

'We, the People . . .'

Carrizozo girds for Bicentennial event

By RUTH HAMMOND

To paraphrase the Preamble to the US Constitution in recognition of Carrizozo's Bicentennial celebration honoring Governor William C. McDonald, New Mexico's first elected governor, on Sept. 19:

"We the people of Carrizozo, in order to celebrate the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution and the Diamond Jubilee of New Mexico statehood; establish a park in Carrizozo to honor the first Governor of New Mexico; insure the enjoyment of all persons attending; provide for the people the information about Governor William C. McDonald's first years in this area; promote the general knowledge of McDonald's efforts to serve New Mexico; and secure for ourselves the patriotism necessary to fully appreciate our way of life in the United States, do ordain and establish Sept. 19 as the day to commemorate these important events in our lives." Glen Ellison, chairman of the Carrizozo celebration, finalized plans for the Sept. 19 event.

The day will begin at 9:30 a.m. when people planning to take the Old Homes Tour will gather at Johnson Stearns' office for a "get acquainted." Stearns will present a history of Carrizozo and each person attending will receive an Old Homes tour booklet.

The car caravan will leave Stearns' office at 10 a.m. and proceed to the former Pete Johnson home, now owned by Bill and Jody Serano. Johnson had been ranch boss for McDonald and moved to this area from Nogal to be closer to McDonald's headquarters.

The caravan will then continue to the Bar W Headquarters which is the home of Marion and Steven Spencer where Steven will present a history of William C. McDonald and a tour of the original homestead, some 100 yards away where the foundation still stands.

The Cedarvale Cemetery in White Oaks, where McDonald is buried, will be the final destination of the Old Homes Tour. Roy Harmon will present a program and tour of the cemetery.

"There will be a charge of $3 for the Old Homes Tour," Ellison said. "With the money being used to help defray the cost of the barbecue that will be held in McDonald Park after the parade." There will be no charge for the barbecue.

"People will be given directions to the other homes listed in the booklet in order for them to view the homes at their leisure," Ellison said.

"Persons not attending the tour and wanting a booklet may contact the Sands Motel, Crossroads Motel or the Four Winds Motel on Wednesday." He explained that 100 booklets would be available for the tour and an additional 400 booklets would be distributed to the motels early next week.

Assembly for the parade will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the junction of Highway 54 and Highway 380.

Led by the United States Air Force Color Guard and Drill Team from Holloman Air Force Base, the parade will begin at 2 p.m. and proceed through town past the courthouse. Parade entries will include the Carrizozo Mounted Cavalry, the Carrizozo Old Car Club and the Mounted Border Patrol unit. Ellison urged all school children to decorate their bicycles and ride in the parade.

The parade will continue on Central where it will turn left at Roy's Gift Gallery and proceed past the post office where it will disband in front of the old theater.

The program and barbecue in the Governor William C. McDonald Memorial Park, across from the post office, will begin immediately after the parade.

The program will include a call to order by master of ceremonies Glen Ellison, a welcome by Carrizozo Bob Hemphill, addresses by Johnson Stearns, attorney Richard Askew and municipal judge S.M. Ortiz, and a keynote address by Lt. Col. Kim Judd, US Army from Fort Bliss.

During the program members of the Sierra Blanca chapter of the DAR will release balloons. Also a tribute will be paid to Jackie and A.N. Spencer for their many contributions to Carrizozo.

Alfred and Virginia Silva will be in charge of the barbecue and will cook 200 pounds of brisket for the occasion. Ellison asked that local people bring salads, vegetables and desserts and "Let's make this truly a community potluck affair."

Any money left over from the barbecue will be used to erect a marker that will be put in place in the park to receive the plaque that will be a memorial marker for Governor William C. McDonald.

Donations to help with expenses of the barbecue and cost of the plaque may be made to Lucy Rickman at United New Mexico Bank, town trustee Patsy Sanchez, or to Ellison.

Former deputy gets Grievance committee hearing

Ronald W. Harrison, a former deputy with the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department requested a grievance hearing after his job termination on Aug. 19. The grievance hearing was held Sept. 10.

"I feel I was terminated unfairly," Harrison told the Lincoln County Personnel Board during the open grievance hearing. He asked to be re-instated and requested back pay from the time of termination on Aug. 19.

The letter of termination that Harrison received from Sheriff Don Damuels stated that termination of employment was based upon violation of certain sections of the Lincoln County Sheriff Office Manual of Policies and Procedures. Elizabeth Simpson of Albuquerque represented Harrison at the grievance hearing and Dan Bryant of Ruidoso represented Damuels.

County attorney Gary Mitchell established that it would be an open hearing and a formal hearing and at that time asked the sheriff to "go ahead."

"We didn't call for the hearing," Bryant responded. "Let Mr. Harrison start."

"We don't know what the charges are," Simpson answered, stating that Harrison's letter of termination listed alleged violations.

Neither party wanted to start the grievance hearing even after much discussion during which time Israel Miranda, a member of the personnel board, said, "Someone has to start."

Mitchell called for a brief recess for the personnel board to make a decision among themselves as to who would start. During the recess Bryant and Damuels reached an agreement that Bryant would have necessary information on Simpson's desk in five days. Simpson will have another five days in which to respond and the next five days will be spent trying to get the matter settled. If it is not settled, the matter will be brought before the personnel board again.

The personnel board was established in 1982 to allow county employees due process in grievances they might have against department heads and/or elected officials. The ordinance enacting the personnel board was approved in 1982 and took effect on Jan. 1, 1983 when the first board was appointed.

Personnel board members are one elected official (Marian Schlarb), one county employee (Earl Krieg), and one resident from each county commission district (Barbara Duff, Israel Miranda and Patsy Sanchez). Personnel board members are appointed by county commissioners. Mitchell and secretary Martha Guevara (to take official minutes of the hearing) also sat with the board.

County employees can request a grievance hearing if an internal matter has not been settled to their satisfaction after the matter has been brought before the department head or elected official.

Since being formed in 1982, the personnel board has met three times to hear grievances by county employees: April 13, 1987 for sheriff deputy Lerry Bond, June 18 for sheriff deputy Jimmy Luna and Sept. 10 for Harrison. The grievance hearings for Bond and Luna were closed hearings with no results being made public.

Apathy well rooted in Ruidoso

'They had a party and nobody came'

By J.A. "AI" JUNGE

I am not being flippant when I make the above observation. However, in Ruidoso, to those few who show an interest in city affairs, we appear to be reaching for an all time low in citizen interest in and attention to local affairs. And—some would say that you cannot place the blame solely on the city council.

But can we? On Tuesday, Sept. 8, 1987 a regular city council meeting was called to order at the Ruidoso City Hall. Three of the mayor council group were absent including the mayor. One additional absentee would have resulted in no meeting at all.

The agenda for this meeting had no entries. There was nothing slated for discussion. Enter this atmosphere was an audience that did not show up. Not a soul thought enough or was interested to attend this meeting. Only myself and a reporter was in attendance.

I have attended council meetings for more than 10 years and I cannot recall an instance where both the agenda and the audience was blank. Just before the Council adjourned I inquired about the status of repairs to Bridge #1 in the Upper Canyon where damage had been caused by a passing truck. I was assured by Mayor ProTem Shaw that "everything was under control and the Administration was handling."

Hogwash! Bridge #1 in the Upper Canyon has an interesting history. This bridge is the first bridge when you enter the Upper Canyon after you leave the Traffic Circle and approach Bill Rawlin's Ruidoso Lodge. The bridge resembles any other small river crossing bridge except for one very important difference. As you approach

CARRIZOSO MAYOR Bob Hemphill signs a proclamation designating Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week while Aileen Lindamood, a member of the Sierra Blanca chapter of the DAR watches. In commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution, people are asked to ring bells of all kinds for 200 seconds beginning at 2 p.m. today.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect the flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

Corona paving bid awarded

J.R. Hale Contracting Co. of Albuquerque was awarded the Corona street paving contract after its lone bid was opened last week during a special Village Council meeting.

The bid, for $176,896, was well under available funds for the project.

In the regular meeting Thursday night Hubert Quintana of Southeast New Mexico Economic Development District assured the council that all paperwork is expected to move through the system rapidly and that actual construction should begin by the last week of this month.

Council agreed that plans to pursue further Community Development Block Grant funds should move forward, and a public hearing will be held Oct. 8 for that purpose.

Mrs. Lucille King, superintendent of Corona School District, asked council and Quintana about procedures for obtaining a school playground improvement grant, perhaps in a joint village-school district effort. She noted that the playground is on three different levels and is somewhat of a safety hazard. It is inaccessible to the handicapped and drainage is a major problem. Quintana explained the funding process and council agreed to support the school in the project should a co-operative application be filed.

In other business, council agreed to send a letter of support to sponsors of a halfway house to be opened on the Lovelace Ranch south of Corona.

Capitan Chamber report

Mack and Hazy's Video is a new member of Capitan Chamber of Commerce. Members were informed that Smokey Bear medallions are still available at special prices. These medallions will not be available once the stock is depleted.

The chamber will sponsor another cleanup day Sept. 26. Village residents are asked to place trash in front of their property by the street so that it can be picked up. This project takes place between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon.

State finance committee toured Fort Stanton

New Mexico's Legislative Finance Committee flew into Carrizozo Municipal Airport yesterday, according to Rep. Maurice Hobson, a member of the committee.

The group then traveled by car to Fort Stanton to tour the facility which houses approximately 145 people and has a budget of $6 million. The committee also toured Camp Sierra Blanca which houses 50 people, Hobson said.

Hobson has been instrumental in maintaining both the Fort Stanton and Camp Sierra Blanca facilities in spite of tight state budget demands.

Capitan enrollment up

The Capitan Board of Education received an enrollment report from Supt. Scott Childress at its meeting Sept. 10. The projected figure is 481. Enrollment as of Sept. 10 was 504. Enrollment in special education is up while high school enrollment is down three students.

Some teachers complained that answering the telephone after school slowed them down with their work. As a result school phones will not be answered after 4:30 p.m.

The board accepted the resignation of Barbara Willard in the business department and hired Michael Katko of Los Alamos to replace her.

A check for $82,00 to contractor Ballard for the athletic field was not approved for payment until the asphalt job is approved by school officials. Among other matters, the board did not like the revised runways.

The fieldhouse should be completed by the end of October, making allowance for bad weather days.

Change orders were approved concerning the gas line and sleeves. Something will be worked out for joggers on the new track concerning liability insurance.

The board approved a new attendance policy which spells out exactly what the policy is. Also approved was the sale of the light poles from the old football field for $250. These poles had been given to the FFA by the board of education.

The first 40 days of school ends Oct. 13. The enrollment on this date determines the financial support the school will receive from the state.

It was learned that a student in New Mexico is allowed to play only 48 minutes of football every five days.

These coaching assignments were approved by the board: boys JV basketball, Mark Daugherty; junior high girls basketball and volleyball, Michael Katko; JV girls basketball, Clayton Allen.

The next regular meeting will be Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

A FRAMED PICTURE of a roadrunner, painted on glass by Alamogordo postmaster Don Hinkle and donated to the Carrizozo Grizzly Athletic Booster Club, will be raffled by the club with the drawing to be held Sept. 25. Raffle tickets are available from any club member or club treasurer Lucy Rickman at Unified New Mexico Bank. Rickman (shown) stated that more paid members are needed in the club and more money is needed in order for the club to have money to buy meals for Grizzly athletes on out-of-town trips.

CURSES! FOILED AGAIN! Archibald G. Dudley, the villain out for his own gain, steals the mortgage payment from the Truheart Boarding House with disastrous results in the first presentation by the Carrizozo Little Theater Group. The program will be presented at the Carrizozo Country Club Sept. 26 in conjunction with a brisket dinner and other entertainment.

Carrizozo Woman's Club spurs Constitution Week

Members of the Carrizozo Woman's Club took a citizenship quiz during the Sept. 10 meeting. The quiz consisted of questions typical of those asked on a citizenship exam.

The quiz followed the program presented by club president Sue Stearns on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution. Stearns said The Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution was established with the major objective being to stimulate activity by organizations and individuals in every state, to heighten awareness of, and deepen appreciation for, the Constitution and the rights and freedoms it guarantees.

Club members agreed to plant a tree at the courthouse in recognition of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

In other business, members agreed to begin the community improvement project by cleaning the triangle at the intersection of E Street and highway 54 on Sept. 16. The triangle will be clean for the Bicentennial parade to be held Sept. 19.

Worksheets for the calendar were distributed. Information is to be compiled by Sept. 23 and the calendar information will be mailed by Oct. 1.

Beulah Moore invited everyone to attend the dinner and show to be held at the Carrizozo Country Club on Sept. 26 to honor the Senior Olympians from Lincoln County who attended the national contest in St. Louis.

Tickets for the event will cost $5 for a brisket dinner, entertainment and the first production by the Carrizozo Little Theater Group, which will be a mello-drama about the attempts of a villain to steal from the Truheart Boarding House for Aged Actors.

Club members made a donation of $11.20 to help with the cost of the brisket for the Sept. 26 event.

The Courtesy Cart service for newcomers to the area will begin Oct. 1. Chairman Debbie King reported that 22 businesses had agreed to place items, coupons, etc. in the ditty bags that will be presented to newcomers.

Members were asked to make an outfit for the doll that will be raffled in December. Tickets for the raffle will be available from any club member for a donation of $1. The doll with complete layette and wardrobe will be displayed in the United New Mexico Bank.

Nancy LaFayette announced that the Food Bank needs volunteers to work on Tuesdays.

Members were urged to give blood at the blood drive on Sept. 18. The quota has been set for 30 pints. United Blood Services from El Paso will conduct the blood drive at the Carrizozo Woman's Club building from 2 to 6 p.m. Donated blood will be processed and used in area medical facilities.

The New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs District IV convention will be held in Alamogordo Oct. 9-10. Stearns asked that members try to attend and to enter artwork and arts and crafts for the convention.

Members began a study of the local club history and a committee was formed to compile local club history and bring it up to date. The project will include listing how the club began and when, who began it, the aims of the club at the time it was started and where the club had led club members.

Stearns quoted from "Reflections," a club magazine, "The Carrizozo Woman's Club was organized in 1920 and membership in the club soon climbed to 104 members from Carrizozo, Capitan, Ft. Stanton, Ancho, Oscuro and surrounding ranches."

The article cited accomplishments of the club, including assisting the town of Carrizozo in building a community center with money and kitchen and dining facilities that were later donated to the Carrizozo school. Other accomplishments of the club: construction of the first state park in New Mexico—the Valley of Fires State Park, and helping with improvements in the town such as public sanitation, obtaining natural gas for the community, paving of streets, construction of several community centers throughout the years, formation, construction and continuing upkeep of the town cemetery and an active participation in the education

Constitution's birthday celebrated in Corona

A celebration commemorating the 200th birthday of the US Constitution was held at Corona auditorium Friday.

Highlights of the program included the "Star Spangled Banner" sung by National Honor Society president Tommy Mulkey; modeling of colonial fashions by kindergarten students; musical renditions of patriotic songs by 1st, 2nd and 3rd graders; a Constitution skit by 4th grade boys (with note being made that women are not allowed to participate in the framing of the Constitution); a "Yankee Doodle Dance" and "Bill of Rights Rap," a recitation with a tempo citing rights ensured by the first ten amendments; and a recitation of the Preamble to the Constitution by grades one through six.

Wanda Miller, winner of a Constitution essay contest, showed slides of her trip to Washington, DC and Philadelphia.

A huge birthday cake with 200 miniature flags was presented for the occasion, and special guest Maurice Hobson's birthday was also recognized with a cake. After singing "Happy Birthday," the program concluded with a flag march finale in which all elementary children formed a recessional waving small American flags.

Birthday cake was enjoyed following the program.

proach this bridge, and if you are not extremely careful you could impale your car on the right bridge railing which sticks out into the roadway. This bridge, built some 30 years ago, and the hazardous bridge railing, has been a silly fact of life to those who drive to and from the Upper Canyon area. Police files support the fact that numerous accidents have occurred on this bridge, most of which were caused by the faulty bridge railing.

Why hasn't this dangerous situation been corrected? Good question.

Some of us have worked on this problem for a long time. In 1963 a steel beam was purchased and stored at the City Barn where it remains at this time. This steel span would enable the widening of the bridge to eliminate the protruding railing, improve the flow of traffic, and would cost less than $15,000.

Last year it appeared that we were on the way to solving the bridge problem. The State of New Mexico had set aside funds to replace five bridges in Ruidoso including Bridge #1. But, our expectations were short lived.

Instead of a simple matter of remedying a problem, the city engineer came up with a plan to construct a new bridge (the present bridge is sound and all that was needed was to correct the faulty railing). The new bridge plan was presented at a meeting held at city hall and attended by a group of citizens living in the Upper Canyon and mostly affected by the bridge problem. The city engineer's plan only served to make the situation worse. Instead of eliminating the protruding railing the proposed new bridge would be positioned to the left of the center resulting in a 90 degree turn with a stop sign. The approach to the bridge would remain dangerous to oncoming traffic. It was interesting that the engineer made no effort to research the problems dealing with the previous traffic problems. Why spend $15,000 when over $100,000 is available? The cost of the engineering by an independent firm exceeded the cost of making the modification requested. The group of citizens attending the meeting were told "take it or leave it."

After several protests the group left the meeting in disgust. As I recall, no members of the city council attended this meeting. A number of letters were written to the council and to the mayor and none received an acknowledgement.

So, as a result, all plans for Bridge #1 were cancelled and the dangerous bridge remains intact. Then, a light appeared at the end of the tunnel.

About three weeks ago, a truck approaching Bridge #1 became entangled with the protruding bridge rail, ripping it completely from its foundation, pulling up two concrete piers and completely demolishing the east portion of the bridge.

Here was a golden opportunity for an insurance settlement to assist in repairing the bridge and removing the faulty bridge railing. The accident was witnessed by those on the scene who were able to identify the driver of the truck.

After two weeks passed and the scene at the bridge site was unchanged except for a couple of warning signals in place, I made an inquiry at city hall to determine what action was being taken regarding an insurance claim. A police report would have been made along with an estimate to cover the cost of repairs. It was evident that no action had been taken as of the date of my inquiry. It occurred to me that this was an unusual opportunity to file an insurance claim to which the city could add a few bucks and fix the problem with the bridge once and for all.

Prior to retirement I had spent over 20 years in the insurance business and could see that the city had a legitimate claim which was worth nothing unless action was taken to place the responsibility and settle the claim. A three-week wait with no action is too long.

In the meantime nothing had been done—no police report, no action with the insurance company, and no estimate for repairs. The suggestion was made that all of this action be taken.

Just before the council meeting commenced on Sept. 8 I asked an administration employee if the bridge accident was in process. The answer was in the negative.

So, at the council meeting I asked again if the city administration had this claim in process. The answer was "The administration is on top of the problem."

This whole procedure is demonstrative of how the council administration selects their priorities and how long it requires to complete a objective once agreed on.

And in the meantime our citizens don't attend council meetings. Perhaps the futility of being understood and the slow process of administration is the real culprit.

It is regrettable that many of our citizens who want to do a lot of complaining are reluctant to make their views public.

So, who's at fault?

Tomorrow is blood drive day

United Blood Services of El Paso will have a mobile unit at the Carrizozo Woman's Club tomorrow for a community blood drive from 2 to 6 p.m. Trained technicians will conduct a brief interview, ml-physical and drawing of blood from prospective donors.

UBS, a nonprofit organization, provides blood for patients in area medical facilities. Volunteer donors provide the blood for the whole blood and blood products needed.

Technicians will answer all questions and have stressed that it is not possible to contract a disease while donating blood. All materials used during the donation process are sterile and are used only once.

All prospective donors are urged to make their "Gift of Life" donation tomorrow to help insure that blood will be available for family, friends and neighbors when it is needed.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 17, 1987

This week's Lincoln County News marks the date of the 200th anniversary of the US Constitution.

Two hundred years ago in 1787 a group of men gathered in Philadelphia, PA to set up a government with three branches; Congress, the presidency and the courts, and divided power among them. From May 25 to Sept. 17 the men worked on a new set of rules—the charter of government that made America truly the "United States."

This evening CBS devotes time to that document and its impact. Walter Cronkite hosts the all-star spectacular celebrating 200 years of freedom. The 8 p.m. Channel 13 program, taped earlier in the evening at Convention Hall in Philadelphia, opens with remarks by Gregory Peck, followed by a version of the National Anthem sung by Sandi Patti and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Other musical numbers include "We the People," sung by Lee Greenwood, Marilyn McCoo and John Schneider, and "Let Freedom Ring," composed and performed by Barry Manilow.

Rich Little will be on hand with impersonations of historical figures. Supreme Court decisions will be orally interpreted by George Peppard, Stefanie Powers, Ell Wallach and others. Other participants on the TV program include Lloyd Bridges, Patti LaBelle and John Raitt. President Reagan is slated to deliver closing remarks.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR

We the people who watch public television will be learning more about the Constitution in a four-part documentary series called "We the People." The Sept. 22 opener,

"Free to Believe," includes a look at the fight to bring religion into public schools. ABC News anchorman Peter Jennings is the host; the series is introduced by President Reagan.

NO COPY MACHINES

Fifty-five men from 12 states in 1787 brought to the Constitutional Convention not only distinctive backgrounds and achievements, but diverse ideas on governing a country. The 13th state, Rhode Island, was independent and refused to take part.

Getting the men together for the meeting must have been a big task. The men came by horseback or horse-drawn carriage. They used quill pens and parchment paper and sometimes worked by candlelight.

Two hundred years ago things were very different. There were no planes, trains, or buses. No phones, electric lights, copy machines, microphones, or felt-tipped pens. There were no computers, tape recorders, or video cameras.

And no TV newscaster teasing you with, "Constitutional Convention details at ten!";

TRUE FATHERS

The men who wrote the Constitution are the true fathers of our country. Two of them, George Washington and Ben Franklin, are known to many. Others, like James Wilson and Gouverneur Morris, are almost unknown today. The following bits of trivia about some of the famous men gives an idea of their background and personalities:

Benjamin Franklin, the oldest, was 81. The youngest was 26-year-old Jonathan Dayton of New Jersey. Thirteen were owners of placids near the delegates. Oliver Ellsworth, Connecticut was a tall, imposing man with the habit of talking to himself.

SELF-TEAUGHT PRINTER

Benjamin Franklin was a self-taught printer, scientist, inventor, diplomat and philosopher.

Elbridge Gerry later became congressman and James Madison's vice-president.

Nathaniel Gorham had little formal education but was an excellent debater.

Rufus Kin, a handsome man with a high voice, was an excellent speaker.

George Mason was educated by private tutors. He was a rich plantation owner and war hero.

Charles Pinckney was a 30-year-old lawyer who had not attended college.

Charles Coatesworth Pinckney later became an unsuccessful candidate for vice-president and president.

Edmund Randolph became Attorney General and Secretary of State in the new government.

CARD OF THANKS

To the People of Carrizozo, a community that cares:

We want to express a sincere "Thank You" to the entire community for opening their hearts to our family during this difficult time in our lives. We feel blessed to have friends and neighbors who went out of their way to help with the tremendous expense involved with Johnny's medical treatment for cancer.

We realize we are very, very lucky that Johnny's cancer can be controlled with treatment and we thank God every day for that. We also thank God for the kind words of encouragement and the generous donations made by the people in and around Carrizozo. Knowing that these people care enough to give of their time, effort and money made us aware that we are not alone. We want everyone to know the gratitude and appreciation we feel. A special thanks goes to the Carrizozo Lions Club for sponsoring the auction and for everyone who donated items, bought items and worked with the auction. A special thank you for donation to the medical fund, work at table sales, making posters and doing the things that have made us feel extremely fortunate to have caring friends.

Your love and support means more to us than we can ever say. Carrizozo is truly a community that cares. Thank you and may God bless each and everyone of you.

TNP TIPS for an Energy Efficient REFRIGERATOR

To help you use your refrigerator to its best advantage, TNP has developed this list of operation tips. Follow these suggestions to get the most from your energy dollar.

1. Make sure your refrigerator is installed away from heat sources such as a range, dishwasher, direct sunlight or a heat vent.
2. Open and close doors quickly. If possible, remove or return several items at once.
3. Keep condenser coils clean by regular vacuuming. Dust can reduce cooling efficiency.
4. Replace worn door gaskets. A tight seal will prevent the cool from leaking out.
5. Do not overcrowd or block air circulation in the appliance. However, keep it full for best operating efficiency.

● An evidence that there's no justice in America, consider that no pharmacist or druggist has been publicly flogged for encasing prescription medicines for adults in childproof containers. Those little plastic bottles may be childproof but they are also adultproof. Every container seems to have a different combination for removing its cap. All must have been developed by the same people who design lock combinations for bank vaults. This one requires that the cap be pressed down firmly then turned to the left, and sometimes it even works. Another has an arrow pointing to the only spot on the bottle neck that will release the cap. Still another has a numerical combination that, expertly executed, will eventually expose the medicine. The least container manufacturers could do is to standardize the way bottle caps can be removed. Then we can require that schools conduct seminars on how to open the damned things. An additional flogging is reserved for the druggist who puts adult medicine in childproof containers, then hands it to a 75-year-old customer who hasn't had a snot-nosed kid around his house in 50 years. Fortunately, I have a painful (but satisfying) formula that adults can use in opening childproof containers. First, ignore directions on the bottle. Second, place container on a hard surface. Third, take a hammer, and holding container between thumb and forefinger, smash the bottle to smithereens. Round up the contents, strain out shattered plastic, then place the medicine in an open cup or dish where it can be retrieved without the equivalent of an engineering degree. I have used this method for years and have smashed my fingers only twice—but the simple solution was worth every howl of pain.

● Speaking of not being able to get the cap off the medicine bottle, the United Nations General Assembly convened Tuesday. For 42 years this bunch of self-serving bureaucrats haven't gotten around to "uncapping" international problems entrusted to them. Maybe the "hammer" should be taken to it, too. Any given meeting of the UN is about as productive as any summit called to forge any agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union.

● Judge Robert Bork, President Reagan's nominee for US Supreme Court Justice, is being branded a dangerous radical rightwing conservative by the likes of Sen. Teddy Kennedy (D-Chappaquiddick) and other dangerous radical leftwing liberals. What he would do, his critics shrill, is bring a literal interpretation to the US Constitution as a member of the high court. Heavens! If we read and understand that document, what need is there for interpretation, liberal or otherwise? To those who have studied Bork's record for liberal vs. conservative views on the Constitution, his position is clear. In all cases decided in Bork's court, in which he voted with the majority and which were subsequently appealed to the US Supreme Court, his majority opinion was upheld. In cases where Bork dissented from the majority and the Supreme Court reviewed the cases, the court agreed with Bork's dissent. So says a study released this week by the US Attorney General. The present Supreme Court is generally regarded as liberal to moderate. If Bork is a radical conservative, why has a liberal court upheld his rulings as well as his dissents?

● Nowhere in the Constitution is the Supreme Court given the right to declare unconstitutional an act of congress. But the court does declare acts of congress unconstitutional. The court, without opposition from congress, has usurped the constitutional right of congress to legislate. This is a violation of the separation of powers laid out in the Constitution; for when the court declares a law unconstitutional it is, in effect, legislating. It is telling congress what laws it may and may not pass, a right reserved to the people through their elected representatives in congress. Rightly so, for Supreme Court justices are elected by nobody and are responsible to nobody. That is a "literal" view of the Constitution to which Judge Bork subscribes.

● The liberal view is that the Constitution is subject to "interpretation" by the court alone. Liberals, such as US Supreme Court Justice William Brennan, dwell on not what the document says, but what they think the framers of the Constitution actually intended to put on paper. It takes a tortured mind to make law of the land dependent upon what judges decide what was in the minds of statesmen who wrote the Constitution 200 years ago. Never mind, Justice Brennan would say, what the framers wrote in simple English. What matters is what I think or would have written had they been as informed as I am today!

● Then what, you ask, happens when a circumstance arises that was not foreseen by the framers of the Constitution, and which is not specifically covered in that document? Simple. The entire matter is covered in Article X: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." Example: The question of abortion is not addressed in the Constitution. Yet the court in Roe v. Wade legalized abortion. Such power was not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor was it prohibited to the States. Therefore, according to Article X, the question should have been settled by the States, or by the people. Not by the Supreme Court.

● On the 200th Anniversary of the US Constitution many find it bothersome that no public outcry is made at the encroachment of the high court upon the rights of the states and of the people as specifically outlined in Article X.

● Judge Bork has indicated that he will interpret the Constitution literally if he is confirmed to the Supreme Court. It gives Justice Brennan and his liberal colleagues reason to shudder. With Bork on the court, liberals may have to return to those better days when legislation had to be passed by congress instead of by the US Supreme Court.

Celebrate the signing of the US Constitution

Two centuries ago representatives of the American states convened in Philadelphia to revise the Articles of Confederation, hoping to bring unity and order to this new nation.

On Sept. 17, 1787, they completed work on a new national Constitution, a document that laid the foundations for a truly democratic society, establishing the world's first federal government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Today, 200 years later, the United States is honoring the US Constitution, the oldest written instrument of national government in the world. It is the cornerstone of American democracy, the document which has come to symbolize our national ideals of freedom, justice, equal opportunity and hope.

The Revolution gave us freedom, the Constitution gave us the means to keep it.

Everyone should take time out to celebrate the drafting and ratification of the faded parchment that is the Constitution and the formation of our federal government for several reasons.

The first reason is the importance of educating Americans of all ages about the founding of this nation. Many Americans do not know enough about their heritage, the Constitution and this form of government.

Most Americans probably do not realize that two-thirds of the world's constitutions have been adopted since 1970. In fact, only 15 predate World War II and none predates the US

Constitution.

The Bicentennial offers an opportunity to celebrate the Constitution not only for the role it has played in American history, but for its significance to modern government and its role in the continuation of our personal freedoms.

The Constitution is as relevant today as it was to our founding fathers. It helps define us as a people. Its revolutionary concepts of freedom and justice were, and still are, the fundamental reasons for the arrival of tens of millions of people to our shores over the last two centuries.

The Bicentennial is a chance for Americans to reaffirm the principles for which the Constitution and the country stand, those rights and liberties we tend to take for granted.

It is a golden opportunity for this nation's citizens to learn more about their precious system of government, to remember the origins of our freedom and to pay tribute to the document that produced a way of life envied the world over.

Today is the 200th anniversary of the US Constitution. In honor of the event people everywhere will set aside 2 p.m. today as the time to ring bells to let everyone know that it is a special occasion.

Church bells, school bells, individual bells and bells of all kinds will be tolled at 2 p.m. for 200 seconds in commemoration of this great time in American history.

The first governor

The inauguration of William C. McDonald

By CHRIS HARKEY

Today, Sept. 17, the United States celebrates the 200th Anniversary of the United States Constitution.

In conjunction with the birthday of the Constitution, New Mexico is observing the 75th anniversary of its statehood.

In Carrizozo and Lincoln County there is a third observance—that of the election of William C. McDonald as New Mexico's first state governor in 1911.

It was a beautiful, clear day when William C. McDonald, accompanied by W.J. Mills, the last Territorial governor, entered an open carriage in front of the Palace Hotel, along with a battalion of the First New Mexico Infantry and a retinue of citizens, started for the Capitol at Santa Fe.

There was a grand parade with Adjutant General A.S. Brookes, as master of ceremonies and Major Frederick Muller as grand marshal in charge, and led by the Santa Fe City Police Force and the New Mexico mounted police on horseback.

Next came the First Regiment Band and the Santa Fe Battalion of the National Guard Regiment. The guardsmen formed in a double line along the sidewalk with the band stationed beneath the platform, which had been raised on the main stairway.

Upon the platform were seated Mrs. McDonald, Miss McDonald, Mrs. William J. Mills, Judge N.B. Laughlin and attorney general Frank W. Clancy, behind them were Archbishop J. B. Pitaval, Vicar-general Fourcheu and other members of the clergy. Many leading citizens of New Mexico were crowded around the stairway and approaches to the capitol.

The oath of office was administered at exactly 12:29 p.m. The Inaugural Address was impressively delivered by New Mexico's first state governor in the presence of seven or eight thousand onlookers.

As Governor McDonald concluded his address, and as the applause subsided, this ode, written and set to music by the Rev. Julius Hartman, assistant parish priest of the Guadalupe Church, Santa Fe, was sung by a chorus composed of young ladies and men dressed and arranged as living American flag.

The 9th St., New Mexico

Country dear, where the eternal light shines;
There one finds what is earth's truest boon;
Where faith, honest, lofty mountains on high
Toward the heaven's canopy,
And open no vast plain runs;
"The land of the living,"
New Mexico.

Generations struggled hard
To make his people free,
The old land, Columbia's Grand Sounded Liberty.

Country dear, now gleams the new star's part

For from the blue vault of God's mighty dome,
Night is part, they dawn for thee a new day,
Undimmed, keep thy radiance all
In time to come.
So our guide, does darkness fall,
Lead to our home.

III

Country dear, where ancient races' foot tread
This ever calm and silent lake-land
Here sports the soldiers of the true God
Planted on the hills the cross
Wood stained his burning sand.
Now the Union's banner flies
O'er free man's land,
Guard this land against the foe,
O God for barque Thou steer;
And sail on New Mexico,
Grow without fear.

IV

Country dear, lay on and prosper ever,
Harmony, peace, dwell beneath thy sky,
Duty, virtue, love for thee may never
Part from us, this is my prayer;
And on the day I die,
May I find in this land fair
A place to lie.

There was a general reception in the Palace of the Governors, from 8 to 10 o'clock, and the Inaugural Ball in the Armory closed the festivities of the greatest day in the history of New Mexico.

William C. McDonald was born in Jordanville, Herkimer County, New York on July 23, 1857. (The historian and biographer, R.E. Twitchell gives his birth date as 1858).

He taught school there for three years, before taking up the study of law, taking the examination for the bar at Fort Scott, KS which he passed EDITOR—As Sheriff of Lincoln County I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed time or money to help make the Larry Brinkley Benefit Dinner a big success.

Have our leaders gone mad?

EDITOR—Have America's leaders gone mad!

According to a recent issue of The Wall Street Journal, the Air Force awarded a "$245 million contract to Grumman Corp. to re-equip Chinese jet fighters with sophisticated US made cockpit instruments" (See Wall Street Journal, Aug. 6, 1987.)

The article goes on to explain that the Pentagon has agreed to sell the Red Chinese $96 million in high precision artillery shells.

Apparently our leaders have forgotten that back in 1971 the US Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security published a study entitled, "The Human Cost of Communism in China."

That study revealed to shocked readers that the cost in human life was estimated to be somewhere between 34,300,000 and 63,787,000 Chinese people killed by the Red Chinese Communists in order to force socialism on the Chinese people.

Those same Red Chinese fought our men in Korea, then later they fought against our men in Vietnam. Now our government extends unlimited credit to them so that they can buy our latest, most deadly weapons.

If the Chinese Communists were willing to murder 40, 50, maybe even 60 million of their own people in order to make China a socialist state, then how many Americans would they be willing to destroy to make the USA a Red America?

But, do we have to provide them the arms and the credit to do it with?

It's madness.

SANTA FE — Garrey Carruthers is feeling more confident about his promise of no more tax increases.

After his first session in which taxes received the biggest boost in the state's history, Carruthers vowed that would be the last increase during his administration. At the time it had a hollow ring—sort of like a kid promising never to be naughty again—but certain factors have come together to make it a real possibility.

BUDGET LIMITATIONS: The first factor can be credited to Carruthers' own doing. In the last legislative session, he secured passage of a bill designed to put a cap on appropriation increases which he can recommend. The formula is complicated and applies to the total appropriation figure.

The governor has told his cabinet secretaries that he wants them to bring him no-growth budgets. Preliminary budgets have already been presented to the chief executive, who has told some of the department bosses to come back later and justify requested increases.

As expected, the largest requested increase came from the Corrections Department, which is likely to receive a lion's share of proposed increases at the expense of other departments. The increase of almost 12 percent will be trimmed before going to the legislature, which is sure to whack off even more but still leave the department with the biggest increase of any agency.

Expect to see great bloodletting first, however. Some prominent legislators, chief among them being House Appropriations and Finance Committee Mac Coll of Santa Fe, have many tough questions about cronyism, old-fashioned attitudes and job shuffling, to name a few.

One legislator says it is embarrassing to have a corrections secretary who can't even pronounce "escape." Lane McCotter insists on pronouncing the word with an "x."

IMPROVED ECONOMY: Due to several factors, the money flowing into state coffers has been greater than the 1987 legislature projected. The leftovers on June 30 amounted to $44.7 million, $23.2 million higher than the state's revenue wizards had anticipated. Carruthers has recently been pointing with glee to the higher livestock prices which will boost the agricultural economy and to the Persian Gulf crisis which he feels sure will raise oil prices and benefit that sagging New Mexico industry.

SEVERANCE TAXES: Legislative tax committee chairman Eddie Lopez of Santa Fe proposed last week that, instead of pledging severance taxes to finance the bonds which provide so many nice public works projects for legislators to boast about when campaigning for reelection and putting the rest in the severance tax permanent fund, the money go into the general fund for a while until our mineral industries recover.

This could add a significant amount to finance the Texico wallops Capitan, 20-12

The Capitan Tigers were handed their third defeat of the season Sept. 12 by the Texico Wolverines, 20-12.

The Tigers scored early in the game on a 50 yard pass play. Gallegos to Clements. Capitan wasn't able to add the extra point and this proved to be the only tally during the 1st half.

Long drives produced two Texico touchdowns in the 3rd quarter.

The game was suspended in the 4th quarter as a result of lightning and rain. Texico scored immediately after resumption of play on a play action pass. It was Texico 20, Capitan 6.

The Tigers took the ensuing kick off and drove to the Wolverines 25 yard line.

Gallegos then hit Clements with a 25 yard pass for Capitan's 2nd touchdown. The PAT was no good and the final 20-12 score was on the scoreboard.

Tiger coach Blane Miller named Kerry Clements as player of the week on both offense and defense. Also having good games were Luke Hall, Anthony Sanchez, Clay Guck and Johnny Castillo.

The Hagerman Bobcats are in Capitan Sept. 18 for a 4:30 p.m. game on Tiger Field. Hagerman runs a wing offense and a split 6 defense. Capitan is an improving ball club and has a good chance to win this one.

The Lady Tigers travel to Elida Sept. 19 for games beginning at 2:30 p.m.

VOLLEYBALL COACH Ron Becker talks strategy with Grizzly varsity during time-out. Carrizozo won 2 out of 3 matches last week to even its season record at 2-2. Grizzlies lost to Vaughn 1-3, beat Hondo 3-0 and edged out Corona 3-2. Next action for the local team will be this Saturday afternoon as they host Magdalena's Steers. The junior high game will start at 2 p.m. with junior varsity and varsity to follow.

CORONA BALL carrier Heath Brown (10) encounters a hard-hitting Roy Longhorn during Saturday's game. Roy won, 28-18.

Over-confident Cards lose to Roy, 28-18

Corona Cardinals traveled to Roy Saturday where the Longhorns capitalized on Corona miscues and took a 28-18 win.

On their first possession, Corona failed to make the first down, then received a 15 yard face mask penalty. Roy took the yardage and scored shortly thereafter.

Corona fared better on their next series of downs, with Tom Mulkey gaining on the ground and scoring in three plays.

Roy couldn't make necessary yardage after the next kick-off and Corona again racked up yardage on Mulkey runs; however, a Mulkey pass was intercepted on the 5. Corona's Heath Brown came back with his own interception, but the Cards ended the first quarter with a fumble.

In second quarter play, Corona again took the lead after a well-executed pass play from Mulkey to Chad Brown set up the score. Corona continued to look good as Dan Bell intercepted on the 22, then moved the ball to Roy's 34 on a Mulkey-Chad Brown pass play. The Cardinals thought they could chalk up six more when Lee Land made a one-handed catch of a Mulkey pass close to the goal line. The Cardinals fumbled it away and Roy managed to take a 14-12 lead at the half.

Things began to fall apart when Corona returned. A Roy interception stopped Corona on its first possession. Although the 4th period opened with Roy taking the ball at the Cardinal 51, but the Corona defense held. Corona took the ball and moved it into Longhorn territory on a pass interference called at the 28. The Cards scored on the next play, a Mulkey to Land pass, and the score was 22-18. The Longhorns gobbled up ground yardage and scored once more. Corona was unable to make any headway and had to give up the ball again before the final whistle.

Corona Coach G. Ray Johnson, in commenting on the game, said, "Part of our problem was we got a little overconfident." Corona had come to Roy after a 53-8 win over Quemado the previous week. "I think we made some mental mistakes, too; we let them (Roy) have three touchdowns on our mental errors," Johnson added.

Corona travels to Mountainair Saturday for a 1 p.m. homecoming game.

Cardinals held and regained possession, plays were broken up and they had to punt. Roy picked up the ball and scored on the punt return, making it 22-12. Highlighting Corona's third quarter performance, was a 70 yard Mulkey run; it was called back on a clipping penalty.

successfully.

From Kansas he made his way to White Oaks, New Mexico, arriving there in the spring of 1880. Having some knowledge of surveying and civil engineering, which he put to use in this new booming town for the next 10 years. He then took the position as manager for the Carrizozo Cattle Company.

He was assessor for Lincoln County, and was chairman of the Board of County Commissioners. In 1910 he was made chairman of the Democratic Central Committee.

On Aug. 31, 1891 McDonald was married to Mrs. Francis J. McCourt, and this union was blessed with one daughter, Francis.

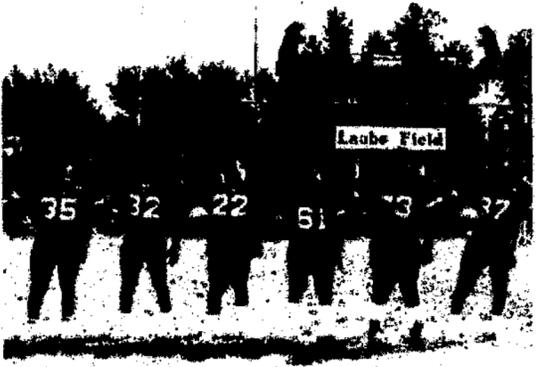

McDonald died on April 11, 1918, and was buried in the Cedarvale Cemetery in White Oaks.

Ronald Joiner and Jay Eldridge were home last weekend from NMSU. Both are really enjoying college.

Welcome to Bill and Mary Harris. Bill is a retired TV repairman and Mary is a retired registered nurse who purchased the Kenneth Lacy business property on west First Street in Capitan in 1986 and enjoyed that summer. After the first snow in October they went to the mountains, Ski Apache as well, and took pictures, as that was their first sight of snow. Then went away south for the winter. They have been at home here all summer and are happy with us. This is now their permanent home and they can go south with the birds for the cold season. A very lovely couple, and we do want them happy here with us.

Mary just completed her first cookbook entitled "The Wheel Estate Cookpools," available the first of October.

Bill and Mary live in their home on wheels in Capitan from April until snow starts in Capitan, then follow the rest of the snowbirds to Texas Gulf Coast.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce held its meeting Monday, Sept. 14, as the regular meeting was cancelled due to the holiday.

David and Deborah Cummins celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary Sept. 12. Their adorable baby daughter is growing and doing great. I wish you many more years of wedded happiness.

All of us send our gratitude and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pogue and Mr. Jack Mayfield for all of those beautiful bouquets of flowers they have in all the business places for all of us to enjoy. Pogue's flowers start early in the spring and lasts as long as there are blossoms. Mayfield's flowers are his specialty. His dahlias are beautiful.

Capitan proclaims Constitution Week

By BART McDONOUGH

Mrs. Gerald Dean Sr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee Traylor appeared before the Capitan City Council Monday evening representing Sierra Blanca chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. They presented a proclamation to Mayor Benny Coker, which he signed, proclaiming the week of Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week in Capitan.

The proclamation reads as follows, "The week of Sept. 17 through 23 commemorates the signing of the Constitution of the United States. This great document, the guardian of our liberties, established our Republic as a self-governing nation dedicated to rule by law. Constitution Week provides an opportunity for all Americans to recall the achievements of our Founders, the nature of limited government and the rights and privileges of citizenship as well as the responsibilities."

Mayor Coker announced that Danny Davenport is a new village employee with the water department.

The rain water drainage problem was discussed. The council decided to invite representatives from the state highway department and the Capitan Schools to the next council meeting Oct. 13.

Cindy Livingston and Betty Joiner appeared before the council to ask for a donation for the Capitan Junior Riding Club. They told the council that the club actually serves every age group. It is open to anyone who wants to join. The village attorney was not present at this meeting and the request was tabled.

Police Chief Randy Spears notified the council that some residents have been notified about junk on their property.

The 30-day grace period is nearing an end and they could be fined in court if the situations are not corrected.

Mrs. Jack Pogue appeared before the council and talked about reporting fires. She suggested that plugs be numbered and that there be different sirens (long and short) for each individual fire plug. Firemen could then report to a specific fire plug by listening to the siren. It is unlikely it will be adopted as Capitan firemen already have an excellent radio system. Mrs. Pogue made other suggestions.

An amendment to the animal ordinance was approved by the council. A portion dealing with impoundment of animals will be reworded. Animal tags may be purchased from animal control officer Pappy Coons or at city hall. Tags for neutered animals are $5, for dogs not neutered $10.

Mayor Coker announced that Street Superintendent

Guy Henley will be available on the next cleanup day in Capitan (Sept. 26) between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon. Coker also told the crowd that the pump for the new well will do most of its work between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. to take advantage of special rates for electricity. Moments later Coker stated "We have the ability to have one of the best water systems in the country."

WANDA MILLER, Sandra Copeland and Lee Land reported on their trips to Girls and Boys State meetings during a special American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary program last week.

Girls, Boys State delegates report

Girls and Boys State delegates reported on their experiences to American Legion Auxiliary and American Legion Beaver Post 35 in Corona last week.

Sandra Copeland attended the June Girls State meetings at NMME where she was elected a senator and learned about writing bills and getting legislation passed. She told also about learning how a city meeting is run and how government by the people works. She participated in the style show and watched her city's volleyball team win the tournament. She enjoyed meeting girls from around New Mexico and comparing her rural background to that of the city girls in attendance.

Wanda Miller also attended and was also elected to a senate seat using "Wanda Woman" as her campaign slogan. She participated in the chorus.

Lee Land was a Corona Boys State delegate and expressed his belief that the week was a unique opportunity to put into practice the government theories learned in school. "We actually campaigned, and found out how hard it is, and we had to know what that office entailed. We actually ran a mini-government, so we found out what it was like to put into practice what we've read in our textbooks," he said.

Auxiliary President Jeanne Erramouspe thanked Corona High School Head Teacher Pat Perkins for her efforts in organizing the election of delegates each year.

In other presentations, Wanda Miller reported on her trip to Washington and Philadelphia as one of 15 New Mexico winners of a Constitution essay contest sponsored by Sen. Pete Domenici.

Nolan Vickrey, past post commander, reported on the trip to San Antonio for the national convention. He reported that 22,000 attended the meetings and 12,000 marched in the parade.

Around Corona

Kelley and Monty Pounds are parents of their first child, a 9 1/2 pound daughter born Sept. 4 in Albuquerque. She spent a few days in Mountainair before coming to her Pinos Wells ranch home. Patsy Tubbs will introduce Jenna Marie to everyone at a party and baby shower to be given at the Tubbs home at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Roper and Corinne Weehunt attended the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kessler are parents of a daughter, Amy Anne, born Sept. 6 in Alamogordo. The baby has two sisters, Julie and April.

Mr. and Mrs. Roney Nail, Albuquerque, stopped by to see the Steeles Friday afternoon. They were on their way to Ruidoso where they were closing a business outlet.

Terri Cotter and Clain Lee Roper were married Saturday morning, Sept. 12 in the garden of the Lorene and Al Goodman home in St. David, AZ. Mrs. Goodman is mother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Roper at home in Farmington. Earl

Corona school board restates 'concerns'

Corona School Board adopted concerns for the 1987-88 school year, listing those noted in previous years to be of continuing importance.

They are: Emphasize basic skills, K-12; work on college prep skills—requirements, reference, note taking, research, information retrieval, reading, and following directions; bus roads; road around the school.

A fifth concern, improvements to the teacherages was added: The board also adopted purpose: to teach students skills necessary to function as motivated adults.

Board members agreed that community attitudes toward a halfway house at the Lovelace Ranch seem to be generally positive; they agreed to send a letter of support to the project's sponsors.

In her superintendent's report, Lucille King noted that students attending any national or state competition sanctioned by the school can obtain waivers for their absences. The new 10-day rule governing absenteeism in New Mexico schools would otherwise prevent students from participating in many such competitions. Said King, "Students can go (to the competitions), but we just have to do the paperwork so the state knows where these students are and what they're doing."

King explained that schools in the county have been invited to fly school banners over the Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso. The Corona Athletic Booster Club is sponsoring a contest wherein high school students design a banner for that purpose.

King reported that rental contracts on teacherages have been updated and will be given to occupants.

She also said she is actively engaged in searching for funding for playground improvements. She was to attend the Corona Village Council meeting to explore ways to obtain such funding.

In miscellaneous business, the board agreed to pay mileage for the vocational agriculture teacher to attend the fair in Roswell on Sept. 27. Also, members noted that community support of the volleyball team has been great.

The board will meet again on Oct. 13 at 6 p.m. when it will sit as a board policy committee to review suggestions by the New Mexico Public School Insurance Authority dealing with corporal punishment. The board will consider whether or not current policy needs to be changed, and if so, how to best do so.

Food Bank now serves Corona

The Carrizozo/Corona branch of the Lincoln County Food Bank has recently reached into and served the Corona area.

Also, a collection box has been placed at Corona Trading Co. as a convenience for residents to donate food items for the Food Bank.

In Carrizozo food items are collected at Family Pharmacy (which houses the Food Bank) and at local churches. Food shelves continually need restocking.

Fresh and perishable foods are now being accepted. A refrigerator, donated by New Horizons Developmental Center, is now in operation at the Food Bank.

Questions concerning donations or volunteers can be answered by calling Rene Burton, president, at 648-2102; Rosemary Zink, volunteer coordinator, 648-2974; or John Torrison, treasurer, 648-2107.

The Food Bank is open each week on Tuesday from 11 a.m. until noon.

daily operations of state government. It would also mean that few monuments to the Carruthers' administration would be erected during the next three years.

Look for the issue to be a major battle if Lopez does decide to put the issue before the legislature. Some legislators will be upset by not having and more porkbarrel money available. Others will be upset about no more money going into the state's second piggy bank, the severance tax permanent fund.

The unpopularity of an issue has never stopped Lopez before, however. He is the one who introduced the bill in the last regular session to shut down every school district under 500 students.
