattle association was not warranted in longer paying him the large salary which he had been receiving, as cattle stealing was for the time suppressed, he resigned in the latter part of 1881.
