Harry G. Wilcox Jr., senior trial prosecutor for the 12th judicial district, told the NEWS that the investigation continues in a fatal accident early Sunday morning on Highway 37.

Bernice Smith, 47, Lincoln, was killed when her vehicle was struck by a 1987 Mercedes Benz driven by Rebecca McKie, 31, of Iraan, TX. David Morgan, a passenger in Smith's car, received injuries in the accident.

McKie has been cited driving while intoxicated and charges of vehicular homicide are pending. McKie remains in a hospital in Roswell with multiple injuries.

Wilcox said the first law enforcement officer to arrive at the scene of the accident was Captain Police Chief Randy Spear. He conducted a preliminary investigation in assistance with New Mexico State Police officer Steve Standridge.

The Lincoln County Grand Jury is scheduled to meet Aug. 19 and the evidence in the case will be presented to it at that time if the investigation is complete.

All future construction jobs may be affected by airport gravel issue

By RUTH HAMMOND

The issue of where the gravel comes from for construction of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport "Will not affect just this one job," State Representative Ben Hall told the NEWS. "It will affect all jobs in the future that have anything to do with sand and gravel."

Hall said some gravel dealers in the Ruidoso area are questioning the Forest Service's stand on the issue concerning the sale of gravel from a pit on forest land to Nielson's Inc. for use on the airport project.

According to Steve Sams, district ranger of the Smokey Bear Ranger District, the Forest Service issued a permit to Nielsons to use gravel from the pit because private contractors materials did not meet federal specifications.

The information that private contractors' materials did not meet federal specifications was submitted to the Forest Service by Nielsons. It was based on a report that Nielsons received from Testing Laboratories Inc. in Alamogordo.

"Gravel from Beavers Sand & Gravel in Ruidoso Downs did meet federal specifications," Hall said. He noted that Dee Proctor's gravel pit had been tested by the New Mexico State Highway Department lab in Santa Fe and it met federal standards also.

"I took copies of the lab tests to the Forest Service," Hall added, referring to the fact that at least two and possibly three of the commercial pits in the Ruidoso area did meet federal specifications for quality and quantity.

Sams had told the NEWS that a permit for use of the gravel pit on forest land was denied last year because it would have been used as a commercial pit with the owner being able to make a profit from the sale of the materials. Bonnell Sand & Gravel had applied for the permit at that time.

Hall stated that the current permit issued to Nielsons is in fact "a commercial pit" because Nielsons will stand to profit more than one-half million dollars on the gravel that will be taken from the pit and used on the airport project.

"When a person gets paid for the gravel that is taken from the pit, then it is commercial," Hall said. He cited the bid submitted by Nielsons that included costs of $12.50 to $17.25 per ton for the 200,000 tons of gravel that will be used. Even with having to take the material out of the ground and process it, the total costs will be less than the $4.25 per ton that Nielsons would have paid a local dealer.

"Beavers even offered to process their material and crush it to one and one-half inch size for Nielsons for the project," Hall said.

"There is no such thing as a 'perfect pit,'" he said, and noted that gravel from all the pits, including the one on forest land, would need to be processed.

"As for the costs for hauling the gravel, the bid included costs for hauling gravel from Hondo Valley. The cost for hauling from the pit on forest land will be much less than hauling it from the Valley and up Devil's Canyon," Hall explained.

Hall also said gravel pit owners did not know when the samples that were submitted to the testing lab by Nielsons were taken or by whom, and they did not know exactly where in the pit the samples were taken.

"If I wanted to make sure that samples did NOT meet specifications I would make certain I took those samples from an area where they would test low," Hall stated.

"Nielsons is the only one who stands to benefit from getting the gravel from forest land," Hall declared. He said he knew of no re-negotiations between Sierra Blanca Airport Commission and Nielsons to have the costs for construction of the airport reduced because of a change in the source of materials.

Nielsons paid for the testing and the report they submitted to the Forest Service. When Hall asked the testing lab for a copy of the lab tests he was told that Arnold Hampson, an official from Nielsons office, had called the testing lab and told them to not give the information to anyone.

Nielsons bid included a cost of $17.50 per ton for 125,000 ton of open graded plant mix bituminous treated base course Spec. No. P-202, $250 per ton for 2,400 ton of bituminous material for open graded base course Spec. No. P-202, and $12 per cubic yard for 3,010 cubic yards of crushed aggregate base course Spec. No. P-200.

'Biggest Army contract' at stake

Martin Marietta explains 'why we are in Carrizozo'

Jerry Garman, manager for business development of Martin Marietta, was guest speaker at the Aug. 11 Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Garman said the Martin Marietta people appreciated the hospitality of the people of Carrizozo. He went on to explain that Martin Marietta is in a competitive mode with three other competitors for the Army's Forward Area Air Defense (FAAD) Line-of-Sight Forward Heavy (LOS-FH), which is a new US missile system.

The competition began July 1 and the second unit began Aug. 1. The Army is in the process of selecting the candidate that best meets requirements for the missile system. The company will start a live firing demonstration before entering the second phase of the project, which will be acquisition and tracking.

The competition is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 15 with the Army making its decision in November.

Approximately 65 Martin Marietta employees are in the area with 40 in the office in Carrizozo and the remainder at the Oscuro Range.

Garman answered questions about the project and said each competitor had a foreign partner. Martin Marietta's partner is a Canadian company. He also said the Martin Marietta project is the only one designed and developed in the United States.

The Martin Marietta entry has both ground-to-air and ground-to-ground capabilities, but the Army wants only the ground-to-air missile system, he noted. This will be the largest single contract the Army has ever let.

In other business, Scott Shafer reported that donations are being accepted for the Christmas decorations that will be placed on streets in Carrizozo. The new decorations are to be delivered Oct. 10. New fixtures, along with decorations bought last year, will be installed on poles with street lights on the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

Shafer also reported that the new tie-down area at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport will be resurfaced by McCarthy Construction as soon as it stops raining. Shafer said it was the only one of the four improvement projects at the airport that has been a problem that needed to be remedied.

Other guests at the meeting were Martin Marietta employees Jennifer Chenault and Sandra Hooten, the new minister of the Trinity United Methodist Church Brian Peterson and Glen Ellison.

Longer days face Corona students

Students in the Corona District will face a longer school day when school starts Tuesday, Supt. Lucille King said at last week's regular board meeting.

The 8:20 a.m. to 3:07 p.m. day is necessary in order to comply with recent education reforms which require six instructional hours per school day. The new schedule will include seven periods, enabling students to take remedial and extra classes. Teachers will be required to stay 30 minutes after classes, or until approximately 3:35 p.m.

As for curriculum, King hopes to offer computer literacy, word processing and other electives utilizing current staff. She questioned whether or not Spanish is a required course, and after referring back to minutes of a previous board meeting, members agreed that in Corona, Spanish is not a required subject.

Corona Mayor Ernest Lueras questioned the board on its decision to eliminate volleyball from the curriculum. He expressed concern that its deletion from Corona sports would have a negative impact on the community. "A gentleman who

Three injured in one-car mishap

Melissa Greer, 17, salutatorian of the 1987 Carrizozo graduating class, remains in critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell following a single car accident south of Carrizozo on Sunday.

"She is doing better," her father said Wednesday afternoon. He said she had received facial, hip and back injuries in the accident. Her brother Keith, 15, a freshman at Carrizozo High School, received head injuries and was released from the hospital Tuesday.

Tommy Blaney, 18, driver of the car, also received facial, ankle and back injuries and remains in critical condition in St. Mary's Hospital.

The accident occurred two miles south of Carrizozo on Highway 54 at mile marker 121 and bridge #5406. The car crossed over the southbound lane, made contact with the concrete bridge rail and impacted into an embankment on the north side of the ravine.

A witness to the accident was traveling south and stopped to check on the occupants of the car before summoning help. Blaney had been ejected from the car and was thrown into the ravine.

The rear half of the car was suspended out over the ravine and had to be stabilized by a wrecker before the other two injured could be removed. Two ambulances were used to transport them to the Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso.

Melissa was transported to Roswell after arrival in Ruidoso and Blaney was taken to Roswell the next day.

Bill Greer, Melissa's father, said, "I want to thank the EMT team, the wrecker crew and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department for their work." The EMTs (Emergency Medical Technicians) on scene at the accident were Rosemary Zink, Mike LaFayette, Mario Ortiz, Trudy Torrison, John Torrison and Mike Gaines.

Bicentennial celebration planned for Carrizozo

"Stand Up for Carrizozo" will be the type of affair Glen Ellison is formulating for the community-wide celebration of the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution and the 75th anniversary of New Mexico statehood.

Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill asked Ellison to head the local event to be held Sept. 19 when Carrizozo will be among New Mexico communities to participate in the statewide celebration.

The day will start with an old homes tour of the world that William C. McDonald knew. McDonald was from the Carrizozo area and was the first elected governor of the State of New Mexico. His former home will be one of the homes included in this tour.

There will be a luncheon at the Carrizozo Country Club at noon complete with history presentations, a keynote speaker and music. A parade will be held at 2 p.m. with an old car section coordinated by Carrizozo Town Trustee Albert Baca and a Carrizozo Cavalry section coordinated by David Vega. The parade will also feature motorcycles, bicycles and other entries.

"If we can do it up big this one time," Ellison said, "Then each year we can have a parade for some special occasion." He is also planning a potluck barbecue to be held in Spencer Park following the parade.

There will be a fee for the tour and the luncheon with the money to be used to help pay the cost of the barbecue. Town Trustee Patsy Sanchez and Lucy Rickman at United New Mexico Bank are in charge of the finance committee and will be accepting donations and ideas to raise funds to help pay for the celebration.

An Old Homes booklet is being prepared that will include pictures of old homes in the area with a brief history of the homes. Funding for the booklet will come from the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee.

Ellison asked that anyone having ideas to add to the celebration to please contact him, any of the Carrizozo Town Council members or Mayor Hemphill.

Carrizozo street paving bid goes to Clovis firm

The Town of Carrizozo awarded the bid for paving of streets to E. Barnett and Sons Inc. of Clovis, subject to approval by the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration in Santa Fe.

The bid in the amount of $478,554 includes base bid plus additive alternative D, (42 inch by 29 inch GMP Arch in place, which is a culvert across E Avenue and 14th.)

Award of the bid was made during the Aug. 11 meeting of the Carrizozo Board of Trustees. Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill had hand-carried the papers to Santa Fe in an effort to speed up the start of the paving project. Tentative approval was received from the DFA for the construction phase of the project.

Funds for phase I of the project will be $231,000 from the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and $25,000 from the town infrastructure tax. Funds for phase II will be $250,000 from the State of New Mexico and $58,000 from the state highway department.

A letter received by the town from the state highway department stated that the project of paving three miles of dirt streets in Carrizozo must be completed this year to avoid the loss of any funds.

Hubert Quintana of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District (SENMEDD), administrators for the paving project, presented bills in the amount of $13,146 for 70 percent of the design phase and 33 percent of the survey work. The work was completed by Pajo Technic Services, engineers for both phases of the project. Quintana received the necessary signatures to request a draw to pay the bills.

He also said he would order four signs to be placed in the town that will give information about the funds used for the project. Separate signs must be put up for each phase of the project.

Quintana will be in Carrizozo one day each week during the construction phase to do required work.

In other business, trustees adopted ordinance #135 amending certain sections of the uniform traffic ordinance concerning the third offense in DUI or drug related offenses and raising the mandatory correction fee for these offenses from $5 to $10. The Uniform Traffic Ordinance is a state law that must be amended by the town.

Ordinance #136 was adopted establishing a mandatory corrections fee of $10 upon conviction of violating any municipal ordinance. This ordinance puts a $10 assessment on all violations of municipal ordinances with the money to be used for jail improvements or care of prisoners. The fee had been $5.

Glen Ellison spoke to trustees about plans for the "We the People" celebration to observe the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution and the 75th anniversary of New Mexico statehood.

He asked for help from each of the trustees for the affair that is scheduled for Sept. 19.

Ellison also invited everyone to attend the ice cream and cake event in Spider Park on Aug. 18 at 7 p.m. when Congressman Joe Skeen will be present.

Trustees agreed to hire Gilbert Archuleta as police officer during the time Chief of Police C.A. Morales is on vacation. This will be until Sept. 7.

Quintana reported that an airport manager's meeting would be held in Roswell on Sept. 15 with representatives from Continental, Royal West and Mesa Airlines to be present. The airlines are interested in figures that will be presented with a proposal to begin a new service area. The service area would be Roswell, Phoenix, Hobbs, Clovis, Dallas, Carlsbad, and Alamogordo.

"Of the top four airports in New Mexico," Quintana told the council, "Three of them are in our district." These are Roswell, Carlsbad and Hobbs.

"It looks promising," he added, when speaking of the proposed service area. A shuttle flight from Carrizozo to Alamogordo to coincide with the jet flight in Alamogordo is also a possibility.

Hemphill reported that the french drain had been installed at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport and that McCarty Construction will resurface the tie-down area with a sand seal to be followed by a fog seal at a later date.

The municipal league conference will be held in Farmington on Sept. 23-24. Hemphill encouraged trustees to attend.

An executive session was held for pending litigation and personnel. No action was taken after the 24 minute closed session.

A musical review

'The Sound of Music' captivates Carrizozo

"The Sound of Music," a three-hour production of the Alamogordo Music Theater was presented in Carrizozo on Aug. 9 under auspices of the Carrizozo Woman's Club.

All money received from ticket sales is used to help pay costs of royalty fees and expenses of renting a truck to bring the scenery, costumes and necessary equipment to Carrizozo.

Shown in two acts and 20 scenes, the musical story of the Von Trapp family that has captured the hearts of two generations continued to cast its spell on everyone seeing the show. Several people were heard humming or singing some of the songs after the show ended.

Millie Ruth Payne was featured as Maria, a postulant at Nonberg Abbey. Payne has been featured in many AMT productions, most recently starring as "Annie Get Your Gun."

Captain Georg Von Trapp was portrayed by Dan Campbell in his first stage performance. His daughter Stephanie played the part of Louisa, one of Von Trapp's seven children.

Martha Jullan directed the musical and also had a brief part as one of the four contestants at the end of the festival who bows repeatedly, giving the Von Trapp family more time to make their escape from the Gestapo.

Set in 1938, the story's main theme is of Maria's inability to adapt to life in an abbey, mainly because of her singing constantly, and her consequent duties as a governess of the seven motherless Von Trapp children where she falls in love with their father.

The underlying theme of the German takeover of Austria, and the end of a way of life as Austrians had known it, was depicted with excellent acting complete with German accents of the Gestapo.

Presented through special arrangement with the Rodgers & Hammerstein Theater Library in New York, the stage version differed from the movie version with the addition of a few songs unfamiliar to the moviegoer.

The Baroness, who planned to marry Von Trapp and combine their two fortunes, and Max Detweiler, a friend of Von Trapp, provided the comedy relief and each had singing parts.

A total of 43 youngsters sang and read for the parts of the seven children which made it difficult for the board of directors to make their selections. Auditions began in June with rehearsals through July, leading up to an exciting and enjoyable program.

Accompanied by a 15-piece orchestra directed by Steve Sanders, the 35 actors, directors and crews brought to Carrizozo a performance that received a standing ovation at the conclusion.

Cliff Hall, president of the AMT board of directors, reminded everyone that "The Sound of Music" would be presented again Aug. 14-15 and 21-22 at the Rohovec Fine Arts Center in Alamogordo. Performances are at 8 p.m.

SPELLING WOES

Parents appreciate the efforts of Noah Webster when their children tackle homework.

"Don't be lazy. Look it up in the dictionary," I tell my kids when they want me to help them spell words.

Webster (1758-1843), an American educator and journalist, won fame for compiling Webster's Dictionary in 1828. Webster wanted to set up an American standard of good usage to compare with the British standard set by Johnson and Walker. He had received encouragement from Benjamin Franklin, James Madison and other American leaders. In 1828, he published a dictionary containing 70,000 entries.

Webster graduated from Yale College. He then studied law and was admitted to the bar in Hartford. But Webster practiced law for only a short time. It was while teaching school at Goshen, NY in the 1780s that he compiled an elementary spelling book.

He became an active member of the Federalist Party, and wrote many political pamphlets. In 1787, he became the editor of two Federalist newspapers. After 1803, he devoted most of his time to dictionary work. Live and learn.

MORE SPELLING WOES

At a church meeting everyone was asked to write down their denomination.

One man wrote Baptist.

"I thought you were a Presbyterian," said one.

"I am, but I didn't know how to spell Presbyterian."

"Well, why didn't you just write a 'P'?"

"I thought about it, but I

The Carrizozo Grizzly Athletic Booster Club will raffle two cases of beer as their first moneymaking event this year. Donations for raffle tickets are $1 each or 6 for $5 and are available from Booster Club members. The drawing for the raffle will be held Sept. 4.

During an organizational meeting of the club on Aug. 6, plans were made to conduct a carwash on Sept. 12 and to have a booth at the Carrizozo celebration of the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution on Sept. 19.

Other moneymaking projects through the year will be a gas raffle, wood raffle, two bake sales per month, cowpaty poker, setting up concessions at junior high games, sale of Booster Club items, Christmas bazaar and bake sale and a hamburger fry.

More money will be needed by the club this year because the club buys meals for Grizzly members when they are on out-of-town trips for sports events.

Membership dues of $20 for families, $30 for businesses, $5 for senior citizens (age 55 and older) and $10 for individuals may be paid to club treasurer Lucy Rickman at United New Mexico or to club secretary Ann Collins. Donations will also be accepted.

WRITE EVEN GOODER

Writer's Digest (August '87) included an item by Frank L. Visco, "Twelve Ways to Write Even Gooder":

1. Speaking of homonyms, avoid non sequiturs.

2. A polysyllabic vocabulary is unnecessary.

3. Don't verb nouns.

4. You can't be too ambiguous.

5. Beware of typographical errors.

6. Don't use non-existent words, irregardless.

7. Emulate common parlance.

Eight: BE CONSISTENT!

9. But without sentence fragments.

10. . . . don't change sources in midstream-of-consciousness . . .

11. Statistics are 100% useless.

12. There are exceptions to every rule, except this one.

13. Don't overdeliver. Learn and live.

GOOD OLD DAYS

"Things are not the same. Everything is farther away now than it used to be. It is twice as far to the corner and they've added a hill I notice, I've given up running for the bus -- it seems faster than it used to be."

The preceding is part of an item that appeared in an Assembly of God bulletin. This is how it starts:

"I am an elderly person and live alone, but I don't get lonely because I have some friends who keep me company."

"I wake up with Charley Horse, eat meals with Will Power, spend my days with Arthur Itis, and go to bed with Ben Gay."

"It seems too that they are making stairs steeper than in the old days. And have you noticed the smaller print they use in the newspapers now? There is no sense in asking anyone to read aloud -- everyone speaks in low voices I can hardly hear them."

Even people are changing. They are so much younger than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people of my own age are so much older than I am.

I ran into an old classmate the other day and she had aged so much she didn't even recognize me. I got to thinking about the poor thing while I was combing my hair and in doing I glanced at my reflection and can you believe it . . . ? They don't even make mirrors like they used to!"

I am impressed with the way society has improved the morale of criminals, raised their self-esteem, eased the pain of public scorn and made society and its institutions guardians of their sacred psyches. Criminals, in the liberal imbecilic view, are only as bad as we picture them. Criminals, they believe, can become nice folks if only we won't call them criminals or clutter their escutcheons with unsavory charges. As part of this process of criminal rehabilitation we have developed sophisticated charges to replace traditional ones. For example, out of deference to the rapist we avoid the word "rape." By calling it "sexual penetration" the guilty party looks better and it improves his chances of avoiding the full brunt of the law in court. Naturally, a jury doesn't regard "sexual penetration" with the same horror as it does "rape." Consequently, the penalty for "sexual penetration" will be less severe than for the nasty charge of "rape." After all, aren't the nicest folks around, including members of this jury, guilty of "sexual penetration" on a regular basis, especially if members of the jury are married men with children?

This person steals a car. He is not charged with car theft any more. He is charged with "borrowing a car without permission." A court looks sternly upon car theft, but who would use the heavy hand of the law on a person merely found guilty of borrowing a car without permission?

A guy who jams a pistol in another's ribs and robs him is likely to be charged, not with armed robbery, but with "unlawful use of a firearm." The latter allegation cleans up the criminal's act because while everybody knows armed robbery is a serious offense not everybody understands the gravity of "unlawful use of a firearm." "Unlawful use" could mean shooting ducks out of season, or doing so without a valid permit. In this perspective, what's the big deal?

Junkies, hopheads and drunks receive benign treatment in the public eye and on the witness stand because it is socially (if not legally) offensive to call them such names. They are now "drug abusers." After all, shouldn't drugs be abused? So they appear in a more sympathetic light in the eyes of a jury, a judge and society.

The man who beats up on his wife is not charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm these days. He may, however, be cited for "spousal abuse" or "domestic disturbance." For assault, one could get five years; but what jury or judge is going to send a man to jail for five years over a "domestic disturbance"?

Following police investigative reports I run across references to one accused of an unlawful act as a "perpetrator." That's a nice way to avoid calling one a "suspect." "Suspect" is tainted because it implies guilt. But perpetrator? The average man never heard of a perpetrator. A dictionary definition of the word is someone who gets something accomplished. The housewife who prepares breakfast for her family is a perpetrator, and those who partake of her accomplishment could legally stand trial for "conspiring with a perpetrator." Here again, the suspected criminal is presented in a cleaner light because few people understand the meaning of the word "perpetrator," and aren't likely to send a person to jail for being something they can't define, or know the meaning of.

Not long ago a Carrizozo man went into a restaurant, put a pistol to the head of his wife and threatened to blow her brains out. He wasn't even arrested. He wasn't given a sanity test because, as so many citizens pointed out, "everybody knows the old man is crazy." So, if somebody is crazy, all is forgiven. Sooner or later, chances are, the fellow will pull the trigger and be arrested for "unlawful use of a firearm" and perhaps shipped off to a "facility."

What we once called prisons are now "facilities." "Prisoner" is an equally abrasive term in our misty-eyed society. So shall we refer to those sent to "facilities" as "facilitators," instead of prisoners? Isn't that sweet.

Not long ago sodomy was a heinous crime. So our social engineers changed its classification to "gay" to improve sodomists' image and allow them to be elected to congress so they can legislate themselves special honors and privileges not readily enjoyed by heterosexuals. Our society believes that if we sanction, even glorify the sodomist lifestyle they will, out of gratitude, stop giving us AIDS. But if sodomists were in jail instead of in congress they would be isolated and thus incapable of spreading AIDS outside their confines. The bad news is that the public would be deprived of a chance to display compassion for the criminal and disdain for his victims.

Democrats in congress, in hot pursuit of voters among the saintly sodomists, are proposing that the elderly be forced to pay for treatment of AIDS victims. Under the proposed Catastrophic Health Bill making its way through congress, the prescription drug AZT, used to treat AIDS patients, would be covered by Medicare. This means that senior citizens, through their Medicare payments, will be taxed to pay for AZT medicine, the cost of which runs from $10,000 to $12,000 per year per patient.

We're not talking about state bread here. The Centers for Disease Control reports more than 35,000 AIDS cases. The US Public Health Service predicts the number will rise to 350,000 within four years. Dr. William Chace of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, recently told congress that 12,000 AIDS patients in 1986 cost this country $5 billion and that by 1990 there will be 250,000 AIDS cases. If his prediction is correct, the annual cost will be $2.5 billion—and a good portion of that will come from the pockets of the elderly through Medicare payments. This is what Democrat-controlled congress has to offer to the elderly in the homosexual community who are the innocents of AIDS.

NAACP's selective affirmative action for pro basketball

WASHINGTON — Even as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was holding its National Convention in New York, the Associated Press reported the following:

"The National Basketball Association and the NAACP have announced a joint agreement aimed at increasing minority off-the-court employment in the League. NAACP Executive Director Benjamin Hooks is hoping similar agreements will follow with baseball and football. While 75 percent of all NBA players are black, NBA Commissioner David Stern said only 30 percent of office positions are occupied by blacks.

"Also from the NBA, the New York Knicks named a new general manager. It's Al Bianchi, who was an assistant coach with Phoenix from 1976 until last month. New York has been trying to fill that vacancy for 79 days. Bianchi said the club expects to name a head coach within two weeks." (It did so, naming Al Pflino, head coach at Providence University before the two weeks were up. Pflino had turned down the job when it was first offered.)

A look at local history

Coe Ranch, settled in 1864 still beautiful, productive

By CHRIS HARKEY

For those who might not have read the excellent book by Wilbur Coe, published in 1968, "Ranch on the Ruidoso," which was an interesting history of this area in Lincoln County, this small article was published in the Carrizozo Outlook on Feb. 16, 1912.

This ranch, first settled in 1864, is situated about 12 miles below Ruidoso, just off highway 70, and 10 miles from Fort Stanton.

Not every person realizes the beauty of the mountains and plains that will be opened up to the world by the transcontinental auto route and mail service from Roswell to Tularosa, across the White Mountains, which will bring El Paso and Roswell eight hours closer together.

There are many vistas of surpassing beauty, and spots of considerable historic interest, such as, for example, the Coe ranch, on the Ruidosa, sixty miles due west of Roswell.

Editor's note) "Bianchi" — that doesn't look like a black name (any more than does "Pflino") — but you never can tell.

Maybe the knicks have thought very seriously about the relatively few Italian-American basketball players in the NBA and have tried to compensate for this by hiring a competent Italian-American general manager (and head coach, too!)

When I first glanced over the AP dispatch, I rejoiced that the NAACP was concerned about minority employment in the NBA. For the NBA is totally devoid of any minorities such as Japanese-American, or Chinese-American, or American Indian, basketball players.

And I thought to myself: "At long last! The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is a supporter of people of all colors — not just blacks.

"Hallelujah!" But alas! On my re-reading of the AP dispatch, I noted that very important qualifier "off-the-court."

In other words, the NAACP is not at all concerned that blacks, who represent 13 percent of the US population have 75 percent of the very high paying jobs as pro basketball players. It's A-OK with Mr. Hooks and the NAACP that such a hugely disproportionate percentage of the hugely-paid pro basketball players are black — to the total exclusion of three other minorities.

What the NAACP is interested in changing is the fact that 70 percent of the NBA's off-the-court jobs are held by non-blacks.

If the NBA capitulates to this selective racial quota proposal, every White, Hispanic, Oriental-American and American Indian ought to give serious consideration to boycotting all future games of what would then be the patently black racist NBA.

Meantime, we wonder, if the government has pushed so hard for affirmative action/goals and timetables/and actual racial quotas in medical and law schools, why there is no such push for on-court affirmative action in the NBA.

Is winning in basketball more important than in medicine and in the law?

The general orchard has increased to 2,080 trees, and is one of the crack producers along the Noisy Water, last year turning off 6,000 boxes of extra selects, including a heavy per centage of the White Winter Pearmain, which were grown on this ranch the first in New Mexico.

The elevation of five thousand feet and the general conditions seems to be the very best for the production of this most splendid of eating apples, and the fame of the Coe Pearmain has spread all over the southwest.

The general crops have not been neglected on this historic ranch, the original home of the apples in Eastern New Mexico, and there are fields of alfalfa, grain and the general farm crops that thrive splendidly on the rich soil, as the water for irrigation is abundant.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

'A day of reckoning'

EDITOR—How different things could have been if the media had intestinal fortitude. In all forms of publications (with few exceptions) there has been a total blackout for a half-century regarding the forces dedicated to the total destruction of this nation's freedom. The great qualities possessed by our Founding Fathers in forging the unique Constitution and Bill of Rights, are sadly lacking in today's leaders—most of whom are more concerned with being popular than right.

How true is that "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Freedom." Too many Americans have taken their God-given freedom for granted, with little or no concern for posterity. If you ask the average American today, where do you get your rights? Most will say from the government. They do not know that under the Constitution their rights come from God. The government is there to protect those rights.

There will be a day of reckoning for those who have squandered their birthright by bartering the "Heritage of Freedom" due future generations. William Penn, founder of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so truly said, "Those men who are NOT governed by God will be ruled by tyrants."

Very few Americans are aware that there are some in this country intent on destroying the Constitution and Bill of Rights. They want to change our system of government to a parliamentary system. Under a system, such as this, Congress would serve four years, the Senate eight. The president could appoint as many senators and congressmen as needed for control by the party in power. A congressman would not be able to vote his convictions. He would have to vote the party line. And of course, your rights under the 2nd Amendment would be gone, your right to "Keep and Bear Arms." This is the main reason why some are so anxious to have a Constitutional Convention. They know it cannot be limited to one item such as balancing the federal budget.

SANTA FE—The public employee retirement fund is in a heap of trouble.

The problem is that no one is watching the store. It appears that everyone on the board of the fund and every organization lobbying that board is interested only in further improving the benefits for present and future retirees. For a fund to be and remain actuarially sound it is necessary for a majority of the board to have as its primary goal the assurance that there will always be money available to pay benefits.

It would seem logical that present retirees should be the best watchdogs to constantly insist that the fiscal soundness of the fund be the criterion against which all benefit increases be measured. At one point I suggested that more retirees be given automatic seats on the board.

Then I received from a former state employee a campaign brochure describing all the wonderful benefit increases a candidate by the name of Larry Ward would support if he were to be elected to represent retirees on the Public Employees Retirement Association Board. Nowhere in the brochure did he mention any interest in insuring the benefits retirees are currently receiving would be permanently protected.

What is the problem with these people? Are they figuring that if the well runs dry, state government will find a way to bail them out? I hate to tell you that they may have figured out the system perfectly!

Recently, the legislature has seemed overly enthusiastic about giving state employees everything they want and more. In the recent past, state employees resoundingly turned down a proposal to increase retirement benefits by 25 percent. It was to be funded by a 5.1 percent increase in retirement contributions. In a fit of paternalism, the 1987 legislature decided to give it to them anyway and foot half the bill themselves.

If it has not been possible in the past for an employee or group of employees to convince the retirement board to advocate a benefit increase, it has always been possible to find an obliging legislator to carry the ball for them.

The legislature could do state employees a favor by asking a few questions, especially about those proposals which attempt an end run around the retirement board. Studies by actuaries showing the cost of benefit increases are expensive, they take many weeks to prepare and they require use of actual figures on PERA members and retirees. Any proposal brought directly to the legislature by a state employee or employee organization must be carefully scrutinized to assure legislators that the new goody is not really a time bomb.

The PERA board members should be at the legislature actively fighting any attempts to increase benefits which have not been considered by the retirement board or which have been considered and rejected.

The board's director Leonard Valdes should constantly be reminding all concerned that fiscal soundness must always be everyone's top priority. Valdes appears only to be looking at the short run himself. He obviously knows the long-term catastrophe which can result from playing short-term Santa Claus but seems to be content playing the good-guy role and basking in a lot of thankyou's from state employees and retirees.

Fort Stanton soldiers explore a 'wonderful cave'

By CHRIS HARVEY

Early explorers of the Fort Stanton Cave found that "the Kid" had been there first.

E.S. Green, with three other soldiers from Fort Stanton, explored the cavern which is located about two-and-a-half miles down the Rio Bonito, northeast of the fort.

This article relating their exploits was first written for the editor of the Kansas Enterprise on March 24, 1891, then later re-printed by the Lincoln County Leader, White Oaks, NM on April 25, 1891.

Mr. Editor—Thinking that some of your readers would be interested in a description of the wonderful cave which exists 2 1/2 miles from here I will endeavor to describe it, in my feeble way, through the columns of the ENTERPRISE.

The entrance is on a side hill and resembles a large well, about 50 feet in diameter, and is about 50 feet deep. It appears to have been caused by the falling in of the top of one of the large chambers.

On the 21st inst. two companions and the writer entered, this well and began to search for the entrance to the main cave. We soon found a hole about 6 feet in diameter which we followed about half a mile when we came to the end.

Greatly disappointed we returned to the entrance and instituted another search for the main cave. On the west side of the well the entire earth was undermined for several yards and we were compelled to climb over great piles of rocks, descending one of which my friend Mr. Smith fell and injured his knee so that he was unable to accompany us that day in exploring the cave.

My other companion (Mr. Raguey a French, African explorer who assisted in exploring caves in Africa) and myself soon found an opening in the rock just large enough to admit the body of a man. This my companion entered as we had been informed that we must crawl in places, and I followed.

We shoved our lanterns ahead of us and used the toes of our right feet to navigate. Long experience in the business enabled my companion to crawl with the speed and ease of a serpent. After we had gone about 500 yards in this manner we came to a large chamber which we followed to the end where we found another hole so small, that Mr. Raguey was compelled to remove some loose rocks with his hatchet before we could crawl through.

A few feet ahead we entered a larger chamber than the first, but found no outlet, and so were compelled to return. As the dust of ages lay trackless upon the floors of these chambers we claim the honor of being their first human visitors.

This ended our explorations for that day, but the 22nd we returned re-entranced but two companions Mr. DuChemin, also of the Band, and Mr. Brown, of B. Company, who acted as guide, having been in the main cave before.

Following our path of the day before as far as the main entrance our guide conducted us over a great pile of rocks to the right of former exploits, were half concealed by the rocks was a small entrance which compelled us to stoop very low to enter, but which soon became so high that we could but dimly see the roof by the light of our lanterns.

After we had journeyed about 2 miles underground, we came to a rotten canoe, said to have been placed there by Billy the Kid, as his hiding place was known to have been somewhere in the part of Lincoln Co. The sides of the boat have been partly cut away by other explorers, as trophies.

We followed suit, each member of the party securing a small piece and one of the party securing the ring and bolt from the gunwale.

Here our guide told us that he was compelled to stop on his last trip owing to "the muchness of the water which did there abound." The water however had disappeared leaving the ground quite muddy. Walking on the slippery clay was anything but pleasant still we kept on until one o'clock when we stopped to take dinner. From this on the cave began growing smaller so that we were soon compelled to get down on our hands and knees, and crawl through the mud.

About a quarter of a mile of this kind of business with only now and then a place high enough to stand up and rest our backs, brought us to the end. Here we found the names of some ladies cut in this wall. Who will now deny that ladies possess courage? As we have about 5 miles to travel before we reach daylight no time can be lost, accordingly we leave our names in the wall and return to a point about 1 1/2 miles from the entrance where our guide takes us to a branch, or rather the main cave. Here we were again compelled to crawl, but soon a beautiful sight spread out before gaze.

The cave, though low, at this point is about 30 feet high. On the top are hundreds of stalactites and on the bottom are some very curiously shaped stalagmites, while on either side are beds of crystal needles resembling a lawn of transparent grass of a uniform shape—like that of horseshoe nail. The heads stand in the clay about half an inch while the points stick up about 3 inches and in places they are so thick that a person could not touch the earth with his forefinger between them.

There is another variety of a reddish color and semi-transparent. These are not so numerous, but some are over a foot tall. They are all so symmetrically formed that they appear to have been manufactured by man and stuck up in the ground by him to keep trespassers away. Woe be unto the person or persons who should so far forget themselves as to lay down on one of those sparkling lawns to rest.

While three of us were resting DuChemin and Raguey went on some distance, when they returned reporting a little distance ahead the top of the cave was as high as the one we had just left. This cave has been explored 18 miles by civil engineer without the end being discovered.

My three companions of the Band and myself are engaged at present in making all that is known of this cave, and when this is accomplished we will arm ourselves with provisions for 10 days and attempt new discoveries in that direction.

Capitan News

By Margaret Rench

What a lovely week of moisture which netted 2.8 inches of good rains. Days hot but the atmosphere is so cool and pleasant now. This makes us all come to life. It's great.

The Pageant at Lincoln held from Friday through Sunday afternoon attracted huge crowds. Everyone did enjoy themselves.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 2,357 registered visitors Aug. 2-9. E.C. Stover, who was born and raised in Hondo, was a visitor there Aug. 4. He was accompanied by his wife "Peaches" Campbell who was raised in Tularosa, and her sister Zella of Scottsdale, AZ. Mr. Stover mentioned quite a few people he knew here. He said Louise Ferguson taught school at Hondo when he was growing up. They now reside in Tularosa.

At the Smokey Bear Museum you will find for sale the following collectors items: diamond jubilee-statehood 1912-1987. There has been only a limited number of these license plates manufactured. If you are interested, check there.

Joan Leslie was honored with a bridal shower Aug. 4 at the Curtis Payne home in Capitan. The hostesses were Beverly Payne, Evelyn Leslie, Melissa Leslie and Karen Payton.

The Junior Riding Club Rodeo was cancelled last Sunday as the arena was too wet due to these rains. If weather permits, they will hold the rodeo Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 15-16.

Tawyna Reynolds, who accompanied her mother Kay Reynolds to the International Cinderella Pageant in Miami, FL in which she participated, returned Sunday, Aug. 9. There were 87 little ones in her age group. She had a great time and enjoyed it all.

Arnold and Margaret Massey, relatives of Cathleen Massey, visited the Smokey Bear Museum last week. Their home is in Clovis, NM.

Happy birthday to Glynne Story whose day is Aug. 12. May you have many more. That will be his 21st birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conley enjoyed as guests his brother and wife and his sister and her husband of Kentucky last weekend. They arrived in El Paso Thursday and enjoyed it here in their home in Capitan.

Tinnie and Pee Wee Coons held a yard sale last Monday.

Delana Smith went to Albuquerque where she visited relatives, then to Rincon to spend a week with her grandmother.

Helen Quinones and her daughters have moved to Las Cruces to make their home.

We were saddened by the death of Maurilda Perry of Lincoln after a long illness. Funeral services were held in the Tinnie Baptist Church and burial in the Lincoln Cemetery Monday. She was an excellent commercial teacher in our schools until her retirement. When students entered her class they knew they had to work and they really did receive knowledge. She was raised in Lincoln. Attended and graduated from Capitan High School in the 1930s. A very lovely lady who loved flowers. We loved her always.

We often wonder what happens to boys and girls who grew up in Lincoln County and graduated from Capitan High. Well, here's an item about one who just attended the school reunion. After graduation R. L. Hagee joined the Navy. After retirement he moved to Anderson MO where he raises Arabian horses. One of his horses recently won the Horseback Endurance Ride at War Eagle Mill, AK. He covered the 30-mile course in 2 hours and 37 minutes.

Unlike other such events, veterinarians were on hand to check the horses for breathing count, heart beat and body temperature, and any physical defects.

CALIFORNIANS AT CAPITAN REUNION

Ted and Peggy Gameroz of San Pedro, CA attended the 44th high school reunion at Capitan recently.

They are guests of Al and Fern Zamora, and have been enjoying meeting old friends in Carrizozo, Capitan and Lincoln.

Bomber group to meet in Washington

The annual reunion of the 456th Bomb Group Association will be held in Washington, DC at the Twin Bridges Marriott, Sept. 9-12. Former members of the 456th Bomb Group Association are invited to attend.

Established in 1976, the group conducts annual reunions throughout the United States and publishes a newspaper for its members. The association has located more than 750 members but would like to contact more for the reunion. In June 1984 the group went back to the old air base in Stornara, Italy.

Former members can get more information by contacting the secretary, James F. Watkins at 11415 Minor Drive, Kansas City, MO 64114 or Jim O'Brien, 3021 Espalosa NE, Albuquerque, NM 87110.

Water, floods, roads, waste concern Capitan's Council

By BART McDONOUGH

Appointments, animal control, waste disposal, streets, general business, and water related problems were topics taken under consideration Monday evening by the Capitan Village Council.

Trustees learned that final inspection on the new water well is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 18 at 11 a.m.

Mayor Benny Coker reappointed Trustee David Rouleau to the Capitan-Carrizozo Gas Board. The Municipal League will meet in Farmington Sept. 1-4 and village clerk Janet Keel will be the voting delegate from Capitan. Police Chief Randy Spears will also attend this conference.

Wayne Hobbs received the approval of the council to handle waste disposal for another year. Hobbs will have the village dump open every Saturday morning from 8 a.m. until noon. Capitan citizens may use the dump at this time free of charge by presenting a water bill receipt. The key may be picked up at the Smokey Bear Museum in the event the dump is not open.

Pappy Coons received a contract for one year to handle animal control. The animal control ordinance will be amended effective Aug. 1. Trustees agreed to look into the use of dumpsters.

N.C. Grantham appeared before the council and presented a cemetery report. The council approved the construction of an entrance way and the installation of an 8x12 storage building. Also approved was the signing of a contract with Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District.

The council discussed at length the flood situation on 4th Street created by heavy rain storms such as the one on Sunday. New culverts to help relieve the situation could cost the village more than $30,000. School Supt. Scott Childress, Architect Jim French, and Street Supt. Guy Henley contributed to the dialogue. The state highway department will be brought into the picture.

School bus routes received first priority when it comes to roads. Trustee Beavers feels that priorities should be stated so that citizens will know when their roads will be worked on. Trustee Renfro later stated that he felt flood relief should be attended to first.

Notes from the August Chamber of Commerce meeting: The Smokey Bear Stampede Parade cost the chamber $886. Plaques will be sent to both the Holloman AFB Honor Guard and Drill Team. Dorothy Smith is sending brochures to nearby communities and anyone requesting them. The chamber box number is 441, Capitan 88316.

Christmas decorations will be placed on 12 poles around the village, this Christmas season.

Betty Joiner appeared before the chamber representing the Capitan Junior Riding Club. The chamber will make a donation to help buy award belt buckles.

Property improvement recognition was given to Carol Reamy, Junior Guevara and Kenneth Whipple.

Hindis' Arabian horses pay off in competition

Arabian horse team owned by Hindi Ranch of Duran, NM have won a pair of Pony Express races in the recent past, including this month's trek from Capitan through mountainous terrain to White Oaks.

Jamil Hindi rode all four horses a total of 35 miles to win the event in approximately 2 hours and 5 minutes. He received $900 in cash, a pair of boots, and chaps for his effort. The Hindi team is the only team to compete in the race every year since 1969.

The same four horses had earlier been part of the five-horse team that won the Dulce Little Beaver Pony Express Race on July 17. That race began at the Otero Ranch south of Dulce and extended 68 miles before ending at Dulce. Jamil Hindi also completed that route in approximately 4½ hours to take first place. The win was the third in three consecutive years, which retired the travelling trophy to the Hindi Ranch. Two thousand dollars in cash, a belt buckle, and two jackets were first prizes at the Dulce race.

According to Brahim Hindi Jr, his grandfather Alex Hindi came from Lebanon in 1910 and settled in Duran, NM where he opened a general store with his brother William. Business flourished and he was able to buy land and start a ranching business. In 1950, two Arabian mares and a stallion were imported from Lebanon, and the breed became established on the Hindi Ranch. The herd presently numbers about 30, some blood lines of which can be traced back to the original three.

Arabian horses are famous for their endurance and can be used efficiently for ranch work. Animals are valued at around $5000, although some in the herd are worth as much as $25,000.

The ranches are now run by the five sons of Alex Hindi, and in addition to raising Arabian horses, they maintain sheep and cattle herds.

Corona Summer Festival makes for many winners

Thousands of people crowded Corona's main street Saturday for the annual Summer Festival.

Lincoln County 4-H members got things started early with an 8 a.m. horse show on Saturday. Denise Lightfoot took overall grand champion with her mare, Pretty, and grand champion gelding with Drifter. Reserve champion mare was Skip's Juliette, owned by Tracey Stone; reserve champion gelding was Romeo, owned by Kelly Witter. Summer Festival parade included the usual variety of animals, floats and vehicles, but new this year was the 1st place winning "Mud Slinger," and awesome entry modeled after the famous "Big Foot." It was built by Wes and Darren Weehunt of Tularosa. "FFA Wants Your Future," depicting careers in agriculture, took a 1st place as did the American Legion Auxiliary float showing patriotic women such as Betsy Ross, Florence Nightingale, armed service women and a VietNam era nurse.

Raffles and assorted contests were in abundance with a few lucky winners going home happy. Carolyn Wells of Claunch won $100 for holding the lucky ticket in the "cow drop" raffle sponsored by the senior class. Sandra Copeland's animal grazed one hour and 45 minutes on the Corona football field before determining a winner. Jerry Aaron took home a macrame wall hanging for his closest estimate of the junior class jar of marbles. There were 1187 in the jar, and he guessed 1250 for a difference of only 63.

Sissy Jones won the quilt raffled by the Senior Citizens, and Gerald Dean Jr. won a ceramic Christmas tree raffled by Corona cheerleaders. American Legion Auxiliary raffled three separate five-cords of wood, and the winners were Elvin Robinson of Corona; Betty Minton of Fort Sumner; and Manuel Benta of Mountainair. Linda Wetzel was the winner of the Extension Club "Treasure Chest" filled with handmade items.

All-around winners in the 4-H sponsored Play Day Saturday afternoon were Shawn Wilson, Captain; Crysti Yancey, Bloomfield; Cody Wilson, Captain; Stacy Erwin, Fort Stanton; Stoney Stoneman, Artesia; and Denise Lightfoot, Corona.

The festival concluded with a dance Saturday where winners of all kinds were announced and old friends were reacquainted.

How a living will affords protection

A living will is a statement of intent signed by an individual who wishes to ensure that he or she is not subjected to so-called heroic measures to prolong life in the presence of a terminal illness.

Over the past few years, 38 states and District of Columbia have passed some kind of living-will legislation, also known as right-to-die laws or natural-death acts. In most of these states, doctors are required to act on the wishes of the patient or transfer care to another physician. But even in states with no formal legislation, living wills have been upheld when legally challenged.

They are, nevertheless, open to interpretation, as to both the definition of "heroic" measures and the real intentions of the terminally ill patient (who is often unable to reaffirm his or her wishes at the time the decision must be made). While they are undoubtedly appropriate for those who have no family or personal physician with whom to discuss their wishes (e.g., people in nursing homes), individuals who do have family or friends may wish to go one step further and give someone durable power of attorney to act on their behalf.

Durable powers of attorney, available in all states, provide greater flexibility than living wills by allowing one individual to give another authority to make not only health-care but also financial and property decisions in the event of death or incapacity.

Anyone who is interested in having a Living Will drawn up or for more information, please contact Barbara Ward or Beulah Moore at the Zia Senior Citizen Center, 645-2121.

Lincoln Ramblings

by Rosalie Dunlap

The streets of Lincoln are peaceful and quiet this Monday morning. The clean-up crews were out early sprucing up streets and pageant grounds. The crowds have all gone home; vendors have gone home or to other shows, and the pageant cast has "retired" until next year.

This year's performance was dedicated to "Buckshot" Roberts, alias Dan Storm. Two other past pageant members Maurilda Perry and Buddy Morris, were remembered. Mrs. Bonnie Hillier, Alamogordo, a great-niece of Bob Olinger, was also recognized.

The Old Lincoln Days festivities were very successful — with only a few sprinkles of rain. The rain held off until Sunday night.

Various activities included spinning and weaving, blacksmithing, gold-panning, McSween dig, old-time photos, the Mountain Men and their muzzleloading and other pre-1850s activities; Civil War encampment, fiddlers contest, all styles of horsedrawn rides with the beautiful Belgian horses, the popular parade and Mexican music by Manuel Trujillo and Isidro Molina of Belen. All the museums were also open.

Pre-pageant performance activities included the Roswell Square Dancers; Minnie Wright's dance students, Roswell, (Hattie Phillips' great-granddaughter Kelly was a participant) and parade awards presentations.

The parade was very festive with the beautiful, 6-span Belgian horses, trolley with Belgian horses, slick and shiny mules; horses, wagons, surreys, stagecoach, antique fire truck, the pageant cast in costume, Mountain Men, Sheriff Poses, and many horses and riders; Colorbearers were Steve Hernandez and Katherine Sanchez. Judges were Cleis Jordan, owner of Old Patron Store; Adrian Martinez, assistant director of NMML, Roswell; and Joe Carithers, Park and Recreation of Odessa and former superintendent of Big Bend Park, TX.

Following the last performance, the cast, friends and family members enjoyed a barbecue in the Shrecengost orchard.

The next Lincoln County Historical Society is coming up Aug. 29. It will be held in Lincoln Park. Guest speaker will be Dave Kirkpatrick discussing the McSween Dig. All interested persons are welcome.

Lincoln County Fair is this coming week.

Lincoln lost another dear friend Friday morning, with the passing of Maurilda Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carithers of Odessa, TX have been visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Sanchez.

Rosa Moore and Cecelia Apodaca had their Indian fry bread at the Bonito Farms stand for several weeks.

Our sympathies to Mrs. Stephanie Aldaz. Her father died in Texas recently.

Fred Bradford visited his cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peg Pfingsten. He enjoyed the pageant while here.

Our sympathies go to the family of Bernice Smith of Torres Ranch. Smith was killed in a car accident near Capitan Saturday night.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF REAL PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT PROPERTY TAX

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of 7-38-67, NMSA 1978 the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department will offer for sale at public auction beginning on August 26, 1987, at 10:00 a.m. at the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, New Mexico, the following described real property, the sale to continue until all the described property has been offered for sale.

The terms of the sale are as follows:

1. A sale property made under the provisions of 7-38-67 constitutes full payment of all delinquent taxes, penalties and interest that are a lien against the property at the time of sale, and the sale extinguishes the lien. The property is sold subject to the lien for property taxes for the year of the sale, provided those taxes are not yet delinquent. The buyer at public auction, or his successor in interest, will be liable for those property taxes when they become due.

2. The description of the following real property is required by 7-38-67, to be sufficient to permit the identification and location of the real property by potential purchasers. The State of New Mexico warrants no title to properties purchased at public auction sale.

3. Section 7-38-74, NMSA 1978, prohibits officers or employees of the state or of any of its political subdivisions engaged in the administration of the property tax from directly or indirectly acquiring an interest in, buying or profiting from any property sold by the Property Tax Division for delinquent taxes, except that an officer or employee may purchase property sold for delinquent taxes if he is the owner of the property and was the owner of the property at the time the taxes became delinquent. Any officer or employee violating 7-38-74 is guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) or imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both, and he shall also be automatically removed from office or have his employment terminated upon conviction. A real property sale in violation of 7-38-74 is void.

4. Successful bidders are required to make payment in full of the amount bid before leaving the premises on the day of the sale. Payment is required to be by money order, certified check, cashier's check or personal check which is accompanied by bank letter of credit for the amount of or in excess of the amount of the personal check drawn to the order of the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department.

5. Upon receiving payment for the real property sold for delinquent taxes, the Property Tax Division shall execute and deliver a deed to the purchaser. The deed conveys all the former property owner's interest in the real property as of the date the state's lien for real property taxes arose in accordance with the property tax code, subject only to perfected interests in the real property existing before the date the property tax lien arose. The property tax lien against real property arises on January 1 of the tax year for which the taxes are imposed.

6. After two years from the date of sale, neither the former real property owner shown on the property tax schedule as the delinquent taxpayer nor anyone claiming through him may bring an action challenging the conveyance. Subject to the year time limitation stated above, in all controversies and suits involving title to real property held under a deed from the state issued under this section, any person claiming title adverse to that acquired by the deed from the state must prove, in order to defeat the title, that he or the person through whom he claimed title to the real property at the time of the sale, and that either: (1) the real property was not subject to taxation for the tax years for which the delinquent taxes for which it was sold were imposed; or (2) all taxes, penalties, interest and any cost due for the years involved were paid by him or the person through whom he claims title prior to the sale.

7. The sale price of real property at this public auction sale is not to be taken or considered as being the value of that property for property taxation purposes. All persons intending to bid upon property are required to register and obtain a bidder's number from the auctioneer and to provide the auctioneer with their full name and address. Deeds will be issued to registered names only. Conveyances to other parties will be the responsibility of the buyer at auction. Persons acting as "agents" for other persons will register accordingly and must provide documented proof as being a bona fide agent at time of payment for property purchased. Registration will close promptly at 10:00 a.m.

8. The auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw from sale any of the properties listed below to sell any of the properties listed below together; or to sell only a portion of any of the properties listed below. If any dispute arises between or among the bidders, the auctioneer's decision with respect to the dispute is final, and the auctioneer may auction the property again, in his discretion. The auctioneer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The real property listed below may not be sold for less than the listed minimum price.

Done at Santa Fe, New Mexico, this 6th day of July, 1987.

was thinking about taking a job (near Corona) called me and asked what the school had to offer, and . . . he has two daughters who would like to play volleyball."

Board President Pete Gnatkowski said a shortage of funds necessitated the drop, and he added, "It was my understanding there just wasn't much interest among the girls." Lueras felt there was interest based on his discussions with several students.

After discussing costs and problems with finding a staff member to coach and reinstating the sport before the '87 season, the board agreed to take the matter under advisement. "It certainly was not the board's intention to drop (volleyball) permanently," said Gnatkowski. "We need an idea of how many girls are interested."

In personnel matters, the board learned that two teachers previously hired declined to accept positions in Corona. King recommended that Sydney Lahti be hired to teach English with her salary to be determined later. Also recommended for employment was Devra Post for physical education and math. The board voted to hire both, then directed King to advertise for a fulltime special education aide after accepting the resignation of Karen Lightfoot.

In her superintendent's report, King advised the board that Marie Owen had requested to be replaced as school health aide and suggested that Crystal Lueras, already on the staff and a qualified medical trainee, take over those duties. The board agreed.

King explained a request for the board to write a letter of support of a proposed Boys Halfway House to be at the Lovelace Ranch south of Corona. The proposal calls for boys who have completed rehabilitation programs for treatment of alcohol and/or drug related problems to live at the ranch and learn how to re-enter and cope in a teenage environment, free of drugs and alcohol.

There would be 10 residents, from 11 years up to high school seniors, who would enter the student population in the fall of 1988 and would be allowed to participate in extra-curricular activities. Their stay at the Halfway House would be for one year. As the project grows, there could be as many as 30 boys who would attend school in Corona.

Gnatkowski indicated that the board is not yet ready to write a letter of support. "We need more time to think about it, and we need some input from the community," he said.

In other business, the board authorized a phone in the ag. building to be used for hookup with the Agri-Net computer service. The installation fee of $50 will be paid by a patron; $3.50 a month will be the cost to the school.

Bus contracts were approved for Dorothy Nell Lightfoot, Lee Sultemeier, Sandra Alford, Benolyn McKibben and Maxine Brown.

Student Council President Jason Gibbs explained an amended version of the Student Council Constitution which the board approved.

Plans by a community committee to purchase and install three fans in the recreation room and one in the kitchen were approved. Spokesman for the group was Elmo Tracey, who expressed the desire of several community members to make the room more comfortable, to the benefit of the school and community. Installation will be by a licensed electrician.

In her report, King informed the board that she had discovered school buses are covered under school insurance when used for school activities. She would apprise the bus drivers.

superintendent noted that one house needs new carpet and estimates for painting and new siding are needed.

The board agreed that current bids for repairing the gym roof are needed; it is leaking again and is damaging the new gym floor.

After registration on Aug. 3, projected enrollment stands at 101.
