Fred Edington, 46, of Corona has been charged with homicide by vehicle in the death of his brother, Albert Edington. The accident occurred Saturday on County Line Road near Corona.

Edington was also charged with DWI, 2nd or subsequent offense, and no proof of insurance. During a first appearance before Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean Jr. on Monday Edington entered a plea of guilty to the DWI and no proof of insurance charges.

Judge Dean fined Edington $1,000 and 364 days in jail, all suspended with seven conditions including attending the alcohol rehabilitation hospital for 21 days, one year of counseling and three years probation. Edington was released to the custody of his family.

A preliminary hearing will be set in the felony charges of homicide by vehicle. Judge Dean will then determine if there is probable cause to bind Edington over to district court for trial.

Judge signs writ of mandamus against Siddens

By Ruth Hammond

District Judge Robert M. Doughty has signed a writ of mandamus against Lincoln County Clerk Fran Siddens and ordered her to respond within eight days by written answer.

Dan Bryant, attorney for Siddens, requested and received an extension of time to answer the writ and prepare the response.

According to the writ, Siddens is commanded to amend the minutes of the meeting of the Lincoln County Commissioners of Dec. 27, 1987 in the manner in which they have ordered and further, to void minutes paper number 321 through 326 and retype the minutes as directed by the county commissioners; and further, she is commanded that minutes of the county commissioners shall not become official until approved by a majority vote of the board of county commissioners and they shall not be filed or recorded or placed upon official minute paper until after they are approved by the county commissioners at a county commission meeting.

Siddens is further commanded to return the writ with a certificate of having done as it commanded or show cause why she has not done so.

The writ lists 20 items. Item 5 designates the paragraphs that are to be deleted from the Dec. 22 minutes, which are the first four paragraphs of Item 4 of the Dec. 22 minutes and the last four paragraphs of Item 4 and the last paragraph of Item 5 of the minutes.

The writ in Item 13 states that Siddens, without approval of the minutes by the county commissioners, has typed said minutes on official paper and has refused, despite a motion, second and unanimous approval thereof, to delete certain paragraphs from said minutes.

Item 15 states: The paragraphs which Chairman Hightower asked be deleted from the minutes of Dec. 22, 1987 and for which the Commissioners of the County of Lincoln approved are not the remarks of the motion made at that December 22, 1987 meeting; but, in fact, are comments made by several individuals, in particular the Lincoln County Clerk Fran Siddens, regarding minutes and how they should be handled.

Item 16 states: The County Clerk has repeatedly stated that she intends to prepare the minutes and place them on official minute paper before they are approved and the only way that she will allow any additions, deletions or corrections to the draft minutes that she prepares is if the commissioners submit additions, deletions or corrections, no later than three (3) days prior to their next meeting, at which said minutes are to be approved and then she will not allow the additions, deletions or corrections unless in her opinion, such requests will not change the substance of the meeting.

Item 17 states: The County Clerk has stated that she will present the minutes prepared in final form for approval and on official minute paper, and if the commissioners, at their meeting at which they normally approve such meeting, feel an addition, deletion or correction is necessary, the minutes prepared in final form shall not be changed and the addition, deletion or correction will be reflected in the subsequent minute meetings. The commissioners have asserted that this is contrary to law and certainly contrary to how they desire that their minutes be kept.

Siddens' response to the writ is to be filed by March 1 and the hearing has been scheduled for March 14.

O Bar O wants forest access road closed

Commissioners appoint road review committee

During the Feb. 2 Lincoln County Commission meeting road review committees were appointed to inspect four roads and submit their recommendations as to whether the roads should be opened or closed.

The first road in question concerned county road C-024 at the O Bar O Ranch headquarters, commonly referred to as the Benado Gap Road. The Forest Service presented an agreement for improvements on the road to install a cattle guard and three pipe culverts and to reshape the roadway.

Carolyn Lietzman, owner of the O Bar O, requested that a road review committee be appointed to consider removing the road from the county maintenance system. She asked that commissioners consider access through the Indian Divide as an alternative access to the forest.

The committee to review the road will be Mack Bell, Bob Ward and Bill Rawlins with Patsy Sanchez as alternate. The road inspection will be held later in February.

Steve Sams, district manager of the Smokey Bear Ranger District, objected to the request to close C-024 and said, "The wheels of government don't turn that fast," in relation to the alternative route being used.

Action on the agreement for the road improvements was tabled until the recommendation of the road review committee is presented and a decision is made.

Commissioners also received requests to close county road B-036 and D-020. A request to add the road which goes to the Carrizozo vo ag barn was also received. The road review committee for these roads will be Bill Rawlins, Leota Pflingsten and Frankie Silva with Patsy Sanchez as alternate.

In other business, the commission approved an agreement with the state highway department to place bridge No. 8024, which is one-half mile west of Highway 70 and 380, across the Rio Ruidoso on the bridge replacement plan. Br-0-7527(4) will be identified as an off-system bridge replacement project.

County attorney Gary Mitchell reported that New Mexico Nielsons, Inc. had filed a protest in the awarding of the bid for construction of the Sierra Blanca Airport access road.

Commissioner Bill Karn noted that Nielsons were not the low bidder at either the first bid letting or the second bid letting, yet Nielsons filed a protest both times.

"We also need to clear up the fact that the state highway department has had the money for the construction of the road all this time," Karn said. He mentioned that the county has not had these funds.

Grand jury to convene this month

District Judge Richard Parsons announced that he has received the county clerk's certificate verifying 510 signatures on the petition asking the district court to convene a grand jury to investigate the county commissioners, county attorney and county manager.

The certificate states that on Jan. 28 there were 5,792 registered voters in Lincoln County and the 510 verified signatures represent 8.8 percent of the registered voters. Only 289 verified signatures, or 5 percent of the registered voters in the county, are required in order to convene a grand jury.

Judge Parsons said that prospective grand jurors will be notified after Feb. 8. The computer programmer will on Feb. 8 put a new program into the county computer that will be a new system for contacting prospective jurors.

The new system will print the names in notices similar to tax forms with a snap-out form that includes a return envelope for the convenience of prospective jurors.

Judge Parsons said the grand jury should convene before March 1 because of trial dates being set in March.

The petition asking to have a grand jury convened asked that the grand jury investigate and report on the actions of the county commissioners, county attorney and county manager and entities in their official and individual capacities to determine their compliance with New Mexico law in their dealings with the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, the Lincoln County Clerk's office and other offices of Lincoln County, and to determine whether or not these individuals and entities have committed any capital, felonious or infamous crime with respect to their dealings with the above referenced county offices and to determine whether they have committed a violation of any other state law.

The county commissioners named in the petition are John Allen Hightower, Ralph Dunlap and Bill Karn. County attorney Gary C. Mitchell and county manager Suzanne Cox are also named in the petition.

Capitan Chamber of Commerce Representation on EDC board is questioned

Members of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce spent a good deal of time Monday discussing its involvement with the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

Chamber members learned that 14 of the 15 members of the board of directors are from the Ruidoso area. The Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce is a Class "A" member. The Capitan Chamber of Commerce is a Class "B" member. Dorothy Smith was directed to write a letter to the corporation expressing the view of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber made a decision concerning committee assignments. Capitan's first choice is the planning committee, second choice is the prospect committee, then budget committee and research committee.

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County will meet Feb. 4, 7 p.m., in Ruidoso. The meeting place is the Texas, New Mexico Power Company Building on Highway 37.

Dorothy Smith reported that she had been busy sending brochures and answering inquiries about the Capitan area.

Chamber members decided to sponsor a "meet the candidates" night Feb. 22 at 7 p.m., at the Capitan Schools. Another decision was made to donate $20 to Boy Scout Troop 124.

Kay Strickland was praised for her dedication to her work as treasurer. She reported that the bingo license had been renewed.

Several Smokey Bear medallions were awarded for the Christmas lighting contest as well as $90 in cash.

The next meeting of the chamber is March 7.

ABUSED DENIM

Parents of juveniles will understand when I say that it is distressing when it comes time to take them shopping for jeans.

Picture this: Junior and yourself enter a department store.

"May I help you?" asks the clerk.

"No, thank you. We know what we want," you answer smugly and head for a rack of nice, neat, good-looking slacks in pleasing colors.

You turn to tell Junior of the splendid selection. Junior is several feet away at a stack of rumpled, faded jeans. Some of the jeans are puckered or raveling at the seams.

Junior tells you that these are "mean jeans" and everyone is wearing them. Then you look at the price tags. Mercy!

TODAY'S LOOK

Faded denim offers a soft worn look that's identified by a variety of names: Washouts (Calvin Klein), Snow-Washed (Jordache), White Washed (Levi), Hurricane wash (Wrangler) are some trade names for distressed denim.

I learned how a rigid, darkhued denim is transformed into a soft and whitened version.

First the denim is dry tumbled with stones that have been soaked in chlorine bleach. The tumbling deposits bleach on the fabric in random patterns. Small stones make a uniform pattern while large stones result in random bleached areas.

Then the fabric is laundered to remove residues of bleach and stone. Next the denim is stoned washed, a wet tumbling process with the same type stone but without the bleach. The worn look is achieved during this step.

Denim is then shipped to jean manufacturers who may alter the fabric appearance with additional bleaching.

A home sewer wishing to customize a denim garment may find liquid or powdered products on the market that duplicate the look of commercially treated denim.

The stone-washed technique does weaken the fabric and may cause break stitches in seams and wear holes in the knees—but then that's today's look.

GEORGE THE PAINTER

"I wish to inform my friends that I am back in Carrizozo and will appreciate their patronage. I specialize in painting, paperhanging and sign painting and ask that people get my prices on any small or large jobs they may have in these lines. Inquire at Harvey's Service Station." So stated the classified ad in the Lincoln County News in the year 1935. It was signed, "George, the painter."

Five years later I was born, but I still remember many local businesses and services as I grow up.

Other advertisers in 1935 in the NEWS: George's Auto Service, The Waffle House, Lyric Theatre, City Garage, John-Ellison's Wood and Coal, El Cibola Hotel, Carrizozo Eating House, Rollands Drug Store, Branum's Grocery, Prehm's Dept. Store, Ziegler Brothers, and the list goes on and on.

In one issue in 1935 the NEWS has this to say: "It is the dollars that circulate among ourselves, in our own community, that in the end build our schools and churches, pave our streets, lay our sidewalks, increase our local farm values, attract people to this section. Buying merchandise in our local stores means keeping our dollars at home to work for all of us."

BEARSKIN TO TRADE!

Advertising is as old as trade. Picture this: When prehistoric man had a bearskin he no longer needed, he may have gone out to see what he could get in exchange. Perhaps he shouted, "Warm bearskin to trade!"

That was word-of-mouth advertising.

Picture this: Later, when manufacturing began to develop, men who made shoes, bread, and other products walked through the streets shouting their wares. As business improved "criers" were hired to shout their sales.

George, the painter of 1935, bought an ad in the Lincoln County News to find job contacts.

I found out that the first newspaper advertising in the United States appeared in the Boston News-Letter, founding in 1704. Advertising made people aware of things they needed and to make them seek these things.

AD TRIVIA

*Many newspapers usually devote a big percent to advertising space.

*Many people read ads as eagerly as they read news stories.

*An advertiser can reach almost every possible consumer in a community through newspapers.

*The word "advertising" comes from the French word "avertir," which means to "notify."

*Through newspapers, national advertisers can select the towns where they want to concentrate their selling efforts.

*Advertisers pay for advertising that tells people about the advantages of a product, a service or an event.

SECRET OF SUCCESS

A millionaire was asked how he got rich. NEWS readers wanted to know.

"Well," he said, "I began by buying peanuts for 5 cents a bag and selling them for 10 cents. I worked long hours and all holidays. However, I didn't become a millionaire for another five years."

What happened?" asked the small town reporter.

"Well, then my father died and left me a chain of hotels."

Extension women visit legislature

Lincoln County Extension Club members from Hondo, Ft. Stanton, Ruidoso and Lincoln attended the Family Community Living legislative days in Santa Fe last week.

Those attending were Dorothy Talley and Phyllis Zumwalt, Hondo; Opal Armstrong, Ruidoso; Inez Marrs, Ft. Stanton; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, Lincoln. The group learned the "in and outs" of lobbying, how a bill goes through the legislature, and took tours.

The Lincoln County group toured the State Engineers Of-ice and the State Supreme Court. The group took a shuttle bus from the motel to the Capitol building.

The group also enjoyed viewing the art work of Gary Morton, Gary Snidow and Terri Sodd in the Capitol building.

Child passenger safety

As part of "National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week," Feb. 7-13, the LCSO will conduct a "Protect A Life (PAL)" campaign by observing area drivers using child safety seats to protect their young children.

License plate numbers of vehicles transporting children in safety seats will be sent to Gov. Carruthers, who will issue letters of commendation.

"Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week," which immediately precedes Valentine's Day, is designed to encourage parents to "Buckle Up Your Valentine" by correctly securing their children in car safety seats and buckling themselves into their safety belts.

The number one cause of death and disabling injury among children is the trauma they suffer as a result of motor vehicle crashes. Nearly 1,000 children under the age of 8 are killed annually in motor vehicle crashes.

Only 67 percent of children in New Mexico currently are restrained in car safety seats in passenger cars while only 23 percent are restrained in pickup trucks even though trucks are not exempt from the Child Restraint Law.

The New Mexico Child Passenger Safety Act requires that all children under 11 be properly restrained whether in a passenger car, pickup truck, van or other passenger type vehicle (except school buses). More specifically, children under the age of one must be in a child safety seat whether

Ernest V. Joiner's

Get a firm grip on your wallets, fellow citizens, the legislature is in session. The first rattle out of the box is the perennial introduction of bills to raise salaries for everybody in government. Sen. Bill 161 has been introduced by Sen. Joseph A. Fidel (Spendthrift Democrat from Cibola). It would raise the governor's pay from $63,000 to $82,000 a year. The secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, lieutenant governor and three corporation commissioners would get raises from $40,425 to $58,000 a year.

The bill would also require that if any member of the state Public Service Commission (appointed jobs) earns more than a member of the State Corporation Commission, the elected commissioners' salaries would be increased to equal those of PSC members.

Another bill has been introduced to amend the state constitution to provide a legislators' retirement program. This program, I assume, is to provide lifetime care and coddling funds for legislators who toil 60 days one year and 30 days the next year. Certainly they need a pension for life for all that hard work, most of which seems to be getting pay increases for themselves and other porky increases for their colleagues.

Another bill was introduced Friday to provide $750 flat raises for most state employees beginning with the 1988-89 budget. This amounts to a 5 percent raise. Have you had a 5 percent wage increase lately?

While Republican Gov. Garrey Carruthers has been urging that state money reserves be increased, the Democratic controlled legislature is ignoring such request; and, in typical Democrat tradition, is demanding a record $1.577 billion budget—far more than the governor recommends. Rep. George Buffett (R-Bernalillo) said he hopes the senate has more common sense than the loose cannons on the floor of the house. "If not," he said, "the governor must have a good veto to keep the state from going broke." Ridiculous, say the Democrats, just raise taxes!

Having thus achieved their prime purpose in being there, and moving on to a high level of statesmanship, legislators moved to do something nice for the public by approving Senate Bill 36. This bill will allow barbers in New Mexico to use blow dryers without having to take a test (now required) to establish their proficiency in blow drying. Any 10-year-old girl can use a blow dryer properly, and without having to pass a state examination. What you do, fellows, is read the directions on the box. If you don't understand the directions, call in the 10-year-old girl. In probably the only case of bipartisan consensus to be seen in the current session SB 36 passed by a vote of 36-0.

Perhaps inspired by the state legislature's perfidy in beating on taxpayers for higher pay for government officials and workers, Ruidoso's city council is considering doubling the pay of its six members, from $250 to $500 per month. This 100 percent proposal makes pliers out of the state, which is asking a mere 5 percent raise for state workers. How are people to support all these pay raises without increasing their own income? Perhaps the time is ripe to double the price of newspaper subscriptions—newspeople have needs, too, and are grossly underpaid. Now if we can stick it to taxpayers for such increases...

More of the same. Ruidoso Downs village trustees now receive $25 per meeting for a maximum of four meetings per month. Trustees are considering thrilling taxpayers by boosting their take by 100 percent—to $50 per meeting. Know any business in the private sector that doubled the wages of its employees recently?

US Sen. Daniel K. Inouye was chastized in this column on Jan. 21 for having "ridered" $8 million in the 1988 federal budget to construct a religious school for Jews in France. The outcry over this patently unconstitutional donation of tax money to a foreign religious group must have been tremendous. Inouye has now conceded he made an "error in judgment" and said he would move quickly in the senate to have the appropriation rescinded. So did 41 members of the house who co-sponsored a bill last week to block the ridiculous expenditure. The senator's piece of pork was included in the $603.9 billion appropriation bill passed by congress just before Christmas.

Keeping racism alive is a pretty tough task these days, but the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People must be commended for its perseverance. One would think that once civil and political rights for blacks were achieved in this country, the protest marches, high rhetoric and induced violence would end. The latest flap is over the Confederate battle flag that has been flown since the Civil War over the Alabama state Capitol in Montgomery. NAACP is also demanding that the Confederate flag flown over the South Carolina Statehouse be hauled down, and rebel flag designs on the state flags of Georgia and Mississippi also be removed. NAACP claims the Confederate battle flag is a racist symbol of slavery and black oppression. Such reasoning could apply equally to the official flag of the United States. It flew over a nation that embraced slavery and oppressed blacks long before the Confederate flag came into existence. Should the US flag be hauled down for so petty a reason?

From another viewpoint, blacks should respect the Confederate flag. What if the South hadn't provoked the Civil War that resulted in abolition of slavery and the beginning of civil rights for blacks? Might they not have had a far longer struggle to achieve their freedom and their civil rights? The South, represented by the Confederate battle flag, brought the slavery issue to a head.

SANTA FE—The state personnel office insists it has decentralized its supervisory functions.

The House Appropriations and Finance Committee is proposing that the personnel office get $1.1 million that it is right.

By a 10-7 vote, the finance panel inserted an amendment, proposed by its chairman Max Coll of Santa Fe, to the personnel office appropriation. The amendment makes money appropriated to the personnel director's office and to the agency services division contingent upon "the cessation of unauthorized delegation of duties and responsibilities."

Coll maintains that the increased flexibility the personnel office has granted to state agencies constitutes an unlawful delegation of authority.

The personnel statutes require the personnel board to promulgate rules providing for a classification plan for all positions in the service and a pay plan for all positions.

Coll says that individual agencies are now preparing their own classification and pay plans to the point that the state personnel system is dislocated, disconnected and no one is in charge.

The appropriation panel decided it wants some statewide consistency among state agencies in the establishment of salary schedules, entrance salaries, interagency transfers, shift differential payments and a number of other personnel matters.

During the past interim, the legislative Finance Committee became concerned about the lack of uniformity and consistency in the treatment of state employees.

It commissioned a study by the Hay Group, an international firm that develops and evaluates personnel systems.

The study reports that decentralization of personnel activities has become quite popular in the past several years but that the decentralization only works in relation to the processing of paperwork.

In other words, it is much quicker to process all the paperwork at the agency level rather than sending it to the personnel office to be done weeks from now. But the determination of personnel policies should remain centralized.

Natalie Babcock, the personnel director, says that is exactly what her office is doing and she doesn't understand what more Coll wants. She says it is just a difference of opinion.

Coll told Babcock to go ahead and do what she wants but if you get it wrong, "Some of us will see you in the courtroom."

"You will either develop the plans that the law calls for or you won't get the money," warns Coll.

The finance panel chairman says that if the office wants to delegate all its authority, it doesn't need the money that has been allocated for those purposes.

COMMENTARY

The Lincoln County Wars could be resolved if—

By J. A. "AJ" JUNGE

It would be well, at this time, for all combatants in the latest version of the Lincoln County Wars to stop, sit down and reflect on the high cost which everyone, and in particular the TAXPAYERS, will pay to bring this exercise in childish behavior to a conclusion.

The best to be gained from any conclusion will most assuredly leave scars which will remain with us for a long time.

Reflect if you will, one side will win and one side will lose in a court battle. Not so. Both sides will lose in areas of trust, performance, integrity and good will. Everyone will lose in this no-win confrontation.

Overlooking the charges, countercharges, and endless arguments the most distressing fact of the County/Sheriff/County Clerk disagreement is the charge that the parties concerned refuse to communicate. They can't get together to sit down and talk.

This reasoning or excuse is simply not acceptable to a clear thinking person.

Perhaps all of those in disagreement should be confined in a secured area and left no food or water until an agreement is reached. It would not take long to reach an understanding. If the parties feel that communication can not be accomplished, out in the open in a public meeting, in public view, why not attempt private talks on a one-on-one basis?

This type of communication will work more times than not.

Realizing that a personal background story told to illustrate a point often is considered odious, nevertheless, a story comes to mind which points out the value of a one-on-one experience.

And here is the story:

While I was a member of the Ruidoso City Council (1982-84) a problem arose which illustrates how the one-on-one theory will work when everything else has been tried to no avail.

About two years before, the city had drilled three wells in the Fawn Ridge area, just outside the city limits of Ruidoso. These wells were drilled without an agreement by Fawn Ridge that the city wells would not endanger the water supply of existing wells in the Fawn Ridge area. The State Engineer's Office was contacted and, upon its advice, legal action was taken against Ruidoso.

In the meantime, several years had passed with no solution in sight and legal expense was mounting. The lawyers had the situation well in hand—for the lawyers.

So, it was suggested at a Ruidoso Council meeting that an attempt to have a one-on-one meeting with the head of the Fawn Ridge Water Association was in order.

Bill Elliott, head of the Fawn Ridge Water Association, was contacted and I drove to his home to discuss the problem with him to see if a settlement could be reached. Both Mr. Elliott and his wife were very gracious and hospitable. He presented his side of the issue and listened to the city's argument. We noted our differences and worked towards a common understanding. We then promised to talk to our own constituents and to have a second meeting. The second meeting was held and a final agreement was reached.

Mrs. Elliott and I discussed a mutual hobby—gardening. I recall returning home with a large sack of garden-fresh vegetables.

Less than a month later a final agreement was signed by both attorneys as well as by the Ruidoso City Council and by representatives of the Fawn Ridge Water Association.

A long, protracted, and seemingly impossible confrontation had taken less than 30 days to settle to the satisfaction of all concerned.

It can be done.

It is not too late for the county commissioners to try the same approach.

On abusing the sheriff's deputies

EDITOR—As Chief Deputy of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department I've tried to keep a low profile in the "Lincoln County War, Part Two." My reasoning was, just do my job as operations officer and accomplish the tasks assigned to me. It was not that I was afraid to raise my head above the trenches, I've done that before. It was, I thought, better to stay clear of the battle lines in the first place.

I'm in the middle of it anyway, like it or not, mostly because of my loyalty to Sheriff Samuels and to the oath of office I swore to uphold. I won't now get into the innuendos that have been hurled at our department lately, because they will be brought out soon, I hope, by the grand jury.

What does upset me is the abuse my deputies and other employees are receiving. They acquire plenty from slobering drunks, puke dopers and the dirt bags of our society. They get spit on, have to clean up the vomit and excrement from the back of their units, and accept more profane verbal and physical abuse than anyone ever should. They take it because, contrary to what some believe, they have compassion; and also, it comes with the job.

What they don't need or deserve is quotes from the county attorney accusing them of "lining their pockets" or the county commissioners questioning their honesty or integrity. I was the one responsible for the arrangement with the Ski Area. My officers did what was assigned to them. They stood out there on the intersection of Hwy. 37 and the Ski Run Road, in the middle of a snowstorm and directed traffic. They did this on their own time to provide public safety and to make some much needed extra money. The monies they were to receive was returned to me, back to the Ski Area. My officers never made a dime.

If any rule, law or ordinance was violated, then it was I who did it, not my deputies.

REX SKELLETT, Captain Chief Deputy, Sheriff's Department.

Sanctions against ourselves

EDITOR—As a result of the sanctions against South Africa the United States is becoming dangerously dependent on the Soviet Union for strategic minerals.

According to Barron's Financial Weekly, since the sanctions were ordered US imports of chrome ore from the Soviet Union is now 6,440 gross tons per month compared to an average 478 tons before sanctions. Chrome, of course, is vitally important in aerospace, chemical, transportation and defense industries.

Imports from the Soviet Union of another strategic mineral, antimony, have risen 96 times. This is used in computers, radar and sonar. The list includes ferrosilicon which is essential in the manufacture of hull plates for warships and military vehicles. Monthly imports have quadrupled.

The president has the authority to lift provisions of the law which cause this situation, but has not done so. Left-of-center congressmen are doing everything possible to toughen the sanctions law which would compel greater dependence on the Soviet Union. For instance, Senators Kennedy and Cranston are pushing bills to make us more dependent on the Soviets. It is incredible that the United States should embrace trade with the Soviets who put millions of their own people in gulags and commit untold atrocities abroad.

ED SHELLENBARGER, Galt, CA.

Financing communist countries

EDITOR—According to Congressman Robert Dornam, millions of our tax dollars are being used for 50-year, zero-interest credits to the world's poorest nations, most of which are Marxist-Leninist.

Through the World Bank's International Development Association, countries such as India, Communist China, Mozambique, Tanzania, Ethiopia and South Yemen are beneficiaries of multi-million development grants funded by US taxpayers. India, for example, has the ability to borrow in the commercial credit markets. Yet India shuns commercial loans because of the availability of no-interest IDA credits.

Communist China is a net creditor. In fact, while China is receiving 50-year zero-interest loans from the United States it is making direct investments in the United States. What is even more disturbing, the Democrat leadership in the House support the IDA loans. It is too bad that it can't be put to a vote of the American people. I am sure they would put a stop to it.

MRS. MARJORIE MILLS, Stockton, CA.

Opinion . . . (Cont'd from opposite column)

black racist demands that the city be leveled because it is a symbol of black oppression that existed before 1863? Far-fetched, you say. But today, Louis Farrakhan, leader of the Black Muslims, wants the entire white race slaughtered. Why? Because whites tolerated slavery and black oppression. At this rate, how long will it be before tap dancing and the watermelon become symbols of whites oppressing blacks? The legitimate claims of black people have been met. Shall we knock off the silliness and concentrate on being good Americans?

Steve Sanders sends a bill

Downs trustees consider pay hikes

The Ruidoso Downs board of trustees met Jan. 25. Business conducted included considering an increase in compensation for trustees coming into office March 1, appointing the election board for the municipal elections and considering a letter from attorney Steve Sanders for $1,815.00 in attorney fees.

Trustees currently receive $25 compensation for attending meetings. If approved, the increase would be to $50 per meeting with no more than four meetings per month and would apply only to the three trustees coming into office March 1. Increases for the remaining four trustees would not take effect until after municipal elections in 1990.

Before an increase will take effect, a public hearing must be held to amend the ordinance. Tentative date for the public hearing has been set for Feb. 22. Trustees voting in favor of the increase were Fred Bernard, Bill Smith, Leonard Bergeron, C.L. Wright and Wilma Webb. Trustees Joe Smith and Laverne Cole voted no.

Appointed to the election board were Debby Floyd, Bernice Jones, Anna Carpenter, Hazel Lawing and Vivian Gonzales with alternates being Ernestine Capps and Anita Burke.

Cole was designated as representative to work on the feasibility study for a mini-railroad in the Ruidoso area.

Trustees discussed the situation of village vehicles being used for personal use. The matter was discussed later during an executive session.

After the executive session to discuss litigation, action on the CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) application for C&S Distributors was tabled until the Feb. 8 meeting, since this is the first application this board has had to review.

Reference was made to a letter from Attorney Steve Sanders regarding settlement of litigation concerning C&S Distributors' CDBG application, asking for $1,815.00 in attorney fees. Smith made the motion that the village refuse all charges and have the village attorney represent the village in court. The motion carried with all trustees voting aye except for Wright who voted no.

The next meeting of the Ruidoso Downs board of trustees will be held Feb. 8.

Shaking The Salt Habit

LOW SODIUM PASTA MAIN DISH

More of us are paying attention to what we eat these days. We have reduced the amounts of red meats and increased our consumption of poultry and fish. We have also reduced the amount of sugar and salt we consume. We're eating more pasta and fresh vegetables. One flavorful way to combine these foods is the Pasta with Tuna-Broccoli Sauce suggested here. Low in sodium, it is made with Seasoned NoSalt Salt Alternative. When preparing this dish, be sure to steam the broccoli and cook the noodles in water without added salt. Pasta with Tuna-Broccoli Sauce makes a light and flavorful lunch or dinner when a green salad, low sodium crusty rolls and a beverage are added.

PASTA WITH TUNA-BROCCOLI SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon unsalted margarine
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/8 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup low-fat milk
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 teaspoon Seasoned NoSalt Salt Alternative
- 3 cups broccoli flowerettes, steamed (about 8 ounces)
- 1 can (6-1/2 ounces) reduced salt water-packed tuna, drained
- 4 cups rotelle or other shaped pasta (8 ounces dry weight) cooked in unsalted water, hot

In medium saucepan, melt margarine; saute onion and garlic until tender. Stir in flour, lemon, nutmeg and pepper until smooth. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Stir over low heat until slightly thickened; stir in 1-1/2 tablespoons cheese and Seasoned NoSalt. Stir in broccoli and half the tuna. Stir over low heat until hot. Place mixture in bowl of food processor or blender container; process until smooth. Toss sauce with pasta; top with remaining tuna and cheese. Makes 4 servings. Sodium: 118 mg per serving. Calories: 387 per serving.

Commissioners appoint

Mitchell said that the first suit filed by Nielsens had been dismissed in court in Santa Fe and told commissioners he would give them more information during an executive session for litigation.

The county had awarded the bid to the low bidder, Twin Mountain Rock on Jan. 13. A letter from the state highway department concurred with the county. Notice of final award and notice to proceed will be sent to the highway department.

The money allocated for the construction is now encumbered and will be spent for the construction once the suit with Nielsens is settled in district court. New Mexico Nielsens, Inc. filed the suit in district court in Carrizozo on Jan. 27.

The two bids received for a fire truck for Lincoln were rejected. The bid from Thunderbird Fire in Albuquerque contained an illegal 10-year pay plan. According to state laws the pay schedule must be for eight years or less.

Lorenzo Sanchez, executive director of the Ruidoso Counseling Center, spoke to the commission and reported how county money is being spent in the counseling center. All areas of the county are being served.

Carolyn Cantrell was appointed to the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee to fill the vacancy due to Robert Boverie's resignation.

Commissioners approved an amendment for a two-month extension of the CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) project being conducted at Fort Stanton.

The volunteer firefighters retirement act qualifications record for the Bonito volunteer fire department was approved.

Don Wingfield presented the audit report for fiscal year 1986-87. The contract for Wingfield to conduct the annual county audit was approved by the state auditor.

Wingfield gave an overview of the budget and noted that property tax receipts were being deposited within two days of being received in the treasurer's office. He said this was an improvement of 17 to 20 days from previous years and by having the money deposited earlier the county was able to earn more interest.

The audit report contained the finding of a purchasing violation in the road department in October and November, 1986 when a contract road employee purchased and/or leased valid services and equipment without first obtaining a purchase order.

Wingfield said the employee did not answer to the road superintendent at that time, but instead reported to the commission, being the former commission of Bill Elliott, A.W. Gnatkowski and Kenneth Nosker.

Wingfield suggested that the road superintendent oversee all projects in the future and to not allow any purchase of goods or services without his prior approval.

Also contained in the audit report was a section about purchasing procedures in the sheriff's department. The sheriff's department purchased various items, which were uniforms in nature in the aggregate amount of $5,178 in June 1987. No purchase orders were obtained prior to ordering the goods.

The auditor recommended that the sheriff take measures to control purchasing within the department and to ensure that all personnel authorized to initiate purchases become familiar with the procurement code and county purchasing policies.

Commissioners discussed with Bettye Dean and Paul Wersich of the sheriff's department bills received for helicopter services. The helicopter services were used in August and September and the manager's office received the bills in January 1988. No purchase orders were obtained prior to the services being used.

Dean presented deposit receipts of money going into the general fund and said the money was for the helicopter services. County manager Suzanne Cox said that the money had already been included in the budget and was not an additional fund.

The $18,412.76 for the helicopter services will have to come from the sheriff's budget. A resolution to increase the sheriff's budget $14,000 was tabled until the end of the fiscal year. Commissioners approved a cash transfer of $13,813.31 from the general fund to the senior citizens fund until the money comes in to pay for the new van.

The county will apply for a CDBG grant with funds received to be used for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport project.

The lease agreement between the county and Southwest Community Health Services was approved for Lincoln County Medical Center.

An executive session was held for litigation and the Sierra Blanca Access road.

CHILD PROTECTION

SAFETY WITHOUT FEAR

Many crimes against children can be prevented.

The most important key to child safety is effective communication with your child. Children who are not listened to or do not have their needs met at home are more vulnerable to abduction or exploitation. The first step you should take is to make your child truly comfortable in discussing sensitive matters and in relating experiences of inappropriate approaches made by others.

Children are often too afraid or too confused to report their experiences and fears. Above all, you and your child need to be careful, but you do NOT need to be afraid. Talk to your child in a calm and reasonable manner, being careful not to discuss the frightening details of what might happen to a child who does not follow the safety guidelines.

It is not the pictures of missing children, circulated on milk cartons and broadcast on television, that frighten children—these have actually helped in returning children to their homes. It is, instead, the outdated and inappropriate messages from adults that contribute to their fear and anxiety. One recurring problem is the use of the "stranger-danger" concept. With it comes a vision of the typical "child molester"—a thirty-old man in a raincoat. This is a misguided concept that has made children overly fearful.

In reality, according to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, most abuse occurs at the hands of the child's everyday acquaintances—a babysitter, a teacher, a scout leader, a relative, the man or woman next door. Children should be taught it's okay to say NO—even to an adult; the meaning and importance of the circulated pictures; and to communicate to parents or teachers secrets adults have told them to keep.
