

Council Action Saves $1 Million

By NORMAN ASHLEY

The Ruidoso Village Council saved the village over $1 million in interest by voting to refinance certain revenue bonds already issued by the village. But it was only after declaring a state of emergency, suspension of rules of protocol and sundry other motions that the deed was accomplished.

Harold Kiouss of Kiouss and Company approached the council Tuesday night to explain the moves necessary to refinance the bonds. The mayor had to declare a state of emergency so that the council could pass an ordinance without a public hearing which would have delayed action on the matter at least two weeks. Mayor Lloyd Davis said, "I have no qualms about declaring an emergency, if that's what you want to call it. If we stand to save that much money I don't think anyone will complain."

Kiouss said, "I've been in the business for 25 years and I wouldn't predict what the market might do over 24 hours from now. When we first discussed this in October the village stood to save $1,140,000. As of today the figure is $1,173,000. I can't promise you that it will get any better if we wait longer."

The council voted unanimously to approve the bond purchase agreement and have United New Mexico Trust Co., the low bidder, act as paying agent and Registrar Bank. Settlement of the bond purchase agreement should be complete by March 24.

was originally to relieve the physician shortage in this country.

His explanation continued with, "People are staying in the hospital for shorter lengths of time, sicker people are being treated at home, and their need of nursing care is increasing."

When he has time, he likes to dabble in photography and computers but most of all, he said he enjoys his children.

Town of Carrizozo—

Weed Ordinance Approved

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Carrizozo Town Council approved the weed ordinance at the Feb. 24 board of trustees meeting. The ordinance, which will go in effect in five days. There was no public input concerning the weed ordinance.

Carrizozo Economic Development Chairman Hal Sims thanked the trustees for passing the ordinance and said it is just one step towards making the community more attractive to prospective businesses and industries.

The weed ordinance ad-resses nuisances such as unsanitary premises (accumulation of building materials, pipes, lumber or boxes), accumulation of "junk" (unusable material of any kind), unlawful growth or accumulation of grass or weeds (no greater than 6" high), and storing inoperative vehicles and dismantled vehicles.

According to the ordinance, the objective of the ordinance is to improve visual appearance of the community. It is not meant to put a hardship on its citizens, but rather to enhance the community's beauty. Enforcement is a necessary factor to ensure compliance.

The ordinance in its entirety is available at town hall.

In other business, trustees approved a resolution calling for a general bond election on May 19 asking the voters to approve bonds in the amount of $150,000 for construction of water and sewer facilities. The main purpose of the bonds will be to update the town's water supply system. In addition to the bond election, the town has applied for a water construction grant from the state.

The projected cost to the average home owner in Carrizozo will be $35 per year, with some being higher and some being lower. If the grant should be approved, the bond money will be used for the matching funds required by the town and will make the resident's dollar go four times as far towards the new water supply system.

—Joe Shain, Pajo Technical Services engineer, reported on the progress of the street paving project. He asked for and received permission to go to bid for the paving as soon as possible. Before bids may be advertised, the process must be approved by the Santa Fe.

—Ruth Hammond reported on the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee. She said the election of officers resulted in all officers being re-elected. James W. Silva chairman, Ruth Armstrong treasurer and Ruth Hammond secretary.

The LTC has agreed to place a half page ad in the 1987 Ruidoso Downs daily racing program at a cost of $1,400 for the season or possibly an inside full page at a cost of $2,400. The copy for the ad is being prepared by the Lincoln County News, and will be approved by the LTC.

—Trustees considered the adoption of a flood damage prevention ordinance.

—Mayor Bob Hemphill asked trustees to consider hiring the Ed Britt Agency for use of drug dogs.

—Discussion of the joint powers agreement with the Lincoln County Sheriff's department for the care of prisoners at a cost of $37.50 per day resulted in trustees agreeing that the town could not afford that price. Hemphill said he had talked with Sheriff Don Samuels about the cost and that further talks would center around an affordable charge for prisoner care.

—Fire Chief Albert Najjar asked for and received a line item change in the budget from the building budget to purchasing a new fire truck.

—Clean Up Day in Carrizozo has been set tentatively for April 25. Trustees Linda Haller and Albert Baca will co-chair the event.

—Town Clerk Carol Schlarb asked for permission to order a set of state statute books for the town at a cost of more than $600.

jurisdiction in the granting of such certificates, had received a letter from Mayor Lloyd Davis, on the village stationery, protesting another tax service in Ruidoso.

Harl said that he believed that the Village of Ruidoso was in favor of more businesses and asked that the council draft a letter stating that the governing body took no official position in the matter. After some discussion and bickering between the mayor and Councilor Elmer Pirelli, the council agreed to have Village Attorney John Underwood draft a letter to that effect.

The council also approved the refinancing of certain revenue bonds with a savings in interest of over $1 million. (See related story).

Lodger's Tax Committee Re-elects Silva Chairman

The Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee met Feb. 17 for election of officers and regular business. James W. Silva was re-elected chairman, Ruth Armstrong was re-elected treasurer, Ruth Hammond was re-elected secretary, and Johnny Anderson agreed to fill in when Ruth Armstrong is not at a meeting.

A discussion was held concerning a reduction in the amount of funds being received from the lodger's tax. The reduction in funds means there is less money to be used for promoting tourism in the Carrizozo area.

Members approved placing a half-page ad in the Ruidoso Downs daily racing program at a cost of $1,400 for the 1987 season. Camera ready copy for the ad is to be prepared by the Lincoln County News, approved by the committee and be ready by March 1.

Discussion was held about a full page ad on the back of the racing program that would be in color and cost $4,000 for the racing season of 1987. Members agreed that with the reduction in funds that a half page ad would be better.

Treasurer's report was approved with the following transactions: Beginning balance of

Ruidoso Village Council Appoints New Manager

By NORMAN ASHLEY

The Ruidoso Village Council handled a lengthy agenda Tuesday night, appointing a new village manager, scheduling a public hearing on the proposed Master Plan and Zoning ordinance, and deciding to ask for bids to complete the Grindstone Dam Project.

Frank Potter, who has been assistant Village Manager for several years, was sworn in as the new Village Manager to fill a post being vacated by Jim Hine who has been the only manager Ruidoso has ever had. Mr. Hine will be retained for consulting services during the transition.

Village Clerk Leon Eggleston told the board that the Planning and Zoning Commission is making a few last minute changes to the new Master Plan and Zoning Ordinance but will have the documents ready soon. He asked that the council publish a notice for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance. The council agreed and set the date for March 24 at 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

After consideration of several other matters, the council heard reports from Village Engineer Mike Davalos regarding the installation of outlet valves at the Grindstone Dam, a progress report on bridge construction in the village and the purchase of an asphalt compactor.

The outlet valves for the Grindstone Dam were deleted late last year on the recommendation of Boyle Engineering. However, according to the State Engineers Office, no water can be retained in the reservoir until the proper valves are installed. Davalos had the specifications and a proposed contract drawn up calling for the installation of a multiple valve system which will allow water to be drawn from four different levels to maintain water quality when the lake is turning.

Davalos also reported that the construction of the bridge in Paradise Canyon may not be completed by the end of this month as scheduled. The recent snow fall has hindered the project. Councillor Victor Alonso said that he had at least one complaint from a resident of the area about the inconvenience during construction. "When they're done it's going to be wonderful, but meanwhile there is a price to pay," said Alonso.

The council also accepted a bid from Crist Machinery Co. of $15,000 for the purchase of an asphalt compactor which the village has been leasing for quite some time. Other bids were in the range of $78,000 to $81,000. However, the village has already paid $86,490 in rental fees to Crist for the use of the compactor. Davalos said, "This is the kind of predicament you get into when you rent instead of buy."

In other business, the council approved two liquor licenses - one for Scampis' Restaurant and another for Navajo Spirits.

—approved an ordinance combining the Parks and Recreation and Adult Recreation Commissions.

—approved an ordinance amending the public safety ordinance regarding one call excavation notices.

—approved a joint resolution with the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission requesting the state to fund construction of the access road to the new airport on Fort Stanton Mesa.

—approved a Request for Proposals on engineering services for Special Paving Assessment Districts.

—heard a report from Frank Potter on an application for a Community Development Block Grant for the addition of 12 drying beds at the Regional Wastewater Treatment plant. On Potters recommendation, the council decided to let the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District administer the grant.

—gave final approval to a contract between the village and the Chamber of Commerce, where the chamber will set up and maintain a Convention and Visitors Bureau to be funded in part by the village.

The council also heard a complaint from Harl Byrd who represents parties who have applied for a certificate to operate a taxi and limousine service in Ruidoso. Harl said that the New Mexico Corporation Commission, which has

SMOKING IN 1968
The late O.M. Russell, editor and publisher of the interesting but extinct Ruidoso Reporter had this to say about cigarette smoking in his Feb. 20, 1968 edition:

"On several occasions I have stopped smoking for a few days but my fingers get so sore from biting my finger nails that I start up again."

"You have heard of people that would drink anything? Well, I am one of those guys who will smoke anything. If you can light it, I can smoke it. I started smoking at an early age with cedar bark and progressed on up the line to cigars and am going back down the line now. For over ten years I smoked Bull Durham, Stud, Dukes Mixture and Golden Grain. Then I got a job and smoked Camels for about 20 years but the filter had finally caught up with me and at the present moment I am smoking a cigarette with a filter so efficient that it removes 70 percent of the tars and I am also using a water filter cigarette holder that removes up to 60 percent."

"With those percentages a cigarette should afford better air than you started with. I'm waiting for some tobacco company to come out with a fad that will supply the minimum daily vitamins . . ."

"In the past a real he-man chewed tobacco but the women bucked the habit so hard that spit-tooning is a lost art. How many present day men can spit through a key hole at 15 feet? The truth may be that the old timers missed every once in awhile which may have been the reason the ladies took such a dim view of the habit."

MORE RUSSELLING

"Picked up my own copy of God's answer to mans dishwashing problems at a local beauty salon and happened to notice the multitude of skull pieces on display and I'll bet Old Geronimo never had a better collection." (Wife and wigs March 5, 1968)

"Life is full of great surprises for the man who advertises.

For the man who hides his wares, life is full of big despairs.

If you'd like a new supporter buy an ad in the Reporter"

"To date my 'mail outs' have not been heavy since I have not solicited subscriptions but I still have enough to think it will be worthwhile to start bucking for a mailing permit of some kind. Like a local fellow with the same problem told me a few days back: I'm getting tired of licking the back side of Roosevelt."

April 24, 1969 - "Going on two years ago when I first set down at a typewriter to hammer out the first copy of the Reporter. Everyone laughed. The day they quit I am washed up."

STUPID STICKER

Russell in 1969, April: "There are two things on this earth that I really hate and the first is carrots and the second is the stupid New Mexico Safety Sticker Law and I figure the first as a sweet potato joke of the Devil and the latter as the work of an anarchist."

"In 43 years behind the wheel I smashed a fender to the tune of $35.00 and I've paid one four dollar fine to the border city of El Paso and one ten dollar fine for an expired Safety Sticker in Roswell. If I had it to do over I would make that fender smash a total out as I didn't figure that cotton picker has any business with his fender where it was when I hit it. That $35.00 was not a fine I simply did not argue the question and my insurance paid for the fender repair. So far I have not been hungry enough to eat a carrot so I have avoided that pit-fall and I'm going to bat with officialdom if I receive a citation for a sticker violation and my vehicle meets the intent of the law."

DING BATS

"Suppose it will be evident to anyone that the Reporter has a new writing machine but the cotton picker can't spell a bit better than my old portable", complains Russell. "I have never been one to let punctuation marks interfere with my writing so I met up with a symbol on occasion I don't know what it is intended for and this machine has two. And since I know these two ding bats will never be of any use to me in writing I have decided to use them as key symbols for a prize in each issue of the Reporter."

BTU OUTPUT

"Ed Hyman of KRRR told my son he had found the Reporter helpful this past winter," writes Russell. "He used them to start a fire in his fireplace which makes two practicable uses for the Reporter but I have not been able to find a single thing I can utilize his old radio commode for. Oh they have lot of hot air but the BTU output is not as great as the Reporter."

Ex-Corona BB Standout

Bliznak RMAC Player of the Week

Margaret Bliznak, a 1962 Corona High School graduate, earned Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Player of the Week honors recently after leading her New Mexico Highlands team to wins over Fort Lewis (Colorado) and Western New Mexico. Bliznak apparently impressed RMAC officials and coaches with her hustle: she turned in performances that included five assists, nine steals, 28 rebounds, and 12.6 points (average) in the two victories. The Cowgirls are currently ranked third in the RMAC behind Western State (Colorado) and University of Southern Colorado. They were to begin conference playoffs Wednesday against Southern Colorado.

Bliznak, a junior, currently attends Highlands on a basketball scholarship, but last fall she rendered her services on the volleyball court. She attended Navajo Community College in Arizona before transferring to Highlands where she is majoring in physical education and athletic coaching.

The basketball standout got her start at Corona where she played three years on a Cardinal team that twice travelled to regionals under the direction of Coach Connie Perez. "She helped me improve my shot and adjust to defenses - she just helped me learn to read the other team," Bliznak said in remembering her years at Corona. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Bliznak who reside at the Jumping Branch north of Corona. Patrick, a 1963 Corona graduate, is her brother.

$5,000.00 Worth of Good News for Ruidoso Downs

By NORMAN ASHLEY

The Ruidoso Downs Village Board of Trustees heard Tuesday night that the State Highway Department had given final approval to the village's recently completed paving project, and that the village would be receiving a check for $5,000 from that state agency.

The board also approved a request for Police Chief Skip Hazel to attend a meeting of New Mexico Police Chiefs in Santa Fe March 5-6. Chief Hazel also addressed a request to the board for new toilet and lavatory fixtures for one of the jail's two holding cells.

Hazel told the board that the old fixtures had once again been torn out by a prisoner. He said that this would make the eighth time that this had happened since he has been with the village. Village Clerk Joann Jenkins said that it had happened about 24 times since she had worked for Ruidoso Downs.

Chief Hazel said that he has priced a one-piece stainless steel fixture that is supposed to be indestructible. The new unit which includes a toilet and sink would cost about $1400 and installation would add another $200-$300. Trustee Conrad Buchanan said that he hated to see them spend that much for such a thing, but Jenkins pointed out that of every fine assessed in the village court, $5 goes into a fund for just such purposes.

"The fund stands at about $8,000 right now so we need to spend some of it; and it can only be spent on jail improvements," she said.

The village has spent $150-$200 each time to repair the damage in the past. Trustee LaVerne Cole asked if Chief Hazel didn't have a padded cell to hold the more violent prisoners. Buchanan proposed that the board approve the purchase, but after further consideration, suggested that they look into having both cells equipped with the new fixtures. The board decided to leave the final decision to the mayor.

The board also discussed a Joint Powers Agreement between the village and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department. In the past the village has paid $10 a day for the county to hold prisoners for the village. Now the county is asking that the village pay $87.50 per day per prisoner.

The board felt that the request was unreasonable and should be negotiated. "The county gets $10,000 from the race track for police services," said Jenkins, "but it's our guys who are doing the traffic control." Administrator Charles Robinson also pointed out that many arrests made in the village are eventually heard in magistrate court. "The fines are paid to the state which eventually gives part of that back to the county," he said.

The board also approved a single bid of $25 for the purchase of an unused vehicle which has been on blocks behind the village hall for some time.

Carrizozo to Compete in First Science Olympiad

By RUTH HAMMOND

Twelve teams of Carrizozo high school students will compete in the first Science Olympiad to be held in New Mexico on the New Mexico Tech campus in Socorro on March 7.

Events to be included in the Science Olympiad are a naked egg drop, a laser shoot, building bridges out of toothpicks and sailing paper airplanes.

The twelve events will test student's knowledge in such areas as chemistry, physics, map reading, aerodynamics, geology and computer programming. Titles of the 12 events: bridge building contest, circuit lab, computer programming, laser shoot, measurement, naked egg drop, orienteering, paper airplane contest, rocks and fossils, titration race, topographic map reading, and qualitative analysis.

The naked egg drop is a contest in which the teams will build a device to cushion an egg being dropped from a high location. The winner will be the team whose egg can fall the greatest distance without breaking.

The laser shoot not only calls for the target on a wall to be hit but the laser must first pass through a semicircular lens of water and then through a triangular prism before hitting the wall.

Carrizozo science and biology teacher Mariann Patterson spent a day in Socorro recently training to be a coach for the event. She dropped eggs from six feet up, practiced target shooting with a laser, and participated in four other events.

Carrizozo will be one of 20 teams entered in the Olympiad. The grand champion team will go to the National Science Olympiad in Columbus, Ohio in June. To qualify for grand champion, a school must be entered in seven of the 12 events. Points will be awarded for the first three places in each event. The team with the most points will be the grand champion.

Science Olympiad is an interscholastic competition designed to increase student interest and enthusiasm in science. The events consist of a number of games which emphasize group participation. The national contest began ten years ago.

Behind the Headlines

Let's Not Tinker With Constitution

As Americans know, this year marks the bicentennial of our Constitution, a time to celebrate with pomp, pageantry and scholarly reflection on history's greatest "living document." But the year barely had begun when a group of lawyers, scholars and elected officials came out with some proposals to radically change the 200-year-old document. The 300-member, non-partisan "Committee on the Constitutional System," issued a report in January that, among other things, would permit members of Congress also to hold Cabinet posts with the object of promoting "greater cooperation" between Congress and the White House. Another proposal would replace the present two-thirds majority required to ratify treaties to a simple majority.

As might be expected, the Committee's proposals have drawn fire from constitutionalists. Bruce Fein of the conservative Heritage Foundation said he'd "never seen grown people engage in such a childish exercise." Having members of Congress serve in presidential Cabinets, he added, would wipe out our system of checks and balances. "Can you imagine, for example, Senator Pell holding a hearing to oversee the activities of Secretary of State Pell?" Fein was referring to Claiborne Pell, current chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Controversy is not new to the Constitution. It has, in fact, been subject to a verbal tug-of-war ever since it was signed by 39 of our Founding Fathers on September 17, 1787, after four months of spirited and often acrimonious discussion. It wasn't until the following year that the Constitution was ratified by special state conventions, again after fierce and often disruptive debate. In Virginia, Patrick Henry and George Mason opposed the Constitution with such fire and eloquence that it came within ten votes of being rejected. In New York, the ratification vote was even closer. And in Pennsylvania, pro-Constitution forces broke into a boarding house and physically hauled two recalcitrant legislators to the statehouse so that the State Assembly could schedule a ratifying convention.

Even after ratification, success was not assured. Diehard opponents argued powerfully that a republic being created on such a sweeping scale without historical precedent could not hope to endure. Not until 1791, four years after the signing of the Constitution, was the Bill of Rights added, answering many of the doubts raised by the anti-Federalists. But it was James Madison, often called the "father" of the Constitution, who predicted, correctly, that the great document, affirming the rights of "We, the People" and limiting the powers of Government, would, in Madison's words, "accomplish a revolution which has no parallels in the annals of human society."

The Founding Fathers fully expected their efforts would remain controversial through the ages, as, indeed, they have. Since 1787, no fewer than 10,124 proposed Constitutional amendments have been introduced in Congress, of which 33 have been adopted and 26 ratified by the states. And judicial debate continues to swirl around the so-called "original intent" of the Constitution's framers, and, most especially, over its interpretation by the courts, Congress and the Executive.

Number of Bills Keeps Growing

SANTA FE—"Don't raise the bridge, boys; lower the river!"

That's the headline a national magazine put on an exhortation to copywriters in America to use fewer superlatives. The idea was that by resisting this impulse, they would lower the river of hyperbole and it would not be necessary for Americans to keep on raising the bridge to keep their feet from getting wet.

The notion clearly applies, too, to the matter of proposing legislation for consideration by the New Mexico Legislature. The number of bills introduced in each session continues to grow, and it's time to do something about retrenching a little.

LONGER TIME-SPAN: One legislator, specifically Rep. Max Coll (D-Santa Fe), has used this introduction of more and more proposed laws to take off from with a suggestion that the length of time given to such matters must be lengthened—with consequent stretching out of the expense to the taxpayers, of course. Now, it's true that it will be impossible to consider in any sensible fashion, the more than 1300 bills that were introduced during the current 1987 legislative session. That is clearly too many for study in a span of 60 days, which is all the lawmakers have available to them under our constitution. But maybe lengthening the session is just like raising the bridge, when it is the river that ought to be lowered.

NUMBER OF INTRODUCTIONS: Among those 1300-plus pieces of proposed legislation, one from Senator Steve Stoddard (R-Los Alamos, Sandoval) would do the job better than the Max Coll proposal, at least as far as I am concerned. It would limit the number of bills that any representative was allowed to introduce to six per session. With a Legislature that contains 112 members, therefore, there could never be more than 672 bills to be acted on in a single year.

That's something on the order of one-half the number of measures put into the hopper this year, and it's about as many as can sensibly be considered.

Just the fact of putting an upper limit on introductions would have the effect of making legislators think about the genuine value of what they are having drafted.

OTHER OCCUPATIONS: Coll, who wants to raise the bridge, in contrast to Stoddard's lowering of the river, wouldn't mind a bit if the annual sessions were lengthened. He is in a profession and at a stage in life which would apparently allow him to hang around the capitol for as long as it took to get the job done.

Not all those elected to serve in our assembly, however, are in that shape. Some find it very hard to be absent from their line of work even for the 60 days they are called to Santa Fe during odd-numbered years. (In even-numbered ones, of course, our sessions are only 30 days in length, which many find a lot more attractive.)

I don't think it's necessarily true that the Stoddard suggestion will be enacted into law this year. That sort of thing often has to be put in two or three times before it gets even a serious hearing. But of the two choices addressed here, it is certainly preferable.

Besides, if we lengthened the session, all these folks would do is put in more bills because they would think they had that much more time in which to consider them.

Questions Energy Secretary on SSC Site Selection

(Washington, Feb. 18, 1987) — Secretary of Energy John Herrington today assured Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) that the Department of Energy has not compiled a short list of proposed Superconducting Super collider (SSC) sites.

"Secretary Herrington assured me today that the Department of Energy has no such list and no preferred site. New Mexico is very much in the running for the SSC project," Domenici said.

The Secretary's answer came in response to Domenici's question regarding such an alleged list. Herrington appeared before the Senate Energy and Natural Resource Committee earlier today.

"The Secretary also reported to us that there is no truth to the rumor that there is a link between the SSC site selection and the selection for a nuclear waste disposal site, now under consideration by the Energy Department," Domenici added.

Speaking on behalf of New Mexico's "outstanding national labs, educational system, and private business atmosphere," Domenici told Herrington that New Mexico is the ideal place for basing that project.

The Senator followed up by telling Herrington many scientists, educators, and business people in New Mexico are very excited about the project, and will be working hard to ensure that the project is based in the state.

New Mexico's Archaeological Sites To Get More Protection

WASHINGTON—New Mexico's archaeological sites, which are plagued by looting, theft, and mismanagement, will now be getting extra protection from the US Forest Service.

Under questioning by Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) at a Senate Energy Committee hearing, Dale Robertson, the new Chief of the US Forest Service, has said that the proposed budget for cultural resources management has been increased by $2.1 million dollars — 20 percent more than fiscal year 1987. Of that amount, at least $800,000 will be allocated primarily for New Mexico and Arizona.

"I am pleased to see that our policymakers recognize the seriousness of the threats to our cultural resources and are willing to take action to counter them," Bingaman said. "This will definitely help prevent much of our irreplaceable heritage from being systematically destroyed and stolen from us."

Although gratified with the additional funding, Bingaman stressed the need for additional action saying, "the next step is up to the agency to prepare a management plan that adequately inventories and protects the sites. I look forward to completion of the Santa Fe National Forest plan. I hope the agency has taken the steps necessary to restore public confidence in its ability to adequately protect these areas."

The improved forest service protection stems from a settlement agreement reached between the US Forest Service, Save the Jemez, the State of New Mexico and other groups on the management of cultural resources in Region Three.

NM Road Projects Receive Funding

SANTA FE—Funding for several vitally needed road projects was included in the State Highway Appropriations Act through an amendment worked out by the House Transportation Committee on Tuesday.

More than $13 million for funding projects requested in House bills already introduced was made available through unencumbered department cash balances, said Speaker of the House Raymond Sanchez. Included in House Bill 4 now are projects including an extension of Unser Boulevard on Albuquerque's West Mesa, location studies and preliminary work for relief of U.S. 70 on Las Cruces far east side, access roadwork for Sierra Blanca Regional Airport near Ruidoso and a county road in Otero County will ease traffic flow around a planned "Star Wars" laser site on White Sands Missile Range.

—$1.1 million for Phase 1 of the Sierra Blanca Airport access road to NM 37 in Lincoln County (HB 309—Hall);

—$500,000 to construct an Otero County road in conjunction with Strategic Defense Initiative projects on White Sands Missile Range (HB 393—Sheffield);

—$4 million to complete the Sierra Blanca Airport access road (HB 310—Hall).

—$180,000 for materials to resurface NM 548 in Belen, contingent upon a city assumption of labor costs (HB 18—Luna);

—$3 million to improve and upgrade NM 537 north from the Sandoval—Rio Arriba county line (HB 25, HB 42—Louis Sanchez, Lujan, Salazar);

—$1 million for preliminary work to extend Unser Boulevard to the

Bernalillo-Sandoval county line (HB 75—Hoevevar);

—$850,000 for location studies and preliminary work on U.S. 70 reliever routes in Las Cruces (HB 340—Smith);

—$600,000 for right-of-way acquisition and extension of Fairview Lane to Espanola (HB 290—Salazar, Lujan, L. Sanchez);

The money — $13,230,000 — was made available by taking unencumbered cash balances and other road receipts not budgeted by the State Highway Department, said Speaker Sanchez, D-Bernalillo.

"I'm happy we were able to find the necessary money to fund these high-priority projects," Sanchez said. "This certainly will speed the process to get these needed projects completed — and it was done without making additional appropriations or demands on the tight money flow."

HB 4 now goes to the House Appropriations and Finance Committee and will be included in HB 2, the General Appropriations Act of 1987. The bills requesting the work now included in HB 4 will remain on the Table of the House Transportation Committee since the projects they address are included in the Highway Appropriations Act.

OPENS OFFICE—Dr. Randall Cox recently opened an office in Ruidoso for the practice of general optometry. 617 Sudderth in Charleston Square is the location. Cox comes to Ruidoso from Nacogdoches, TX where he practiced for 16 years. Randall and Roberta have four children. Dr. Cox has his Doctorate of Optometry from the University of Houston. He specializes in Pediatric Optometry and contact lens. Cox has served his community in many capacities.

"I'm just naturally a 'kid person.' I like kids, I like working with kids."

The words, spoken with a broad smile, probably sum up the first prerequisite for the job of school counselor.

And Gerald Montes, counselor for the Magdalena schools, has 16 years experience with children. He's been a teacher, coach and counselor with the Hondo Valley School district.

Now, in Magdalena, his focus is on counseling.

His work includes academic counseling, helping students obtain scholarships and guidance with college and financial-aid applications. He also coordinates all standardized testing (except Chapter D). Those duties are in addition to counseling students of all grades on individual, personal problems.

A flurry of winter weather that arrived last Saturday in the Ruidoso area hit the village with three successive snowstorms of increasing intensity, winding up with a day-long blast Wednesday that left a nine-inch-thick blanket of snow on cars, streets and rooftops.

By Thursday, Sid Apache Resort was basking in the powder, 37 inches of new snow. That brought the resort's undisturbed, settled snow depth to a whopping 80 inches.

Larry Anderson, new host for the Truth or Consequences television show, will join Ralph Edwards, Judge Joseph A. Warner and Rusty Burrell of "The People's Court" and Lacy J. Dalton, country singer, for the annual Truth or Consequences Fiesta to be held May 1, 2 and 3.

"Truth or Consequences," the granddaddy of all audience participation shows, is alive and well. The Ralph Edwards Production which has appeared consecutively for over 40 years is coming back as a syndicated series starting in September.

In the role of host, following in the distinguished footsteps of Ralph Edwards himself (14 years) and Bob Barker (29 years), will be Larry Anderson. Anderson had been set as Lucille Ball's son-in-law in the recent Lucille Ball "Life With Lucy" show. By a curious coincidence, the Lucy show was dropped on the day that Edwards' Productions was auditioning would-be hosts for "Truth or Consequences."

Residents and visitors to the Truth or Consequences Fiesta May 1, 2 and 3, will get a chance to meet Anderson face-to-face.

Vaughn Mayor and School Board President George A. Del Curto has been appointed director of the Property Tax Division by Taxation and Revenue Secretary Vickie Fisher of Governor Garrey Carruther's administration.

Del Curto will leave his position as executive vice president of the United New Mexico Bank of Vaughn the end of this month.

District Judge Stanley

Frost in Tucuman! Monday denied a motion that the state of New Mexico be prevented from seeking the death penalty against Terry Clark, who pleaded guilty to killing former Santa Rosa Elementary student Dena Lynn Gore. The nine-year-old daughter of Ms. Coleen Gore was slain last summer after she was kidnapped near her Artesia home.

Judge Frost denied a defense motion that Clark's case also be returned to the preliminary hearing stage on two issues the state contends are aggravating circumstances.

Frost set April 27 as the sentencing date for Clark, who pleaded guilty to the kidnapping and first degree murder last July. Clark faces either the death penalty or life in prison, depending on a jury decision following the hearing.

CORONA CHAPTER

Future Farmers of America Celebrating Excellence Made In The FFA

Corona FFA: Achieving Excellence

The Corona FFA Chapter, because of the new attitudes and directions set last year, is on the way to another successful year. Over the past 12 months the Corona Chapter has gained excellence in many new areas.

Some of the accomplishments over the last year include winning in leadership contests, winning in judging contests, having a state officer and many more.

After FFA Week in 1986 the chapter went through judging season, winning many plaques at the District Judging Contest. These winnings included first in Meats and Wool; second in Land, Crops and Wildlife and third in Farm Management and Livestock. Travis Lightfoot tied for third high individual in the State Wildlife Judging Contest.

The chapter conducted a Building Our American Communities project which included a marquis sign that will hang downtown and announce school and community functions. The chapter conducted a Food for America program that included a petting zoo agricultural program for the elementary students at Corona. And for the first time the Corona Chapter was rated Superior at the State Convention.

After winning first in the District in Prepared Public Speaking, Marvin Pounds went on to take third place honors in the state. Pounds was also elected to the office of State Secretary and will run for State President in June. Tommy Stevenson also won the district in Greenhand Public Speaking and went on to win fourth at State. Sandra Copeland took second place at district in the Greenhand Quiz and went on to win fourth in the state. Both the Greenhand and Chapter Farmer Parliamentary Procedure teams won trips to state as well.

After the state convention seven members attended the State FFA Leadership Camp in Cloudercroft and came home very enthused from this experience. These members were Shane Owen, Dan Bell, Randy Lesly, Michael Pounds, Marvin Pounds, Tommy Mulkey and Tye Lightfoot.

When the 1986-87 school year started the ball just kept rolling as the chapter put in an educational booth at the State Fair and at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair, winning third at the ENMSF.

Again our leadership contestants showed extremely well in district competition. Jason Gibbs won the Prepared Public Speaking, while Beverly Bell took second. Emmet Sultemeier won the Greenhand Public Speaking and Tina Aaron won second. Shane Owen took first in the Greenhand Quiz and Randy Lesly was third. Sandra Copeland won third in the Extemporaneous Public Speaking contest and Travis Lightfoot was fourth. In the Greenhand Creed contest Randy Lesly was third and Tina Aaron was fourth. Also both Parliamentary Procedure teams took first place honors.

Last year the chapter was awarded five State Farmer Degrees and they were earned by Beverly Bell, Marvin Pounds, Steve Copeland, Don Myers, and Jim Stevenson. Again the chapter has applied five for the State Farmer Degree and they are Travis Lightfoot, Roe Anne Alford, Tracie Proctor, Kim Worley, and Alvie McKibben. Also the chapter applied Beverly Bell for the Sheep Production Proficiency Award. And finally the chapter applied Marvin Pounds and Steve Copeland for the highest level of active membership—the American Farmer Degree.

As of January 1, 1987 the Corona FFA Alumni Affiliate started with 12 members signed up as charter members. Up to this point the alumni has donated an electric blower to the chapter for use at the fairs and will continue to assist the chapter as the affiliate grows in membership.

Finally, our advisor, Jamie Widner was named the Outstanding Young Vocational Agriculture Teacher in New Mexico for 1986.

The Corona Chapter of Future Farmers of America will continue to follow the words of Lee Iacocca, "We have one and only one ambition. To be the best. What else is there." Also it is because of the tremendous support given by the folks in the community that we are so strong. Even though we sometimes don't say thank you we want you to know that we sincerely appreciate everything that our supporters do for us, because we know that without YOU we wouldn't function. THANK YOU!

INDIVIDUAL WINNERS: These three members of the Corona FFA Chapter won individual contests. Shane Owen, left, took top honors in Greenhand Quiz; Emmet Sultemeier was the winner in Greenhand Public Speaking and Tina Aaron was second in Public Speaking. All three will compete at state in June.

Services for Theodora Maes were held at St. Juans Catholic Church in Lincoln Saturday morning.

Friends, neighbors, and family braved the bad weather and roads to attend. Father Barnard compared the beautiful snow and 'Christmas' weather with the joy of Theodora going home. What a beautiful thought. Grace Romero, a niece and Marianne Polaco were the soloists.

Family members present were husband Ramon Maes, sister Ofella Green; nephews, Jimmy and Charles Green; daughters, Jean and husband David Avila, Priscilla M. Maes; Jeanette Maes; Roberta Maes, granddaughters; Victoria Lee Jiminez, great-granddaughter.

Pallbearers: Gilbert Salas, Hermino Otero, Charles Green, Fred Romero, Al Rooky, Hub Lucero.

Family members unable to attend were Tircio C. Romero Jr., Refugio Romero, Brothers. Carmen Hutchins, Mary Hernandez, sisters, and Tircio L. Romero Jr., nephew. She never lost her sense of humor. All the grandchildren were able to help care for her during her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap and Mrs. Christina McKinley attended the memorial service of Rosalies' (step) brother-in-law Lake Tarpley in Tucumcari Monday.

He had many friends in the northern part of the country.

He owned and operated the West of the Pecos-Lakes Place in Vaughn from 1943 until the mid-70s.

When I think of Lake I see a big bear of a man, thumbs hooked on his waistband, a twinkle in his eye with a joke or some experience he had had in his lifetime.

Lincoln had close to 20 inches of wet snow last week then COLD temperatures of 6 degrees below or more Sunday night.

The state is re-painting and doing minor repairs on the Tunstall Store.

Manuel Gallegos is one of the hardworking State Monument employees we haven't mentioned before. He is such a conscientious and caring worker who takes pride in his job.

Manuel is also a wonderful neighbor and friend, always there willing to help. He is a good family man and enjoys working on his place west of Lincoln when he isn't working or helping out his friends and neighbors.

I appreciate all of my friends kindnesses during this storm. May God bless all of you.

week of near Abernathy, TX. He has lived in the area since 1930. He had his 90th birthday and it was celebrated in a big way at the city hall in Abernathy on Saturday, Feb. 14. A reception was held from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock and many, many friends and well-wishers from Abernathy and the surrounding towns came. That evening a family dinner was enjoyed by 43 members of his family, six children, 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Angie said her Dad didn't miss a thing. He had a bang of a good time.

Happy birthday to Albert Paul, whose day is March 5. I also wish him many more very healthy and happy years.

We have lost another good friend and neighbor. Theodora, (Mrs. Ramon Maes of Lincoln) passed away the first part of last week. The storm delayed her burial at the Lincoln Cemetery from Thursday to Saturday, Feb. 21, 1987. The services were held at the church there with her family and many friends attending. She was a lovely lady and neighbor and loved by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Renfro and son of Cuba are here at this time visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Renfro and family. Mike is in the Navy and is stationed in Cuba.

Here now is a message from Waynes' family. Dr. Rouleau was there as needed by him, the ambulance and EMTs were prompt and efficient. The doctors and nurses were wonderful there. You will never know how much it meant to us. There deep felt thanks of gratitude goes to them and all of their wonderful friends. Everyone helped where needed. All calls, etc., were appreciated with prayers and good wishes. Their two wonderful sons were there when needed. Then too there was Cathleen Massey who kept the museum going. Wayne and Willie give their love and appreciation to all.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Tuesday, Feb. 17, we received 24 inches of wet snow with 7 to 10 degrees below zero at night. The trees (tall) still hold the snow. It falls from the roofs like an avalanche with tons of ice and snow. Broken tree limbs, etc. This is just a touch of the 1920-33. Then we did not have the highways of today and the mud was axle deep. It's great moisture. It's best to stay in if you can. The back part of the gas office did collapse due to the weight of the wet snow and ice. There may be others, but at this time I am not aware of it.

From Feb. 16-22 there were 132 registered visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum.

The Capitan Ambulance was called out to several accident last week for injured victims.

his bride, by Jacob Ziegler, the brother and business partner of the groom.
 First in the order of ceremonies was the reception, when greetings and congratulations were bestowed upon the happy bridal pair. At half past nine o'clock the orchestra gave the signal for the grand march, which was at once formed, led by the bride and groom. This was the beginning of the merry dance, which lasted until the hush of a new day descended.
 Everybody was in happiest mood and gay attire. To a stranger looking upon the scene it was impossible to realize that such a gathering of fair women and many men could be accomplished in a mining camp almost 100 miles from a R.R.
 Most of the ladies were in evening costumes, many of which were unusually elegant and becoming. But space will not permit of more than a brief description of a few.
 The bridal gown was of white silk, of that soft, firm texture so desirable and elegant. It was made en traine with corsage trimmed in lace. Diamonds were the ornaments that completed this lovely costume.
 Mrs. Susan Barber wore a gown of pink satin and white lace, with diamonds.
 Mrs. Col. Heman was becomingly attired in black silk India mull, with garniture of cherry colored ribbons; corsage high and sleeveless. The Medici collar and V opening in front showed to advantage the exquisite curves of throat and chin. Black silk gloves reached nearly to the shoulders, leaving a glimpse of the white rounded arms. No jewelry was worn.
 Mrs. Jno. A. Woodland wore white nun's veiling with corsage garniture of satin, a most becoming dress.
 Mrs. Wm. Watson, recently returned from an extended wedding tour through the States and Canada, wore a gown of figured cream challie, with shirred vest and full sleeves of gobelin China silk, no jewelry. The extreme simplicity of this costume gave an additional charm to the beauty of the wearer.
 Miss Edith Lane, electric blue nun's veiling, with corsage garniture of cream lace and ribbons.
 It was in every way a pleasant and memorable event and the groom deserved just such a testimonial from his townspeople.
 Mrs. Ziegler is a lovely brunette petite of figure and possessing a charming grace of manner which has already won her a high place in the esteem of her husband's host of friends.
 The Leader joins the other friends in wishing them a bonne voyage on the matrimonial sea.

Beginning at a point approximately Sixteen (16) feet West of the Northwest corner of Lot Six (6) in Block Thirty-eight (38) of the McDonald Addition to the Town of Carrizozo, New Mexico; thence West a distance of approximately Three Hundred Fifty (350) feet to the point and place of beginning of this tract; thence West a distance of One Thousand (1000) feet more or less to a point on the section line; thence South a distance of Three Hundred Eighty-Three (383) feet more or less to a point on the section line adjoining the property formerly belonging to J. F. Tom;

The amounts awarded by the District Court in said Decree of Foreclosure and to be realized from the sale of said real estate, are as follows: (1) Special Master's fee of $100.00, cost of advertising this sale and other cost of sale; (2) and next, Judgment Debt in favor of Alamogordo Federal Savings and Loan Association in the amount of $40,578.55, which includes accrued interest to the date of sale, and Plaintiff is not required to pay cash if it becomes the purchaser at said sale.

New Mexico. Their ambition is to be able to converse intelligently about the country in which they live when they meet their Eastern sisters who have been operating their investigations on the Mexicos of the past season. Some of the clubs are securing expensive lecturers on the subject.

Mrs. Jno. Y. Hewitt gave a reception to her lady friends on Thursday afternoon of last week, and notwithstanding it was the warmest day of the season there were forty guests present. The veranda was delightful with its massive Virginia creeper, ivies, and potted plants. To make it more agreeable for the occasion it was shaded by awnings and spread with rugs. A happy social time was spent until 4 o'clock, when the guests were invited into the dining room to partake of an elegant collation of ices, cakes and fruits. Everybody enjoyed the feast, enjoyed his neighbor and himself, but most of all was the magnificent hospitality and socialability of the hostess appreciated.
