EPA briefing on hazardous toxic waste

Steve Gilrein, supervisor of hazardous waste program for the Dallas office of the Environmental Protection Agency, will be in Carrizozo Sept. 29 to brief county officials on hazardous waste procedures.

The meeting will be held at the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo beginning at 1 p.m. Emphasis will be centered on the Cimarron Mining site, which was placed on the EPA's priority list in June.

The briefing will be directed toward the commissioners, manager and other county officials. Interested citizens are also invited to attend.

More low water pressure

Carrizozo residents can expect low water pressure at the end of this week and early next week as the water improvement project for the town continues.

City crews will complete installation of the new alternate water line from the water storage tank today.

The new line will be pressure tested and connections will be made in the next few days. The chlorine content of the water may increase as additional chlorine will be used for purification purposes.

There is no danger even though the water will smell of chlorine. There will possibly be discoloration of the water while the work is being conducted.

The water improvement project called for the alternate water line to be placed to provide water for the town while the 10-inch line receives work scheduled for later this year.

Permits available for firewood

The Cloudcroft Ranger District is announcing the sale of personal use fuelwood.

Permits for the Brown Fuelwood Area are now on sale at $10 per cord for fir, spruce, aspen, oak and pine species. Permits may be purchased at the supervisor's office in Alamogordo or district offices in Ruidoso, Cloudcroft, Mayhill or Carlsbad.

The fuelwood area is located 15 miles south of Cloudcroft via Sunspot Highway and Forest Road 64. Current access into the area is good.

County Commissioners

Sheriff given OK on purchase of vehicles

By Ruth Hammond

Lincoln County Commissioners have given Sheriff Don Samuels permission to order whatever type vehicles he deems necessary for the sheriff's department.

The action came during a special meeting Sept. 9 with commissioners John Hightower and Bill Karn in favor of the motion and commissioner Ralph Dunlap casting a no vote.

Samuels talked to the commissioners about the importance of four-wheel drive vehicles for the type of terrain in this area. He said that during a manhunt one vehicle had a transmission go out and the undercarriage came out of another vehicle.

"It's my opinion that sedans are safer," Hightower told Samuels.

"It depends on how you drive it," Samuels said. He told about a Ruidoso police department sedan that was wrapped around a tree.

Hightower said that the $34,000 in the sheriff's department line item for capital outlay would buy three sedans and only two Broncos.

"We found different prices," Samuels said.

The News learned that the state contract price for a sedan was $11,231. The state contract price for the Bronco that Samuels ordered is $11,837 plus $1,338 for the transmission and another $175 for the spotlight, bringing the cost of one Bronco to $13,350. Cost of the two Broncos ordered will be $26,700. Three sedans would have cost $33,693.

In other business during the special meeting, commissioners awarded the bid for reconstruction of Fort Stanton road to the apparent low bidder, J.R. Hale Contracting, Inc. of Albuquerque.

Hale's bid of $462,265.20 came in well below the engineer's estimate of $503,748. McCarty Construction submitted a bid of $474,886 for the project and Twin Mountain Rock sent in a bid of $518,828.

Work is to begin immediately with the base course to be down by mid-October, followed by the double penetration surface as weather permits.

Funds to pay for the reconstruction will come from two state highway department co-ops and two state CAPs. The CAP (county arterial program) calls for the state to pay 75 percent and the county to pay 25 percent. The co-ops are for the state to pay 60 percent while the county pays 40 percent.

Commissioners rescinded resolution 77-11 at the request of Zia program director Barbara Ward. The resolution, approved at the Aug. 30 meeting, concerned salary increase for two site managers.

Ward had asked for the salary increases in August because one full-time employee was going to work part-time instead of full time. The extra money was to be used for the salary increases.

Ward sent another letter Sept. 8 stating that the employee would remain as a full-time employee, thus eliminating the excess funds which would have paid the salary increases. Commissioners rescinded the resolution.

Change order No. 11 for subdivision roads reconstruction in the Alto Village Paving District was approved. The increase to the project will be $1,571.25 to repair 200 feet of washed out ditch along the north side of Fort Stanton road.

Commissioners approved the certificate of property tax rates for the 1988 tax year with amendments. The certificate was received from the New Mexico Department of Finance Administration and the commission is required to approve the certificate within five days of receiving it.

The property tax rates include a three mill levy for Ruidoso property owners that was assessed by the Ruidoso village council on Sept. 6. The money from the three mill levy on Ruidoso property will be used to pay for the terminal and large hangar at the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

After a short executive session for an update on litigation, commissioners had nothing to report.

Carrizozo trustees

Hangar lease approved; 'no teeth' in some ordinances

The Carrizozo town council approved a lease for hangar space at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport during the Sept. 13 meeting for Virgil Hall of Capitan who will build a T-Hangar at the airport within the next 90 days.

In other business, trustees granted a variance to Wayland Hill that he not place a solid fence around his property containing antique and classic cars. Hill told trustees that placing a solid fence around the cars would increase vandalism and damage to the vehicles.

Beulah Moore asked the council to do something about the old hotel near her property. The old hotel is "a very dangerous building," Moore said. She told of children going in the building to play, throwing firecrackers into the building and how there was a large hole in the side of the building.

Mayor Bob Hemphill told Moore that the portion of the ordinance dealing with condemnation of buildings, "has no teeth in it." He said that the town will write the owner of the building a letter concerning the matter and that the council is working on a new condemnation ordinance.

Carrizozo school principal Mel Holland spoke to the council about a youth football league that is being formed for 10- and 12 year-olds. Uniforms and safety equipment are needed for the group.

Trustees approved using

$1,600 or $1,700 from the outdoor recreation fund to purchase uniforms and protective equipment for the group. This will leave $1,500 in the line item to be used for parks and other outdoor recreation areas in the town.

Phyllis Schlegel, Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce treasurer, asked that a member of the town council attend the chamber meetings to report town council action.

Schlegel also asked about the ordinance as it relates to agricultural zones within city limits being exempt from the ordinance relating to accumulation of junk. Hemphill explained that public hearings had been held for six months prior to the adoption of the ordinance in 1987.

"I just thought we were trying to clean up the whole town," Schlegel said.

Hemphill read letters received from people who had gotten letters from the town about junk and old cars. Letters had been sent to people on a list prepared by Chief of Police C.A. Morales.

"There are many inaccuracies in the list," Hemphill said. Some of the people stated in their letters that the junk was not on their property, and others said they would correct the problem.

Lonnie Matthews spoke to the council about weeds and about the state police officer giving out tickets for violations of the seat-belt law. He stated that he felt the Carrizozo police department should patrol the area and tickets issued should be cited into municipal court.

Hemphill said that he had talked with the state police officer and asked him to cite violators into municipal court. Hemphill also asked Carrizozo police officers to patrol the area.

Trustee Dale LaMay reported that the gross receipts from sales of gas by Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association would now be sent to Carrizozo. He said that the gross receipts had all gone to Capitan for 22 years but this month that would change and Carrizozo would get the gross receipts from the sales within Hemphill reported that he had attended a meeting and received information on the census that will be taken in 1990. He said it is important for every person in the town to be counted.

Carrizozo

"There has been some talk of annexing areas around the town," Hemphill said. "If these people are to be included in the census of the town the annexing must be completed by June 30, 1989."

Action on the request from Pioneer Metals Corp. to purchase water from the town was tabled for six weeks.

Trustees received specifications for a foam roof for the Rec Center. The specs include all information except for mechanical requirements for the cooling system. The town will advertise to have the foam roof installed.

Installation of the alternate water line from the water storage tank should be completed this week. Trustees agreed to table action on pigging the 10-inch water line at this time due to the cost.

Engineer Alan O'Brien suggested the town wait until after the inside of the water storage tank is cleaned and refurbished before making a decision on pigging the line.

An executive session was held for personnel. No action was taken following the 45-minute closed session.

Joiner a write-in candidate for county commissioner

Ernest V. Joiner, publisher of the Lincoln County News, filed with the county clerk's office Tuesday as a write-in candidate for Lincoln County Commissioner, Dist. 2.

He will face incumbent John A. Hightower, Democrat, and Robert Hemphill, Republican candidate and present mayor of Carrizozo, in the Nov. 8 general election.

Tuesday was the only day set aside for registering write-in candidates. Joiner was the only one to file, and will be the only write-in candidate for county office in November.

Joiner, 77, attended the University of New Mexico and took his degree in political science and journalism from Texas Tech University, Lubbock, TX. He served 3 1/2 years in the military as a criminal investigator with the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) during World War II.

He has spent 45 years in the newspaper field, owning weeklies in Texas, California, Oregon and New Mexico. During this time his writings appeared in such magazines as Time and Harper's as well as dozens of newspapers across the nation.

Joiner explained how a write-in vote must be written if it is to be counted and canvassed.

"In writing in my name, there are several ways it can be done and be a valid vote. First, the full name of Ernest Victor Joiner; second, one may write Ernest V. Joiner, or E.V. Joiner, or Ernest Joiner. Misspellings of any of these combinations that can reasonably be determined by the precinct board to identify the write-in candidate will also be counted and canvassed," he explained.

Joiner, who says he will conduct no campaign for the office, is not registered as a member of any political party.

Decision on locker room ruckus due Monday

Carrizozo municipal judge S. M. Ortiz heard three hours of testimony Wednesday afternoon. The hearing concerned an incident that happened in the locker room at the Carrizozo school gym after the football game Sept. 2.

A crowd of more than 35 people watched as Carrizozo School Principal Mel Holland and Carrizozo School Superintendent Danny Burnett presented their case against Johnny Morales; followed by Johnny Morales' case against Holland and Burnett. Another complaint had been filed against Burnett by Danny Morales.

The court invoked a rule requiring all witnesses to remain outside the courtroom until after they were called to testify. The 13 witnesses included 11 Carrizozo students, one teacher and a Lincoln County Sheriff deputy.

Entered into evidence by Holland and Burnett were a tape recording of statements made by the witnesses and written statements that were transcribed word for word from the tape recording and were signed by the witnesses. Another statement signed by witnesses was entered into evidence by Johnny Morales.

Judge Ortiz took the case under advisement and instructed the plaintiffs and defendants to appear at Carrizozo City Hall at 11 a.m. Sept. 19 for the court to pass judgement.

CARRIZOZO TRUSTEES agreed to spend $1,600 to buy football uniforms and safety equipment for the youth football group for youngsters ages 10-12. Mel Holland requested the money during the Sept. 13 town council meeting.

Capitan Schools off to 'fantastic start'

By Bartley McDonough

Supt. Scott Childress told the Capitan Board of Education Sept. 8 the Capitan Schools had gotten off to "a fantastic start," with enrollment in special education down from 73 last year to 52 this year.

Childress said the highway crossing and drainage project will begin Sept. 14 or Sept. 19. The sidewalk in front of the elementary school will be extended to the chain link fence. The term "personal leave" as it pertains to the faculty has been changed to business leave. Business leave will not be approved for less than one day.

The Capitan Schools are looking for a part-time speech teacher.

The total number of teachers on the Capitan faculty is 37. The total number of school employees is 58. The Capitan Schools have budgeted $1,162,000 for salaries this year.

The employment of Zelda Zumwalt, special education aide, was terminated. Zumwalt left her job without officially resigning. Annie McKay was transferred from junior high English to counselor. Judi DeWees was transferred from cafeteria clerk to special education aide.

The following assignments were approved: Bobbe Fowler, junior high English; Myrum Whitaker, social studies; Stephanie Aldaz, cafeteria clerk; Nancy Barone, school nurse and Charlene Dixon, OT. The board of education approved the payment of all bills with the exception of D and D Construction.

High school principal Larry DeWees gave a 15-minute talk on high school scheduling. He said Capitan is offering a big school schedule for a small school with 68 classes offered this year. Capitan seniors will need 22 credits to graduate this year. Next school year it will be 23 credits. Each student has a four-year plan and DeWees would like to involve parents in the scheduling.

A computer is used to schedule classes. Special attention is given to keeping classes balanced. DeWees said Capitan students are getting two times the attention they would get in a larger school. He said study halls have been eliminated. The board of education commended DeWees on doing a good job.

Some of the board members will attend a regional school board meeting Oct. 13 in Cloudercroft.

The following are the newly elected FFA chapter officers: president, Lisa Edwards; vice-president, Jason Watson; secretary, Jolene Edwards; treasurer, Warren Russell; reporter, Rachel Lacy; sentinel, Tonya Payton; historian, Sarah Dockery; parliamentarian, Kelli Rogers and chaplain, Chris Shanks.

The next meeting of the Capitan Board of Education will be Oct. 20, 7:30 p.m. in the board room located in the old elementary school building.

CARRIZOSO MUNICIPAL Airport is the new home for this T-hangar owned by Dr. David Rouleau of Capitan. The hangar was completed last week.

Canyon CowBelles outline beef promotion plans

The Canyon CowBelles met at the Nogal mesa home of Almeida Olla for a covered dish luncheon Sept. 7. Co-hostesses were Mattie Brieger, Genevieve Duncan and Pat Rume.

President Anne Ferguson thanked members for their donations and work in making the Lincoln County fair booth a success. The next booth on the agenda will be at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque. Canyon members working at the booth on the 10th and 11th will be Ruth Armstrong, Annie Withers, Anne Ferguson, Rene Burton, Jane Shafer and Jan Barham. They will be advertising and promoting the beef industry in New Mexico.

Carol Wilson, poster contest chairman, will soon be contacting teachers and students with supplies and information on the CowBelle beef poster contest. The theme this year will be Beef is Best. Posters will be judged at the local level and winners will advance to the state level and then nationals. The Carrizozo school has had several winning posters in the state.

The CowBelle five-state roundup will be held in Clayton, NM on Oct. 4. Any member wishing to attend should contact Anne Ferguson for details.

Traditional family reunions held at White Oaks school

The White Oaks school house has been open for visitors on most Saturdays and Sundays this summer when members of the White Oaks Historical Association have been repairing and restoring the old building.

Years of neglect, use and vandalism have taken a heavy toll on the old building, but it is gradually regaining a respectable appearance and a safe and secure structure.

The school has hosted, among other groups, two family reunions: the Ward-

Leslie reunion in July and the Hobbs-Dobbs reunion the first weekend in August.

More than 100 members of the Ward and Leslie families attended their reunion. Tom and Rhonda Ward and their three sons, Sean, Thomas and Robbie, came from San Diego, CA, the longest distance traveled to attend.

The 1988 reunion was hosted by Felise and Jack Graham, assisted by her parents, Al and Charlene Ward, all of Alamogordo. Special guests were two nieces of the first generation White Oaks ancestor Vashita Ward; Hattie Huffman Hartfield, her daughter; and Nancy Huffman Hampton, all of Ft. Worth, TX.

After a potluck lunch, a family song-fest was led by Ken Ballenger of Fayetteville, AR, accompanied by his daughter, Joan Griggs of Midland, TX.

Charlene Ward presided at the annual business meeting which was followed by an auction of family-made arts and crafts, which netted $1600 to meet reunion expenses. The balance was donated toward the cost of Z.G. Leslie's surgery. Auctioneer again this year was Zane Leslie Sr. The friendship quilt, to which each family contributes a block, was won as a door prize by Debbie Ray of Las Vegas, NV. The children's pillow was won by Reid Griggs of Midland, TX.

Elected as next year's chairmen were Sandra and Jim Robinson of Roswell. New board members are Allen Ward of Deming and Jim Robinson of Roswell.

SHAMARIE LARUE AND LARRY BLACK JR.

Shamarie LaRue plans an October wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Keith B. LaRue of Capitan are announcing the engagement of their daughter Shamarie to Larry T. Black Jr. of Perry, OK.

Shamarie is a senior at Oklahoma State University. Larry is the son of Larry T. Black Sr. of Red Rock, OK and Nathalene Buller of Enid, OK. He is employed by the Farmers Co-op at Perry. The couple plan an Oct. 8 wedding at the Community Fellowship Church in Capitan.

The couple plan to reside in Perry until Shamarie graduates from OSU, at which time they will move to Norman, OK where Shamarie will study law at the University of Oklahoma.

Lewis' Telethon raises $290,000 in New Mexico

New Mexico viewers who watched the 1988 Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) responded with a stunning show of generosity, pledging $290,177.00.

Nationally, the Labor Day extravaganza raised millions of dollars in phone pledges. The Telethon was aired on KGGM-TV-13 in Albuquerque and on KBIM in Roswell.

The people of New Mexico have the heartfelt thanks of "Jerry's Kids" and all of MDA for their fantastic show of support for the Telethon the past Labor Day weekend, said Carol Luehmann, president of the New Mexico Chapter, MDA. "With their continued help, we'll see the day when muscle diseases are just memories of the distant past."

Thanks to the Telethon MDA is able to support a massive world-wide research effort and to reach out with help to people through scores of local "service communities." At the hub of these services are MDA out-patient clinics and camps. In New Mexico, these clinics are held at the UNM Hospital in Albuquerque and Peccos Neurosurgical Associates in Roswell. The New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped campus was the site for the 1988 summer camp for youngsters.

Armed services tests Corona students

Corona High School is offering students the opportunity to take the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) on Sept. 21.

Scores are determined for four vocational areas, mechanical and crafts, business and clerical, electronics and electrical, and health, social and technology. Their ASVAB results will also give students indications of strength or weakness in academic ability, verbal (English skills) and math (arithmetic). These skills are important for those students who wish to attend a college or vocational training school.

The student workbook, Exploring Careers, is designed to help students combine their interests with their abilities to determine personal career and education goals. Each student who takes the ASVAB receives one of these workbooks. Any student who decides to enter one of the United States Military Services within the next two years, can use their ASVAB results toward satisfying entrance requirements. There is no charge for this test. This is a service of the United States Department of Defense.

Parents should urge their high school students to be present on the day of the test. For further information call your high school counselor.

Ernest V. Joiner's

• This column noted a few weeks ago that US Sen. Daniel Inouye, chairman of the Select Committee on Indian Affairs and a Democrat Big Spender, was instrumental in passing legislation that will pay each Japanese-American who went to a relocation center in World War II the sum of $20,000 each plus "perks" that will cost American taxpayers from $8 to $10 billion. This was the fourth time Japanese-Americans have been compensated for their inconveniences during WWII. It was also noted that a can of worms had been opened by Congress, and that the Indian population, using the Japanese-American pay-off as precedent, would begin suits against the government for their ill-treatment of a century ago. They have. And the ringleader in the Indian pay-off is the same Sen. Inouye, Democrat Big Spender.

• Time Magazine last week reported that Sen. Inouye has negotiated a settlement with the Puyallup Indians of Washington State. There are only 1400 members of this tribe. The Puyallup Indians demanded their ancestral lands, valued at about $1 billion now, and the entire City of Tacoma. But Inouye struck a brilliant compromise. The tribe dropped claims to Tacoma in exchange for 900 acres of land, a trust fund that could generate $10,000 annually for every Puyallup adult, $61 million for a salmon fishery, plus $20,000 in cash for every adult. (Wonder where they came up with that $20,000-per Indian gift, if not from the Japanese-American settlement?) Krank Wright, a Puyallup administrator was pleased. "Now," he is quoted in Time, (we have) "something we can grab on to." Right. The American taxpayers' collective assets. Stay tuned, folks. This is only the beginning!

• While Japanese-Americans and Puyallup Indians are being drenched in tears and dollars, let us have a look at the way senior citizens are being "compensated" in Lincoln County. The Zia Senior Centers are located in Capitan, Corona and Carrizozo. They serve 600 senior citizens spread over the state's biggest county, geographically speaking. Among them are 100 elderly, ailing people, most of whom can't do for themselves such things as shopping, making medical appointments, washing dishes or doing simple chores. According to Barbara Ward, Zia director, Verna Adams is the only person to evaluate all these shut-ins, and it is impossible for her to visit all these people on a one-to-one basis. Especially when they are spread over an area from Carrizozo to the Corona area and to Capitan and the Hondo Valley. What Ward is appealing for are volunteer citizens who will agree to visit the elderly, help them with such things as going to the post office, or wash a dish, call a friend, or just offer companionship to some very lonesome people. These citizens have devoted their lives to making this country great. They have worked hard, paid taxes for half a century, and their children and grandchildren are doing the same thing now. They deserve something better than to be neglected and isolated by a public that prefers to coddle Japanese-Americans and Indians with loads of money and attention. If you see it my way, call Barbara Ward at the Zia Center and let her suggest how you can help a senior citizen, without it costing a dime.

• But why, you ask, isn't there enough money from state and federal sources to hire another Verna Adams to visit and help the elderly? Hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent annually since 1965 by a bureaucracy known as the Administration on Aging. Yet the fundamental needs of the elderly go unattended. The reason is that the AOA is another bureaucracy. The money authorized by Congress to help senior citizens doesn't filter down to those for whom it was intended. Instead, great portions of it go to setting up regional AOA offices in all 50 states and the territories. Directors and administrators are hired in all of them. They are furnished offices, secretaries, clerks, cars and expense accounts. Then there are 10 regional offices of AOA, all with the aforementioned "perks" of office. Then there are 670 Area Agencies on Aging with their directors and staff. When all this bureaucratic folderol is paid for, how much is left to address the needs of the elderly? So little that about 27,000 local agencies are called upon to supplement the stated purpose of AOA—to serve as visible advocates on behalf of the elderly.

• While non-complaining senior citizens live out their lives in neglect, Congress reaches out to establish more bureaucracies and reward their friends. You recall Sen. Jeff Bingaman's classic piece of pork—$50,000 to study New Mexico wildflowers. Remember the two professors who got $82,000 to study the operation of whorehouses in Peru? Or the $180,000 to study how mother monkeys rear their offspring? Or the $168,240 to study the taste buds of catfish and mud puppies? Or the $100,000 Congress appropriated to study sharecroppers in Italy? I could go on for billions of dollars more to prove that lack of money is not the reason why the elderly's needs are not addressed. The reason is that the money the public thinks is going to aid senior citizens is going into other pockets.

• What can a concerned citizen do to help make life easier for the elderly? First, call Barbara Ward and volunteer a little time to helping the 100 who need help and can't get it. Next, never again vote for a congressman for more than one term. One day they'll get the message.

Inside The Capitol

SANTA FE—New Mexico's economy is not in great shape.

As they say, "It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure that out."

For the most part, only those communities with large federal installations are getting by. But as the good folks in Roswell can tell you, "Don't plan on that lasting forever." The unthinkable can happen.

Tourism is up in many places around the state but the positive effects are being felt mainly by those communities that are doing alright anyway. Albuquerque, although it doesn't have a lot of tourist attractions, gets the bulk of the tourist dollar because it serves as a hub for trips around the state.

Southeastern New Mexico is feeling the pinch the hardest. With oil, gas and potash all depressed, only Clovis with its military base and Roswell with its hard-won diversified economy are not experiencing very tough times.

Partly for this reason, Southeasterners have worked hard to welcome the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant near Carlsbad.

Economic desperation is not the only reason these folks have been willing to accept the transport and burial of less-dangerous nuclear wastes in their back yard. In those parts there is more of a trust in the ability of the federal government and the scientific community to assure safety of the project.

It may also be that they are too busy trying to make a living to have the time to spend worrying about hobgoblins of the nuclear age. They'll leave that to the WIPPIes of Northern New Mexico.

The Southeasterners even entertained the idea for awhile of encouraging the federal government to take a look at the possibility of burying high-level nuclear waste in their salt beds.

The resurrection of the water seepage problem in those beds, however, turned attention back to the volcanic tuff of Nevada as being the safest repository for the highly dangerous waste.

Now a new type of waste has burst on the New Mexico scene. Although far less dangerous than the nuclear variety, it has been equally as objectionable to many.

The commodity? Eastern garbage.

Yes, some eastern cities are running out of places to put their garbage.

Remember the garbage barge from Islip, NY that traveled all the way to South America looking for a place to dispose its unwanted cargo?

Islip has now set its sights on New Mexico. Their public officials think we'd make a pretty good city dump, according to Phillip Weston, an environmental scientist with the state Environmental Improvement Division.

And it's not just Islip. Cities in New Jersey have made inquiries and a call has come from Philadelphia where it costs as much as $100 a ton to dispose of its garbage.

That makes it cheaper for those cities to ship their garbage by rail to the wide-open spaces of the West for disposal in landfills near the tracks.

And there's not much we can do about it. The US Supreme Court has recently ruled that garbage is a commodity and can be shipped by interstate commerce.

That means that any enterprising New Mexico entrepreneur could buy a few acres near a railroad spur and start accepting New Jersey's worst.

Should we allow ourselves to be used in this way?

As expected the folks in the Santa Fe area have already said "no" in editorials and letters to the editor.

But what about our isolated desert areas that have not been heard from yet? Is the possibility too odorous to be considered economic development? It would also be a blessing to the ailing railroad industry.

What would it do to our reputation as the Land of Enchantment? Despite Bobby Knight and Pete Domerici gaining national headlines for New Mexico, reports still persist that "one of our fifty is missing." Would this finally gain us a national reputation, however unwanted?

Whatever we do, we had better get busy developing regulations on anything coming into our state because garbage, and especially Eastern garbage, can contain toxic substances we would never want to accept.

Historic Trinity Site open to public Oct. 1

Trinity Site, where the world's first atomic bomb was exploded July 16, 1945, will be open to the public on Saturday, Oct. 1.

The National Historic Landmark is open twice a year, on the first Saturday in April and October.

Trinity is located on the northern end of the 3,200-square mile White Sands Missile Range, NM between the towns of Carrizozo and Socorro. For the upcoming Trinity Site tour there will be two ways of entering the restricted missile range.

Visitors can enter through the range's Stallion Range Center, which is five miles south of Highway 380. The turnoff is 12 miles east of San Antonio, NM and 53 miles west of Carrizozo. The Stallion gate will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Visitors arriving at the gate between those hours will receive handouts and will be allowed to drive unescorted the 17 miles to Trinity Site. The road is paved and marked.

The second way of entering the missile range is by traveling with a caravan sponsored by the Alamogordo Chamber of Commerce. The caravan forms at the Otero County Fairgrounds in Alamogordo and leaves at 8 a.m. Visitors entering this way will travel as an escorted group with military police to and from Trinity Site. The drive is 170 miles roundtrip and there are no service station facilities on the missile range. The caravan is scheduled to leave Trinity Site at 12:30 p.m. for the return to Alamogordo.

Cameras are allowed at Trinity Site but their use is strictly prohibited anywhere else on White Sands Missile Range.

Trinity Site consists of ground zero where the atomic bomb was placed on a 100-foot steel tower and exploded and the McDonald ranch house where the world's first plutonium core for a bomb was assembled. The crater resulting from the explosion has been filled in and a small monument now marks the spot. The missile range provides historical photos and a Fat Man bomb casing for display at ground zero. A number of artifacts and photos are also on display in the ranch house. There are no ceremonies or speakers.

For more information contact the missile range Public Affairs Office at (505) 678-1134/1700.

Praise for county officials

EDITOR—In the past two years, the Lincoln County Commission and the county manager have been unnecessarily criticized and ridiculed by certain groups of people in Lincoln County. The county commission is doing a fine job running the county and I admire their integrity, knowledge, guts and "stick by your guns" attitude in making difficult decisions in the issues facing Lincoln County.

Likewise, our county manager shows exceptional knowledge and ability and relentless dedication to perform her duties. The county manager's office is staffed with a very professional, competent, and pleasant group of hard-working people.

I appreciate the quality leadership and management of our county, Suzanne, John Allen, Ralph and Bill, my hat is off to you for a job well done.

LERRY DAN BOND,
Carrizozo.

Will God be banished?

EDITOR—When we Christians observe the awesome array of power that the atheistic secular humanistic Democrats have amassed against us in this year's election, we tend to lose faith in the awesome conserving power of the Lord, and like St. Peter, we begin to sink below the waves. I've prayed that the Lord would send us a happening to turn things around and He has. If this terrible film that these atheists are trying to ram down our throats isn't enough to arouse us, then Dukakis and the American Civil Liberties Union will be on the verge of achieving their primary objective, the banishment of God from America.

CORNELIUS U. MORGAN,
Baltimore, MD.

What about the victims?

EDITOR—The purpose of this letter is to enlist your readers' help in getting a recent HED decision reversed. After doing forensic evaluations of victims since 1981 HED, through Carla Muth, Beverly Jimmerson, and/or Lori Ball, decided to stop reimbursing community programs for court-ordered forensic evaluations of victims. Forensic evaluation teams, funded by HED, do court-ordered psychological evaluations for the district courts.

Now forensic evaluation teams find themselves in the peculiar position of evaluating the rapists and child molesters for free "to meet the bureau's legal obligations to defendants . . ." but denying the victims these same services.

We believe that all forensic teams should be reimbursed for evaluating victims as to their competency as witnesses and other court-related issues. Apparently HED does not. Additionally, they have made this policy change without asking the legislature. Please help us get this changed by contacting your local legislators as soon as possible to register your protest.

COMMON COLD

Is it the common cold or hay fever?

Ah-choo! You're familiar with that miserable condition.

There may be some truth to grandma's remedy. Research done at the Mount Sinai Medical Center, in Miami, Fl., demonstrated that chicken soup really does exert a soothing effect on cold sufferers. The warmth helps speed the passage of mucus through the throat, getting rid of virus particles before they can infect the lungs.

Feed a cold, starve a fever? Or is it feed a fever, starve a cold? Doctors generally agree that the best approach to a cold or a fever is to drink plenty of liquids, to help flush out toxins, and continue with a normal healthy diet.

A hot toddy sounds appealing to someone fighting a cold and needing a drop of cheer, but there's little medicinal value in a hot alcoholic drink. Some doctors warn that it could irritate nasal passages and make chest congestion worse. Try hot lemonade with honey instead.

I read that eucalyptus oil emits a powerful vapor that is ideal for clearing stuffy heads and noses. It is also a strong antiseptic that can help kill germs in the mucous membranes of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. Try inhaling the vapor from a few drops of eucalyptus added to a bowl of steaming water, or rub a bit of the oil into your chest before bed. It may not cure a cold, but it can certainly relieve some of the symptoms.

NEWS ALTERNATIVE

USA Today: The Television Show is a video version of the national newspaper, with segments on money, sports, news and life. The show which premiered around the country Monday evening, is a half-hour show with four sections like the newspaper on which it is based. It will have lots of colorful graphics, lots of even shorter items and upbeat tone that producer Steve Friedman calls the "journalism of hope."

The print version of the USA Today, which was supposedly created as a "fast-food news alternative" for readers whose attention spans have been ruined by television, is often called McPaper. The broadcast version will probably be labeled McTV.

Living in the US and Soviet baseball were among Monday's news McNuggets.

The New Mexico Press Association, the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the American Society of Newspaper Editors declared Sept. 8, 1988, as National Newspaper Literacy Day. The date was chosen to coincide with the International Reading Association's celebration of International Literacy Day.

New Mexico activities focused on encouraging readers to share their newspapers and magazines with people who do not have print material at home, raising funds for local adult literacy efforts, sponsoring read-a-thon organized in shopping malls with the help of volunteer organizations.

Capitan takes a close one from Texico, 26-21

Jerrod Martin and Anthony Sanchez played their hearts out Saturday night as Capitan came back from a one-point deficit to defeat a tough Texico squad 26-21.

Clay Guck and Lance LaMay looked good on defense. LaMay put a "hurt" on one Texico player he'll never forget.

The Tigers took the opening kick-off and drove 68 yards for the first Tiger TD. The big play on this drive was a 53-yard scramble by Jerrod Martin to the Texico one-yard line. Tino Gallegos took the ball in, but the Tigers could not add the extra point.

Five minutes later Sanchez intercepted a stray Wolverine pass to set up a 27 yard drive for the second Tiger tally. Martin got 24 yards to the four yard line. Anthony Sanchez got the final four yards. The extra point was good and Capitan took a 13-0 advantage.

Moments later Chris McCarty covered a fumble on the kick-off and Capitan began a 55 yard drive. The TD came on a pass completion to Sanchez. Foreign exchange student Hinrick Petursson added the extra point and Capitan went out front 20-0.

It was here that the Wolverine's Jason Longo took the ensuing kick-off and sailed 84 yards for the first Texico score. The extra point was good and Texico narrowed the score to Capitan, 20, Texico 7.

It was Sanchez on a nice 20 yard run before the 1st quarter ended.

The second Wolverine TD came four minutes into the second quarter when Martin could not punt and was forced to run. Harrison, the Wolverine work horse, got the final 10 yards. Texico passed for the two point conversion. With eight minutes left in the half the scoreboard showed Capitan 20, Texico 15.

A pass interception later in the 2nd quarter stopped a Wolverine drive and there was no further scoring in the 1st half.

A Tiger fumble midway in the 3rd quarter set up the final Texico TD. The Wolverines drove in from the Tiger 35 yard line to take the lead. The score with 5:07 left in the 3rd quarter stood Texico 21, Capitan 20.

The final Tiger TD drive began in the 4th quarter on the Texico 45 yard line. Jerrod Martin got 30 yards to the Texico 15. Martin got 8 yards more. On 3rd down Martin literally fought his way to the goal line, Wolverine players hanging on. The final score was now posted, Capitan 26, Texico 21.

Later in the quarter Anthony Sanchez was nailed after signalling for a fair catch. His signal was ruled illegal and Texico kept the football. Tino Gallegos intercepted a pass to stop a Wolverine drive and the Tigers ran out the clock.

The Tigers meet Hagerman Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game with the Bobcats. Hagerman is tough. Capitan boys will have to cut out the numerous penalties and play better defense to win this one.

Ski Apache Resort plans expansion

The Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest reports that Ski Apache Resort has made application to make further developments on the existing ski area.

The project proposal would involve 10 new ski trails, one triple chairlift and a snowmaking system within the existing permit area on Elk Ridge.

The project would affect about 350 acres of which 210 acres would be National Forest and 140 acres would be Mescalero Apache lands. All of the chairlift would be located on the Mescalero Apache lands. The project would be on Elk Ridge.

Ski Apache Resort is proposing the improvements in order to provide additional lift capacity, to increase the amount of intermediate terrain serviced by snowmaking in the areas not subject to upper mountain winds and to provide expanded skiable area during early season and low snowfall years.

The US Forest Service and Bureau of Indian Affairs will jointly prepare an environmental assessment of the project. Issues or concerns currently recognized are: cumulative impacts on wildlife; cumulative effects on sensitive species (spotted owl, Sacramento salamander and Goodding onion); visual impacts; watershed and water quality protection; economic values; access road; Cultural resources; public safety; quality of public services and support facilities. The Forest Service invites the public to present any issues or concerns to be included in the assessment of the project. Submit comments to the Smokey Bear Ranger District, 901 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso, NM 88345 by Oct. 3. Additional information is available upon request.

Buzzard Ringers get a hand from C of C

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce met Sept. 13 and complimented the Carrizozo Buzzard Ringers for hosting the state horseshoe throwing championship tournament in August.

The event was held at the Carrizozo Country Club and drew contestants from around the state. Chamber members were impressed with the support the community gave the contest. Local businesses paid to have signs painted with their names. The signs lined the fence surrounding the pits.

Chamber president Betty Howell presented a letter from the Economic Development and Tourism department stating that the 1988 legislature had appropriated money to be used for special events promotions in community development. The money available on a first-come first-served basis and applications must be sent as soon as possible. Howell suggested applying for money to help promote the Buzzard Days contest that is usually held in April but may be held in May next year.

The motion to support Buzzard days passed unanimously and the chamber will submit the application.

Special guests from the Alamogordo Chamber of Commerce were unable to attend due to an unscheduled trip to Santa Fe concerning their co-op advertising for next year.

Carrizozo has received approval for the co-op advertising to be in New Mexico Magazine in January, February and March. The ads will cost $1,700 with the Carrizozo Lodger's Tax Committee to pay $1,400 of the cost of the ads and the remainder to come from the Chamber of Commerce. In return, the chamber will receive $1,500 from the state for co-op advertising.

Dale Goad reported that another lease for hangar space at the Carrizozo Municipal Airport would be signed at the Sept. 13 Carrizozo town council meeting.

Shafer said the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County had a full time secretary in the office in Ruidoso. The EDCLC prospect contact committee has talked to more than three businesses interested in locating in Lincoln County.

Ruth Hammond announced that EDCLC will host an office warming for the new office on Sept. 22. All members as well as other interested persons are invited to attend and view the new office suite, visit with board members and fellow members. At 6 p.m. there will be an official ribbon cutting ceremony with the Ruidoso Valley Greeters.

Howell reported that the highway widening project on Highway 380 will begin soon. The project will include bridge improvements and widening the road through the malpais.

A nominating committee consisting of Ralph Forsythe, Dale Goad and Betty Howell will present nominations for the chamber election of officers in October. Installation of officers will be held in November.

The chamber membership drive begins in October. Business memberships are $40 and individual memberships are $10. Brand new business members, those who have never been chamber members, will be invited to join at half price for the first year.

Howell presented a long stem rose in a milk glass vase to Dale and Cheri Goad for their 10 years in Carrizozo. Dr. Goad is the dentist at the Carrizozo Health Center dental clinic and Cheri is a certified dental assistant there.

Woody Schlegel announced that Brooks Construction of Shawnee, OK has purchased the property over the overpass near the old mill. Brooks will lay telephone cable.

Wilson has been a contributing editor of New Mexico Stockman Magazine for several years and each month has one or more articles on different phases of the beef industry and/or people in the beef industry in New Mexico.

President Anne Ferguson appointed a nominating committee of Bessie Leslie, Donna Doty and Joyce May to nominate new officers for the coming year. Officers will be elected at the November meeting and installed in December.

September birthday members were Annis Withere, Jane Shafer and Betty Howell. Birthday members put pennies in the pot and this money is sent to the Girl's Ranch at Lamy at the end of the year, along with other donations.

Bunty Richardson won the door prize. The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at the home of Bessie Leslie with Donna Doty as co-hostess.

"HOW ARE YOU GOING TO SPEND MY DAD'S QUARTER?"

Question? Is there a way to fill vacancy on council?

Monday night Mayor Benny Coker again attempted to fill the vacancy on the Capitan Village Council created earlier this summer by the resignation of Dave Strickland.

Trustee Norm Renfro made a motion to fill this vacancy with Myrl Ray. This motion did not receive a second. Coker then asked why there was no second. Trustee David Rouleau said this was the first he had heard of this appointment and needed time to review the situation. As a result, there is still a vacancy on the council.

Renfro was appointed to the C-C Natural Gas Board, and Dr. Bernard Reimann was appointed to be an environmental advisor.

Coker announced that the $14 a kilowatt hour charge on the new well had been reduced to $5 a kilowatt hour, to take affect Aug. 26.

The council approved the low bid of $5,245 from Per-teet, Parks and Associates for general liability insurance. A bid of $7,815 from Seeley & Co. was rejected. Both firms are located in Ruidoso.

Coker said some complaints had been received concerning the lack of street lights on Third Street. Coker also indicated the monthly report for August from the Capitan Volunteer Fire Department had been received. The water lines are being blown out. One can find out from village hall when this is to take place.

Dan Davenport gave a report on the water filter plant. The media in this plant should be replaced every year. This hasn't been done in a number of years. Capitan has been on the new well for the past two weeks. Davenport indicated the big filter is looking pretty bad. The Culligan people in Ruidoso are interested in this project. Coker said "We're not jeopardizing anybody's health." There is enough storage where there will be no fire hazard bind. Davenport ended the discussion by stating "We need a new filter system."

Coker announced that Ord. 88-7 had been published. This deals with giving the houses in Capitan a street number. Coker also said an EMS grant had been received for $3,111, and that final approval for the village budget had been received.

from the DFA.

Coker said a full council is needed for further business, and the meeting was adjourned.

There were those present who wanted to talk about the cemetery. The mayor's adjournment of the meeting was questioned. A question came up concerning what rules of order the council uses. Attorney Mike Runnels said, "to my knowledge the council has not approved Roberts or Masons rules of order." Most governing bodies use Masons. Coker told Frances Shaw that business concerning the cemetery will be taken care of "even if I have to call a special meeting."

PREVENTING CANCER

Facts from the National Cancer Institute

Early Detection And Treatment Crucial

Many people are pleased to read a recent report on cancer. After years of study, the National Cancer Institute found many ways individuals can avoid dying from cancer—and avoid getting cancer at all. Early detection and treatment for most forms of cancer afford a greater chance of survival.

Screening techniques for both breast cancer and cervical cancer have already reduced cancer deaths significantly among women. For women over 50, mammography and physical breast examination by a health care professional can reduce mortality by an additional 30 percent. For women between 20 and 70, Pap smears can reduce risks of cervical cancer up to 75 percent.

By the year 2000, NCI hopes to:

- Increase to 80 percent the percentage of women ages

See your doctor once a year for an annual check-up. It could be your step up to a healthier—and longer—life.

50 to 70 who have annual physical breast exam and mammography.

- Increase to 90 percent the percentage of women ages 20 to 39—and to 80 percent the percentage of women 40 to 70—who have a Pap smear every three years.

That's a healthy prescription, many agree, for a long, and healthy life.
