Commissioners to decide July 15

Countywide tax to fund airport?

By RUTH HAMMOND

The Lincoln County Commission will hold a special meeting on Wednesday, July 15 at 10 a.m. in the courthouse in Carrizozo with the agenda to include the FAA grant agreement, the joint powers agreement for the Sierra Blanca airport, and consideration of passage of a mill levy to help pay for the new airport.

Commissioners instructed county manager Suzanne Cox to contact every governing body in Lincoln County and invite them to attend the meeting and express their opinions. The public is also invited.

The FAA grant agreement and a possible mill levy to help pay the county share of the FAA grant had been discussed during the afternoon session of the county commission meeting on July 7.

More than 35 people attended the meeting and voiced their opinion at that time. The majority of those present objected to a countywide mill levy to help pay for the new airport.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) grant agreement calls for the county to be jointly and severally bound for the purpose of financial support for the construction, operation and maintenance of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport that is being built on Fort Stanton mesa.

FAA proposes funding in the amount of $4,700,000 with a local contribution of $522,222. The project is for complete site preparation, drainage, and environmental mitigation for new commercial service airport; construction and marking runway 6/24, parallel taxiway and access road; install airport lighting including MIRL, rotating beacon, lighted wind cones, segmented circle and retro-reflective taxiway markers and construct fencing.

The area of project impact, as listed in the FAA grant, is Lincoln County and northern Otero County with 200,000 being the estimated number benefiting.

The FAA grant must be signed by July 17.

"We need to know where the $522,222 is coming from before we will sign the FAA grant agreement," county commission chairman John Hightower said.

County attorney Gary Mitchell explained to the audience that the county has the power to levy up to three mills to help pay for the airport and he said that the other municipalities in the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) have the power to levy certain mills also.

Mitchell said the Mescalero Apache Tribe, another member of the SBAC, had given up rights to the land where the new airport is being located and would not be a source of funds.

Mitchell also said that prior county commissioners had known that the county would have a share to pay, but had not set up the appropriate reserves needed to pay the county share.

Hightower suggested that if a mill levy was assessed that a certain amount be earmarked for the county match for the airport with the rest of the mill levy funds to be set aside for courthouse improvements.

"We will have to see a solid budget (for the airport) before I will sign the grant agreement," county commissioner Ralph Dunlap said.

The NEWS suggested that the airport budget be approved before a decision was made concerning the FAA grant agreement.

Mary McDonald questioned cost overruns on the airport project.

County Commissioner Bill Karn, who is the county representative on the SBAC, said that one of the problems inherited by the present SBAC was the cost of $77,000 for drilling the 7,600 foot deep water well with an additional $30,000 in engineering fees.

Patsy Sanchez referred to statements by Fred Heckman, administrator for the SBAC, that residents of Corona and Picacho and the rest of the county which will not derive any benefit from the airport, would not be taxed for it.

Mitchell, after several times explaining various aspects of the airport project and the county's obligation, finally said, "The only way to do it is to assess the mill levy."

Carolyn Lietzman asked, "Are we bound by the administrator's contract?"

Dunlap responded, "I have lost faith in the administrator (referring to Fred Heckman). I will not vote for this as long as the present administrator is in."

Glen Ellison of Carrizozo told the commissioners at the end of the meeting, "Thank you for listening to us gripe for a couple of hours."

It was apparent to those present that the mill levy will probably be assessed, but the actual decision will be made at the special meeting on July 15.

After the executive session following the afternoon session the county commission approved the airport budget with Dunlap abstaining from voting.

The airport budget for fiscal year 1987-88 calls for capital improvements of $8,769,415. Sources of funds are listed as: FAA $5,556,973, New Mexico Department of Transportation $200,000, sale of old Ruidoso airport land $2,595,000, private investment $68,047 and other local, state and federal funds of $302,603. The beginning cash balance was listed as $46,792.

Queen winner picked

Tryouts were held July 1 for Queen of the Capitan Junior Riding Club, with Jessica Livingston the winner. Tinnie Coons received the honor of being 1st runner up followed by Mariah Peebles.

The other candidates were Tammy Payne, Shelby Gowen, Sonya Wood, Stacy Gowen, PeeWee Coons and Rye Destry Peebles.

Judges were Shirley Goodloe, Sherry Underwood, Wendy Witter, Nancy Witter and Sid Gordon. They used the following format: horsemanship 60%, personality 20%, dress 20%. Betty Joiner was in charge of the event.

The Capitan Junior Riding Club has its "fun days" throughout the summer, usually on Sundays. The action takes place at the rodeo arena in Capitan. Some members begin learning rodeo business as early as 2 years old.

Bingaman aide to hold office hours in county

Senator Jeff Bingaman's district coordinator for southeastern New Mexico, Lynn Ditto, will hold office hours in Lincoln County on Wednesday, July 15.

From 8 to 9 a.m. she will be at the Ruidoso Downs City Hall; from 10 to 11 a.m. at the Ruidoso City Hall; from 2 to 2:45 p.m. at the Lincoln County Court House in Carrizozo and from 4 to 4:45 p.m. at the Capitan City Hall.

At each community Ditto will meet with any local resident who wishes to bring matters of concern to Senator Bingaman's attention. She will also have information about the section of the new immigration law that deals with employer sanctions.

Constituents in need of assistance but unable to attend the office hours may call Senator Bingaman's toll-free telephone number 1-800-443-8658.

Donations sought for Christmas lighting

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce is receiving donations toward additional Christmas lights for the 1987 Christmas holiday season.

Last year, new holiday lighting was put in place at a cost of about $3,000, and the additional lighting this year should serve the town for several years, according to Scott Shafer, co-chairman of the fund drive.

With donations from individuals and businesses, Shafer and Roy Dow will order additional lights for Central Avenue and E Avenue. Colorful boxes are placed at United New Mexico Bank and Roy's Gift Gallery to receive donations toward the Christmas lights.

The July chamber meeting will be held Tuesday, July 14, noon, at the United New Mexico Bank.

Two persons dead in Ruidoso stabbings

Two Ruidoso residents are dead following an argument and stabbings Friday in front of a Something Special, a store on Sutherland Drive in midtown Ruidoso.

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Department received a call at 7 p.m. on July 3 to assist the Ruidoso Police Department. Upon arrival they found a man and woman lying on the grass in front of the store.

Both were rushed to the Lincoln County Medical Center where the woman, Constance J. Schiller, 43, was pronounced dead. The man, Joseph Jimenez, 41, died later in the hospital.

A weapon was found at the scene and apparently the deaths were the results of stabbings. The bodies have been sent to Albuquerque for autopsies where the cause of death will be determined.

The sheriff's department will continue the investigation into the deaths. Undersheriff Rex Skellett said there were witnesses.

Schiller and Jimenez were at one time partners in a hair salon in Ruidoso named Mr. Joseph's.

Sheriff Don Samuels said there apparently was only one knife used in the stabbings. He raised the possibility that a quarrel between the two led to Jimenez stabbing his former employee, then stabbing himself.

Marijuana located in Hondo Valley

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Department in a combined operation with state police narcotics agents located a marijuana farm in an area approximately one-half mile from the Hondo School along the river. This is the same area where more than 2,000 marijuana plants were found last year.

The 71 plants found on July 3 were four to five feet tall and had recently been transplanted from buckets. Undersheriff Rex Skellett placed an approximate value of $500 to $1,000 per plant on the confiscated plants.

No arrests have been made, but there are suspects in the case.

Two juveniles were arrested by the sheriff's department on July 1 and charged with commercial burglary and larceny in connection with the burglary of Bonito Lou's Cafe in the Bonito Lake area.

The juveniles were also charged with possession of marijuana. They were released to the custody of their parents on July 3.

The sheriff's department is investigating a report from a rancher in Alamo Canyon in Hondo Valley in connection with 15 lambs that were missing and later found dead with bullet holes in them.

Other reports from the sheriff's office show the following arrests, July 3-5:

Five aliens were arrested by the Southern Pacific Railroad security police and released to the Border Patrol.

Daniel Curtis Leatherman, 25, was arrested by the Ruidoso Police on a fugitive warrant out of Maricopa County, AZ.

Melissa Hendricks, 19, Ruidoso, was arrested and charged with DWI, reckless driving, and allowing to be served.

Emilio Montoya Jr., 30, Ruidoso, was arrested for DWI 2nd offense, reckless driving, speeding, unlawful use of license, and revoked license.

Lloyd Candelaria, 52, Carrizozo, was arrested for disorderly conduct and held for detoxification.

Capitan Chamber lists activities

By BART McDONOUGH

At its monthly meeting July 6 the Capitan Chamber of Commerce conducted the following business:

Elected Frank E. Miller to the board of directors after receiving the resignation of Louise LaRue.

Discussed furnishing large oil drums to be used for trash on Main Street. The chamber also elected to buy a belt buckle to be used as an award at the Lincoln County Fair.

Treasurer Kay Strickland reported that the chamber had funded such projects as a Capitan brochure, the Smokey Bear note card, and the stamped parade trophies.

The Smokey Bear note card contains a painting of Smokey and the Smokey Bear Museum, a special card one might want to send someone. It can be purchased from members of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce.

Inez Marrs reported that the Lincoln County Fair would be on the following dates: Aug. 11, entries taken at the fairgrounds in Capitan beginning at 4 p.m.; Aug. 12, entries taken between 8 a.m. and noon; Aug. 13-15, the actual fair itself.

St. Louis hails new heroine

Lanelli saves life at Senior Olympics

By DOROTHY GUCK
High drama in St. Louis at the Senior Olympics contests was played out, not in the competition, but in the spectacular action of Yvonne Lanelli in saving the life of one of the participants on June 29. More than 2400 senior citizens from 40 states and three foreign countries were vying in sports at various parts of the Washington University campus in St. Louis. The finals in the ping pong competition were being held in the university field house. Rusty Lambert had won a 5th place. He and his wife Yvonne were watching the final play of a friend, Mr. Gaines, from Alamogordo. At the next table, one of the contestants, Earnest Lambert from Ohio, suddenly collapsed in a chair. "I don't feel well," he muttered, although the noise in the room drowned his words.

Yvonne saw him stumble to a chair, his pale face. She ran to his side as he lapsed into unconsciousness. She immediately lowered him to the floor with help from others. "I could feel no pulse at all. He wasn't breathing," she said. "I began CPR. Rusty ran to the Red Cross station for oxygen and a call for the paramedics. I used all my EMT training and worked frantically. What seemed hours, but was only minutes after I began CPR, he breathed. A faint pulse could be felt. The oxygen was applied. I worked on him steadily to retain that pulse for about 10 minutes, when the paramedics arrived.

"There were four paramedics from the university fire station who used my help in applying advance life support methods. After 35 minutes, still on the floor, the patient resumed almost normal blood pressure and pulse."

The fire chief himself told Yvonne, "If you hadn't witnessed Lambert's arrest and immediately applied CPR to reactivate his heart, we would have arrived too late to save his life. He owes that life to you."

Yvonne said she told him, "Thank God for EMT training." Then she comforted his distraught wife as the ambulance carried him to the hospital. The Red Cross volunteers drove Mrs. Lambert to follow the ambulance.

The St. Louis newspapers carried the story of the New Mexico EMT's courageous feat. Yvonne Lanelli was lauded as the heroine of the Senior Olympics.

"That is the first time I have ever been right there the moment when a cardiac arrest occurred, to witness and know exactly what was needed. I'm so thankful I knew what to do."

"She earned all the plaudits she received," husband Rusty claimed proudly. "She was magnificent. Yvonne was completely in charge, cool, efficient, and working with a determination to retain life for Mr. Lambert. We flew home to Alto the next day, but she phoned St. Louis to learn that Mr. Lambert is still in critical condition, but he is alive, thanks to Yvonne."

than $46,500.

—Agreement for the state highway co-op to purchase and haul six inches of base course on 5.2 miles of county road on B-006, also known as Fort Stanton road, was approved. The state will pay 60 percent or $50,000 of the cost. The county will pay 40 percent.

Work on the three highway agreements is to be completed no later than Dec. 31, 1988.

—Field agreements for predator and rodent control were signed.

—A request was received to open one-fourth mile of road from the Bill Brazel ranch turnoff to the Magado Creek ranch cattle guard. A road review committee of Pat Sullivan, Frankie Silva and Bill Rawlins with alternate Betty Schrecengost was appointed. The road review committee will submit recommendations to the county after reviewing the road.

—The $5 penalty on delinquent taxes was continued for 1987 taxes.

—Certification of the assessor's office was received. The letter from the New Mexico taxation and revenue department stated that the county assessor's office had been evaluated for this year and that the assessor has implemented an acceptable program for maintaining current and correct property values.

—An executive session was held for litigation and personnel.

Further business conducted by the county commissioners was in the afternoon session for discussion of the FAA grant agreement and a possible mill levy to fund the Sierra Blanca Airport.

J. Patterson receives Firestone scholarship

Jamie Patterson of the Carrizozo FFA chapter has been named the recipient of a $500 national scholarship sponsored by Firestone as a special project of the National FFA Foundation. The scholarship will be applied toward a four-year college or vocational/technical school education at the institution of her choice.

Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patterson of Bingham received notice of the scholarship after a national FFA panel judged her application among the best in the nation. Judging criteria included evaluation of Pattersons Supervised Occupational Experience (SOE) program in vocational agriculture, FFA activities, school and community involvement, high school grades and career plans. Jamie's FFA advisor is Mike Gaines.

This is the fourth year such scholarships have been made available through the FFA Foundation by business and industry. FFA leaders believe the program will undergo rapid growth in the next few years and that even more scholarships will be made available for outstanding FFA members.

"We need to make sure that all FFA members who want to further their education in order to attain specific agricultural career goals have the opportunity to do so," said National FFA Executive Secretary C. Coleman Harris. "Tomorrow's" agriculture is dependent upon young people who have the education and training to keep American agriculture the most productive in the world."

The FFA is an organization of students preparing for careers in the industry of agriculture. FFA activities and award programs complement instruction in vocational agriculture/agribusiness by giving students practical experience in the application of agricultural skills and knowledge learned in classes.

The Best Way To Keep Your House Cool May Be With a Blanket

It seems strange to use a blanket in the middle of summer. But to keep cool air inside your house, you need the blanket effect of proper insulation.

Without proper insulation, your home loses cool air in the summer (and warm air in the winter). Your cooling/heating system must work harder to maintain a comfortable temperature. The proper amount of insulation will make your home more energy efficient and comfortable.

Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting

Event stems from wisdom of the Founding Fathers

The Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting in Lincoln County will be held July 15-19.

It is 200 years since the precepts for religious freedom as a nation were set forth by our wise forefathers at the Constitutional Convention. This year, we the people especially celebrate a renewal of appreciation for the rights of life, liberty, and happiness, and the freedom to enjoy the spiritual participation in religious services on Nogal Mesa.

During the 47th year of the Camp Meeting, we will again count our blessings. In the pure mountain air, with the comradeship of Christian friends, the faults that exist in our democratic world will seem smaller. New vows will be made to rediscover the ideology that led patriotic men in creating the Constitution. We will rededicate ourselves to an awareness of the opportunities in America that make freedom so cherished. We are governed by a higher law than our US Government decrees, which is so evident at Camp Meeting. A fellowship fills the heart with a good feeling for peace toward all men.

The interdenominational camp meeting on 23 acres of land in the mountain coolness of Lincoln County offers chuck wagon meals with plenty of barbecued beef and beans, volunteer singing, and inspirational preaching.

Opening services will be held in the tabernacle Wednesday evening after the first chuck wagon meal, July 15. They will continue through Sunday evening, July 19. This year, the preachers will be Rev. Mickey Fugitt of Abilene, TX, and Rev. Leon Wyss of Albuquerque. Both men have led services in former years. Paul Biggs will again be in charge of music, accompanied by Jane Shafer. John Walker will be in charge of youth activities, and Glenda Armstrong of children.

Officers for the meeting are the Revs. Rickan d Randy Steele, managers; LaMoyné and Opal Peters, Wesley Lindsey, Scott and Bob Shafer; Walt Wilson, and Johnson Stearns; with a complete roster of New Mexico residents and their committees.

A Memorial Service for those who died during the year will be held Saturday afternoon under the direction of Chloe Peters and Glenda Armstrong. There are prayer meetings for men, women, youths and children. A schedule of fun activities, bonfires, hay rides and horseshot pitching is planned.

For those attending for the first time, there is camping space available at no charge for those participating in the services. A schedule of activities and some simple rules are posted at the registration booth. All youngsters must be sponsored or accompanied by adults. Bring campers, tents, or bedrolls. Water, electricity and restrooms are provided. The altitude is 7,000 feet, so rainwear and jackets are essential for comfort.

If camping is not possible, everyone is welcome to attend daily services. Meals are served on tin plates and cups from large cauldrons by the ranchmen, at 6 to 8 a.m., 12:30 and 6:30 p.m. Tabernacle services are at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 8 p.m. Group prayer meetings are held at 5 p.m. The registration booth will give any other information or directions. Melody Hefker weds Michael Gene Gaines

MRS. MICHAEL GENE GAINES

The First Baptist Church of Carrizozo was the setting for the May 24 wedding of Melody Kay Hefker and Michael Gene Gaines. The Rev. John P. Torrison officiated.

The church was decorated with garlands of lemon leaves, white satin bows and floral arrangements of white pixie carnations and baby's breath tucked with light blue satin ribbons.

Mrs. Joan Means and Mrs. Virginia Curtiss provided traditional wedding selections. Richard Hollis lead the congregation in the singing of "There Is Sunshine in My Soul Today."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a traditional style gown of re-embroidered lace and silk organdie. The high neckline and long tapered sleeves were edged in pearls. The lace bodice and chapel cap veil featured a scroll work design of seed pearls and re-embroidered lace. The full silk organdie skirt and chapel train were embellished with re-embroidered lace appliques and a lace overlay ruffle which was caught at each pleat in the ruffle with small white satin bows and streamers. The waistline was emphasized with a white satin sash featuring a large white satin bow in back.

The bride carried a bouquet of symbidion orchids, white pixie carnations, stephanotis and trailing English ivy.

Carol Lynn Gallacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallacher Jr., and a lifetime friend of the bride, served as the maid of honor. Miss Marcia Louise Hefker, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Their dresses were tea length gowns of light blue and rose jacquered satin which were accented with long sleeved lace jackets. Their light blue picture hats with tiny white silk flowers, seed pearls and satin ribbons were fashioned by the bride.

They carried arm bouquets of long-stemmed carnations, baby's breath and English ivy held with white satin bows and streamers.

Casey Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dean, served as flower girl. She wore a dress of light blue featuring long sleeves and bodice of lace which had been the bride's first formal gown. She carried a nosegay of blue and white daisies with light blue ribbon streamers.

Stacy Harkey was the groom's best man. Jimmy Green served as groomsman. They were attired, as was the groom, in gray tuxedos and white pleated front shirts with light blue silk cummerbands and bow ties.

Jamie Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patterson, officiated at the guest book. Justin Hefker, brother of the bride, served as candle lighter. Ushers were Neal Waldon of Mountainair, cousin of the bride, and Jimmy L. Green of Socorro, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hefker of Carrizozo.

After a honeymoon trip to California and Las Vegas, Nevada, the bride and groom are at home in Carrizozo where Mr. Gaines will begin his eighth year as vocational agriculture instructor at Carrizozo High School.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hefker of Carrizozo. Her grandparents are Zanta DuBois Waldon and the late R.C. Waldon of Corona and Effie Dale Hefker and the late L.R. Hefker of Alamogordo.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kintzler and the late Billy Gene Gaines of Socorro. He has two sisters, Ms. Shirley Gaines and Mrs. Jimmy Green. He is the grandson of Mrs. Thelma Van Winkle of Socorro.

Bread will retain its original quality for two to three months if left in the wrapper and stored in the home freezer.

TRAVIS LIGHTFOOT ROE ANNE ALFORD,

Corona couple to be wed in August

Mr. and Mrs. Rogene Alford of Corona announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Roe Anne, to Travis Lightfoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lightfoot of Corona.

The couple plans an Aug. 9 wedding at Corona Presbyterian Church.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Corona High School where she was in National Honor Society and FFA. She was a cheerleader and member of the basketball team. She is currently employed by the Village of Corona.

The prospective bridegroom was valedictorian of his 1967 Corona High School graduating class, was a member of National Honor Society, and FFA chapter president as well as being an active participant in all sports. Both were active in New Mexico High School Rodeo Assn. He is currently employed in Lordsburg, NM by James Hamilton Construction Co.

Lightfoot will attend NMSU this fall where he will major in wildlife science while the bride will major in elementary education.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding at 1 p.m. on Aug. 9 and the reception immediately following. The couple will be honored at a potluck dinner and shower on Sunday, July 12, at 1 p.m. at El Paso Natural Gas Recreation Hall. Friends and relatives are invited.

Ernest V. Joiner's

● Democrats in congress deserve high marks for hypocrisy. For months they have been trying to topple the Reagan Administration on grounds that it, or its adherents, have conducted and encouraged private fundraising to aid the Contras fighting the communist Sandinista government of Nicaragua. They want the president impeached and participants in the Nicaraguan aid program jailed for providing funding to the Contras. They argue that such aid is prohibited by the Boland Amendment enacted by congress which cut off all aid to the Sandinista regime, then authorized aid to the Contras, then cut it off. That smacks of indecision if not hypocrisy itself.

● Now we learn, thanks to Rep. Bill McCollum of Florida, that Democrat members of congress are themselves engaged in fundraising to support the Sandinista effort to remain in power in Nicaragua. In short, while they are holding kangaroo court to punish fundraisers for the Contras they are themselves raising funds for the Sandinistas! For example, the Democrats named by McCollum support two fundraising organizations, both offshoots of the Communist Party USA. One is New Salvador Today; the other is the Committee in Solidarity with the People of El Salvador (CIPSES). In supporting the communists in Central America, these Democrats are conducting their own private foreign policy in the same way Col. Oliver North and his associates are accused of doing, and for which their scalps are being sought.

● Take a look at these Democrats in congress who are conducting their own private foreign policy in Central America by funding antidemocratic forces there. Among them are congressman John Conyers of Michigan, Ron Dellums, Mervyn Dymally, George Brown, Julian Dixon and Pete Stark, all of California; Walter Fauntroy (District of Columbia), Thomas Foglietta of Pennsylvania, Robert Garcia of New York, Mickey Leland of Texas; and in the senate, Tom Harkin of Iowa. Harkin sponsors fundraising for an outfit called Medical Aid for El Salvador. Funds to this communist-controlled group are supposed to furnish only medical aid, but the US Department of State has found that about 70 percent of such funds go to buy weapons.

● Add to this list of congressional paragolies the name of Rep. Pat Schroeder of Colorado, an ardent supporter of the Sandinistas, who engages in fundraising activities to support the communist regime in Nicaragua. A potential presidential candidate, Schroeder signed a fundraising letter in 1985 for an organization known as the Nicaragua Network, formed in 1979 by Sandinista agents, including one Sandy Pollack, a member of the national committee of the Communist Party USA. She served for a while on the advisory board of that organization, along with such radicals as actor Ed Asner. She is among those who seek punishment for those who raise funds for the Contras, but who seeks respect for fundraisers for the Communist Sandinistas!

● This sorry story has not been reported in the Big Media, and probably will not be. The whole hypocritical affair was exposed June 3 when Asst. Secretary of State Elliott Abrams was being grilled by a congressional committee about what he knew about the activities of Col. North and his associates. McCollum introduced the subject and called the names of congressmen involved in private fundraising for the Sandinistas. Abrams corroborated McCollum's charge that the above-named congressmen are engaged in supporting a totalitarian Marxist-Leninist state as a base from which Moscow and Havana seek to subvert all of Central America.

● Pat Schroeder is expected to announce her candidacy for the presidency soon. Jesse Jackson, another ardent supporter of communist causes in general and of the Nicaraguan dictatorship in particular, is already the Democrat front-runner for the Democratic nomination for president. Take your choice. Then welcome communism to Central America.

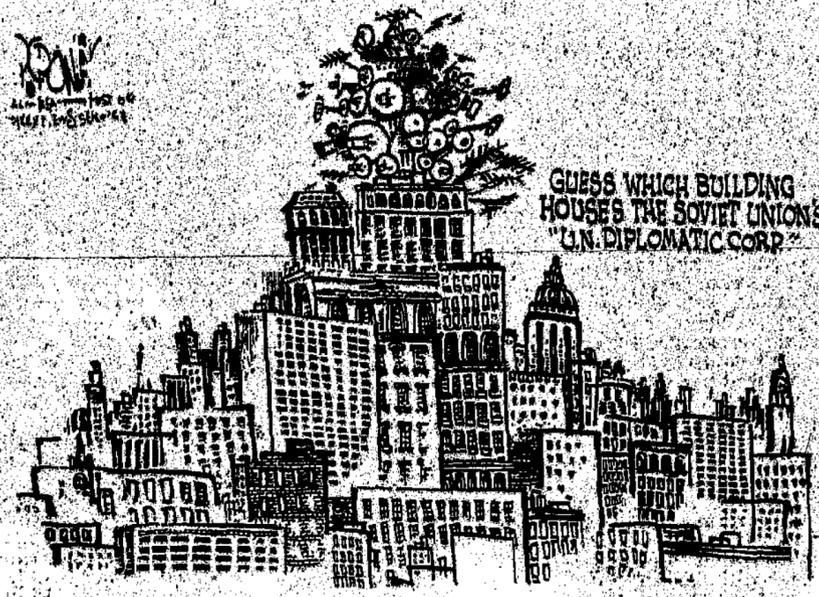

● It is one thing for Democrats to rip the political guts out of Republicans, and vice versa. That is our system. But when either party, to achieve political domination, puts the security and welfare of the nation in jeopardy in the process of partisan strife, it is a criminal act that cries out for prosecution.

● Information has been received that the Federal Aviation Administration is threatening to close the Carrizozo Municipal Airport because of lack of maintenance—such as repairing runway lights, cutting weeds, and not meeting regulations regarding wind indicators. A related travesty is that an entrepreneur from Hobbs has been trying for months to get the town's approval to build a 100,000-square-foot hangar at the municipal airport that, he feels, would attract dozens of aircraft from the surrounding area because of the facilities it would offer. He abandoned the effort after he made an appointment with the mayor to discuss the proposal, flew into Carrizozo, and waited two hours for the mayor who failed to appear.

High college costs, and professors who don't work

WASHINGTON — It's part of the American dream that everyone who wants to — and is academically qualified — should be able to go to college.

But have a look at the costs, which for this academic year have been jacked up by 6 percent by the public colleges — and 7 percent by private institutions, which were already sky high.

For example, if you want to enroll at Johns Hopkins, it will cost you more than Harvard! $17,110 a year at Hopkins including tuition, room, board, books and fees. Harvard is $17,100; Georgetown is $14,760; American University here is $13,800.

You can attend the University of Maryland, if you are a Maryland resident, for $5,472. If you're a non-resident, it will cost you $8,578.

The University of Maryland at College Park has a student body which is several times the size of Hopkins. It also has far more income from Maryland taxpayers.

But Marilyn Brown, the director of institutional studies at College Park, notes that the teaching load at the University of Maryland averages 2 and three-quarters courses a semester per faculty member, not including dissertation or thesis advising.

And George Fisher, Dean of Arts and Sciences at Hopkins, was quoted by The Washington Times as reporting that Hopkins' undergraduate faculty members teach an average of two courses, or six credits, a semester and are expected to devote an equal amount of time to research.

"That's a part-time job," contends President Robert Iosue (pronounced YOSS-WAY) of York College in Pennsylvania. "Schools cost so much because the people who work there work so little."

Dr. Iosue, whose outspoken views are quoted in The Wall Street Journal, has also written: "I have not used the word corruption, but I've been tempted."

And he goes on to note the following:

"Some colleges raise tuition for no other reason than to stay in step with the competition. I call that the cartel syndrome on pricing."

"College administrators are eager to demand more government aid but are unwilling to curb their profligate ways. They build a $16 million health center, when a $3 million gym would suffice."

"Federally subsidized student aid programs drive up college costs. The half billion dollar college work-study program particularly benefits the costlier colleges. This aid to 757,000 students pays 80 percent of the student's wages for on-campus jobs. The more expensive the college, the greater the student's need, and the more the college gets from the federal government."

"Suppose welfare were based not on minimum need, but the family's life style? If they lived extravagantly, should the welfare be higher? This is what the federal government is doing with college aid."

President Iosue's views, when given national exposure in The Wall Street Journal, quite predictably evoked some sulphuric reaction from the Higher Education Lobby ("HIGH" AS IN HIGH COST.)

Robert Atwell, president of the American Council on Education, is a leader in the efforts to get Congress to reject cuts proposed by the Reagan Administration. (But he admits that colleges are spending a great deal on recruiting students and fund-raising.) When asked about Dr. Iosue's heretical views, Atwell replied: "He doesn't represent the way the majority of university presidents think."

This should be regarded as a badge of honor by Dr. Iosue — who appears to have an ally in Secretary of Education William Bennett. For Bennett has slayed the Big Education Industry for not controlling costs, while seeking seven greater federal assistance — particularly in student aid.

This simply fuels increased college costs. It is long since time that state legislators and Members of Congress force these chapels of ease called colleges and universities to order the faculty to go back to work.

State legislators and the Congress control a significant percentage of the enormous income on which so many of these sacred cows called professors and administrators are living very well, despite a remarkably low milk yield.

It is time to make these people go to work like most of the taxpayers who are funding them. And here is a general outline of how this could come about, in a sort of Taxpayers College Bill of Rights:

All state and federal aid of any kind, including student loans, should be withdrawn from any college or university which fails to order the following:

1. All teachers — faculty that is — shall teach at least 20 hours per week. This will allow them an additional 20 hours per week for grading, counseling, thesis advising and committee meetings. Research can be done after this 40-hour week, and during the nearly 40 percent of the year that is devoted to Christmas vacation, spring break and the three-months summer vacation. There is no reason why college professors, who are paid salaries and allowances far above the national average, should not work as much as the average American — who pays them in taxes and tuition.

2. Universities and colleges could, of course, maintain research divisions — as long as they are kept strictly separate from the teaching division, which is after all supposed to be the primary purpose of the college or university.

3. In the obvious need to reduce administrative costs, all students at any institution

Commentary

A 'sure fire' method of getting nowhere

By J.A. "AJ" JUNGE

The problem of Ruidoso's Traffic Circle has grown from the simple task of improving a traffic circle to a full fledged debate involving emotions, personalities, and whatever it requires to make a mess of the entire affair.

The city council and mayor listened to both sides at the regular council meeting on June 30.

To those speakers, on both sides, polite audience was given to the arguments which included:

1. The Womens Club considered a previous council's agreement to allow them control of the traffic circle as a "Commemorative Plot" to be valid and to run to perpetuity. This being true the club would control whether a sign or any sign would be installed in "their" circle.

2. Those speakers, supporting the Upper Canyon businesses, spoke to the idea of the importance of the circle as an entrance to the Upper Canyon where a sign pointing up this fact was of the greatest importance.

3. The city administration was praised for its part in the construction of new curbing and for their plans to plant new shrubbery with the proposed help of some local civic clubs.

All of the foregoing was important to those concerned, however, the mayor and council overlooked and perhaps disregarded the main thrust of why the meeting was necessary in the first place.

One question has lurked in the background from day one in this controversy.

Does the womens club have a legal claim for the

Inside the Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE — Crusader Rabbit has fought his last battle in New Mexico.

Crusader Rabbit doesn't sound like a familiar character to you? Quite possible because unless you happened to be a kid in the early fifties or the mother of a kid and unless you had a tall television antenna and lived near Albuquerque, you missed a delicious treat.

Television was in its infancy in New Mexico. KGGM-TV in Albuquerque was just going on the air. Station owner Bruce Hebensriet decided he wanted a kiddies show. He looked around and found a young man, fresh from 13 years in a Jesuit seminary. No one else was willing to take a chance on such a naive, fragile person, but the guy said he could draw, so Bruce hired him as a children's cartoon artist to do a daily kiddies program.

The first task was to invent some characters. Crusader Rabbit and J. Wellington Worm became those characters. It doesn't take much creativity to imagine what the personalities of those two characters must have been.

It may not take much more creativity to make the quantum leap and guess who was the creator of these two creatures.

If you guessed Fred McCaffrey, treat yourself to a trip to Fred's island paradise on Montserrat and get him to reminisce for you.

Can you believe that? Fred, a children's cartoon show host?

CONSISTENCY: Where is the consistency between children's cartoon show host and syndicated political columnist? Well, besides the obvious parallel which is such easy pickings that I'll let you have the fun with it, there appears to be a strong parallel between the Crusader Rabbit of children's cartooning days and the Crusading McCaffrey of column-writing days. Can't you just picture Fred in his Crusader costume ferreting out the J. Wellington Worms of the political world?

Fred never lost his crusading desire to find everything that was wrong with state government and make it a better world for all of us. Many can disagree with Fred's assessment of what was wrong but few should disagree with his idealistic fervor in thinking he could make a difference.

CONTRADICTION: What may come as a surprise to many are Fred's plans once he arrives on his tropical island. Many of us envisioned him establishing another political column and maybe even fomenting a minor revolution on the island.

But what is Fred going to do with his life? He is going to volunteer his services to a Jesuit high school on the island and teach English (to these British subjects) and catechism. Now, if you say that this doesn't sound like the curmudgeon that Fred liked to impersonate, probably few will disagree.

YOU DECIDE: The final occurrence which needs reporting took place at the goodbye party some of us held for Fred. Legislators, lobbyists, media personalities and other friends bought tickets at a rather hefty price so there would be a nice, tidy sum to present to Fred and Jan to help them further enjoy their escape to paradise in the Caribbean.

Guess what they announced they're going to do with all the money? It will be used for a scholarship fund on Montserrat in the name of the people of New Mexico as a gesture of goodwill. Now, is that our old, crusty Fred?

In last week's article I pointed out that this legal fact should be determined and quickly. Was the claim of legal ownership valid or not?

It was almost as no one wanted to take the responsibility of finding the answer it is now a fact—the womens club has no legal right to the area known as the traffic circle.

This fact was finally brought out in the council meeting but only after Mrs. Joan Bailey of the Upper Canyon, near the end of the meeting, asked Mayor Davis a direct question and the mayor answered to the effect that the area belonged to the City of Ruidoso.

Why wasn't this fact brought out many days before now? Had the mayor determined this fact earlier the meeting might not have been necessary. His proposal that three committees be set up to examine the options would accomplish nothing since the womens club was no longer in the picture. The people wanted an answer to their questions. They got nothing. With elections dates so far in the future, can the mayor and council be protecting their political turfs?

The city administration is now in charge. Let them decide how to complete the job and how the requests for a sign by the Upper Canyon can be handled.

There was no need to allow this project to reach the point of confrontation. The mayor and council had a responsibility which they refused to face.

A lot of wasted time and effort could have been averted by the quick actions of those we elect to make decisions and answer our questions.

"I WAS APPROVED FOR A LOAN OF A THOUSAND, BUT I ONLY TOOK $500 OF IT TODAY. NOW THEY OWE ME $500 AND I OWE THEM $500, SO WE'RE ALL EVEN."

Bow Hunters invade Chihuahua

Stu Ware, owner of the Bowler Horn in Alamogordo, was one of seven members of the Otero County Bow Hunters who went to Chihuahua, Mexico July 4-8 to compete in the third International Friendship

Tournament that was hosted and sponsored by the Tiro Arqueros of Chihuahua. The archers were accompanied on the trip by family members and friends. The trip included a tour of Chihuahua to the home of Pancho Villa, the state capitol building with murals telling the story of Chihuahua, the Cathedral that took 99 years to build and the downtown area. Awards were brought home by 10 of the 14 archers from the United States. In addition to the Alamogordo participants, archers were from El Paso and Colorado Springs. Representing the Otero County Bow Hunters were Ware, Ray Spear, Sharon Mosler, Micheal Mosler, Buddy Dean, Sharron Longshore and Joe Longshore.

Stampede parade winners named Crowds enjoyed the Smokey Bear Stampede Parade in Capitan, July 4. The following are the winners: Float division—1. Corriente CowBelles, 2. Capitan Chamber of Commerce, 3. Smokey Bear Museum, Mounted group—1. Chaves County Fosse, 2. Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, 3. Elgin Breeding Service.

Antique cars—1. Drews Riska, 2. Mannie Hernandez, 3. Antique fire truck belonging to the New Mexico Forestry Service in Capitan. Most original entry—Ray Adams as Daniel Boone. Bicycle division—1. Ryan Wooddell, 2. Kimberly Wright, 3. Brandy McClain. Motorcycle division—Joe Ortiz. Walking group division—1. Jerries Boutique, 2. Capitan Senior Citizens. Best dressed cowboy, Stewart Berry. Best dressed cowgirl, Jennifer Van Cleave of Vaughn.

receiving any state or federal aid, will be expected to work at least 90 minutes per day on campus duties, whether janitorial, grounds care, food service or secretarial. They will be graded on their performance and expelled if their duty is improperly performed. For the already deficit-ridden US Treasury ought NOT to be hit further to convenience college kids.

4. Faculty members who write textbooks and assign them to their classes may do so — provided that the college or university where they do so receives 75 percent of the royalties — plus 50 percent of the royalties on all other sales to other campuses.

If a large number of faculty and administrators quit under these circumstances, they would not be long missed. For their places would soon be taken by really dedicated teachers who want to teach.

Sheriff's statistical report

The Lincoln County sheriff's department statistical report for June lists 6 accidents with injuries, 10 accidents without injuries, 87 traffic stops, 11 traffic details, 42 citations, two DUI arrests, 26 motorists assists, and 28 attempts to locate (welfare checks.)

Other totals for the month: 13 animal calls, 3 alarms, 3 search and rescue, 3 fire/EMT assists, 22 special assignments, 54 offense/incident/reports, 76 calls handled/no report, 25 investigations active, 12 investigations cleared, 8 narcotics related cases, recovered property in the value of $1,555, 2 stolen vehicles recovered, 6 felony arrests, 15 misdemeanor arrests, 11 office details, 95 civil papers served, $39,367 in write/money/property received, 3 bailiff/court time hours, 10 prisoner transports, one out of state extradition, 39 hours training and 37 meetings.

Vehicles were driven 27,834 miles in county and 1,902 miles out of county for 29,736 total miles. 2,240.2 gallons of gas were used in county and 103.1 gallons of gas were used out of county for a total of 2,343.3 gallons of gas with the average miles per gallon being 12.7. Repair and maintenance costs were $648.91 and total vehicle expense was $3,078.54.

THE CARRIZOZO volunteer fire department battled three grass fires on June 19. The fire danger is extremely high at this time because of the dry conditions and the tall weeds. Carrizozo Fire Chief Albert Najjar has asked that everyone be extra careful with fires at this time of year.

Lincoln Ramblings

Lincoln town was a beehive of activity over the 4th of July. Besides the McSween Dig, the "new" Montana Spanish Heritage Museum was opened.

Lynda Sanchez was the supervisor of the project with the able assistance of Rafaela Pryor who also donated so many of the photos and other memorabilia for the museum.

In the afternoon church services were held, followed by a tour of the new museum. The visitors were greeted by Rafaela Pryor, Katherine and Lynda Sanchez. Also Robert O. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Freeman. Also, members of the Montana family were introduced. They were Louie Montano, Santa Fe and former mayor of Santa Fe, his sister Jane Montano, Frank and mother, Mrs. Joe Montano. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jordon, owners of the old Patron store/home.

It was great seeing and visiting with old friends from Bonito, Ruidoso and Hondo valleys.

The hotel and Thorreon Shop did a great business. In the evening, Joyce and Ed Wyatt of Seminole, TX entertained at the Wortley Hotel with their lively music. Mac and Pam MacArthur couldn't hear the good dancing music without getting up and dancing. Everyone enjoyed it Pam and Mac.

The evening ended up with a big fireworks but not the kind we could enjoy. The old "landfill" north of the Old Pippin Estate caught fire. It was rather dangerous due to the hot weather causing the grass to be so flammable.

With so many of our men being out of town, Dave Kirkpatrick, director of the McSween Dig, and Bob Hart, new assistant director of the Lincoln Heritage Trust manned the fire trucks and other Lincolnites put out the grass fire and let the dump burn itself out.

The Smokey Bear Stampede was a great success this year. The New Mexico Rodeo Assn. reported there were more entries in the Smokey Bear Rodeo than any other rodeo in New Mexico. The Stampede was the No. 2 rodeo last year.

The Fair Board netted enough this year to have a good start on fairgrounds improvements and the fair itself. A big "Thanks" should go to all the Lincoln Co. Fair Board members, friends and neighbors who volunteered for all the hard work and long hours they put in to make the Stampede a success. Of course, everyone enjoyed the parade with all the floats, boxes, and posse groups.

Betty Shrecengost, William Hockly and Matt Botowski put on a skit of Billy the Kid at the July 4th activities at Roswell. Frank Tracey, well known radio celebrity of Roswell, pitched in and played Pat Garrett. Thanks Frank.

The Splunkers Region IV held their annual meeting at the Ft. Stanton caves recently. Over 100 members and family attended. The Shrecengost family and Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap were guests of the splunkers.

Riki Darling of Utah and Ken Streicher of Albuquerque were visitors of the Dunlaps. They were here for the Splunkers meeting.

They were enthused because the region had received an award by the BLM for their 2000+ hours for volunteer clean-up and fencing projects in the area and also recognition by the State of New Mexico.

Miss Doretta Burchett became the bride of Mark Barlow recently at St. Judes' Church of San Patricio.

Katherine Sanchez and Ronnie Barone attended orientation days at NMSU at Las Cruces recently.

Nancy Barone is visiting her mother and grandmother in Dayton, OH. Ronnie accompanied his mother as far as Dayton then flew onto Ft. Lauderdale, FL to visit his sister.

An update on all our people who have been ill or had surgery.

Leola Pfingsten is doing fine after eye surgery. Ofelia Salas has recuperated from her severe drug reaction; and Lois D. Coleman is home from the Tucson hospital following her drug reaction.

For those who have asked for Lois's address it is: Mrs. Lois Coleman, Box 212, Willcox, AZ 87644.

Glenn Dennis was under the weather during the holidays.

Nikki Ponder Fouratt is in critical condition following her accident near the Rodeo Bar. She is in St. Mary's Hospital, Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dennis and family members of Roswell spent the holiday at their Lincoln home.

Gerald Langreich visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hart over the holidays. Gerald and Bob worked together on Custer's Battlefield in Wyoming.

The Torreon Shop looks great! Jerry McGary of Nogal helped Rosina Locke with redecorating and painting the shop.

Rosina has a great selection of pottery, jewelry, tile and books. She has one of the best selections of Southwest books in the State of New Mexico.

The State of New Mexico personnel and Lincoln Heritage Trust hosted a barbecue for the Lincoln town residents and friends. A great evening was had by all. One Lincolnite who has been a stranger was Bill Ward. Nice to see him around. Also mother Ward. Mother Ward has her garden again this year. She is in her mid-nineties.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Freeman are enjoying their ranch home on their summer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henn have returned from their trip to northern New Mexico and southern Colorado.

Doesn't the new Smokey Bear District Office look nice in Capitan?

Watch for the Deer! There have been several accidents involving deer in our area. It is getting dry with the hot weather and winds lately, so the deer are coming down to graze the green fields and drink from the river. So slow down, keep your eyes open and Be Alert! They do appear from nowhere and buckle up.

The yuccas are now in bloom and are so pretty, especially just east of Carrizozo. The cactus is also blooming.

On Paul Harvey's program this morning (Monday) told of a small town who was big enough for a parade but not big enough to have a band. A radio disc jockey came through and played Phillip Sousa's band music while the townspeople marched in their parade with all their portable radios, turned on loud!

Lincoln County Farm Bureau Board and the Lincoln Preservation Board will meet tonight in Lincoln. The Farm Bureau will have a dinner meeting at the Wortley Hotel and the preservation board at the Dr. Woods Annex.

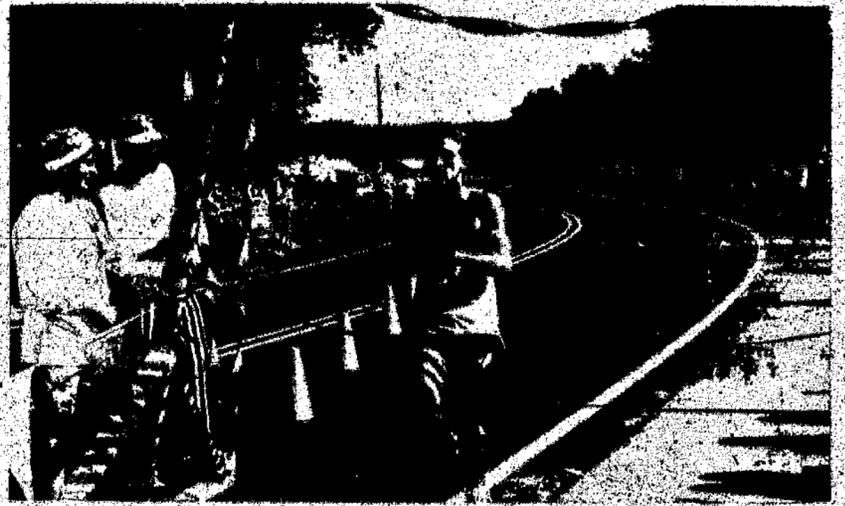

It is time to start thinking about the Lincoln Pageant. The performances will be Aug. 7-9 this year.

Thomas Shrecengost has been visiting his aunt Susie Shrecengost in California.

Yvonne Lanelli of Alto along with her husband, Rusty, attended the National Senior Olympics competition in St. Louis, MO last week. Rusty competed in the table tennis division. He had finished his division and he and Yvonne sat down to watch another game in progress. One of the competitors collapsed in a chair. Yvonne, being an EMT of Lincoln County, suspected a heart attack and applied CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) until the paramedics arrived. His condition was stabilized and Lanelli is credited for her quick action and saving the gentlemen's life.

Lanelli is a good example of the quality of EMT care we can expect in Lincoln County.

Congratulations to all the Lincoln County Senior Olympics contestants. Sunwest Bank is to be congratulated for their "uniforms" that caused them to draw national attention. New Mexico was the only state where all contestants had the same dress.

SCOTT T. LONG comes in 1st in the 10K division of the Smokey Bear Run. He set a new record with a 31:23.48. This was part of the action July 4 in Capitan.

POLITICOS WERE OUT July 4 for the Smokey Bear Stampede Parade in Capitan. Holding his hat is State Representative Dick Knowles. Taking his glasses off is US Rep. Joe Skeen. Capitan Mayor Benny Coker is seated to the right of the driver.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

Last week was very, very hot with dry winds. Several nights were hot and sultry. July 5 at 7 a.m. 32 degrees; July 6, 30 degrees.

July 4 celebration brought crowds to rodeos and dances. Some visitors were leaving Monday morning. Fletcher Hall was grand marshal and Frances Shaw was the grand lady. We were honored to have Cong. Joe Skeen and our Mayor Benny Coker present. The barbecue ran out very early, which we regret.

It is hard for people to realize just how large our crowds really were, and what it means to everyone to have this rodeo and celebration to attend. They come from near and far. That is how it has grown. Let's get together starting now, figure for next year and get prepared for that huge crowd. This is a very cool and inviting place and it is a joy for people to come and relax, and they will.

There were 5,715 registered visitors in June at the Smokey Bear Museum. They now lack just one state having all 50 states represented. That state is Vermont. From June 27-July 5 there were 2,563 registered visitors. Smokey Bear Museum won 3rd place in the parade.

Now here is a bit of happiness. The Book of Smokey Bear, recently taken away, was brought back during the 4th. It was discovered in its place the morning of July 5. We, that means all of us, express gratitude for its return.

I must mention that two attendants from Ft. Stanton brought 68 students from Ft. Stanton last Thursday. On July 4th there were 524 registered visitors.

Remember Vacation Bible School, Capitan Church of Christ, July 13-27, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Two years through high school. Buses will pick children in Capitan, subdivision and Ft. Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Allen and family have moved to Capitan and will reside in the Randle Building on Main Street. Both will teach school in Capitan this year. Mrs. Allen is the former Pam Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hall. Welcome home Pam. We are so happy to have you and your family.

Happy birthday and many more to Cara King, who reached her 5th birthday, June 14; Sam Bass who's day was July 1; and to Anita Chavez, July 5. Mine was June 30. Such happiness and joy is appreciated so much. Thank you, friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Pappy) Coons celebrated their 14th wedding anniversary in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Poling celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 23 with friends and family at their home.

My wishes go to both of these couples for many more years of wedded happiness.

Bill and Jane Allred went to visit their children in Lincoln and Omaha, NB and then to Michigan to visit Walt and Mary Ann. They reported a great trip.

Dorothy Payne won a Gold Medal for horseshoes in St. Louis, MO in the Senior Olympics. All of Lincoln County is proud of you, Dorothy.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith of Albuquerque spent the holidays in their home here visiting friends. He is the nephew of the late Orris Smith. It was a joy to have them.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Harkey of Tularosa became parents of a daughter born June 28, Ashley Dawn. Mrs. Harkey is the former Bobby Rogers of Capitan. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Payne and family and her parents, Sherri and Bobby LaMay, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wry, former residents of Capitan, enjoyed the holidays with us and visited friends.

J. B. Mathews

Cause of the Lincoln County War and one man's role in it

By CHRIS HARKEY

Lincoln County history buffs will recall the role of J.B. Mathews in the Lincoln County War. His account of the cause of the war, and his role in it, appeared in an 1898 book, "History of New Mexico."

Jacob Basil Mathews was born in Woodbury, TN on May 5, 1847. When the Civil War broke out he enlisted at McMinnville, TN and was discharged at Pulaski, TN when the war ended.

The following is an excerpt from the book, "History of New Mexico."

When the war was over he returned to his home in Tennessee, where he continued until the spring of 1867, when he located in Gilpin county, Colorado, and began mining. He followed that pursuit until the winter of 1867, when he arrived in New Mexico, taking up his residence in Elizabethtown, Taos county, where he engaged in mining for five years, running a claim for an English company.

On leaving that portion of the Territory, he came to the Pecos valley, locating on a tract of land three miles northeast of Roswell, which he farmed for two years. He then went into the mountains, seventy-five miles west of Roswell, near Lincoln, New Mexico, driving some cattle from the valley to the mountain-side, which furnished excellent pasturage.

He secured a situation as salesman in a mercantile establishment of Lincoln, owned by the firm of Dolan & Riley, and after a time was admitted to a partnership in the business, in 1877. There he continued until the Lincoln county war closed the establishment.

The difficulty thus named and which has become a matter of history was caused by cattle-stealing. At that time the heaviest cattle owner in this section of the Territory was John Chisum, who owned a ranch and range in the Pecos valley, near the present location of Roswell, and who associated himself with a Mr. McSween, a lawyer of Lincoln county.

There arose an enmity between them and another cattle company, known as J.J. Dolan & Company, on account of the latter invariably anticipating the Chisum Company in securing contracts to supply the Government troops at Fort Stanton with beef, which was done through the shrewd and energetic efforts of John H. Riley, a member of the firm, who would make trips to Washington and secure the contracts. The Chisum Company, particularly John S. Chisum, became very angry and threatened to "kill them all." This was the principal cause of the war. However, the direct precipitation of the affair was claimed to have been brought about in this way:

A cattle company by the name of L.G. Murphy & Company was dissolved by the death of the junior member, Mr. Fritz, whom Murphy claimed owed him $30,000. Fritz's estate consisted of only his $10,000 insurance.

This was collected by Mr. McSween, who refused to turn over the money to the claimant because it would pass into the hands of J.J. Dolan & Company in payment of a debt owed by Fritz to them.

Mr. Dolan and J. B. Mathews of this sketch then went to Las Cruces. As soon as they left McSween disappeared with the money, but the bookkeeper of Dolan & Company followed him to Las Vegas and brought him back on the charge of embezzlement.

The Dolan Company secured a writ of attachment against McSween's property, including some cattle and a store, and the lawyer gathered a crowd to resist the officers attaching his property, among whom was the noted "Billy, the Kid."

When the sheriff and assistants arrived at the store they found an armed band awaiting them. The crowd made signs of resistance, but finally allowed the officers to appraise the stock. This done, the next thing was to levy on the cattle interests of McSween. They were in another locality, probably a hundred miles away, and the sheriff, Mr. Brady, deputized Mr. Mathews to go over there and attach the cattle, furnishing him with several assistants.

On reaching his destination he found the headquarter ranch full of ruffians, including "the Kid" and his accomplices, all ready to resist Mr. Mathews. He remained in the neighborhood that night and the following morning entered the cabin, but the men had all gone and had probably driven the cattle off with them. Word was sent to the sheriff, who commanded Mr. Mathews to follow, and sent twenty men to his assistance.

After following them some distance and killing one of their party the others were arrested. Mr. Mathews left two men with the cattle and went into the town, where he found forty soldiers who "the Kid" said were going to arrest Mr. Mathews and his assistants. When our subject and his partner reached the McSween building they were commanded to halt, but Mr. Mathews told them that he was Deputy Sheriff, and he succeeded in passing them and went to the store where other soldiers were also stationed.

A large force of men were sent to arrest the deputy and his assistants, but the sheriff, who was in town, commanded them to lay off their arms, which they refused to do. Mr. Mathews then commanded his posse to fire, but before they could do so the others threw down their arms.

The affair was then to be settled in court, which was to convene on the 1st of April. It was, however, postponed for a week, and the sheriff, accompanied by Mr. Mathews and a friend, started down the street to give notice of this fact. They had gone only a few blocks when a noisy crowd appeared behind and began firing, from behind a wall. In the first volley Sheriff Brady was killed and Deputy George Hindman was wounded.

All the town turned out and the battle was soon on. Mr. Mathews and his followers drove the opposing crowd into McSween house, in which were Alexander McSween, his wife Susan and another lady, and thirty-six armed men.

The firing was contained on both sides until night, when they fired the McSween residence. Some were killed, others escaped and others were captured.

This was the only real engagement of the Lincoln county war, and twenty-five men were killed. The murderers were finally all captured and condemned, the last one to be brought to punishment being "Billy, the Kid." McSween was killed in the engagement at the time of the firing of his house, and about the same time John Chisum left for Chicago, where he died. He had been the instigator of all the troubles that had occurred, employing men to kill the cattle-owners whom he thought interfered with his business.

The course which Mr. Mathews followed during this trying period was a most courageous and commendable one. He fearlessly discharged the duties devolving upon him, counting not the personal cost, and it was largely through his efforts that the matter was terminated so as to preserve the interests of those who were on the side of right.

When the war was over, Mr. Mathews entered into partnership with James J. Dolan. He then sold all his cattle and mercantile interests at and near Lincoln and then went to the Pecos, a place in Lincoln county in the Sacramento mountains, and founded the Pecos Cattle Company. In 1885, for seven years he filled the responsible position of manager, for one year was assistant manager, and in 1888 left the mountains and took up his residence in Roswell, in order that he might give his children better educational privileges.

Shortly after his arrival here the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Company, learning through his many friends of his ability and capacity as a manager, placed him in charge of its principal farm, the Chisum ranch and orchard, which he now carries on. He still has his cattle interests in Lincoln county.

In 1883 Mr. Mathews was joined in wedlock with Miss Dora Bates, with whom he became acquainted while she was visiting in the Territory. They now have three children, —Edith Thornton, Ernest Houston and Cora. Mr. Mathews is a man of high character, inflexible integrity and sterling worth, and his public and private life are alike above reproach. Ever fearless and true in defense of what he believes to be right, he is honored and esteemed by all, and with pleasure we present to our readers the record of his career.

Mathews was a postmaster at Roswell for six years. He was active in Masonic and civic affairs until his death on June 8, 1904.

PURPLE COW

Does America need over a thousand different varieties of frozen desserts?

According to Time magazine (Economy and Business) the answer is yes. Consumers are slurping up an endless variety of frozen desserts.

"Responding to an apparently insatiable consumer appetite for frozen concoctions, US food companies are producing a dazzling array of new products, from fruit bars and candy-coated ice cream to soft-frozen yogurt and brownie bars." Time says of the freezer boom.

A market traditionally associated with children frozen snacks are now bought by a sweet-toothed 25-to-44 age group. Alongside the frozen-fruit desserts at supermarkets are frozen diet-drink bars. For snackers who do not care about calories or cholesterol, there is a caramel nut ice-cream bar, which consists of vanilla ice cream coated with chocolate, caramel and peanuts.

Icy-cold treats for hot summer days and nights are easily made with plastic pop molds available in most supermarkets. If you do not have the molds make frozen snacks in small plastic cups inserting plastic spoons before the mixture is frozen.

To make a Purple Cow, whisk 1 cup milk with ¼ cup grape juice, ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup lemon juice. Pour mixture into 8 plastic ¼ cup pop molds. Seal with lids or insert wooden sticks. Freeze for 3 hours or more. Hold molds under warm water for a few seconds to loosen pops.

A COLD MARKET

Sales of 1,628 US frozen dessert items that exist this year are expected to double by 1990. Meanwhile, while manufacturers compete in the chilling race I continue to make my own.

More recipes for frozen pops follow using the same freezing instructions as for the Purple Cow recipe:

Quick Berry—Puree in blender ¾ cups fresh or unsweetened thawed strawberries with ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup water.

Pineapple Yogurt—Whisk smooth 1 cup vanilla yogurt, 1 cup pineapple juice and 1 teaspoon sugar.

Frozen Pudding—Prepare one small package instant chocolate pudding according to package directions.

Creamy Peanut—Boil ½ cup water and ¼ cup sugar 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in ¼ cup peanut butter; then 1 cup milk.

Juicy—Sprinkle 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin over ¼ cup cranberry or other juice in small pan. Stir over medium heat; stir in 1½ cups more juice.

Pop Banana—Puree smooth in blender 1½ cups orange juice and 1 cut-up large banana.

STREET VENDORS

Street vendors are ready to make a buck off Pope John Paul's visit to the US... hawking "Popsicle" ice cream bars, according to grocery store tabloid.

"This whole event is like a Super Bowl eight times over," said a spokesman for a firm that is printing 10 million posters for the Pope's visit in September.

The "Popsicles" are sculpted in the likeness of Pope John's head.

POPEMOBILITIES?

Would you buy a used car from the pope's motorcade?

Adults need vaccines too

Vaccines, which are routine for children, are also necessary for adults. Adults need protection against tetanus, diphtheria, rubella (German measles), pneumonia and influenza.

All adults need a tetanus-diphtheria booster every 10 years. A primary series of three doses is required if a person has never had the vaccine.

Tetanus is caused by a toxin released by certain bacteria and is often present in dust or dirt throughout the world. When a person is cut or wounded, the tetanus organisms may contaminate the wound, and once in the body these organisms can produce a powerful toxin which affects the nervous system. The chance of survival is only 30 to 40 percent when a person has tetanus.

Diphtheria is caused by a bacteria which can infect the skin, nose, throat or respiratory system. While diphtheria is generally uncommon today, localized outbreaks continue to occur in many parts of the United States, including New Mexico.

The toxin that is produced by the diphtheria bacteria is one of the most potent poisons known. The toxin can cause heart irregularities or heart failure as well as nervous system damage. Many cases of diphtheria are severe, and about 10 percent are fatal.

Rubella (German measles) is caused by a virus. Rubella is a common and relatively mild disease of childhood and the greatest danger lies in a woman getting rubella during the first few months of her pregnancy.

Rubella virus infection during pregnancy can cause babies to be born with birth defects or the pregnancy can end in a stillbirth or miscarriage. Some of the birth defects associated with rubella-affected babies include cataracts, deafness, heart defects and mental retardation.

Young adult women should be vaccinated for rubella if they have never received a rubella vaccine or do not have proof of having had German measles. The vaccine should not be given to women who are already pregnant nor to women who may become pregnant within three months following immunization.

The pneumonia vaccine and the flu vaccine are for senior citizens and other adults with serious/long term illnesses. These vaccines are usually available in the fall.

Adults should check their health records and be up-to-date with vaccinations. It could save their lives.

Tongue prints are as unique as fingerprints.
