EDC signs up new members

A delegation from the Lincoln County Economic Development Corporation was in Carrizozo and Capitan Thursday to enroll members in the new organization.

The following businesses and individuals in Carrizozo became members of the group, according to Don Shaw, spokesman for the "recruiting team:"

United New Mexico Bank, Scott Shafer; Family Pharmacy, Hal Sims; King's Food Market, Pete King; Gift Gallery, Roy Dow; Outpost Bar, Harold Garcia. Businesses that recently became members include Otero Electric Co-op, Lincoln County News and Lincoln County Board of Commissioners.

New members in Capitan are Cummins Corp., Hollis and David Cummins; and Capitan Electric, Bill Randle.

The EDC now has 130 members. A board of directors will be elected when the number reaches 150. EDC has a goal of 200 members before launching its countywide program for economic development.

Next meeting of the EDC is set for Nov. 19, 6 p.m., at the Texas-New Mexico Power Company, 1100 Mechem Dr., Ruidoso.

Drawing lots breaks tie in SWCD election

For the first time in the history of the Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District there will be a woman on the board of supervisors. Not only will there be a woman on the board, but there have been two women seated on the board.

The Oct. 27 election ended in a tie, the first time ever for any of the 47 districts in the state to have an election end in a tie. Carolyn Lietzman, who had agreed to run for the office, received eight votes and Knollene McDaniel received eight write-in votes.

According to state statutes the method to use to break a tie in the election is to 'draw lots.' When the SWCD board of supervisors met Nov. 12 they did 'draw lots' for the position. Lietzman and McDaniel were present at the meeting and agreed to the procedure.

Lietzman won the draw and will serve a three-year term. McDaniel will serve a one-year term as an appointed member. Other board members are Gordon Barham, Billy Bob Shafer, Bob Hemphill and chairman Bill Bryan of Corona.

Did Weldon yield to US pressure?

DA fires Wilcox in dispute over O Bar O trespass case

By RUTH HAMMOND

"What he was asking me to do was wrong," Harry Wilcox Jr., former senior trial prosecutor for the 12th judicial district attorney's office, told the NEWS in response to the publication of his dismissal by district attorney James Weldon.

"I recognize that Mr.

Weldon is the district attorney," Wilcox told the NEWS, "but I also clearly recognize that what he was asking me to do was wrong."

The matter being discussed was Weldon's request that Wilcox dismiss the criminal complaint in the O Bar O trespass case against the US Forest Service and two forest service employees who were placed under citizen's arrest by O Bar O owner Carol Lietzman on Aug. 19.

When Wilcox did not dismiss the case Weldon himself dismissed the case with prejudice on Nov. 10. Dismissing a case with prejudice means the case cannot be refiled.

On Nov. 12 Weldon sent Wilcox a letter asking for Wilcox's resignation effective not later than Dec. 11, 1987. Wilcox has until Dec. 11 to remove his things from the office and return keys.

"I never told Mr. Weldon that I would not dismiss the case," Wilcox said. "I told him that I could not in good conscience dismiss the case because of my moral values and because I felt it would violate the professional code of responsibility to which all lawyers are duty-bound to follow."

"It is professional misconduct for a lawyer to engage in a course of action which will result in the prejudicial administration of justice," Wilcox continued. "I warned Mr. Weldon prior to his dismissal of the case that his dismissal would be prejudicial to the administration of justice, which is my duty to warn a fellow lawyer of any conduct brought to my attention that would be in violation of the professional code of responsibility."

"The main reason I had a problem with dismissing the case was due to a telephone conversation between him and myself wherein he stated to me that he was getting pressure from the United States Attorney's office and from the United States Forest Service to dismiss, and further stated that any affiliation with the Lietzman name would be political suicide.

"Not only was I extremely offended by these crass statements, I felt an obligation to reveal to him that those reasons were not sufficient to dismiss the case and were in violation of the professional code of responsibility."

"Accordingly, I could not be a part of any such action," Wilcox said. "Not only do I have to answer to the New Mexico State Bar, I also have to answer to my own conscience and to God."

"What he was asking me to do was wrong," Wilcox (Cont'd on P. 3)

Missile intercepts, destroys simulated incoming missile

Maybe you have been wondering what all the fire and noise is on White Sands Missile Range west of Carrizozo. Well, the Army stopped a bullet, with a bullet, when soldiers last week fired a Patriot missile and intercepted another Patriot missile during a test at White Sands Missile Range.

The successful test on Nov. 4 demonstrates that Patriot can counter short range, conventional tactical missiles similar to those facing US soldiers and other NATO forces in Europe," the Army said.

Although specific details are classified, the intercept occurred at medium range and altitude. During the test, Patriot's computer-controlled, phased array radar, detected and tracked the incoming Patriot, representing a surrogate tactical ballistic missile.

The interceptor missile, featuring hardware improvements to the fuze and warhead, then successfully intercepted and destroyed the target.

Tests of the improved Patriot missile to collect data and demonstrate its anti-tactical missile capabilities are continuing at White Sands.

The test, in full compliance with the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty, is part of an Army-sponsored program to incorporate anti-tactical missile capability into Patriot.

Patriot, the Army's newest and most advanced air defense system currently being deployed with US and NATO forces in Europe, has repeatedly demonstrated its capability to destroy high performance aircraft in a countermeasure environment. And in late 1986, a modified Patriot showed its potential to defend against tactical ballistic missiles, as well, by intercepting and destroying a Lance missile at White Sands.

The Lance intercept demonstrated software changes to the system while last week's test incorporated hardware changes.

Patriot's inherent flexibility enables it to defend against both advanced aircraft and tactical ballistic missiles.

Soldiers assigned to test activities at White Sands conducted the test.

Col. Bruce Garnett is Patriot project manager and A.Q. Oldacre is his civilian deputy, at a Redstone Arsenal, with support from Harry Diamond Laboratory at Adelphi, MD. Raytheon Company is prime contractor, Martin Marietta the principal subcontractor. Morton-Thiokol is the propulsion subcontractor and Bendix Corp. provided the missile fuze.

Is the city broke?

Ruidoso's expenditures mount, but without taxpayer participation

By J. A. "AL" JUNGE

The results of the Ruidoso Council meeting of Nov. 10 was reported as "business as usual" in the local press; however, this meeting was anything but uneventful if one looks at the obvious.

Jess Stinson was appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by the sudden departure of Councilman Carpenter. This appointment of the 11th councilman to complete a six-person council must set some sort of record in turnover of councilmen. The voters opted to change the council from four to six persons in 1984. This must prove that those voters who are now complaining have only themselves to blame.

A councilman told me, "believe it or not this council tonight did not vote to spend any money." This is true. However, the council did opt to have the taxpayers spend their own money. Here is how it went: Three "self-help" programs recommended. (1) Main Street Program, (2) Adopt a Median, (3) Keep New Mexico Beautiful. These programs, certainly not to be degraded, all have a common denominator. The storekeeper, the businessman, the taxpayer will provide the time, efforts and the money. Nowhere can you find a commitment by any governmental agency to fund any of these projects.

These are great ideas; however, we pay a lot of taxes so, how about some participation from other than the taxpayers? A suggestion was made that local citizens might pick up the trash after athletic events. Who's kidding? Is the city treasury really broke?

Someone must have mentioned to the mayor that committee appointments were in arrears as he made nine appointments without council discussion. This will, no doubt, reduce the number of delayed or cancelled committee meetings due to a lack of quorum.

Tim Morris, Ruidoso Airport manager, showed a constructive and informative video of work accomplished thus far on the Sierra Blanca Airport. Opening date is on schedule and all is on the upbeat except for the matter of money. There is a considerable disagreement between those concerned with completing the project on whether funds will be available to complete this venture.

The county's mill tax was supposedly to assist in funding the airport. Now, it appears that the 1 mill tax was not intended other than to secure matching funds for the airport. Isn't it possible to obtain, even at this late date, a figure to show the final turnkey cost of this job and an accounting of all available funds with the resulting shortfall, if any? This would be very helpful to many of us.

At this meeting the Ruidoso Council decided to join the Water Defense Association. Hubert H. Quintana, executive director, presented a resolution to the

New Mexico seeking three post offices

WASHINGTON—Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) has urged that the Postal Service put three New Mexico post office projects on its priority list for fiscal year 1988.

The three projects are new post offices for Belen, Alamogordo and Ruidoso.

"I understand the Postal Service has conducted site reviews in these three communities," Bingaman wrote yesterday in a letter to Postmaster General Preston R. Tisch, "and has determined that new facilities are critically needed. I support this analysis and request that these projects be included in this year's project priority list."

Bingaman also told Tisch: "As you know, New Mexico is largely a rural state and thus requires local post office service in order to adequately meet the needs of individual communities."

Present facilities in all three towns are considered inadequate by the Postal Service, which is now in the process of reviewing and establishing priorities for new Ruidoso Council which was passed with all voting "aye." This resolution says, in part: "Ruidoso joins as a participating member to aid in conserving our limited resources." In view of a previous report that Ruidoso has already invested $265,000 for engineering and attorney fees in the water suit, let's hope that this merger will reduce Ruidoso's heavy investment as the suit progresses through the courts.

At the same meeting the city engineer presented a survey covering the Upper Canyon Bridge #1. This survey covered a small strip of land to be given up by Bill Rawlins in exchange for an area of similar size adjacent to the same property and which was necessary in order to remodel the bridge. Thinking that this

A check for $100 was authorized for the FFA travel fund.

Sue Maness and Mrs. Latham will attend the Joint Cattle Growers and Wool Growers convention to be held in Albuquerque Dec. 3-5. She urged all members to get busy and send letters to the Forest Service and BLM supporting the PRIA formula. Twenty thousand letters are needed to be in the Washington offices of BLM and the Forest Service before Nov. 23.

Carol McConnell was authorized to buy a $69 surplus four-drawer filing cabinet to be kept in Robin Pfeiffer's home.

The door prize won by Loretta Proctor was a shell covered jewel box sent from Florida by Cleo Madden.

stalled at the December meeting: president, JoAnn Proctor; 1st vice-president, Frances Fuller; 2nd vice-president, Carol McConnell; secretary, Sandy Hendricks with Lee Sultemeler alternate; and treasurer, Esther Johnson. Loretta Proctor is parliamentarian.

The next meeting will be Friday, Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Johnson, 11 a.m., covered dish and a gift exchange.

New project coordinator for Carrizozo SCS office

Howard Shanks is the new project coordinator with the South Central Mountain RC&D, a program of the Soil Conservation Service. He began his duties in the Carrizozo office Oct. 12.

A native of New Mexico, Shanks was born in Roswell, reared on a ranch east of Corona and now lives in Capitan with his wife Mary and two sons, Mike 17 and Chris 15. Mary teaches 2nd grade for Capitan schools.

Shanks graduated from Abilene Christian University in 1967 with a degree in range management. His career with the SCS began that same year and he has since worked in Las Cruces, Deming, Tucumcari, Roswell and Denver.

His duties as project coordinator for Otero and Lincoln counties include working with local organizations, soil conservation districts, towns and counties to promote economic development and resource conservation in rural areas.

RC&D (Resource Conservation and Development) areas help people care for and use their natural resources in a way that will improve their community's economy, environment and living standards.

RC&D goals include reducing pollution of air, water and soil; improving land and water resources for agricultural, municipal, industrial, recreational, transportation and wildlife uses; achieving better land use; providing soil, water and related information to agencies who guide resource management; improving local markets for farm, crops and forest and handcraft projects, and carrying out planned activities such as erosion and sedimentation control, flood prevention, farm irrigation, land drainage, fish and wildlife habitat improvement and water quality management. Some activities, such as flood prevention, erosion control, land drainage, farm irrigation, agriculture-related pollutant control and public water-based fish and wildlife and recreation developments are often financed through RC&D funds. Assistance from other federal and state programs is often provided to RC&D sponsors to help them carry out their plan.

During the 20 years the SCM-RC&D council has been in existence, 269 projects have been accepted. These projects cover many areas, such as wildlife management (one of the first projects), getting money allotted for the Pinon pipeline in 1977, getting the White Oaks road paved in 1968-69, and obtaining the prints by famous artists that hang in the Lincoln County courthouse. The prints were donated by the artists.

Shanks attended his first RC&D meeting in March 1979. Now in 1987 he is the second full-time project coordinator for that council. When he isn't working, he likes to play golf and help with the family ranch east of Arabela. He is also active in the Church of Christ Capitan.

When our deaf customers call, Sue breaks the sound barrier.

Sue works at our Telecommunications Center for Disabled Customers. And by using some very special equipment, she communicates in a way that our deaf customers can understand.

That enables her to answer any questions our hearing-impaired customers have about their phone service. Like how to order a new phone. Or disconnect one. Questions about bills. Plus any others about the special services and discounts we offer disabled customers. If you do give Sue a call, one other thing that becomes clear is how satisfying she finds her job. Probably because she's helping some of Mountain Bell's most important customers find answers. And in the process, breaking down a few barriers.

Sue can be reached toll-free, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 1 800 525-6028 (for TDD calls), or 1 800 525-3156 (for voice conversations).

DA fires Wilcox

stated firmly. "During the interim of our conversation, Mr. Weldon stated that he would allow the case to proceed until the 20th of November, which would have given federal court sufficient time to rule on the motion to remand the case back to state court."

"It was my understanding that Mr. Weldon agreed that he was going to dismiss the case after the deadline he set. He told me not to worry, that he was going to take all the slack for the dismissal; he stated he was getting pressure from both the top and the bottom, indicating he had received some calls from Washington, DC."

"It was shortly after this discussion that God gave me the vision," Wilcox said, referring to a vision from God that was printed in an article in the Ruidoso News on Nov. 9.

In the article Wilcox is quoted as saying he had a vision after telling Weldon that he could not dismiss the case. "That evening God gave me a vision," the paper quoted him as saying. "It came to me in a dream. I was standing in front of a fiery furnace. I saw three people who identified themselves as Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. They told me they had been in the fiery furnace and asked me what I was going to do... they asked me if I would bow. Before I could answer I woke up."

Wilcox said he then reread the Old Testament story in his Bible. "After reading the story it is my decision that I will not dismiss the case even though I may be cast into a fiery furnace," he said.

When asked about the vision, Wilcox responded that the vision was taken somewhat out of context, stating that the vision was more in line with pressure being exerted by the federal government.

Wilcox then told the NEWS of the letter he received from Weldon dated Nov. 12. "Mr. Weldon stated: I have the News article which appeared Tuesday, and after reading it, I cannot accept your protestation that you did not intend any insubordination. To the contrary, not only do I find it insubordinate, I find it absolutely unbelievable."

Weldon's letter to Wilcox continues: "Any decisions made in this office are made because they are dictated by law, reason and fact. The Constitution provides for the separation of Church and State and neither I nor any of my people make decisions based upon dreams, visions or religious experience."

Weldon's letter further states: "As the district attorney, the ultimate responsibility for decision making is mine. Although I can and do allow my assistants to make routine decisions, I am not about to overlook the embarrassment of your statements. I have dismissed the case and a copy is enclosed. Under these circumstances, I must ask for your resignation effective not later than Dec. 11, 1987. As of that date, your appointment as assistant district attorney will be terminated."

Wilcox told the NEWS that the termination has resulted in an extreme hardship on him and his family. Wilcox is not in the office and is taking unused vacation time.

"I recognize that Mr. Weldon is the district attorney," Wilcox said in a final statement. "But I also clearly recognize that what he was asking me to do was wrong."

Weldon told the NEWS that Wilcox was fired for "refusal to follow orders." When asked if Wilcox flaunted authority by not dismissing the case Weldon responded, "Yes. I am responsible for decision made in this office."

When asked if Wilcox's vision contributed to his dismissal, Weldon said, "Not as much as the statement that he was not going to dismiss the case." As to the vision, Weldon said, "It was an improper thing to say. Decisions should be made upon fact and law."

Weldon has appointed Robert Laughlin of Carlsbad as assistant district attorney. Laughlin is to begin his duties Dec. 14.

Carolyn Lietzman's response to the dismissal filed by Weldon, "I feel outraged, like we are in some dark age."

BLESS YOU DAVE RHODES

Last week I received a letter from Dave Rhodes. He informed me that in Sept. of 1984 his car was repossessed and bill collectors were hounding him "like I wouldn't believe." Poor Dave was laid off and his unemployment had run out.

Dave went on to tell me that the following month he received a letter in the mail telling him how he could earn $50,000 or more. Dave writes that he was very skeptical, but decided to try it because he was desperate and had nothing to lose. "I scraped together the few dollars needed" for the money-making program which works perfectly.

Today, Dave, my friend, is rich. He has earned over $200,000 to date and will become a millionaire within the next 4 to 6 months. He is currently building a new home in Virginia and Dave tells me that he will never have to work again.

I have never met Dave. I had never heard of Dave Rhodes until I received his badly Xerox copied letter. I call him my friend because he gives me, a stranger, and six other strangers across the USA the opportunity to take advantage of this wonderful "legal money-making program."

Bless you Dave Rhodes, who ever you are. Thank you, but no thanks.

BEST OF ALL

In this column I recently wrote (tongue-in-cheek style) of the millions of dollars celebrities have been offering me via sweepstake winnings. Rhodes' deal does not require me to sell or buy anything. I never have to come in contact with people. And best of all, I never have to leave my home, except to go to the post office or mailbox.

Rhodes' letter reminds me of a chain letter but I am not threatened with misfortune, like injury or something more permanent, like death. And I don't have to recite 100 "Our Fathers." To make my dreams come true, my ex-friend Dave says that I simply follow the instructions below.

OPPORTUNITY SEEKERS.

If I follow the instructions exactly in 20 to 60 days I will have received "well over $50,000 in cash and it's all yours!"

I must immediately send $2 to each of the six names listed. I am told to please send cash only. I remove the names that is in the #1 position and move the other five names up one number. I place my name in the #6 position. Then I should Xerox or print 100 copies or more with my name in the number 6 position.

I am told to get a list of 100 or more names from a mailing list company. (Dave says that their lists have proven to be the most effective for this "type of program.") Two telephone numbers are given to me in order for me to obtain 100 or more addresses. (The cost is $15 for 100, $20 for 200, $30 for 500, $50 for 1000.)

While I wait for my mailing list to arrive, I can place 100 or more copies of the letter in envelopes, seal and stamp them. A return address is optional. (Bashful Dave just penned "#6." The postmark is from Phoenix, AZ.)

When my mailing list arrives, each name is printed on gummed labels. I merely place a label on each of the envelopes and drop them in the mailbox. Within 60 days I should receive over $50,000 in cash. I am told that I should keep a copy of the letter with my name listed so that I can use it whenever I need more money.

I LOVE THIS COUNTRY

This week I received a similar letter from Peggie Honea of Texas, TX. She's nicer than Dave. She quotes the Bible: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Peggie tells me to be honest in every way and "remember, cheaters never win. Be sure to keep accurate records for income tax purposes."

Peggie writes that before I say "Bull!" to please study her letter carefully. I studied her three-page single spaced letter and said, "Junk mail!"

She's nicer than Dave, anyway. There are only five persons on her list and only asks for $1 for each. Her instructions are sometimes called "suggestions." She not only gives me telephone numbers to obtain mailing lists she also gives me complete mailing addresses of three companies that deal in a method of raising business capital "that really works... everytime... 100%."

Her bull, I mean her letter, includes letters written by participants in the program. W. W. Capers, S. Frisch and J. Holliman tell how skeptical they were but it really works.

FIDUCIARY DUTY

"In you we have entrusted a fundamental and fiduciary responsibility to carry instructions without change," Peggie writes. "Consider yourself fortunate to be invited to participate because this system really works." (I am asked to refer to Title 18, Sec. 1302 of the US Postal and Lottery Laws, if I have any doubts.)

My opinion: The main ones generating funds from this method of raising money are VISA and Master Card companies, the mailing list agencies, and the US Postal System and Ma Bell.

DAV to transport to VA medical centers

Carrizozo veterans need not worry about transportation to and from the Veterans Administration (VA) medical center in El Paso.

That hospital will be one of 19 VA medical facilities to receive a van from the non-profit Disabled American Veterans (DAV) on Nov. 17. The donation was made possible through a cooperative effort of the DAV's national organization and its Department of Texas.

The van will be driven by volunteers from local DAV chapters and DAV auxiliary units. These volunteers will be participating in a nationwide DAV National Transportation Network. Overseeing the program at the VA Medical facility in El Paso will be DAV Hospital Service Coordinator Robert E. Kennedy.

The number of DAV-donated vans across the country will increase in 24 by the end of the year. The one-million-member organization hopes to fully meet the transportation needs of veterans at all of the VA's 172 medical centers before the end of 1988, donating vans wherever necessary.

The largest painting now in existence is probably The Battle of Gettysburg, completed in 1883, after two and a half years of work, by Paul Philip Tesut and 16 assistants. The painting is 410 feet long, 70 feet high and weighs 11,782 pounds.

OPINION

I need your help. For the past six months I have sought ways to deliver a sharp, powerful kick to the corporate crotch of Mountain Bell. For all this time the Lincoln County News has been forced to act as a service and information center for Mountain Bell's in tracking down the Lincoln County Assessor's Office. When new phone numbers were assigned in the county courthouse, they gave the assessor the number already assigned to the Lincoln County News. Several times a day since then employees at the NEWS take calls from people trying to reach the assessor. Each time this happens we have to explain to the caller that the phone company screwed up, then we have to give out the correct phone number. Numerous calls to Mountain Bell produce no help at all. They are sorry, they say. But they do nothing, which leads me to suspect the company is owned and operated by the government. For our sake, please don't call the assessor. But if you must, don't call 648-2306. Call the correct number:

And don't forget to say something nasty about Mountain Bell!

I have been in a state of shock for a week. Only now can I write about it. What must have stunned the nation was a miracle in Santa Fe that beats turning water into wine. Willard Lewis, finance secretary, told members of the Legislative Finance Committee he is asking for a 2.9 percent cut in his 1988-89 budget. After minutes of stunned silence, Sen. Mike Alarid (D-Bernalillo) a member of the Legislative Finance Committee, said, "This frightens us." He was frightened even more when Lewis said he plans to abolish the Management Analysis and Program Department (14 employees) and the Local Government Division, dismissing or transferring their employees. Lewis' request for less money will save taxpayers $191,000 next year, which should be about enough to erect a monument to this unique government bureaucrat.

Conventional wisdom suggests the Democrats will take the White House in 1988. Since newspaper moguls delight in predicting coming events, herewith my vision of key cabinet and administrative posts under President Jesse Jackson: Toney Anaya, vice-president; secretary of defense, Louis Farrakand, close friend of the president and head of the Black Muslims who are out to kill all the white folks; secretary of health, education and welfare, Michael Swift, militant sodomist, providing he hasn't died of AIDS; secretary of state, US Rep. George Crockett, our current in-house communist; chief-of-staff, Tom Hayden of the California Assembly, former terrorist and celebrated traitor; secretary of transportation will be whoever is head of the Teamsters Union, provided he isn't in prison at the time; US ambassador to the UN, Angela Davis; US ambassador to the Vatican, Madalyn Murray O'Hair; secretary of the treasury, US Rep. Harold Ford (D-TN) indicted by a federal grand jury in a $350,000 scam to enable him to live an "extravagant and lavish lifestyle"; office of budget management, US Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-NY) sentenced to prison recently for fraud, racketeering, extortion and bribery; to head the Environmental Protection Agency, Ms. Helen Caldicott, reformed baby doctor; to head the Central Intelligence Agency, Ralph Nadar; attorney general, Gary Mitchell; secretary of agriculture, Eleanor Smeal of the National Organization of Women because of her long association with various types of fertilizer; and press secretary, Bob Woodward of the Washington Post.

The latest broad-based support for the Democratic Party comes from the homosexuals. This is why I predict that Michael Swift will be the choice for Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. He nailed down the post recently when he wrote in Boston's "Gay Community News" this warning to parents:

"We shall sodomize your sons, emblems of your feeble masculinity, of your shallow dreams and vulgar lies. We shall seduce them in our schools, in your dormitories, in your gymnasiums, in your locker rooms, in your sports arenas, in your seminaries, in your truck stops, in your all-male clubs, in your houses of Congress, wherever men are with men together. Your sons shall become our minions and do our bidding. They will be recast in our image. They will come to crave and adore us . . ."

"All laws banning homosexual activity will be revoked. . . If you dare cry faggot, fairy, queer at us, we will stab you in your cowardly hearts. . . All churches who condemn us will be closed. Our only gods are handsome young men. . . We shall be victorious because we are fueled with the ferocious bitterness of the oppressed. . . We too are capable of firing guns and manning the barricades of ultimate revolution."

Have a nice day.

God is getting a real trashing these days. He has been drummed out of government, thrown out of public schools, deserted by some "religious" organizations and His houses of worship zoned out of communities across the land. The American Civil Liberties Union has usurped His authority, with support of the American people. Last week Carrizozo's assistant district attorney Harry Wilcox Jr. was fired for having reported to a newspaper that he had experienced "a vision from God." The tax people have begun taxing church property. Ministers are being required to obtain licenses to conduct religious services, which puts them at the mercy of the state, not at the mercy of God. The Bible has been rewritten. Secular humanism, a philosophy that rejects God, is rampant, and has now been classified as a "religion." This nation was founded on a strong belief in God, and the US Constitution was devised only after many supplications to God for guidance. What has gone wrong?

SANTA FE—Our old friend Fred McCaffrey has finally checked back in with us.

You will recall that Fred is the fellow who wrote this column for about 10 years. In early July, he and wife, Jan, left us for retirement on the British island of Montserrat in the West Indies, which is about as far south and east in the Caribbean as one can get.

Fred said he was going to teach religion to boys in a Jesuit school but we loyal readers of his column over the years should have known we can't believe everything Fred says.

When I bought this column from him, I put a non-competition clause in the contract. Fred cheerfully signed it saying, "If you think I'm ever going to write another political column, you gotta be crazy."

It turns out Fred was the crazy one. It didn't take him long on the island of his dreams to get talked into writing a political column for one of the two newspapers. It was owned by the political party which was in the minority—the not-very-loyal opposition.

Fred took on the majority party's campaign to bring gambling to the island with the same fervor he took on the state lottery proposal in the 1987 Legislature. The ensuing actions by the island's government should give us all a much greater appreciation of our Constitution's 1st Amendment rights.

Fred and Jan were given seven days to pack up all their possessions and leave. We didn't hear from them for almost a month. All it took was a call from me to Sen. Domenici's office last Monday morning asking them to start making some inquiries about him to produce a letter from Fred in my mailbox that evening.

They are safe and currently situated on the nearby island of St. Kitts. They will be there for at least six months—unless Fred unpacks his typewriter and lets temptation get the best of him again.

Fred requests I share this address "with all those pious souls who feel bereft of our company." Mail can be sent in care of J.A. Cramer, Box 95, Fortlands, Basseterre, St. Kitts, West Indies. If marked AIR MAIL, it will arrive in about nine days. Otherwise, it takes at least a month.

Fred would not appreciate my even mentioning the name of Les Houston in the same column with him but I'm going to because that is the biggest political news of the day in more ways than one.

A couple of weeks ago, Les was elected by his Senate Republican colleagues to be their floor leader in the next session. He won in a race with four others who were interested in the job.

Houston says he didn't really seek the position but that he would probably have felt guilty if he didn't do everything he could to help Gov. Garrey Carruthers get his programs through the Legislature.

I assume Fred had you well enough trained that you will accord that statement about the same amount of credence as you did with Fred's story about becoming a religious school teacher.

There have been few legislators as crafty and hard-working as Les Houston—Aubrey Dunn is the only one in my estimation who is in the same league. Aubrey also had another quality which Les lacks in order to be the complete politician—the ability to influence people without them feeling they've been hit by a steamroller.

If it is possible for Les to learn a little statesmanship, he very well could be the most positive factor in getting Carruthers' program through the legislature.

Ruidoso's expenditures...

survey would eliminate the problems which had surfaced between the city and Mr. Rawlins, the council approved the survey without reference to Rawlins, who was in the audience.

But they were wrong! Rawlins refused to sign the survey covering the land swap. Why? Simply because promises made to him had not been kept.

Rawlins, representing himself as well as other residents in the Upper Canyon, had attended several meetings with the city manager, city attorney and city engineer. Each time an agreement (bridge restoration) was made only to be amended later by the city engineer. The same situation occurred a year ago and the plans were finally dumped into the waste basket.

Fortunately for all, a new player entered the picture. Due to the reported hospitalization of city attorney John Underwood, Mike Runnels is now the acting city attorney. It required only two meetings with Rawlins to reach an agreement acceptable to all parties. Now the bridge reconstruction can begin. Thanks, Mike Runnels. All of us who have fought the bridge fight thank you!

So much for a very interesting city council meeting.

Now, to the saga of the Eagle Creek wells.

On Nov. 10 bids were received by the city designed to construct an underground pipeline and roadway from the Eagle Creek wells to a diversion point near Highway 37. The low bid of $768,000 was $273,000 over the engineer's estimate of $495,000.

The failure of the bid process was fortunate for the taxpayers of Ruidoso.

There are those who consider the Eagle Creek well project as a waste of the taxpayers' money. Until the Tribe's water suit is settled there is no guarantee that water from these wells will ever be used as Ruidoso's water supply. Even so, should Ruidoso require the well water in the future there is a natural creek bed which can be used to bring the water to this city. So why the expensive water line? Good question!

The News for Nov. 12 noted that the total funds spent on the Eagle Creek wells thus far is $2,369,000. Professional, engineering, and other services amount to $1,569,000. This results in a difference of $800,000, which is the cost of the wells—drilling, outfitting, etc. The original estimates to drill the Eagle Creek wells was about $450,000.

The last item listed in the News list of well expenses is shown as $1,328,000—water rights. This is not correct and simply not true. No water rights were bought. The amount paid was a "finders fee" paid to Atkins Engineering for finding the water source. A fee of $200 per acre foot of water found was in addition to the cost of drilling the wells. The fee arrangement was covered in a contract signed by the mayor and council in 1984. This contract was signed in spite of questions by the city attorney. This agreement was considered an "open end" contract without controlling the final amount obligated under terms of the agreement. The contract should not have been signed as originally written. This oversight cost Ruidoso $1,328,000.

Finally, the administration has spent over $2,500,000 without consultation with the taxpayers. No question of legality, just a matter of morality. Both are equally important. With the ongoing Tribe water suit and other problems we face at the present time, the citizens of Ruidoso better wake up as time is running out.

Gold, water prospecting in the Jicarilla Mountains

By CHRIS HARKEY

The third and last article written by George M. T. Fowler and published in the Lincoln County Leader of White Oaks, New Mexico. By Wm. Caffrey, Editor, on Feb. 22, 1980.

From the Capitan Mountains Fowler and his crew prospected for gold and water in the Jicarillas. After a hundred years, the water well and evidences of their winter camp are still visible in Spring Canyon or "Gulch" on the Harkey Ranch near Carrizozo.

with a huge rock chimney at one end which we would fill with pine knots, get our literature and rear back as comfortable as a bug in a rug. During the winter we had many severe snow storms, but it mattered not how cold it was it was a perpetual Spring inside our shack if we wished it to be so—Often we have risen in the morning and found the snow to be 2 or 3 feet deep on the ground, while around our shack would be a well eaten path made the mountain lions, where they were seeking a place to share our fresh meat so tempting to them. One dark and stormy night, very late, the roaring of a hen outside my shack, near the head of my bed, turned me into an iceberg.

From the thriving little village of Cienega Del Macho we drifted to the rich mining district of the Jicarilla Mountains, where we found every gulch and canyon inhabited and worked by the energetic miners. Our first acquaintances in those mining camps were old Bro. Spilke and Mr. Ross, the owner of the Jicarilla Spring, the only water in the entire district, except a muddy tank down at the Hockradle place.

The miners were all using drywashers in separating the placer gold from the sand, something we had never seen before, as this was our experience in a country so rich with gold. They all seemed to be making money, and were clever, happy and content. There were at the same time, several shafts being sunk on leads, or ledges and was claimed to assay very rich of gold. Stamp mills would have paid at that time in many places in the Jicarillas, if a sufficient supply of water could have been found to run them.

But water sufficient to run sluice boxes and mills has always kept the richest developments from being made in the Jicarilla district. I believe it to be one of the richest sections in New Mexico, but it will take big capital to develop it. We have seen many heaps of rock and dirt thrown up in those gulches, and on the mountain sides, by men with more faith than money, who had blown in their little stock, with no show for it, only a shallow, worthless hole in the ground—but we have known others to make a good stake in a short time. We soon learned that such was life in a miner's camp.

About the time we arrived in this district, Biggs & McPherson had begun a well in the big canyon on the Las Vegas road, just above Hockradle's tank. They were hunting for water to run their saw mill with, as the gulches and the mountain sides abounded with fine pine timber. But after some six or eight months' labor, having blasted through solid rock something near 150 feet they quit it after an expense of some $2,000.

The miners in the district were greatly in hopes that water would be found in this well, as it would save many of them from having to carry it in kegs over those high divides, on a burro's back, or on their shoulders.

After cruising about those camps for a time we felt our purse too light to carry us any great distance down into the earth in search of the shining metal, so we began to prospect for water, seeing that it was an article very much needed in the district for the good of both man and beast. Having prospected every canyon in the mountains for the nearest route by which to tap the largest one of the earth's blood vessels possible, we decided on a lonely but picturesque little cove in Spring Gulch, facing out upon the great Pecos Plains, about a mile below Ross's well—perhaps the better known as the Jicarilla Spring. Here we set our pick and shovel to work, about the first of January, 1887. For our winter quarters, while working, we constructed us a casset of pine poles and puncheons, set up against a centre pole, chicken-coop fashion,

It was several days before my clothes would fit me. I began to think that an unhealthy locality for a civil man, but as our work progressed rapidly, we concluded to stick it out but we would get very lonesome sometimes, as our neighbors were not very thick, and on Sundays we would visit among the camps to hear tell of the discovery of the week's work and experience in the Territory and Lincoln County—Billy the Kid and the Lincoln Co. War were familiar topics of discussion with many other important subjects, such as future prospects, so bright for the Jicarillas, White Oaks and other adjacent mining districts, besides the vast and various resources of the entire Territory. Well, such conversation pleased us and always built up our knowledge and estimate of the country, and we could go back to our isolated camp wiser and in better spirits generally. So, with much faith and cultivated vigor we carried out well down through solid rock to the depth of 42 feet, when we struck a good flow of cold water. Never were hearts prouder than ours, nor faith and courage stronger.

This was about the latter part of February. In a short time we sold the well to a stockman from the plains by the name of James Ibellon, as we had no stock of our own. We then left the energetic miners of the Jicarillas, for the beautiful mountain city of White Oaks. Here we found our own in a thrifty mining town, where energy, business, peace and prosperity, reigned supreme. Money appeared to be flush and was floating promiscuously. The people were generous and sociable, but among them were a few curiosities that must have been imported, of which Ann Cummins was a sample, as she was ever ready to greet you on the street with a "Have you seen anything of Josh?" This was nothing new to us, for we had heard the same when a boy on the frontier of Texas during Comanche Indian invasions. Bro. Sligh and Jack Far are other good samples. Well, we soon found that there was work to do on every side. There were the vast and rich coal beds in the Patos and Carizo Mountains that were being extensively worked, besides there were the stamp mills and the N. and S. Homestake mines on Baxter, employing lots of labor. We found plenty of work at good pay.

About this time Fowler & Sligh formed a water and wind-mill Co., Sligh furnishing the wind and mill and Fowler the water. This company discovered the spring at the head of the Mal Pais and sank the 100 foot well for Chas. Mayer after which a hurricane from Sligh exploded the thing. The company was truly detonated by the LEADER "the devil and the witch." The devil did his best to down the witch but the witch having read of him in the Gospel by St. Gaffrey, bewitched him and held him level.

This was about March '87, and the big excitement over the great discovery of the Parson's Mine was creating a stir among the people all over the country. Everything that could shake a pan tried to get there first. But 'twas not long so soon they were glad to return to their old love. After a few months we had become so much attached to the town and surrounding country that we thought it to be our everlasting habitation. Especially were we favorably impressed with the climate there, the most beautiful and healthy we had ever experienced in a life under a Southern sun.

But the knowledge of our meager resources often cast a shadow over our eyes and heart. Upon all sides we could see wealth untold that would ever lie dormant until touched by the power of capital. As time rolls on it will be brought out little by little until New Mexico, one day, will have surmounted the grandest heights ever attained by any section of America.

Well, excuse me, for this is already much too long, but I could write and forget my meals on the subject of New Mexico, and the Great West. Not at all tired of the people or country we bid adieu to White Oaks and all her surrounding glory one pleasant morning in August '87, taking stage via Carthage, for Texas.

The End.

Corona FFA wins a silver award

The Corona chapter of the Future Farmers of America competed in the 10th Annual National Parliamentary Law Contest Nov. 10-11 in Carthage, MO against state winning teams from 18 other states.

The top eight teams went to the finals and received gold emblem ratings, while the remaining 11 teams were ranked either silver or bronze.

The Liberty chapter from Spangle, WA took top honors in the contest while the chapters from Gainesville, MO and Chipley, FL were second and third, respectively. The Corona chapter, consisting of Julie Furgason, Michael Pounds, Traci Kelley, Jason Gibbs and Tommy Mulkey took a silver emblem from the contest and were presented a plaque recognizing their efforts.

Corona won their way to the national invitational contest by capturing the state championship in the New Mexico State chapter Farmer Parliamentary Procedure Contest held last June. It was the first chapter from New Mexico to compete in the contest, which has now grown to 19 states.

The contest was an educational experience for all members because of the fierce competition. Also, for Corona advisor Jamie Widner, it was an experience that was beyond compare because, "I got to see how many other states run their contests and I found out that most states are close to the same. It just takes a little adaptation."

Following the contest the Corona chapter continued on to the 60th National FFA Convention, where they saw speakers like Roger Staubach and Lee Iacocca relate their experiences about the important subject of leadership. Other members making the trip were Tina Aaron, James Miller, Garrick Hobbs, Alethea Knight, Sandra Copeland and Alvie McKibben.

Corona paving project gets final inspection

Corona Village Council met with engineers and inspectors Monday for final inspection of Phase II street paving project.

Mayor Ernest Lueras went over specific areas of concern, including foreseeable drainage problems, with Bob Echols of Brewer Associates, engineers for the project, and Lee Hale, contractor for the project. All agreed that the final seal remains to be done, but weather conditions will not permit a guaranteed seal until next May or June.

In discussion centering around drainage, Hale commented, "I think you have roads that will last a long time, but maintenance is important in drainage." He emphasized that culverts and ditches will have to be kept clean, either by residents or the village. Echols suggested that the council may want to somehow regulate care of the new pavement: cutting into it or otherwise altering the streets and/or shoulders may be controlled by village ordinances.

Tony Lara, representing New Mexico State Highway Department, said, "I also feel you have a good project here. As far as the highway department is concerned, the project is complete."

The group took a walking tour through Corona with Lueras and Councilman Janetta Stewart pointing out specific areas of concern. Keeping in mind that some money is left for the project completion, Echols commented, "It will be a while before we come back; you may have some hands-on experience by then as to what you want done."

Final inspection paperwork has been submitted to Santa Fe for approval.

Around Corona

The American Legion Auxiliary plans to contribute Christmas plates to the elderly, senior citizens and shut-ins.

Auxiliary members will donate homemade cookies for the refreshments to be served at the Corona Public Schools auditorium, Sunday evening, Dec. 8. This event is sponsored by the student council and will begin the Christmas season in Corona. The auxiliary will have a bake sale at Lee Mulkey's Service Station on Friday, Nov. 20, starting at 3 p.m. This project is to raise funds for disabled veterans.

Corona School Board

Ag farm, corporal punishment at issue

The issue of a vocational agriculture farm at Corona School was again discussed at the monthly school board meeting held last week.

Several district residents were present in order to discuss the location of the proposed farm. Board members agreed that public opinion appeared to oppose the farm being located just west of the school, but an alternate location near the Corona arena is being considered.

The board authorized fencing of a bus storage area (between the vocational agriculture building and the old school) as an ag project.

Pat Perkins reported on the conference she attended at NMSU before Supt. Lucille King reported on a variety of activities at the school. Among those events were the tooth sealant procedure for students, a visit from the New Mexico State Police, success of the Halloween Carnival, students of the month, football team state playoff, and National FFA Convention participation. The board also discussed the need for school crosswalks and speed limit signs near the school.

Betty Ann Bell reported on the participation in the Lincoln County Food Bank canned goods drive by students bringing a canned good as admission to the Friday pep rally.

Citizens of the Month named at Corona School

Callie Gnatkowski and Heath Brown have been selected October Citizens of the Month at Corona Schools. The two were selected by the faculty based on their cooperative attitudes, helpfulness and observance of school rules.

Callie's 5th grade teacher, Mrs. Jeannene Gibbs, commented, "Callie is very dependable in all areas. Although she is a very good student (academically), her concern for others was what has impressed all of us. She is so good to look out for the smaller children; she lends a helping hand to anyone who needs it." Callie has a passion for reading, and her hobbies include cooking, rollerskating, and participating in 4-H activities. She is the daughter of Pete and Sarah Gnatkowski.

Supt. Lucille King said "Heath has developed a positive attitude about learning since coming to Corona," and Coach G. Ray Johnson added, "Heath is a good football player; he has a positive attitude and is no problem in my class." In addition to playing football, Heath enjoys participating in rodeos. He is the son of C. Dale Brown and Paula A. Brown of Artesia and the grandson of Elbert Owen of Corona.

Corona bows to Lake Arthur in football championship play

Corona completed the 1987 season with an 8-3 record and 2nd place in the New Mexico 6-Man football division after playing Lake Arthur Saturday.

The Cardinals were defeated 44-20 and accepted the 2nd place trophy from New Mexico Activities Association assistant director Don Warren in a post game ceremony.

A big Lake Arthur lineup started the action by scoring on first possession with 8:43 left in the quarter; but Corona evidently surprised the Panthers by continuing to play ball. The Corona team could not score and had to give up the ball, but the Lake Arthur offense was held and Corona regained possession. After tossing an almost-intercepted pass, Tommy Mulkey connected with Chad Brown on the next play, and with a good kick, the Cardinals tied it up 8-8 at the end of the quarter.

Second period play began with the Panther quarterback, being pressured by a fired-up Tye Lightfoot, causing a change of possession. Corona's trouble became apparent when the Cardinals were unable to go anywhere and had to punt. Lake Arthur handily moved downfield, helped by a 15 yard penalty, and scored another 8 points.

Corona's next series was a repeat with Mulkey unable to find an open receiver; Lake Arthur took over and scored for a 22-8 lead. On their ensuing series of downs, the Cardinals did not score, but moved the ball to the 6 yard line on Mulkey carries and a reverse to Heath Brown where Lake Arthur took over. The half ended with a plucky Corona defense working overtime.

The Corona offense was unable to score when play resumed and the Cardinal defense again took the field. Lake Arthur took 8 plays to score again, making it 30-8.

Mulkey took the kick-off and ran downfield for a touchdown, but the PAT was no good.

Lake Arthur again returned for a TD on their next possession for a 38-14 score; and to play it safe, the Panthers kick the ball short on the following kick-off. With Mulkey carrying, the Cardinals moved to within the 13 yard line. Then, on what appeared to be a broken play, Dan Bell managed a toss to Lee Land who in turn heaved the ball to Mulkey in the end zone, making it 38-20 at the end of the third quarter.

It was a defensive battle in the final period of play with a Panther TD being called back.

With play concentrated in the area of the Corona 20 yard line, neither team was able to move the ball on alternating possessions. With 1:54 left in the game, the Panthers again scored for a 44-20 final score.

Coach G. Ray Johnson allowed his reserves to play for the last few seconds of the game, saying, "I wanted everyone to have the opportunity to play; it's a game we'll remember the rest of our lives." About the game and the opponent, Johnson commented, "They were tough. Every time they got in trouble, they gave it to us (Richard Soto, a 200 lb. senior) and it took three of us to get him down ... We shut down their running game, but we couldn't stop them from scoring. I saw a lot of good plays, but we just couldn't get in. They just beat us on sheer physical strength," Johnson said.

Corona Cardinal Football Trivia

Although the 1987 season marked the first time 6-man football has been sanctioned by the New Mexico Activities Association, Corona has played in a 6-man league for several years. In 1983 a Cardinal team coached by Zale Woodward went to the state finals as sanctioned by the league that year where they were beaten 53-12 by Roy. Members of that team were Danny Cordova, George Cordova, Joseph Erramouspe, Joe Miller, Steve Mulkey, Don Myers, Shawn Perkins, Jessie Romero, Tony Romero, Wayne Sanders and Tommy Worley.

THE CAPITAN LADY TIGERS in action during the state volleyball tournament in Roswell last weekend. Setting up the ball is Kateri Sanchez. Other players include Karl Cox (2), Colynn Washburn (3), and Lora McKay (4).

Capitan takes 4th place at state volleyball meet

The state volleyball tournament was played last weekend in Roswell with the following result among the Class A schools: Tatum, 1st; Texico, 2nd; Elida, 3rd; and Capitan, 4th.

In their first encounter of the tournament, Capitan defeated Pine Hill 15-2, 15-0 and 15-3.

The Lady Tigers played the eventual state champion Tatum on Friday and lost the series in four games. The scores were (Tatum score 1st) 15-10, 15-2, 12-15 and 15-4.

The Tigers returned to Roswell on Saturday to play Elida for 3rd place. Elida defeated Capitan in three games 15-8, 15-3 and 16-14.

Coach Pam Allen had this to say: "We set a goal at the beginning of the season to win at least the first game of the tournament, and we achieved that goal. Even though the score didn't indicate it, we played well against Tatum." Tatum had a more mature team.

"Capitan will lose two fine individuals in Kateri Sanchez and Brenda Griego," Allen said, "Capitan is going to win the state championship next year. We have returning next year an outstanding nucleus of players. I feel that our girls came away from the tournament experience committed to excellence next year." Coach Allen was pleased to see the community support at all the games.

Basketball gets under way Friday, Nov. 20, when the Carrizozo Grizzlies scrimmage the Tigers beginning at 4 p.m. These two games involve the girls.

The Tiger varsity boys travel to Carrizozo Saturday to play games scheduled for 10 a.m.

Additional school news: The marching band banquet is scheduled for Nov. 20. This banquet will be in the foyer at 6 p.m. Those attending should bring plates and utensils and a potluck dish to feed 10 people. The music boosters will provide tea and coffee.

The fall athletic banquet has been scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 24, in the new gym. This activity gets under way at 6:30 p.m. The athletic boosters will supply ham and rolls. Capitan patrons are to bring a potluck dish to serve 10 and one gallon of tea. Plates, utensils, cups will be furnished.

Capitan Schools will be dismissed at 12:45 p.m. on Nov. 25 for the Thanksgiving holidays. School resumes on Monday at the regular time.

Capitan School Board

Audit report approved; construction on schedule

By BART McDONOUGH

The Capitan Board of Education approved the 1986-87 audit report Monday night and heard Supt. Scott Childress comment. "The auditor had no comments. Apparently the school is doing business in a prudent manner."

Don Eckland, president of the Tiger Booster Club, praised the coaches. He felt that bad officiating might have cost Capitan at least one football game.

High school principal Larry DeWees commented on the parent/teacher conferences held recently. He reported a 97 percent turnout.

Board member Hollis Fuchs was impressed with the scholastic awards banquet. Childress reported that school enrollment now stands at 508. He informed the board that there would be an on-site review for special education on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The accreditation department of the state department of education will conduct an on site review on Nov. 30 through Dec. 3.

The board of education adopted a policy for the use of school facilities. The discipline policy was modified to read, school officials will "attempt" to contact parents before taking action.

Architect Jim French gave a progress report. The new track has been completed. The bright orange lockers have been installed. Tile is being laid. The stucco job will be delayed.

French said the football lighting had passed the test. Light poles will not have steps. The contracts for the sprinkler system and with Kelly Electric have been completed. The American Fence Company has completed its agreement. An error in billing (in the school's favor) by the fence company will be corrected and honored by the school.

It was learned that $3,000 is left with which to move the scoreboard and the bleachers. A payment for landscaping in the amount of $2,600 will be made in late spring. Change orders were made concerning several gates.

The supervisory model, termination policy, was approved by the board. The board also gave permission to replace school busses built before 1974.

Capitan High School seniors Kateri Sanchez, Brenda Griego and Corina Sedillo were welcomed by the board. These girls are writing a research paper.

Childress reported on the water drainage problem. A concept has been reached whereby the state would pay 60 percent of the cost. The remainder would be shared by the Village of Capitan and the school. Under this contract, the ditch on 4th Street would be blocked off and the water would eventually go into the arroyo south of town.

Childress will attend the school board association convention Dec. 4 and 5 in Albuquerque.

An agreement has been made with the Ruidoso School System to educate one student who can not be educated in the Capitan system.

HARRY NOBLE, manager of the hardware store in Capitan for the last three years, was honored Tuesday night with a going away party at the B.L. Pizza Place. Three dozen friends presented him with a large banner with the inscription "Village of Capitan salutes our helpful hardware man." Noble expressed his appreciation to everyone after which the crowd sang "For he's a jolly good fellow." Pictured from the left are Cheyenne Underwood, Sherry Underwood (organizer of the event), Janice Herd, Noble and Mona McEuen. Herd and McEuen were co-workers at the hardware store.

Woman's Club fashion program

Natural fibers are back in style, home economist says

"Natural fibers such as cotton and linen are the 'in thing this year,'" said Charlotte Hill, Lincoln County Home Economist, during the fashion program she presented for the Nov. 12 Carrizozo Woman's Club meeting.

The "Creative do-it-yourself fashion show" included several ways to wear scarves, big scarves, little scarves and long scarves. These can be worn around the waist as well as around the neck.

"Leather collars, belts of any kind and jewel-tone colors are also popular this fall," Hill said, and described how leather can be added to the bottoms and cuffs of old coats, gave directions for making collars from bandanas, placemats, dinner napkins, bun warmers and quilts, and explained that dark clothing can be brightened with white or ecru collars.

Ruidoso High School freshman Dawn Hill assisted with the program by being the mannequin and modeling several different outfits, including a blue dress with long waist and bubble skirt.

"You will see long skirts, short skirts, jackets, blazers, scarves and sleeves of all kinds this year and the key is to mix and match colors and clothing," Hill continued. She noted that the long waist is especially popular.

During the business portion of the meeting, club president Sue Stearns reminded members to bring clothing and items for the doll and complete layette that will be raffled Dec. 18. The doll, clothing and layette items are on display at United New Mexico Bank.

Members agreed to send Valentine's things to Girl's Ranch.

Members voted to donate $25 for the Thanksgiving basket for the needy and $25 for the Christmas basket for the needy.

Stearns announced that the Alamogordo Music Theater donated $100 to the club to be used for a scholarship. Cliff Hall, president of AMT, presented the donation to Stearns during the district IV convention held in Alamogordo in October.

Sharon Hefker suggested the club have a breakfast for the senior class in the spring.

Debbie King, chairman of the Carrizozo Courtesy Cart committee, reported that five newcomers were welcomed in October and received ditty bags filled with gifts and coupons from local businesses. Four visits are scheduled for November.

Stearns announced that four Carrizozo club members received awards for their artwork entered at the district convention. Elizabeth MacVeigh's stained glass window took a first place, Ramona Ortiz's quilt won first place and her Christmas craft was second place. Lucy Rickman's craft received honorable mention and Stearns' craft received first place.

Lucia Vega reported that the "Living Legacy," a flowering plum tree, had been planted at the courthouse in honor of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the US Constitution.

Rickman reported that the street signs are being built for the community improvement project.

The calendars have been ordered and should be delivered in December.

The club Christmas party will be held Dec. 10 with members and their families going for a hayride, complete with caroling. After the hayride there will be hot chocolate and a taffy-pull at the Woman's Club building.

How to handle hazardous material spills are studied

The Corona Village Council met last week and was informed of a countywide effort to develop an evacuation plan in case of an accident involving hazardous material.

Dan Lueras, Corona Volunteer Fire Department chief, is also on the Lincoln County committee to develop such a plan. He explained that citizens have the right to know what hazardous materials are being transported through or used in their locality. Council appointed Lueras as the local representative at county level meetings, one of which was to be held Nov. 16. Lueras is to keep council informed as the plan develops.

Steve Massey of Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District advised the council on pending new Community Development Block Grant application requirements as suggested by a task force appointed by Gov. Carruthers. Council passed a resolution to apply for funding for Phase III street paving funds. A discussion followed concerning possible drainage problems with the newly paved streets.

Village Clerk Beatrice Chavez went over new regulations regarding political candidates. Council positions held by Minnie Davenport and Lee Mulkey will be up for election, and Chavez emphasized that anyone wishing to be a candidate should familiarize themselves with new regulations. Information is available at the clerk's office.

Council declared Sunday, Dec. 6, a community holiday after reading a letter from Corona High School Student Council President Jason

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY PROPERTY TAXES DUE

Notice is hereby given that 1987 property taxes became due November 10, 1987 and will become delinquent December 11, 1987. Taxes may be paid in full by December 10, 1987, or in two equal installments, with the second half becoming due April 10, 1988 and delinquent if not paid by May 10, 1988.

Pursuant to Section 7-31-50 of the New Mexico Property Tax Code, a minimum penalty of five dollars ($5.00) or one percent per month must be charged on all delinquent taxes, and pursuant to Section 7-31-49, one percent per month must be collected on all delinquent accounts.

Owners of personal property such as mobile homes or office equipment, who have allowed taxes to become delinquent more than two years will be served with a demand warrant for collection of these delinquent taxes, pursuant to Section 7-38-33 of New Mexico Statutes Annotated 1978, if delinquent taxes are not paid in full.

Pursuant to Section 7-38-53, property taxes are the personal obligation of the owner of the property and the sale or transfer of property within that tax year does not relieve the former owner of personal liability for property taxes in that year.
