Time needed to enact ordinance

County tries to stall landfill application

By Ruth Hammond

The proposed landfill that may be located six miles east of Carrizozo in Lincoln County was discussed at the Nov. 1 Lincoln County Commission meeting.

Mike Runnels, Capitan village attorney, asked commissioners to place a moratorium on the application until the county can approve a county zoning ordinance.

Runnels presented a resolution passed by Capitan trustees stating that existing state regulatory requirements are inadequate to provide for denial of an application to establish a landfill and Capitan is concerned about the detrimental effects upon the environment and quality of life, and is opposed to the location of a commercial landfill between Carrizozo and Capitan.

Capitan trustees directed Runnels to request county commissioners place a moratorium on any projects that would threaten the environment and quality of life of Lincoln County until such time as a zoning ordinance is passed to protect the citizens of Lincoln County.

The Environmental Improvement Division (EID) received the application Sept. 14 and are required to act on a completed application within 30 days. Runnels noted that the application as submitted by Charles E. Helm of Glendale, AZ was not complete.

Runnels said the application said it would receive waste from Ruidoso, Fort Sumner, Capitan, Carrizozo, Fort Stanton, Bonito and other surrounding areas. He said that Capitan had not been contacted and to his knowledge the other towns had not been contacted.

He was concerned that the intent is not to take care of the needs of the people of Lincoln County but to take care of the needs of people elsewhere. The application submitted by Helm stated that the sanitary landfill with incineration and recycling would be located on 900 acres.

County manager Suzanne Cox reported that the landfill at Fort Stanton is used by the county and several communities and in five years has used only 35 acres.

Commissioners agreed with Runnels that Lincoln County should not be turned into a "garbage dump." Runnels noted that the basin is one of the most beautiful sites in New Mexico.

Runnels also asked commissioners if they were in favor of stronger solid waste regulations and if they would include this information in the letter to the EID. Public hearings will be held in Santa Fe Nov. 15-17 to consider adoption of new solid waste management regulations and repeal of existing solid waste and asbestos management regulations.

Commissioners agreed to send the letter asking for the moratorium and being in favor of the stronger solid waste management regulations.

The proposed county zoning ordinance that was sent back to the drawing board after public objection was also discussed. County attorney Gary Mitchell said that 90 percent of the proposed ordinance is "already state law but the public doesn't understand that."

When asked by the News, "If 90 percent of the ordinance is already on state books, why is it included in the county ordinance?" Mitchell replied that it is hard to get Santa Fe to enforce some of the state regulations.

Mitchell also said that the proposed county zoning ordinance included the state uniform building code, plumbing code and electrical code. He said that the sign portion of the county ordinance was the same as Ruidoso's sign ordinance.

"Ruidoso has a very strict sign ordinance," Mitchell said, "and to provide consistency in the county the sign ordinance was the same as Ruidoso's." He did say that the state law does not control height of buildings and locations of industry, etc.

Mitchell did ask for the record to reflect that the county has been working on the zoning ordinance for more than two years. Runnels suggested the county encourage recycling by restricting landfills.

In other business, commissioners met in executive session for litigation with Earl Cook of Leedshill-Herkenhoff, engineers for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. Following the closed session commission chairman John Hightower reported that the county had made an offer to Leedshill-Herkenhoff and that was the only action taken.

—Locked gates on three county roads were discussed. Peter Medniola told the county he would remove the lock from the gate on county road A-026 and that road will remain on the county road system.

Andrew Fresquez talked to commissioners and asked if he could keep the lock on his gate and use the grader on rainy days. The commissioners told Fresquez it was a felony to work on private roads and if they allowed this to happen they would go to jail.

Fresquez said he didn't want anyone to go to jail. Hightower told Fresquez, "It can't be a county road if it is locked." After Fresquez said that he would prefer to keep the gate locked, commissioners approved taking the road, A-027, off the county inventory.

Franklin Boren agreed to remove the lock from county road A-024 and that road will remain on the county road system.

—Commissioners accepted the recommendation of the road review to close county road D-022 from where it intersects with D-021 to the end.

—The low bid submitted by Rudolph Chevrolet of Alamogordo for vehicles for the assessor's office was accepted.

—Resolution establishing a civil defense organization was approved. The resolution was needed in order for the county to apply for a grant to pay for Nancy Guck's salary and a portion of another employee's salary. Commissioners agreed to appoint Guck as the civil defense coordinator.

—Commissioners approved a resolution for the emergency purchase of a bridge at Glencoe. The Glencoe Bridge collapsed on one end causing a threat to safety and welfare of the public. The pre-fab bridge will cost $11,900.

—Another executive session was held for litigation update.

Corrected tax bills mailed to county property owners

Property tax correction notices have been mailed to all Lincoln County property owners whose bill was affected by a computer error which occurred when the 1988 tax bills were printed last week.

Many bills received an additional Chaves SWCD assessment of $12.83 which should not have been on the bills. The error did not show during sample printing of bills from each district prior to the final printing of the tax bills.

The county has been transferring files from an old computer system to a new

IBM system during October with the help of a computer programmer. All county offices have been affected by the changeover to the new computer system, but the treasurer's office became the most obvious victim of the computer error.

Treasurer Shirley A. Goodloe has apologized for the inconvenience caused by the error. She said that all overpayments will be refunded. Anyone with questions may call the treasurer's office at 648-2525, 648-2397 or 648-2398 during office hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

MARY CHAVEZ of Carrizozo was winner of the $100 saving bond raffled at the Harvest Moon Ball, sponsored by the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) of Lincoln County. The bond was donated by United New Mexico Bank in Carrizozo. Bank vice-president Archie Witham presented the bond to Chavez.

Burglars, thieves plague Carrizozo

A break-in was discovered at King's Food Mart early Sunday morning. An undetermined amount of food, cigarettes, produce, meats, milk and sodas were removed from the store.

The incident apparently happened during the night. Carrizozo police officer John Northrop Jr. investigated the burglary and found that entry was made through a window on the north side of the building where a swamp cooler had been removed from the window.

The burglary remains under investigation. Officers found a trail of items taken from the store leading out the window and outside.

Theft of several items was reported Oct. 29 by Sandy Baca from her residence at 7th and F Ave. Value of the items taken was set at $2,815. Included in the list of stolen items were an antique bathtub, kitchen light, antique light and fan, exercise bicycle and six railroad ties.

Breaking and entering of Prehm's store at 402 12th Street was investigated by Carrizozo Police Chief C.A. Morales and officer Corina Chavez on Oct. 21. Five pairs of boots, valued at $45 to $50 a pair, and six to eight coats, Question 3: The 1988 Capital Projects Bond Act authorizes the issuance and sale of Senior Citizens Facilities Bonds. Shall the State of New Mexico be authorized to issue general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $1,155,000 to make capital expenditures for certain senior citizens facilities and equipment, and provide for a general property tax imposition and levy for payment of principal of and interest on the bonds as permitted by law? Voters may make their choice of being for or against the question.

This money will be used to purchase equipment, renovate buildings, purchase vehicles, and construct buildings in several different counties. Lincoln County is not included in any of the planned expenditures.

Question 4: The 1988 Capital Projects Bond Act authorizes the issuance and sale of Library Bonds. Shall the State of New Mexico be authorized to issue general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $1,525,000 to make capital expenditures for the purchase of books and audio-visual materials at public libraries, and provide for a general property tax imposition and levy for payment of principal of and interest on the bonds as permitted by law? Voters may make their choice of being for or against the question.

The money will be distributed to the public libraries according to population of the municipality where the library is located. County population will be divided between the public libraries in the county and the state library. Money will be sent to the state library for counties having no public library.

The failure of any question to be approved by the voters shall not have any effect on the object of any other question approved by the voters.

Constitutional amendments on ballot

Constitutional Amendments on the ballot:

Constitutional Amendment 1 provides for legislative retirement. Specifically it authorizes up to a maximum of $6,000 annually in annuity benefits for legislators as may be provided by law. It retroactively applies to the amendment's provisions to any legislative retirement law enacted after 1962.

Constitutional Amendment 2 enables the governor to remove gubernatorial appointees from office without stating a reason for doing so in cases where there are no other provisions in state law for their removal. Currently the constitution mandates that gubernatorial appointees may be removed by the governor for "incompetency, neglect of duty or malfeasance in office."

Constitutional Amendment 3 increases the head of family property tax exemption over a six-year period in three increments up to $2,000 in 1998 and thereafter. The current exemption is $200.

Constitutional Amendment 4 permits county governments to purchase library books and other library resources with revenues from the sale of general obligation bonds. County indebtedness currently may be incurred for certain public purposes such as buildings, roads, water rights, sewer systems and landfills upon the approval of a majority of "qualified electors" in the county voting on the issue. The amendment also updates terminology in the constitution by changing the phrase "qualified elector" to "registered voter", reflecting a decision of the United States supreme court in 1970.

Constitutional Amendment 5 restricts the availability of bail for a person convicted of a crime who is appealing that crime. The amendment does not change any of the other constitutional bail protections and restrictions.

Constitutional Amendment 6 proposes a number of changes regarding the selection and retention of justices and judges in New Mexico, proposing what is often known as "merit selection". Initially, judicial candidates will run in a partisan election, as they do now. Once elected to the bench, judges will not face opposition in future elections. Rather, the current judge's name will be the only name placed on the ballot. Voters will be given the choices of retaining or rejecting the current judge. If the office of justice or judge becomes vacant either by rejection of the voters or by death, resignation or impeachment, a nominating commission will recommend to the governor a qualified successor. Additionally, the proposed amendment increases the qualifications for judges and establishes nominating bodies for the supreme court, the court of appeals, the district courts and the metropolitan court. The membership of the nominating commission and the nominating committees for each judicial district will vary but will include judges, lawyers and private citizens.

Constitutional Amendment 7 allows any county, by unanimous vote of its board of county commissioners, to adopt a five-member board of county commissioners. In any county with a five-member board, all elected county officials will serve four-year staggered terms.

● Of interest to Lincoln County voters Nov. 8 will be Constitutional Amendment No. 7. It purports to standardize county elections by granting counties the option of adopting five-member boards of county commissioners and by limiting terms of office of elected county officials in those counties. A more accurate label for this one would be the "county confusion" amendment. It stinks. What it does is give commissioners in counties like Lincoln to opt for a five-member board of commissioners instead of three. And, don't forget it contains "pork" for all elected county officials by limiting their terms of office. Some limiting! It could take eight years, under terms of this amendment, to throw some scoundrel out of elected office. Time and time again voters have turned down longer terms for county officials. But the politicians never give up. No. 7 means some counties will have three-member boards of commissioners, others five-man boards. That's standardizing? The whole thing boils down to getting four-year terms for county officials. If you would like to be saddled with an unsatisfactory county official for four years, vote Yes on this amendment. If not, vote No. County government isn't difficult to master, and a two-year term is enough time to let people judge whether an official should have another two-year term. No on No. 7.

● The complicated ballot for the general election Nov. 8 also calls for voters to approve or disapprove $5,515,000 in bonds. There are four such proposals, known as Capital Projects Bond Act. This is your chance to get revenge for high taxes and protect your pocketbook by simply saying No to all of them. That $50 million will be repaid from your pocketbooks, along with millions in interest. My conviction is that taxes are already high enough, and if we want to spend money the state doesn't have, do it out of current revenues. The bulk of the bonds are for education, which everybody certainly favors. A pittance goes to senior citizen facilities, $400,000 would go toward purchase of land as habitat for wildlife species, and $1,500,00 for purchase of books and audio-visual materials at public libraries.

● The big lure for going $50 million in debt is that the bulk of the Capital Projects Bond Act goes to further education in a state that has the sixth largest illiteracy rate of all the states. None of that money goes to alleviate this illiteracy rate. It goes to "facilities." "Facilities" don't teach children to read and write. Dedicated and qualified teachers do, but they get none of this money. New Mexico already spends 69 percent of its revenue on education. Isn't that enough? Why go into debt another $50 million when we already don't get what we pay for? Will the education people ever be satisfied unless that 69 percent goes up to 100 percent? I think not. It will give me great pleasure to vote No on all these bond issues. Not because some don't have merit, but because such project should be paid for out of current funds and without raising taxes.

● Let me give you a classic example of why throwing money at education produces such disastrous results, even though the National Education Association wouldn't agree. In the July edition of Blumenfeld Education letter is a story titled "Confessions of an Illiterate Teacher." John Corcoran, 50, is an Oceanside, CA developer. He got a degree in education at Texas Western College, then went to graduate school. After that he taught social studies at three California high schools. The startling thing is—he never learned to read! He had all the high-cost facilities, all the learned teachers, all the opportunity. What kind of teachers allow a person like Corcoran to earn two degrees and teach students without once having perceived that the fellow couldn't read? No, money is not the answer. We had a higher percentage of literacy among young people when teachers were being paid less than $100 per month.

● I hope all of you appreciate the manner in which I "haven't" campaigned for the office of County Commissioner, Dist. 2, and that you will vote for me, the write-in candidate, on Nov. 8. I haven't been banging on your doors, shaking hands, kissing the babies and making promises that can't be kept. I have spared you the agony of listening to me telling you how honest I am, how I bubble over with integrity, bore you with an exaggerated experience record, showing campaign cards into your hands while muttering unkind things about my opponents, and slapping candidate posters on everything that doesn't move. That makes me an unusual candidate. What makes me more unusual is that I have set out specific goals that I will work hard to accomplish. Like firing our county attorney, Gary Mitchell, who has dispensed some costly and ridiculous advice at great expense to taxpayers. Like blowing the whistle should commissioners discuss public matters in executive session, a violation of law carries a fine of $100 at present. Like limiting my term in office to two years. Like promising to work against and vote against any Planning and Zoning Ordinance that does such silly things as regulate the size of your yard and the number of parking spaces in front of your home or business—and any other ordinance that restricts private and property rights in the name of "morality." I assume voters want a change of Lincoln County Board of Commissioners or they wouldn't have already voted two out of office. Now, if you really want a change in county government, use the write-in slot on the voting machine to write in my name for County Commissioner, Dist. 2.

Inside The Capitol

By Jay Miller

SANTA FE—Two years ago there was an effort in the New Mexico Legislature to designate English as the state's official language. It was met with such a furor that the bill was killed by its own sponsor.

After all, said opponents, New Mexico is the only state in the nation to be officially bilingual and we have always been proud of it. The pledge to our state flag talks about "perfect friendship among united cultures." It is unthinkable that anyone would even suggest we destroy our multi-lingual tradition.

But it has been much more than suggested in our neighboring states. California has already passed it. Arizona and Colorado have the "English only" question on their ballots Nov. 8 as does Florida. Texas will be the battleground next year.

Both supporters and opponents of the pro-English movement predict that it will pass in all three states. Fourteen other states have passed laws designating English as their official language. Those states did it through their legislatures. In California, Arizona, Colorado and Florida the issue was too hot. Their lawmakers passed the decision on to the voters.

The issue of bilingualism and cultural diversity has always been debated in New Mexico but never very hotly. With the largest percentage of minorities of any state except Hawaii, New Mexico has traditionally been known for its tolerance.

The question is a basic one of how minorities will be treated. Is it best for a nation or state to absorb new peoples as quickly as possible or to opt for the cultural richness that ethnic diversity brings?

For many years our country prided itself for its "melting pot" approach of quickly assimilating immigrant populations into a new but uniform citizenry.

New Mexico, on the other hand, has looked at its cultural diversity from the "fruit salad" point of view. Each culture keeps its own flavor but each flavor contributes to the whole in a delightful sort of way.

The debate in our state has sometimes centered around the bilingual education program in the public schools. How is it best to educate a child who comes to our schools speaking no English. Do you immerse the student in the English language, teaching all subjects in English and forcing the child into the mainstream faster?

Or do you start by helping the student learn English while teaching other subjects, like math and science, in the child's native tongue?

This argument erupted a year ago at a state board of education meeting between two members of that board: Millie Pogna, a Republican board member from Albuquerque, pointed with pride to her early schooling as an Italian immigrant on our nation's eastern shores. She was "totally immersed" in the English language. She learned it quickly and feels she is much better for having done so.

Pogna was heatedly challenged by Republican appointee to the board Maria Chavez from Albuquerque. Chavez says she would have been completely devastated if her entire culture and language had been rejected by the school. Instead she was told to appreciate her family's culture. She was taught a new language but she didn't have to give up her family background.

There is a very basic difference between Pogna and Chavez. Pogna was an immigrant whose family had chosen to come to another land. Chavez's ancestors came to a state where English speakers are Johnny-come-latelies.

It is very possible that the widely differing methods used to make both Pogna and Chavez bilingual were the best for each. It may explain New Mexico's rejection of the English only initiative, at least on the first attempt.

But it won't settle the national battle because both sides strongly feel that their solution is the best for all. The effort by the organization called U.S. English will stir many feathers before it is all over. It already has.

The committee has recently experienced three embarrassing resignations. First, from former TV personality Walter Cronkite and then by Linda Chavez, former New Mexican, White House aide and GOP candidate for the US Senate in Maryland. Both cited controversial religious and racial statements by founding chairman John Tanton and some of his associates. Tanton was forced to resign last week.

But the effort continues and we may see them again in New Mexico.

EDC/LC welcomes new business

Lincoln County has a new clean, non-pollutant business, thanks to the efforts of Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County. It is located in Ruidoso Downs.

The business, H & H Enterprises, accepts aluminum cans, brass, copper, aluminum car parts and batteries. He will not accept paper, cardboard or ferrous materials.

Todd McCarty and his wife are owners and employ two people.

McCarty said that since opening Aug. 13 they have recycled eight tons of materials.

McCarty also plans to have pick-up days in the remote areas of the county from Corona to the Hondo Valley. The pick-ups will probably be mostly the winter months as the summer months are busy in the Ruidoso area.

The cans can be crushed or not—the price is the same. McCarty is building his own crusher.

Recently Pepsi has steel cans so check cans to see if they are recyclable.

Business hours are 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Wednesdays the hours are 1:30 p.m. - 4 p.m. Wednesday mornings is shipping time to El Paso and Las Cruces.

The McCarty's moved to Ruidoso from Albuquerque where they graduated from University of New Mexico.

Those attending the ceremonies were Directors Don Shaw, Buddy Bundick, Ralph Donlap, Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris, and member Cyndi Lynch.

Settle the question, for good

EDITOR—I am writing in regard to the well written article by Ruth Hammond in the Oct. 27 edition with the headline reading "Fort Stanton future as a hospital in question."

A Fort Stanton employee called me Monday, Oct. 24, concerning this rumor and asked what could be done to find the truth about the rumor. I replied that I would contact Governor Carruthers and US Representative Joe Skeen, who was to be in Ruidoso on Oct. 25. I called the governor's office that day and was told by Robert Romero, who works directly under the governor, that he was out of town but that he would have an answer for me as soon as possible. On the 26th I called back to the governor's office and Robert advised me that Carla Muth, deputy secretary of New Mexico Health and Environment Department, assured him that it is not the intention nor the desire of the governor to close Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School.

When the governor held a town meeting in Lincoln in May, 1987, he stated then that he would never agree to having tourists walking all over the campus and upsetting the students.

When I spoke to Representative Skeen, he replied that Mary Helen Skeen, who is on the planning board, could answer my question better than he could. She affirmed that there is no plan to close the facility; however, there is a long-range plan to build a new facility on Fort Stanton land.

The employees at Fort Stanton are hassled at least once a year by a rumor that their jobs are in jeopardy. This is not fair to the 200 employees, their families, the families of the students, and the residents of Lincoln County who all profit in some way from Fort Stanton, which has the largest payroll in Lincoln County.

I challenge Governor Carruthers, legislators and planning board members to put a stop to these rumors by calling or writing Ervin Alder, administrator of Fort Stanton, and assuring him and all of Lincoln County that Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School is here to stay. Give these employees some peace of mind.

PAT HUME,
NOGAL

'Beware of little people!'

EDITOR—Beware of little men! Oops, sorry, I should say little persons as this term applies to women as well as men. I do NOT mean people of small stature. "Little persons" are in all walks of life, at work, at play, as volunteers, in clubs, in schools, in churches, but I think the political arena has a majority of these Little Ceasars; do it "my way or else" people.

You know the name-dropper, the person who is always bragging about the big shots with whom he/she has been associated. You know the individual who passes on that tantalizing bit of gossip or that malicious rumor. All of these people have a need for drama in their lives and these acts make them feel important and powerful.

You have heard people say—why does he/she want to be president, governor, commissioner, mayor, whatever? For years I thought they were civic-minded and wanted a political job to do good for all. Often this is true. How naive I have been. For the most part, it is power these people want. Oh, yes, there is money involved, perks, and the benefits of having inside knowledge, but mainly it is the power they wield over others. It gives them a feeling of importance, no matter how insignificant the political job.

This is an election year. When you go to the polls this November and in future years, be careful for whom you vote. At the national/state level it is difficult to know the candidates intimately and you have to depend on what you learn through the media. But your county and municipal candidates you have a better chance of knowing personally. Take a close look—is that person an entrenched incumbent; a member of a clique (faction); a "little person"? Take a look at the record. Does this individual vote for the good of the majority or vote from a self-interest standpoint? Is he/she able to take an objective view or does he/she vote however someone in power wishes? Does this individual share your viewpoint of our government, "of the people, by the people, and for the people"?

Watch out for that little person and avoid that person like the plague.

Be sure to vote on Nov. 8.

Watch Amendment No. 1

EDITOR—There's an old saying: "Beware of a wolf in sheep's clothing!" Let's add a new one: "Beware of constitutional amendments with false wording!"

As a former member of the New Mexico Legislature who served for 10 years with many fine, dedicated persons, I am absolutely appalled at the deceitful and misleading wording the voters will see when they read the heading on proposed Constitutional Amendment #1. It reads "To RESTRICT Legislative Retirement."

Actually, what the amendment will do is just the opposite; it will enable the legislature to CREATE legislative retirement and dip into the pockets of the taxpayers from here to eternity. If Amendment #1 passes, it will change the constitution and make legal the unconstitutional law that is now on the books. Just take a look at what this law does FOR the legislator and TO the taxpayers: (1) A legislator can hold office for 14 years, retire AT ANY AGE and receive annual benefits of $9,500 for life; (If he/she retired at age 40 and lived to be 70, the total paid would amount to $105,000!) (2) That legislator will have paid in a total of $1,400, or $100 a year; (3) A total amount of over $1,154,700 of the taxpayers' dollars has gone into this boondoggle since 1963! (And if you are one of the few people who still think that is a lot of money, think of what it will amount to in 2010.)

If you read the amendment, you will find it also allows the legislators to increase the maximum amount to $6,000 annually. (Wanna guess how long that will take?)

But to the real issue: In my opinion, there is no justification for a "Legislative Retirement Plan" because every person who asked for the job and was elected, recognized the fact that, as stated in the constitution, the only remuneration was (A) the established per diem amount; (B) mileage at the established rate; and (C) it was not a full-time job with employee benefits.

It is true that most legislators work hard and deserve adequate remuneration for their efforts. But let's increase the per diem amount in the proper manner and not pay them through the back door with this amendment.

I urge all taxpayers to read Amendment #1 before voting on it in order to see how you are being hoodwinked. I also urge a "NO" vote, because its passage will legalize an unneeded and wasteful expenditure of your (and your children's) tax dollars.

BOYD F. SCOTT,
Farmington.

No on Amendment 6

EDITOR—Since 1911 we the citizens of the State of New Mexico have been voting to elect our judges. Now under the guise of judicial reform Amendment 6 to the Constitution would take away that right to vote.

It is implied that we the voters are not smart enough to make a choice for judges, and I take offense at that. As an informed voter, I know who I want to represent me as judge. Under this amendment change, they would set up a committee to pick all future judges, which would be fine if I agreed with them. But I fear that this committee will become a political "in" group who might wind up choosing only other "in" people to serve on our courts. This scares me as it should all of us!

Not only that but, if this constitutional amendment were to pass, all of the present judges would never have to run against an opponent in the future, almost like in Russia! From now on, there would be only one name on the ballot making bad judges' removal from office all but impossible.

I've lived in other states where judges were appointed, and quite frankly, since they did not have to answer to the people, they appeared much more arrogant than the judges that I've seen here in New Mexico. Ironically their arrogance did not help to cut down on crime or improve the system, so why have it? I plan to vote against Amendment 6, and urge you to do the same.

BOB McCANIFF, Albuquerque.

EDITOR—This year's election will give voters the chance to decide whether they wish to have two-party government in our courts, as we do in the executive and legislative branches of New Mexico government.

About 90 percent of judges in New Mexico are Democrats. The Supreme Court is 5-0 Democratic. Voters need to decide whether this lack of political and philosophical balance is good or bad for that court.

In addition, there is an amendment on the ballot (#6) which would profoundly affect the judicial system. Given the innocuous title of "Judiciary Reform," that amendment would eliminate the election of judges directly by the people. ALL appellate, district and metropolitan judges would initially be selected by the governor from a list created by a committee of 14. Only three members of that committee would be laymen. The other 11 would be lawyers and judges. Newly appointed judges would have to stand for only one contested election. All present judges would be exempt from contested elections.

Voters need to seriously consider: 1. Whether more political and philosophical diversity in the courts would be beneficial to the quality of decision making; 2. Whether lawyers and judges are the persons who should be selecting officials whose acts affect all of us, or whether that selection should be left in the hands of the people.

Insurance for almost everybody

New health insurance plan for New Mexicans

ALBUQUERQUE—If you answer yes to one of the following questions, you might be eligible for health insurance coverage under the New Mexico Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool, CHIP.

Has an insurance company rejected you for a health insurance policy?

Has the high cost of your present policy outpaced other expenses?

Have you had an illness or injury that prevents you from receiving insurance under an employer's plan?

CHIP was created by the New Mexico legislature as an answer to the insurance dilemma many New Mexicans found themselves facing concerning health care." Paty Ikard, chairman of the CHIP board.

"This new insurance coverage is not a health insurance maintenance organization (HMO), a preferred provider organization (PPO) or even Medicare. It's an insurance pool that offers affordable health coverage to those in need," she said.

Ikard was the legislation's major proponent. She, along with Sen. Tim Jennings, D-Chaves, drafted the bill to create the pool.

The bill later attracted the support of 30 New Mexico state senators and was signed into law by Gov. Garrey Garruthers in March of 1987. The pool became law in July of 1987.

"The New Mexico Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool was a grassroots effort," Ikard said. "Our support came from parents, consumers and people who had no health insurance."

After countless hours of research on health insurance plans, Ikard said she spent weeks with Jennings, writing the bill which created the pool.

"In drafting the legislation, we looked at several insurance pools now in operation around the country," said Ikard. "New Mexico CHIP incorporates the best of those programs."

As established by the New Mexico legislature, CHIP is non-profit and currently is administered by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of New Mexico. The pool is governed by a board comprised of consumers and representatives of insurance carriers operating in New Mexico. A member of the state's Policy and Planning Department is also on the board.

Those in the CHIP pool pay monthly premiums, just like many other health insurance programs now operating in the state. Premiums are charged based on the age and sex of those insured. CHIP participants have their choice of two plans, and maternity coverage is available under both plans.

"This isn't a new idea, it's just an idea whose time has come to New Mexico," said Ikard.

For additional information about the New Mexico Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool, call the in-state toll free number, 1-800-432-0750, or 292-2600 in Albuquerque.

SMILE AWHILE

We all work for the government, but the politician is wise. He or she gets paid for it.

Some go into politics not to do good, but to do well. The cheaper the politician, the more he or she costs his country.

To err is human, to blame it on the other party is politics.

We need a law that will permit a voter to sue a candidate for breach of promise. Many a man or woman goes into politics with a fine future and comes out with a terrible past.

If you lie to people to get their money, that's fraud. If you lie to them to get their vote, that's politics.

During a political campaign everyone is concerned with what a candidate will do on this or that question if he or she is elected except the candidate. He or she is too busy wondering what he or she will do if he or she isn't elected.

LEGENDARY IRISHMAN

Halloween has been celebrated longer than many realize. Oct. 31 has been the official day of Halloween or the Eve of All Saints' Day since 834.

One favorite Halloween tradition, the Jack O'Lantern, originated in Ireland. Legend has it a stingy man named Jack was barred from heaven because of his miserly qualities, and forbidden to enter the underworld because he played practical jokes on the devil. Jack was condemned to walk the earth with his lantern until Judgment Day.

The pumpkin is that popular and plentiful produce in gardens and windows this time of the year. The pumpkin is proof that it is not what's up front that counts but what's inside that really matters. Inside the pumpkin is where the meat and the treat are, the pumpkin seeds and the pulp that makes pumpkin pie, pumpkin bread, pumpkin cake and even pumpkin soup.

The pumpkin face Jack O'Lantern which we know today combines many Halloween traditions. It's a symbol of the harvest as well as a friendly or scary mask and a reminder of the Irish legend.

JILL O'LANTERNS

When trick-or-treat time rolled around this year I had about a dozen pumpkins that Carrizozo school students transformed into grinning or scowling faces. The pumpkins were donated by Hooten's Ranchers Supply and the resulting Jack and Jill O'Lanterns were on display at Saturday's People for Kids sponsored Halloween Carnival. Some of the faces were carved out and others were designed with poster paints.

Carving or painting a pumpkin is fun for people of all ages and there's another bonus: cut up pumpkin can be cooked and served in a variety of ways.

If your carved out pumpkin has not molded you are ready to cut it up and cook it. If you are using a pumpkin with a painted face begin by washing off the paint.

Use a sharp knife and split open the pumpkin. Scrape out the strings and seeds. Cut pumpkin into chunks, place in a pan with a rack, adding a small amount of water. Cover, heat pumpkin to boiling. Cover and cook until fork-tender. Drain and scoop out pumpkin pulp and discard shell. Mash and push pulp through a sieve. Use pulp substituting for an equal amount of canned pumpkin, adding the ingredient needed for pumpkin pie.

NICE TRY

A prisoner serving a life term has argued that he should be released because he died and returned from the dead. Jerry Rosenberg told a judge he "died" during open heart surgery and was brought back to life by surgeons and therefore had fulfilled his life sentence.

"As his presence in this courtroom indicates, he did not die," said Judge Peter Corning at the Auburn, NY hearing.

The preceding news item appeared in the The Spotlight column, "News You May Have Missed," a digest of significant news items that failed to appear in most of the nation's press.

THEIR CREED

The Spotlight, a weekly newspaper from Washington since 1975, has a creed: "You can trust The Spotlight to give you the other side of the news—to report on events which are vital to your welfare but which would otherwise be hushed up or distorted by the controlled press. So don't expect us to be objective or unbiased. We are biased toward the best interests of the majority of the consumers, taxpayers and voters: the hardworking, misled, exploited and brain-washed American producer whether blue-collar or white-collar, who pays the bills for the super-rich and the very poor. We make no attempt to give both sides. We'll leave the Establishment side to your daily newspaper, TV and radio. Make up your own mind who is being honest with you: the establishment media or The Spotlight. The point of view of The Spotlight is best described as populist and nationalist."

LAST LAUGH

Political Promises: those that go in one year and out the other.

Political War: one in which everyone shoots from the lip.

Politician: 1. a man or woman who stands for what he or she thinks others will fall 2. a man or woman who spends half his or her time making laws, and the other half helping friends evade them.

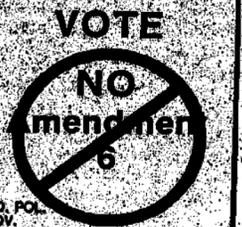

Politicians: something like poor relatives; you see them only when they need help.

Polls: places where you stand in line for a place to decide who will spend your money.

Just amend ordinance 85-9

EDITOR—I again see the "Cox Administration" propaganda on your front page (10-20-88). Thanks to "Good Ol' Obvious Ruth."

For your information, Planning & Zoning member Sid Goodloe mentioned this "News" at the P&Z meeting on 9-22-88.

A properly regulated and privately operated recycling land fill could be an asset to this county, if we are ever allowed to grow beyond tourists, drugs, and ranches.

The current Lincoln County solid waste ordinance 85-9 could be amended to cover any problems the Nervous Nellies can conjure up, without the high costs to the county (us) which the new zoning ordinance has already incurred and will require such as new personnel, office space, administrative costs, storage, lawyers fees, etc.

Finally but most important, We The People will retain some right and control over our private property.

JERRY CARROLL, Ocuera.

Remember?

EDITOR—The presidential election is but a few days away. The debates are over and surely most everyone has decided on the candidate of their choice. But, for those who are uncertain let me remind folks of a few facts.

Eight years ago interest rates exceeded 21 percent, inflation was over 15 percent, unemployment was close to 9 percent and net income was insufficient to service the debt.

The downward spiral of land values, livestock and grain prices forced generations of families off of the land due to foreclosures, bankruptcies and forced sales. The experience and knowledge passed from one generation to the other of the productive capabilities of the land cannot be readily replaced. We all know that the failed government policies of the preceding years were the major contributing factors.

Agriculture prices have begun to improve based on world wide supply and demand factors, not production controls and supply management which have failed so miserably in the past. Even Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has recognized the inability of governmental management controls to produce sufficient agriculture products for the needs of his people, not to mention exports.

George Bush has repeatedly stated strong support for the current farm programs. A change now could virtually destroy the economic recovery currently facing agriculture. Think about it. Then vote for George Bush for President.

Lady Tigers win 5A district

The Capitan Lady Tigers had to fight hard Saturday to capture the District 5A volleyball championship.

The Tigers once again faced the tough Clouderoff Lady Bears. It took five games to decide the match with the scoring as follows: the Capitan score 1st: 15-10, 12-15, 11-15, 15-6, and 15-11.

Coach Pam Allen told the News "this was probably the most exciting match we've been involved in all year. The kids demonstrated a lot of poise to come back in the 4th and 5th games after being down 2-1. A team with less confidence and less determination would have been beaten in four games. I was very pleased."

Sherry Gowen contributed 5 service points in the 1st game. Marnie McDaniel and Lora McKay received credit for 4 service points each in the 2nd game. Colynn Washburn led the way in the 3rd game with a Washburn exploded in the 4th game with 9. Looking good in the 5th game were Sherry Gowen and Marnie McDaniel with 4 service points each.

Named to the all-district team were Colynn Washburn, Marnie McDaniel, Sherry Gowen, Lora McKay and Karie Oak.

The Capitan Lady Tigers will host regional competition Saturday, Nov. 5. Only the old gym will be used. Capitan faces Carrizozo at 1 p.m., followed by the Clouderoff. Summer games at 3 p.m. The winners of these two games play each other at 7 p.m. for the regional championship.

Coach Allen said both teams playing in the 7 p.m. championship game will advance to the state finals next week.

Coach Allen also said that she is very happy with the outstanding support the volleyball girls have received from Capitan fans.

Tigers beat Grizzlies; rated No. 1 class A

By Bartley McDonough

Capitan Tigers scored in every quarter Oct. 28 to defeat a scrappy Carrizozo Grizzly team 31-8.

Capitan begins post season play Nov. 4 when they go to Tatum for a 7:30 p.m. regional playoff game. The Tigers finished the season with a 9-1 record and are rated the number one Class A team in the state.

The Tigers opened the game on their own 29 yard line. Anthony Sanchez soon broke loose for a long gainer which was called back on a clipping penalty. Carrizozo, aided by 2 penalties, got a 1st down after the Tigers were forced to punt. The Grizzlies were forced to punt on the next series and the Tigers began a 78 yard TD drive.

The Tiger tally was setup by a personal foul against the Grizzlies and the hard ripping type runs of Jerrod Martin. The TD came on a 25 yard pass play Tino Gallegos to Sanchez. Capitan 6, Carrizozo 0.

Michael Chavez galloped

for a 33 yard gainer on Carrizozo's next possession. Dennis Vega got 7 yards before a bad snap from center turned the ball over to the Tigers. Martin ripped off 22 yards before Serna and Abe Padilla nailed Sanchez for a one yard loss. Capitan drove all the way to the Grizzly 13 yard line before a gang tackle stopped the Tigers on 4th down.

Carrizozo got three 1st downs with Dennis Vega carrying the pigskin. The Grizzly drive eventually stalled and had to punt. Capitan went 80 yards in four plays to score its second touchdown. It was Martin for 27 yards, Johnny Castillo for 37 yards, Sanchez for 3 and Martin the final 13 yards to pay dirt. Petursson could not convert and the Tigers went out front 12-0.

Luke Hall, Lance LaMay and Fernando Miranda were getting good hits which eventually stopped the next Grizzly drive. Tino Gallegos then ripped off 68 yards to give the Tigers their 3rd TD. Capitan 18, Carrizozo 0. There was no further scoring in the 1st half.

Carrizozo began the 2nd half on its own 5 yard line. The Grizzlies were stopped on 4th down and Capitan found it needed only 4 yards for its 4th touchdown. Sanchez got the TD and Petursson the extra point. Capitan 25, Carrizozo 0.

Petursson's conversion set a "new record with" 17 points after a touchdown. The old record had been set by Wally Ferguson in the 1950s.

The Tigers traded punts with the Grizzlies before Abe Padilla covered a Capitan fumble on the Tiger 17 yard line.

It was here that Guy Archuleta caught a 17 yard pass for a TD. Chris Barela passed to Wootton for the 2 point conversion and Carrizozo narrowed the score to Capitan 25, Carrizozo 8.

It took Capitan 11 plays to go 76 yards on its next possession. Jerrod Martin led the way with four big gains. Gallegos tried to go over from the Grizzly 2 yard line but was stopped by the entire Grizzly team. Anthony Sanchez then got the touchdown. With 8:28 left in the game the final score was now posted on the scoreboard.

Coach Blane Miller said "we are now preparing for the states regional playoffs at Tatum Friday night at 7:30 p.m. This will be the 3rd regional playoff game against Tatum in as many years."

"Tatum is a finesse ball club and will have to throw the ball against us. They play a 5-3 stack on defense with good-defensive backs. We have not forgotten last year's regional playoff game which was decided in overtime, Tatum 6, Capitan 3."

The statistics for Friday's encounter included: Jerrod Martin, 174 yards in 16 carries; Sanchez 10 carries for 15 yards; Castillo 8 carries for 43 yards. The rushing stats given the News do not reflect the 68 yard TD run by Tino Gallegos.

Dennis Vega received credit for 76 yards on 18 carries. Chris Barela ran the ball 19 times for 26 yards and Sean Wootton ran 5 times for 49 yards.

Capitan firemen tell their story

By JIM WRIGHT,
Secretary
Capitan Volunteer
Fire Department

We, the members of the Capitan Volunteer Fire Department, feel it is time to set the record straight or at least let one more side of a tedious situation be known.

This past spring it was decided to amend the Village of Capitan fire ordinance (Ordinance 64-4). This was published and brought up for an enacting vote during the May meeting of the Village trustees. Upon finding out that the fire department had not been given an opportunity to review the amendments, Ordinance 88-4 was tabled until the trustees meeting in June. Mayor Benny Coker, Village trustees, Clerk Janet Keel, and Attorney Mike Runnels were invited to the fire department meeting the next night.

When asked why the ordinance needed amending, the only response was that we were operating illegally and needed to bring our department up to date according to state statutes. No specific state statutes could be cited.

The only change in the proposed amendments asked for by the fire department was essentially changing "appointed" to "approval" in section 3-3-3 OFFICERS. Two members of the fire department had previously been asked by Mayor Coker if they would accept the position of fire chief if he "appointed" them. They refused.

At the fire department meeting, Coker stated that he did not want to run the fire department and he did not want to appoint a fire chief. He also repeated this at a meeting between himself, Asst. Chief Huey, and Fire Chief Hall.

Ordinance 88-4 was stated as the last item on the agenda of the June Village trustee meeting. After denying trying to appoint two different firemen as fire chief, Coker again stated that he did not want to run the fire department or appoint the fire chief. A vote was called on Ordinance 88-4 where Mayor Coker broke a tie vote of the trustees. At that time Coker ordered the fire department to elect officers and submit them for his approval. It was pointed out to him that Ordinance 88-4 stated that bylaws should be adopted first and followed.

The bylaws were submitted to Mayor Coker and Village trustees at the July 11, 1988 meeting. The mayor said he would table the bylaws until they could be reviewed. At that point he appointed a fireman "Temporary Fire Chief" until the bylaws were approved. The "appointed" chief immediately resigned from the fire department.

The Capitan Volunteer Fire Department has operated under a set of "Rules and Regulations" since 1951. These allowed for: Article I—Membership, Article II—Officers, III—Quorum for Business Meeting, Article IV—Department property, Article V—Illegal use of Property or Equipment, Article VI—Fines, Article VII—Record of Fires, and Article VIII—Amendments and Discrepancies. We were told we were illegal because we did not have bylaws, what we had were "rules and regulations."

As volunteer firemen we are donating our time, effort, and often risking our lives to protect the lives and property of the citizens of Capitan, New Mexico. We do this without receiving any wages. Our compensation is knowing we are performing a vital function for our friends, neighbors, and families. The people we elect to follow as officers are the ones we want making the decisions that might mean life or death in an emergency situation. A political appointee would not command the respect of the department (Mayor Coker suggested we submit three names and he would appoint the one he wanted for fire chief.)

We have been locked out of our meeting room at the main station because we moved equipment and supplies out for security reasons (Mayor Coker told Chief Hall and Asst. Chief Huey he would sell or get rid of a lot of equipment that he felt we didn't need.) The electric door opener on one of the large bay doors was disabled and a manual system installed (some firefighters are not able to open it.) The substitution was forcibly entered and fire department property was removed. All of this was done without the consent of the fire chief or fire department.

Ordinance 88-4 makes those actions illegal, but when charges were filed against Mayor Coker, the charges were dismissed by Municipal Judge Jimmy Stewart at the order of Village Attorney Mike Runnels, without anyone contacting or consulting the fire chief or fire department. Are village ordinances only applied to certain factions or is there a legal double standard stating that these ordinances apply to everyone except members of village government?

On July 29, 1988, a special meeting was called to help settle differences. Present at this meeting were Mayor Coker, Trustee Renfro, Trustee Rouleau, Trustee York, Village Attorney Runnels, Clerk Keel, State Corporation Commission Chairman Jerome Block and his assistant, and State Fire Marshal Carl Standefer. After hearing comments, the state officials conferred with each other as to proper procedures. State Fire Marshal Standefer said their decisions included the following:

1. A complete inventory must be made and a copy given to the village and one to his office.
2. Training should be improved, hopefully after the State Fire Academy opens.
 - a. A copy of all business and/or drill meetings would be sent to his office and to the village along with the monthly fire report.
3. The village would make a quarterly itemized expenditure form on the fire protection funds with a copy going to his office and one to the fire department.

4. He would send someone from his office on a quarterly basis to inspect and look over conditions.

5. The fire department shall be reimbursed or some exchange shall be made for any property taken over by the village.

Chairman Block said that these orders would be put in written form and mailed to the involved parties.

To date, the fire department bylaws have not been approved, no itemized expenditures report has been seen, no inspectors from the State Fire Marshal's office have been seen, and the fire department has not been reimbursed for or allowed back in their meeting room.

Mayor Coker has stated that he will call a workshop to go over the bylaws (10-10-88) now that there is a full council. He also said that there would be no action pertaining to the fire department until written confirmation of the conclusions of the special meeting (7-29-88) were received from the State Fire Commission (Jerome Block, chairman.)

We think it is time for the discrepancies and rumors to be brought to a halt. The fire department would welcome sincere, truthful communication. To present the fire department has cooperated with the requests that have been made of it in good faith and will continue to do so.

Who Controls Lincoln County Politics—Why and How?

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO 87194

Dear Lincoln County Cattle Growers' Member:

There is a County Commission race in New Mexico this year that could affect landowners. The race I am referring to is in Lincoln county and concerns two former commissioners, Mr. Bud Payne and John A. Hightower.

The New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association is nonpartisan, and has always made a point to stay out of local politics unless there exists a clear threat to our members. Mr. Payne has publicly stated that he is running for the County Commission so he can force access across private land to public land as requested by the public. Mr. Payne has found allies within the environmental community in Albuquerque and has publicly lambasted the cattle industry through those allies. Clearly, Mr. Payne poses a threat to private property rights and thus the Lincoln county ranching industry.

I have a great deal of confidence in our system of government and feel confident that the residents of Lincoln county will elect commissioners that will temper any single issue candidate that could get elected. Please trust that I would never endeavor to be the outsider telling insiders how to vote. But we are watching this race very carefully, and notifying members of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association in Lincoln county that this race could have personal repercussions on county ranching families.

Let's pay special attention and make sure candidates are elected that can give everyone a fair shake, and assess every issue in an objective fashion.

Sincerely,
Peter T. Mocho
