Carrizozo Superintendent Resigns

Exodus of Lincoln County School Personnel Continues

By RUTH HAMMOND

Carrizozo School Superintendent Dennis Sidebottom tendered his resignation at the Feb. 17 school board meeting. The announcement came after an executive session for personnel.

Sidebottom told the board that his resignation was prompted by his plans to return to his home state of Michigan to be nearer his family. His wife Judi also submitted her resignation as guidance counselor.

The Sidebottoms came to Carrizozo in July 1981. Dennis was hired as school principal and Judi was hired as a math teacher. Dennis served as principal for four years and during this time he was head football coach for two years leading the Grizzlies to state play-offs. The past two years he has been school superintendent.

Judi taught math in Carrizozo for four years before becoming guidance counselor. She has served in various capacities including cheerleader sponsor, and sponsor of the junior class and sponsor of the senior class.

The school board accepted the resignation, effective at the end of the school year for Mrs. Sidebottom and effective July 1 for Mr. Sidebottom.

Applicants for the superintendent position will be accepted by Carrizozo schools until April 5.

In other business, the board agreed to contract with the Britt Agency for drug dog services at a cost of $1,663 per year plus mileage. The agency will come to the school and give a demonstration to the students as to how the drug dogs work. The contract will then call for two or more surprise visits to the school each month.

After the board accepted the canvass of the votes cast in the school board election, board president Wally Ferguson said, "We want to thank voters for passing the two mil levy on behalf of the students."

Official results accepted were 127 votes for Nat Palomarez and 59 votes cast for William O. Sumpster in the race for position 1; 138 votes cast for Wallace H. Ferguson in the race for position 2; and 134 votes in favor of the extension of the two mil levy and 21 votes against the two mil levy extension.

Sidebottom reported that the sinks have been installed in the mid school science lab and the drains have been connected.

Work will begin on the playground for the moving of the dirt on the playground.

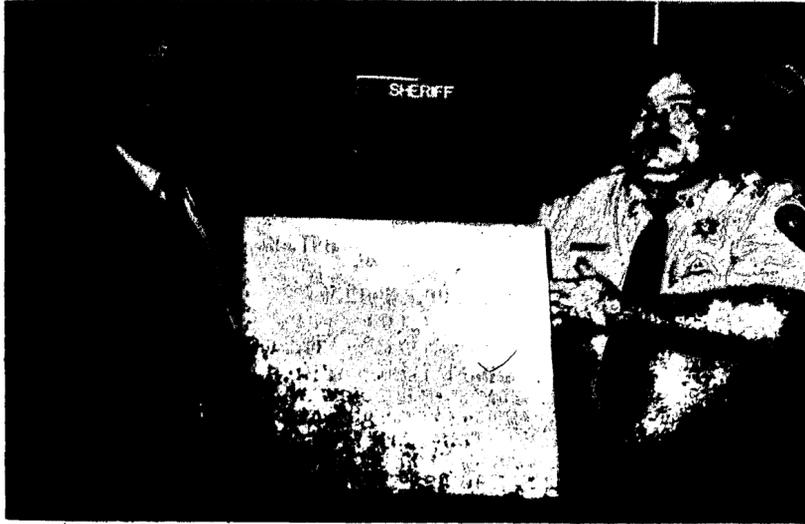

Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Delesantro reported on the science fair that was held Feb. 4. Mrs. Patterson told of the overall winners and their projects. Mr. Delesantro said that 93 of the 101 students in mid school entered projects in the science fair. He expressed his thanks for help received with the science fair.

Mrs. Patterson told of the Science Olympiad Tournament that Carrizozo students will attend and compete in on March 7 in Socorro.

Board members agreed to a two year contract with Mel Holland as principal for grades K-12. His salary will be $36,000 the first year and the salary will be open for negotiation the second year.

The board requested that Mr. Sidebottom assist with the teacher search for next year.

Election of officers was held with the present officers retaining their offices. Wally Ferguson, president; Hoot Gibson, vice president; and Tommy Guevara, secretary.

Margaret Stearns

Woman of the Month

Margaret Stearns was selected as Woman of the Month for February by the Carrizozo Woman's Club.

Woman of the Month is a positive program whereby the club recognizes outstanding women who have defied tradition and proven their ability to make major contributions. It recognizes their accomplishments to help provide inspiration for young women and to encourage needed support in all activities.

Margaret has worked all her life and been active in community organizations and civic projects. She is a member of the Canyon CowBelles, Carrizozo Woman's Club, FFA Alumni, Nogal Presbyterian Church, two bridge clubs, and is on the board of directors for the Carrizozo Country Club.

Her hobbies are needlework, piano, cooking, bridge, puff painting, and she used to play golf. She also plays the organ at the Presbyterian Church.

Margaret is a 1936 graduate of Carrizozo High School and attended Highlands University. She married Johnson Stearns on May 23, 1937. They have three children, Bob, Judy and Linda, and have six grandchildren.

She has made her home in a variety of places such as Deep Well Ranch (Guadalupe Mountains near Carlsbad), Roswell, Carlsbad, Buffalo, NY and Carrizozo. Her parents were Roy and Mae Shafer and her mother was one of the original members of the Carrizozo Woman's Club.

Margaret was owner of the J.G. Moore Insurance Agency for several years until she retired. She has also owned a laundromat, ranch, farm/orchard/fruit stand, liquor store and hotel.

Margaret and Johnson owned and operated the El Cibola Hotel in Carrizozo for 20 years. The story is that as the hotel business grew worse the family would incorporate more and more of the hotel as their living quarters. They ended up using the entire 17 rooms as their home. Memories of their life there includes the distinction of having their rooms numbered just as they were when the building was a hotel.

Margaret likes to travel and has been to Hawaii, Tahiti and has driven the Alaskan Highway.

Woman of the Month is an important part of "Celebrate Women," a unique program started by the General Federation of Women's Clubs. It is based on the belief that it is important to provide positive role models who will inspire other women and encourage all individuals to promote excellence for women.

A light Cessna airplane piloted by M. Eugene Plunkett crashed into the side of a mountain west of Carrizozo near highway mile marker 37 on Feb. 16.

Paving of Lava Loop May Be Postponed

The Carrizozo street paving project was discussed at the Feb. 10 town council meeting. Engineer Shain talked with residents about drainage problems and told the council of the situation on Lava Loop.

Part of the street on Lava Loop is owned by private citizens and part is owned by the town which means that it cannot be included in the Community Development Block Grant paving project. CDBG rules specify that the street being paved must be owned by the town.

Shain suggested that the Lava Loop street receive gravel and a two-inch base. No decision was made.

In other business, trustees approved a zoning change for Mrs. Antonio Samora from R-2 apartment and small family residential to C-1 neighborhood commercial and services.

WE THE PEOPLE

Warren Burger memorized Lincoln's Gettysburg Address when he was in the 8th grade. Burger, former Chief Justice, can still recite it, and said that it wouldn't hurt if every child in school today learned the preamble to the Constitution, which is much shorter. It begins "We the People."

"If they memorize the preamble they might ask what does it mean, where does it go from here, what does it mean to me?"

That sums up the effort Burger is putting in to see that the 200th anniversary of the Constitution is observed properly, not just this anniversary but in the three years that follow.

IMPERFECT NUMBER

The Greeks had a word for the number 13; imperfect. To them 12 was the perfect number. Anything below that was not too bad, but 13 was awful.

In France people can hire a quatorzieme, a professional 14th guest.

The Otis Elevator Co. will attest to the fact that many tall buildings do not have a 13th floor.

In the Christian tradition, there were 13 dining at Christ's last supper until Judas excused himself to carry out the unscrupulous business transaction that brought about the crucifixion.

Horror story plots include numerical symbols like 13 steps, 13 graves or 13 spooky items.

YOUR OWN PACE

Why do 55 million people now walk for exercise? Studies have shown a strong link between exercise and health, especially if the exercise program is consistent and lifelong.

You already have the skills. You've been doing it for years. It's a social sport. You can walk with a friend and talk while you walk.

You don't need fancy equipment. Get into a sport you can do your whole life long - at your own pace. Go for a walk.

A walking magazine which appeared on the market last spring is dedicated to the pastime and the exercise of walking.

The premiere issue of Walker's World suggests walking vacations in cities and places like Santa Fe.

Power walking, described as long strides, deep breathing, lots of arm movements plus added weights for extra exertion, is also covered in the walking annual. The magazine is straightforward and packed with lots of good ideas and advice.

Corona Schools Face Money Cuts Next Year

By LINDA CALDWELL

Corona Board of Education considered various matters during its regular monthly session Feb. 10.

Board President Ernest Copeland informed those present that Corona faces major funding cuts next school year. "A drop in students from 108 to 92 or 93 means we are looking at over $60 thousand-plus in cuts in the district," said Copeland. "We don't know where we'll cut, but we will have to make cuts somewhere," he added. The Board then went into executive session to discuss personnel and related budgetary items. No action was taken.

Other items of business included the approval of a co-operative Drivers Education program with Carrizozo Schools. Students will take classroom instruction in Corona but will travel to Carrizozo for testing and practical driving experience. Cost will be $55 per student.

Graduation date was set for Saturday, May 23.

The Board accepted

school bus driver Clara Porter's resignation, effective July 1. Copeland suggested that the board determine, through a survey if the driver will need to be replaced.

A superintendent search committee was established with Copeland to serve as chairman. The committee will meet March 10 at 5:30 to review applications.

The Board approved major portions of a new Special Education policy.

February is Dental Health Month

February is Dental Health Month. Students in grades K-2 and pre-school children learned of the importance of good dental health when Cheri Goad, Certified Dental Assistant, went to their classrooms with dental programs. Emphasis was placed on informing the students about the importance of regular dental visits, proper cleaning of teeth, the removal of plaque from the teeth, eating well balanced meals, and helping make the student aware of the need for good dental health. Some of the classes saw the film "Toothbrushing with Charlie Brown." Students were treated to snacks of carrots and many received toothbrushes and/or toothpaste. Pre-school children watched a giant set of teeth being brushed.

The proper technique for brushing was demonstrated and youngsters were told that they should brush their teeth within 30 minutes of eating or at least swish water in their mouth to help remove food that will turn into plaque if not removed.

The primary purpose of brushing is the cleaning action of the toothbrush and the importance of flossing were also included in the dental program for the children.

Mrs. Goad said that parents should brush the teeth of their small children and that it was good experience for small children to get used to having their parents brush their teeth. This will help the child accept having a dentist look in his mouth during regular dental check-ups.

Another thing stressed was that proper snacks will help build strong teeth and good dental practices are necessary to keep teeth strong. The children learned terms such as fluoride, plaque, and rampant caries, the term for decay of teeth when fluids other than water are left in the mouth for long lengths of time. The most common example of this is the use of kool-aid or milk or juice being left in a baby's mouth all night.

Dental Health Month will last all of February but as Mrs. Goad told the students, "Good dental health is for your lifetime."

Need Something? Find it in the Classifieds!

DENTAL HEALTH MONTH is observed in February. Cheri Goad, Certified Dental Assistant, presented programs to children in grades K-2 informing them of the importance of good dental habits. This Carrizozo Kindergarten class is learning about good dental health.

Sidebottom is Featured in State Publication

Carrizozo School Superintendent Dennis Sidebottom was featured in the New Mexico State Department of Education publication "From My Perspective." He was one of 12 individuals selected to be included in the Jan. 1987 publication.

His essay centers on the changes in education that have produced a much tougher day for high school students in New Mexico. He states that as recent as 1983 a high school student's class schedule could reveal as many as three hours a day being spent in entertainment oriented or personal development courses.

His essay also says, "The state board's and legislature's decision to increase overall graduation requirements and mandate additional language arts, science, math credits significantly reduced the amount of time students spend in non-academic areas."

"The successful implementation of these changes has required an exhaustive team effort by local districts and the state department of education. Resources of all entities responsible for carrying out the changes are stretched to the limit. New Mexico high school students will continue to benefit if educators are given time to refine and consolidate the new programs."

Sidebottom has been superintendent of Carrizozo schools for two years and was principal for four years before becoming superintendent. He was Carrizozo principal when the Carrizozo high school received the national award "Excellence in Education" in 1984.

Sidebottom told the NEWS that he considered it an honor to be asked to submit a written essay for the publication "From My Perspective." Each person was selected because of valuable contributions to the education community in New Mexico. Their essays focused specifically on the improvements they have observed affect education for New Mexico students.

BOWLING! Shorty Hollis, 76, of Oscura, shows his form while league bowling at the Carrizozo Rec Center. He league bowls twice a week. Shorty and his wife Eula have four sons, Richard and Gerald of Carrizozo, Donnie of Dallas, and Tommy of Ava, MO. The Carrizozo Rec Center welcomes bowlers of all ages and will be the scene of the Lady's City Tournament on Feb. 21 and 22.

A "What If" Quiz on Civil Defense

Here's a "what if" quiz on civil defense:

For 3 to 5 minutes, sirens and blast horns atop fire stations, courthouses and other public buildings shatter the night with a steady, unchanging wail. Moments later, they start up again, this time with a 3- to 5-minute wavering sound.

Would you know that the first sound was an alert to tune in to the radio or TV for an official announcement of extreme importance? And would you recognize the follow-up signal as a warning that a missile attack had been launched against the United States?

If the "unthinkable" was really about to happen, what would you do? Odds are it would be only minutes before the first enemy warheads struck. (Total travel time from the Soviet Union is about 35 minutes.) If you live in a large city, or near a military base or other prime target, it might be too late to evacuate to an outlying area considered safer. Instead, you would be urged to take cover in a designated community shelter.

But would you know the location of the nearest shelter? Presumably, it would be in the sub-basement of a building displaying that vaguely familiar black and yellow sign with three triangles in a circle and an arrow pointing where to go. As an alternative, would you know how to throw together a makeshift family shelter in your own basement or other protected space?

The fact is that while ours is the richest country in the world with the most to lose, it's also the least defended of the major industrialized nations. Recognizing it can't get more from Congress, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), which took over civil defense from the Pentagon eight years ago, has requested a fiscal 1988 budget of just under $135 million. That's a new post-war low in constant dollars - and $15 million less than a proposed new round of annual pay raises for members of Congress, federal judges, and government officials.

The amount allotted to civil defense comes to about 55 cents a year for each American. And most of this paltry sum is not for "attack preparedness" but, under FEMA's dual peacetime-wartime role, it goes mainly for "natural" disasters such as floods, hurricanes, earthquakes and environmental hazards.

By contrast, the Swiss spend $30 a year per capita on civil defense, more than 50 times what the US spends. More significantly, the Soviets spend the equivalent of some $3 billion a year on civil defense, or about $11 per capita, according to qualified intelligence sources. And compared to FEMA's 2,000 employees, plus 1,400 state and 5,000 full- and part-time local civil defense workers, only a fraction of whom are assigned to wartime preparedness, the Soviets' extensive CD network is operated by more than 100,000 highly-trained professionals under a Red Army general.

Question: Should the American people have a civil defense at least equal to that of the Soviet people?

EDITOR—Have tried to call since we are such procrastinators.

Around Jan. 3, 1987 we were returning from Amarillo and stopped at Sheplers in Roswell. There was a copy of your paper there. It was not shared so we are hoping you have about four (4) copies left of your Wednesday, Dec. 31, Vol. 81 No. 52 issue.

We went to Ruidoso looking for this issue but you preceded us by half an hour.

We are interested in the story of the oryx hunter. Friday, December 19, we were having car trouble coming up the Organ Pass. We had pulled to the shoulder and my husband got out of the car to open the hood. At the same time an auto in the second lane hit an oryx, threw the oryx body into my husband and damaged him but we never got any of the meat.

We are interested in your oryx issue. We enjoyed your newsy paper. I'd say it has more interest than the Ruidoso paper.

Hay Producers Meet With Skeen

Roswell, NM — Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM, has released a report which indicates a number of factors which have contributed to a year-long drop in alfalfa hay prices costing New Mexico hay producers nearly $15 million.

The report, prepared for Skeen by the US Department of Agriculture (USDA), states that the decline in hay prices in New Mexico is generally due to a lower demand for alfalfa hay.

Skeen met with members of the New Mexico Hay Producers Association, the Navajo Agricultural Products Industry (NAPI) and officials from the USDA to discuss the falling price of alfalfa hay.

"There are many factors driving the price of hay at this time. Most of these factors are beyond the control of hay producers," Skeen said. "Because alfalfa hay is the number one cash crop in New Mexico, the recent drop in hay prices is very disturbing. I want to make sure our producers are aware of the reasons for this drop."

The USDA report states there are several reasons for the reduced demand for alfalfa hay, including a decrease in New Mexico's dairy herd because of the USDA's dairy buyout program, and improved range conditions which have resulted in less supplemental feeding by ranchers.

The report also states that the hay market in New Mexico is more sensitive to local supply and demand conditions than other hay markets across the country.

Last year some producers claimed the drop in hay prices was the result of subsidized hay being brought into the market by NAPI, which is a federally funded agriculture project.

The USDA report did not indicate that hay produced by NAPI had an impact on hay prices.

The USDA estimates that alfalfa hay usually produces $70 to $80 million in cash sales to New Mexico growers each year. But in 1986 cash receipts dropped nearly 20 percent, or approximately $15 million.

NEW MEXICO ROUND-UP

The newest member of the Congressional Beef Caucus is Sen. Pete Domenici, the senator's office announced last week.

The caucus, formed recently by Sens. Malcolm Wallop, R-WY, and Max Baucus, D-MT, hopes to strengthen support for the beef industry in Congress, according to the announcement.

"I believe we can be more effective in helping our domestic beef industry become more competitive," Domenici said.

The New Mexico Republican cited credit problems coupled with weak demand and prices that "put a double whammy on or ranchers." Unfair trade practices and an influx of Mexican cattle have worsened existing problems, he added.

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, NM — The Sierra County Sheriff's Department is requesting your assistance in helping them solve an expensive burglary that occurred at the Elephant Butte Lake at Truth or Consequences.

In the late hours of January 28 or the early morning hours of January 29, 1987, unknown subjects entered the Elephant Butte Resort Marina by removing a sliding glass window.

Once inside, the offenders took approximately $3,000 worth of lures and fishing supplies, $5,000 in skilling and fishing equipment and a public address system. They then loaded the items in a rental boat and took the boat to the main loading ramp and transferred the items to a waiting vehicle.

Domenici Heads Off VA Loan Problems

Heading off a developing problem in the Veterans Administration home loan program, Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) today contacted VA officials to urge more fair treatment for New Mexicans seeking home loans.

"The VA began using new statistics to determine VA home loan eligibility," Domenici said. "They compare New Mexico to the western region of the United States where the income guideline is higher."

"The residual income guideline for a family of four in the western region is $941 per month. New Mexico has a lower per capita income than other states in the western region. We are afraid that some people are being turned away because of this oversight," Domenici said.

Domenici notified the director of the VA Home Loan Guaranty Service, Robert O'Toole today about the problem and requested that the situation be corrected.

Director O'Toole assured Domenici that he will contact the Albuquerque VA Home Loan office next week. O'Toole said he will instruct the office to be flexible and use discretion in applying the VA western regional guidelines on an individual case basis during the loan qualifying process.

According to the Sierra County Sheriff's Department, all of the items taken were tagged with a stick-on tag with lettering EBRM (Elephant Butte Resort Marina).

This week the New Mexico State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering up to $1,000 for information that leads to the arrest and indictment of the offenders in this case.

If you have information concerning this crime or any other serious crime, please call State Crime Stoppers toll free at 1-800-432-6933, and as always, you don't have to give your name, and you could earn a cash reward.

The high quality of football seniors at Ruidoso High School this past season was shown Wednesday when three Warriors signed letters-of-intent for four year colleges.

Quarterback-safety Jeff Williamson and defensive end Matt Evans signed with Eastern New Mexico University (ENMU).

Split-end Brian Davis signed with New Mexico State University (NMSU).

The three players will receive athletic scholarships. All three players will play for the South All-Star team against the North this summer.

New Mexico State CowBelles are sponsoring a beef cook-off. If you have a favorite beef recipe that always gets rave reviews, you could be a winner and compete for a total of $10,000 in national prize money.

The recipe must contain a minimum of one pound beef and not more than five. Each serving must contain at least three ounces of cooked beef. The recipe must be specific and must state the number of servings and approximate preparation time.

Seven finalists will be chosen to compete at the New Mexico State Beef Cook-off in May. Recipes will be judged according to appearance, originality, ease of preparation and practicality.

Deadline for entry is March 8. For more information call 835-2635.

The Hot Springs High School Rodeo Club will be conducting a high school rodeo March 14 and 15.

The two day event is open to high school rodeo clubs from throughout the state of New Mexico.

Performance times are 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. on March 14. The second day of the rodeo event will get underway with church at 8 a.m., cutting at 9 a.m. and rodeo at noon.

State Representatives Don Silva (R-Bernalillo) and Gary King (D-Torrance, Valencia, Bernalillo) have introduced a bill that would keep New Mexico's — and the Estancia Valley's — hat in the ring as a potential site for the proposed Superconducting Super Collider, the 52.7 mile-long underground atom smasher President Reagan wants Congress to build.

The bill would appropriate $300,000 to the state's research and development institute for the second phase of a geotechnical site verification study. The first phase, which costs $95,000, was completed just before this year's legislature started. During this portion of the study, it was determined that the best site in New Mexico for the facility is one in the Estancia Valley northeast of Moriarty.

The many supporters of an independent Game and Fish Department have apparently won the battle over whether the agency will be merged with the Natural Resources Department.

Gov. Garrey Carruthers says he has "decided to recede" from his proposal, meaning the Game and Fish Department and its governing Game and Fish Commission will continue as virtually independent agencies.

The governor said the department and commission would continue to be administratively attached to his proposed Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department.

Proposed legislation to fund an access road to Sierra Blanca Regional Airport (SBRA) was heard in the Transportation Committee in Santa Fe Thursday. State Representatives Ben Hall, Maurice Hobson and Richard Knowles introduced two bills to pay for a road to the new regional air facility on Fort Stanton Mesa. State Senator James Martin is expected to introduce the airport road proposals in the Senate.

Over 200 teachers, administrators and aides from six schools will convene at Cloudcroft High School Monday Feb. 23 for an in-service workshop.

There will be no classes that day for students at Cloudcroft, Tularosa, Carrizozo, Capitan or Honda. Although Ruidoso's special education staff members will attend the workshop, classes will still be held in the Ruidoso School District.

Twenty-five one- to two-hour sessions are scheduled for school staff members including the discussion of such subjects as retirement and first aid.

Keynote speaker, Catherine Finley, will speak at 9 a.m. Finley of Ruidoso and her husband are co-owner/operators of the La Junta Guest Ranch.

The workshop sessions are not open to the public.

Turning Your Lives Around

I like to brag about New Mexico's teachers.

The two most important people in my growing-up years in Silver City were both teachers by profession — my parents. Aside from them it was a teacher in the Silver City school system, Gladys Grushus, who had the most influence on my youth.

Our state has many teachers, who by their ability to teach and inspire, can turn young lives around. They are doing it in our classrooms every day. But we need more of them.

Recently in the U.S. Senate, on the occasion of National Teacher Appreciation Week, I was privileged to publicly appreciate one of these New Mexico teachers — Jose Armendariz, who teaches bilingual education at Chapparel Elementary School in the Gadsden School District in Las Cruces.

Armendariz may be as close as anybody I know to the prototype teacher of the future. He is a classic example of how perseverance, drive, and talent can win out.

Armendariz came to this country as a boy from Mexico, speaking broken English and bound for a life of back-breaking work in the fields. Working for years as a field hand, laborer, truck driver, gas attendant, and engine repairman, he earned enough money to go to school at night. He worked his way to a Bachelor's degree from New Mexico State University and learned to speak fluent English and German.

Armendariz has not only become a teacher of high quality, but an educational role model for students with very few role models — Hispanics, American Indians, and other minority children in our society.

We need more teachers like him, teachers willing to devote their talent and ambition to educating our children. Regrettably for teachers, this often means sacrificing high salaries and prestigious jobs for relatively low salaries, long hours, and little respect. Over half of America's current teachers, including retirees, will leave their jobs by 1992. Just when we need such dedicated people more than ever, we are losing them.

Across the country educational excellence is being threatened — because of a shortage of good teachers. And New Mexico is no exception.

As early as this year, 171,000 new teachers will be needed in the nation's schools. Yet only 142,000 new teaching graduates will be available.

1.3 million teachers will be needed over the next six years. Yet, between 1973 and 1983 the number of teachers graduating from our universities dropped 53 percent, enrollment in teacher education programs fell by a third, and persons newly admitted into teacher education programs dropped by 44 percent.

And while the minority student population is exploding, the proportion of minority teachers available to teach them is declining.

Despite these gloomy statistics, New Mexico today still has teachers who are giving our children quality teaching. But tomorrow even more will be needed. We need more good teachers in critical subjects — in mathematics, the sciences, the computer sciences, and foreign languages, subjects so vital to the nation's future ability to compete in world markets.

Our challenge is to attract more dedicated and talented people to this noble profession. Our challenge is to attract more Jose Armendarizes.

This area had a variation of weather last week. There were a few sunshine, cold days, then terrific winds Saturday, blowing mist and snow that became ice at once. Then scattered sun, long enough at times for the ice to drop from the trees. Sunday was fair with sunshine and Monday more cold mist and then wet snow followed, more ice. Awakened Tuesday morning to a picturesque fairyland with five inches of snow and no wind, 18 degrees.

There will be no school at

If you missed the enchiladas served by Hondo high seniors at St. Jude's Center, you missed a good thing. The food was delicious and the students' made everyone feel welcome by their enthusiasm. With that kind of determination and teamwork they should reach their goal. The fundraiser brought them about $300 closer to their senior trip to Florida.

Congratulations to Jacqueline Ladell Maez, Hondo, who was graduated from Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell with an Associate of Arts degree.

Were those really raindrops last Thursday? Whatever was promising was blown right on over to the Texas border by mid-weekend. Anne Gaddy of Ruidoso and I bucked the wind all the way from Hobbs where we had gone for a workshop Saturday.

Highway 70 will certainly be better after the road construction is completed. One of the surveyor's trucks fell into the Hondo River at our crossing last week and had to be pulled out by another highway department vehicle. The workmen were soon back on the job, just a little wetter for the experience.

Two Hondo teachers, Beth Nosker and Laura Herrera, are attending a six-week Science Workshop on Saturdays at New Mexico State University, Las Cruces.

The Eagles will finish their basketball season Feb. 21 on their home court against Carrizozo.

The bridge at Glencoe is being rebuilt. Plans are in motion for improvement of the one at Picacho also. The sooner the better.

Hondo students participating in the school ski program include: David McTeigue, Shirley Chavez, Jennifer Chavez, Kimberly Herrera, Bobby Joe McTeigue, Kevin Gomez, Jeannie Moir, Desirae Maldonado, Valerie Maldonado, Ronnie Aragon, Eddie DeBaca, and Angie Romero. Sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Maldonado, Mrs. Zinn, Mrs. Nosker and Mr. Stewart.

Volunteer firefighters worked together to bring a grassfire under control Saturday morning, Feb. 15, at Hondo.

First place winners in the December county Elks Hoop Shoot contest travelled to Lordsburg recently to participate in the area competition. Amy Wishard of Ruidoso, Ronda Miller and Paul Miller of Corona all took second places in Lordsburg.

According to Chub Hall, Ruidoso Elks Lodge Hoop Shoot chairman, "The competition in Lordsburg was stiff, and we think the Lincoln County kids made a good showing."

C'zozo sports

Carrizozo's (boys varsity) Grizzlies evened their season record at 9-9 with a 62-59 win over district foe Corona Saturday night at the Grizzly den. The win also improved the Grizzly district record to 4-2, good for 2nd place behind pace-setter Ft. Sumner which is 6-0. Ft. Sumner kept their district mark unblemished with an exciting 58-54 win over Carrizozo on Friday night. Carrizozo could clinch 2nd place in the district race with a win over the Vaughn Eagles (tomorrow) Friday when they travel to Vaughn. Getting in the scoring column for the Grizzlies were: Tommy Escamilla 20 points, Robert Guevara 16, Richard Guevara 6, Tom Giordano 2, Abe Padilla 4, Dennis Vega 8, John Saucedo 4 and Fred Vega 2 points. Corona kept pace throughout the first-half with the host Grizzlies, and trailed by 3 points (18-15) after one period of play. Half-time score 31-22 found the Cardinals still in the game—but were outscored 31-17 in the second half as the Grizzlies pulled away. Cardinal scoring as follows: Travis Lightfoot 17, Michael Pounds 10, Tommy Mulkey 8, Eric Wetzel 2, and Dan Bell 2 points. Season record stands at 8-10 and 1-4 in district competition.

Carrizozo girls' varsity clinched 2nd place in district 3A competition with a hard fought 38-30 win over the lady Cardinals Saturday night. The win raised the Grizzly district record to 5-2 with only tomorrow's game at Vaughn left in district play. Ft. Sumner owns a perfect 6-0 district mark for 1st place. The Grizzlies won the game with a strong third quarter that saw them outscore the Corona girls 18-8 to erase a 15-12 half-time deficit, and holding off the Cardinals in the 4th period. Scoring for the Grizzlies were: Marcella Sandoval 16, Claudia Lopez 9, Judy Vega 8, and Karen Baroz 5 points. Corona's record slipped to 8-12 (2-5 in district). The Lady Cardinals outscored Carrizozo 10 to 3 in the second period and led 15-12 at half-time, but had trouble finding the hoop in the third period and saw their half-time lead disappear. Leading the Cardinals with 18 points was Denise Lightfoot, Mary Romero had 8.

The careless use of the editorial "we" frequently gets newspapers into trouble; and the use of the word "was" in speaking of the people of a whole country is sometimes fatal—at least this is the opinion of the editor of an American paper who said recently, "we" ate three million one hundred thousand bags of peanuts last year.

Next week May and high license will be with us.

were engaged to personate Indian warriors, and among them was a bright Irish lad who had a deep admiration for the great tragedian. At a point in the Metamora asks, "Am I not the great chief of the Pot-tawatomies?" The supers are supposed to grunt, "Ugh, ugh!" The stage manager had carefully drilled them in what they were expected to do; but on the night of the performance the young Irishman was so transported by Forrest's acting as quite he forget that he was impersonating an Indian. When Forrest turned to the assembled warriors and thundered forth, "Am I not the great chief of the Pot-tawatomies?" the Irish boy's enthusiasm broke through all restraint. He leaped into the air with a wild shout, and twirling his tomahawk about above his head, replied, "Begorra ye are!"

Wanted—White Oaks wants a shoemaker, a tailor and an assayer.

Why should not White Oaks take advantage of the situation and incorporate? Who says not to the proposition.

M.W. Hoyle, one of the Old Abe syndicate, left on a pleasure trip to Ohio this week. He says there is no truth in the report that he is going to import a woman.

John Y. Hewitt has let the contract to erect his two story brick store building adjoining his other lately acquired possessions occupied by Goodman, Ziegler & Co., to Best & Treverton, of Las Vegas. The stone for the foundation is now being quarried and the superstructure will soon loom. Next week we will have more to say about this enterprise and it's enterprising sponsor. Meanwhile we will say that the cost of the building will be $13,000. Bully for Hewitt and the Old Abe.

Last week we advertised for a shoemaker. This week we have two in town.

The Old Abe is now down to it's 300 foot level, where the ore vein is 3 ft. wide with well defined walls. The mill is working night and day on ore averaging $57 to the ton.

Our town is now supplied with a first-class tinner, Alex. Stewart. He had not been in town a week until he had several hundred dollars contract work. He is well pleased with the outlook.

Last Thursday morning Sheriff Roberts passed through town on his way home from Pueblo, Col., where he had gone to deposit a crazy man in the asylum. We hope he wont take all of our crazy people there as in such event the Leader would be liable to loose a good many subscribers.

Last week a party consisting of Will Lane and wife, Mrs. Joseph Biggs and children, George High and family, Mrs. L.W. Stewart, Mrs.

S.M. Parker, Miss Rice and Gus Schinning, constituted a fishing party to the Bonito, where they fished and ate for nearly a week. One of the spouses informed us confidentially that he can't hug his wife since her return without having his anatomy punctured by fish-bones. We acknowledge receipt of a little mess of the delicious trout.

We are deeply indebted to Mrs. Barber for a generous supply of blackberries, which were very toothsome to ye editor.

Mrs. Timoney has now got her book and stationery department in recherche shape. She is highly deserving of patronage because of her enterprises, suavity and the fact that she is prepared, as nobody here ever was before, to supply all kinds of literature.

One of the best evidences of the financial health of a town is revealed by the post-office doings and returns. In this showing White Oaks comes to the front—During the first 12 days of this month the amount of money orders issued from our P.O. was $1,249, or over $100 a day. Will some other 4th class office in the Territory compare figures?—This, be it understood, is but small fraction of the local sendings away of our people's money, as much more is sent by checks, drafts, express, etc.

Last Wednesday Wm. Gallagher met with an accident which well nigh proved his quietus. He had been at work in Collier's well, and about the hour of noon was being hauled up in a bucket when he inhaled some foul air and fell headlong to the bottom, nearly 30 feet receiving two very severe scalp wounds. He was speedily bro't to terra firma and his home and is now doing well, but his hair will have to go uncombed for some time yet.

James Young, from Las Vegas, an expert mason, came here this week to superintend the masonry of Hewitt's new building. Before commencing on that however, he has so far employed himself in putting in place and readiness for work the new boiler and machinery of the Old Abe steam hoist. Mr. Young is a master mechanic, an all 'round genius and an Irish gentleman.

US ARMY WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE NOTICE OF A FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE MISTY PICTURE HIGH EXPLOSIVE TEST WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, NEW MEXICO

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSED ACTION:

MISTY PICTURE is a large-scale, high-explosive field test proposed by the Defense Nuclear Agency (DNA). The basic purpose of MISTY PICTURE is to expose shelters, military systems, and equipment to blast, shock, and thermal phenomena. The data obtained will be used to evaluate the survivability of US and other NATO equipment. Preparation of the test site will include installation of experiments, instrumentation bunkers and cabling, an administration area and a firing and firing park. A high explosive charge of 4800 tons of ammonium nitrate and fuel oil will be assembled at Ground Zero (GZ) and experiments emplaced at varying distances around it. Preparation of the test site began October, 1984.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED:

The proposed test site is in the northern portion of White Sands Missile Range (WSMR), a National Range in New Mexico. Use of WSMR is preferred because it has adequate space, it is near Field Command, DNA (FCDNA). It has the resources needed to support a large field test, and working relationships between FCDNA and WSMR have been established from several large high explosive tests that have been conducted since 1976 near the proposed site. The selected ground zero (GZ) location is desired because it is located on the DNA Permanent High Explosive Test Site (PHETS) where a substantial investment in test bed facilities and equipment has been made. There is no reason to believe that conducting the proposed test in another area, if feasible, would result in less environmental impact. Need for survivability information which can be obtained from this test overrides the no action alternate.

AFFECTED ENVIRONMENT:

The detonation of the charge, which is approximately equivalent to 4000 tons of TNT is planned for May 1987. It is estimated that not more than 500 acres will be disturbed by construction activities. Following test execution the area will be cleaned up and the excavations filled. Cleanup should be completed by October 1987.

The proposed test site is approximately 22 km from the nearest boundary of WSMR. This is primarily desert grassland and creosote bush with fair forage characteristics. For undisturbed grasslands up to 1000 small mammals (mostly rats and mice), 140 birds, and 4800-6000 reptiles (mostly whiptail lizards) would normally occupy approximately 500 acres. However, there have been three tests between November, 1984 and June 1985 requiring almost continuous construction. It is probable that present wildlife numbers are somewhat less than those above.

The test area is within the boundaries of the Trinity National Landmark. Ground Zero is several miles from significant historic features, and about 2 miles from restored McDonald Ranch headquarters. Archeological sites in affected areas have been identified and collected or will be avoided.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSEQUENCES:

The environmental effects of the construction activities are not significantly adverse. Less than 500 acres of soils and vegetation (creosote bush, mesquite and grassland) will be affected and effect should be temporary and reversible. No endangered species will be affected by the construction activities. Humans should not be disturbed in any manner because the nearest range boundary is 22 km from the site. The communities from Albuquerque to El Paso will benefit economically from the test associated activities.

The only possible significant adverse effects from the test execution would be from the explosion phenomena. Ground-level concentrations of dust and air pollutants from the explosion cloud will not exceed the most stringent air quality standards. Animals and vegetation within 158 meters of GZ might be injured by airblast, but many will have already been displaced by prior tests and construction activities. Window damage and excessive noise in civilian population centers is unlikely. Meteorological conditions will be monitored before detonating the charge so that conditions that amplify the blast toward population centers can be detected and avoided. Noise levels that might cause ear injury will be entirely within WSMR where exposed personnel will be protected.

One endangered species, the peregrine falcon, may nest along the west cliffs of the Oscura Mountains some 17 km distance. The US Fish and Wildlife Service has indicated there should be minimal, if any, effects if falcons are nesting. If tests are conducted after May 31, a structural analysis of the McDonald Ranch House has been conducted for determining probability of structural damage from blast overpressure. Structures and portions of structures which exist today at McDonald Ranch survived the Trinity nuclear test and the MINOR SCALE HE test in 1985 that had peak incident overpressures of about 7 kPa and 4.4 kPa respectively. However, additional bracing of the south wall is planned on approval of National Park Service restoration specialists to further ensure no structural damage occurs. Cosmetic damage, if it occurs, will be repaired by methods approved by NPS.

There is no reason to expect that MISTY PICTURE test will be environmentally controversial.

CONCLUSION:

The proposed MISTY PICTURE test will not significantly impact the human environment. Construction activities will result in minor impact on soils and vegetation. Test operations will further disturb soil surfaces and vegetation. In the immediate area around GZ, the blast will result in short-term localized degrading of air quality. No long-term effect should occur.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the Commander, WSMR, within 15 days of this notice. A copy of the Environmental Assessment is available for public reading at Building 1740, White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico. Address all correspondence in reference to this notice to:

Basic Training Graduate

Airman Julie A. Salcido, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P.J. Salcido of 7613 Redwood N.W., Albuquerque, NM, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, TX.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community colleges of the Air Force. Her grandparents, Mr and Mrs. Proceso Salcido, reside in Hondo, NM.

The airman is a 1986 graduate of Sandia High School, Albuquerque.

Completes Training

Marine Pfc. Omar S. Dix, son of Paul N. and Alicia E. Vann of 211 High Loop Drive, Ruidoso, NM, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, Dix was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.
