County approves budget

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Lincoln County Commission conducted regular business on May 26 prior to approving the final budget for fiscal year 1987-88.

Regular business included the commission approving the closing of two roads and opening two roads as recommended by the road review committee of Mack Bell, Bill Rawlins and Leota Pfingsten, setting fees for the selling or dispensing of alcoholic liquors, rejecting all bids for architectural services and signing a joint powers agreement with the state highway department for the new road to the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport from state highway 380.

The joint powers agreement was drawn up by the state highway department and "puts the full burden on Lincoln County to build the new airport road from highway 380 to the new airport," Gary Mitchell, county attorney, told the commission.

Funds for building the road were appropriated by the state legislature this year in House Bill 762 as amended. The total of $6,455,000 is to cover the costs of building the road with reimbursement to the county to be made on a monthly basis upon submittal of vouchers by the county to the district office in Roswell.

Minimum design standards call for lane width of 12 feet desirable with 11 feet minimum, angle parking not to be permitted, the pavement will be designed for a 10-year life as a minimum with provision for a future stage of construction to a 20-year life, drainage provisions must be compatible with the existing drainage patterns, a 10-year storm frequency is the minimum design criteria, and the design must provide for all facilities as required by state law concerning wheelchair ramps, bicycle paths, etc.

Commissioners approved the joint powers agreement and asked that a cover letter be submitted with the agreement asking the state highway department to make payments in a timely manner. When payments are not made in a timely manner it results in the

Carrizozo turns out for Memorial Day ceremonies

Three hundred residents turned out Memorial Day in Carrizozo to honor America's war heroes, living and dead.

The observance began at noon and continued until 6 p.m., with speeches, free barbecue and cold drinks, music, singing and dancing followed the formal tribute to the nation's war dead.

The ceremony opened with the presentation of the colors by the US Air Force Color Guard from Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo. Cricket Smith sang the Star Spangled Banner, John Booker led the pledge of allegiance, and Paul Wetzel offered the invocation. Representing the American Legion, Roy Dow gave the welcoming speech, followed by an address by Vernon Petty.

Glen Ellison acted as master of ceremonies, and recognized those who have been associated with defense of the nation in the past. Special recognition went to Ernie and Otto Prehm and Leland Barnes. Ernie Prehm and Barnes were on the Bataan Death March in World War II and were Japanese prisoners of war. Prehm was awarded the Silver Star.

Ernest V. Joiner spoke on the subject of law enforcement officers as soldiers. Law enforcement officers are soldiers who work alone; soldiers are law enforcement officers who work in unison," was his theme.

This was the first appearance for the Lincoln County Sheriff Department's drill team, which functioned with the Color Guard. The benediction was said by Cecilia Kuhnel, after which the colors were retired and the flag hoisted full staff to end the ceremony.

Later, John Booker presented certificates of appreciation to Vernon Petty, Cricket Smith, Virginia Silva, Bobby Wadsworth and Glen Ellison.

Music for entertainment and dancing in the late afternoon was furnished by Wadsworth and Louis Padilla (guitar), with singing by Cricket Smith and Glen Ellison.

The program was sponsored by Bobby Wadsworth at the Frontier Motel Park. In expressing their thanks for the support given the affair by residents, Wadsworth and Smith pointed out that this was the first Memorial Day service held in Carrizozo in a number of years.

Plans are already being made for next year's Memorial Day observance.

ROSALIE DUNLAP, longtime supporter of Lincoln County historical institutions, chats with Gov. Garrey Carruthers during his recent visit to the county.

GOV. GARREY CARRUTHERS conducts a town meeting at the Lincoln County Heritage Trust Historic Center during his day-long visit to Lincoln County last week.

Carruthers in Lincoln County

Gov. Garrey Carruthers and several members of his cabinet were in Lincoln County last week as part of a continuing series of Government Days to be held throughout the state.

Included on the day's itinerary were stops at the locally funded Grindstone Canyon Dam in Ruidoso, Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, and Fort Stanton before lunch at the Wortley Hotel and a town meeting at Lincoln County Heritage Trust Historic Center. Carruthers was honored at a reception in San Patricio before leaving the county.

During the course of the day, the governor addressed a number of issues concerning the county, most important of which were the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, current water disputes, and the development of tourism. Lou Gallegos, Secretary of the Human Services Department, announced that the Lincoln County welfare office will be reopened after county commissioners agreed to provide free space to the state for the office.

Other issues discussed included public education, training of elected treasury officials, administration support of the arts, prison reform, and the use of US 380 as a secondary route to the WIPP site near Carlsbad.

Carrizozo adopts budget

The Carrizozo board of trustees met May 26 and approved the proposed budget for the 1987-88 fiscal year that must be in Santa Fe by May 30. Other business:

The bid for the new fire truck was awarded to Thunderbird Fire Safety Equipment Corp. of Albuquerque. The bid in the amount of $105,763 included a payment schedule of seven years which will save the town nearly $10,000 more than the bid from Monarch Equipment Inc. of Belen that included a payment schedule for 10 years. Monarch's bid was in the amount of $104,489.33.

Trustees discussed at length the awarding of the bid before the final vote results of Trustees Albert Baca, Patsy Sanchez and Eddie O'Brien in favor of awarding the bid and Trustee Linda Haller casting a nay vote.

The town received a letter from Scotland requesting information about the McSwains of Lincoln County. The letter will be forwarded to the Lincoln Heritage Trust.

county having to pay penalties to the contractors. Commissioners agreed that these penalties should be eliminated.

All bids received for architectural services were rejected. Commissioners will advertise for bids later if architectural services are needed.

The resolution setting fees for the selling or dispensing of alcoholic liquors outside of the corporate districts in the county was approved. The fees have remained the same for several years and are: dog license $400, club license $25, retailer's license $250, canopy license $250, restaurant license $250 and special permits as provided $10 per day. The license tax period begins July 1, 1987 and ends June 30, 1988.

Lincoln Street from Moore Avenue on the south to Hockradle Avenue on the north in Nopal townsite was vacated subject to existing utility easements and the easement to the water well.

A 2 1/2 mile section of county road B-021 at a point 8 miles east of Corona and extending to a point 10.8 miles east of Corona was closed. This road is known as County Line Road and the section east of it was closed several years ago.

School bus route was opened, the road located approximately one mile west of intersection of state road 380 and county road B-029, turn north off of state road 380 for approximately one mile to Peralta headquarters, subject to gravel being provided by the landowner and the county being responsible for applying the gravel when time permits.

School bus route was opened at the intersection of state road and county road

B-029, proceeding northwesterly approximately 1/4 mile to Isidro Peralta residence, subject to an agreement as signed by the landowners and the county for the landowner to provide gravel and the county to be responsible for applying the gravel as time permits.

A request was received to vacate county road A-014 to lower McKnight and lower C.D. Bonney. A road review committee was appointed to review the road and make their recommendations. The road review committee will be Bud Payne, Leota Pflingsten, Frankie Silva and alternate Bill Rawlins.

Commissioners asked the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission to develop a comprehensive land use plan for Lincoln County to be formulated for the protection of the resources.

Commissioners approved the payment of $118,807.21 to Bill McCarty Construction Company, Inc. for the third billing covering the period through May 15 for work on the Alto Village Paving District project.

Commissioners approved a request by Yvonne Lanelli for a change order to include Sun Mountain Court Road to be the same width of 21 feet from the contractor's specifications of 15 feet. Lanelli noted that the property owners were being assessed the amount for the full width of road and wanted that section widened to the 21-foot width.

C.N. Bundick spoke to the commissioners about the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County. He said that it is a non-profit corporation that will service all of Lincoln County. Commissioners agreed to enter into a service agreement and become a member.

After the budget hearing an executive session was held for litigation.

The meeting of June 23 was rescheduled for June 30 to coincide with the end of the fiscal year and to not conflict with the special election scheduled for June 23 at city hall. The special election will concern the Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages by the drink in Carrizozo.

Mayor Bob Hemphill reported that he had met with Governor Garrey Carruthers on Lincoln County Government Day on May 20. He said the public assistance office would be opened in Lincoln County and that the governor wanted to streamline government, promote the state from within and get New Mexico to be a team.

The state highway department reportedly wants to close Aspen Street where it enters Highway 380 near the overpass and build a road on the state highway right-of-way to Birch Street to enter the highway.

Trustees expressed concern that this is the second street that the highway department wants to close that enters Highway 380, referring to the suggestion by state highway department to close the entrance of 3rd Street onto Highway 380 where it intersects with E Street near A&I Auto.

Hemphill urges, all residents interested in applying for positions that are available to stop by city hall weekly for the job announcements that the town receives from White Sands. The golf course lease with Ted Turnbow was tentatively approved with four items to be clarified by Turnbow's attorney and the city attorney.

Robert Gutierrez spoke to the council and said he would like to be on the Carrizozo police force. Trustees explained that it is the policy at this time to hire only certified personnel. They discussed with him his reasons for wanting to be on the police force and said in the future they possibly may consider sponsoring a person to attend the academy for certification providing a contract would be signed with the town that would call for 18 months of duty following certification.

Sanchez reported that 135 rose bushes had been planted for the beautification project.

July 14 has been set as the date for the sale of the general obligation bonds for water improvement for the town.

C.N. Bundick of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County spoke to the council and asked support in the formation of the private non-profit corporation to attract industry to the county.

Memberships will be sold for $200; however, Bundick said that there was a possibility that further costs might be involved. He said the meetings are not usually open to the public.

3 hours on school bus too long, parents say

Parents of children on the Ancho bus route attended the May 19 Carrizozo Board of Education meeting to complain about the length of time their children must spend on the school bus each day.

The bus starts northeast of Ancho and continues toward Carrizozo with several side stops for students before going to White Oaks for students there.

Gary Hightower voiced his concern that his children are on the bus an hour and a half each morning and another hour and a half each evening. This time will be increased to as much as two hours twice a day when additional students will be riding the bus next year.

School board president Wally Ferguson told the audience, "We do have to look at students being on the bus more than an hour each way." He suggested as an alternate for parents to bring their children to the highway or blacktop. This would cut considerable time from the bus route as the bus would not have to drive in to each home and back out to the highway again.

Carrizozo school superintendent Dennis Sidebottom said that feeder routes are available. A feeder route is where students are brought to town or to a specified place to meet the school bus. Mileage is paid to the family for the distance of the feeder route.

School transportation is paid for by the transportation department and does not affect the school operational budget. However, the audience was told, Santa Fe does not consider 90 minutes to be a long time for a student to be on the school bus twice each day.

The Ancho and White Oaks bus routes were combined a few years ago when each route had less than 10 students. This next year there will be 14 students on the Ancho route in addition to 12 students on the White Oaks route.

The board was asked if there could be separate bus routes this next year. The board agreed to ask the state for separate bus routes. Several parents said they would write letters to the state requesting that the change be made.

Sidebottom read from the regulations; "No approved bus routes shall be discontinued during a school year as long as there are students to be served unless a more economical arrangement is agreed to by Rain last week registered .9 inches with very little sunshine. A very severe electric storm with each storm. Then very cold. It was great moisture. Plants are responding beautifully. Thanks to nature. God always knows best.

Capitan Schools students started their summer vacation May 22. It is very quiet this day, Monday, May 25 as several businesses have taken this holiday.

There were 1078 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum, May 17-24. One of the guests was Julian Herrera, who was born in Capitan in 1937 to Julian and Charlotte Herrera who moved to Albuquerque many years ago. Then there were 34 5th graders from Cloudford who enjoyed it and the New Mexico State Park as well.

Remember the Western Benefit Concert for Mike Malis of Ruidoso sponsored by the Sertoma Club, May 30, 6 p.m. at the Ruidoso Mid School gym (formerly the old Ruidoso High School gym in the Gateway area). The tickets are $5 per adult, children 12 years and under free.

This concert is featuring Jimmie Dee of Nashville, TN, famous entertainer. Laine Salazar of Salazar Canyon near Lincoln will be making an appearance with this group. She is a 1985 graduate of Capitan High. She was a member of the Capitan High School Choir under Churchill Cooke. Laine is an active member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Choir in Capitan: the daughter of Joe and Colleen Salazar.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hobbs of Capitan and Grady and Howard Hobbs of Ruidoso attended the graduation of Sheri Ann Coley, oldest grandchild of Willie and Wayne Hobbs. The graduation was held in Carlsbad. She won six special awards and a $500 scholarship.

A belated Happy Birthday wish goes to Twanya Reynolds who reached her 7th year May 14. Good health and success always.

Ten members were present at the May meeting of the Capitan Roundtable Club at the home of Maureen Sullivan. They were sorry for their president, Amolene McIntosh, who had to be absent. Guests were Louise Ferguson, Pauline Whittaker and Nancy Humble. They were happy to have Harriet McGinnis with them.

Each member had a red silk rose on her dinner plate, a gift of the hostess, Leota Pfingsten, vice-president, had charge of the business meeting. They were all happy that Tony Otero accepted the invitation to be a member of the club. Bessie Jones won the raffle. The club will go to the Wortley Hotel for the June meeting. The afternoon was spent visiting.

Virginia Martin of Houston, TX spent three days here visiting family and friends and left Monday morning for home. She visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muse; her four sisters and their families; her daughter Carmen, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Allred and the two grandchildren.

● About half the town turned out for a Memorial Day program in Carrizozo Monday to honor American war heroes, living and dead. It happened when a few residents learned that the town had planned no Memorial Day observance. So they rolled up their sleeves and put together a delightful and inspiring program—all within four days. Residents donated money, food, labor and talent to volunteers like Bobby Wadsworth, Glen Ellison, "Cricket" Smith and others. They provided enough food and drink to overstuffed the entire town—and it was all free to those attending, as was the music, singing and patriotic speeches. The famed Air Force Color Guard from Holloman AFB was present, as was the sheriff department's new 7-man drill team. The town's Establishment was conspicuously absent, apparently riddled that somebody "did something" without their knowledge or consent. Only three elected officials were noted in the crowd—Patsy Sanchez, town trustee; Don Samuels, sheriff; and Sally Ortiz, municipal judge. Even the town police failed to show. Equally disgraceful, the county did not deem Memorial Day of sufficient importance to fly the American flag from the courthouse flagpole.

● Pious incantations by environmentalists against tobacco smoking led to the inevitable, a drive to make it a criminal offense to smoke. According to a gaggle of consumer experts, health authorities and Nadar-niftings who feel compelled to restructure society along their own lines, a puff of tobacco smoke exhaled by a smoker and breathed in by innocent bystanders results in the latter going home to expire of lung cancer, ingrown toenails or acute morbidity. Does it make one wonder how anybody has survived to adulthood in this enlightened society? Statistics can prove anything. There's an expert behind every bush who is an authority on any given subject. If there isn't a research center to provide the "proper" statistics and studies, one will be created and staffed by some selected sharks. In my lifetime, such dabsters have deemed hazardous to one's health just about everything I eat, drink, breathe and do. By ignoring them all, I have reached the age of 75.

● Not long ago some wag, noting this ridiculous tendency to alarm the public over the most minor habit one may have, made a strong case for outlawing the "growth, processing, distribution and eating" of pickles. A hastily assembled research center was set up to study the matter, and it came up with a chilling report. It showed that 88.5 percent of all people involved in fatal traffic accidents ate pickles within 21 days preceding the accident. Nearly all sick people, and especially those in hospitals, have eaten pickles. "95 percent of juvenile delinquents come from homes where pickles are served," the report trumpeted. Ralph Nadar must feel terrible he didn't think of that first.

● Further, the report said it is a statistical fact that practically all Civil War soldiers ate pickles at some time in their lives. None of them are alive today. Worse, of the people born in 1850 and who died of pickles for as little as only one meal, the mortality rate is 100 percent. In case you haven't had the hell scared out of you by now, consider that all pickle eaters born between 1849 and 1859 now have brittle bones, have lost most of their teeth, and have extremely wrinkled skin—if any. Pickles are actually good for a person. Somebody just couldn't overlook an opportunity to scare the pants of a perplexed public.

● The United States is addicted to foreign oil, which is why we have ships and planes in the Persian Gulf. Foreign oil is cheaper than domestically produced oil, and it gives us a chance to support our enemies in the Middle East and furnish the US dollars so Iraqis and Iranians can do the will of Allah by killing each other off. This may be sound foreign policy but it does not solve the growing shortage of domestic oil, our growing dependence on oil imports, or how to meet the threat of blackmail by enemies who can control our need for oil.

● At present the US is importing 38 percent of its oil, up from 27 percent a year ago. Unless things change, we will be importing 50 percent of oil requirements by 1995. This doesn't bother Americans. We only get upset when a shortage arrives (as it has time after time) to shove the cost of gasoline to $1.50 per gallon or more. Only emergencies and high oil prices arouse the citizenry. As Paul Greenberg recently pointed out, "It's part of our tradition of historical amnesia!" There is something about planning ahead (like opening a savings account or supporting national security) that "strikes Americans as unsportsmanlike."

● Remember when we were going to fill those salt domes in Louisiana with oil when prices fell so that we could have enough to run the country in an emergency? We didn't do that. Remember the billions spent developing synthetic oil and gas that would have freed us from the curse of foreign oil? Such projects have been abandoned because the public became apathetic. So our congressional keepers diverted research and development monies to more pressing social programs, such as revenue-sharing programs and funding abortion clinics. This clouded wisdom means that in case of war (which is a certainty) our oil imports would be shut off and we would be held hostage to surrender to or military defeat by the enemy.

● Environmentalists, in and out of congress, are greatly responsible for a devastated domestic oil program that would have been a bulwark against our enemies. Environmentalists hate the sight of oil derricks. They are amateur tree-huggers. They grow organic just dreaming about birds. All this cause them to do strange things that impede land development, oil drilling, industrial plant location and dam construction. They finance vigorous campaigns to halt projects they dislike, which is why they invented the "endangered species" syndrome. Such inventions include the Houston toad, small darters and peregrine falcon. Never mind that all these creatures flourish, which the public only found

'Who's on first?' Taxpayers should brace themselves for airport construction deficits

By J.A. "AJ" JUNGE

The Sierra Blanca Airport Commission met at the Ruidoso City Hall May 21. A roll call showed all members present with the exception of the TRIBE with their usual "no show." How many "no shows" of a committee member, in good standing, does it take to establish a record of sorts? Guinness may be interested!

The meeting was chaired by Tim Morris, the Ruidoso SBAC representative and manager of the Ruidoso Airport. Also present was Earl Cook, project engineer, Fred Heckman, project administrator, and Steve Sanders, project attorney.

would be in place and on schedule. The concept of how the hangers would be located and the financing apparently has not been finalized. Completion costs are short of revenues and proposals to have the plane owners invest in the cost of the hangers was discussed at the meeting—with no decisions made.

As different phases of the new airport are revealed it becomes apparent that, in the final analysis the problem still remains money, or rather the lack of money. The voters have no way to determine how much the final construction cost will be and how much the resulting shortfall will amount to—which will fall into the laps of taxpayers.

In the beginning, several years ago, after the Group of 5 had obtained an option on the airport land and arranged governmental financing, they would have arranged to secure an estimate for the airport construction based on a turp-key completion. This would amount to a completed airport, according to specifications and "ready to go." If this had been done we would have faced a minimum of continuing problems with much less legal and administration expense. The Group of 5 would have acted in an advisory capacity. But there is a hitch to this idea.

When the turn-key estimate was determined and the cost compared to the funds available for construction, the deficiency in available funds would have been so large the hue and cry from taxpayers would have been heard all the way to Washington. As a result,

Mayor Benny Coker of Capitan spoke up to say that he had been misunderstood when he said "We've done our part and it's time to get out" (referenced to the 1978 joint powers agreement) as reported in the Lincoln County News of May 14. It appears that the financial interest of Capitan is his concern. He said that Capitan is interested in remaining a member of the Group of 5.

Shortly thereafter, in the middle of the agenda, an executive meeting was called and when no time limit was given, the writer left the meeting.

It is surprising that no one from the Ruidoso Administration or the Ruidoso City Council attended this meeting of the SBAC. Surely there remains a few questions screaming for an answer, and the question remains "Who's on first?"

kind is a certain complex of truths or half truths, which those with active political irritations can then work over in their fevered brains. Among such are these:

—Domenici has to be bored with his job now that his power in the senate has been cut sharply by Democratic control of that body. That's true, as the senator readily admits—but it sure doesn't follow from that that he's about to throw in the towel.

—Domenici has family problems and wants to return to New Mexico. That's also true, as the Domenicis have made clear. The hospitalization of a family member is a point of real stress; but again, it doesn't follow that such a condition lasts till time for Pete to base decision on whether or not to run for re-election on that fact. Those who are ill often improve, after all—and that has happened in this case, I am glad to report.

—Domenici has to quit and make some money so he will have an estate to leave his many children. There's some truth here too, though most of those who make this kind of statement don't appreciate how much less materialistic the Domenicis are than your typical American yuppie. Even if this were a big motivating factor for Pete and Nancy, returning to New Mexico to be governor wouldn't solve the problem.

Reagan Administration's civil war on aids testing

WASHINGTON—Now I know why presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater has been stonewalling my repeated questions, such as: "Marlin: What is the president's policy on AIDS testing? What is the president's condom policy?"

The answer, as finally provided by Secretary of Education William Bennett at Georgetown University on May 1, is that our president hasn't quite made up his mind!

That isn't what Mr. Bennett said, of course. But that is the clear implication of Bennett's announcement that, among the Reagan Cabinet members who constitute the Domestic Policy Council, there is still "a difference of opinion" about mandatory testing.

One medical authority after another has warned that this could be the most lethal epidemic since the Black Plague.

But the President of the United States can't seem to make up his mind, and the cabinet is divided.

His Centers for Disease Control held a national AIDS conference and admitted the militant sodomists, who rallied around an anti-testing resolution through. They did, however, recommend voluntary testing. This is as absurd as having expected that Typhoid Mary would turn herself in voluntarily.

The Same Militant Sodomists, a group from New York calling itself "The Lavender Hill Mob," were in the crowd at Georgetown, where they leaped up, unfurled a banner and screamed: "Test drugs, not people! We're dying!"

They were removed from the lecture hall by the campus police—who, it is hoped, were wearing rubber gloves.

Secretary Bennett had incurred the wrath of these AIDS-distributors by calling for compulsory AIDS testing for all hospital patients, prison inmates (at the time of admission and just before release), potential immigrants and couples seeking marriage licenses.

There are two rays of hope here. For when Bennett went over this speech with Presidential Reagan, the president commented: "Good speech. Give it!"

The other ray of hope is that Secretary Bennett did NOT — repeat NOT — even consult with Surgeon General C. Everett ("Condoms") Koop.

So the following day, General Koop, wearing a uniform which looks like an admiral's — except for that beard of his, which makes him look like an Amish elder — appeared on Capitol Hill to give EDITOR—If your liberal congressmen, senators and representatives, are successful in their quest to betray our beloved country to the Soviets, they are not going to welcome you as their benefactors with open arms.

Since the Soviets will treat you just like they treated the Russians aristocracy after the Red Revolution, you "useful idiots" will be riding your liberal line right into the jaws of death. The Soviets will liquidate you, if they are unsuccessful in this quest and the American people ever wrest our government back from these Benedict Arnolds, they should put the lot of them on trial for high treason and if found guilty—appropriately sentenced. I think the firing squad would be an appropriate sentence for high treason.

The only other alternative is for us to vote for strengthening our national defense so that we won't be so inept and have no alternative but to surrender to the Soviets.

jects and doubling the cost of construction.

● Because of them, congress is refusing to allow oil drilling in northern Alaska, the location of the nation's largest remaining oil reserve. The Department of Interior says the area could yield as much as 9.2 billion barrels of recoverable oil. Why not go for it? Because environmentalists now argue that such development would inconvenience 180,000 Porcupine Caribou!

● Remember when Alaska's Prudhoe Bay oil fields a decade ago were the target of environmentalists who argued that oil related business there would do serious damage to the caribou? The oil pipeline was constructed in 1974, and what happened to the caribou? There were 3,000 of them in 1972—13 years later there were 12,000. The useful idiots were wrong then and they're wrong now. Animals adapt to changing environment the same way people do. Ask the environmentalist, would you rather have a world without Houston toads, peregrine falcons, small darters and caribou—or a world without the United States? They seem to have made their choice. Now it's up to the rest of us to see they don't get their way in Alaska.

Inside the Capitol

SANTA FE—Is Pete Domenici telling his secret plans to a lot of Democrats? You'd think he was, to hear all the biggies in the party that have tried to beat Pete every time revealing, always "on the best authority" or as "coming from a source very close to the senator," what is in the cards for the senior US senator from our state for the next few years.

It's not just coincidental that nobody has heard any of this planning from the senator himself.

BLUEPRINT: Here's the scenario most of those who buzz about such things are presently presenting, almost always in the strictest confidence:

Domenici will resign his present post in the senate before his term there is up, so he can run for governor as the Republican candidate in 1990. At the time that takes place, Garrey Carruthers will resign his job as chief executive of the state, to be succeeded by Lieutenant Governor Jack Stahl. Stahl, once he has been sworn in, will name Carruthers to replace Domenici in the senate, thus allowing him to run as the incumbent senator that same year.

I can find you high-ranking Democrats who have fed each other this story back and forth with such total dedication that they now have to believe it. After all, if all "insiders" in politics you talk to believe something, it has to be true—right?

Wrong, as usual.

Democrats just don't do a very good job of reading the minds of Republicans.

STORYSTARTERS: What gives rise to rumors of this kind is a certain complex of truths or half truths, which those with active political irritations can then work over in their fevered brains. Among such are these:

—Domenici has to be bored with his job now that his power in the senate has been cut sharply by Democratic control of that body. That's true, as the senator readily admits—but it sure doesn't follow from that that he's about to throw in the towel.

Those who are ill often improve, after all—and that has happened in this case, I am glad to report.

There's some truth here too, though most of those who make this kind of statement don't appreciate how much less materialistic the Domenicis are than your typical American yuppie. County budget of $14.5 million approved

Lincoln County Commissioners have approved the proposed budget for the 1987-88 fiscal year. Starting with an unaudited beginning cash balance of $4,445,594, budgeted fund expenditures of $11,471,342 and budgeted fund expenditures of $14,524,631, the county will have an estimated ending fund cash balance of $1,390,305 on June 30, 1988.

The final figures for the proposed budget were approved at the May 26 meeting following a preliminary hearing on May 5 and a budget workshop on May 19. The final budget hearing on May 26 was developed on the basis of need and through cooperation with all user departments, elected officials and other department supervisors.

The greatest amount of revenue and the greatest amount of expenditure in the budget will be for the access road to the new Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. The 1987 state legislature made an appropriation of $5,455,000 for the road. Construction and right of way acquisition will cost $5,845,000 and engineering will be $610,000.

Another large amount in the budget is the $2,152,103 beginning cash balance of the Alto Paving Assessment with budgeted fund expenditures of $2,152,103.

A total of $591,463 for the Alto debt service will be another in and out line item in the budget, leaving a zero balance after the debt service interest and principal is paid from the revenue of the same amount.

Not included in the budget at this time will be the Sierra Blanca improvement because the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission did not have its budget ready to be submitted to Santa Fe as required on May 30. The amount budgeted last year for construction of the airport was $88,961,500.

The Sierra Blanca operating budget was not submitted but continues with an unaudited beginning cash balance of $8,023.

Both Sierra Blanca funds have been included in the county budget previously because the county is the fiscal agent for them.

The budget that will be submitted to Santa Fe for approval includes:

Revenues: EMS grant $7,200, Carrizozo Health Center $306,856, Lincoln County Medical Center $496,790, Zia Senior Citizens $143,211, Chapter 289-Laws 83 $13,000 (this is for the sheriff's department in addition to the regular budget), correction fees $7,000 (this is from the $5 assessed per ticket and is to be used for jail improvements, not included in the regular sheriff budget), predatory animal control $7,000, recreation $700, farm and range $34,000, road $943,497, Glencoe-Palo Verde fire $13,950, Nogal fire $13,950, Lincoln fire $13,950, Hondo fire $13,950, Fort Stanton fire $24,413, Bonito fire $29,648 and general fund $2,288,764.

testimony which was quite to the contrary.

"It is absolutely critical to ensure confidentiality," declared Surgeon General Condoms. He was testifying before the House Health and Environment Subcommittee of California Democrat Henry Waxman, whose constituency has a considerable population of active sodomists. So Koop also noted that he has endorsed laws barring discrimination against AIDS carriers, which is like defending the "rights" of Typhoid Mary to continue cooking in hospitals.

Democrat Waxman was doubly delighted, because this offered him a golden opportunity to needle his fellow Californian in the White House.

"Are you the spokesman for the Reagan Administration, or is Secretary Bennett?" he asked.

"That's a difficult question," replied Koop. "We still have a responsibility to inform people about public health."

If President Reagan told Secretary Bennett that his speech was "good" and that he should "give it," then why hasn't the president fired this obstinate hoodoo, whose theory of fighting AIDS is not testing to locate it but asking all buggers to please wear condoms?

As for the rest of the Department of Health and Human Services, Bennett's speech was a broadside against their suicidal policy of putting privacy rights ahead of the public's right to live.

Dr. Robert Windom, Assistant Secretary of Health and Human Services, has declared: "Whatever course we pursue, we must always consider the rights of the individual and the importance of maintaining confidentiality." But Secretary Bennett provides a welcome and life-saving alternative to this incredible position. For Bennett noted: "We have as solemn a responsibility to protect the uninfected as we do care for the afflicted... Spouses and lovers of individuals who test positive for AIDS have a right to be informed through contact tracing."

Bennett also blasted the California law that prohibits divulging of AIDS test results to anyone without written permission: "This law, as I understand it, means that a doctor delivering a baby cannot tell other medical personnel, including the client's pediatrician, that the mother has AIDS and that the baby may be at risk — unless the mother consents."

Secretary Bennett also reiterated his position that AIDS education for school children must include information about abstinence and monogamous relationships among adults.

No wonder the Militant Sodomists stood and screamed.

workmen's compensation $20,640, property insurance $23,971, equipment repair $100,000, tools and supplies $1,500, road construction $198,000, unemployment insurance $5,900 and clothing allowance $3,000 for a total of $779,085.

The $14.5 million budget includes a 3 percent salary increase for employees, a cash balance of 5/12 of the operating budget on hand at all times as required by the state, and cuts in several areas due to the county not receiving any revenue sharing funds as in previous years.

The official census of the county is 12,190. There are 89 full time employees and 19 part time employees.

The 1986 final valuation of the county; residential, $148,870,667 times the operating rate of .004925 produces $738,113; non residential, $98,998,384 times the operating rate of .005938 produces $587,603. The total production for the county is $1,325,716, which is the amount of the current property taxes listed as revenue for the county. None of these property taxes are used in the road fund. They go in the general fund for the clerk's office, assessor's office, treasurer's office, sheriff's department, commissioners, manager's office, maintenance, jail, sub-office, data processing, ambulance, solid waste, county attorney, county planning, lodger's tax, insurance and other services as listed.

ON MY OWN

Looking for companionship

Many women write stating they're looking for "companionship" and want to know how and where to find it. This is particularly true of the widowed woman, awaking one morning after perhaps years of grieving, and just not wanting to be "alone" any more. Life continues, we would like to go places, do things, and we often prefer a friend along.

Over the 12 years I've been single, one lesson I've learned is to separate "companionship" from "male companionship" only. Seeking the latter is a difficult, sometimes ego shattering business, best undertaken as its own goal and while in a masochistic mood.

Rather than punish yourself at single's clubs, you might try finding companionship for specific activities within the activities themselves. For example, if bridge is your forte, locate a bridge club that's not all female. Community centers often have this type of thing. You get companionship, bridge and ever so often a widower wanders by or is created. Bridge has matched more couples than any activity I know of.

Do you like to dance? Dancing does not have to be a twosome tango or whatever. Find a beginning square dance club in your area, then volunteer to be on some committee. This is fun, good exercise, plus a lot of groups travel from one area to another... where one meets a variety of male persons on a "decent" basis.

Good conversation can take place on a variety of topics. For example, model railway clubs have about a 75 percent male preponderance, all quite nice folk, with a wide age range. I like trains, rode them quite a bit as a kid, and the history of the models is quite fascinating. You might see if there's a local group.

Stamp, coin, model plane, and rock hound clubs are all places to find companionship that have a high male: female ratio. And you'll have fun, find travel destinations, and get a chance to talk about mutual interests in lieu of problems.

Once you find a topic that interests you, get involved with the group. Phone committees are fine. They give you something to do at night when memories tend to be a bit overwhelming. Or you could work on the newsletter, also a good evening activity. Become part of the activity planning committee, or even run for office.

Most of us single female folk do miss regular male company. But you'd be amazed at how the "missing" can be eased by being in situations that involve males. I happen to like the sound of male voices, but dating just to hear a male voice sometimes means the conversation puts me to sleep. But the insect photography conference I recently attended let me chat with lots of men, all of whom enjoyed giving me advice, and I had a fun learning situation too.

Give special interest groups a try. Pick them wisely for male-female attendance, and see if it doesn't help your "companionship" quest.

LET'S ALL PRAY

Mothers (and fathers) during the summer when kids are on a long, long, long vacation from school hear a lot of complaining each day. With three restless students in this household I can understand why the mother who wrote the following turned to prayer. These are the complaints she heard:

"There's nothing to do... Why can't I have a quarter for a Slurpee?... Why can't I have a monkey for my birthday?... I know it's a very nice day, but I'm sick of nice days... There's nothing to do... Reading is boring... Bike riding is boring... Drawing a picture is really, really boring."

"If only I had a monkey, it wouldn't be boring... There's nothing to do... At Fred's they can watch as much TV as they want to... At Fred's they can eat as much dessert as they want to... At Fred's they're allowed to skateboard in the bedroom... Why can't I go to Fred's?"

"There's nothing to do... Drive me to Tom's house... Drive me to Ben's house... Drive me to Jamie's... Drive me out to Rockville to that movie... I am too big enough for R-rated movies... There's nothing to do. "I hit him because he punched me in the stomach... I punched him because he socked me in the head... I socked him because he called me a word that you'd hit me and punch me and sock me if I told you... There's nothing to do."

"I think I'm coming down with poison ivy... I think I'm coming down with an ear infection... I think I'm coming down with appendicitis... I think you better take me to the doctor... There's nothing to do... There's nothing to do... There's nothing to do!"

The mother ends with: "Oh, yes there is. Let's all pray for September!"

TOY INVENTORY

Get rid of those toys that your child has outgrown by including them in your next garage sale. With your profits, you can shop at yard sales for playthings to update the toy box.

Start off with an inventory of the toy box (or in the case in this household, toy area). With your child pitching in, this cleaning chore turns into an adventure because lost toys are found.

Put aside or give away toys your children are tired of or outgrown. To acquire toys to trigger a summer of creative activity take your child to garage sales and shop for toys at a low cost. Check the classified ads in this issue of the Lincoln County News for yard sales, garage sales, rummage sales.

Toys that can be found at a yard sale include: balls, books, bath toys, building toys, puzzles, wheeled toys and games.

THE BASIC BOX

With some imagination and help from parents, children can transform a simple cardboard box into a grocery store, a television screen, a car, a bus, a fort or a fire truck.

A sandbox is an important part of summer fun. Use old kitchen pans and utensils for molds. (You can find these at yard sales). Tools for building sand castles can be ice cream containers, cups, coffee or soup cans.

DID YOU KNOW...

The US Marines say they want good men, but they rejected Audie Murphy, America's most decorated soldier.

The prettier the bird, the poorer the singer. Peacocks scream. Macaws screech. Birds of Paradise croak.

The United States is the only country in the world where a family can be below the poverty level and still own an automobile.

Dekalb Award goes to Jamie Patterson

Jamie Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patterson of Bingham, was recently named winner of the 1987 DEKALB Agricultural Accomplishment Award. The award, sponsored nationwide by DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS, is presented to the senior agriculture student attaining the highest degree of proficiency in scholarship, leadership, and a supervised agricultural program.

Jamie attends Carrizozo High School, where she has been reporter and president of the local FFA chapter, class secretary, National Honor Society president, and District 6 FFA reporter. Her agriculture program consists of marketswine. Following graduation, Jamie plans to attend New Mexico State University and major in agribusiness.

As this year's winner, Jamie receives a pin and certificate, and her name will be inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the ag classroom. The DEKALB Award, often considered the highest honor a vo-ag student can receive on the local level, is presented at nearly 4,000 schools annually.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Hemphill,
Mayor,
Town of Carrizozo

Cancer screening clinics are free

In an attempt to find and diagnose cancers early, the state provides a free cancer screening clinic that is available through the public health office in the courthouse in Carrizozo and the sub-office in Ruidoso.

The cancer screening consists of a collection of medical and family history, limited lab tests and an examination for cancer of the head and neck, skin, breasts and rectal for both men and women. In addition, women will be checked for cervical cancer (pap test) and men will be checked for cancer of the prostate.

This cancer screening does not replace an annual physical examination by a physician. It does not check blood for cholesterol or diabetes and it does not diagnose or treat illness.

Persons found to have suspicious findings are referred to appropriate physicians, clinics or hospitals for further evaluation or treatment.

Lorna Graben, family nurse practitioner from Hobbs, conducts the two cancer screening clinics in Lincoln County as well as clinics in Artesia, Carlsbad, Dexter, Hobbs, Lovington and Roswell. She has been working with the cancer screening clinics for four and a half years.

She also presents programs about prevention of cancer to businesses and individuals. She said, "Cancer prevention is a matter of education."

The following groups of persons are at higher risk of developing cancers: persons who have had cancer themselves, persons with a history of cancer among blood relatives, persons age 40 and over and smokers.

Meal Care program asks for funding

The Ruidoso Care, Inc., Meal Care Division, is one year old and will celebrate with a birthday party on May 15 at the Ruidoso Senior Center at 7:30 p.m.

Final incorporation of the two programs changed the concept from limiting the services to meals only and other services may be included for the elderly and handicapped at a later date.

Since the beginning of the Meal Care program, 35 persons have received home-delivered meals. There is now a total of 21 who are receiving this service.

During the period April 1, 1986 through March 1987 a total of 1,548 meals have been served to 260 different persons. Of these, approximately 20 percent live in the Ruidoso Downs-Upper Hondo Valley area.

Charlotte Jarratt, chairman for Ruidoso Care, Inc., attended the May 5 meeting of the Lincoln County Commission and requested $3,280 from the budget for the program.

Commissioners tentatively agreed to contribute $3,000, but will make the final decision at the final budget hearing to be held later.

EMT of the month

Yvonne Lanelli cares for her neighbors

"You are probably the most efficiently organized county EMS unit I have to deal with," a state EMS officer recently told Yvonne Lanelli, the Lincoln County EMT for May.

"Usually, I have to contact each individual in the rural areas to obtain the information I need. With Lincoln County, a phone call or contact with one EMT gives me the data I require."

The Lincoln County EMTs are proud of their organization, but place the reason for their efficiency on the cooperation of the commissioners, the county manager, and members in the various community ambulance services.

"We are all in this because we care for our neighbors," Yvonne said, "and the realization that our help is needed."

Yvonne is a native of Texas, born in Pampa, Yvonne Johnstone, but lived in El Paso since the age 7. She graduated from UTEP, majoring in English and journalism, hoping to be a journalist and photographer for Life Magazine. Meantime, she did a year of substitute teaching and learned she had the ability to teach and liked the work. She taught English for 3 years under contract in the Yaleta School System; earned her Masters degree, then taught five more years.

"While I was teaching in El Paso," Yvonne said, "a math teacher, Rusty Lanelli, organized a ski tour up to Sierra Blanca. Several students, one other teacher, and I were persuaded to go on the first tour. Four giggling girls, the other woman teacher, and I had never skied before.

"Foolishly, before our trip, I had not had a thing to eat for about 20 hours. I drove my car to the area, I stepped out of the car, took a few steps, and fainted into the arms of a couple ski patrollers. The high altitude and lack of food were responsible.

"I was fed peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to revive me. Sitting in the car with the girls, I was despondent, expecting I'd never get a chance to ski. Rusty came over, leaving the boys to the instructors, and suggested we try the beginners' slope. He taught us the rudiments and got us started. I loved it.

"As a result, we organized a ski club in the school. Rusty and I were sponsors. That's how Lincoln County became our recreation and vacation area."

Yvonne and Rusty were married in 1972. In 1976, an auto accident made it necessary to give up teaching. They had a small cabin built on a vacant lot near Alto to use for skiing trips. After retirement, the cabin was enlarged to become their permanent home in 1978, a fact they celebrate each year in May.

"We loved this area. It was 'home country' since our first ski trips," Yvonne said. "But Rusty keeps building additions to our home every year until I wonder if it will one day resemble the Winchester Home in San Jose, CA. Mrs. Winchester, of the rifle fame, spent 50 or 60 years adding a room to her home each year."

As soon as the Alto Fire Department learned the Lanellis were available days when most of the volunteers were at work; they were persuaded to be phone dispatchers and volunteers with the department. Six months later, they took the training to become EMTs in 1979. They joined the ski patrol in 1980. Both the Lanellis are involved in many county activities. One of Yvonne's interests is support of PBS broadcasting on Channel 3 in Portales. Another is her work in the fostering of the Special Olympics. Her vivacious personality lends a special zest to all her endeavors.

The early years, most of the Alto EMT service was transporting patients, after they were stabilized at the Ruidoso hospital, to Albuquerque, Alamogordo, Roswell or El Paso. Today, they are giving ambulance service for rural patients, Alto residents, and county accident victims also.

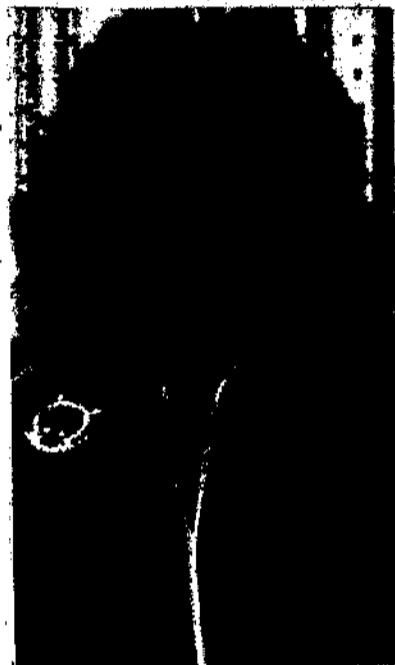

"The EMS is so organized now," Yvonne said, "that we have national, state and local regulations, with continuing education and national and state certification."

In Alto, the EMTs consist of the Lanellis, Pam and Gene Viele, Roger Coble, Thom Heller and Mary Parsons.

"My husband and I have the same interests and do everything together. He patiently puts up with my pint-sized efforts and loquacity," Yvonne laughed. "I'm such a talker. Rusty says I talk so much to the ambulance patients trying to make them forget their pains, it is a wonder they don't ask us to turn the ambulance around and take them home again instead of to the hospital.

"I must tell you about one patient we had to take to Albuquerque. Because of a breathing problem, oxygen had to be administered. I had to press a rubber bag to force oxygen into the lungs. 'One thousand, two thousand, three thousand, squeeze' was the rhythm I maintained for the 3-hour drive. My arms were numb. That was the least of my troubles. As soon as we got out of the mountains, that ambulance was so hot that the wool turtle-neck sweater I was wearing became unbearably uncomfortable. I dripped sweat. I itched horribly, but I had to keep squeezing that bag and couldn't take time to scratch the itch. If I had been sitting in a sauna, I couldn't have felt more miserable. Now, on a cold winter day, all I have to do is recall that ambulance ride, and it warms me."

As all her co-workers say, "The only reason we do this volunteer service is because of the feeling of satisfaction in knowing that our efforts are so worthwhile in comforting our fellow man."

Yvonne Lanelli

Lincoln Ramblings —by Rosalie Dunlap

Congratulations to Randy Barone for awards received in band. Also congratulations to Lincoln's two seniors, Ronnie Barone and Katherine Sanchez. Ronnie plans on attending NMSU this fall in Las Cruces.

Patricia Sedillo of north Capitan is a new employee of the Wortley Hotel.

We are proud of Clint Heron. This young man stood up at the town meeting with the governor and his cabinet members. Clint's remarks about quality education were well presented and logical.

Governor's Day in Lincoln town was well attended and everyone had a good time.

The Wortley Hotel served 62 guests and all were pleased with the food and service.

Several Lincolniters volunteered to be bus boys, serve tables, etc., including me. So I missed most of the remarks. Our governor is a very outgoing, amiable person. He listens to everyone. Very patient and tolerant of people wanting to take pictures and of those wanting their pictures taken with him. One of the things I enjoyed watching him do, was his easy diplomatic way of ending conversations, meetings, etc.

Those present at Lincoln and St. Jude meetings asked a lot of questions of the governor and all his cabinet. It is a great experience for voters of Lincoln County and all New Mexicans to be able to see and talk to those who head our state government.

This was given to me by a friend last week and I would like to share it. "When in trouble or in doubt, no matter what their size, just call on me and I'll be there to help you equalize!"

This is Safety Seat Belt Week and several Lincoln residents can testify that their lives were saved or they received less serious injury. Among those involved in serious car accidents over the past few years were Debbie and Terri Womack, who also had "headache" racks; Bob Hart, our new deputy director of the Lincoln Heritage Trust; and Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap.

Sharon Daughtery, Kevin

Daughtery and Raejean Barone went to Albuquerque Monday. Kevin will fly East to spend the summer with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, accompanied by Christina McKinley of Portales, went to Chimney Rock to visit Christina's brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blundell, Mrs. Blundell is the former Eleanor Carpenter whose father was a former superintendent of Carrizozo schools. She was interested in knowing about several of her schoolmates—Mary Pickett, Fred English, Pick Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow and others.

Wasn't the rain nice? Some areas could have done without the hail. Lincoln and surrounding area received 1 to 2 inches of moisture.

Welcome to Lincoln, Bob and Linda Hart.
