Cimarron mill site

Cyanide cleanup could take years, millions of dollars

By Ruth Hammond

The US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has proposed adding the Cimarron mill site in Carrizozo to the Superfund National Priorities List (NPL) because of potentially hazardous waste materials found at the site in 1984.

The Cimarron site is one of six sites in New Mexico to be considered and is the only New Mexico site on the NPL. It is anticipated that the proposed NPL will be finalized by January 1989 with the investigation to begin early spring 1989.

Steve Gilrein, supervisor of the hazardous waste program for the Dallas office, was in Carrizozo Sept. 29 to explain the Superfund and answer questions. He said the EPA would attempt to involve the public from "day one" in the investigation.

"This is in effect, day one," he added. He said the comprehensive study of soil samples, air, arroyos, seepage, depth analysis, concentration, ground water, hydrology, etc. would enable the EPA to do health and risk assessments.

Some of the people in the audience at the briefing Gilrein conducted objected to statistics that were on the Superfund Fact Sheet handed out by Gilrein. Lynn Brandvold, senior chemist at the New Mexico Bureau of Mines, and Abe Gundiler, metallurgist with the New Mexico Bureau of Mines, both said that the information about the cyanide was wrong.

"Cyanide will decompose in six to eight months or two years at the most," one man said. The information about the cyanide levels being potentially toxic to human health were taken in 1984.

The fact sheet stated: During 1979-82, Cimarron

Mining Corp., also known as Southwest Minerals Corp., operated a mill that recovered metal from ore transported to the site. The process used a 50/50 solution of cyanide salt and metal stripper. The mill was previously operated by Sierra Blanca Mining and Milling for the extraction of gold with cyanide. Both processes generated a liquid waste containing cyanide and heavy metals.

The fact sheet continued: Analysis conducted by the state detected cyanide and heavy metals in groundwater, soil, sediment, and tailings on the site. Cyanide was detected at a concentration of 116 milligrams/kilograms (mg/kg) in a water sample taken from one holding pond in April 1982. In May 1984, a tailing pile sample contained 46.4 mg/kg of cyanide. The levels are potentially toxic to human health. An estimated 1,500 people obtain drinking water from municipal wells within three miles of the site. Wells are also used to irrigate food crops.

In June 1982, New Mexico charged Cimarron with failing to comply with the state water quality and hazardous waste regulations. The company took no action in response. It went out of business and declared bankruptcy in US Federal Court on Aug. 14, 1984.

One person noted after the meeting that in the two-year period from 1982 to 1984 the cyanide had not decomposed and tests revealed that after two years the cyanide level was potentially toxic to human health.

Gilrein said that if the investigation showed that there was no health hazardous site would be dropped from the Superfund list. "If there is not a significant health threat, we will tell the people," Gilrein said.

At the present time the site is fenced to prevent direct contact with hazardous substances. EPA erected the fence in August 1987.

Gilrein said the cleanup of the site, if it is found to be potentially hazardous, could cost millions of dollars. He also said that if the cleanup had been conducted when requested it would have cost much less.

Congress enacted the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA), commonly known as Superfund, in 1980. The law created a tax on chemical and petroleum industries and provided a broad federal authority to respond directly to releases or threatened releases of hazardous waste substances that may endanger public health or welfare or the environment.

Over five years, $1.6 billion was collected and the tax went into a trust fund for cleaning up abandoned or uncontrolled hazardous waste sites. On Oct. 17, 1986, the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA) was signed into law. SARA increases the trust fund to $8.5 billion over five years and strengthens EPA's authority to conduct cleanup and enforcement activities.

Under the Superfund program EPA can pay for the cleanup of hazardous waste sites when those responsible for such sites cannot be found or are unwilling or unable to clean up a site, and EPA can take legal action to force those responsible for hazardous waste sites that threaten public health or the environment to clean up those sites or pay back the federal government for the costs of cleanup.

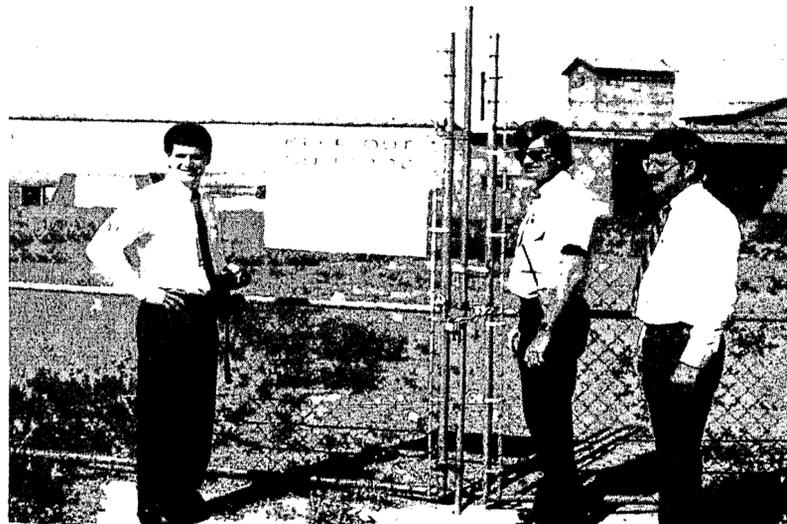

If test results show that the Cimarron mill site does need to be cleaned up, the state will be responsible for 10 percent of the costs of the cleanup.

Through the Superfund process, EPA will keep area citizens and local officials informed about site activities and will provide opportunities for the community to participate in decisions made about the site.

Public interviews, meetings and comment periods will be held at key points to provide EPA with information about community concerns and questions. This information is important for making decisions about remedial activities at the site.

Questions concerning the matter should be directed to Ellen D. Greeney, community relations, EPA, 1445 Ross Avenue, Dallas, TX 75202. Gilrein met with Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill and explained the Superfund program and the plans for the site if it is finalized as for the NPL.

Also attending both meetings were Jim Edwards and Carl Stubbs of the Environmental Improvement Division (EID) in Ruidoso.

Possible cyanide contamination

Town water for Brooks Construction delayed

Brooks Construction may have a longer wait for water from the town of Carrizozo than has been anticipated. Town trustees received the request for water during the Sept. 27 meeting of the town council.

Brooks had asked permission to tie into the water line on the north side of the highway near the old Cimarron mill site and offered to install the water line 800 feet to his property just east of the mill.

Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill met with Jim Edwards and Carl Stubbs of the New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division (EID) on Sept. 29 to discuss the matter.

Edwards explained that the condition of water lines in the area of the mill is in question because of back-siphoning from a cyanide solution-pond on the mill site. He said the mill had a submerged inlet into the cyanide pond and that sometime during the operation of the mill, the water line from the town had been connected with the well water. When the town water was disconnected the back-siphoning took place.

It is not known how far the cyanide solution went except that it did not enter the town's water supply because of the disconnection. The town water line is on the south side of Highway 380.

Edwards said that if the water line was tested by flushing, all water used for flushing would have to be kept until after the water was tested for cyanide. If the water contained any cyanide, then the town would have to find a hazardous waste disposal place to take the contaminated water and transport it to be disposed of. Hemphill asked if the line could be checked by taking samples of the line from each end of the line running under the highway. Edwards agreed that this could be done but would take time for the digging down to the water line, cutting the samples and waiting for test results.

If the samples were approved for use by the state then the town would have to check the condition of the pipe running under the highway. Since the pipe has not been used for a few years it is not known if the pipe is still good.

An alternative would be for Brooks to install a new line under the highway from the town's water line. Hemphill will discuss this with Brooks.

Governor's mansion

Jackie Spencer donates $1.2 million to project

The governor of New Mexico will have a new residence soon. Plans are underway by the New Mexico Governor's Mansion Foundation to purchase the 11,500 square foot Maytag mansion in Santa Fe and turn it into a governor's residence.

Jackie Spencer of Alto, formerly of Carrizozo, has donated $1.2 million for the purchase because she thought the governor of New Mexico deserved a better residence than the present governor's mansion that was built 33 years ago.

The Maytag mansion was built in 1974 for the late Mary Maytag, an heiress to the Maytag appliance fortune.

Spencer is heiress to a publishing fortune and contributes regularly to Republican candidates. She is the widow of Hugh Bancroft Jr., the son of a former chief executive officer of Dow Jones & Co. Inc., publishers of the Wall Street Journal. Bancroft died of cancer in 1953 and Spencer later remarried.

Spencer established the Hugh Bancroft Jr. Foundation in 1960 and the $1.2 million comes from that foundation. Spencer puts some of her money from her Dow Jones stock holdings into the Hugh Bancroft Jr. Foundation and takes a tax write-off.

The sale of the Maytag mansion to the New Mexico Governor's Mansion Foundation is expected to be closed within two weeks. The money donated by Spencer is to be used only for the purchase and may not be applied toward renovating the existing governor's mansion.

Carrizozo school buses will leave the school at 2:15 p.m. Friday after the homecoming parade.

NO CITATIONS WILL be issued in this one-vehicle accident that damaged a Carrizozo police car and John's TV store building. Investigating officer Larry Brinkley of the Lincoln County Sheriff's office said Carrizozo patrolman John Northrup Jr. was responding to an officer assist call at about 2 a.m., Sept. 1 when he hit gravel and lost control of the car as he entered the curve on Highway 54 near the Phillips 66 station. The car slid into John's TV store and hit the window of the building head-on before skidding into the old Western Auto building. There were no injuries. Backup officers from the sheriff's department were preparing to respond to the "assist" call when the officer requesting help cancelled the call.

Certified police officer sought

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees met in executive session at 5 p.m. Tuesday for personnel matters only. During the closed session the trustees interviewed a certified police officer.

The applicant applied for the job as Carrizozo police officer last month after having completed a year-long program for state certification as an officer. The certification papers will be issued by the state once the applicant is hired as an officer.

No decisions were made by the trustees following the one and one-half hour closed session. The trustees will meet again in regular session at 6 p.m. Oct. 11.

The book fair committee invites students, parents and visitors to attend the fair. The fair will encourage student interest in reading and in building home libraries, and will also contribute to a worthwhile project. All profits will be used for purchasing new books for the library.

The school library is sponsoring this event, with Julia Hollis serving as chairman. The committee includes Jan Barham, Rosemary Shafer, Lucia Vega and Polly Chavez.

Robbery suspect arrested

Debora L. Canup, 32, Carrizozo, was arrested and charged with the burglary of the Outpost Bar and Grill a couple of weekends ago.

She was charged with four counts: commercial burglary, larceny over $250 but under $2500, and two counts of contributing to the delinquency of minors. She was released on $10,000 bond.

A sheriff's office spokesman said she and two juveniles broke a plate glass window at the Outpost Bar, opened the door from inside, and made away with an undetermined amount of cash and liquor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Bellows of High Rolls have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Candace L. Bellows, to Randy B. Hollis of El Paso, TX, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hollis of Carrizozo. The marriage is planned for Oct. 15, 4 p.m., at the Trinity Baptist Church in High Rolls. A reception at the church fellowship hall is planned following the ceremony. Miss Bellows is a 1986 graduate of Alamogordo Senior High School and is presently a sophomore at NMSU-A. ## Power lines vs. the bottom line for employers

If you're an employer, you want to take steps that have a favorable impact on your bottom line performance.

Electrical safety is one of those steps.

By educating your employees about the danger of contacting power lines with anything — backhoes, winches, ladders and other equipment — you can help prevent serious accidents.

You'll avoid valuable time lost on the job and give your employees a safer working environment.

For more information about the potential dangers of power lines, call or visit a TNP office today.

Capitan Schools brace for bad weather

The Capitan Schools has some advice: If you wake up in the morning and the weather looks bad, turn to one of the following stations; KOAW and KREB in Ruidoso or KBIM and KCKN in Roswell. The television channel to watch is Channel 7, KOAT, in Albuquerque. An announcement will be made as to whether school will be cancelled or run on a delayed schedule. An announcement will also be made as to what school buses may not run.

A delayed schedule means classes will begin two hours later than usual. Buses will also run two hours late. If the weather gets worse, an announcement might be made at 8 a.m. to cancel school.

Students who ride buses that will not make their run will not be marked absent. They will be able to make up work missed.

CAPITAN NEWS

By Margaret Rench

Last week was a variation of cold windy weather with no moisture. Frost every night. As low as 18 degrees one night, 20 to 22 degrees otherwise.

The Smokey Bear Museum had 3,084 registered visitors in September. The first two days of October there were 300. The tourists all enjoy the Little Log Cabin Smokey Bear Museum form which I always have a report. On the 30th a bus tour of 40 came through. Never stated from where they came.

At the Recreational Building there has not ever been anyone there to get information. I guess they do not feel it important, it is very important to us and tourists as well. We are proud that people are interested enough to enjoy the history of Smokey. We meet many lovely people from everywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dorman, 8324 S. Vandalia, Tulsa, OK 74137. Pay attention to this person and address for someone may remember his parents and can get in touch with them. Otto L. Dorman was born in Capitan May 5, 1900 to Frederick and Elvina Dorman. Fredrick was a carpenter and cabinet maker. They left Capitan and New Mexico in 1913. Later settled in central Missouri.

Capitan Lions to observe Service Day

The Smokey Bear Lions Club will observe Lions International Service Day, Saturday, Oct. 8. The Lions will meet at the Capitan Cemetery at 9 a.m. to help upgrade the cemetery.

Lions International is a service organization with clubs around the world. The Capitan club meets the 1st and 3rd Mondays of every month at 8:30 p.m. at the Smokey Bear Restaurant. Leading the Smokey Bear Lions Club are the following officers: president, Ken Kingston; 1st vice-president, Guy Henley; 2nd vice-president, George Beaudry; secretary, Aggie Bucsek-Kingston; treasurer, Mona McEuen; lion tamer, Catherine Grantham; and tail twister, N.C. Grantham.

Should anyone remember this, do contact them.

The Capitan Music Boosters are sponsoring an enchilada supper at the school cafeteria Friday, Oct. 21, 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Welcome to Shorty and Maudine Winfield, new preacher at the Church of Christ in Capitan. He has been a missionary in Swaziland, Africa.

Beth and Dale Booher announce the birth of a son, Olan Arlie, at the medical center in Ruidoso Sept. 24, 1988. He has a sister, Laura, at home.

Happy birthday to Mark Ashbrook, Oct. 1 and Jimmy Wright Oct. 7.

Ray Aldridge underwent surgery in Roswell Monday. His wife Mecca teaches 5th grade in Capitan school. I wish you a good recovery.

Bill Strickland of Hobbs visited his sons, Terry and David, and family and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Shrum, last weekend.

The Capitan Extension Homemakers met Sept. 4 at the fair building to install new officers for the next two years. The president installed was Mae Crouse and her vice-president is Thelma Stephens; the secretary, Hazel Bradford; treasurer, Mollie Mason. Jaunita Magnone is the Sunshine Lady who sends birthday and get-well cards to members. She is well suited to that position. A membership tea was held after the installation and they were happy to sign up six new members. They have started their new year with 28 paid members.

This is a true story of love and forgiveness. A six-year-old girl, Candace Holmes of Toledo, OH, hid her father, Arthur Holmes, a 10-year resident of Capitan, NM, far away bitterly. She carried no forgiveness and wanted no knowledge of him of any kind. In 1985 she took up Bible research in class where she learned forgiveness and the desire to find him became a big part of her. She wanted to see, know and learn to love him therefore on July 31, 1986 through an aunt, his sister. She heard from him after 13 years. They corresponded for the next two years. She learned she had a stepmom and two half-brothers, Josh and Shawn. Her long-awaited dream was fulfilled when they were reunited on Sept. 19, 1988 after 15 years. She is very happy visiting her family. Her statement—True love comes from God. He forgives us and that makes it possible for us to forgive others. Candace, good luck and continued happiness and may peace always be with you and yours. Just keep smiling on with God's love.

Kateri Sanchez and her husband spent last weekend visiting her parents, Barbara and Raymond Sanchez of Capitan, and went to El Paso where they boarded a plane for Mexico City, where she will meet his parents for the first time. Then they will make their home in El Paso for the winter.

A large crowd attended the Aspencade Parade in Ruidoso Saturday. The Indians won 1st place. There were lots of floats and many bands. Everyone truly enjoyed all of it.

The fair building, Capitan, was setting for the annual Achievement Day for the Extension Clubs of Lincoln County on Thursday, Sept. 29.

It was a fun-filled day for the 36 who attended, including four guests. The morning started with coffee and lots of homemade goodies.

Maggie Doyle of Capitan had a very interesting program. She sells garments she makes out of her handwoven fabric. After obtaining a masters degree and having a few years at teaching school, she now has her own business at home. She discussed the marketing of a product, displays and the importance of keeping up with current trends, colors and styles.

Doris Cherry, who works for the Ruidoso News, presented an informative program about getting the correct information to the newspaper on time for publication.

The 1st place winner of the cookie contest was Mollie Mason of Capitan with her magic cookie bars. The 2nd place winner was Mary Dean with ginger snaps. Vickie Hall had a beautiful green Christmas tree made of sugar cookies that took 3rd place prize.

After lunch there was a choice of workshops. Jan LaRue of Capitan was assisted by Vickie Hall in the "covered basket" workshop. The finished products were outstanding.

Marla Jenkins taught the other workshops of "covered photo album". We all learned a lot and turned out some beautiful albums.

The Extension Clubs taking part were Ruidoso-Hondo Valley, La Junta and hosted by Capitan. We were sorry the Corona Club wasn't able to attend.

OPINION

At the Nov. 8 general election readers of this newspaper will be asked to vote on seven proposed New Mexico constitutional amendments. All are important. Adoption of six of them will result either in another assault on your pocketbooks or a loss of public control over local and state political offices. You aren't likely to see or read these amendments because, for the first time, the Lincoln County News is not included in the state's newspapers designated to publish them. We tried to find out why the oldest newspaper in Lincoln County got this treatment. Three calls to the Bureau of Elections in the Secretary of State's office in Santa Fe went astray. Each time I asked for the director, Hoyt Clifton, I was told to hold the phone. I did. For 15 minutes each time because Mr. Clifton never picked up the phone. All I wanted to know was why such a decision was made, and why readers of this newspaper were selected for discrimination in not being allowed to read the amendments. Then I called the Republican county chairman. No results. Then I wrote Gov. Carruthers, who responded that his office has no purview over the Secretary of State, but forwarded my letter to Mr. Clifton. Back to square one. I still don't know why our readers are to be kept in the dark on seven important constitutional amendments.

One duty of a newspaper is to inform its readers on important issues. So that will be done, but at our expense. Beginning next week there will be a discussion of each amendment in this column so that our readers won't go to the polls entirely ignorant of the issues. The state may not want you to know about them, but we do. We will also publish a commentary by Jay Miller, who writes "Inside the Capitol" for us each week. He will expose the "dirty tricks" involved in labeling each amendment—which is usually all the voter has to go on in making a choice. In the last issue before the election we will summarize these amendments and make recommendations for adoption or rejection.

Just one example of sleazy wording designed to especially trap voters into approving a falsely labeled amendment. No. 1 proposes "to restrict legislative retirement." Sounds worthy, doesn't it? But the fact is that the constitution doesn't provide for legislative retirement, so how can it be "restricted"? The constitution says that legislators may receive a per diem and mileage allowance—"no other compensation, perquisite or allowance" is permitted. So what does this proposal actually do? It provides annual benefits for legislators not to exceed $6,000 per year! Some restriction, right? Other amendments aren't what they seem to be. We want you to have that information when you go to the polls.

You may have forgotten by now, but space shuttle Discovery landed safely at Edwards Air Force Base in California Monday after a successful four days of orbiting the earth. It was another achievement in spite of the opposition of a large number of Americans and their presiding politicians, considering the trauma that followed the tragedy of Challenger 32 months ago in which five astronauts perished in a fiery blast shortly after takeoff at Cape Canaveral. The nation immediately went into shock, disillusion and despair. Public morale plummeted. There was debate over abandoning the space program all together. For 32 months we have witnessed defeatism of a demoralized people.

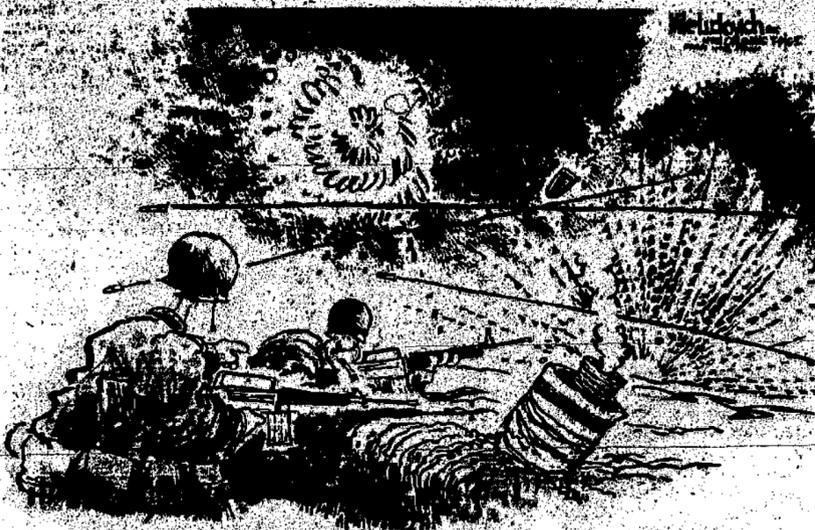

Whatever happened to the pride and spirit of America? We have suffered two fatal accidents in launching space shuttles. The Russians have suffered about 100, but her national will was not broken. They never delayed or abandoned the conquest of space. As a result, the Soviet Union has passed the United States in space exploration. While we were crybabbling over the loss of five astronauts, the Soviets continued to work, suffer and lose lives to come off as No. 1 in the race for space. Something strange and ominous is happening to America's morale since its high point at the end of World War II.

It probably began with the losing of the Vietnam War. US soldiers, as fine a fighting force as was ever fielded by this country, struggled and died in Vietnam only to be rewarded back home with the name of "babykillers." To many Americans these fighting men were the enemy and Jane Fonda was a hero. Those soldiers never lost a battle in Vietnam; the war was lost by the Congress of the United States which had capitulated to the philosophy of the peacenik. For the first time in history, an American army was forced to fight an enemy in Vietnam, an enemy in Congress, and its enemies across this country. When they were ordered to abandon the fight they returned home, not to a hero welcome and a parade down Fifth Avenue with bands playing and flags waving, but to be categorized as human scum. They were losers, and Americans don't like losers. For the same reason, I suspect, we talked about ending space research when the Challenger blew up. It may also be why we have substituted military might for "negotiation and appeasement" as a means of ridding Central America of communist dictators.

Never mind that we had 25 successful flights into space before Challenger. Never mind that the Vietnam War was lost in Washington, DC and not on the battlefield. When things go wrong we seem to throw up our hands, scream uncle, and quit. This is not our finest hour. No wonder our athletes were jeered and booed at the Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, while Russian, Japanese and East Germany contenders were cheered.

Perhaps Discovery will make Americans feel proud again. If so, we can still pass the Russians in space exploration. And, since Americans have short memories, perhaps they will put Vietnam behind them.

PUT OUT THAT CIGARETTE, SOLDIER! THE ARMY BANNED SMOKING CAUSE ITS BAD FOR YOUR HEALTH!

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Greater love hath no man than to make the sacrifices necessary to move his spouse into her dream house.

With most of us, the sacrifice is financial. Gov. Garrey Carruthers faces a different problem—public opinion.

It's similar to the syndrome that causes us to want our public officials to get their exercise by running rather than playing golf. Golf looks like too much fun for a public servant.

We also didn't see why our government leaders should enjoy a residence much more lavish than our own when there is so much poverty in the state and when we are already feeling overtaxed.

When Carruthers ran for governor, he chided previous chief executive Toney Anaya for his complaints that the current residence is inadequate, both for a family and for state functions.

Anaya proposed the legislature purchase a $5.6 million piece of property just outside the Capital City that was being offered to the state for $2.4 million.

In a close vote, the Senate rejected the proposal.

Public opinion did not seem so evenly divided, however. Anaya caught a great deal of grief for what some termed Toney's Taj Mahal.

Although Anaya could not run for reelection, Carruthers and many lawmakers found it convenient to run against him. The Republican gubernatorial candidate often mentioned that he just wanted to be governor; he didn't care where he would live.

Carruthers is currently having to eat those words. Soon after taking up residence in the governor's "mansion," first lady Kathy Carruthers became frustrated with the mish-mash of furniture collected by previous administrations, the lack of equipment or facilities to serve visiting dignitaries and the inadequacy of space to host the many functions required of a New Mexico governor.

She formed a foundation to do something about it.

After a year of more frustration with failed attempts to secure agreement and approval of proposed renovations, foundation members' eyes turned once again to the piece of property Anaya had been looking at three years earlier.

Because the house on the property had been built by a kitchen appliance heiress to suit her rather unique tastes, it was still on the market, and at half the price. By that time the foundation had $1.2 million in its private kitty as a result of fundraisers and gifts. Some hard bargaining got additional property and a guest house thrown into the deal.

The agreement was less than a month from closing when the word leaked out. The governor hurriedly summoned his wife and foundation representative Pat Wisenteiner to a press news conference to deliver the good news that New Mexico was about to get a 13-bedroom mansion from private funds.

Carruthers proclaimed before and after the announcement that he was not involved in any of the dealings. In fact he left the head table and sat in the audience during the announcement and questioning.

Afterwards he maintained, "I'm staying out of it. I would be honored to live in it but I'll live anywhere you make me live."

Despite the purchase being made with private funds, lawmakers will become involved. There is the problem of a two-mile, winding, unpaved road—a status symbol in Santa Fe but a liability for a governor's mansion.

Will we taxpayers pay for the paving? Will an unwilling group of neighbors have to be convinced to share the cost? Who will pay for the extensive remodeling that will be necessary? One possibility is to sell the current residence. But there is a problem of a deed restriction on part of the property that would revert it back to the prior owners if not used for a governor's residence.

The foundation feels it has solutions to all the problems. It points out that two governors of opposite parties have now put their necks on the line to support the purchase.

One governor has done his penance. For the other it is just starting.

Anaya will enjoy watching this one from the sidelines.

Letters to the Editor

Myopic blacks in America

EDITOR—As heinous as the South African government is, blacks are infinitely better off now than they would be under a communist government that atheistic secular humanistic liberals in our country are pushing to replace apartheid.

These communists in Ethiopia, for political reasons, contributed to the starvation of blacks and have murdered world-wide more than 100 million people since the Red revolution. The blacks of South Africa are economically better off than in any nation in Africa and immigration from surrounding nations with black governments for economic reasons continues unabated.

So it's about time for blacks in America to repudiate these traitorous liberals and start supporting our ally, South Africa, before the whole African continent is a Soviet satellite. If South Africa falls, can America be far behind?

The leaders of the black community, in their support of abortion, have contributed infinitely more to the genocide of blacks than all of the apartheid leaders of South Africa. Are we really in a position to point the accusing finger at others? Will the God of love require from us the forfeiture of our own lives because of our continual rejection and destruction of the most precious gift from God to man?

Dukakis and Kennedy are leading the charge of those who would push our ally, South Africa, into the Soviet camp and shorten the time when America will be a unitary island in a Soviet sea.

CORNELIUS U. MORGAN, Baltimore, MD.

Special thanks

EDITOR—I wish to thank all my friends in Lincoln County who stood beside us in friendship and in prayer during our recent nightmare. I could not have made it without you. You never turned your backs on my son and I, and we feel blessed by your support.

Special thanks to Gary Mitchell, Charlie Cox and Judge Richard A. Parsons for wisdom and guidance.

They might even demand a stronger military, support the SDI, use whatever force is necessary to clean-out Panama, reclaim the Panama Canal, crush Gen. Welcome home, Discovery. May you rekindle the American spirit.

Grizzlies run over Santa Rosa JV, 38-0

The Carrizozo Grizzly football team walloped Santa Rosa JV Saturday, 38-0, for its second win of the season. Carrizozo jumped out to a quick 1st quarter lead when junior running back Michael Chavez scored on a 35-yard run. Chavez scored his second TD of the night later on in the period on a 25-yard run, a pass from Dennis Vega to Sean Wootton was good for the PAT, and Zozo lead 14-0 after one period.

Dennis Vega added another Grizzly score in the 2nd period on a one-yard plunge and Rod Serna tacked on a 23-yard field goal to up the Grizzly lead to 23-0 at halftime.

The 2nd half was more of the same as Dennis Vega scored for the Grizzlies on a three-yard run. The pass for two-point conversion was good from Vega to Wootton for a 31-0 Grizzly lead, still in the 3rd period. Kevin Sheehan later scored on a 40-yard run and Rod Serna kicked the PAT to up the Grizzly total to 38-0 after three periods. The 4th period was scoreless.

The win ups the Grizzly season mark to 2-4 heading into Friday night's homecoming tilt against Cloudcroft. "It was a very enjoyable game," remarked second-year coach John Wootton. ## Dexter crushes Capitan 48-20; Reserve next

By Bartley McDonough

In a game that lasted almost three hours, Dexter defeated Capitan 48-20, Sept. 30.

Capitan looked good in the 1st half. Dexter dominated the 2nd half for the win. The contest was marred by many penalties and at times extremely rough play.

The Tigers did not handle the opening kick off cleanly. Dexter came up with the ball and scored before a play could be run from scrimmage, Dexter 7, Capitan 0.

The Tigers scored just before the quarter ended on a pass play to Dallas DeWees. Tino Gallegos passed to Anthony Sanchez for the 2 point conversion. Capitan 8, Dexter 7.

Seconds into the 2nd quarter Gallegos went 53 yards for the Tiger's 2nd TD. Capitan 14, Dexter 7.

Midway in the 2nd quarter Jerrod Martin scored from 2 yards out. Capitan 20, Dexter 7. Along the way Sanchez got 27 yards and Gallegos completed a 30 yard pass to Martin.

Dexter began a 69 yard drive resulting in their 2nd TD. This drive was capped by a 27 yard TD run. Dexter kicked the PAT and the half ended Capitan 20, Dexter 14. Tino Gallegos was carried off the field as a result of a late hit just before the half came to a close. Nathan Roybal entered the game and directed the Capitan offense the rest of the game.

Two minutes deep in the 3rd quarter Dexter scored on a 50 yard run to tie the score at 20-20.

The Demons scored with 6:02 left in the 3rd period on a 32 yard pass play. Dexter 27, Capitan 20.

A bad Capitan snap from center resulted in the next Demon tally. With 3:32 left in the 3rd quarter it was Dexter 34, Capitan 20. This was all the scoring before the wild 4th quarter.

A series of penalties and Tiger defensive play combined to stop the next Demon drive on the Tiger 5 yard line. Capitan fumbled and Dexter got the pigskin on the Tiger 15 yard line.

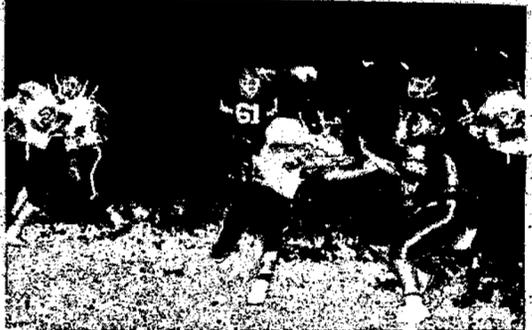

Dexter scored, but not after an official called a TD on the Tiger 5 yard line. It was Dexter 41, Capitan 20.

Dexter's final TD came with just over a minute left in the game. The big play was a 38 yard run. The Demons kicked the PAT and the game ended moments later. Roybal sustained an injury as the game ended.

Coch Blane Miller told the News "I have no excuses or alibis for our loss to Dexter. Dexter has a fine 2A ball club and should make the playoffs."

The Tigers prepared this week for their 1st district game to be played in Reserve Saturday at 2 p.m. Capitan travels to Cloudcroft Oct. 14 and then comes home for games against Loving Oct. 21 and Carrizozo Oct. 28 to finish the regular season.

JERROD MARTIN (37) on a carry against the Dexter Demons Friday night in Dexter. The Tiger on the far right is Chuck Cox. Capitan travels to Reserve Saturday for a 2 p.m. game. This is the Tiger's first district game.

Music taught at Hondo Schools

The Hondo Schools have announced that Mrs. Ann Moir is now teaching music in addition to her other duties.

Kindergarten students are currently learning Dance Bellinda, which is a reel. This was danced during the early days of our country.

First and second grade students are learning to read notes. They still learn by listening to the song first before they attempt to sing it.

Third and fourth grade students are being taught American folksongs and Broadway show tunes from such hits as "The Sound of Music" and "The Music Man."

Fifth and sixth grade students are learning songs they like such as Raindrops Keep Falling on my Head, Rock Around the Clock, and La Bamba.

Mrs. Moir plans to teach some Spanish folksongs and have her students listen to music of a more serious nature. She hopes to begin an instrumental program in the future.

ABOUT NEWSPAPERS

Webster Hawkins, president of the National Newspaper Association during National Newspaper Week (Oct. 2-8) writes that the copy of a weekly, daily or something in-between newspaper is unique. Excerpts of his statement follows:

"What you hold in your hands is documented proof that we are a nation of divergent voices, all of whom have the right to be heard, whether we agree or not. And that is truly unique compared with the majority of the world.

"What you are holding is unique, because this newspaper brings you commercial choices—what to feed your family, what to wear, what to enjoy, where to work and live, what to drive, where to go. Compare this uniqueness with other areas of the world where drab lines wait for drab choices, or where suffering lines wait for nourishment that may never come.

"What you are holding is unique and powerful, because the news, information, facts, opinions, advice, public notices, advertisements, guides and illustrations in your hands help you make your individual decisions on how to conduct your life—safely, successfully, more fulfilling.

"What you hold in your hand is unique because this newspaper is a symbol of a distinctly American concept, the idea of a free press—not an end in itself, but a means to maintain our free society through the free flow of information.

"What you hold in your hands is your ability to disagree—expressed in your freedom to express your ideas in our letters column in a uniquely American dialog."

Benjamin Franklin had this to say about newspapers:

"If all printers were determined not to print anything till they were sure it would offend nobody, there would be very little printed."

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER

Scotland Yard was established not in Scotland but in London. Scotland Yard, headquarters of the London Metropolitan Police gets its name from the building which housed the London police until 1890. This was an ancient structure where visiting Scottish kings and ambassadors stayed between the 900s and the 1100s.

NEWS GATHERING

EXPERT

Lynda Lopez on most days rises at 4 a.m. to chase local scandals, some of them dangerous. "You have to go to the war zone in order to call yourself a journalist," she says in September's Hispanic magazine. "If I have a camera near me and a note book in my hand, I feel I have a shield. Fear is not a factor."

Lopez is the youngest reporter on staff at WRC-TV in Washington, DC and on her third year with NBC. Sometimes she has barely five minutes to adjust her mike and construct her report live on the scene. "Just enough for the five Ws," she says, referring to a reporter's basic guideline (who, what, where, when, why).

Lopez loves her craft. Her news-gathering strategy reads like a network script: "You have to ask the questions the right way. You have to hood people for information. You have to be pushier than the next person."

SHOW ETIQUETTE

Whether you are going to a show of 10 quilts in a local library or a show of hundreds of quilts at a big community hall, there are certain rules of etiquette that need to be followed. Among them is to avoid taking any food or beverage to the display area. Finish your snack before you leave the seating areas.

Quilt shows are fun. Bring along a friend. The second trip through the exhibit is the time to notice border details, quilting patterns and unusual construction of traditional blocks. After you have viewed the quilts a second time return to the one that caught your eye. Ask questions. Bring a pencil to jot down notes. Now you are ready to try your quilt show viewing tips.

On Oct. 15, Saturday there will be a quilt show at the Senior Center at Cedarvale, NM. Look elsewhere in this newspaper for an ad with show details.

SMART FELLOW

John and Dave were hiking when they spotted a mountain lion staring at them. John froze in his tracks, but Dave sat down on a log, tore off his hiking boots, pulled a pair of running shoes from his backpack and hurriedly began to put them on.

"For crying out loud, you can't outrun a mountain lion!" John hissed.

"I don't have to," shrugged Dave. "I just have to outrun you."

WE THE PEOPLE

My 1988 "We the People" calendar provides 365 reminders of historical events. These were taken from many thousands in the files of the US Capitol Historical Society and commemorate events of American history more than two centuries ago.

Dates of interest regarding newspapers in the month of October, Connecticut Journal printed letters from ex-slaves expressing gratitude for their release. New York Daily Advertiser published an essay denouncing the practice of employing "Man-Midwives." Pennsylvania Packet reported a death caused by abuse of alcohol.
