Commissioners, sheriff discuss mid-year budget

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Commissioners held a special meeting Jan. 4 to discuss the mid-year budget review with Sheriff Don Samuels.

Other business conducted was approval of the Emergency Medical Services grant application for $42,966 to purchase radio pagers for all EMS personnel and an executive session was held for litigation and personnel in the sheriff's office.

The budget discussion consisted of an overview of line items in the sheriff's budget that have been expended more than 50 percent during the six-month period from July 1 through Dec. 31, and Samuels questions about money left over from last year, where it went and was it available for this year's budget.

Commission chairman John Hightower noted that some line items showed that more than 50 percent had been spent and asked county manager Suzanne Cox if there was a problem with any of the line items.

Cox said that the 59 percent expended for full time salaries was due to deputies being reinstated. She remarked that the 71 percent spent for postage "must be watched" and said that the 62 percent for telephone bills "could pose a problem."

Other expenditures over 50 percent were 127 percent for printing and publishing, 52 percent for sheriff's expense, 55 percent for mileage and per diem, 51 percent for car expense, 90 percent for uniforms and 80 percent for professional services.

Another line item showing 100 percent expended was the $34,000 capital outlay that the commission encumbered to pay for possible litigation and attorney's fees.

"Overall, with careful control, we can transfer money from the animal control line item to other line items as needed," Cox said.

"From the commissioner's standpoint, we have to stay within the total budget amount," Hightower said. Line item transfers are allowed but the total budget may not go over.

In the jail budget the line item for care of prisoners was 92 percent, due to one prisoner "needing a lot of medicine" and feeding of prisoners was 75 percent. Part of the feeding of prisoners expenditure will be reimbursed as the daily care of prisoners is assessed to other entities.

Samuels only comment was on the uniforms, "It seems like what I tried to do last year was in vain," he said, and explained that the money for the uniforms was "supposed to come out last year."

Apparently there was some question about the purchase of the uniforms because approval was needed from the Department of Finance and Administration in Santa Fe to pay for uniforms because of possible purchasing violations by the sheriff's department.

Commissioners set all budgets

A comparison of sheriff's budgets over past 7 years

Lincoln County Sheriff Don Samuels is responsible for the largest sheriff's budget in the history of Lincoln County. Samuels controls $884,000 in the four budgets he manages.

These include the law enforcement budget of $570,942 plus the traffic safety grant of $50,000 bringing the total budget for law enforcement to $620,942; jail budget of $188,087; correction fees budget of $43,000; and Chapter 289, Laws of 1983 budget of $31,922.

Correction fee money is used for jail improvements and Chapter 289 money is used for equipment repair, officer training and capital outlay (vehicles.)

Comparisons of sheriff's budgets from 1981 through this fiscal year show the amount of money allotted for each year. Correction fees and Chapter 289 budgets include cash carryovers of money not spent in previous years.

New fire truck for Carrizozo firemen

While some towns are announcing the new arrival of the first baby of the New Year, Carrizozo Fire Chief Albert Najar is proudly reporting the delivery of a new fire truck. Najar took official delivery of the new unit after it passed more than three hours of tests on Tuesday.

A hole had to be chopped in the ice at the lake at the golf course for the pump tests to be conducted. Water sprayed in the air at 500 gallons per minute from the new Class A pumper.

"The addition of another Class A pumper should make insurance premiums go down in Carrizozo," Najar said.

Class A ratings are established by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA).

The Ford F-700 with an 8.2 liter Detroit diesel engine is mounted on a one and one-half ton chassis, four-wheel drive, and has "pump and roll capability," meaning that water can be pumped as the vehicle is moving.

The new unit will enable the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department to have access to off-road fires and carry 500 gallons of water. The extended front bumper has an 8,000 pound winch and the 9.00R20 tires have mud and snow tread.

Included in the unit are pressure and suction gauges as the pump requires, one and one-half inch pre-connect hoses, two booster reels with one-inch booster lines on them, 200 feet of hose on each booster reel, a 14-foot roof ladder, a 28-foot extension ladder, hose beds for 1,200 feet of two and one-half inch hose and all necessary equipment such as axes, fire extinguishers, etc.

The truck can pump directly from the 500 gallon booster tank or from another source. High side compartments are on each side for air tanks, emergency equipment and supplies.

CARRIZOZO'S NEW FIRE truck was delivered this week. Fire chief Albert Najar sits in the driver's seat as pump tests are conducted on the new unit. Water is pumped through the fire truck at 500 gallons per minute. The spray was seen for some distance and caused residents to report a break in a water main.

Candidates file for municipal offices

Candidates turned out in force Tuesday to file for municipal positions in Capitan, Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs while Carrizozo and Corona each had only one person file even though there are two council seats being vacated in each town.

The municipal elections to be held March 1 will give voters the opportunities to fill 15 positions in Lincoln County.

CARRIZOZO

Harold Garcia was the only candidate to file in Carrizozo for a trustee position. Two seats are being vacated by Patsy Sanchez and Eddie O'Brien.

CAPITAN

Five candidates filed for the two trustee positions in Capitan: Darralene Stewart, Robert York, Norman Renfro, James Clees and William MacVeigh. The two seats being vacated are those of Norman

CORONA

Lee Roy Mulkey, incumbent, was the only person to file in Corona for a trustee position. The other seat being vacated is that of Minnie Davenport.

RUIDOSO DOWNS

Incumbent Harrold Mansell is the only candidate for the municipal judge position in Ruidoso Downs. Five candidates filed for the three trustee positions: Incumbents Leonard Bergeron, Fred Bernard and Bill Smith, and Alice Allison and Thurman Gartman.

RUIDOSO

The field is crowded for the office of municipal judge in Ruidoso. The seven candidates are Otis Stears, Sam Pilgreen, Kenneth Shockey, David Greenlaw, Billy G. Payne, Hugh Johnston and Robert

Carrizozo residents want streets paved

More than a dozen people attended the public hearing on Dec. 29 at Carrizozo city hall and voiced their opinions for the town to apply for more street paving in the next CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) application.

The grant application is due Feb. 12. One requirement for the CDBG application was that the public hearing be held to make sure the wants of the people were included.

Streets suggested to get priority were 5th and 7th between E Avenue and B Avenue and 11th Street. These paved streets have many potholes and are dangerous to drive on.

Guidelines for the CDBG grant require that 80 percent of the people who would benefit from the grant must be low income families. In addition, the town will have to provide a 5 percent match in funds for any project approved by CDBG. Nao Vallejos asked the council if 5th Street could be bladed to remove the potholes and make the street safer to drive on while the town waits to see if the CDBG grant is approved.

Town trustees agreed to apply for highway co-op funding, but to have the two paving projects separate. Joe Shain of Pajo Technical Services was here to help with the highway co-op application because he has the figures necessary for the Jan. 8 application.

A committee will be appointed to make a survey of the town and make recommendations as to the streets that should be included in the CDBG application. Mayor Bob Hemphill asked that people willing to serve on the committee leave their names at city hall.

In other business at the special meeting, Hemphill presented figures on expenses for garbage service from Waste Control. Rates need to be increased because Waste Control is losing money at the current rate.

A rate hearing will be held at the regular Jan. 12 meeting. The public is invited to attend.

Hemphill noted that towns with less than 3,000 population are not required by state statutes to provide garbage service for residents. "If we continue the service the money will have to come from somewhere," he said. At the rate hearing charts will be presented with comparisons of costs in Carrizozo to other towns in the area.

Burglar caught in act

A burglar was caught in the act of robbing a home just outside Ruidoso Downs early Tuesday morning, according to the sheriff's office.

In Lincoln County Jail is Henry Padilla, 35, of Ruidoso Downs, charged with burglary of the Logan residence. The house was equipped with a burglary alarm system that alerted the police department. The alert came in about 4:45 a.m., and Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs police, Sheriff Don Samuels and Chief Deputy Rex Skellett responded and surrounded the house. They had observed a man trying to come out of a window with a television set.

Officers went into the house (the owners of which were not at home) with dogs. They found a skylight had been removed, which led them to the roof where they made the arrest.

'Pay up or go dry,' town says

The town of Carrizozo plans to put delinquent water bill payers in dry dock if they don't pay their bills.

Letters will be sent to all persons delinquent two or more months stating that they are requested to pay their bill on or before Jan. 29, 1988. The bill is to be paid in full by that date.

If the bill is not paid by 12 noon Feb. 1 the water will be shut off, the meter will be pulled and the customer will stay dry until the bill is paid, plus a $50 re-connection fee, as provided in municipal ordinance 85-127, section 3-3-20.

Arson cause of fire in Carrizozo

An investigator from the state fire marshal's office in Santa Fe has ruled that arson was definitely the cause of the fire at the Lincoln County Insurance Agency early New Year's Day.

The Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department responded to the fire at 1:38 a.m. and contained the fire in the storage room at the back of the building located at 1208 E Ave. Firemen were on the scene until about 5 a.m.

The state fire marshal has commended the fire department for doing a good job.

Pat Vigil, owner of the insurance agency, said no estimate of damage was available at this time. He said the agency had been located in the building for nine years.

Carrizozo fire chief Albert Najar has asked that anyone with information please contact the Lincoln County sheriff's office or the fire chief.

Mid-year budget.

The state procurement code requires that purchases in an amount less than $1,500 be made at the best obtainable prices, purchases of $1,500 to $3,000 be made from the best obtainable price of oral or telephone or written quotes, purchases of $3,000 to $5,000 be made from the best obtainable price received from written quotes or by bid and that all purchases over $5,000 be made by the bid process.

The sheriff's office purchased $5,239.10 from Simons & Company in Albuquerque with only verbal quotes. Even though the separate parts of the uniforms were received on separate days, the state procurement code specifically states, "procurement requirements shall not be artificially divided so as to constitute a small purchase under this section."

A letter from the DFA on July 30 stated, "although county procedures were not followed, Captain Rex Skellett's letter indicated there was no intent to willfully distort or circumvent the procurement code or county purchasing procedures," in the purchase.

Samuels asked where the money for the uniforms in last year's budget went and was told any cash balance reverts to the general fund to help make up this year's budget. Since the money was not encumbered for the uniforms until DFA approved the purchase, that money went back to the general fund.

Samuels also questioned where the money from the Forest Service grant went. Some of the bills are submitted directly to the Forest Service for payment and some of the money goes into the general fund for payment from the county.

"We have to take general fund money in to set the general fund budget," Cox explained. The sheriff's department is just one of 19 departments funded from the general fund.

Commissioner Bill Karn asked if the bills were being paid on time and if there were any late charges assessed to any of the bills, referring to bills getting to the bookkeeping department late.

Cox said that if it is the county's fault that a bill is not paid on time then the late charge must be paid.

Karn then asked Samuels if there were "any more problems with bills getting in late." An April invoice from Parsons & Bryant was not sent to bookkeeping until July 8 and had interest charged to it.

"Not that I am aware of," Samuels replied.

Hightower then asked county attorney Gary Mitchell if the county is liable for the bills for deputies' attorney's fees that the county had received.

Mitchell said the matter would be discussed in executive session.

After the executive session Hightower announced that Samuels had "talked to us and he (Samuels) and Rex Skellett agreed to talk to Gary Mitchell with their attorney to try and iron things out." Hightower added, "If not, further action will be taken at the Jan. 12 meeting."

Expenditures of Samuel's law enforcement budget as presented at the mid-year budget review on Dec. 16, 1987 are compared to the expenditures of Sullivan at the mid-year budget review on Dec. 19, 1986.

Budget Items	Samuels - 7-1-87 to 12-18-87 total budget $620,942.00	Sullivan - 7-1-86 to 12-19-86 total budget $563,142.00

capital outlay	0	40,967.84
sheriff's expense	5,620.23	9,109.23
NCIC teletype	3,478.72	4,707.00
miscellaneous	40.16	0
PERA	15,180.35	14,167.05
social security	11,962.31	10,849.00
group insurance 50%	6,032.60	4,677.07
professional services (attorney)	1,545.56	0
uniforms	6,279.96	1,181.97
animal control	95.07	4,126.64
traffic safety grant	-25,000.00
total for department	$ 248,697.90	$ 286,847.52

Two items in Sullivan's budget were more than 50 percent during the six-month period. The $40,967.84 for capital outlay items was for the purchase of four new vehicles which were delivered in July 1986. The $9,109.23 for sheriff's expense was 82 percent of the amount budgeted and included $5,336.40 for attorney fees for the McKnight murder case.

Ten line items in Samuels' budget were more than 50 percent. The full time salaries, PERA and social security amounts were larger due to the reinstatement of deputies and the back pay due them.

Samuels' sheriff expense was 52 percent. One reason was that $2,000 was transferred out of sheriff's expense into professional services to pay attorney fees. The remainder of attorney fees was paid from professional services in the amount of $1,545.56.

Other expenditures of Samuels that are over 50 percent: postage 71 percent, printing and publishing 127 percent, uniforms 90 percent, mileage and per diem 55 percent, and telephone 62 percent. Mileage and per diem includes $987.24 paid to administration secretary Rachel Van Cleave during the five and one-half month period. This includes 32 trips to the Ruidoso sub-office at mileage pay of $17.60 per trip.

Telephone expenditures of 62 percent include late charges on two bills due to the bills not being received in the book-keeping department. Another additional charge was for long distance calls made to the Carrizozo office number 648-2341 from the Ruidoso sub-office numbers 258-5608 and 258-5409.

The Carrizozo office has a Ruidoso phone 258-5688 to enable people in Ruidoso to call Carrizozo without it being a long distance call. The October phone bill included 20 pages of long distance calls and the November bill included 25 pages of long distance calls. The sheriff's department pays $252.20 per month for the 258-5688 number in Carrizozo.

Corona ag teacher off to New Orleans

Corona Vocational Agriculture teacher Jamie Widner will be traveling to New Orleans next week as a competitor in the National Discussion Meet at the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting.

Widner earned the expense-paid trip by winning the 1987 New Mexico State Discussion Meet in December. Sponsored by the New Mexico Young Farmers and Ranchers, the topic of discussion focused on contamination of ground water by ag chemicals and how Farm Bureau can help solve this problem. The meet was held in December during the annual Farm Bureau meeting in Albuquerque.

Widner, a native of Melrose, has been teaching at Corona High School for over two years. He was chosen Outstanding Young Vocational Teacher last year for the State of New Mexico. He is a graduate of NMSU.

Around Corona

Members of Cedar Temple Pythian Sisters gathered in Cedarvale Monday for a meeting and Christmas party delayed because of the snow storm.

J.E. Robinson and Harold Shumate enjoyed the turkey dinner MEC Let's Sharp opened the meeting for the payment of dues and the reelection of officers. A gift exchange followed.

Funeral services for Wm. Keelin were set for Wednesday morning in the Corona Presbyterian Church. Mr. Keelin died Sunday morning after a long illness.

Mrs. Rex Robinson and Joanne Atkinson Stewart are among those who have slipped on ice and broken bones in foot and ankle.

The Bobby Carrolls were here from Roswell Sunday. The day was the 65th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davidson. Congratulations, Ruby and Jack.

Bird watchers are reporting a wider variety of birds than usual this time of year, including meadow larks on the snow and perhaps a pair of sea gulls.

Mike Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lindsey, underwent his fifth knee operation Dec. 16 in Albuquerque. Two weeks earlier he had orthoscopic surgery in preparation for the last one in which doctors inserted an artificial ligament of Goretex. Mike and his family have expressed appreciation for the phone calls and cards which he says helped to alleviate his discomfort. Mike is visiting a friend in Des Moines, Iowa this week before returning next week to ENMU.

Ernest V. Joiner's

In Seattle's Christmas party for the poor and underprivileged, free presents were given to all persons attending. Homemade dolls and handmade wooden toys, donated by Boeing employees, were distributed to children. Seattle Parks and Recreation Department employees helped stage the holiday party, which turned into a raging melee after one parent, upset at the quality of the gifts, threw a doll at a recreation department employee. Then the fight began. Food and toys were hurled at anybody in sight. Police had to be summoned to restore order. The gifts of handmade stuffed embroidered toys, wooden cars with carved wheels and painted had been made by people who spent many hours to provide the only gifts the children would have for Christmas. Thus was kindness, compassion and generosity rewarded, and thus was ingratitude enthroned by the poverty proctalgia who, it turned out, deserved nothing more than a slap across the chops to instill a sense of civility.

The above Associated Press item was taken from the Modesto (CA) Bee for Dec. 24, 1987. There was no need for the article to remind us that in the United States we spend about $130 billion annually on programs to aid the poor; reported to number 32 million persons. A little arithmetic reveals that each poor person should receive annually more than $4,000; $18,000 for a family of four (1986 figures). That's enough to lift every welfare family well above the poverty level of $11,203. The problem is, these poor don't get all that money. A few years ago somebody wrote a book titled "Poverty Is Where The Money Is." It describes how, across the country, there are a half-million poverty-industry bureaucrats who soak up half of that $130 billion a year supervising, managing and administering poverty funds. Their bloated salaries and expenses come out of the poor's budget. An entire industry has been built around anti-poverty programs. The needs of the poor will never be met until this half-million band of bandits is dispersed and government vouchers issued to the certifiable poor to be used for housing, education and other services. Public housing must go, government regulated daycare centers must go, and free food distribution must go. Let the poor pay for these services with their vouchers and cut-out the middlemen who fatten off the poor. And teach the poor, as in the case of the Seattle riot, that welfare is not a right. It is a compassionate response by society to people in need. A little more gratitude should be shown by them for this compassionate society.

President Reagan has been asking congress to pass line-item veto legislation. This would permit him to veto those numerous and costly pork-barrel items that are attached to bills passed by congress, and which bear little or no relation to the main bill, but which are accorded the same status of law. Strange the president should keep asking congress for the line-item veto because he already has it.

Framers of the US Constitution adopted Article 1, Section 7, Clause 2 which mandates that "every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate" is subject to veto by the president. Then James Madison and Edmund Randolph got to thinking, what if congress passed bills under some other name, then the president could not veto them. Which caused the Constitutional Convention to adopt Article 1, Section 7, Clause 3 which reads:

"Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill."

Simply, Clause 3 says calling an order, a resolution, a rider, or vote something other than a "bill" has no status. If any of the latter have the force of law, it is a "bill" and is subject to veto. Congress discovered the "rider" and uses it to attach to a legal bill, thus evading the conditions of Clause 2 but not of Clause 3. Congress simply cannot constitutionally legislate by rider, resolution, order or vote. They legislate by bills. And calling riders, etc., that, when passed, have the force of law, cannot be classified as anything but bills. And any bill the president can veto. So, the president can veto any item in a bill because every separate item included is, in reality, another bill. So why doesn't the president use his constitutional power to veto line-items?

Well, no president has ever tested Clause 3 in the courts. He shouldn't have to. The Constitution is clear enough: What if President Reagan, acting on his own, began the line-item veto? Would congress back down, or would it rather have the US Supreme Court rule in the matter? The president would surely win in court. And congress, in hot pursuit of wresting presidential powers for itself, probably would not be foolish enough to challenge the president or the court. President Reagan should hand his ramblunctious, defiant congress a fat account, then ask congress, "what are you going to do about it?" There wouldn't be a dry eye, or a dry diaper, in all of congress!

Inside the Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Do you remember Hal Stratton's opposition when he ran for Attorney General last year?

If you said Robert McNeill, you are technically correct. But you missed the point. Hal Stratton ran against crime.

Don't you remember the billboards with "Hal Stratton vs. CRIME" emblazoned on them? CRIME was scratched in red and made to look as if it might be written in blood.

And then there were the radio and television ads with the jail door clanging shut.

It may have reminded you of the crusading Mr. District Attorney, pledged to seek out crime and injustice, defend the poor and represent the mistreated.

Or maybe it reminded you of a Bobby Kennedy type seeking to rid the state of underworld racketeering.

Or maybe you thought of him as the Sheriff of New Mexico, striding down a dusty street headed for a shootout with Black Bart, pledged to rid the state of bank robbers, train robbers, murderers, horse thieves, prostitutes and gamblers and make New Mexico safe for our women and children.

Well, the Caped Crusader beat Bob McNeill. But what about his fight against crime?

Since Hal took office, we haven't heard much about him in relation to crime and criminals.

In fact, he kept Steve Westheimer, one of his predecessor's two deputies, in charge of the criminal division. That division is still doing the same competent job it performed under Paul Bardacke. It has won some cases but they haven't been the sort that get big news coverage.

But as you well know, our boy Hal has been getting mongo news coverage. It is just that he has become a newsmaker for taking on a very different group of fearsome foes.

Since taking office, Prince Valliant has ridden into battle against state employees, retired legislators, local chambers of commerce, some Indian pueblos and the governor's aging protocol officer—a group that would strike fear in the heart of even the bravest crime fighter.

Some of these battles Hal won easily, as the "criminals" saw the error of their ways and backed down.

Bob Dales, the governor's protocol officer, decided the King of Spain had never said he would like to attend one function with just Hispanics.

The Department of Economic Development and Tourism tightened up the wording in the contracts with chambers of commerce and other groups to specify what the state was getting for its money. The cooperative advertising projects were not scuttled as many had feared, but merely delayed.

Except for a contract with the Taos Pueblo that is still hanging fire, everything appears to have been resolved satisfactorily and the "criminals" brought to justice.

And Stratton was probably very correct in all three opinions. The practices did need to change. But it is possible that all three "crimes" could have been "solved" by phone calls to the governor's office, the tourism division and the Board of Finance, instead of issuing formal, and very public, opinions.

Stratton's fight with the state employee unions over whether the Legislature has to authorize collective bargaining before it is legal is in court and will have to be decided there because the AG isn't as obviously correct in that instance.

The last one of this fearsome group is the retired legislators. They may be truly fearsome—and Stratton knows it. He didn't want to take on that battle but he is so positive that legislators are not entitled to a retirement system that he is willing to take on old friends on their turf.

Although there may be skirmishes fought in court, the only practical solution as to what will be done with a bunch of former legislators who have been drawing retirement benefits for many years will have to be decided by the people.

It will involve the legislature passing a joint resolution putting a constitutional amendment on the November 1988 general election ballot asking the voters if they are willing to authorize the state contributing to a legislative retirement system, and further asking voters if they are willing to authorize the benefits which have already been paid.

Maybe the courts can find a way to rule that legislative retirement is legal but in the light of voters having already rejected the proposal, it is unlikely.

It is going to require convincing the voters to have a change of heart. It won't be easy. It may even be tough in the legislature but former legislators will show up in mass to protect their benefits and Stratton's budget could get hurt in the process.

Hal may wish he had stuck to fighting CRIME.

Letters to the Editor

Siddens presents her case to public

EDITOR: Ladies and gentlemen of Lincoln County: For three years, as your Lincoln County Clerk, I have had my responsibility to take minutes of the County Commissioner meetings. In order to assure complete accuracy of the action taken I tape record all meetings. In the event there is a disagreement these tapes verify what was said, not what someone wishes they said, or perhaps, what they wished they had not said.

For the second time in a year, County Attorney Gary Mitchell has argued and publicly debated with me concerning the duties of my office.

The first instance was in reference to the Olinger Wallet (Public Records Act). Please note, the wallet is still in the Lincoln County Clerk's records.

The second instance concerned the minutes records. Mr. Mitchell's "position," as he stated at the Dec. 22 meeting, is that the minutes should reflect the "intent of Commission action." Ah, O'mon, Gary—Do your courtroom transcripts reflect what you wished had happened?

Mr. Mitchell repeatedly tells the Commissioners they are the ultimate authority and the governing body of the county. I disagree. I was elected to administer my office, as was the Assessor, Treasurer, and Sheriff. The Commissioners have no authority in any of these offices other than budgets and, by law, must provide each of us with adequate budgets to run our offices to the best benefit of the citizens.

The commissioners also have obligations with each office in relation to joint duties—with my office, for example, the Commissioners are the canvassing board for election, etc. These duties are outlined in the Statutes and are interactional with each official responsible for certain duties in each instance.

To my knowledge, no other elected official tells the Commissioners how to run their office and I do not appreciate the Commissioners, much less an attorney who was not elected to office, telling me what I should and should not do as Clerk. This County Clerk will not be coerced, intimidated, nor talked into knowingly committing an illegal or improper act that reflects on the duties of the office I swore to uphold.

The controversies in Lincoln County government are damaging in nature, not only to the personalities involved, but to the whole structure of productive governing procedures. No one wins in these kinds of issues, except attorneys—they get paid regardless of the outcome, and the loser is the public. You get hit in the pocketbook, and I don't mean the Olinger wallet.

I applaud Sheriff Samuels for his statement that he answers to the "public" not to the Commissioners. I agree with him and will be happy to answer publicly any questions regarding my office, administration, and duties.

FRAN SIDDENS, Lincoln County Clerk

Former deputy blasts Samuels

EDITOR: I was born and raised in Lincoln County and I have many friends there. It worries and hurts me to know that my friends and family in Lincoln County are not being protected and cared for as they should be.

I, as a taxpayer in Lincoln County, also object to the money we pay in taxes being wasted. Our sheriff's department is drastically lacking in its service to the people of Lincoln County. I believe it is time for the people to speak out about our sheriff's department, before it's too late.

The sheriff has fired several people and most of all of them have been re-fired. On at least one occasion the sheriff was not even aware of why he fired the employee and had to put the hearing off until he could find out why he fired the employee. Just recently one employee was ordered reinstated and the Sheriff refused to reinstate him.

There are several lawsuits which have been filed as a result of the sheriff's action toward employees. Actions which the grievance board overturned. If any of these lawsuits are upheld in a court of law, it is we, the taxpayers, who shall foot the bill, not the sheriff.

In the county many times at night on weekends we have one deputy on call for the whole county. The response time of this one deputy is many times half an hour or longer.

The sheriff has had trouble filling out grant application forms and has applied for a grant for Lincoln County on a Curry County application. The sheriff refuses to work with the county commissioners and refuses to abide by their decisions and the decisions of the grievance board.

Arrests and investigations by the sheriff's office seem to be the exception to the rule rather than a normal everyday occurrence.

Even the atmosphere of the sheriff's office has changed. When I walked in to the sheriff's office I used to feel that I was among friends and that this was our department. Not any more, the atmosphere is cold and tense. What is happening to our sheriff's department and why can't the sheriff do the job he told us he would do?

Can we afford less law enforcement, more lawsuits, and the destruction of our sheriff's department? It's up to the majority of the county, but I, myself, don't think we can.

GUY W. BROWN, Clovis, NM

(ED. NOTE—Mr. Brown is a former Lincoln County deputy sheriff who served under former County Sheriff Tom Sullivan. His application for employment as a deputy under the current administration was rejected, according to Sheriff Don Samuels.)

One small kudo, of a sort

EDITOR—As an aging hippie who was and is actively concerned with civil rights, gay rights, the Vietnam war (now Central America), the concepts of ERA and other social progress I wouldn't want the Lincoln County News to change its one-sided approach at all. Leave it like it is.

I enjoy reading the columns and letters emanating from an ultra conservative cadre. It gives me a great deal of gratitude to read these viewpoints. Their side of the ledger seems to be so vindictive, so unhappy with the world and the people in it. Their language of anger and shrill pessimism makes me see my side of the ledger with greater appreciation.

By reading the LCN I gain greater respect for journalists with national portfolios in reporting and commentary. I realize with renewed vigor how truth, justice and tolerance must continually be nurtured with facts, fairness and charity. I relearn that the fun of living free is learning and sharing rather than doing catchisms. Your columns and opinion writers help me reaffirm all this—albeit in reverse fashion.

That is why I sincerely would not want to see a change in presentation. Visiting your pages is important to my perception. It's rather like visiting a home we used to live in during childhood. We suddenly realize how small it was, how constricted the area. And are eternally grateful for what we have now. There's nothing as joltingly useful as a reminder of what we could have been—or what we could yet become.

SDI pros, cons, on video tape

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE—The American Defense Preparedness Association (ADPA) recently produced and released "SDI—A Prospect for Peace," an authoritative documentary providing a thorough and objective look at the controversial Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) Program.

The film demonstrates all phases of SDI, and through excellent animation, observations of laboratory experiments and numerous interviews with key participants who voice their opinions both pro and con, provides a broad view of the SDI issue. Among those interviewed during the film are Secretary of State George Shultz, Casper Weinberger, Robert McNamara, Henry Kissinger, James Schlesinger, members of Congress and noted scientists and scholars.

The 28-minute documentary is locally available in 1/2-inch, VHS, videotape cassette and can be provided for group and media presentations. For more information, contact Don Shepan, ADPA Rio Grande chapter president, at 679-5256, or Rod Burch, chapter vice-president for publicity, at 437-5359 (Alamogordo).

Lincoln Ramblings

By Rosalie Dunlap

We had another storm over the Christmas holidays, with snow and wind.

Lincoln had its annual luminarias show Christmas Eve. The wind was blowing and it was cold, but what a pretty sight they were, meandering up and down the streets and walks. Afterwards, everyone had a good time singing Christmas carols, reading poems, and just sharing the good feeling of Christmas.

Dunlap spent the Christmas holidays with her mother, Christina McKinley, Portales. Also present was Rosalie's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Chaulh of Alliance, NR.

Then New Year's was spent with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. David Coleman. Lois will enter the hospital today (Jan. 4) for further tests on her knee.

Tony Leyba fell during Christmas holidays and broke his hip.

Our sympathies go to the family of Aurora Griego. Rosary was held Sunday evening at San Juan's Church in Lincoln.

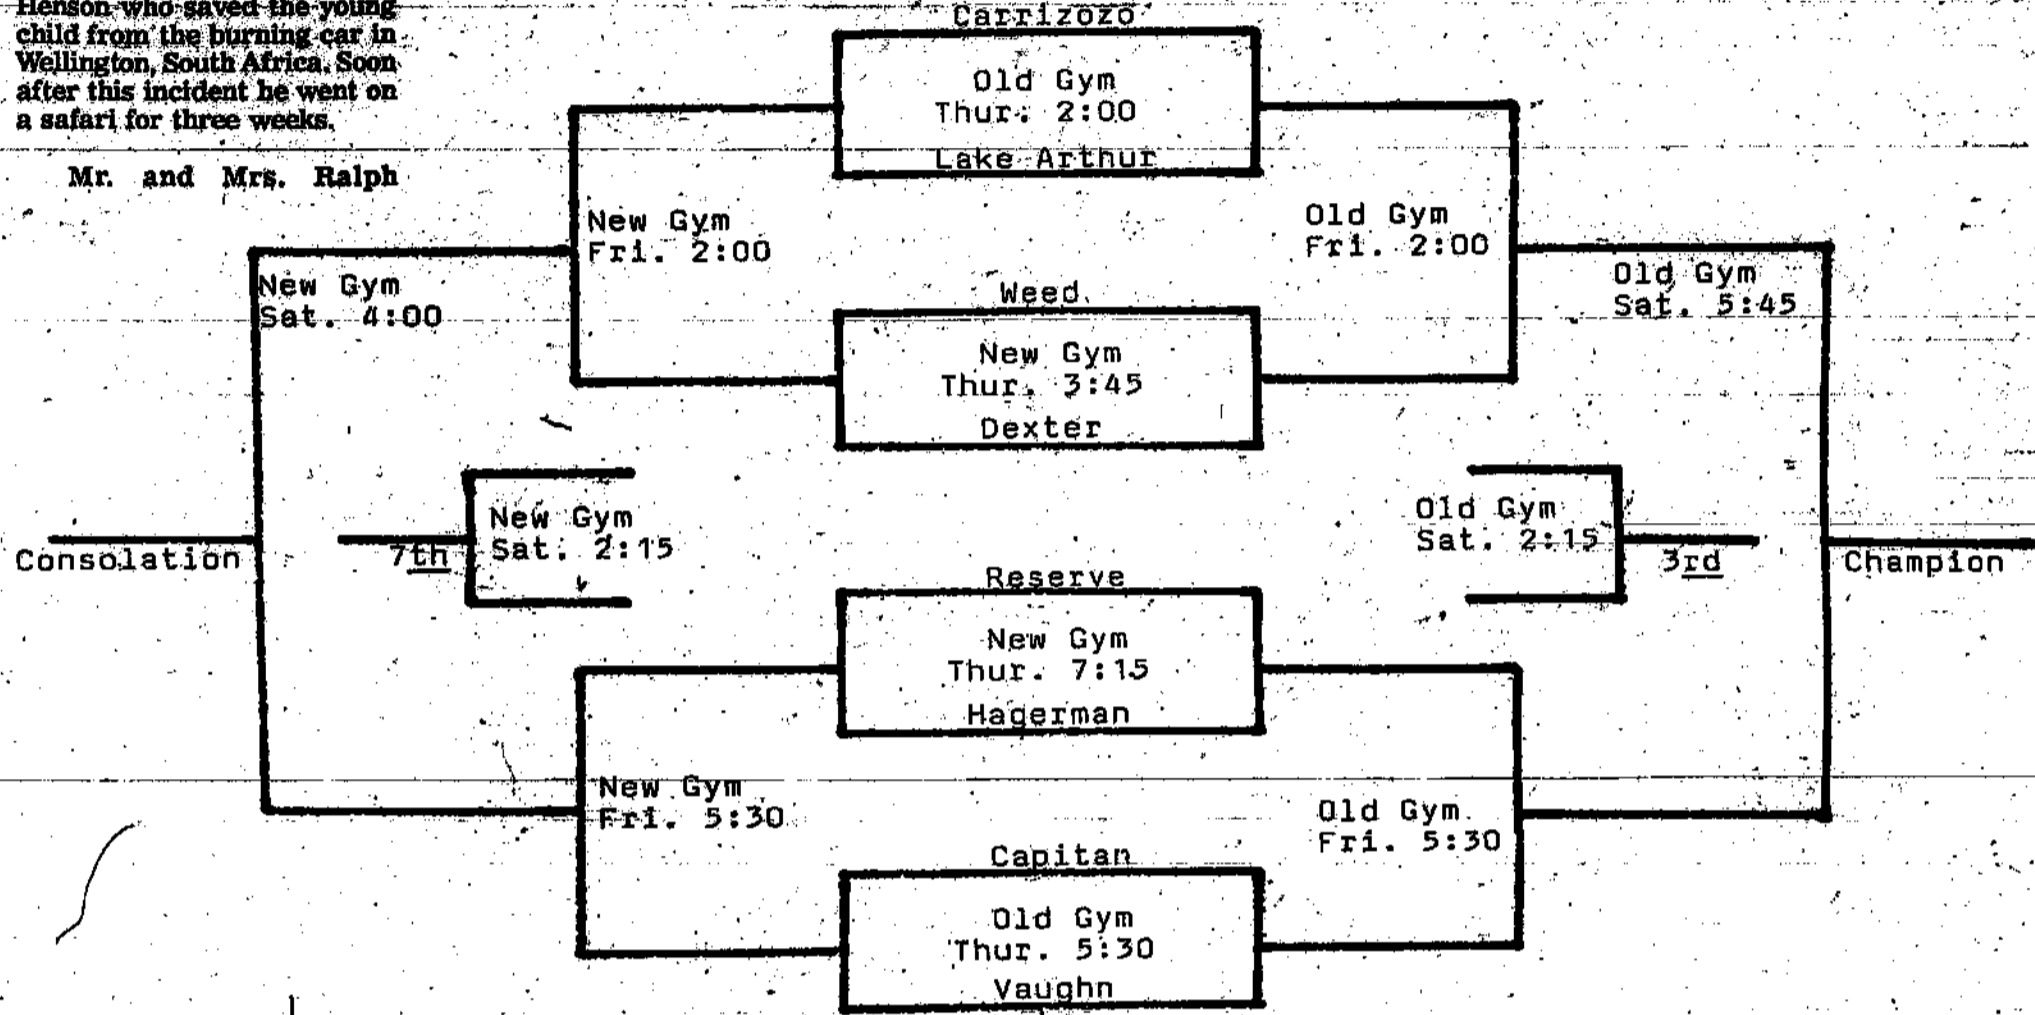

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Carajabal, built and lived in the house where we presently reside.

We have new neighbors but haven't met them yet as we have been gone too much.

Lincoln town residents wish one and all a very happy and prosperous
