State officials urge 'communication'

Capitan village officials, fire department problems unresolved

By Bartley McDonough

Those attending the July 29 meeting between members of the Capitan Volunteer Fire Department, village officials and state officials, learned what will be required from Capitan as a result of the ongoing feud between Mayor Benny Coker and the fire department.

The fire department (CVFD) must do a complete inventory and send copies to the state fire marshal's office and to Mayor Coker. The minutes of meetings and drills of the CVFD will be sent to the state fire marshal's office and to Mayor Coker. The village will send to the state fire marshal's office by Oct. 10 an itemized account of fire protection fund monies for the last three months. The fire marshal will have someone visit the CVFD on a quarterly basis.

Present for the meeting was chairman of the state corporation commission Jerome Block. Block is also chairman of the state fire board. Block was accompanied by his executive assistant Luke Otero. Also present was state fire marshal Carl Standefer.

Block stated at the end of the meeting that he would hate to come back in two or three months and put the CVFD on probation. "We hope this won't happen. Funds could be in jeopardy."

The meeting lasted one hour and 45 minutes. Along the way, Trustee York said he was confused who is in charge of the fire department. Standefer said that the CVFD is in charge of its own operational procedures. These are decided by their by-laws. The mayor and village council have the last say so. The mayor has the right to approve or reject vouchers. Emergency purchases by the CVFD must be approved by the mayor and council.

Trustee Rouleau said he felt the responsibility for property and physical plant belongs to the fire chief. Moments later Block said that the mayor does NOT have unlimited access to fire department property. He stressed again that both entities should make every effort to cooperate with each other.

Fire Chief Virgil Hall stood before the council and state officials for a short time and said in reference to certain events "the mayor did not ask us, he told us." Hall said that the mayor did not try to communicate with the fire department. The mayor padlocked one door, changed locks on another. He has the locks "messed up" on one of the electric doors. He does not consult the fire department. The two women in the fire department are unable to open the doors to the fire truck stalls.

In response, Coker said this gets back to communication (chuckle from crowd). Hall received applause from the crowd as he sat down.

In an exchange between assistant fire chief Pat Huey and village attorney Mike Runnels, Huey said that criminal charges brought by fire department members against Coker had been dropped without consulting the fire department. Attorney Runnels replied "I'd have charges dropped again if they were as bogus as these were."

In another segment of the meeting, Coker denied saying he would sell the rescue unit. He also denied ever offering the position of fire chief to anyone. He went on to say there has never been an audit of CVFD; he had never been presented a list of officers. Coker said there had been a political move to disrupt the office of mayor. "In no way have I done anything detrimental to the fire department."

Hollis Fuchs disagreed

that the fire department resists change. Fuchs said the village lacks leadership. Fuchs later said the mayor has violated the ordinance, the fire department has not.

Later in the meeting Standefer pointed out that most fire departments have their own post office box. Block said fire department records should be available at the village hall. The village has the responsibility of an audit.

During this meeting, Coker asked if the fire chief has anyone he must com-

Beverly Graham is EMT of the Month

By Dorothy Guck

There are many plaudits Lincoln County has received this year.

The "working-together" of the persons and agencies directing the welfare of the county is often outstanding, and too few times brought to our attention. Not only the employees in various agencies, but individuals who volunteer their efforts and time, make the county exceptional in the results of their care and concern.

The blending of work of government, law, fire, road, utilities, schools, clubs, churches, EMS, and other residents, is making Lincoln County a place where life is freer of dangers and many troubles. But to attain and maintain this high standard of life, takes never ending work for learning, improvement and action. Emergency Medical Service gives an excellent means of achieving in the county more plaudits and better livability.

The County EMTs chose Beverly Graham of Carrizozo for special recognition this month of August. She was born Beverly Stanley in Arlington, TX and had her schooling there. In 1981, she married Steve Graham from Athens, TX. She has four brothers and four sisters, two daughters, Chastity Ashley 12, and Amanda Ashley 10, and one son, Jered Graham, 6.

Her mother and stepfather moved to Carrizozo in 1981. They persuaded Steve and Beverly to move here in 1985, urging that Lincoln County was beautiful country, the people friendly, and a great place to live. Steve had seen military action in Vietnam and had medical experience there. When they came to Carrizozo, their interest in medical service led them to take the First Response Course, then an EMT class in 1987.

"I never could stand to see anyone suffering and in pain," Beverly said, "so wondered if I would be able to care for patients. But the EMT training convinced me that I could help those hurting. It gave me pride and such a good feeling to do service so needed and worthwhile."

"When my first case was my brother, I knew if I could help someone so close to me, I certainly could help others. It is really heart-rending when the patient is family or friend, as Steve and I have both learned."

Beverly works at the school and Steve has janitorial contracts.

Steve said of his wife, "She's ready to answer every time that beeper sounds even if it isn't her call number. She'll jump out of bed in the middle of the night and be half dressed before she hears her help isn't needed. One time, we both rushed to our car when the call came. Beverly didn't close her door properly. When I turned the car out to drive to the ambulance station, she fell out, and so badly injured her head that she was the patient."

"Yes," Beverly laughed, "so the EMTs presented me with an award inscribed, 'Most likely to get hurt in a parked car.'"

"One time, in my hurry to answer a call, I arrived at a serious accident in flip-flop sandals and had to hurry into rough terrain of cactus and stones. I learned right then that a minute to put on shoes wasn't wasted time."

BEVERLY GRAHAM

Beverly told of an ambulance run for a one-car accident near Bingham for an elderly couple. The husband was killed. Beverly tended the wife and did her job so well, she still receives letters from the lady, and EMS received a sizable donation, in gratefulness.

Beverly and Steve received commendations from the military when they were on duty when an Army water truck rolled over, and EMS presented them with 'death fighter pins.'

"The veteran EMTs have been so supportive," Beverly said. "As I arrived on one accident scene, Rosemary Zink knew I was nervous. She grabbed me for a quick hug and said, 'You can do it. I trust you.' As soon as I get to work doing what I've been trained to do, I have no qualms. It is hard sometimes not to be too brusque with people who want to help at an accident, and are often just in the way. They mean well, but can hinder."

"More people need to take the First Response Course, even if they don't want to continue with the EMT more advanced training. For their own or their family's sake, they need to know what to do in a medical emergency. The more complex EMT training may not be for everyone, First Response is. As for me—some day I hope to be a paramedic." Incidentally, Beverly's birthday is Aug. 12. Happy birthday, Beverly, may you attain the title 'Paramedic.'

Ernest V. Joiner's OPINION

●HERE at the Lincoln County News we are finding out why employment is increasing in this country. We have a 3M copying machine that needs repair. However, there is no repairman for 3M machines between Albuquerque and El Paso. If we had a Xerox we could get it repaired in Alamogordo, but nowhere in that city is there a person who will work on a 3M. They specialize in Sharpes, Monros, Panasonics, Pitney Bowes and other popular makes. All repairmen work on their special machine. So if we call a repairman from Albuquerque or El Paso we have to pay him from $90 to $120 an hour—from the time they leave their place of business to travel to Carrizozo. For what it would cost to have such a person come to Carrizozo would make it less expensive for us to throw our newly-installed 3M into the street and buy a new one.

●IMAGINE. You drive your Ford into a garage for repair. Sorry, the man says, we only work on Chevrolets. Go into a restaurant and you find that instead of one or two cooks you have a dozen—one who specializes in poached eggs, another in scrambled eggs, another in pancakes, one for steaks and others who specialize in sandwiches. Using the same formula one can go into a bar and find a bartender that mixes only bourbon drinks while another specializes in vodka or gin. How long will it be before beer will be dispensed by one trained in opening only Coors cans, or Budweiser, or whatever? Go into a lawyer's office (if you haven't already) on a divorce matter. Sorry, he doesn't do divorces. So he gives you the name of a friendly attorney who does, or he refers you to a member of his own firm who specializes in divorce cases. It's the same way with contracts, bankruptcies, wills, criminal law, real estate and a hundred other legal categories. So instead of a firm having three or four lawyers they come off with 50 or 100.

●ALREADY we have cleaning women who do floors but not windows. When janitors specialize to the point where one does floors, another dusting, another repair, another waxing—how many janitors will it take to clean the local school—15 instead of one? You already know how it is in the building trades. The guy with the hammer and saw becomes two guys, one with a hammer and the other with the saw. The next move is create another specialist to hold the nail while the hammer specialist does the banging.

●IN another era a doctor could handle every medical problem from acne to amputation; a garageman could work on any internal combustion engine, and in addition paint your car, adjust brakes, fix the radio and change the tires; an English teacher could also teach history, mathematics and be head football coach; a bartender could mix anything from concrete to a Margarita; and newspaper reporters covered every source of news from city hall to police and from business to the statehouse and from Aunt Fanny's birthday party to athletics.

●NO more. We are a nation of specialists. We have turned one job into a dozen jobs to expand employment. No wonder there are more people working today than ever before. Not hard to accomplish when it takes 10 men to do what one man once did.

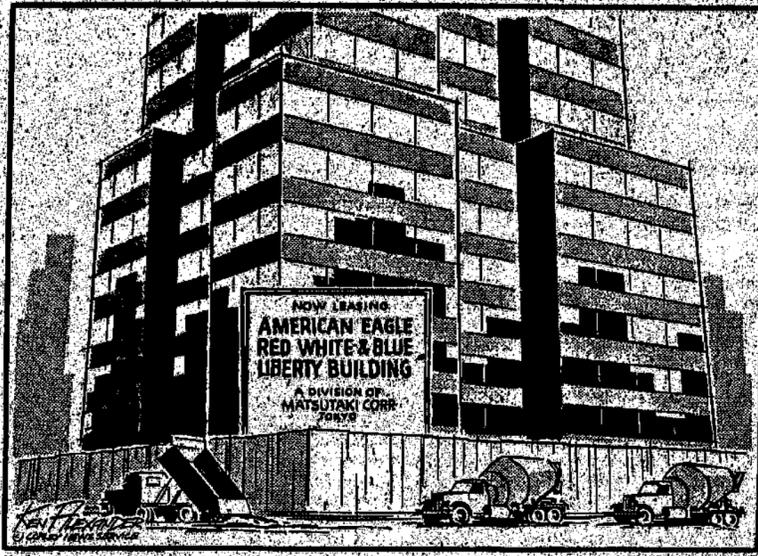

●GEORGE Bernard Shaw had a point when he wrote in 1903, "No man can be a pure specialist without being in the strict sense an idiot." And I say that a repairman who can work on a Xerox copy machine and not on a 3M is an idiot. Furthermore, I will pay a $50 reward to any non-specialist who will come into the news office and fix our 3M.

●THE National Education Association, the big teachers union, is constantly howling for more money for teachers. It refuses to recognize that money has nothing to do with how a teacher teaches. But the NEA bawls that if only teachers made more money they would do a better job of teaching. Weird thinking, especially when I recall that the best teacher I ever had made $60 a month. If a teacher doesn't do his best at a salary of, say, $20,000 a year; then when his salary is raised to $100,000 a year and he becomes a better teacher, he deserves to be fired. One does his best at whatever salary level.

●THANKS largely to the NEA, the study of geography was eliminated in the classroom. It was replaced with such inanities as fingerprinting, ethnic studies, basketweaving and driver education. As a result, according to a Gallup-National Geography Society survey, 24 million adult Americans cannot locate their own country on a world map. In competition with eight other countries, adults in the US tied for 6th place with the United Kingdom, Sweden, West Germany, Japan, France and Canada outranked the Americans in locating 13 designated countries on a world map. Only Italy and Mexico fell below the US, except in the 18- to 24-year-old group. This group in the US was more geographically ignorant than in any of the other countries. You've heard a lot about why Johnny can't read. Now we're going to hear a lot about how Johnny can't find his way home.

●AT the Democratic convention in Atlanta CBS newscaster Dan Rather asked Sen. Teddy Kennedy if he could name an issue on which he differed from Michael Dukakis. Teddy couldn't think of one. So, if you love Teddy Kennedy you're going to adore Mike Dukakis.

●IF you want to know who's in charge of the Democratic party, consider that 723 convention delegates were AFL-CIO members and another 231 were members of the largest teachers union in the nation, the National Education Association. That's a record 1,014 union delegates who can't deny they were in Atlanta for anything but personal gain.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—New Mexico has a Third World economy and won't develop into a First World force until the year 2200. That's right. We've only progressed halfway in the 212 years since the American Revolution. It will take us another 212 years to become an economic force.

It is University of New Mexico political science professor Peter Lupsha talking. He is admittedly trying to shake up the troops but what he has to say makes a lot of sense.

Third World countries are marked by exploitation—both internal and external.

New Mexico is rich in natural resources but we don't make them work for us. We export the raw material elsewhere for processing in other states.

Processing our natural resources in New Mexico would eliminate costly transportation expenses which make the finished product uncompetitive in price with foreign merchandise.

But, according to Lupsha, we are unwilling to do what it takes, such as changing our tax structure, fostering education and exploiting the technology developed at our national laboratories.

Instead, we delude ourselves with sexy short-term solutions such as beauty contests and auto racing tracks.

And Lupsha thinks we're being exploited internally by some of our own politicians who perpetuate the "friends and neighbors" political system, which has historically resulted in the election of a patron and pits the "natives" against "the foreigners."

Lupsha says outsiders could bring expertise and capital to our state but patrons don't want to lose their grip and we natives are too provincial.

That may be true, but most of our outsiders want to become instant natives and close the door as soon as they get in.

Speaking of Third World countries, it is frustrating to constantly be at the mercy of Middle East activities when trying to determine our own tax revenues.

When the Legislature's tax study committee met last week, much discussion centered around the meaning of the announcement by Iran the previous day that it would observe the United Nations cease fire proposal.

Some wizards said the cessation of hostilities would drive prices further down because Arab oil would become more accessible.

Others said prices would go up because Iran and Iraq were no longer having to over-produce in order to finance a costly war. They could again become cooperating members of a united OPEC and observe production quotas.

New Mexico's biggest problem, however, is our country's insistence on continuing its heavy dependence on foreign oil.

our nation would cost more but it would mean a more secure U.S. and it would mean the recovery of an ailing sector of our economy.

The problem is that there are not enough oil-producing states to pass an oil import tax. Eastern congressmen don't want to take the rap of causing higher gasoline prices.

They say consumers won't stand for it. Arab economists discovered fifteen years ago that there was enough additional spendable income in the world to tolerate $1.50 a gallon gasoline prices.

Nobody liked the higher prices but OPEC got away with it until internal dissension started ripping the alliance apart.

New Mexicans will grumble as much as any about higher gasoline prices, but with our state's dependence on oil tax revenues, paying more at the pump means paying less at tax time.

And solving our problems through the oil import tax is a whole lot better than having to root for OPEC.

Christians under attack

EDITOR—If these atheistic secular humanistic Jewish leaders and their Hollywood cohorts can bring down the Big Kid on the block with their attacks on the Pope and Catholics, they can banish all religion from America. They have already started this indiscriminate assault on all Christians with this new film, "The Last Temptation of Jesus Christ," by Universal Studios that portrays Our Lord as a fornicator.

In their support of abortion and these eugenicists of Planned Parenthood, they are backing the very people who were allied with the Nazis before World War II and thus were primarily responsible for the holocaust.

Students back from European adventure

By Katherine Sanchez

It is hard to believe that just last month a group of students from Lincoln County, along with two from Texas and 23 from Georgia, were touring countries almost halfway around the world. They toured for over three weeks.

The tour took us from England, to France (Paris), Italy, Greece, and Turkey. We saw many beautiful and fascinating places and people. We viewed famous works of art like the Mona Lisa, the David and the Sistine Chapel, Pompeii, the Roman Colosseum, The Acropolis in Athens, Ephesus in Turkey, Versailles, Florence (the cradle of the Renaissance) and Buckingham palace were only a few of the places visited.

Lynda and Katherine Sanchez also had a very interesting and fun filled day with Fred Nolan, author of the John Henry Tunstall biography. As most know, he was one of the major individuals in the Lincoln County War. Mr. Nolan gave them a very special tour of the English country side.

The cruise of the Greek Isles in the Aegean Sea was probably everyone's favorite activity. A luxurious cruise ship, the Oceanus, took us island hopping to various rugged islands with ancient white houses, and breath-taking clear, blue waters.

Nevertheless, we are all glad to be back home, especially after our close call with bombed docks, air traffic controllers and their hunger strikes, and Iranians on our final day in Athens. It was much too nerve-racking for us to leave Athens under armored car and machine gun protection! Our appreciation for our own country and freedom was greatly enforced after this close encounter.

But, I am sure, if you ask any one of these world travelers if they would do it again tomorrow, I mean, see all those fascinating places, meet neat people, and have a touch of excitement interspersed with the sightseeing, you can be assured they would say, "When are we leaving?"

Those who participated in this adventure were: our special sponsors, Mrs. Carol Hubbard and Mrs. Lynda Sanchez and students: Latisha Jacobs, Elyne Clarke, Diane Clarke, Donna Clarke, Ezell Clarke, Katherine Sanchez, Houston Geronimo, Susie Sallor, Suzanne Lemley and Challa Hammond.

NEVER TOO OLD

If you're like the average frequent reader, you probably read upwards of 10 to 15 hours each week, and prefer reading to watching television as a leisure activity.

That's what the nation's largest bookseller found out in a recent survey of 3,600 readers. The readers were given an opportunity to comment on topics directly related to their preferred book reading. For example:

Over 80 percent of the mystery and espionage readers surveyed believe the president and vice-president are covering up their involvement in the Iran-Contra affair.

The focus of young readers is on the future, with over 80 percent agreeing that by the time they're adults, we'll have had black and female presidents.

Romance readers see romance changing in the 1980s, and are less interested in a night at the opera than in an evening at home with pizza and a rented movie.

Science fiction and fantasy readers rated the discovery of life on other planets as important to them, and believe alien life will soon be discovered.

Older readers are interested in learning new tricks, citing self-improvement as an important quality in a good book, and agreeing that one can never be too old to better oneself.

DEVOTED TO CHILE
Business Outlook included

a story about publisher Robert Spiegel's "crusade to eliminate blandness from the world" and how his "The Whole Chile Pepper" magazine has made him the Hugh Hefner of the chile crowd.

New Mexico's spiciest magazine is the first and only magazine in the world devoted entirely to chile. Albuquerque Journal staff writer Bob Hagan writes that Spiegel says the typical reader "loves hot foods, but is not necessarily nuts about the Southwest."

The Whole Chile Pepper's circulation has benefited from the nationwide passion for hot foods, not just Southwestern cooking but spicy Cajun, Indian and Asian cuisines as well.

Chile humor, chile news from around the world and even chile art on costume jewelry and T-shirts is included in the publication available on newsstands throughout New Mexico, Texas, Arizona and Colorado.

NO COMMENT

"...Nada, nada, nada, I have no comment... Everytime I open my mouth it comes out a different story in the SUN." Magistrate Baltazar Archuleta.

The Rio Grande Sun reports that the Rio Arriba magistrate, whose travel vouchers are being examined in the state's yearly audit of the courts, might have charged the state mileage for as many as 36 unnecessary trips to Espanola last year, an overbilling of more than $1,100.

Archuleta may be in trouble again if the front page SUN story is any indication.

WELFARE CHEAT

The Hobbs Flare editorial pointed out a story in the Albuquerque Journal stating "Program Lends Muscle Against Welfare Cheats." People who suspect welfare recipients of committing fraud can call a toll-free hotline (1-800-228-4082) to report it.

The story said one woman claims to have three children at home when she didn't have any. The woman with the missing children owes the state $11,678.

PROMISE OF ANONYMITY

Time's article, "Breaking the Code of Confidentiality", reveals that two newspapers are found guilty of revealing a source.

Six days before Minnesota's 1982 gubernatorial election, Dan Cohen, a Republican Party activist and public relations director of one of the city's most prominent advertising agencies, alerted four local political reporters to a juicy story. Marlene Johnson, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor, had been convicted of shoplifting $6 worth of sewing supplies from Sears 12 years earlier. The reporters were free to use the information, Cohen said, so long as they did not identify him as the source. All four agreed.

But when Bill Salisbury of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch and Lori Sturdevant of the Minneapolis Star Tribune returned to their newsrooms, their editors overruled the promises of confidentiality. Both papers reported the incident, naming Cohen as the source of the leak.

Johnson won the election, but Cohen was so tainted by scandal that he lost his job. Outrage, he sued the newspapers for breach of contract and misrepresentation.

Both papers claim that editors, not reporters, are the only ones who can promise anonymity.

White Oaks in the News

By Willa Lee Martin

The White Oaks community sends a "get well" soon message to Fruitose "Bunny" Osorio. We were sorry to hear about your accident.

Saturday was another eventful day in White Oaks. The Lincoln County Pony Express team roping event started in the morning. The event began with barrel racing. Nettie McMinn's horse fell going around the second barrel, and we are glad Nettie and her horse were not injured.

The team roping began with the novice class, with 20 teams entering. First place 1st go-around, Cricket Trammel and Grady Eldridge, $36; first place 2nd go-around, Curtis Payne and Grady Eldridge, $36; first place average, Cricket Trammel and Grady Eldridge, $168; second place average, Rogene Alford and Gary Eldridge $100.

"B" novice, 17 teams entering, 1st place, 1st round, Grady Eldridge and Neal Trammel, $40; 1st place average, Junior Behringer and Neal Trammel, $100; 2nd place average, Cricket Trammel and Neal Trammel, $60.

"B" class 11 teams, 1st place 1st round, Print Mundy and Neal Trammel $40; 1st in average, Grady Eldridge and Neal Trammel, $92.

Round-robin, 64 teams, 1st place Joe Baldwin and Print

Mundy, $120; 2nd place, David McMinn and Print Mundy, $80. Print Mundy and Neal Trammel had the fastest time of the day, 8.25.

The team roping was followed by a dance at White Oaks Casino. The band "Young Country" played very well. Well enough that no one noticed that the drummer didn't show up. However, it is of my opinion that this band doesn't need a drummer. I'm looking forward to hearing more of them in the future. There was also a birthday party at the dance Saturday. Diana Hankin is not telling how old she is. Everyone enjoyed the flashing tee-shirt Diana wore for this occasion.

The Leslies and the Wards had their family reunion in the White Oaks School House Saturday evening.

Edith Staneman's grandchildren had a wonderful time riding horses Thursday.

Believe it or not, a green rattlesnake was seen in Jicarilla about a half a mile north of the Jack Harkey Ranch. The driver was stone cold sober and tried to catch the critter, but it got away in the thick brush. A black bear was seen by Bill Davis close to the cemetery and the old log school house. It looks like a bumper crop of acorns and pine nuts in the White Oaks and Jicarilla area this year. Jicarilla means basket weaver. The Jicarilla Apaches were moved to Dulce in northern New Mexico when gold was discovered in this area. Big things rumored the Jicarilla mining area. Millhouse and Company have sold enormous holding. It is rumored that Woods Oil Company was in this deal and the mining claims were included.

David McMinn and son came to White Oaks Thursday evening to pick up Nettie McMinn who was training her horse on the barrels. They are soon to hit the road to some big barrel racing. A parcel of land has been reported sold in the White Oaks Valley Subdivision. Welcome to Hearts Desire.

The Lincoln County Pony Express Rodeo to take place Saturday, Aug. 6-11 White Oaks, beginning at 1 p.m. There will be cowboy branding, barrel racing, flag racing, goat scramble, goat tying, rescue race, breakaway roping, ribbon roping, wild steer riding, boot scramble (children), boot scramble (women) and team roping.

McSween site research is continuing

The Humanistic Research Service and Lincoln County Heritage Trust, in cooperation with New Mexico Monuments, are doing further excavation and studying of the McSween site at Lincoln.

More adobe bricks that appear to be plastered, and burned lumber, along with marble pieces, nails, glass, etc. have been found. Also, a tiny toy gun that may have been in a box of Crackerjacks.

The pits will be open during Old Lincoln Days with personnel on hand to explain what the research hopes to find and what has already been found.

Among the many persons helping are the staff of Humanistic Research Service, David Kirkpatrick and Cody Browning of Las Cruces. Volunteers include Millie Kirkpatrick, Las Cruces; Renetta Friesan, High Rolls; Teddy and Francis Stickney, Midland, TX; Betty Browning, Capitán; John and Todd Thayer, Owensboro, KY; Fran and Norman Jones, Ruidoso; Beverly Aderholt and son Steven, Houston, TX.

A special volunteer is Elizabeth Steele, a finalist in the New Mexico Science Fair to the national contest. Also her parents, Karen and James Steele and children, Samantha and Jo Jo, all of Fort Sumner. Donations by the El Paso Archeology Society and the Midland, TX Archeology Society helped to fund the study of the McSween site.

Gary Miller of the trust and Kirkpatrick of HRS have applied for a grant from the National Geographic Society for further study. They hope to have a reply within the next month.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF REAL PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT PROPERTY TAX DIVISION OF THE TAXATION AND REVENUE DEPARTMENT OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of 17-38-67 N.M.S.A. 1978, the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department will offer for sale at public auction beginning on August 24, 1988, at 10:00 a.m. at the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, New Mexico, the following described real property, the sale to continue until all the described property has been offered for sale.

The terms of the sale are as follows:

1. A sale property made under the provisions of 17-38-67 constitutes full payment of all delinquent taxes, penalties and interest that are a lien against the property at the time of sale, and the sale extinguishes the lien. The property is sold subject to the lien for property taxes for the year of the sale, provided those taxes are not yet delinquent. The buyer at public auction, or his successor in interest, will be liable for those property taxes when they become due.

2. The description of the following real property is required by 17-38-67 to be sufficient to permit the identification and location of the real property by potential purchasers. The State of New Mexico warrants no title to properties purchased at public auction sale.

3. Section 7-38-74, N.M.S.A. 1978, prohibits officers or employees of the state or of any of its political subdivisions engaged in the administration of the property tax from directly or indirectly acquiring an interest in, buying or profiting from any property sold by the Property Tax Division for delinquent taxes, except that an officer or employee may purchase property sold for delinquent taxes if he is the owner of the property and was the owner of the property at the time the taxes became delinquent. Any officer or employee violating Section 7-38-74 is guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) or imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both; and he shall also be automatically removed from office or have his employment terminated upon conviction. A real property sale in violation of Section 7-38-74 is void.

4. Successful bidders are required to make payments in full of the amount bid before leaving the premises on the day of the sale. Payment is required to be by money order, certified check, cashier's check or real check which is accompanied by bank letter of credit guaranteeing payment for the amount of or in excess of the amount of the real check drawn to the order of the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department.

5. Upon receiving payment for the real property sold for delinquent taxes, the Property Tax Division shall execute and deliver a deed to the purchaser. The deed conveys all the former property owner's interest in the real property as of the date the state's lien for real property taxes arose in accordance with the property tax code. The property tax lien against real property arises on January 1 of the tax year for which the taxes are imposed.

6. After two years from the date of sale, neither the former real property owner shown on the property tax schedule as the delinquent taxpayer nor anyone claiming through him may bring an action challenging the conveyance. Subject to the time limitation stated above, in all controversies and suits involving title to real property held under a deed from the state issued under this section, any person claiming title adverse to that acquired by the deed from the state must prove, in order to defeat the title, that he or the person through whom he claims title at the time of the sale, and that either: (1) the real property was not subject to taxation for the tax years for which the delinquent taxes for which it was sold were imposed; or (2) all taxes, penalties, interest and any cost due for the years involved were paid by him or the person through whom he claims title prior to the sale.

7. The sale price of real property at this public auction sale is not to be taken or considered as being the value of that property for property taxation purposes.

8. All persons intending to bid upon property are required to register and obtain a bidder's number from the auctioneer and to provide the auctioneer with their full name and address. Deeds will be issued to registered names only. Conveyances to other parties will be the responsibility of the buyer at auction. Persons acting as agents for other persons will register accordingly and must provide documented proof of being a bona fide agent at time of payment for property purchased. REGISTRATION WILL CLOSE PROMPTLY AT START OF SALE.

9. The auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw from sale any of the properties listed below to sell any of the properties listed below together, or to sell only a portion of any of the properties listed below. If any dispute arises between or among the bidders, the auctioneer's decision with respect to the dispute is final, and the auctioneer may auction the property again, in his discretion. The auctioneer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The real property listed below may not be sold for less than the listed minimum price.

Done at Santa Fe, New Mexico, this 4th day of July, 1988.

GEORGE DEL CURTO, Director, Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department.
